MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

START

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

JAN 3 1907 THRU DEC 26 1907

Title: Red Lake Falls GAZETTE

24:14 - 25:13

Inclusive Dates: Jan 3 1907 Dec 26 1907 *

Missing Issues: Sep 17 & Nov 28

33- 12 1981

Originals held by: MHS x Other

Prepared by: SOUA THAO

Date: Nov 5, 1981

Format: 1A x 2B

Filmed by: J.W.

Date: Dec 3, 81

Camera No. Red 1

Reduction Ratio: 15

Voltmeter .24/90

No. Expos.

Prelim. Inspection by:

Date:

Density:

Target Resolution: /mm

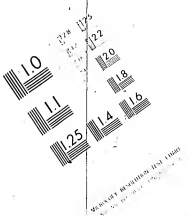
O.K.

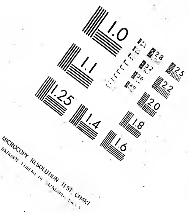
Reject

Length:

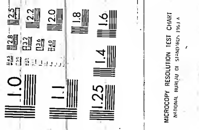
The Minnesota Historical Society has reproduced the material in this microfilm without any purpose of direct or indirect commercial advantage in order to preserve & to secure it for private study, scholarship, and research.

The material reproduced may be protected by copyright law. Any person engaging in further reproduction of this material may be liable for infringement.

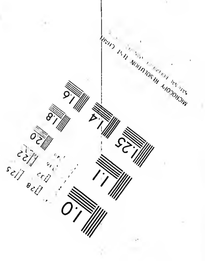


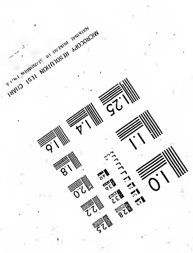


1.0
1.1
1.25
1.4
1.6
1.8
2.0
2.2
2.5
2.8
MICROCOPY RESOLUTION TEST CHART
NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS-1963-A



1.0
1.1
1.25
1.4
1.6
1.8
2.0
2.2
2.5
2.8
MICROCOPY RESOLUTION TEST CHART
NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS-1963-A





1.0
1.1
1.25
1.4
1.6
1.8
2.0
2.2
2.5
2.8
MICROCOPY RESOLUTION TEST CHART
NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS-1963-A

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 3, 1907 No 14

THE PERSONAL TAXES

Amounts the People of St. Hilaire and Township of Polk Center Will Have To Pay.

ST. HILAIRE.

Aimer, R H	$ 2 16
Anderson, Mike	10 21
Abrahamson, Anna	6 18
Arthur, W A	11 99
Bjerk, M E	20 59
Brink Bros	8 43
Blomburg, Dr	6 84
Burkee, B E	2 29
Branum, J J	1 62
Blitz, Paul A	8 46
Berglund, August	2 43
Brink, O W	22 45
Cummings, Dr.	14 19
Crookston Lmbr Co	1,004 74
Collins, D J	3 30
Carpenter, F R	1 07
Duntley, Mrs A J	17 70
Dahl, J A	4 49
Eckhoff, Mrs E L	2 31
First State Bank	128 08
Forseen, John	2 19
Fellman, Chas	5 90
Fellman, Albert	2 87
Gilstad, K O	3 64
Gorgun, H	7 89
Hoff, E M	69 32
Holmes Bros	26 99
Holmes, Leonard	41 29
Hanson, M L	51 66
Hall, Andrew	10 48
Hanney, J K	18 94
Ives H E	7 58
Jorgenson, Ole	6 20
John, J M	17
Johnson, Carl	4 24
Kolland, Henry	3 03
Kolland, K R	3 57
Lindberg, Peter	5 12
Merchants State Bank	107 86
Minneapolis Brewing Co	5 05
Martz, C H	13 21
Miller, N	2 63
McKercher, R J	6 88
Nelson, Jens	33 29
Olson, Wm	4 51
Post, O F	99 51
Patterson, Dan	19 01
Payment, A	7 75
R L F Milling Co	29 05
Remington, Mrs M J	1 88
Rolland, L M and Son	19 89
St Anthny & Dak Elev Co	23 61
St Hilaire Creamery	10 13
Swenson, R R	2 19
Sorsoliel, Wm	19 14
Standard Oil Co	9 28
Setterberg, A	3 40
Soll, J J	8 66
Sandmoen, Mrs C	9 17
Soderberg, Fred	5 97
Strom, C	3 40
Thompson, Tollef	13 04
Val Blatz Brewing Co	9 27
Wallen, Richard	2 53
Wilson & Stean Co	7 15

POLK CENTER.

Anderson, Alfred	5 36
Borgen, C G	6 03
Bontain, Jacob	25 54
Baumgardner, L	1 03
Carlson, Emil	3 08
Coe, Fred	5 14
Draeger, Albert	3 89
Durheim, C C	2 70
Domstrand, John	3 84
Gothea, Fred	8 38
Gerlach, Dan	1 34
Gerlach, Johanna	38
Gerlach, C G	1 07
Hallstrom, Otto	2 17
Huot, Regis	22 50
Huot, Eucharis	4 19
Huot, Leon	13 10
Hallstrom, P A	4 92
Hansel, Peter	22
Johnson, Swan	3 25
Johnson, Chas	6 97
Gareeau, E J	3 88
Johnson, Nels	5 43
Koidal, H O	4 10
Knaack, A R	1 76
Lindquist, G	1 11
Lubitz, Fred	1 22
Lubitz, Gustav	3 77
Larson, S J	3 77
Lehrer, Andrew	2 94
Lillaboe, O G	2 48
Lorentzson, Olaus	3 48
Landa, Albert	6 21
Mello, C A	6 49
Meyer, Fred L	10 37
Maur, Nick	4 06
Naplin, S J	3 08
Naplin, C E	3 98
Ortloff, Wilhelmina	3 60
Olson, Ollina	1 80
Prior, J G	1 50
Person, Nels	3 86
Petterson, John P	3 02
Person, Sam	3 37
Roborge, Ameda	5 49
Squires, Earl	2 31
Scherrick, Frank	3 79
Schultz, Leo	9 23
Swenson, John E	4 71
Smidesang, P E	6 89
Sortedahl, M O	5 69
Sandberg, Anna M	7 24
Zutz, Chas	8 52
Dargan, M P	20
Imperial Elevator Co	1 03
Leppert Bros	4 40
R L F Milling Co	2 50
Smidesang & Son	2 50
St Anthny & Dak Elev Co	6 00
Squire, C L	42
Squire, Earl R	1 42
Bank of Wylie	2 25
Wylie Dairy Assn	77
Romsos Bros	4 32
Anderson, H P	63
Baumgardner, E J	36
Baumgardner, M A	46
Walker, John M	82

KRETZSCHMAR-STEWART.

Two Well Known Red Lake County Young People Wed.

On Saturday evening, December 29th, a quiet wedding occurred at the home of Rev. Bittkner of the Methodist church at Crookston, when Miss Olga Kretzschmar of Thief River Falls, and Charles W. Stewart, ticket agent at the Great Northern depot in Crookston, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The wedding was performed in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives and comes as complete surprise to the friends of of the contracting parties.

The bride is well known to the people of Red Lake Falls, being the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar who were at one time residents of this city, and later moved to Thief River Falls, where Miss Olga grew to womanhood. As a young lady, Miss Kretzschmar has a host of friends, of whom she commands the utmost love and respect by her many womanly qualities.

Mr. Stewert, the bridegroom, was for a number of years employed at Thief River Falls as cashier and operator for the Great Northern, and this fall was promoted to the position of ticket agent at the Great Northern depot in Crookston. Charles is of the sturdy Scot origin and in the vernacular of the Elks is one of the "best people on earth."

The writer has known both of the contracting parties for a number of years and it gives us special pleasure to join with their many friends in wishing them God speed on their journey through life.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will begin housekeeping at once in apartments in the Roesch Block in Crookston.

Crushed To Death.

Coroner Belair was called to Thief River Falls Sunday to hold an inquest over the remains of a man named Ole Fjoser, who was killed at that place Saturday. Fjoser was employed to unload a carload of coal which was standing on the Great Northern sidetrack at that place, and while engaged in the work was interupted by the freight crew who had some switching to do in that neighborhood. Fjoser descended from the car and in an effort to get out of the way of the moving cars sought refuge in the opening between the train and the coal shed which proved too narrow to accomodate him. He was caught by one of the cars and rolled along the side of the shed, the impact breacking several bones and inflicting other injuries from which he died shortly afterward.

MANY BOUNTIES PAID.

Auditor Ford Pays Sixteen Since December First.

Sixteen wolf bounties have been paid by County Auditor Ford since December 1st, the last being yesterday. Wolves are said to be quite numerous this winter, and the deep snow has made it easy to track them. The bounty is $7.50 for the grown wolves, which makes it worth the hunter's time if he can nab one occasionally.

The following have received bounties since December 1:

Jesse Luxemburger, 2; A. Audette, 1; A. Hemstad, 1; Jno. G. Hagen, 1; H. Runnestrand, 2; G. Kleven, 1; Emil Ostmo, 1; M. Madden, 1; Geo. Coe, 1; H. Cyr, 1; H. Halvorson, 1; K. Sall, 1; J. O. Johnson, 1; O. S. Breiland, 1.

The "I Lead" cigar will please you. Call for it at the leading cigar stands.

HANSEN IS ENDORSED

State Treasurer Block Compliments Treasurer Hansen For Efficeint Work.

County Treasurer Karl M. Hansen has received a communication from Julius H. Block, who has been state treasurer for six years past, in which Mr. Block compliments him on his work as county treasurer of Red Lake county.

Mr. Block has had much to do with the treasurers of Minnesota and his letter of indorsement which follows naturally pleases Mr. Hansen:

Dear Sir:—My services as State Treasurer terminate with the close of this term. My relations with you as County Treasurer covering a period of the past two years, have been indeed pleasant, and I take this opportunity of thanking you for your promptness and uniform courtesy in your dealings with this department. Wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year, I remain,

Yours very truly,
J. H. Block,
State Treasurer.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Wylie Farmers Elevator & Mercantile Co. will be held at Wylie on Tuesday, January the 8th, at 1 o'clock p. m. All stockholders are requested to be present.

C. B. Cruzen, Secy.

WINKJER HOLDS JOB

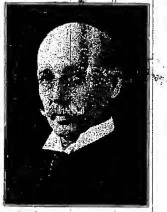
State Dairy Commission Announces That He Will Still Be Inspector.

Inspector Joel Winkjer has received notice from the state dairy commission that he will still retain his office as inspector. It was announced that five men would be dropped, beginning the first of the year, as they would not have inspectors after that date. The people throughout the valley, however, set up an energetic protest with the result that Mr. Winkjer will still keep his office.

The result will be gratifying to the dairymen throughout the valley who realize how much Mr. Winkjer has done to advance dairying in this part of the country and who wished to see him retained.

The Professor Pinned.

St. Hilaire Spectator: At the close of the school term last Friday afternoon the school children presented Prof. J. B. O'Brien with a handsome diamond pin as a token of their personal appreciation of his services. In leaving Prof. O'Brien has the good will and esteem of all of his new position. He has ably conducted the schools here as principal for the past twelve years and leaves with the best wishes of all who know him.



"The Footprints of the Centuries"
By HON. G. A. GEARHART
Metropolitan Opera House, Friday Evening, Jan. 4

A SUDDEN CALL.

Joseph Noel, of Louisville, Dies After Brief Illness.

Joseph Noel, of Louisville township, son of O. Noel of this city, died at his home Saturday evening after an illness of but a few days with an attack of inflammatory rheumatism. The young man was well during the early part of the winter, but when the fatal illness came on it made short work of its victim, the rheumatism settling at the heart.

Deceased was about 30 years of age and leaves a wife and two children to mourn him. He has been a resident of this part of the county for a long time, and was highly respected by all who knew him.

The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church Monday morning, the remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery west of town. The Catholic Order of Foresters, of whom Mr. Noel was a member, turned out to the funeral in a body, and acted as an escort to the hearse.

The bereaved family has the sincere sympathy of all in their affliction.

Woodmen Will Dance.

The members of the local lodge of Modern Woodmen, with their wives and sweethearts, will have a social hop at their hall Tuesday of next week. Good music will be provided, and the members and their ladies are invited to attend.

KELLIHER IS OPTIMISTIC

A Center for Logging and May Become One for Mining

One of the most important transactions of the year for Kelliher, one that will possibly change the entire manner in which that village will develop, is the work being done in prospecting for iron ore. A crew has been drilling for ore since last August, and it is believed that Kelliher is located directly on the range that contains the vein which extends westward from the Mesaba iron mines.

This crew has on several occasions struck ore, but not in sufficient quantities to be considered "pay dirt," as yet. However, in the past two weeks the drill has worked through a vein four feet in thickness.

Much logging is being done around Kelliher. The Crookston Lumber company, the Grand Forks Lumber company, R. E. White and Ross & Ross are getting out large quanitics of pine, cedar, tamarack and pulp wood, and many homesteaders are also logging their timber and selling it in Kelliher. These operations necessitate the employment of a large number of men.

Kelliher will go to the front with rapid strides in 1907 is the prediction of her citizens.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.—First State Bank.

SCOTT HALL MARRIED.

Former Red Lake Falls Boy Weds Last Week.

Scott C. Hall, well known to the people of this city, was married at St. Thomas, North Dakota, last Wednesday, to Miss Clara J. Pearce a charming young lady of that place.

The St. Thomas Times gives the following account of the wedding:

"A quiet home wedding occurred at high noon Wednesday, December 26th, 1906, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pearce, when Miss Clara J. Pearce and Mr. Scott C. Hall, were united in marriage. The ceremony occurred in the parlor where the groom and officiating clergyman, Rev. L. B. Crosby, awaited the bride who appeared on the arm of her father. The wedding march was played by Miss Beatrice Emard, of Red Lake Falls, Minn. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room, which was tastefully decorated in green and white, and partook of a wedding dinner, The bride was the recipient of a long list of beautiful and valuable presents. The groom is a young man of promising future, who is employed in the construction department of the Great Northern Railway line. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearce and has lived the greater part of her life here. She is a young lady of engaging presence and charming disposition. The happy couple will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pearce for a few days before going to their future home at Crookston, Minn."

TEACHERS' EXAMS.

Semi-Annual Tests Will Occur Last of This Month.

Superintendent McAnulty announces that the semi-annual teachers, examinations for Red Lake county will be held at Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 31, February 1 and 2.

All teachers who expect to teach and haven't at present sufficient state certificates will be obliged to take this examination, as Superintendent McAnulty states positively that no teacher holding only a county certificate will be allowed to take a school, until after all teachers holding state certificates are engaged.

He feels that this is no more than justice to those who work hard for their state honors, and to this end is desirous of seeing every teacher in the county not already qualified take the January examinations.

The complete program will be published soon.

Thief Riverite In Limbo.

Pat Kinney, a Thief Riverite, was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing $26 from a bar-keep at one of the saloons up the line. County Attorney Germo was called and went up to attend the hearing. The fellow was arraigned, but owing to some delay the case was continued until Saturday. It seems that Kinney saw the barkeeker go to an adjoining room and place some cash under the matress of a bed, and as soon as convenient he went in and swiped the deposit. It is likely that he will get a term in jail, but of course he deserves it. The fellow who steals at all should steal enough so that he will be sent to congress instead of the pen—but it apparently takes a long time to educate them to it.

The Argues Entertain.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Argue entertained a number of friends at their North Side home, at a six o'clock dinner last Friday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Johnson, of Park River. The dinner was an elaborate one and after the guests had done ample justice to the many choice viands the evening was pleasantly spent in social intercourse.

DEATH OF MRS. WALTER

Aged Mother of Mrs. H. M. Kaus and Mrs. M. Skala, of This City, Passes Away.

Mrs. Margaret Walter, widow of the late John Walter, and an old and highly respected resident of this city, died at her home on north Main street Monday morning at 9:30, after an illness of two weeks with inflammation of the bowels.

While well advanced in years, Grandma Walter had always enjoyed the best of health, and was as hale and hearty as many a younger woman. About two weeks ago she was taken sick with an attack of inflammation of the bowels, and while all the medical skill to be obtained was at hand to stay the progress of the disease, her advanced age was against her, and death came Monday to drop the curtain on a life that had been full of adventure and usefulness.

Mrs. Walter was one of the pioneers in what is now the great state of Minnesota, and her early life was one that the generation of today can realize only from history.

Margaret (Hoffman) Walter was born in Brolzdorf, Bavaria, Germany, in 1822, and immigrated to America in 1846, coming to Red Wing, this state. After living there several years the family moved to Fergus Falls and remained there until 1882, when they came to Red Lake Falls, then a small inland village in nearly a wilderness. Her husband died but a few years ago, and since being parted from her partner of so many years, the good lady had lived a life of retirement, spending her time with those of her children who were here.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother and companion the following children: Andrew Walter, of Fergus Falls; Philip Walter, of Tagus, N. Dak.; Mrs. Richard Adler, of Cambridge, Maryland; Mesdames M. Skala and H. M. Kaus, of this city.

The funeral was held from St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock this morning, the Rev. Father Ansgar conducting the services. The remains were laid at rest in St. Mary's cemetery.

QUIST NAMES DEPUTY.

Miss Bertha Lafreniere Will Be His Assistant.

Register of Deeds-elect, E. L. Quist has named Miss Bertha Lafreniere, of this city, as deputy Register of Deeds, and the young lady will assume her new duties next week.

Miss Lafreniere was formerly employed in the Register's office, and was considered a first-class deputy. Her many friends here will be pleased to know of her good fortune.

She returned home from Grand Rapids last Thursday, and is spending the week visiting with her many friends here.

A BASKET PARTY.

M. B. A. Lodge Will Give A Public Entertainment.

The local lodge of M. B. A's. will give a basket social and dance at their hall on Monday evening the 14th inst.

The affair will be for the public, and the ladies are asked to bring baskets, which will be auctioned off to the members of the sterner sex. After the supper a social dance will be given, and the event promises to be an enjoyable one for all who attend.

Messrs Joseph Belair, Samuel Gibeau, Frank Brouillet, George Guerin and J. R. Patnode are the committee on arrangements, and will see that everything is fixed so that all who go will enjoy themselves every minute of the time.

Finest line of case pipes to be found in the city at Freund's Confectionery.

Lillibridge's famous Chocolates, fresh and delicious, just received at Freund's Confectionery.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 3, 1907 No 14

THE PERSONAL TAXES

Amounts the People of St. Hilaire and Township of Polk Center Will Have To Pay.

ST. HILAIRE.

[illegible], E H	$ 2 16
Anderson, Mike	10 21
Abrahamson, Anna	6 18
Arthur, W A	11 99
Berk, M E	20 59
Brink Bros	8 43
Blomburg, Dr	6 84
Bakee, B E	2 29
Braunn, J J	1 62
Batz, Paul A	8 46
Berglund, August	2 13
Brink, O W	22 45
Cummings, Dr	14 19
Crookston Lmbr Co	1,004 74
Colins, D J	3 30
Carpenter, F R	1 07
[illegible], Mrs A J	17 70
[illegible], J A	1 49
[illegible], Mrs E L	2 31
First State Bank	128 08
[illegible], John	2 19
[illegible], Chas	5 90
[illegible], Albert	2 87
[illegible]gstad, K O	3 61
[illegible]gon, H	7 89
[illegible], E M	69 32
[illegible] Bros	26 99
[illegible], Leonard	14 29
[illegible]rson, M L	51 66
[illegible], Andrew	10 48
[illegible], J K	18 94
[illegible], H E	7 58
[illegible], Ole	6 20
[illegible], J M	17
[illegible]nson, Carl	4 24
[illegible]land, Henry	3 03
[illegible]land, K B	3 57
[illegible]berg, Peter	5 12
Merchants State Bank	107 86
Minneapolis Brewing Co	5 05
[illegible], C H	13 21
[illegible], N	2 63
[illegible]kercher, B J	6 88
[illegible]son, Jens	33 29
[illegible], Wm	4 51
[illegible], O F	99 51
Patterson, Dan	19 01
Payment, A	7 75
R L F Milling Co	29 07
Remington, Mrs M J	1 88
[illegible]land, L M and Son	19 89
St Anthny & Dak Elev Co	23 61
St Hilaire Creamery	10 13
Swenson, R R	2 19
[illegible], Wm	19 14
Standard Oil Co	9 28
Setterberg, A	3 40
[illegible], J J	8 06
Sandmoen, Mrs C	9 17
Soderberg, Fred	5 97
Strom, C	3 40
Thompson, Tollef	13 04
Val Blatz Brewing Co	9 27
Wallen, Richard	2 53
Wilson & Stean Co	7 15

POLK CENTER.

Anderson, Alfred	5 36
Borgen C G	6 03
[illegible], Jacob	25 54
Baumgardner, L	1 03
[illegible]lson, Emil	3 08
[illegible], Fred	5 14
[illegible], Albert	3 89
[illegible], C C	2 70
[illegible]land, John	3 81
[illegible], Fred	8 38
[illegible], Dan	1 31
[illegible], Johanna	38
[illegible], C G	1 07
[illegible]strom, Otto	2 17
[illegible], Regis	22 50
[illegible], Eucharis	4 19
[illegible], Leon	13 16
[illegible]strom, P A	4 92
Hansel, Peter	22
Johnson, Swan	3 25
Johnson, Chas	6 97
[illegible], E J	3 88
Johnson, Nels	5 43
Kodal, H O	1 10
Knaack, A R	1 76
Lindquist, G	1 11
Lubitz, Fred	1 22
Lubitz, Gustav	3 77
Larson, S J	3 77
Lehrer, Andrew	2 94
Lillaboe, O G	2 48
Lorentzson, Olaus	3 48
Landa, Albert	6 21
Molin, C A	6 19
Meyer, Fred L	10 37
Maur, Nick	4 06
Naplin, S J	3 08
Naplin, C E	3 98
[illegible], Wilhelmina	3 60
Olson, Olina	1 80
[illegible], J G	1 50
Person, Nels	3 86
Peterson, John P	3 02
Person, Sam	3 37
[illegible], Ameda	5 49
[illegible], Earl	2 31
[illegible], Frank	3 79
[illegible], Leo	9 23
Swenson, John E	4 71
[illegible], P E	6 89
Sortedahl, M O	5 69
Sandberg, Anna M	7 24
Zutz, Chas	8 52
Dargan, M P	20
Imperial Elevator Co	1 03
Leppert Bros	4 40
R L F Milling Co	2 50
Smidesang & Son	2 50
St Anthny & Dak Elev Co	6 00
Squire, C L	42
Squire, Earl R	1 42
Bank of Wylie	2 27
Wylie Dairy Assn	77
Bomsos Bros	1 32
Anderson, H P	63
Baumgardner, E J	36
Baumgardner, M A	40
Walker, John M	82

KRETZSCHMAR-STEWART.

Two Well Known Red Lake County Young People Wed.

On Saturday evening, December 29th, a quiet wedding occurred at the home of Rev. Buckner of the Methodist church at Crookston, when Miss Olga Kretzschmar of Thief River Falls, and Charles W. Stewart, ticket agent at the Great Northern depot in Crookston, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The wedding was performed in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives and comes as complete surprise to the friends of of the contracting parties.

The bride is well known to the people of Red Lake Falls, being the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar who were at one time residents of this city, and later moved to Thief River Falls, where Miss Olga grew to womanhood. As a young lady, Miss Kretzschmar has a host of friends, of whom she commands the utmost love and respect by her many womanly qualities.

Mr. Stewart, the bridegroom, was for a number of years employed at Thief River Falls as cashier and operator for the Great Northern, and this fall was promoted to the position of ticket agent at the Great Northern depot in Crookston. Charles is of the sturdy Scot origin and in the vernacular of the Elks is one of the "best people on earth."

The writer has known both of the contracting parties for a number of years and it gives us special pleasure to join with their many friends in wishing them God speed on their journey through life.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will begin housekeeping at once in apartments in the Roesch Block in Crookston.

Crushed To Death.

Coroner Belair was called to Thief River Falls Sunday to hold an inquest over the remains of a man named Ole Fjoser, who was killed at that place Saturday. Fjoser was employed to unload a carload of coal which was standing on the Great Northern sidetrack at that place, and while engaged in the work was interrupted by the freight crew who had some switching to do in that neighborhood. Fjoser descended from the car and in an effort to get out of the way of the moving cars sought refuge in the opening between the train and the coal shed which proved too narrow to accomodate him. He was caught by one of the cars and rolled along the side ot the shed, the impact breaking several bones and inflicting other injuries from which he died shortly afterward.

MANY BOUNTIES PAID.

Auditor Ford Pays Sixteen Since December First.

Sixteen wolf bounties have been paid by County Auditor Ford since December 1st, the last being yesterday. Wolves are said to be quite numerous this winter, and the deep snow has made it easy to track them. The bounty is $7.50 for the grown wolves, which makes it worth the hunter's time if he can nab one occasionally.

The following have received bounties since December 1:

Jesse Luxemburger, 2; A. Andette, 1; A. Hemstad, 1; Jno. G. Hagen, 1; H. Runnestrand, 2; G. Kleven, 1; Emil Ostmo, 1; M. Madden, 1; Geo. Coe, 1; H. Cyr, 1; H. Halvorson, 1; K. Sall, 1; J. O. Johnson, 1; O. S. Breiland, 1.

The "I Lead" cigar will please you. Call for it at the leading cigar stands.

HANSEN IS ENDORSED

State Treasurer Block Compliments Treasurer Hansen For Efficient Work.

County Treasurer Karl M. Hansen has received a communication from Julius H. Block, who has been state treasurer for six years past, in which Mr. Block compliments him on his work as county treasurer of Red Lake county.

Mr. Block has had much to do with the treasurers of Minnesota and his letter of indorsement which follows naturally pleases Mr. Hansen:

Dear Sir:—My services as State Treasurer terminate with the close of this term. My relations with you as County Treasurer covering a period of the past two years, have been indeed pleasant, and I take this opportunity of thanking you for your promptness and uniform courtesy in your dealings with this department. Wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year, I remain, Yours very truly,

J. H. Block,
State Treasurer.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Wylie Farmers Elevator & Mercantile Co. will be held at Wylie on Tuesday, January the 8th, at 1 o'clock p. m. All stockholders are requested to be present.

C. B. Cruzen, Secy.

WINKJER HOLDS JOB

State Dairy Commission Announces That He Will Still Be Inspector.

Inspector Joet Winkjer has received notice from the state dairy commission that he will still retain his office as inspector. It was announced that five men would be dropped, beginning the first of the year, as they would not have inspectors after that date. The people throughout the valley, however, set up an energetic protest with the result that Mr. Winkjer will still keep his office.

The result will be gratifying to the dairymen throughout the valley who realize how much Mr. Winkjer has done to advance dairying in this part of the country and who wished to see him retained.

The Professor Pinned.

St. Hilaire Spectator: At the close of the school term last Friday afternoon the school children presented Prof. J. B. O'Brien with a handsome diamond pin as a token of their personal appreciation of his services. In leaving Prof. O'Brien has the good will and esteem of all of his new position. He has ably conducted the schools here as principal for the past twelve years and leaves with the best wishes of all who know him.

"The Footprints of the Centuries"

By HON. G. A. GEARHART

Metropolitan Opera House, Friday Evening, Jan. 4

A SUDDEN CALL.

Joseph Noel, of Louisville, Dies After Brief Illness.

Joseph Noel, of Louisville township, son of O. Noel of this city, died at his home Saturday evening after an illness of but a few days with an attack of inflammatory rheumatism. The young man was well during the early part of the winter, but when the fatal illness came on it made short work of its victim, the rheumatism settling at the heart.

Deceased was about 30 years of age and leaves a wife and two children to mourn him. He has been a resident of this part of the county for a long time, and was highly respected by all who knew him.

The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church Monday morning, the remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery west of town. The Catholic Order of Foresters, of whom Mr. Noel was a member, turned out to the funeral in a body, and acted as an escort to the hearse.

The bereaved family has the sincere sympathy of all in their affliction.

Woodmen Will Dance.

The members of the local lodge of Modern Woodmen, with their wives and sweethearts, will have a social hop at their hall Tuesday of next week. Good music will be provided, and the members and their ladies are invited to attend.

KELLIHER IS OPTIMISTIC

A Center for Logging and May Become One for Mining

One of the most important transactions of the year for Kelliher, one that will possibly change the entire manner in which that village will develop, is the work being done in prospecting for iron ore. A crew has been drilling for ore since last August, and it is believed that Kelliher is located directly on the range that contains the vein which extends westward from the Mesaba iron mines.

This crew has on several occasions struck ore, but not in sufficient quantities to be considered "pay dirt," as yet. However, in the past two weeks the drill has worked through a vein four feet in thickness.

Much logging is being done around Kelliher. The Crookston Lumber company, the Grand Forks Lumber company, R. E. White and Ross & Ross are getting out large quanities of pine, cedar, tamarack and pulp wood, and many homesteaders are also logging their timber and selling it in Kelliher. These operations necessitate the employment of a large number of men.

Kelliher will go to the front with rapid strides in 1907 is the prediction of her citizens.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.—First State Bank.

SCOTT HALL MARRIED.

Former Red Lake Falls Boy Weds Last Week.

Scott C. Hall, well known to the people of this city, was married at St. Thomas, North Dakota, last Wednesday, to Miss Clara J. Pearce a charming young lady of that place.

The St. Thomas Times gives the following account of the wedding:

"A quiet home wedding occured at high noon Wednesday, December 26th, 1906, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pearce, when Miss Clara J. Pearce and Mr. Scott C. Hall, were united in marriage. The ceremony occurred in the parlor where the groom and officiating clergyman, Rev. L. B. Crosby, awaited the bride who appeared on the arm of her father. The wedding march was played by Miss Beatrice Emard, of Red Lake Falls, Minn. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room, which was tastefully decorated in green and white, and partook of a wedding dinner. The bride was the recipient of a long list of beautiful and valuable presents. The groom is a young man of promising future, who is employed in the construction department of the Great Northern Railway line. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearce and has lived the greater part of her life here. She is a young lady of engaging presence and charming disposition. The happy couple will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pearce for a few days before going to their future home at Crookston, Minn."

TEACHERS' EXAMS.

Semi-Annual Tests Will Occur Last of This Month.

Superintendent McAnulty announces that the semi-annual teachers, examinations for Red Lake county will be held at Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 31, February 1 and 2.

All teachers who expect to teach and haven't at present sufficient state certificates will be obliged to take this examination, as Superintendent McAnulty states positively that no teacher holding only a county certificate will be allowed to take a school, until after all teachers holding state certificates are engaged.

He feels that this is no more than justice to those who work hard for their state honors, and to this end is desirous of seeing every teacher in the county not already qualified take the January examinations.

The complete program will be published soon.

Thief Riverite In Limbo.

Pat Kinney, a Thief Riverite, was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing $26 from a bar-keep at one of the saloons up the line. County Attorney Germo was called and went up to attend the hearing. The fellow was arraigned, but owing to some delay the case was continued until Saturday. It seems that Kinney saw the barkeeper go to an adjoining room and place some cash under the matress of a bed, and as soon as convenient he went in and swiped the deposit. It is likely that he will get a term in jail, but of course he deserves it. The fellow who steals at all should steal enough so that he will be sent to congress instead of the pen—but it apparently takes a long time to educate them to it.

The Argues Entertain.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Argue entertained a number of friends at their North Side home, at a six o'clock dinner last Friday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Johnson, of Park River. The dinner was an elaborate one and after the guests had done ample justice to the many choice viands the evening was pleasantly spent in social intercourse.

DEATH OF MRS. WALTER

Aged Mother of Mrs. H. M. Kaus and Mrs. M. Skala, of This City, Passes Away.

Mrs. Margaret Walter, widow of the late John Walter, and an old and highly respected resident of this city, died at her home on north Main street Monday morning at 9:30, after an illness of two weeks with inflammation of the bowels.

While well advanced in years, Grandma Walter had always enjoyed the best of health, and was as hale and hearty as many a younger woman. About two weeks ago she was taken sick with an attack of inflammation of the bowels, and while all the medical skill to be obtained was at hand to stay the progress of the disease, her advanced age was against her, and death came Monday to drop the curtain on a life that had been full of adventure and usefulness.

Mrs. Walter was one of the pioneers in what is now the great state of Minnesota, and her early life was one that the generation of today can realize only from history.

Margaret (Hoffman) Walter was born in Brolzdorf, Bavaria, Germany, in 1822, and immigrated to America in 1846, coming to Red Wing, this state. After living there several years the family moved to Fergus Falls and remained there until 1882, when they came to Red Lake Falls, then a small inland village in nearly a wilderness. Her husband died but a few years ago, and since being parted from her partner of so many years, the good lady had lived a life of retirement, spending her time with those of her children who were here.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother and companion the following children. Andrew Walter, of Fergus Falls; Philip Walter, of Tagus, N. Dak.; Mrs. Richard Adler, of Cambridge, Maryland; Mesdames M. Skala and H. M. Kaus, of this city.

The funeral was held from St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock this morning, the Rev. Father Ansgar conducting the services. The remains were laid at rest in St. Mary's cemetery.

QUIST NAMES DEPUTY.

Miss Bertha Lafreniere Will Be His Assistant.

Register of Deeds-elect, E. L. Quist has named Miss Bertha Lafreniere, of this city, as deputy Register of Deeds, and the young lady will assume her new duties next week.

Miss Lafreniere was formerly employed in the Register's office, and was considered a first-class deputy. Her many friends here will be pleased to know of her good fortune.

She returned home from Grand Rapids last Thursday, and is spending the week visiting with her many friends here.

A BASKET PARTY.

M. B. A. Lodge Will Give A Public Entertainment.

The local lodge of M. B. A's. will give a basket social and dance at their hall on Monday evening the 14th inst.

The affair will be for the public, and the ladies are asked to bring baskets, which will be auctioned off to the members of the sterner sex. After the supper a social dance will be given, and the event promises to be an enjoyable one for all who attend.

Messrs Joseph Belair, Samuel Gibeau, Frank Brouillet, George Guerin and J. R. Patnode are the committee on arrangements, and will see that all who go will enjoy themselves every minute of the time.

Finest line of case pipes to be found in the city at Freund's Confectionery.

Lillibridge's famous Chocolates, fresh and delicious, just received at Freund's Confectionery.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS. - MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

Ten representatives and one senntor sailed on the steamship Allianca from New York for Colon, for the purpose of making a five-day inspection of the Isthmus of Panama and learning for themselves the existing condition relative to the digging of the canal.

A mob at Las Animas, Col., vainly stormed the county jail in the attempt to lynch a tramp who had brutally murdered a farmer.

A maniac held possession of the switch tower at Cavanagh, Ind., for hours, disorganizing traffic on three railways.

Quiet has been restored at Scooba and Wahalak, Miss., where race riots have been going on.

Nearly all trains were sent out on schedule time by the Southern Pacific and the firemen's strike seemed about broken.

Minnesota began action to prevent the contemplated stock issue by the Great Northern railway.

Archbishop Ireland's statement on the Franco-Vatican conflict did not please the pope.

It was rumored that a big deal was about to be closed whereby a Minneapolis company will consign a large quantity of Minneapolis flour for Russian consumption.

Commissioner of Immigration Sargeant says fewer Japanese are coming to Hawaii now.

Half of the town of Arica, Chils, was destroyed by an earthquake.

Capt. James E. Lennan, a famous Pacific coast pilot, was drowned at Juneau.

Harrison Parkman, who first brought alfalfa from South America and planted it in the United States, died at Emporia, Kan., aged 73 years.

Benjamin Brown, financial manager of the American and United States Express companies, shot and probably fatally wounded himself.

The Chicago Bar association committee found that Judge A. H. Chetlain had committed improprieties and merited severe censure.

Count Eugene Zichy, the Hungarian statesman and Central Asian explorer, died of apoplexy. He was born in 1837.

The residence of Gov. McInnes, of the Yukon, at Dawson, known as Government House, was burned. Loss, [illegible].

George Davis, aged 25, of Morristown, N. J., lost his life in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue John Arke, an eight-year-old boy, from drowning.

Hiram Mullins and his son William were shot and fatally wounded in a feud battle fought at their home in Kentucky with a gang of desperadoes, headed by Charles and Bud Little and Jim Brewer.

The cotton harvest in central Asia is extremely good, 17,000 carloads instead of the usual 12,000, being available for export. Railroads will require special facilities to transport the cotton.

French, German and Russian expeditions have arrived at Tashkent, Asiatic Russia, to observe the eclipse January 14.

Gen. Joseph K. Hudson, editor and publisher of the Topeka (Kan.) Herald, is ill at Topeka and his physicians say his recovery is doubtful.

Fire originating from a defective gas lighting system destroyed three business blocks in Perry, Ia. The loss aggregates $100,000.

The employes in the blast furnaces in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys have been notified that they will receive an increase of ten per cent. with the beginning of the new year. The increase will affect about 4,000 men.

Henry Newman, 65 years of age, founder of the cotton firm of H. & C. Newman and a member of the cotton exchange, died at his home in New York.

A heavy snowstorm in Great Britain has delayed trains and several schooners off the coast were wrecked by the gale.

The Zionists congress, in session at Craiova, Roumania, was invaded by members of the anti-Jewish society. A riot ensued, during which many Jews were injured.

A strike of locomotive firemen went into effect on the lines of the Southern Pacific company in Texas and Louisiana. About 300 or 400 men are involved.

James Bryce, who is to be British ambassador to Washington, has declined a peerage.

As a result of a fight at a country dance on Cane Creek, Breathitt county, Kentucky, Thomas Gullett was shot through the body and instantly killed; Walker Cole was shot through the arm, shattering the bone and necessitating amputation, and Bill Little was shot through the back.

Several persoas were seriously injured in a McKeesport (Pa.) boardiag house ia a riot over a Christmas turkey. The bird was not cooked to suit the boarders and the cranborry sauce was missing.

Falling into a sponge mixer full of dough, which he was feeding, H. D. Van Kirk, Columbus, O., was whirled round and round until every bone in his body was crushed before the machine was stopped and he was extricated, a corpse.

A duel with pitchforks between two grooms employed in a fashionable riding academy in New York resulted in probably fatal injuries to Thomas Connolly, whose eye and brain were penetrated by the prong of the fork wielded hy James Cassidy.

Mrs. Susan Kelly, aged 50 years, was burned to denth nnd her husband bnrely escaped with his life in a fire which destroyed their apartments in West Sixtioth street, New York.

Just as he presented a Christmas gift to his wife, Thomas Cardia, of Philndelphia, dropped dead of hesrt disease.

Rev. T. K. Crowley, of St. Patrick's church, Denisoa, Tex., while putting on his vestmeats to celebrate high msss, dropped dead.

Three men were killed and four wounded in s bsttle between guards employed by the West Kentucky Coal company at Sturgis, Uaion county, Ky., and the striking miaers at that place.

Edward H. Judson, Dr. Emanuel L. Hess, Thnmas Cochran and Dr. L. W. Babcock, all prominent pioaeer residents of St. Paul, Minn., died.

Announcement is aiade of a gift of $110,000 to defray tho expense of the construction and equipment of a new home for Marquette college, Milwaukee, the donors beiag Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Johustoa, in conjunction with their son, Rev. Robert Story Johnstnn, S. J., of Florissant, Mo.

The touring car of Joseph Leiter, in which were riding Mr. Leiter, Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter nnd Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Remington, of New York, ran dnwn and instnntly killed Ssmuel West, a 14-year-old negro boy, in Washington.

Manager Iso Abe, of Wnsedn university, Japan, has accepted the challenge of Stanford university for nn internatinnal baseball contest to be plnyed in Tokio some time in Msy.

David C. Webb, president of a big mercantile company in Kansas City, Mn., died aged 72 years.

Sailors from the United States cruiser Clevelaad caused a panic in a public park in Cienfuegos, Cuba, where a concert was going on, by engaging in a fight and firing maay shnts. The police arrested several of the sailors.

Otto Yogieslsky, a contracting plumber, shot nnd instantly killed his wife aad then committed suicide in New York.

Mrs. Gertrude Rose, wife of Henry M. Rose, assistant secretary of the United States sennte, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. B. F. McReynolds, in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., formerly Miss Martha Hichborn, who secured a divorce in South Dakota several days ago, announced that she would soon be married to Paul S. Pearsall, of New York, a lieutenant in the regiment of rough riders during the war with Spain.

Neil Florence, an actor 45 years old, was found dead in his room at a New York boarding house. The apnrtment was filled with illuminatiag gas which was escapting from two open jets.

Rnse Bros.' department store at Manistique, Mich., was destroyed by fire, the loss being $75,000.

E. L. Larrimore of Atlanta, Ga., accidentally shot nad killed bis niece, Miss Tymena R. Freemnn.

In a head-on-collision at Brookville, Ind., between two Big Four freight trains, Fireman Frank Morris of Muncie, Ind., and Bert Day, a fnrmer of Cedar Grove, Ind., who was riding on one of the engines, were killed, and H. Beesley, another farmer, was fatally injured.

Earl Northup, aged 22, was probably fatally stabbed duriag a saloon brawl by Privnte Howard of Troop K, Tbirteenth cavalry, at Fort Sill, Okla.

The Roman Catholic church at Otsego, Mich., was burned followiag a Christmas celebration.

The Mississippi race war has broken out nfresh nt Scooba and troops have been sent there. Already the deaths there nad at Wnhalak number probably a dozen.

Leading citizena of New York addressed a letter to Secretary of State Root on the conditioas in the Coago Free State, asking that the moral support of the United States be given to correct the abuses there.

A sergeant of the Ninth cavalry, colored, killed a corporal in a fight about n woman at Fort Sheridaa, Ill.

Rear Admiral Nebogatoff nnd three other officers were sentenced to death for surrendering to the Jnpanese in the battle of the Sea of Jnpan, but the court martial will ask tbe czar to commute the sentences to ten years' imprisonment.

Governnr Magoon signed the decree appointing a commission to revise the laws of Cuba.

Count Alexis Ingatieff, a member of the council of the empire and ex-governor general of Kiev, Volhynia and Podolia, was shot and killed by an unknown man at Tver, Russia.

Mrs. James G. Blaiae, Jr., who is a daughter of Rear Admiral Hichborn, retired, nbtained a decree of divorce from her husband on the grounds of desertion and non-support.

President Roosevelt issued a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to coatribute funds for the relief of millions of famine sufferers in China, who are on the verge of starvation.

A petition has been presented to the Belgian parliament asking that every motor vehicle in the country be buraed in oae great boafire befora 1908, and the resultaat scrap metal sold for the benefit of those who have been maimed or crushed by automobiles.

The coal house of the Northwestern railroad at Pierre, S. D., with all railroad coal on hand, was totally destroyed by fire.

Negroes of Wahalak, Miss., threatened the 25 white residents of tbe town snd state troops were ssnt from Meridian to protect them.

A sail boat with 25 persons on board was overturned near Montego bay, Jamaica, and 16 of the passengers were drowned.

The Standard Oil company won a victory in common pleas court at Findisy, O., when Judge W. S. Duncan decided that tha probate court had no jurisdiction in the suit brought sgaiast it in the probate court, and threw out the recent verdict of guilty against the company.

Secretary Taft has appointed a board of officers to meet January 15 at the Springfield armory, Springfield, Mass., for the purpose of ascartaining a design of automatic pistol or revolver best adapted to fulfill tha requirements of the military service.

The state department was officially advised in a dispatch from Guayaquil of the election by the natioaal assembly of Eloy Alfaro to be constitutional president of Ecuador.

J. E. Woodward & Co., Omaba coal dealers, operating a mine at Dietz, Wyo., brought suit for $20,000 against the Burlington Railway company for coal alleged to have been confiscated.

Frank Hair, for 13 years in charge of the musical department of the Baker university at Baldwin, Kan., and composer of choir music used all over the country, died suddenly at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

General Superinteadent Kimball, of the life saving service, shows in his annual report that the number of marine disasters was 849 in the waters of the United States. In these, 49 vessels and 29 lives were lost and 811 persons were succored at the various statioas. The total vaue of property saved wss $12,266,100, while that lost was $2,775,400. In the disasters 5,320 lives were imperiled.

Tbrce men were killed and a dozen seriously injured in a wreck on the Sugar Pine branch of the Sierra railroad near Stockton, Cal.

Two masked men held up 17 occupants of the lobby barroom of the Columbia hotel at Goldfield, Nev., and secured $825 from the gambling games, but overlooked $3,000 which was in the safe.

Colonel J. E. Pepper, the distiller of Kentucky, died in New York.

Gordon McDonald shot and killed Coley Cheaey and Perchel Burns at Cochran, Ga., as a result of a quarrel.

Mrs. A. U. Popolaski, a woman of Polish birth, aged 104 years, died at Fairmont, Minn.

Clyde King, aged 25, shot and killed Elis Jobes, his brother-in-law, at Osseo, a town a few miles from Minneapolis.

H. Cashman, Charles Slaight and Dan Slaight drove into an air-hole in the Missouri river opposite Fort Randall, S. D., and were drowned.

Commander Alfred B. Canaga, in charge of the steam engineering department of the Charlestown navy yard, died suddenly of apoplexy at Boston.

Henry Watterson and Mrs. Watterson, of Louisville, Ky., are at Barcelona, Spain, whence they will go to Egypt.

Col. Obrowcheff, commander of tha Eighty-first Russian infantry, has been killed on his estate near Lukow, Poland, by an unknown mnn.

Two women and two children were burned to death at Morris Neck, Va., and two women and an infant were suffocated in a fire at Steubenville, O.

Harlan Cleveland, one of the leading lawyers of the Cincinnati bar, died from Bright's disease.

Commander Peary's steamer Roosevelt has arrived at New York.

The Illinois snpreme court entered an order disbarring John Stirlen, of Chicago, and Arthur Keithley, of Peoria, for unprofessional eonduct.

Frank J. Russell, private secretary to John M. Dubois, the millionaire lumberman of Dubois, Pa., committed suicide because of finaneial trouble.

A cheek for $75,430.20 was sent to State Treasurer William N. Berry in full payment of the claim of the state of Pennsylvania against the Farmers' and Drovers' National bank of Waynesburg, Pa., which was recently closed.

Nine men were killed and 37 badly injured in a collision between a passenger train and a freight at Enderlia, N. D.

The steamer Strathcona was burned 60 miles from Halifax, N. S., but the engineers and firemen stuck to their posts until she could be beached nnd the 380 passengera wera aaved.

Henry Biesterfeld, n retired business man of Elgin, Ill., was killed in the woods near tbat city while cutting down trees. A tree fell on him and crushed him.

Resolutioas denouncing President Roosevelt's messaga to congress on the Japanese situntion in San Francisco, resenting hia interference in tha domestic affaira of the state, and expressing want of confidence in Secretnry Metcalf were adopted at a mass meetiag in San Francisco.

Four persons were burned, three fatally, early Sunday as the result of a natural gaa explosion in the home of John Carvel, at Washington, Pa.

Bishop Henry Cosgrove, of tha Catholic diocese of Davenport, Ia., died after a long illness from cancer of the kidneys.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Looking to the Fair.

With New Year's at hand and every inch of farm land in the state frozen a foot or so deep, prepartions are being made for the agricultural exhibits at the Minnesota state fair for next year. And, oddly enough, the first move comes from St. Louis eounty in the far north. The Duluth Commercinl Club is taking steps already to see thst St. Louis county is properly represented and by beginning now will have plenty of time to organize and ses that the farmers are interested before planting time in the spring.

The best sgricultural exhibits at the Minnesota stnte fair ars those which are planned long before spring. The successful eounties frequently organize enrly in the winter, assigning to individual farmers the production of one or more grains or vegetables, and even arranging for special seed so thnt there msy be no slips in the program. By beginning this way nothing is left to chance. All varieties are planned out and a little supervision nnd checking up during the plnnting and growing season assures a successful exhibit. The farmers who mnke individual exhibits with success are, generally, the ones who plan in the winter and order their seed for the special purposes in mind.

St. Louis county will doubtless have more than an agricultural display. The Duluth News-Tribune advocates a permanent exhibit in Duluth as well ns a full showing of the resources of the county at the state fair, and the proposed semi-centennial exposition of 1908.

Lost Three Days.

Black Duck—After wandering about in the woods for three days, Alex Brunski turned up at one of the camps of the Beltrami Cedar and Land Company, about ten miles from here.

Brunski, who is a homesteader, started to come to Blnck Duck to purchase supplies. Instead of traveling over the old logging road, with which he was familiar, he attempted to take a short cut through the forest and became lost. When he did not return home that night his wife becamo nlarmed, nnd, informing the neighbors that her husband was missing, a searching party set out to look for him. They found no trace of hlm, but last evening, just ss the men in the cedar camp had finished their supper, they heard a noise outside the cook's shanty, and on investigating found Brunski lying helpless in the snow.

Vote Canvassed.

St. Paul—The cnnvassing board wound up its work and the official vote of the state is now on file. The cnnvsss gives Gov. Johnson a total of 168,480 and a majority over Cole of 72,818.

The road amendment is lost by 313 votes and the tax amendment is carried by n comfortable margin.

The amendment to the law governing peddling wns carried by a large mnjority.

Attorney General Young received the largest vote east on either ticket, his plurality being 84,754. The smallest plurality was 30,938, polled by Lieut. Gov. Eberhart. C. M. Start, the only esndidnte for ehief justice of the supreme court, received 200,167 votes.

The total number of votes cast was 304,021, of which 284,366 were cast by men nnd 19,655 by women.

Sold by Uncle Sam.

St. Paul—"Bond," a brown and white pointer, held as unclaimed at tbe customs house store, was yesterday sold at public auction for $40, James Dent of the rsilway mail service being the successful bidder.

"Bond" was sold on approval to a sportsman in Calgary, Alberta, Can., who recently shipped him back after using him, as the seller says, during the hunting season. The man to whom the dog was consigned lives in Osceola, Iowa, and he did not care to pay the 20 per cent ad valorem duty. The only alternative of the customs authorities was to sell the dog at auction.

The auction took place in the customs house store room, pursuant to advertisement. The bidding was brisk.

Railway Strike.

Virginia—Several hundred men who were employed on the construction of the extension of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad have struck because the company has lowered the scale of wages.

The wages were lowered from $40 per month to $35 and $30, and from $2.25 to $2. The eompany has succeeded in shipping a hundred men to fill the places of the strikers, and it is expected that the strike will be broken. No serious trouble is nnticipated.

Most of the men are Austrians, Italians and Finns.

News Notes.

Lake City—O. G. Potter, of Pepin, was dragged under the wheels of a loaded wagon and his leg was broken. He is in a critical condition.

St. Paul—Burglnrs broke into the saloon of B. R. Peterson at South St. Paul and stole $15, some whisky and eignrs. The place was thoroughly ransacked.

Dent—A petition which has been generally signed has been forwarded to Governor Johnson asking that he clap a "lid" upon the saloons in this town.

Duluth—Horace B. Moore, 63 yenrs old, secretary and treasurer of the Duluth board of trade, mayor of Duluth in 1885, nnd customs officer for Duluth during Cleveland's first term, dropped dead at his home in this city tonight, after supper.

Mankato—The city council voted to instruct the eity attorney to take steps for the suppression of bueket shops and so-called commission houses. The move hnd the eommendation of Mayor Taylor and was taken with a unanimous vote.

Crookston—A. J. Rolfstad was badly burned by the explosion of a gasoline stove. Rolfstad is a bachelor and lives alone. While preparing his evening meal upon a gasoline stove it exploded.

Beaudette—Iver Petterson, of Williams, under arrest on a charge of beating his wife, took poison and hia life was saved only by heroic work by physicians.

Brentford.

Naw town on tha Watertown-Missouri River extension of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad in South Dakota. In the heart of the famous Jim River Valley. Country around Brentford is well settled and it will ba one of the best of the new towns on the lino.

Offers excellent business opportunities. Place has received a wonderful impstus from prominent South Dakota business men in vicinity who have invested and have organized a commercial club to boost the population to 1,000 in six months. It is a market for a million bushels of grain. Has an exelusive territory covering an average radius of 20 miles. Rails are laid into tha town. Already has two brick banks, three brick stores, five elevators, 150 residence lots sold. First residence will cost $4,500. For particulars go to Brentford or address Commercial Club, Brentford, S. D., or Thos. A. Way, Townsite Agent, M. & St. L. R. R., Aberdeen, S. D.

Seamen of Mature Age.

Lord Chsrles Beresford, who has just been given the highest sea command in the British navy, with the rank of admiral, is in his sixty-first year. Admiral Bosanquet, who relinquishes tha particular service squadron, is 63, or a year older than any American officer on the active list. The new commander of the Mediterranean station, Sir Charles Drury, is 87. Vice Admiral Curzon-Howe, tha new head of the Atlantic fleet, is 56. The chief of the new home fleet, Rear Admiral Bridgman, who is 58, did not reach his present rank until he was 55. Prince Louis of Battenberg, second in command of the Mediterranean squadron, is 52. Farrsgut was 60 years of age before he obtained flag rank and 61 when ha fought his greatest battle.

The Sunny South.

Now when all outdoor farm work has ceased in the north, the term "sunny south" and all that it means, appeals with full forca to tha northern farmer as he realizes that with him it is a case of remaining indoors for tha next several months consuming everything that has been produced during tha growing season. In the "sunny south" something can ba raised every month in the year, and practically every day can be spent out doors. No blizzards. No sunstrokes. Cattle-raising is very profitable. Larga profits are made with littla labor in growing fruits, vegetables, etc., for northern markets. Strawberries and cantaloupes are great revenue getters. Water unsurpassed. Work plentiful. Lands cheap and productive. For reliable information, address G. A. Park, General Immigration and Industrial Agent, Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, Louisville, Ky.

Come to Congressman's Idea.

Some years ago Lemuel Ely Quigg, than a congressman, expressed the opinion that the police commissioner of New York city should be "an intelligent despot." The idea was ridiculed then, but Mr. Quigg derives some satisfaction from tha knowledge that the grand jury of New York county has mada a recommendation approaching somewhat closely to his view. The commissioner, says the jury, should hold office for at least ten years and should be removabla only upon proof of charges whieh he has bad opportunity to meet.

A Great Outside Remedy.

Most pains are of local origin—a "crick" in the back, a twinga of rheumatism, a soreness all over arising from a cold—are all cured by outside applications. The quickest, safest and most certain method is Allcock'a Plaster, known the world over as a universal remedy for pain. They never fail, they act promptly, they ara clean and cheap. You can go right ahead with your work while the healing process goes on. Sixty years' usa has given them a great reputation.

Return in Age to Childhood.

Attention has recently been called to the curioua fact that tha shells of certain animals, such as cephalopods, brachipods and some bivalves, are commonly marked by retrogressive changes as age advances. "The old man returns to second childhood in mind and body," states a well-known scientist at Washington, "and tha shall of tha cephalopod has, in old age, however distinct and highly ornamental the adult, very close resemblance to its own young."

Teachers' Books Barred.

The New York city board of education haa decided to prohibit the use of all text booka prepared hy teachera in the city'a employ. This will bar Conrade's Grammar and Borachio's Song Collection. Only one member of tha board voted againat this action.

Otto Schlick, the noted marine engineer, of Hamburg, now proposes that a heavy wheel be mounted on a vertical axis, so as to pravent tha rolling of the ahip—acting on the principles of the gyroscope.

Dresses of Precious Metals.

The women of Sumatra wear costly dresses, many of them being made of pure gold and silver. After the metal is mined and smelted, it is formed into a fine wire, which is woven into cloth and afterward used for dresses.

Trappers' Supplies Sold Cheap.
Write for catalog and circular No. 9. N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

What a different world this would be if we were all as smart as we think wa ara.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Lots of women get married before they can afford to.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Of two grafts a politician is apt to grab both.

LUMBAGO AND SCIATICA

ST. JACOBS OIL

Penetrates to the Spot Right on the dot.

Price 25c and 50c

A Positive CURE CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at Once.

It cleanses, soothes heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts., at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size 10 cts. by mail. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

HAY FEVER

STOVE POLISH
ALWAYS READY TO USE. NO DIRT, DUST, SMOKE OR SMELL.
NO MORE STOVE POLISH TROUBLES

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brentgood

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

FARMS THAT GROW "NO. 1 HARD" WHEAT

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

(Sixty-three Pounds to the Bushel). Are situated in the Canadian West where Homesteads of 160 acres can be obtained free by every settler willing and able to comply with the Homestead Regulations. During the present year a large portion of

New Wheat Growing Territory

HAS BEEN MADE ACCESSIBLE TO MARKETS BY THE RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION that has been pushed forward so vigorously by the three great railway companies. For literature and particulars address SUPERINTENDENT OF IMMIGRATION, Ottawa, Canada, or the following authorized Canadian Government Agent:

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. Machlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

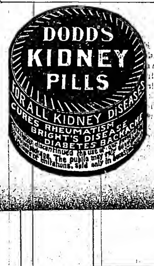
Mention this paper.

POULTRYMEN!

Do you want strong, healthy chicks?
Then mix with your feed

SHERIDAN'S CONDITION POWDER

The original medicine to make hens lay. Causes perfect assimilation of food, keeps poultry healthy, and increases egg production in fall and winter when prices are high. One pack, 25c.; five, $1; two-lb. can, $1.20; six, $5.00. Express paid. At all dealers. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.



THE HISTORY OF POLICEMAN FLYNN

BY ELLIOTT FLOWER

HE CELEBRATES CHRISTMAS.

"Oho!" Exclaimed Policeman Flynn, "I See Ye're Not a Woman iv Ye-er Wor-rd."

As Policeman Barney Flynn differs little—at least, in one respect—from the average man of limited means, the approach of Christmas found him troubled, not to say pessimistic. He heard the customary talk about Christmas; he saw the Christmas advertisements in the papers and the Christmas goods in the shop windows; he read the accounts of Christmas plans for feeding or otherwise remembering the poor, and the only effect it had on him was to make him jingle the "lucky half dollar he carried in his pocket, and shake his head dolefully.

"'Tis th' da-ay iv th' rich," he said to himself. "'Tis th' time whin ye wa-ant twinty thousand dollars f'r to do th' r-right thing be all th' good people ye know. 'Tis th' da-ay iv give an' ta-ake, an' if ye can't give ye're ashamed f'r to ta-ake, an' there ye are. 'T was diff'rint in th' ol' days whin I was a la-ad, but now ivery wan who ha-ands ye out a two-bit sca-arf ixpects f'r to ha-ave as good or betther ba-ack from ye, an' th' ray-sult is we all go br-roke givin' things that's iv no gr-reat use to anny wan, but th' shtorekeepers that sells thim. 'Tis f'r me to shtall th' good woman be a little ta-alk iv har-rd times befoor she spinds th' rint money buyin' r-red ties an' six-f'r-a-nickel see-gars be th' box."

With this object in view Policeman Flynn entered upon a systematic campaign to discourage Christmas shopping, and he did it with his usual diplomatic ability.

"Ye can't impriss a thing on th' mind iv a woman be sayin' it wanst an' lettin' it go at thot," he told himself. "Ye must ding-dang it into her head without lettin' her know what ye're doin'."

So he began to drop incidental remarks about poverty and hard times, with a casual suggestion from time to time to the effect that there would be no Christmas in that house. Later, whenever the moment seemed propitious, he aired his Christmas views more at length, and even illustrated them with occasional stories. All in all, he congratulated himself that he was accomplishing his purpose with exceptional cleverness and strategy.

"Think iv th' bargain days that follies Chris-mus!" he remarked one day at breakfast. "'Tis th' wa-ay iv th' wor-rld. Whin ye ha-ave no money th' lads in th' shtores is thryin' f'r to ha-and things out to ye at liss than ha-alf th' cost to ma-ake thim. Oho! they're sma-art min, those fellies. All th' year ye're sayin' to thim that they niver thruly sell annythin' at liss than cost, an' th' day afther Chris-mus they come back at ye an' say: 'We'll prove to ye now that we can do that very thing be offerin' th' goods at liss than cost whin ye're not in sha-ape f'r to buy thim.' I tell ye, Mary, th' wise wan is th' felly that plans f'r to ta-ake thim up whin they ma-ake th' bluff."

The logic of this seemed unanswerable to Policeman Flynn, and a few days later he supplemented it by reminding her that the year before she was "near dead f' thinkin' iv th' things ye c'u'd ha-ave an' comparin' thim with th' things ye did ha-ave, all because iv th' ba-ad habit iv goin' br-roke wanst a year." Next, after a reasonable interval, he told her about Cullen, one of the men at the station.

"Th' only throuble with Cullen," he said, "was that his hea-art was so big an' ray-sponsive that he c'u'dn't button his vist over it whiniver anny wan or annythin' appealed to it. He had a good head, too, but 't was nawthin' beside iv his hear-rt. His head was always givin' him th' r-right tip, but his hear-rt w'u'dn't l'ave him listen to it. That's why th' byes at th' station has f'r to dodge him reg'lar afther Chris'mus. He come to me on th' twinty-sivinth da-ay iv last Day-cimber—I ducked him on th' twinty-sixth, knowin' th' kind iv a la-ad he was, but he cornered me on th' twinty-sivinth—an' he says to me, he says, 'Barney,' he says, 'I ha-ave up to th' house,' he says, 'a br-right green nick-tie, an' a red nicktie, an' a polky dot nicktie, an' two pipes, an' a box iv see-gars, an' ol'-gold pair iv suspinders, an' some shlippers, an' a fut-rist,' he says; 'an' the good woman do be havin' a sort iv a dolly thing, an' a silk pitticoat, an' some shtockins with pale-blue clocks on thim, an' a pink shirrt-waist, an' a little statoo iv Vanus f'r to put on th' kitchen shelf, an' a' wather-caraffy, an' a new taypot,' he says, 'an' th' childher has a r-red sca-arf, an' a shled, an' a pair iv ska-ates, an' a toy gun, an' a little pathrol wagon, an' some blocks, an' a shteam injine.' Thin he sighs an' says: 'Barney, I niver intinded f'r to do it, but ye know how it is ye-ersilf. Will ye lind me th' loan iv a two-dollar bill so's we can ate till th' nixt pay-day?' That's th' wa-ay iv th' ma-an with th' big hear-rt, Mary, an' so I've had me hear-rt ossified."

This naturally had its effect on Mrs. Flynn. "Th' poor ma-an," she said to herself; "he do be ha-avin' a ha-ard time iv it over th' money, an' 'tis f'r me to help him out." So she gladdened his heart by proposing that they ignore Christmas entirely. As that was the very idea that he had in mind all along, he readily acquiesced. And yet, even in the hour of victory, he began to modify the compact, thus deliberately disproving his previous pessimistic assertions about the expected return favors.

"A bit iv something f'r Maggie an' Terry," he said, "but nawthin' ilse."

Here, however, Maggie objected. If there was to be any such arrangement she wished to be included in it. There was no reason why she should receive any presents if she was expected to give none; indeed, as she was receiving an independent salary for her work as a teacher, she told herself that there was all the less reason why her parents should incur any Christmas expenses on her account. As for her own money, she could do with that as she saw fit. It was right that they should be relieved of a burden that was rather hard to bear in the existing circumstances, but that was no reason why she should be deprived of the pleasure of giving. Here, it will be noticed, was another blow to Policeman Flynn's views of the selfishness that marks the modern Christmas, but of course he didn't know it. Maggie kept her opinions to herself, and merely insisted that she should be included in the compact.

Now this is an agreement that many people of limited means have entered into at various times, and they will appreciate the difficulties that confronted the parties to it. The Christmas spirit is contagious, and more than once Policeman Flynn regretted that he had been so far-sighted. When he saw anything that he wanted to buy for Mrs. Flynn or Maggie, he tried to console himself with the reflection: "Niver mind! 'T will be ma-arked down afther Chris-mus." But with this came the haunting fear that the stock might be exhausted before the day of bargain sales arrived. The occasional queries at the station: "What are ye goin' to buy th' good woman?" also worried him, for he feared a truthful answer would be misconstrued, and he would be put down as a miserly wretch with little affection for his family. He had one consolation, however. By tacit agreement Terry had been left out of the arrangement, as being too young rightfully to appreciate it, and so there was an opportunity to make some family purchases. Thus it happened that Christmas eve Policeman Flynn told his wife that he must get something more for Terry.

"But ye ha-ave a plinty f'r him," argued Mrs. Flynn.

"Are you th' wan that's doin' this, or am I?" he demanded, with some asperity.

"Oh, g'wan, if ye wa-ant to," she returned, "but ray-mimber wan thing."

"What's that?"

"Ray-mimber Cullen, th' la-ad iv th' big hear-rt that niver meant f'r to do it."

Policeman Flynn departed with the uncomfortable feeling of a criminal who fears he has been found out, and Mrs. Flynn chuckled. Then she retired to her room and made an investigation of one of the bureau drawers.

"'Twill niver do," she commented, as she held up one of Policeman Flynn's socks and regarded it critically. "'Tis a sha-ame th' min don't wear shtockin's. Now what'll I ta-ake f'r to ma-ake it seem r-right an' proper?"

Terry noted his mother's mysterious movements that night, but he was absolutely barred from the kitchen until morning, and Mrs. Flynn kept a close watch of him. Maggie was superintending or assisting to superintend a waifs' Christmas celebration, and did not get home until late. When she did come she made a mysterious trip to the kitchen in the dark and deposited some packages on the table. With the stealthiness of a thief Policeman Flynn came still later, and his movements were the most extraordinary of all. He removed his boots before going to the room where Mrs. Flynn was peacefully dreaming of the surprise she had in store for him, and after leaving that room he crept into his daughter's. Then he went to the kitchen, and felt along the wall until he found two pan-hooks, to which he carefully fastened certain things that he was carrying.

He was awakened the next morning by an outcry from Mrs. Flynn.

"Barney!" she cried. "Wake up! They's been a burglar here."

Policeman Flynn rolled out of bed and hastily reached for his Sunday boots, his only other pair having been left near the outer door when he took them off the night before. This feeling that he had only to put on his boots to be fully dressed was the result of sleeping at the station on reserve duty in times of great public excitement. But now he received a shock.

"Oh, th' murtherin' divil!" he cried. "He's shtole wan iv me boots!"

"Niver mind th' boot," retorted Mrs. Flynn. "He's shtole me only pair iv silk shtockin's that I had last Chris'mus! An' I hear him now," she added excitedly. "He's in th' kitchen, th' thief! Hear him laughin' at what he's done. F'r th' love iv Hiven, Barney, go down an' gra-ab him quick, an' I'll folly ye with a broom. Bad luck to him! He's afther r-robbin' Santy Claus!"

By this time Policeman Flynn had got part of his uniform on over his usual night attire, and was half-way down the stairs with his revolver in his hand. Mrs. Flynn, somewhat more nearly dressed than he, followed, and Maggie, who boasted of a really pretty house robe, joined them.

"Did he get anything from you?" Mrs. Flynn found time to ask.

"I don't know," answered Maggie. "He mussed up everything in one of my bureau drawers, anyway."

"'Tis Terry!" broke in Policeman Flynn, from the foot of the stairs.

The next moment he pushed open the door of the kitchen, and the three entered. Terry was actually rolling on the floor in a paroxysm of laughter.

"What's th' matther with ye?" roared Policeman Flynn.

For answer Terry simply pointed to a row of pan hooks on the wall, and laughed some more. From the first hung the silk stockings that Mrs. Flynn had missed, stretched all out of shape by the statuette that protruded from one and the patent egg-beater that looked over the top of the other, with incidental lumps of large size to indicate where a little china clock, some candy, and various other things had been crowded in. Next to this was a stocking that Maggie promptly recognized, although she blushed to note the knobby shape it had assumed in its efforts to provide room for the regulation box of candy, a bottle of perfume, a glove box, a fantastic little pincushion and a ready-made light-blue shirt waist rolled up and simply jammed in. But it was the last thing in the row that tickled Terry the most. This was Policeman Flynn's missing boot, and loose cigars filled to the top, with one pipe and two neckties, held in place by the cigars, nodding over the edge. There were also various packages on the table and on the floor.

"Oho!" exclaimed Policeman Flynn, "I see ye're not a woman iv ye-er wor-rd."

"An' ye f'rgot about Cullen," retorted Mrs. Flynn.

"Niver a bit," answered the policeman, "but wan might as well spind th' money himsilf as lind it to thim that does spind it. An' annyhow, 'tis no use thryin' f'r to f'rget whin 'tis Chris'mus."

"He Says to Me, He Says—"

"I'm glad," said Mrs. Flynn, "f'r to see ye ha-ave a bit iv sinse in ye-er head now an' thin."

A moment later she and Maggie were hurrying back upstairs, and Policeman Flynn was looking about him in a bewildered sort of way.

"Terry," he remarked, "I ha-ave a sort iv an idee that some wan kissed me. Was it Maggie or ye-er mother?"

"'Twas both," said Terry.

(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.)
(Copyright, by the Century Co.)

The Indispensable "Well."

Across the club luncheon table a man looked up from his grilled sole and proclaimed that no man in England can carry on a conversation without saying "well," says the London Chronicle. The usual bet was made. For a week the two friends glared at each other, knowing that "well" is the beginning of most casual sentences. . . . You may not have noticed that! Dumbly they parted day by day, with a handshake, and the word "well ——" frozen on their lips. After a week one of the two had to confess that the language had got the better of him. "Well," he said, "I'd rather drop a sovereign over that dinner than choke that 'well.' I can't talk without it!"

UTES ONCE POWERFUL.

FAMOUS INDIAN TRIBE FAST BECOMING EXTINCT.

Something About Red Men Who Recently Left Their Reservation—Marriage Customs of the Race.

Washington.—Whether the band of Ute Indians, who were brought to a halt recently, after trailing some 500 miles diagonally across the state of Wyoming, were really out on the warpath, or merely playing truant, seems to be open to question. Indian Commissioner Leupp believes they were only "out visiting." The episode serves, at any rate, to draw public attention not only to the history and characteristics of an interesting tribe, but to the infrequency with which our red-skinned wards figure in the day's news. Two decades ago such a performance as this of the Utes would have passed all but unnoticed.

The Ute, or Utah Indians, form a division of the Shoshonean family, formerly occupying the region which extends from the Salt Lake basin in Utah eastward to the highest ridges of the Colorado Rockies.

When, in the early days of the last century, American hunters and pioneers first came in contact with them, the Utes were a powerful nation of some 25,000 souls. By the year 1841, however, when John C. Fremont made his first pathfinding expedition across the Rockies, they had been reduced through constant warfare with the Cheyennes and the Comanches to something like 18,000 persons. More fighting, amalgamation with neighboring tribes, and disease continued to deplete their numbers fearfully. In 1881 they numbered but 4,000, and in 1901, when the last enumeration was attempted, there were scarcely more than 2,500 of them.

The Utes have never been known either for their docility or their tractability, and whenever they have come into close proximity to the palefaces there has been trouble.

The Ute Nation consists of 15 direct tribes, but for many years it has been divided into three greater divisions. Of these the Southern Utes have retained their residence in Colorado while the branches known as the White River Utes and their kinsmen, the Uncompahgres, have lived since 1880 on the Uintah reservation in Utah. The very interesting customs and laws of the Utes, however, are common to all three divisions. There is a certain appropriateness in their living in Utah from the fact that a significant domestic practice of the people is polygamy. Time was when it was very much commoner than it is to-day, but that was when warfare kept the number of braves down, and the women outnumbered the men by more than three to one. The men marry at 18, the women at from 13 to 16, and if a Ute squaw remains unmarried at 20, she is treated as a pariah and stands a very good chance of being put to death as a witch before she is 40.

Ute marriage customs are peculiar. When a young girl reaches a marriageable age her parents shut her up in the tepee, where she is compelled to fast for four or five days. At the end of that time invitations are sent to the friends of the family, who gather about the tepee, where they are feasted, and then all, men and women alike, engage in a weird dance, shaking rattles, blowing on reed pipes and singing incantations. The parents feign disgust and go frequently to the door and bid them disperse. A commonly practiced procedure is to place the maiden on a couch of boughs over heated stones. Upon these stones water is poured and the victim is given a thorough steaming. After that she is led to the river for a plunge, and is then considered worthy of a husband.

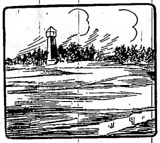
A Ute Indian Chief.

The courting time is ordinarily during the harvesting of the Utes' greatest crop, the mesquite bean. The young man approaches the father of the maiden humbly and asks the hand of the daughter. The father simulates rage and orders him away. The youth obeys, but returns shortly decked out in his gaudiest feathers, beads and paint. It always happens that the maiden is alone, whereupon they become acquainted, and then, if she is favorable to his quest, they go for a long walk or ride together in the woods. When they return they are considered married. They at once begin housekeeping in the home of the bride's mother, where they remain until the first child is born. The young brave then sets up his own tepee.

WHERE JOHN D. WILL SKATE.

Rockefeller to Have a Private Pond at Lakewood, N. J.

Lakewood, N. J.—Next to golf, John D. Rockefeller's favorite outdoor pastime is skating. Although he is within three years of attaining the Biblical fulness of age, threescore years and ten, Mr. Rockefeller, when he puts on a pair of skates and gets on the ice, is as agile as a boy of 12.



Site of Rockefeller's Artificial Lake.

In order that he may indulge his fondness for this pastime, and at the same time avoid the publicity which attends his every movement, Mr. Rockefeller is making at his country place here an artificial lake, four acres in extent. A small army of workmen is now engaged in making the excavation for the lake.

The site of this skating pond was chosen with much care by Mr. Rockefeller. His estate at Lakewood comprises 500 acres, most of it pine forest. It is back from the road about an eighth of a mile and the house is screened from the view of observers by a thick barrier of pine trees. Mr. Rockefeller has chosen a sheltered spot for his lake, about 100 yards beyond this barrier. Should any curious visitor succeed in getting through this pine hedge, he would find himself in a patch of thickly grown nettles through which it would be impossible to break his way.

Beyond this nettle patch is to be the skating pond. On the border of the further shore of the lake is a water tower, which serves also the purpose of a watch tower. A balcony has been built around this tower, and whenever Mr. Rockefelller is out on the grounds, whether playing golf or riding his bicycle over the miles of smooth roads that he has built, a watchman is stationed in this balcony to give warning of approaching intruders.

SOCIETY LEADER CARRIES CANE.

Pretty Pauline French Starts Fad at Newport.

Newport, R. I.—Miss Pauline French, the pretty niece of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, has taken on the cane-carrying habit, and every morning and afternoon, when she is not speeding her high-stepping pony she may be seen hiking up and down Bellevue avenue, using a handsome walking stick, man-fashion. As Miss French is a leader among the young set of girls, it is probable that the fad will be taken up generally among the young people and that in the near future the society belle without her cane will be an uncommon sight.

Tall and stately, as well as pretty, Miss French, with her cane in her hand, presents a very attractive picture.

Cane carrying among women appears to be a natural development of a tendency of the time. After the manner of the London girls, society belles tried carrying stuffed bears during the summer, but the American girl is too vivacious to keep steady company with such an inanimate object. Then more than ever the women took to carrying their pet poodles about in their arms, but the little fellows did not like it, and their constant squirming became a menace to lace sleeves. The cane, however, is a help in itself, and now that women must carry something to really be in style, it is evidently to be the thing.

Miss Pauline French.

Miss French's cane has a handle shaped like a shepherd's crook. It is bound with gold splendidly chased and is adorned with a ribbon bow which is changed daily to match the costume.

The best remedy against annoyance from small things is to battle with great.—Ivan Panin.

Sporting Gossip.

George B. Dovey, the new owner of the Boston Nationals, is a real fan. He is likewise a player. Like every one else who ever played ball, Dovey feels that he is as good to-day as he ever was, and one day he laughingly told Fren Tenney that if things go bad next summer he himself will don the uniform and get into the game. At that, Dovey isn't too old to play ball. He was born in 1862, but he doesn't look his age by any means. In his day Dovey was a star player. He never entered the major league for the simple reason that he would never play professional ball. As an amateur Dovey was a wonder, and for three or four years the St. Louis and Louisville big league clubs tried hard to sign him. He was born near Philadelphia and attended school in that city. During his school days he played for nearly all the fast local amateur teams. In 1886 he broke into real baseball. He pitched and played shortstop for the Paducah club. He made Barney Dreyfuss secretary of the club and ever since then Dreyfuss has been prominent in the game. Up to 1890 Dovey was in the mining business, and in the summer time always found enough time to play a little ball. In 1890 he embarked in street railroading, and has been at it ever since. Dovey bought the Boston club as a business investment. He didn't go there for his health; this he frankly admits. At the same time he is a real fan. He loves baseball, he knows most of the managers and players, and with the Boston Nationals under his care, Boston fandom may rest assured that he will do his utmost to get together a fast club.

A Japanese is the champion sprinter of the world. Minoru Fujii, a student in the Imperial University of Tokio, is the man. Since the Russian-Japanese war Americans have come to look on the Yankees of the orient as a people not only of promise, but of performance, and now it seems the little brown men are about to take the laurels of the athletic field. Fujii's record for 100 yards is 9 and 56-100 seconds; his time is considerably faster than the best time of Arthur Duffey, who ran 100 yards in 9 and 60-100 or 3-5 seconds, a record which has been stricken from the amateur record books because Duffey was a professional. The Japanese athlete ran really 100 meters, a distance equal to a little more than 10 yards, because the meter is the Japanese standard of measurement; his time for 100 meters was 10 and 24-100 seconds, the equivalent of 9 and 36-100 seconds for 100 yards. The remarkable performance of this modern mercury is certified to by Arata Hamao, L. D. D., president of the University of Tokio. Fujii was timed by an electrical mechanism, which makes an error in timing the runner very unlikely. Mr. Fujii is a strongly built and well proportioned man. He is 25 years old, 5 feet 7½ inches tall and weighs about 160 pounds. As a pole vaulter he has shown great athletic skill, vaulting with a bamboo pole over a cord, without touching the cord, at the height of 3.66 meters, or 12 feet and 94-100 inches. This vault won him the Japanese record. He also holds these records of the University of Tokio: 200 meters run (on turf), 25 and 74-100 seconds; long jump, 5.92 meters; throwing the cricket ball, 93.98 meters. If Fujii visits the United States our athletes will need to step lively.

Minoru Fujii.

President Stanley Robison of the St. Louis National league ball club has announced that "Sandow" Mertes would not be a member of the 1907 Cardinals and that Catcher Mike Grady would return. "Mertes is dissatisfied with his berth here and Manager McCloskey does not want a dissatisfied player on the team, so we deem it best to rid ourselves of him," said President Robison. "Grady was a hard worker last season and the reports that he won't return are not true. He has promised to give McCloskey his best efforts."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We wish to call the attention of the public, our friends and patrons, that we are now doing business at the old stand (next door to the First State Bank) under the name of the HUNT HARDWARE COMPANY.

While our stock is somewhat broken in some lines just at present, it will be only a few days before our line will again be complete.

We desire to thank you for the patronage you have given us in the past, and we hope to merit a continuance of your trade in the future.

Wishing you a prosperous and Happy New Year, we are

Yours respectfully,

FRANK E. HUNT,

SAM E. HUNT.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

Y'ER BOTH RIGHT.

A. G. Bernard, of State Drainage League fame, is one of the promoters of another drainage association, this last one to be national in character. Bernard and his graft were too soon found out to suit him in his state drainage league maneuvers, and he is now going to work his graft over a larger area. You can always depend on old Bernard when it comes to grafting in his own interests.- Grand Rapids Independent.

Bernard has a way of "getting there," however, that is exceedingly vexing to his many enemies. Now, if he will just remain in Washington with his select little "four hundred" the north half of the state will be duly thankful. He is the most successful "butt-in" we know of.—Bemidji Pioneer.

Write it 1907.

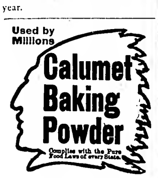
Did you turn over a new new leaf?

Congress reconvenes today and the people will again be treated to a war of words—mere words.

Carnegie says that an income tax makes liars. Any kind of a tax seems to create liars nowadays.

A Pennsylvania Russian who killed his wife seeks to justify his act this explanation: "I had a right to kill my wife. It's nobody's business but my own. She was mine." He must be some relation to the Czar.

Reports now being compiled indicate that there is an increase in this state this year of seventy creameries. There are said to be 800,000 dairy cows in the state. The production of butter this year is estimated at 90,000,000 pounds, compared with 80,000,000 pounds in 1905. The value of butter produced in 1905 was $20,000,000, and owing to the increase in the snpply and higher prices this year, the material increase over the preceding year.



Used by Millions

Calumet Baking Powder

Complies with the Pure Food Laws of every State.

The vote on the amendments at the last election was as follows: For the wide-open tax amendment 156,051, against 46,982; for good roads 141,870, against 49,232; for peddler's license 190,897, against 34,074. The road tax amendment is thus lost by about 300 votes.

The new freight tariffs issued by the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railroads whicb went into effect on November 15 give northern Minnesota for the first time in its history as low freight rates as those effective in the older sections of the upper Mississippi valley, including southern Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

About everything that the farmer raises to sell has increased in price in the past few years—except wheat. About everything that he buys he has to pay more for than he used to. But he still sticks to wheat. Of course, the rsising of wheat is the easiest kind of farming—but wheat, and wheat only, has had its day as a profit-making business. The farmer who diversifies—sticks to the farm and works—works as many hours, the year round, as his wife does, will make money.

The Minnesota state legislature convenes next Tuesday, the 8th inst. There are many new members in both houses this time, much needed legislation that can be enacted to the everlasting good of a greater Minnesota, and it is undoubtedly true that never in the history of the state have the results of the work of the legislature been watched more carefully by the people than tbey will be this year. Minnesota solons can well afford to get into tbe game with the other western states as in favor of legislation for the people as against "the interests," and it is to be hoped that they will do so at every opportunity presented.

The daily papers of the middle west have been endeavoring to convince J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern systems, that he had announced tbat he would retire from the active management of the road, and that his son, Louis Warren Hill would be advanced to the presidency next July. When interviewed Mr. Hill was very empbatic in his denial of the story published in Minneapolis papers last Friday. "Nothing to it," was the terse comment of the financier. "But," came the afterthought, tersely as before, but with a hesitancy and weariness quite uncharacteristic of the Hill style of speech, "I'd like to retire tomorrow." The up-building of a vast transportation system has become the vitalizing force which directs his life's course, and will be imbued with his individual personality until natures forces causes him to falter or death calls him to cross the great divide.

WHEELOCK IS BACK.

Ralph W. Wheelock, who for a number of years conducted the "Thoughts on Things" column in the Minneapolis Tribune, but who a couple of years ago quit newspaper work to accept a position as private secretary to Mayor Jones of the mill city, has again come back to the fold and Tribune readers, and more especially tbe newspaper fraternity, will now and forever on enjoy again the witty personnel of this eminent writer. So many of the literary gems of tbe present day are the exclusive property of the newspaper man, and the public misses so much that is good in this line, that the Gazette takes pleasure in submitting to its readers Mr. Wheelock's greetings to the fraternity with his assumption of a place among them, which without doubt will be recognized as something out of the ordinary grind of the caterer to the public's literary tastes. Mr. Wheelock's "Personal Foreword" follows:

"To the Brethern of the Northwestern Press—Greetings:"

In the language of the Heathen Philosopher:
"What Is Mind? No Matter,"
"What Is Matter? Never Mind."

So, whether it is material or immaterial to you, who in times past have been kindly wont to treat your bumble servant with sweet patience, not to say most generous appreciation, I beg leave to address you once more from the Tribune tripod, which I have remounted as gracefully as I know how.

Two years is a short time in the history of a nation, a newspaper or an individual, and yet in this rapid age the world takes big jumps every few moments, and it may hump me some to cetch up with even my former modest place in tbe procession. If the old time long felt want should happen to be filled it will be up to me to create a new one, by much tbe same metbods used by tbe patent medicine promoter, who suggests so many symptoms that the public is forced to turn to bis panacea for relief from some of them.

There is notbing new under the sun, but the viewpoint of the old tbings changes witb every successive whirl of tbe wheels of time, just as tbe landscape seems to shift itself witb kaleidoscopic rapidity when viewed from the windows of a swift moving express train. Therefore, through "Thoughts on Things," as well as other channels of communication, I hope to revive my erstwhile agreeable relations with the Tribune constituency, and especially the Tribune exchange family, which has ever been an inspiration, and encouragement, a check upon pride and a means of discipline to, Yours Fraternally,

Ralpb W. Wheelock.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Tbe government department of agriculture has issued its report of the grain yield of the United States for the year 1906. It gives winter wheat 492,888,004 bushels, spring wheat 242,273,966 bushels, corn 2,927,416,090 bushels, oats 964,904,522 bushels.

The Lengby Star and Climax Tribune both suspended publication last week. The Beltrami Graphic and Mentor Herald also quit within the last month, making four less publications in the county. There still remain eight papers in the county.—Fertile Journal.

Congress reconvened today at 12 o'clock after the Christmas recess, but it is not expected that much business will be transacted in either branch until next week, as before the opening there was not a sufficient number of either senators or representatives in Washington to outline a plan of action. It is the purpose in a general way to proceed with the appropriation bills as rapidly as possible. but as neither house has any of these measures before it, both will be forced to take up other matters or adjourn from day to day until the committees can bring in some of the supply measures. There is an ever increasing tendency on the part of the national congress to move with deliberation when they wish to avoid taking up matters of momentary interest, and it would not be surprising to the people if nothing happened at Washington until the motion is put to adjourn in the spring. Then the whole body will sit up and take notice.

Every newspaper man, says an exchange, has at some time or other in bis business experience met the man who 'now takes mure papers tban he can read.' He wiped bis nose oo tbe awning, tried to blow out the light at the hotel, tried to light bis cigar on it, paid 25 cents for an almanac, put a nickle in the slot at the postoffice and kicked because the mail didn't appear, wanted to lick the banker because be closed at 4 o'clock, and watched the clock sign in front of a jewelry store waiting for it to strike, and still he 'takes more papers than he can read.

Occasionally a man gets dissatisfied with Minnesota. The milk is too yellow or the honey too sweet and he does'nt like to have them fluw over his land. Anyway he parts with his farm, sells his live stock and other articles too numerous to mention aod moves out west. Then he takes his good Minnesota money and buys a farm which is today, and tomorrow is not, or he tries Colorado and slouches around in the mud irrigating a strip so narrow that cow couldn't jump in a field because she jumps over it. Then he hears of Texas and goes down to hunt the bag of gold on the rainbow. In the daytime be scratches sandburs out his flesh and at night the tarantulas nibble at his feet and the centipedes crawl on his face. When his money is gone he feels like he did oo the first night that he stayed away from his home. He yearns for 'good old Minnesota and the yearn sticks in his throat and chokes him until tears come to his eyes. He would give a months work to see the old cows atanding at the bars on his old Minnesota farm and hear the horn blow for supper.—Ex.

CROOKSTON COLLEGE is an oid reliable achool that has established a reputation for turning out competent help and as a result of this, they have inquiries from all over the Northwest for bookkeepers, stenographers, teachers, clerks, etc. They have now several good positioos that tbey cannut fill. Write to J. C. Sathre, President

The Facilities of a Bank
: Account :

Are such that it can be adjusted to every business.

A bank account is indespensible to the Mercbant. The Farmer who carries a bank account is up-to-date and has a systematic metbod for keeping a record of bis receipts and expenditures. Even a bousewife with a bank account is able to put system into the regulation of her affairs. By paying ber store bills by check sbe bas a complete record of her expenditures. By using a cbeck book, bills need to be paic at once. Each check is a receipt.

The Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.
A Minnesota State Depository.

My Hair is Extra Long

Feed your hair; nourish it; give it something to live on. Then it will stop falling, and will grow long and heavy. Ayer's Hair Vigor is the only genuine hair-food you can buy. It gives new life to the hair-bulbs. You save what hair you have, and get more, too. And it keeps the scalp clean and healthy.

The best kind of a testimonial—
"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of
Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

BIDS FOR WOOD.

Paoposals will be received by the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county until 5 o'clock p. m., January 8, 1907 for fuanishing and delivering at at the court house in Red Lake Falls, sixty cords of green body poplar word. The Board reserves the rigbt to reject any or all bids.

James E. Ford,
County Auditor.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of electing Directors for the year 1907, will be held in the banking room, on Tuesday, Jan. 8tb, 1907, between the hours of 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

G. F. Hennings, Cashier.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Star Restaurant
MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours
Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New aud Up-to-Date
Give me a call.

We Are Ready For Your Business

With Goods And Prices That Are Right.

Our new Hardware Store in the Paradis block (the room formerly occupied by Berthon and Armstrong) is open for business. We will at all times carry a complete and strictly uo-to-date line of

General Hardware, Stoves and Ranges, Tools, Guns, Ammunition,
Paints, Varnishes, Oils, Greases,

And everything you will want these lines. We intend to make the new store one of the finest in the county, and respectfully solicit the public's patronage. Come in and look over our line and get our prices.

G. A. KANKEL
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter [illegible] etc. It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than anyother. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dak.

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

Jens Olson, of St Hilaire, was a caller here Monday evening.

Just received a car of Hocking Valley soft coal. See Salley for your supply.

Attorney Perl W. Mabey spent last night in the city attending to legal matters.

A good New Year's resolution—to smoke nothing out the "B. B." cigars this year.

Miss Anna Sutter returned to Crookston last evening after a week's visit here.

Chas. N. Bourdon and wife spent Tuesday evening with relatives at Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. Nap Miller and family spent New Year's with their relatives and friends in this city.

Attorney Sam Cooke of Thief River Falls transacted business at the Judge of Probate's office Monday.

Dan Shaw and D. P. O'Neil of Thief River transacted business at the court house Friday of last week.

George Jarman was down from Thief River Falls over last night, looking after some business matters.

Mrs. Matt Maher came up from Crookston and spent New Year's day with her sisters and other relatives here.

Miss Mayme Linnihan spent several days the first of the week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lytle of Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bray are spending the week with relatives at Grand Forks, Crookston and other points in this neighborhood.

John and Oscar Naplin and Gus Lindquist were among the St. Hilaire people who attended the New Year's ball here Monday evening.

White Wyandottes cockrels and a few pullets for sale. Best thoroughbred stock. Will trade cockrels for macaroni wheat, buckwheat or barley.
7-4 Fred L. Farley.

Dr. Spofford is at Grand View Hotel, Red Lake Falls, the 7th day of every month. Latest scientific methods in examining eyes and fitting glasses.

J. E. Bray returned last Saturday from his visit at points in Eastern Canada. Mr. Bray will locate in that country and expects to leave with his family for that place on Wednesday of next week.

Mrs. G. H. Tibbetts left Tuesday evening for Flandreau, to spend the remainder of the winter with Mr. Tibbetts. Mrs. A. O. Davison and family accompanied her and will visit there several months.

Abner Fletcher went over to Grand Forks last evening, and next week will enter the University of North Dakota to take up the study of law. Ab is a bright young man and will without doubt make a success in his chosen profession.

Dr. J. W. Schram, of Park River, North Dakota, was a visitor at the A. P. Tonpin home from Thursday until Tuesday evening. This was the Doctor's second visit here, and while on this occasion he couldn't attend any "fishing parties," nevertheless there was enough doing to make his stay an enjoyable one.

Dr. N. M. Watson was called to St. Hilaire Thursday of last week, for a consultation with Dr. Nelson over the case of Leonard Holmes, who had been sick with a severe attack of the grippe and suffered a relapse. As yet the patient is still quite ill but all danger of typhoid, which was threatened, has been averted.

Mrs. J. M. Bray arrived here Monday from Calgary, N. W. T., to spend a couple of weeks with her many Red Lake Falls friends. Mrs. Bray reports that she and J. M. are very well pleased with Calgary as a place of abode, and that they have been prospering since leaving here. She also brings news of the health and happiness of the other Red Lake Falls people now living at Calgary.

When in the City
stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

Noel Delorme spent New Years at his home in Lake Pleasant.

Rev. Father Ambrose was a visitor at Thief River Falls Saturday.

Wanted—A girl for general house work. Inquire of Mrs. S. M. Siverton, north side.

Ed L. Healy went down to the cities Tuesday evening on a brief business mission.

The Big Store has a long list of price quotations in their ad in today's Gazette.

A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. I. Lemieux, of Red Lake Falls township on Monday.

Dr. J. E. Argue went to St. Hilaire this morning on his regular monthly professional visit.

Mrs. C. N. Bourdon came home this morning from a brief visit with Crookston relatives.

J. F. Mathews, the Dorothy merchant, spent New Year's day with his Red Lake Falls friends.

For the next thirty days all Christmas and holiday goods will be sold at cost at Freund's confectionery.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludolf Jahnke, living west of town, is reported quite ill with pleura pneumonia.

Walter Robbecke and Leon Bourque of Thief River Falls came down Monday evening to attend the Firemen's ball.

A set of book shelves is being built in the court room at the court house to accommodate the library of the court.

Mrs. Chas. E. Boughton and son left last Thursday for a week's visit with Mrs. Boughton's sister at Battle River.

Mrs. Selvan Hall departed last evening for her home at Cass Lake, after a pleasant visit with her parents in this city.

Orson Doe left Tuesday evening for Wimbledon, North Dakota, where he has accepted a position with the Crowley Drug company.

Miss Laura Delert, of Faribault, has been engaged by the school board to fill the unexpired term of Miss Ada Foote, who resigned several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnson expect to leave tomorrow for their home at Park River, North Dakota, after a delightfully pleasant holiday visit in Red Lake Falls.

School will commence again next Monday, after a two weeks' holiday vacation. The teachers will all arrive here the last of the week from their holiday visits.

Notice the new ad of Paul's hotel elsewhere in today's Gazette. This popular hostelry is making a bid for the public's trade, by keeping a strictly up-to date place.

Miss Clarice Duffy was badly bruised by being thrown from a sled while coasting the first of the week. The injuries were quite painful, but the little Miss suffered no serious consequences.

Prof. E. W. Chamberlain attended the session of the Minnesota State Educational association at Minneapolis Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, returning home Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Prudhomme, of Crookston, Mr. and Mrs. C. Prudhomme, of Winnipeg, and Ed. Fournier, of Argyle, arrived here today for a visit of a week or so at the Leon Laurent home in this city and with Joseph Laurent and family at Terrebonne.

County Attorney and Mrs. Thomas Germo entertained a few friends at a six o'clock dinner at their Third street home Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnson were the guests of honor. The menu was an elaborate one, and was fully enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be present.

Judge of Probate Tarrant received notice from the superintendent of the state school for the feeble minded at Faribault this week, that Wm. Juneau, of this county, has been transferred from the insane hospital to that institution. The patient was committed to the Fergus Falls asylum some time back, but was judged by the authorities there as a subject for the feeble minded home, hence the transfer.

Frank E. Hunt left Monday evening for an extended trip throughout the eastern states, and will spend the next month with relatives and old-time friends residing there. Most of the time he will spend in Rhode Island, but he expects to visit all of the principal eastern cities before returning home. During Mr. Hunt's absence, M. A. Converse will have charge of the store, and will be assisted by Sam E. Hunt, who will be in off the road a day or two every week.

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

The days are growing longer.

Luc Duhuc visited over Friday night at Crookston.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

"Bad Bill" Ittner 's spending today with his brother, A. F., at St. Hilaire.

An eight year old horse for sale cheap. Inquire at office of Germo & Farley.

Mrs. Selvan Hall visited between trains Saturday with relatives at St. Hilaire.

Miss Anna Verboncour, of Grand Forks, is a guest of her sisters here this week.

Attorneys Grady and Germo transacted legal business at Crookston last Friday evening.

Dr. F. F. Fletcher returned to Grand Forks last evening, after a week's visit here.

Olaf Floan returned home Monday evening from a few days' visit with Thief River relatives.

If your eyes don't feel just right call and have them examined.—Henry W. Anderson, Optician.

Tella Morin left Monday evening to spend several days taking in the sights of the Twin cities.

Wm. Erb, jr., went down to Minneapolis Monday evening where he will spend a month or so with relatives.

Miss Emma Allard came over from East Grand Forks Monday to spend a week with her many young friends here.

Ernest Fletcher returned to Langdon, North Dakota, last evening, after having spent a couple of weeks at his home here.

Miss Ida Miller, the popular saleslady at the Busy Store, is spending the week at her home in Hillsboro, North Dakota.

The directors of the Plummer Creamery association will meet at Plummer on Tuesday, January 8th, at 10 o'clock a. m

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Adams, of St. Hilaire, took in the firemen's ball here Monday evening and spent New Year's day with friends.

Several young people from town attended a card party at the Androis Delorme farm home in Lake Pleasant New Year's evening.

V. M. Higinbotham left last Thursday evening for his old home at Forest City, Iowa, to spend a few days at home of his parents there.

Miss Esther Kretzschmar came down from Thief River Monday evening to attend the firemen's New Year's ball at the Metropolitan.

Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar and son returned to their home at Thief River Falls Tuesday after a week's visit at the W. A. Schreiter home in this city.

John B. O'Brien and family are now residents of Red Lake Falls, occupying the Ed Bray residence on Third street. It will be Auditor O'Brien after next week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wander, of Spring Hill, this state, departed last evening for their home, after having spent a pleasant week at the home of their son, J. C., in this city.

FARM LOAN:—We have money of private parties to loan on improved farms at 7 per cent. Liberal terms of payment. No delays. Come and see us before placing a loan. Germo & Farley. d13 4w

Carl E. Peterson, of the Gazette force, received a message yesterday morning, telling him of the death of his father, Ole Peterson, at his home in Evansville. Deceased was about 85 years of age, and had been in poor health for some time past.

Mrs. Frank Sirois left the latter part of last week for her home at Ripple, after a pleasant holiday visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul and many Red Lake Falls friends. Miss Rose Cyr accompanied her for an extended visit at Ripple.

The promenade concert by the band last Thursday evening, was as usual well attended and highly enjoyed. The band acquitted itself very creditably, and besides the regular program played a number of extra dance numbers. Following the concert the orchestra furnished music for an hour's hop.

State Superintendent Olson says in a letter written to him by a teacher that a teacher cannot be required to prepare kindling wood, build fires or do ordinary janitor work around the school house. A teacher is hired to teach school, he says, and it is good economy to see that fuel is provided and that fires are built so that the building may be ventilated before 9 o'clock.

Octave Lefeivre one of the prosperous farmers of Garnes was in town Saturday and remembered the Gazette by calling at this office and renewing his subscription. Mr. Lefeivre is one of the farmers of this section who has abandoned the "one idea" of farming—that of raising wheat year after year—and has adopted the diversified method of agriculture with the result that today he is free from debt and is one of the most substantial farmers of Red Lake county.

See Salley for your coal supply.

'Phone 7—Groceries—SPILLANES.

E. G. Storaasli spent Friday at Crookston.

C. O. Kankel and wife of Terrebonne, were callers here Monday.

Will Brady came down from Itasca county Saturday for a visit with his relatives here.

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

Sheriff Dan Linnihan went down to Lake Park Saturday evening for an over Sunday business visit.

You will like the "B. B." better after you have tried other cigars. The "B. B." is there with the goods all the time.

The Misses Iza Tibbetts and Dorretta Matthies left Tuesday evening for Moorhead to resume their studies at the State Normal.

Frank Latendresse, of Overly, N. Dak., and Joseph Houle, of Gilby, arrived here Tuesday to spend a week with their many friends.

James Brady and family returned to their Olmstead, North Dakota, home Friday evening after a holiday visit with relatives here.

The annual meeting og the stockholders of the Emardville Creamery association will be held at Plummer on Monday, January 14th, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Peter Benoit, taxidermist, can mount any animal or bird. Will buy all kinds of hides and furs. Third door north of postoffice. Call and see him. tf.

Chas. Koch, an employee of the general office of the Great Northern railway at St. Paul, spent New Year's with his brother, William, of the Courier.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Dupont returned to their Crookston home the first of the week after a pleasant visit at the home of Mrs. Dupont's sister, Mrs Simon Paul.

Arthur Lacoursiere, son of O. Lacoursiere, was taken to the hospital at Brainerd Tuesday evening, where he will receive treatment for an attack of typhoid fever, with which he is suffering.

The annual exhibition of the Red River Valley Poultry Assn., will be held in Crookston on the 7, 8, 9 of February and the program will be one of the most interesting ever announced by association.

County Treasurer-elect Tandberg came down from Thief River Falls Friday evening and spent the night here. Mr. Tandberg will move his family here just as soon as he can find a tenant for his Thief River property.

The annual meeting of the state agricultural society will be held in Minneapolis, Jan. 8th, 9th and 10th. This includes also the live stock breeders, the state farmers club, the field crop breeders, and the food and dairy commission. Reduced rates have been secured on the railroads.

Fertile Journal: At the late annual meeting of the Minnesota State Horticultural Society, held in Minneapolis, Mr. Otto Kankel, our enterprising miller, was elected vice-president of that society for the Ninth Congressional district, without a dissenting vote. We congratulate Mr. Kankel on his election to the position.

Dr. J. C. Wilkinson and son, Leslie, left Friday evening for Iowa Falls, Iowa, to spend a week with the doctor's mother and sisters who reside there. Burt Wilkinson, of Poplar River, also went down last week, and for the first time in several years the family was all together on New Years day. The Doctor will return home tomorrow or Saturday.

Sam E. Hunt left Tuesday evening on his initial trip on the road as salesman for the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, of Duluth. Sam has been given territory in this section of the state and will make his headquarters here, being at home over Sunday nearly every week. Sam will make a popular travelling salesman, and will get the business for his company.

Agent Tracy and Operator Hall of the Great Northern received an Xmas present from the company in the shape of an increase in salary of ten per cent, dating from December 1. Agent Mizen of the Northern Pacific received a like raise on January 1. There is nothing too good for these fellows, and if the raise had been 100 per cent. it would please the people all the more.

Roadmaster Ed Regan and Foreman Con Kehoe went down to Crookston last evening, and today are taking a snow plow and flanger over this line. This branch of the Great Northern is about the only one on the system that has not been blockaded this year, which fact is due to the diligence and experience of Roadmaster Regan, who is one of the cleverest railroaders in the business. The trains on this line have not been delayed an instant so far this year, and Ed proposes to see that they are not if he can help it.

200 cords dry poplar wood for sale, delivered at your door. C. E. Boughton. d8tf

Miss Amelia Berget returned here Saturday after a week's visit at her home in Crookston.

Jack Pahlen was in from Plummer over Sunday and New Year's visiting with his many friends here.

Onezime Lacoursiere came up from Crookston to spend New Year's with his relatives and many friends here.

Manager C. D. Carter of Crookston was in the city Saturday looking after business for the Northwestern Telephone Co.

Mesdames J. J. Cahill and Wm. Koch, jr., and children, arrived from St. Paul Monday to spend some time with their husbands here.

F. R. Creglow left Saturday evening for Rock Rapids, Iowa, where he will spend the next few months with his family who are living there.

Guy A. Auboi, deputy revenue inspector, was checking up Brunelle Bros., cigar factory and looking after other government business here today. As usual he found the cigar shop compling with every regulation.

Miss Ada Foote came over from East Grand Forks to take in the firemen's ball and spend New Year's with her many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Farley rejoice in the arrival of a handsome new girl baby at their home late Sunday afternoon. Congratulations are extended.

A family reunion was held at the Joseph Patnode home in Gervais township on New Year's day. All members of the family living in this neighborhood were present, and a very pleasant time was had by all.

C. W. Johnson moved his family in from Polk Center last week, and is now comfortably settled in the Gunligam house on Third street. Mr Johnson will assume his duties as Clerk of Court of Red Lake county next Tuesday.

Mrs. Ovide Emard and daughter, Beatrice, and Mrs. D. W. Brown, returned Friday from St. Thomas, North Dakota, where they attended the wedding of Scott Hall and Miss Clara Pearce, mention of which is made elsewhere in today's Gazette.

The new pure food law is to go into effect January 1st and after that date only pure goods will be allowed to be shipped into the state. This will be a hard blow to the catalogue houses and will place them on equal footing with the merchants. Adulterated goods must be labeled as such.

Lost—Left my premises on Tuesday Dec. 11th, a yellow bitch with a white spot on nose and white under neck, which will answer to the name of "Beauty." She had a leather collar with the name H. St. Yves cut in the collar. Anyone knowing her whereabouts please notify me. L. O. Cadieux, Terrebonne, Minn.

George Curran came down from the Upper Falls Monday to take in the firemen's ball and visit with friends in the city. George is one of the old "war horses" of the diamond at Thief River and has participated in many hard fought battle on the local field, reminiscences of which are still legend when any of the old fans get together. George claims that he is out of the running as a ball player, but we fear that when the spring time comes and the aroma of the "horse hide" tickles his nostrils, the fever will get in its work, and he will be the first one out on the village common giving the old "Indian" war cry and yelling to some small boy to "put 'er first."

The New Year's ball given by the Red Lake Falls Fire Department at the Metropolitan opera house Monday evening, proved to be all that was anticipated, and was one of the most enjoyable social events held in Red Lake Falls for several years past. An exceptionally large number of people turned out to trip the light fantastic as the old year passed into oblivion, and the hall at all times rung with the laughter and joy of the dancers. The firemen had decorated the auditorium in neat style, and every arrangement was looked after that would tend to make those present enjoy themselves. The Red Lake Falls orchestra was its best, which is saying much, and the spirit of the evening was fully entered into by all. Several from St. Hilaire, Thief River and other neighboring points were present, and were shown a good time. Supper was served at midnight at Mrs. Hall's restaurant and Paul's hotel, and both spreads were well patronized. The dancing continued over several hours into the new year, and it was with reluctance that the people finally dispersed and left for home. The department netted a neat sum for their efforts, and established themselves in the hearts of all as princely entertainers

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the Red Lake Falls Co-operative Creamery Ass'n. will be held in the City Hall on Monday, January 7, 1907, for the purpose of electing officers.

G. F. HENNINGS, Sec'y.

Bemidji Pioneer: Z. A. Cadieux who has been running on the Duluth-Crookston line night train as mail clerk, has resigned his position and will engage in some other line of business. The work on the road is getting to be very strenuous for mail clerks, and numbers are daily quitting and the positions are not sought after as formerly

Roy Blake of this city, who is at present working with the Tri-State Telephone company at Casselton, N. Dak., met with what might have proven a serious accident last week. He was at work at the top of a 'phone pole, when his hatchet slipped and struck him in the neck, nearly severing his jugular vein. His injury was attended to at once, and he writes that he will be all o. k. again in a few days. Roy has "made good" in the fullest sense with the Tri-State people, and was recently promoted from line work to work in the office out there. His friends here are pleased to learn of his success.

Right Prices for the ..New Year..

We want to start the New Year right by making special prices all along the line. We want your trade, but not out of sympathy; we want it because we will try to deserve it. Here is a list that will save you money:

Sewing Machine Oil per bottle	4c
Heinz 40c Celery Sauce for	29c
Gillett's 30c Vanilla Extract	19c
1 pint bottle of good Catsup	10c
Preserved Red Raspberries	12c
3 lb. can of Hominy	10c
Justrite Can Peas early June	9c
25c can of Cove Oysters	22c
1 gallon of good Catsup	58c
Half-gallon of good Catsup	35c
1 gal Carol Syrup best made	40c
Calumet Coffee, worth 20c	18c
Best Soda Crackers made	7½c
12 oz. Royal Baking Powder	35c
16 oz Hunt's Perfect Baking Powder	20c
Lion Coffee, per package	15c
Walter Baker's Chocolate	35c
Best Saleratus, package	6c
1 package good Figs	6c
Best Gloss Starch, package	7c
Corn Starch, per package	5c
Navy Beans, per pound	4c
Best Cocoanut, per pound	20c
2½ lb Oriole Rice, finest rice grown	25c
1 package Cabin Pan Cake Flour	9c
Egg-O-See, per package	9c
Triumph Corn, 3 for 25c; per dozen	75c
Puffed Rice, per package	9c
German Dill Pickles, lb. best ever sold	10c
Monarch Plum Pudding better than the best	25c
Mixed Sweet Pickles, per quart	15c
Pure Minnesota Sorghum, per quart	20c
Log Cabin Maple Syrup, gallon	$1.35

CHEESE

Full cream, Old cheese and Maple Leaf.

It Pays to Trade at

The Big Store

THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER I.

The Dead City.

The city without life lay handsomely along a river in the early sunlight of a September morning. Death had seemingly not been long upon it, nor had it made any scar. No breach or rent or disorder or sign of violence could be seen. The long, shaded streets breathed the still airs of utter peace and quiet. From the half-circle around which the broad river bent its mossy current, the neat houses, set in cool, green gardens, were terraced up the high hill, and from the summit of this a stately marble temple, glittering of newness, towered far above them in placid benediction.

From a skiff in mid-river, a young man rowing toward the dead city rested on his oars and looked over his shoulder to the temple on the hilltop.

Landing presently at the wharf, he was stunned by the hush of the streets. This was not like the city of 20,000 people he had left three months before. In blank bewilderment he stood, turning to each quarter for some solution of the mystery. Perceiving at length that there was really no life either way along the river, he started wonderingly up a street that led from the waterside—a street which, when he had last walked it, was quickening with the rush of a mighty commerce.

Soon his expression of wonder was darkened by a shade of anxiety. There was an unnerving quality in the trance-like stillness; and the mystery of it pricked him to forebodings. He was now passing empty workshops, hesitating at door after door with ever-mounting alarm. Then he began to call but the sound of his voice served only to aggravate the silence.

Growing bolder, he tried some of the doors and found them to yield, letting him into a kind of smothered, troubled quietness even more oppressive than that outside. He passed an empty ropewalk, the hemp strewn untidily about, as if the workers had left hurriedly. He peered curiously at idle looms and deserted spinning-wheels—deserted apparently but the instant before he came. It seemed as if the people were fled maliciously just in front, to leave him in this fearfullest of all solitudes. He wondered if he did not hear their quick, furtive steps, and see the vanishing shadows of them.

At last, half-way up the next block, he thought his eyes caught for a short half second the mere thin shadow of a skulking figure. It had seemed to pass through a grape arbour that all but shielded from the street a house slightly more pretentious than its neighbors. He ran toward the spot, calling as he went. But when he had vaulted over the low fence, run across the garden and around the end of the arbor, dense with the green leaves and clusters of purple grapes, the space in front of the house was bare. If more than a trick-phantom of his eye had been there, it had vanished.

He stepped inside and called. There was no answer, but above his head a board creaked. He started up the stairs in front of him, and, as he did so, he seemed to hear cautious steps across a bare floor above. He stopped climbing; the steps ceased. He started up, and the steps came again. He knew now they came from a room at the head of the stairs. He bounded up the remaining steps and pushed open the door with a loud "Halloo!"

The room was empty. Yet across it there was the indefinable trail of a presence—an odor, a vibration, he knew not what—and where a bar of sunlight cut the gloom under a half-raised curtain, he saw the motes in the air all astir. Opposite the door he had opened was another, leading, apparently, to a room at the back of the house.

Determined to be no longer eluded, he crossed the room on tiptoe and gently tried the opposite door. It was locked. As he leaned against it, almost in a terror of suspense, he knew he heard again those little seemings of a presence a door's thickness away. He did not hesitate. Still holding the turned knob in his hand, he quickly crouched back and brought his flexed shoulder heavily against the door. It flew open with a breaking sound, and, with a little gasp of triumph, he was in the room to confront its unknown occupant.

Then, from behind the door he had opened, a staggering blow was dealt him, and, before he could recover, or had done more than blindly crook one arm protectingly before his face, he was borne heavily to the floor, writhing in a grasp that centered all its crushing power about his throat.

CHAPTER II.

The Wild Ram of the Mountains.

Slight though his figure was, it was lithe and active and well-muscled, and he knew as they struggled that his assailant was possessed of no greater advantage than had lain in his point of attack. In strength, apparently, they were well matched. Twice they rolled over on the carpeted floor, and then, despite the big, bony hands pressing about his throat, he turned his burden under him, and all but loosened the killing clutch. This brought them close to the window, but again he was swiftly drawn underneath.

As the light flooded in, he saw the truth, even before his now panting and sneezing antagonist did. Releasing the pressure from his throat with a sudden access of strength born of the new knowledge, he managed to gasp, though thickly and with pain, as they still strove:

"Seth Wright—wait—let go—wait, Seth—I'm Joel—Joel Rae!"

He managed it with difficulty.

"Joel Rae—Rae—Rae—don't you see?"

They looked at each other in panting amazement, until the older man recovered his breath and spoke:

"Gosh and all beeswax! The Wild Ram of the Mountains a-settin' on the Lute of the Holy Ghost's stomach a-chokin' him to death. My sakes! I'm a-pantin' like a tuckered hound—a-thinkin' he was a cussed milishy mobocrat come to spoil his household!"

The younger man was now able to speak, albeit his breathing was still heavy and the marks of the struggle plain upon him.

"What does it mean, Brother Wright—all this? Where are the Saints we left here—why is the city deserted—and why this—this?"

A Staggering Blow Was Dealt Him.

"Thought you was a milishy man, I tell you, from the careless way you hollered—one of Brockman's devils come back a-snoopin', and I didn't crave trouble, but when I saw the Lord appeared to reely want me to cope with the powers of darkness, why, I jist gritted into you for the consolation of Israel. You'd 'a' got your come-uppance, too, if you'd 'a' been a mobber. You was nigh a-ceasin' to breathe, Joel Rae. In another minute I wouldn't 'a' give the ashes of a rye-straw for your part in the tree of life!"

"Yes, yes, man, but go back a little. Where are our people, the sick, the old, and the poor, that we had to leave till now? Tell me, quick."

The older man sprang up, the late struggle driven from his mind, his face scowling. He turned upon his questioner.

"Does my fury swell up in me? No wonder! And you hain't guessed why? Well, them pitiful remnant of Saints, the sick, the old, the poor, waitin' to be helped yender to winter quarters, has been throwed out into that there slough acrost the river, six hundred and forty of 'em."

"When we were keeping faith by going?"

"What does a mobocrat care for faith-keepin'? Have you brought back the wagons?"

"Yes; they'll reach the other side to-night. I came ahead and made the lower crossing. I've seen nothing and heard nothing. Go on—tell me—talk, man!"

"Talk?—yes, I'll talk! We've had mobs and the very scum of hell to boil over here. This is Saturday, the 19th, ain't it? Well, Brockman marched against this stronghold of Israel jest a week ago, with 800 men. Tuesday, along comes a committee of 100 to negotiate peace. Well, Wednesday evening they signed terms, spite of all I could do. I'd 'a' fought till the white crows come a-cawin', but the rest of 'em wasn't so het up with the Holy Ghost, I reckon. Anyway, they signed. The terms wasn't reely set till Thursday morning, but we knew thay would be, and so all Wednesday night we was movin' acrost the river, and it kept up all next day—day before yesterday. You'd ought to 'a' been here then; you wouldn't wonder at my comin' down on you like a thousand of brick jest now, takin' you for a mobocrat. You'd 'a' seen families druv right out of their homes, with no horses, tents, money, nor a day's provisions—jest a little foolish household stuff they could carry in thair hands—sick men and women carried on beds, mothers luggin' babies and leadin' children. My sakes! but I did want to run some bullets and fill my old horn with powder for the consolation of Israel! They're lyin' out over there in the slough now, as many as ain't gone to glory. It made me jest plumb murderous!"

The younger man uttered a sharp cry of anguish. "What, oh, what has been our sin, that we must be proved again? Why have we got to be chastened?"

"Then Brockman's force marched in Thursday afternoon, and hell was let loose. His devils have plundered the town, thrown out the bedridden that jest couldn't move, thrown their goods after 'em, burned, murdered, tore up. You come up from the river, and you ain't seen that yet—they ain't touched the lower part of town—and now they're bunkin' in the temple, defacin' it—that place we built to be a house of rest for the Lord when he cometh again. They drove me acrost the river yesterday, and promised to shoot me if I dast show myself again. I sneaked over in a skiff last night and got here to get my two pistols and some money and trinkets we'd hid out. I was goin' to cross again to-night and wait for you and the wagons."

"Do you know, Bishop, I've thought that he might mean us to save ourselves against this Gentile persecution. Sometimes I find it hard to control myself."

The Bishop grinned appreciatively.

"So I heer'd. The Lute of the Holy Ghost got too rambunctious back in the States on the subject of our wrongs. And so they called you back from your mission?"

"They said I must learn to school myself; that I might hurt the cause by my ill-tempered zeal—and yet I brought in many—"

"I don't blame you. I got in trouble the first and only mission I went on, and the first time I preached, at that. When I said, 'Joseph was ordained by Peter, James and John,' a drunken wag in the audience got up and called me a damned liar. I started for him. I never reached him, but I reached the end of my mission right there. The Twelve decided I was usefuller here at home. They said I hadn't got enough of the Lord's humility for outside work. That was why they put me at the head of—that little organization I wanted you to join last spring. And it's done good work, too. You'll join now fast enough, I guess. You begin to see the need of such doin's. I can give you the oath any time."

"No, Bishop, I didn't mean that kind of resistance. It sounded too practical for me; I'm still satisfied to be the Lute of the Holy Ghost."

"You can be a Son of Dan, too."

"Not yet, not yet. We must still be a little meek in the face of Heaven."

"You're in a mighty poor place to practice meekness. What'd you cross the river for, anyway?"

"Why, for father and mother, of course. They must be safe at Green Plains. Can I get out there without trouble?"

The Bishop sneered.

"Be meek, will you? Well, mosey out to Green Plains and begin there. It's a burned plains you'll find, and Lima and Morley all the same, and Bear Creek. The mobbers started out from Warsaw, and burned all in their way, Morley first, than Green Plains, Bear Creek and Lima. They'd set fire to the houses and drive the folks in ahead. They killed Ed Durfee at Morley for talkin' back to 'em."

"But father and mother, surely—"

"Your pa and ma was druv in here with the rest, like cattle to the slaughter."

"You don't mean to say they're over there on the river bank?"

"Now, they's a kind of a mystery about that—why they wa'n't throwed out with the rest. Your ma's sick abed—she ain't ever been peart since the night your pa's house was fired and they had to walk in—but that ain't the reason they wa'n't throwed out. They put out others sicker. They flung families where every one was sick out into that slough. I guess what's left of 'em wouldn't be a supper-spell for a bunch of long-billed mosquitoes. But one of them milishy captains was certainly partial to your folks for some reason. They was let to stay in Phin Daggin's housa till you come."

"And Prudence—tha Corsons—Miss Prudence Corson?"

"Oh, ho! So she's the one, is she? Now that reminds me, mebbe I can guess tha cute of that captain's partiality. That girl's been kind of lookin' after your pa and ma, and that same milishy captain's been kind of lookin' after the girl. She got him to let her folks go to Springfield."

"But that's the wrong way."

"Well, now, I don't want to spleen, but I never did believe Vince Corson was anything more'n a hickory Saint—and there's been a lot of talk—but you get yours from the girl. If I ain't been misled, she's got some ready for you."

"Bishop, will there be a way for us to get into the temple, for her to be sealed to me? I've looked forward to that, you know. It would be hard to miss it."

"The mob's got the temple, even if you got the girl. There's a verse writ in charcoal on the portal:

"'Large House, tall steeple,
Silly priests, deluded people.'

"That's how it is for the temple, and the mob's bunked there. But the girl may have changed her mind, too."

The young man's expression became wistful and gentle, yet serenely sure.

CHAPTER III.

The Lute of the Holy Ghost Breaks His Fast.

In his cautious approach to the Daggin house, he came upon her unawares—a slight, slender, shapely thing of pink and golden flame, as she poised where the sun came full upon her. One hand clutched her flowing blue skirts snugly about her ankles; the other opened coaxingly to a kitten crouched to spring on the limb of an apple tree above her. The head was thrown back, the vivid lips were parted, and he heard her laugh low to herself.

Stepping from the covert that had shielded him, he called softly to her.

"Prudence—Prue!"

She had reached for the kitten, but at the sound of his low, vigorous note, she turned quickly toward him, coloring with a glow that spread from the corner of the crossed kerchief up to the yellow hair above her brow. She answered with quick breaths.

"Joel—Joel—Joel!"

She laughed aloud, clapping her small hands, and he ran to her—over beds of marigolds, heartsease and lady slippers, through a row of drowsy looking, heavy-headed dahlias, and past other withering flowers, all but choked out by the rank garden growths of late summer. Then his arms opened and seemed to swallow the leaping little figure.

"You dear old sobersides, you—how gaunt and careworn you look, and how hungry, and what wild eyes you have to frighten one with! At first I thought you were a crazy man."

He held her face up to his eager eyes, having no words to say, overcome by the joy that surged through him like a mighty rush of waters. In the moment's glorious certainty he rested until she stirred nervously under his devouring look, and spoke.

"Come, kiss me now and let me go."

He kissed her eyes so that she shut them; then he kissed her lips—long—letting her go at last, grudgingly, fearfully, unsatisfied.

"You scare me when you look that way. You mustn't be so fierce."

"I told him he didn't know you."

"Who didn't know me, sir?"

"A man who said I wasn't sure of you."

"So you are sura of me, are you, Mr. Preacherman? Is it because we've been sweethearts since so long? But remember you've been much away. I've seen you—let me count—but one little time of two weeks in three years. You would go on that horrid mission."

"Is not religion made up of obedience, let life or death come?"

"Is there no room for loving one's sweetheart in it?"

"One must obey, and I am a better man for having denied myself and gone. I can love you better. I have been taught to think of othera. I was sent to open up the gospel in the eastern states because I had been endowed with almost the open vision. It was my call to help in the setting up of the Messiah's latter-day kingdom. Besides, we may never question the commands of the holy priesthood, even if our wicked hearts rebel in secret."

"If you had questioned the right person sharply enough, you might have had an answer as to why you were sent."

"What do you mean? How could I have questioned? How could I have rebelled against the stepping-stone of my exaltation?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Gambling Mania a Menace

Margaret Sangster Sees Evil in Fashion's Sanction of the Custom of Playing Cards for Money—The Fatal Folly of Imitation.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

Playing cards for money has become a very common occurrence with women of fashion. Whatevar the sum hazarded tha principle remains the same. Gambling has crept in by imperceptible degrees and has familiarized itsalf as a society pastime.

A generation ago, it would have been regarded as shocking and disreputable in tha extreme for decent and virtuous women, mothers and wives and sisters to play at games of chance, here in America. People knew that such thinga were done at Monte Carlo, and that the feverish lust that is tha fatal poison of the inveterate gambler sometimes found its way into the life of a woman otherwise moral. But, taking it all in all, is was not supposed that decent women would stoop to card playing for money or would lend themselves to the excitements that follow in its wake.

In Edith Wharton's spectacular novel, "The House of Mirth," a glimpse is given of the desolation that may come to an individual life when a girl at once poor, proud and beautiful, sits down at the card table and presently finds herself in the clutches of debts that she cannot pay. There are those who fancy that Lily Bart's predicament is exaggerated and who have no toleration for her temptations. They do not see that Mrs. Wharton's book is less a work of imagination than a succession of photographs. She simply told in narrative form, that which she had seen in the society of a big cosmopolitan city.

Since bridge whist became popular it has monopolized the attention and time and formed the chief diversion of elegant women in homes where luxuries abound and a golden stream flows in a full tide from the pockets of men whose names are potential in Wall street, and in the finances of the world. The money kings make possible the costly amusements of the money queens and the money princesses. When a little country cousin comes to town for the season with a trunk filled with pretty furbelows and the sweet enchanting grace of youth in her dimples and her bright eyes, she is set down at the card table, and perhaps innocently begins to play, not imagining that losses are to be taken seriously. Sometimes there comes to her a moment of extreme bitterness when she discovers that her losses are so large that to settle them will absorb all that her father gave her for the winter'a outfit, or that she must apply at home for a cheque to save her from disgrace. Yet this is better for her as an experience than to receive a generous sum in tha opposite direction. Winnings are much too apt to turn a youthful head and to lead the fortunate player away from discretion and into greater hazarda.

A few months ago, a girl visitor at a country house found herself singled out for observation and treated with patronizing insolence and ridicule by fellow guesta because she had the courage of her convictiona and her training and absolutely refused to be a partner in any game that waa played for money. If only young girls and older women in society would accept the position taken by this conscientious and fearleas young woman an enormous amount of misery and suffering would be prevented, and the tide of reckless passion in society gambling would be stemmed.

* * * * *

At the root of gambling lies the falsity of trying to get something for nothing. So long as we pay our money for value recaived we are in the right. The gambler is little better than tha thief, and has in rectitude no advantage over the latter, except in so far as his operations are conducted in the open. To cheat at cards is regarded as the lowest depth into which a civilized human being can sink. This degradation doea not often befall the fair gamblers of society. They do not condescend to cheat their opponents. Thia is the one bit of honor they can claim. They are spendthrifts of money, of time, of temper and of brains. Little by little they grow sordid and cruel, and cease to care for the ideals that shine before womanhood and make it radiant in purity and exalted in tone.

Possibly there are those who do not think it necessary to sound a warning note against the evils of gambling as engaged in by our women of wealth. They say with some show of truth that the smart set has its narrow limitations, and that its manners and customs do not particularly affect or impress the rank and file of the nation. In a measura this may be taken for granted. Only in a measure. Gradually, but certainly, there has happened to us in this republic a deterioration in our standard. Most of us condone many things on which our mothers and grandmothers sternly frowned. The newspapers chronicle the doings of society, and women of small incomes as well as working women who earn their bread by long hours of toil, eagerly read about the women who live in splendor, and, like the lilies of the field, take no anxious thought for their raiment. Why should they? Their only difficulty is to secure brilliant costumes for brilliant occasions from the dressmakers whose styles are paid for at prices per gown that would keep a poor man's family the larger part of a year.

Imitation is the fatal flaw in a country where there are no well defined social ranks.

Every one is reaching up to climb the ladder. To do as those do who are better off than we, to have things as they have them, are the aims and ambitions of far too many of us. So it comes to pass that in little villages, in small towns and select circles that have not the faintest expectation of ever seeing anything beyond the glittering outside of that society which is spelled with a capital S, there is an evident strain to do as people do there.

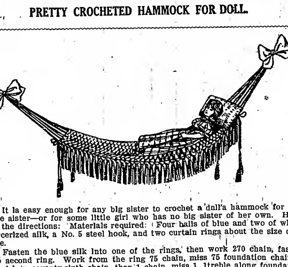
The sober common sense of American women may be trusted not to go too far in this alien and lamentable line. Still it is worth while to safeguard our daughters and our sons against a manifest peril.

The social fabric cannot be moth eaten by indolence and dishonesty anywhere without injury that extends throughout its entire length and breadth. Society in a way may be compared to the human body. The physical life is menaced more terribly by blood poisoning than by any other form of disease known to the medical profession. When blood poisoning enters society at any point it is apt to permeate the body politic.

It rests with women of culture and education, with women of leisure and gentle breeding, to set the right pace for their sisters throughout the entire country. Women cannot be too austere in virtue, nor too exacting in morality. With them must remain the responsibility for keeping pure and noble the atmosphere and the life of the home. It is therefore a tremendous misfortune that women who preside over our most beautiful homes should suffer them to be invaded by gambling.

(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

PRETTY CROCHETED HAMMOCK FOR DOLL.



It is easy enough for any big sister to crochet a doll's hammock for her little sister—or for some little girl who has no big sister of her own. Here are the directions: Materials required: Four balls of blue and two of white mercerized silk, a No. 5 steel hook, and two curtain rings about the size of a dime.

Fasten the blue silk into one of the rings, then work 270 chain, fasten into second ring. Work from the ring 75 chain, miss 75 foundation chain, 1 trebel into seventy-sixth chain, then 1 chain, miss 1, 1 treble along foundation chain to within 75 of the end. Work 75 chain, and fasten into ring; turn 75 chain, 1 treble immediately before the first treble of last row, 1 chain, 1 treble in small space; repeat 1 chain, 1 treble to end of last row of treble, then 75 chain, join into ring. Repeat from turn for three more rows of blue, then join on white and work four rows of white, five rows of blue, four of white, and again five rows of blue. The sides are fringed with the blue silk, cut into strands 2½ inches deep, or longer or shorter, as desired.

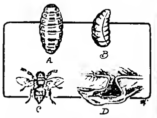
The Pillow.—Work 42 chain; turn with two chain, 1 treble into each chain to end of row. Work 15 rows of treble, taking up the back thread of each stitch, and join the last row to commencing chain with double crochet. Stuff the pillow with wadding, and join up both ends. Make two lengths of 100 chain, run through the ends of pillow, and attach to hammock; finish the chain ends with small tassels. Finish off the top ring with a short chain and tassel.

THE OX WARBLE.

Parasite Which Burrows Through the Hide of Cattle.

Among the many insects parasitic upon domestic animals none are more annoying than the various species of botflies which infest them and depreciate their value. The species which infest cattle is known as the Ox Warble (Hypoderma lineala) and is particularly harmful because of the great damage it perpetrates upon the hides and beef. It belongs to a family all the members of which are parasitic upon mammals.

The most evident exterior manifestation of the work of the Warble is what is known as "licked beef," which consists of pus and discoloration of the flesh just beneath the animal's skin. The larvae feeds upon the pus and bloody serum which surrounds it. As the grubs approach maturity, lumps or running sores appear on the animal's back. The perforations supply it with air. When mature this grub or larva is over an inch long, quite thick, whitish in color, and covered with rows of strong spines with which it works its way out through the breathing hole and drops to the ground, sometimes entering it, where it contracts, hardens and turns black, thus forming the puparium. After about a month in this stage the perfect fly has developed, pushes off the end of the puparium and emerges.



Ox Warble—(a) Larva; (b) Pupa; (c) Fly; (d) Section of Skin of Ox Perforated by Warble.

The fly is about the size and general appearance of a dark colored honey bee, its hairs being blackish with white cross lines on the edges of the thorax and base of abdomen, and having the latter reddish tipped. Just how the larva reaches its position under the animal's back has been a matter of dispute. Until recently it was generally believed, says Farmers' Review, that the eggs were deposited on the backs of cattle and that the young larva burrowed through the skin and developed there. Recently, however, others have asserted that after most careful investigation they find that the eggs are deposited on the legs, especially around the hoofs, at the time when the cattle are shedding their hair, and are then carried into the mouth when the animal licks itself. The larva now penetrates the oesophagus by means of its spines, then moults its spined skin and works about in the connective tissues of its host, down along the neck, and at last reaches its final position on the back under the skin. Another moult is passed and a second spiny coat is assumed by means of which the hide is penetrated and a breathing hole formed as mentioned above. The presence of the grub causes inflammation and the accumulation of serum, thus forming the "lick." The whole period of development, from the egg to the dropping of the mature maggot, is nine or ten months; and the animal, because of much suffering during this period, loses greatly in flesh, and this is of very inferior quality. The losses on cattle brought into the Chicago markets alone during the "grubby" months (January to June), in 1889, were determined to approximate over three millions of dollars, due exclusively to this insect. The loss to the entire country must be several times that amount annually.

About the only remedies as yet suggested are the lancing of the "licks" and squeezing out the grubs with tweezers, or killing them by smearing such substances as turpentine or kerosene mixed with carbolic acid over the breathing holes and shutting off the supply of air. As a preventive, strong smelling oils, such as train and fish oils or common axle grease, are smeared or sprayed on the legs and flanks of the animals to prevent the flies laying their eggs there.

Breaking a Horse.

When kindness and patience fail in subduing a horse or colt that has not been properly handled when young, a method used in France in the eighteenth century might be tried. This consisted of fastening the animal in a way that would prevent his lying down, and then keeping him constantly awake until the desired meekness had been induced. To do this, he must be watched day and night and disturbed in some manner every time he gives evidence of going to sleep. It is said the generality of horses were soon tamed in this manner, though some would hold out for a week or more.

Save Best of Ewe Lambs.

No matter what you are offered for them, save some of the best ewe lambs for your own flock. Take those from the middle-aged, thrifty mothers. They will raise larger and better lambs themselves.

THE HIGH VALUE OF OATS.

Prof. Thomas Shaw Says It Has No Equal as Feed.

No cereal grown on our farms is equal to the oat in general feeding value. This arises, first, from the varied animals to which it may be fed and the various ages at which they like it; second, from its general healthfulness and further from the many combinations in which it may be used.

Oats may be fed satisfactorily and with safety to cattle, sheep, swine and horses at any age. This does not apply equally to other grain grown on the farm. Oats may be splendid feed on which to start young calves, lambs, pigs and colts, when ground, and the hulls sifted out. A little later it is not necessary to sift out the hulls except for young pigs and still later it is unnecessary to grind the oats for calves, lambs or colts. The same is true of ground oats for milch cows and cattle that are being fattened.

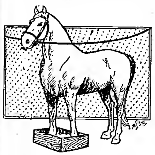
The only objection to feeding oats is that of cost. They are not a real good food for fattening swine but are fine for brood sows with young pigs. Oats are very healthy and no one ever heard of them making an animal ill when dried enough to keep safely in bulk.

Oats may be fed in any combination that may be desired. They make a fine food for bringing cattle and sheep up to full feed along with concentrated feeds and other grains such as corn and barley. Even during the later stages of fattening some ground oats along with corn help greatly to keep the animal on feed. It is unfortunate that so valuable a food is not more grown. The oat crop is usually given the poorest land on the principle that it can fight its own way better than other grains. The average yield of oats would be much higher if it were given an even chance with other cereals.

SOFTENING THE FORE HOOFS.

Here is a plan for softening the fore hoofs of a horse which has stood too long upon a dry hard floor in the stable, recommended by a correspondent of Prairie Farmer. He has made a small plank trough, three feet long, two feet wide and six inches high, after the manner illustrated in the accompanying sketch. This trough is filled about half full with clay soil and then thoroughly soaked with water.

The horse is so tied from either side that he can just nicely stand his fore feet in this trough, where he may be left for two or three hours a day. This plan is said to be very satisfactory for softening a horse's feet and will greatly relieve a good horse which has become tender in front.



Box for Soaking Horse's Hoofs.

At first, the correspondent says, a horse may object to standing in the trough, but as soon as he finds that the trough will not hurt him and is actually making his feet feel better the average horse will not make any serious objections to standing in the mud and water.

STOCK NOTES.

Sheep have come to be about the best property in the live stock line.

Lamb or mutton is one of the most wholesome of meats and is most economical for the farmer's use.

If the teeth are bad, feed finely ground meal and the best clover aftermath, or early cut clover.

A moderate ration of beets, four to five pounds per head, daily, is conducive to the healthfulness of the flock and improves the quality of the mutton.

The most prolific flock is one where no ewes are kept that are over eight years old, unless there may be some wonderfully prolific ewes and some that are extra good.

Keep the brood sows in separate quarters. Don't allow them to feed with fattening swine nor let them run after cattle. They are likely to become too fat to breed well.

Keep the pigs busy growing when they are not busy eating, but watch them closely and do not over feed. Miss a meal once a week if they allow feed to lie untouched before them.

Correctives in the way of charcoal ashes and salt should be in every hog pen to ward off disease.

It is hard work to get a horse up into good flesh after it has once run down. Easier to keep up than to get up.

Intelligence of Horses.

The degree of intelligence in horses varies greatly. The higher the intelligence, the more a horse is worth for use on the road or in the field and the more he is worth for breeding. We need to consider intelligence more in the selection of breeders. The higher the intelligence the more easily does the horse adapt himself to the uses for which he is designed. Fortunately the owners of horses have it in their power to increase the intelligence of the equine race through selection in breeding.

WORD IS MODERN ENGLISH.

"Chap" To-Day Has Not Meaning Old Writers Gave to It.

The name of the new play at the Criterion, "Prince Chap," would have been quite unintelligible to an Englishman of Shakespeare's time. Not until the end of the sixteenth century did "chapman," a trader or peddler, get contracted into "chap" even in vulgar speech, and even then for a long time it did not advance beyond the meaning of buyer or customer.

In this sense Steele speaks of "hunting after chaps," and Wilkes writes that "perhaps Mrs. Mead would buy, but she would be a hard chap." "Chap" seems to have reached its ultimate stage as a casual equivalent of "man" through the intermediate sense of a man with whom one has dealings, not of business, but of good fellowship.

The case of "customer" is very similar. Shakespeare used it to mean a boon companion, but "a queer customer" now means little more than "a queer man." There is a trace of the old companionship idea, however, when a young woman speaks of "my chap," and in "Prince Chap" itself.—London Chronicle.

DISFIGURING SKIN HUMOR.

Impossible to Get Employment, as Face and Body Were Covered with Sores—Cured by Cuticura.

"Since the year 1894 I have been troubled with a very bad case of eczema which I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to cure, and I went to the hospital, but they failed to cure me, and it was getting worse all the time. Five weeks ago my wife bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap, and I am pleased to say that I am now completely cured and well. It was impossible for me to get employment, as my face, head and body were covered with it. The eczema first appeared on the top of my head, and it had worked all the way around down the back of my neck and around to my throat, down my body and around the hips. It itched so I would be obliged to scratch it, and the flesh was raw. I am now all well, and I will be pleased to recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all persons who wish a speedy and permanent cure of skin diseases." Thomas M. Rossiter, 290 Prospect Street, East Orange, N. J., Mar. 30, 1905.

Money in Popular Songs.

According to a celebrated composer, the popular song, though sneered at by the superior, is in reality the ambition of most composers. Thousands of them, he says, "would give their ears to write a tune that reached the barrel-organs." And when it has been on the organs some little time a good many other people would wish to dispose of their ears.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Famous Band Leader Dead.

Prof. Louis Schneider, the first director of the Marine band in Washington and the leader of the Imperial band, which was at the surrender of Sedan, has just died in New York. He received decorations from Napoleon III., from the king of Italy, the king of Belgium and Pope Leo XIII.

Holiday Excursion Rates.

On December 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 30, 31 and January 1st, the Minneapolis & St. Louis will sell round trip excursion tickets at rate of one and one-third fare, limited for return to and including January 7, 1907.

For particulars and folders call on agents.

Cheap Sterilization.

Tests made in France indicate that water can be sterilized with ozone at the cost of about a cent and a half for every one thousand gallons, when the process is carried on on a large scale.

FITS, St. Vitus Dance and all Nervous Diseases permanently cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ld., 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A woman has but little use for a man who thinks he is the whole thing.

Dyeing is as easy as washing when PUTNAM FADELESS DYES are used. Ask your druggist.

He who envies the happiness of others will never be happy.

Garfield Tea, the Herb laxative, is mild and potent; take it for constipation and to regulate a sluggish liver.

He hastens to repentance who hastily judges.—Publius Syrus.

For Prices on Poultry,
Either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, S. Paul.

A one-sided affair is all right if it happens to be a bright side.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Men who pose as judges of human nature get a good many hard bumps.

Furs, Hides, Pelts.
Write for prices and ship to McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Any man who tries to dodge his taxes has no business to hanker for fame.

Top Prices for Hides, Furs, Pelts.
Write for circular and catalogue No. 9, N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

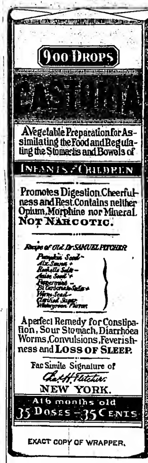
The letter carrier expects everybody on his route to take things as they come.

Winter Tourist Rates.

Chicago to Florida and Cuba via the Big Four Route through Cincinnati and Chattanooga. Leave Chicago 11:30 p. m., arrive Jacksonville 8:50 a. m. Fastest service to the south. Inquire of I. P. Spining, general northern agent, 238 Clark street, Chicago.

Real Home of the Peanut.

Botanists have placed the home of the peanut in Africa, but some authorities think it native to Brazil. Louisiana finds the Spanish variety—a small, but fine nut—best adapted to the climate of that state. The "goober grabbers" of Georgia and South Carolina like the small white and red peanut of Tennessee, and each year shows an increasing cultivation in those states of that variety.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

LIVE STOCK AND MISCELLANEOUS ELECTROTYPES
In great variety for sale at the lowest prices by A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO., 73 W. Adams St., Chicago

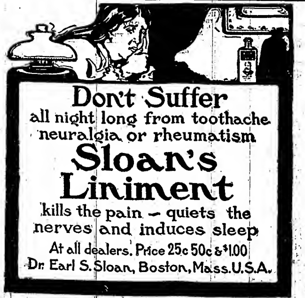
PATENT ATTORNEYS.
PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.



Don't Suffer
all night long from toothache neuralgia or rheumatism
Sloan's Liniment
kills the pain — quiets the nerves and induces sleep
At all dealers. Price 25c 50c & $1.00
Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass. U.S.A.

NO MORE MUSTARD PLASTERS TO BLISTER.
THE SCIENTIFIC AND MODERN EXTERNAL COUNTER-IRRITANT.
CAPISICUM VASELINE
EXTRACT OF THE CAYENNE PEPPER PLANT
A QUICK, SURE, SAFE AND ALWAYS READY CURE FOR PAIN.—PRICE 15c.—IN COLLAPSIBLE TUBES—AT ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS, OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 15c. IN POSTAGE STAMPS. DON'T WAIT TILL THE PAIN COMES—KEEP A TUBE HANDY.
A substitute for and superior to mustard or any other plaster, and will not blister the most delicate skin. The pain-allaying and curative qualities of the article are wonderful. It will stop the toothache at once, and relieve Headache and Sciatica. We recommend it as the best and safest external counter-irritant known, also as an external remedy for pains in the chest and stomach and all Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Gouty complaints. A trial will prove what we claim for it, and it will be found to be invaluable in the household and for children. Once used no family will be without it. Many people say "it is the best of all your preparations." Accept no preparation of vaseline unless the same carries our label, as otherwise it is not genuine.
SEND YOUR ADDRESS AND WE WILL MAIL OUR VASELINE PAMPHLET WHICH WILL INTEREST YOU.
CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO.
17 STATE STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

DEFIANCE STARCH—16 ounces to the package—other starches only 12 ounces—same price and "DEFIANCE" IS SUPERIOR QUALITY.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

Bray.

C. P. Swanson and Iver Johnson transacted business at St. Hilaire Monday.

Richard Melin of Polk Center was in Bray Wednesday.

E. J. Akerlund drove to the Saintly City Friday.

O. P. Johnson left for Barnesville, where he resumed his work on the Great Northern railroad.

Messrs. N. K. Anderson of Sanders and Ed. Aubol of St. Hilaire, president and treasurer of The Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co., met at the home of the secretary, C. P. Swanson, Friday and Saturday to settle the account of the company. They report its policies in force up-to-date with an amount of $382,295 insured.

Last Friday evening a debate was held in the school house, district 180. The subject: 'Resolved, That a married person is happier than a single person,' was ably handled on both sides by the speakers. The judges decided in favor of the "bachelors"

Thrist Person drove to St. Hilaire last Saturday.

C. E. Aas of the town of Norden was in Bray last Sunday.

Messrs. Ernest Akerlund and Alfred Johnson drove to Wylie last Saturday.

Badger

Frank LaBissoniere of Badger spent a few days of this week in Red Lake Falls on business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prudhomme of Gentilly were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Ducharme Sunday.

A number of young friends from Terrebonne and Badger pleasantly spent Sunday evening as guests of the Misses Alice and Anna Quesnell. Games were the amusement of the evening.

M. Quesnell and wife spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. A. Laurent.

Ed. St. Ives called at the Dolphis Champein home Sunday afternoon.

Miss Celina Ducharme, who has been seriously sick for the past several weeks, is reported as somewhat improving.

Roy Walker arrived Monday from Marshall, Lyon county, where he went after grain and stock of different kinds. Mr. Walker left Monday of last week and reports the immense falling of snow as causing much damage on different railroads points, principly at Fargo, and its around abouts

Miss Cora Laurent is at present visiting with her sister, Mrs. Rob. Quesnell.

Roy Walker drove to the Falls Tuesday on a business mission.

Origin of Ox Tail Soup.

During the reign of terror in Paris in 1793 many of the nobility were reduced to starvation and beggary. The abattoirs sent their hides fresh to the tanneries without removing the tails, and in cleaning them the tails were thrown away. One of the noble beggors asked for a tail, and it was willingly given to him. He took it to his lodging and made (what is now famous) the first dish of ox tail soup. He told others of his good luck, and they annoyed the tanners so much that a price was put upon them.

Ambition.

Ambition becomes displeasing when it is once satisfied. There is a reaction, and as our spirit till our last sigh is always aiming toward some object it falls back on itself, having nothing else on which to rest and having reached the summit it longs to descend.—Corneille.

Easy Work.

First Transient—If you had got to go into business, what line would you choose? Second Ditto—I'd open an employment agency. It would be so nice to be getting other people to work without being under any temptation to do any yourself.

Still Time.

Burroughs—Say, old man, there was a time when you promised to share your last dollar with me.

Bibbley—That's all right. I haven't got down to it yet.

Though the sun scorches us sometimes and gives us the headache, we do not refuse to acknowledge that we stand in need of his warmth.—De Mornay.

The Fashionable Dinner.

Eight men exclusive of the butler are required to serve a dinner of twenty-four covers, one being allowed for every three diners. Another is stationed in the pantry to "run in" the courses. Absolute order and silence reign among these men, who perfectly understand the butler's cabalistic signs. Electric signals pass constantly between chef and butler. From the seating of guests until the ladies leave not more than eighty-five minutes should elapse, for long dinners are considered bad form. Upon these occasions scarcely a member of the domestic corps escapes some special duty. The housemaids assist the pantry maid. After each course twenty-four silver plates and countless small silver must be carefully cleansed, wiped very dry and then polished with chamois before being put away. Nearly 200 pieces of engraved crystal ware must be washed and polished, and it is too costly and brittle to be hastily handled.—Everybody's Magazine.

SUBTERRANEAN RIVERS.

Yucatan's Only Streams Flow Beneath Coral Rock.

There are no streams in Yucatan which flow above the ground, but the whole peninsula is one vast table of coral rock and beneath it are immense sheets of fresh water, with regular though ill defined tides and currents. Along the coasts these subterranean waters are quite near the surface, but in the interior, where the calcareous layer is of great thickness, the waters are low down. At intervals they break into caverns formed by earthquakes by pressure of their own force or by the infiltration of surface water into the natural grottoes of the coral rock and wherever the water can be reached, whether through artificial pits or by the operations of nature, the place is called a cenote. There are a great many of them scattered all over Yucatan, and those near Merida are utilized as public bathhouses, affording most refreshing resorts.

Centuries ago the Indians marked the courses of the subterranean rivers by heaps of stones and always built their cities close by the water caves, as their ruins show, and it is interesting to note to this day all the civilized centers of Yucatan have arisen around these natural reservoirs. There are many forms of cenotes. When the water flows at a slight depth and the calcareous layer has been only partially eaten away there follows an irregular sinking, which forms a cave, opening from side to side, but when the crust is thicker and the underground stream has a regular course the soil is generally corroded in a circular space and the vault thus formed, lacking support, falls in, making an immense open wall. Often the crust is so deep that the soft parts only crumble down, leaving a small aperture toward the top, fashioning a real grotto, with stalactites and stalagmites galore. Again, it happens that the crust is exceedingly thick, when a colossal subterranean passage, like a tunnel, is formed. In short, all the variations which an undisturbed stream may produce in a friable soil by the silent work of ages may be here witnessed. The cenote of which I write is a natural cavern nearly fifty feet deep, broken down at one side, thus forming a gigantic arch. Within it appears every form of stalagmite and stalactite, and its roof is perforated with holes, in which are thousands of birds' and hornets' nests. At the bottom of it, reached by a flight of stone steps from the charming garden above, is an extensive sheet of clear, fresh water, containing a multitude of tiny fish (Pescado cenote) similar to those found in the Mammoth cave of Kentucky, only these are not eyeless. The overhanging roots of trees fringe its broken arch, affording shelter to innumerable lizards and iguanas, which dart along the ledges like embodied sunbeams, while above them countless swallows circle in masses so dense that the whirring of their wings produces a deafening noise, echoed from below in hollow reverberations.

The Italian Baby.

No infant receives a warmer welcome to the world or is more happily born than the Italian baby. No infant is the object of more caresses or is more fondly admired. Indeed, no matter how poor the mother and father may be, no matter how large the family, they have very merry times when another son or daughter comes to them. The neighbors are invited in, a feast is prepared, a gallon or two of cheap wine is procured, and the merriment sometimes lasts several days. The Italian considers there are only three great events in the life of man—namely, his birth, marriage and death. These three events never pass without a gorgeous and elaborate celebration. In this simple way they strive to carry out the tender life lesson: "When you were born you wept while those around you smiled. So live that when you die you alone may smile and those around you weep." And so they laugh and drink wine and sing, for they believe it will have an effect upon the life of the quivering form soon to take its place among them.—London Standard.

Machinery of Memory.

The machinery of memory was thus interestingly described by an authority on the brain: "The act of remembering something," he said, "involves a distinct change in the brain substance. The thing to be remembered is recorded by a little nerve cell. The first time the cell does its work an impression is made upon it. But that impression is apt to wear off unless the action of the cell is repeated, and the oftener this is the case the more fixed becomes the impression, or 'cell memory,' as it is called. Suppose that the work of this particular cell is to enable you to recognize a certain smell. If the impression is made but once, the cell may fail to retain it, but if it is repeated several times a lasting impression will be made, and you will recognize the particular odor when you meet with it again."

Southern Wit.

In the early days of the civil war, says Mrs. D. G. Wright in "A Southern Girl in '61," many northern senators were especially violent in their denunciations of the seceding states, occasionally much to the amusement of their listeners.

On one occasion a western senator ended a speech by declaring that were certain threatened events to occur he would "leave this country and join some other nation. Even the Comanches he would prefer to this government in such a case."

Senator Wigfall of Texas rose in answer and stated in a tone of grave remonstrance that he trusted the senator would consider well before he took such a step, "for the Comanches had already suffered too much from contact with the whites."

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL

ESTATE OF ANDREW R. PETERSON

State of Minnesota, } ss.
County of Red Lake }

In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew R. Peterson, decedent:

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA TO Mathilda Krane, August R. Peterson and Clause Peterson and all persons interested in the allowance and probate of the will of said decedent:

The petition of Clause Peterson being duly filed in this court, representing that Andrew R. Peterson, then a resident of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, died on the 14th day of December, 1906, leaving a last will and testament which is presented to this court with said petition, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that letters of administration with the will annexed be issued thereon to Andrew R. Peterson.

NOW THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of January, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

WITNESS THE HONORABLE N. W. TARRANT, Judge of said court, and the seal of said court, this 18th day of December, 1906.

(Seal) N. W. Tarrant,
Judge of Probate.

J. K. Hannay,
Attorney for Petitioner,
St. Hilaire, Minn. d20-j3

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of sixty ($60.00) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry J. Endorle, a single man, mortgagor, to the First State Bank of St. Hilaire, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of April, A. D., 1903, and with the power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of April, A. D., 1903, at two o'clock p. m., in Book 29 of Mortgages, on page 26 thereof, which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said First State Bank of St. Hilaire, mortgagee, to De Nederlandsch-Amerikaansche Hypotheekbank (The Netherlands American Mortgage Bank) by written assignment, dated the 9th day of October, A. D., 1903, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deed on the 9th day of October, A. D., 1903, at 2:05 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages, on page 52.

AND WHEREAS, It is provided in and by the terms of said mortgage that if default be made in any of the terms and conditions of the said mortgage, the assignee or the mortgagee and holder of the said mortgage might declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable.

AND WHEREAS, Under the terms and conditions of the said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained, the said assignee and holder of the said mortgage has duly elected and hereby does duly elect to declare and does hereby declare the whole principal sum of the said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice.

AND WHEREAS, There is actually due and claimed to be due and payable thereon at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand One Hundred Two and 40-100 ($1,102.40) Dollars, and the power of sale having become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt remaining secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statue in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, namely: The North-west Quarter (N. W. ¼) of section twenty-four (24) in Township one hundred fifty-two (152) north of range forty-four (44) west of the 5th principal meridian, in Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 18th day of January, A. D., 1907, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the said debt of One Thousand One hundred two and 40 100 ($1,102.40) Dollars, and interest thereon, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-Five ($75) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 1st, 1906.

De Nederlandsch-Amerikaansche Hypotheekbank.
(The Netherlands American Mortgage Bank)
Assignee of Mortgagee.

Wm. J. Brown,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Warren, Minnesota. d6-j17

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred, Fifty-six and 4-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by C. A. Steen (a single man) Mortgagor, to Sadie O. Elwood, Mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of March, 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1903, at 2:10 o'clock P. M., in Book 21 of Mortgages on page 142.

That since the execution and delivery of said mortgage the mortgagee, Sadie O. Elwood has married and that her name is now Sadie O. Grady, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The northeast quarter (NE¼) of section number twenty-eight (28), township number one hundred and fifty (150) north, range number forty-four (44) west of the 5th Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres of land, according to the U. S. Government survey thereof, be the same more or less, in Red Lake county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred, fifty-six and 4-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 18th, A. D., 1906.

Sadie O. Grady,
formerly Sadie O. Elwood,
Mortgagee.

Germo & Farley,
Attorneys for the Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minn. d20-f24

NORTHERN PACIFIC

TIME CARD
—OF—
TRAINS.

DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAYS

North Bound
No. 155 From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 am
South Bound.
No. 156 departs...	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.

A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn

F. A. MIZEN, Agent.

PORTABLE VILLAGES.

Turcomans Move Their Houses From Place to Place.

The Turcomans, who live on the eastern shore of the Caspian sea, carry their villages about with them when they travel. As a tribe sets out on a journey every man packs his wooden house upon a camel, which the animal can easily carry, and when a spot is reached where he and his friends intend to remain for any great length of time the camels are unloaded and a village started which it takes about an hour or so to build.

It is to be remembered that the houses are real houses and not tents and that the settlement is not a camp, but a village. The traveling house of the Turcoman is a marvel of skill and ingenuity and is really much lighter, more portable and can be packed into a much smaller compass than any of the so called portable houses that are manufactured and sold in some parts of our country.

The frame is made of strong, light wood laths about an inch broad by three-quarters of an inch thick, crossing each other when set up in position at right angles about a foot apart and fastened at each crossing by the thongs of rawhide so as to be movable, and the whole framework may be opened or shut in the same manner as those toys for children that consist of a squad of wooden soldiers and will expand or close at will so as to form open or close columns.

One part or more made in this way and all inclosing a circle fifteen or twenty feet across form the skeleton of the walls and are firmly secured in place by bands of ropes made of hair or wool fastened round the end of each rod. From the upper ends of these rods similar rods bent near the wall and into something less than a right angle are so disposed that the longer portions slope to the center and, being tied with rope, form the roof.

Over this is thrown a covering of black felt, having in the center a large hole which answers both for a window and a chimney. Large pieces of the same coarse black felt are wrapped round the walls, and outside these, to keep all tight, is bound another frame of split reeds or canes or of some very light, tough wood bound closely together with strong cords.

DR. N. M. WATSON

Physician and Surgeon

Graduate of McGill University, Montreal.
Office over First State Bank.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.

DENTIST

Offices in LaBissoniere Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.

At St Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys at-Law

Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 47 Collections attended to.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Harry Mitchell's Editorial

You run no risk in dealing with me, for if you are not thoroughly satisfied, you pay nothing. I am recognized as Minneapolis' finest tailor, and I make more suits and overcoats for out-of-town men than any other tailor in America. For $15, $20, and $25 I'll make you a suit or overcoat that no other tailor would make you for less than $30, $35, and $40, and will guarantee a perfect fit. Write today for samples and self-measurement blank, telling me about the style you want, and remember that I pay all Express charges so your clothes cost you no more than the city man's.

HARRY MITCHELL, 310 Nicollet Ave. MINNEAPOLIS.

TIME GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West			Going East
8:15 pm	Lv St. Paul Ar.		7:45 am
8:50 pm	Minneapolis		7:10 am
8:15 pm	Duluth		7:10 am
9:15am	Crookston		6:45pm
10:00am	Dugdale		6:00pm
10:35am	RED LAKE FALLS		5:25pm
11:05am	St. Hilaire		4:55pm
11:35am	Thief River Falls		4:30pm
12:01am	Steiner		4:05pm
12:15am	Sandridge		3:52pm
12:40am	Middle River		3:21pm
1:05pm	Strathcona		2:57pm
1:35pm	Ar Greenbush Lv		2:25pm

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER

MAIN STREET, - - - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet Pure and Wholesome.

It's All The What

That's Fit To Eat..

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near oor idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS
MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..

BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats

Fish and Game in Season.

Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.

TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

TWO MONTHS' TUITION FREE and your car fare paid by the........

UNION

Commercial College

Complete Business, Shorthand, English and Banking Courses. Every graduate in position. Write for particulars and Free Catalogue.

UNION COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,

THACKER & HUGHES, Props. Grand Forks, North Dako

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains

Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY

Grand View Hotel

Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City

W. H. KREUGER, Prop.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

HIDES

10 to 50% more Spot Cash for HIDES and RAW FURS by shipping to us than by selling at home. Fair dealings. Prompt cash returns. Best prices for HIDES, PELTS, RAW FURS, WOOL, ETC. Write for Price List, Market Report, shipping tags and how to obtain our Hunters' & Trappers' Guide. We are the most responsible Hide and Fur House in the N. W. Endorsed by 100 leading agricultural papers

ANDERSCH BROS., Department 66, - - - - MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

ESTABLISHED 1867

SHIP YOUR HIDES, FURS, WOOL, ETC.

DIRECT TO US AND SAVE SMALL DEALERS' PROFITS.

D. BERGMAN & CO., ST. PAUL, MINN.

TOP MARKET PRICES, IMMEDIATE CASH RETURNS

WRITE FOR PRICE LIST AND SHIPPING TAGS.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. | RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 10, 1907 | No 15

HEALY HAS MORE TIME

Grand Forks Council Grants Additional Thirty Days For Filing of Acceptance Bond.

At a special meeting of the city council of Grand Forks held Tuesday afternoon Ed L. Healy, of this city, was granted an extension of time to February 4 in which to file his acceptance and bond for his lighting contract with the city of Grand Forks. The bond is for the completion of the work and it is to be for $5,000. According to the franchise granted Mr. Healy he should have filed his acceptance and a bond for $5,000 within 90 days after the passage and approval of the ordinance granting the franchise.

Tracy R. Bangs of Grand Forks appeared for Mr. Healy who was unable to go on account of pressing business and told the council that Mr. Healy would require a short time additional to complete the arrangements for his contract, when the bond would be filed and the matter closed up. He asked that Mr. Healy be granted 30 days in which to file his acceptance and bond. He promised that there would be no further time asked by Mr. Healy.

The resolution to extend the time was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Healy has been in close correspondence with a concern of capitalists, who have agreed to finance his proposition if certain conditions would be complied with. Ed L. has been fixing matters so that he could comply with their wishes, and for this reason he asked for additional time for the filing of the bond and acceptance of the contract.

Talking to a Gazette scribe Monday, Mr. Healy stated that he now had things in just the shape he wanted them, and that there was no longer a question of a doubt as to the work being started early in the spring.

He has assurances of all the financial aid he needs, and with this backing will proceed at once when spring comes to commence work on the new plant. Gazette readers have been told much about Mr. Healy's project in the past few months, but few yet realize the magnitude of the plans, and what they will mean to Red Lake Falls when completed.

The people here should feel satisfied that Mr. Healy has things in shape to start with the work next spring, and will hope that he may meet with greater success than he anticipates.

ARE GETTING READY

Standard Drainage Company Will Operate Many Dredges In North Country Next Year.

Capt. Beard, ot the Standard Drainage company, of Windom, is at present engaged in getting things ready for his ditching work in the north country next year and has been out in eastern Polk and Red Lake counties investigating the fuel conditions along the line of proposed judicial ditch number 4 the big inter county ditch between Polk and Red Lake counties. Capt. Beard will have three big dredges in this immediate vicinity next year. He has purchased in the eastern portion of these counties over five hundred cords of wood for the use of his machinery along the No. 4 construction next season. He will use 800 cords for the entire contract. Owing to the swampy condition of the ground he will be compelled to use the utmost ingenuity in gaining access to the field of opeartions in the spring with his heavy machinery.

A dredge will be placed by the Captain on the ditch near Erskine. He will have under his control the excavation of over 500,000 cubic yards of dirt in the north country to be entirely completed during the coming season. The Judicial No. 4 is 13 miles long and a roadway is to be built along the side of the ditch out of the excavated material.

GREENBUSH EXTENSION

Indications Point To The Extension of The Great Northern This Winter.

The Roseau County Times is of the opinion the Great Northern will commence the construction of the Greenbush-Warroad extension during the present winter. The Times states that the construction department of the Great Northern believes that more rapid progress can be made while the ground is frozen. It would be easy work to lay the rails at this time and the grading in the wet places could be handled to better advantage after the track is in position. Thousands of ties have already been purchased and hauled to different points along the right of way between Greenbush and Warroad., and all indications point to the beginning of active operations within the not distant future. While the intentions of the G. N. concerning this line are as yet a matter of conjecture as far as the public is concerned, it is known that Jim Hill is desirous of tapping the Rainy Lake country before the M. & I., extending north from Bemidji, and the D. V. & R. L. extension running west from the iron range, complete their lines to International Falls, both of which roads are making active preparations to complete construction to that point the coming spring.

The extension of the Greenbush line to Warroad has been looked forward to with considerable interest by the towns along this branch as it not only means increased business for the Great Northern, but will undoubtedly mean better train and mail service, thereby putting us in closer touch with the world at large, and give us a new and remunerative field for all classes of farm products—the Rainy Lake country, which is dependent almost entirely upon outside sources for butter, eggs, vegetables, poultry and other products of the farm.

It is quite likely that with the completion of the Greenbush line to Warroad the passenger service will be doubled, giving the patrons of this branch two passenger trains a day each way, which will make it possible to transact business in neighboring towns to the south, as well as the north, and return the same day, instead of having to remain over night as at present.

Infant Dies of Croup.

The year and a half old son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Wolfe died last Friday night, after a short illness with croup. The attack was a very severe one, and despite the efforts of medical aid resulted fatally. The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church Sunday. The bereaved parents have the sincere sympathy of all.

A New Ditch.

The county board yesterday ordered Ditch No. 28 established, and the necessary steps will at once be taken by the auditor to get the work under way. The ditch will be about four miles long and will drain some wet lands in Red Lake Falls township, emptying into the Red Lake river. The ditch was petitioned for by J. A. Duffy et al.

BASKET PARTY MONDAY.

M. B. A's. Will Have A Good Time at Their Hall

Everything is in shape for the basket party and good time planned by the M. B. A. lodge at their hall next Monday evening, and those in charge have assurances that a big crowd of people will attend. The party will be a public affair and all are invited to attend. The ladies are asked to bring baskets, which will be auctioned off at fancy prices by that successful auctioneer, Joseph Belair.

After the supper feature, dancing will be indulged in and a good time is assured to all who attend.

Have Chance To Win.

Peter Lachance and Medore Robillard, of Terrebonne, left Monday for Minneapolis where they will spend a week taking in the sights of the cities. The young men were the winners of first prizes in the wheat and oats contest in the recent seed grain fair held here, and their transportation was given them by the Great Northern as an additional prize to the winners. The State Seed Grain Fair was held at Minneapolis yesterday and the young men went down principally to attend this fair.

All the samples that won prizes at the recent seed grain fair held here, were sent to the state contest at Minneapolis, and there is an excellent chance that one or two of these samples will be awarded prizes in the state contest. It was the opinion of the grain experts present at the fair here that two or three of the winning samples would be hard to beat, and there is an excellent show of their receiving some of the state honors. The prizes are very large in the state contest, and it would be a nice feather in the cap of Red Lake county should samples from here get the high honors.

Mrs. Marshall Re-Appointed.

Dispatches to Tuesday's dailies report that Mrs. E. F. Marshall has been recommended for appointment as postmaster of Red Lake Falls, by President Roosevelt. Mrs. Marshall's petitition for re-appointment was liberally signed by the business people, and no opposition developed to her desires. The postoffice has been conducted in a highly satisfactory manner during her tenure in office, and the re-appointment will give universal satisfaction.

IS OFFICIAL ABSTRACTER.

E. G. Buse, of This City, Gets The Appointment.

E. G. Buse, one of Red Lake Falls' leading young men, received a nice New Year's present from the commissioners yesterday, when he was appointed by them as official abstracter of Red Lake county for the ensuing two years.

Ernest is considered an expert in the abstract line and is fully deserving of the honor conveyed.

It is probable that he will remain in the employ of the Sortedahl Abstract company, and work from there.

Ernest will be bonded to the county with a surety bond of $2,500.

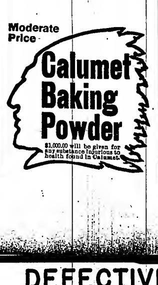
NEW LEADER HERE.

Prof. Bruckman, of New York City Takes Charge of Band.

Prof. Emile Bruckman, of New York city, arrived here Monday morning to take up his work as director of the Red Lake Falls Concert Band, and Tuesday evening gave the band their first rehearsal under his baton.

Prof. Bruckman is of German extraction, and comes recommended as an efficient musician and competent leader. He has had many years of experience as a director of bands and orchestras, and his work here will without doubt result in great benefit to the local organization.

The regular monthly concert will be given during the latter part of the month, when the band will appear for the first time under Mr. Bruckman's leadership.



Moderate Price
Calumet Baking Powder
$1,000.00 will be given for any substance injurious to health found in Calumet.

Foresters Hold Social Session

North Star Court, Catholic Order of Foresters and the members of W. C. O. F. held a joint open meeting at their hall Tuesday evening and entertained Peter Loskiel, of St. Paul, state organizer and auditor of the society. Mr. Loskiel gave nice talk during the evening, and told some interesting facts about the order. He told how the order has at present over 125,000 members in good standing, and how it is fast attaining a place among the greatest fraternal insurance societies of the world. The order today has a reserve of over $1,500,000, and its insurance features and protection is considered one of the finest in the world. It is growing rapidly, and the outlook for its future development is exceptionally bright. The local court has about one hundred members, and is adding new ones at nearly every meeting, being one of the big lodges of the city. After Mr. Loskiel's talk an hour or so was spent in visiting and merry-making, and the evening was an enjoyable and profitable one to all.

HAD A GOOD BUSINESS

Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of Red Lake Falls Creamery Association Held Monday

The annual meeting of the officers and shareholders of the Red Lake Falls Creamery association was held at the offices of the First State Bank Monday afternoon and a large number of those interested were present.

Secretary Hennings submitted his report of the condition of the creamery for the past year, and gave those present a detailed statement of the business done. The report showed that the institution has had a very successful season, and in the five months run approximately $9,000 worth of butter was sold, which is a substaintial gain over that of any other year for the same period. The feeling toward the creamery by the farmers of this neighborhood is a good one, and those behind the movement are in hopes that the coming year will be a record breaker for the institution.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Frank Greniere,
Vice-President—A. D. Reopelle,
Treasurer—Ildage Baril,
Secretary—George F. Hennings,
Trustees—Alex Emard, H. Putnode, Wilfred Chatel.
Manager—Jeff Porter.

As yet no buttermaker has been engaged for next year, but the officers have several good men in sight and will have a competent man in charge of the plant. It is their intention when they start up again to keep the creamery running the year round, and a strong effort will be made to get every farmer in this neighborhood as a patron.

Another meeting of the association will be called about the 15th of March at which time a five per cent dividend will be declared.

NEW DIRECTORS CHOSEN.

First State Bank Held Their Annual Election on Tuesday

The annual meeting of the First State Bank was held at their banking rooms Tuesday, when the business of the year was gone over, new directors chosen and matters of interest to the concern were discussed.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was not held, owing to the fact that other matters claimed the attention of those interested. The election will take place at a latter date. The directors chosen for the coming year were as follows: Theo Garceau, A. P. Toupin, Chas. N. Bourdon, W. A. Schreiter, N. M. Watson, Frank E. Hunt, G. F. Hennings.

The affairs of the bank were found to be in excellent condition, and the present officers were highly complimented for the successful manner in which they have conducted the business of the institution.

OLD DITCH MATTER UP

Rocksbury-North Ditch Will Now Be Completed, After Several Years of Waiting.

The board of commissioners at their meeting Tuesday, took up the old matter of Rocksbury-North ditch No. 1, and a lively discussion ensued over this much-talked-of waterway. Several Rocksbury farmers appeared before the board in the matter, and demanded that something be done, and after a lengthy discussion the auditer was authorized to advertise for bids and re-let the contract for the completion of the waterway.

Rocksbury-North ditch No. 1 was established over four years ago, and the contract was let to Wm. Eickhoff, of St. Hilaire, with Geo. Ralph, of Crookston, as the engineer. The work proceeded very well at first, but for some reason not apparent the waterway was never fully completed. The county paid out nearly all of the cost of the ditch, on the recommendation of the engineer, it apparently being thought at that time that the work was to be finished. When the engineer put in his final estimate, the board refused to accept the ditch, and some $200 remaining due was never paid.

The matter was passed over from time to time until last May, when the board realizing that some steps should necessarily be taken to complete the waterway, instructed the county attorney to take such steps as he deemed necessary to inforce the completion of the work. Attorney Germo took the matter up with the bondsmen and had assurances that the desire of the board would be complied with. It seems that men were sent up to make a bluff at doing the work, but it resulted in no good to the people who are daily being damaged by the ditch.

The matter was again laid before the board, this week, with the result as above stated. The contract for completion will be let as soon as possible, and steps taken to give the farmers some benefit for the money they have been paying for this ditch.

No announcement is made as to what action will be taken, if any, against the engineer and bondsmen, but it is probable that some effort will be made to save the county from further expense in the matter.

New Barber Coming.

E. A. Nelson, of Brandon, was here Monday and made arrangements to lease the H. J. Knufer barber shop and bath parlors, and will open up for business Tuesday of next week. Mr. Nelson comes recommended as a fine tonsorial artist, is a hustling young business man and will undoubtedly be accorded a good patronage. He is a man of family, but does not expect to move his folks here during the cold weather.

LOGGING NOT PROFITABLE

J. F. Grey of This City Working Near Blackduck.

Joe F. Gray returned to Blackduck Monday after a week's visit with his family here. The firm of Gray & Gray are at present engaged in getting out a big logging contract near Blackduck, and while they have been quite fortnate with their work so far, Mr. Gray states that conditions are extremely bad for the loggers this winter. There is snow galore, it being about three feet deep on the level. The snow fell, however, before the ground had frozen to any extent, and there was no foundation for heavy hauling. During the past month only light hauling was done and this only to a limited extent. The logging firms are laying their men off daily. Mr. Grey stated, however, that his firm would commence the heavy hauling the last of the week, and that with the tightening up of the weather coincident with this season of the year, they hope to escape further trouble.

NEW MEN IN CHARGE

Recently Elected County Officials Take Up Their New Duties Tuesday and Yesterday

Red Lake county now has practically a new set of officers, the change from the old to the new taking place Tuesday after the bonds of the incoming officers were approved by the board.

John B. O'Brien is now in the auditor's chair, succeeding James E. Ford, who has served two terms. Mr. O'Brien has been engaged in school work in Red Lake county for a long term of years, and is well liked by all who know him. He has appointed A. A. Lateadresse of this city as his deputy.

C. W. Johnson of Polk Center, succeeds Joseph Perrault as Clerk of the District Court. Mr. Perrault has served in the capacity of clerk since the organization of the county ten years ago.

Ernest L. Quist of Kratka township, takes Frank Jeffers' seat as Register of Deeds. Mr. Jeffers only served one term as Register, having been County Superintendent of Schools for eight years until elected Register two years ago. Miss Bertha Lafreniere and K. M. Hansen will assist Mr. Quist.

O. T. Tandberg is again in charge of the county funds, succeeding Karl M. Hansen who has been Treasurer for two years. Mr. Tandberg served in this capacity for six years until two years ago, and is well known to the people of the county.

Lewis A. Nelson, of Thief River Falls, takes the sheriffship from D. Linnihan, who has served as Sheriff since the death of Sheriff Sampson some three and a half years ago. Robt. Lee of Thief River Falls, is Mr. Nelson's deputy.

S. T. Johnson of Thief River Falls, succeeds A. P. Toupin as Court Commissioner, Mr. Toupin not being a candidate at the last election.

Judge of Probate Tarrant, County Attorney Germo, Surveyor Wood, Superintendent McAnulty and Coroner Belair all hold their jobs for two years more, having been the lucky ones at the November killing.

The new officers are all competent fellows, and will without doubt conduct the affairs of the county with the same good judgment as has marked the career of the old ones.

The Gazette wishes both the old and new officials success in their different pursuits.

NEW LAWS IN FORCE

Important Legislative Acts Took Effect the First of the New Year.

January 1st marked the beginning of the life of several legislative acts of congress, important alike to the nation as a whole and to the citizens of the District of Columbia. These are the free school law, the pure food law, the anti-pass section of the interstate commerce law, the modification of the navigation laws to simplify enrollments and licenses, and a law with reference to the licensing of druggists in the District of Columbia.

The pure food law contemplates the barring interstate commerce of foods that are injurious to health. The free alcohol bill is intended to assist farmers and smaller users of power to have a fuel that in efficiency and costs shall be cheaper than gasoline or kerosene. The anti-pass provision of the interstate commerce law forbids commission carriers, directly or indirectly, giving interstate free tickets or passengers, except to their employers and families, agents of the carriers and their surgeons, physicians and attorneys, to persons engaged in religious and charitable work and to certain other specified classes.

200 cords dry poplar wood for sale, delivered at your door. C. E. Boughton. d6tf

DEFECTIVE PAGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS. - MINN.

NEWS OF A WEEK TERSELY OUTLINED

A SUMMARY OF THE MOST IMPORTANT EVENTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM

Complete Review of Happenings of Greatest Interest from All Parts of the Globe—The Latest Foreign Information.

Federal Judge Landis decided in Chicago that the Standard Oil company must stand trial on eight of [illegible] indictments returned against it.

Fire destroyed the big furniture store of Cowperthwaite & Sons at Third avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-first street, New York, entailing a loss estimated at half a million dollars and causing the injury of four firemen.

A sweeping investigation into the question as to the compliance with the new corrupt practices act by candidates and party committees concerned in the November election in New York is promised by the new attorney general, William S. Jackson.

Mines in the Bullfrog district of Nevada valued by the owners at over [illegible] were awarded to E. A. Montgomery by Judge Z. Seawell at San Francisco, against the claims of C. B. Fleming.

Will Harvey, a negro was hanged at Maysville, Miss., three minutes before notice that his sentence had been commuted reached the sheriff of Issaquena county.

Senator Culberson of Texas defended the order of the president dismissing the colored soldiers for the shooting affair at Brownsville.

Maj. Gen. von der Launitz, prefect of police of St. Petersburg, was shot and killed by a young man at the Institute of Experimental Medicine. The assassin was killed by officers.

Snowstorms and blizzards of exceptional severity are prevailing throughout southern and southwestern Russia. According to some accounts 160 persons succumbed to the cold.

Parisian clubmen created a riotous scene in the Moulin Rouge in an ineffectual effort to prevent the Marquise de Morny, niece of Napoleon III., presenting an improper sketch on the stage.

Federal Judge Sanborn sentenced to jail several leaders of the striking molders in Milwaukee for violating an injunction.

Mrs. Clara S. Heyl of Milwaukee was granted a divorce from Jacob Heyl and the property was divided.

A fire which started from the flash of a miner's blast in the Ellsworth mine No. 3 at Cokesburg, Pa., owned by the Lackawanna Coal company, caused a loss of $100,000.

Eight persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, in a street car accident at Cleveland, O. While running at a high rate of speed a car jumped the track and ran into an iron trolley pole.

Southern Pacific passenger train No. 14, northbound, known as the Portland express, ran into a washout near Comstock, 25 miles south of Eugene, Ore. The engineer is reported missing, a mail clerk seriously hurt and several passengers injured.

W. K. McDougal, a railroad man, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head in the City of Mexico. He was well known in railroad circles, especially in Chicago and Toronto.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Kurdy, 79 years of age, who lived with her son in St. Paul, Minn., was found in the cellar of the residence dead with her head beaten to a pulp. The house had been robbed of $500.

Prof. Otto Benndorf, the archeologist, is dead in Vienna. He was noted for his discoveries of antiquities in Ephesus.

In a Madrid counterfeit coin factory, raided by the police, it was found that women were used to distribute the spurious product.

The Paris Journal says that Jacques Lebaudy, the self-styled "emperor of the Sahara," is making a tour of the United States.

Prof. Albert William Berg, for 40 years organist at the Church of the Transfiguration, commonly known as "The Little Church Around the Corner," in New York, died in that city, aged 81 years.

Another break occurred in the Colorado river, and Washington officials say the $300,000 set aside for repair work by E. H. Harriman will be insufficient to protect the Imperial valley in California.

A Chinese imperial edict has been issued raising Confucius to the same rank as Heaven and earth which are worshiped by the emperor alone.

Samuel W. Martin, proprietor of a well known all-night Broadway, New York, restaurant, died suddenly from heart disease.

Sidney Kaufman shot and killed Mrs. Eva Totten, of Staten Island, and probably fatally wounded himself in the Hotel Knickerbocker, New York city.

Former United States Senator Donelson Caffery of Louisiana, and Thomas Bowen of Colorado, died.

William R. Hearst, speaking before the New York city committee of the Independence league, said: "I myself am not and will not be again a candidate for any office."

The Louisiana railroad commission will investigate the complaint of lumbermen that they lose $1,000,000 a year by railroads charging in axcess of weight.

Dekalb, Ill., has 40 cases of scarlet fever. The normal school and other public institutions are closed.

A report which gained currency throughout Cyrenaica, Africa, that the mahdi is still alive caused great excitement. He was reported to have died four years ago.

Andrew Carnegie made a gift of $50,000 to Lafayette college, with the promise of more.

A $500,000 fire, resulting in the death of one man and the injury of six firemen, occurred in Montreal, Quebec.

The Nebraska house of representatives adopted a resolution barring lobbyists from the floor.

Interstate commerce commissioners report that the recent car shortage and consequent fuel famine were caused by the abundant west-bound traffic at the head of the lakes.

Charges of fraud were filed with Postmaster General Cortelyou against the officials and members of the New York Cotton Exchange by Representative Livingston, of Georgia, and Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton association of Atlanta, and an order asked barring them from the use of the mails.

Two white Americans, a negro train porter and about 32 Mexican laborers lost their lives and 55 persons were injured when two passenger trains on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad collided head on four miles west of Volland, Kan.

James H. Willock, 53 years of age, former president of the Second National bank of Pittsburg, Pa., and a director in over two score of corporations died after an extended illness.

Joseph K. McCammon, once assistant attorney general of the United States, United States commissioner of railroads during President Hayes' administration and prominent as a lawyer and clubman in Washington, died of heart trouble.

The employes of the state railroads of Bulgaria have gone out on strike because of the refusal of their demands for increased wages.

Miss Rose Weil, a disappointed litigant, fired at Judge J. A. McDonald with a revolver in a St. Louis courtroom, but missed him.

Gov. Hughes urged the New York legislature to order a recount of the votes cast for mayor of New York in 1905 when Hearst was defeated.

The Armour company plans to build car shops in Minneapolis to cost $2,000,000.

Charles M. Floyd, Republican, was elected governor of New Hampshire by the legislature.

While Gen. A. A. Chaffee and the members of his family were at dinner in Los Angeles an unknown man gained entrance to the upper story of their home and stole $1,000 worth of jewelry.

Depressed over his defeat for reelection as registrar of deeds, a position which he had filled for 25 consecutive years, Thomas Temple took his own life at his home in Neponset, Mass., by inhaling illuminating gas.

President McCrea, of Pittsburg, first vice president of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, was elected president of the Pennsylvania railroad company, to succeed the late A. J. Cassatt.

The London Daily Mail quotes a friend of the late Lady Burdett-Coutts as saying that the bulk of her great fortune will go to her husband, and that it is unlikely that her will contains large bequests to charity.

Counsel for the estate of the late A. J. Cassatt issued a statement to the effect that Mr. Cassatt by his will left his entire estate to Mrs. Cassatt and, in equal shares, to his children.

Two terrorists shot and killed two gendarmes in Warsaw, Poland, and fled. Soldiers opened fire on them and wounded four pedestrians.

Brig. Gen. George A. Bell, U. S. A., retired, died at his residence in Washington. He was a native of Maryland and was graduated from the military academy in July, 1853.

Fred Zimmerman, accused of shooting Mrs. Quam in Owatonna, Mich., committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell in the jail.

Tremendous rains fell in Arkansas, doing much damage in Hot Springs and causing a general suspension of railway traffic.

Conrad Rausch, a baker in Downey, Cal., accused his wife of unfaithfulness and killed her and himself.

Joe Gans and Jimmie Britt were matched to fight at Tonopah, Nev., for a purse of $25,000.

President Roosevelt shook the hands of thousands of persons at his New Year's reception.

Thomas Harris shot and killed his stepfather, Henry Miller, at the latter's home in St. Louis, because his mother had been severely beaten by Miller.

William Grant was killed and a half dozen other passengers on a New Orleans street car were injured in a collision between the car and a wagon loaded with poles.

Three men were blown to pieces and three mortally wounded by the explosion near Parral, Chihuahua, Mexico, of two boxes of dynamite.

John D. Rockefeller gave the University of Chicago $2,917,000 for a New Year's present.

It is declared that knighthood will probably be offered to James Bryce, the newly appointed British ambassador at Washington.

St. Louis is prepared to furnish 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas for the international balloon races there next October, and a test inflation and ascension were made successfully.

Charles E. Hughes was inaugurated as governor of New York.

Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, scored the French officials, calling them infidels and worse than pagans.

The Interstate Commerce Commission decided to investigate the block signal systems on the Southern and Baltimore & Ohio railways.

Roy Swartzer, a telegrapher, confessed he caused a fatal wreck on the Oregon Short Line at Peterson, Utah, because he wanted to see the train plunge into the river.

Gustave Bye of Duluth, tied the American record for ski jumping at the tournament at Munising, Mich. His record was 106 feet.

F. W. Troy fatally shot his wife and wounded Ralph Quinn in a boarding house in Joplin, Mo.

Joe Gans easily whipped "Kid" Herman at Tonopah, Nev., knocking him out in the eighth round.

Fire did $100,000 damage in a row of buildings in Cincinnati owned and occupied by the Diamond Distilleries company.

In memory of her husband, Mrs. Thomas J. Emery has given $100,000 as an endowment for the Cincinnati art museum, on condition that Saturday be made a free admission day to all parts of the museum.

Aunt Dorcas Harris, colored, died in Mineral Wells, Tex., aged 129 years.

The chief of police of Akron, Ill., ordered the police to shoot mashers who attempted to escape arrest.

Shippers in Oklahoma petitioned President Roosevelt to have a receiver appointed for the Rock Island railway because it cannot handle the traffic offered to it.

Harry Ray, an animal trainer, was seriously injured by a lion in an animal show at Toledo, O.

With a single blow of his fist Charles Smith of East St. Louis, Ill., killed D. F. Myers and made his escape. Mrs. Smith told her husband that Myers had attempted to flirt with her on the street.

Elmer McClelland, a joint railroad rate inspector and the son of H. R. McClelland, a wealthy resident of Newark, O., committed suicide at Decatur, Ill., by cutting his throat with two razors.

The treasurer of the Military Club of Madrid has disappeared and a fund of $56,000 is missing.

The Stirling Boiler company of Barberton, O., has been taken over by the Babcock & Wilcox company, thus merging the two largest boiler companies of the world.

The first division of the British armored cruiser squadron, under Rear Admiral Neville, has been selected to represent Great Britain at the Jamestown exposition.

Sir William Pearce Howland, formerly postmaster general and finance minister under the upper and lower Canada union, and later lieutenant governor of Ontario, died in Toronto, aged 96.

Judge McCall, of the federal court at Memphis, declared the Lafollette fellow servants' law unconstitutional.

Frederick S. Camp, one of the most prominent millmen in eastern Connecticut, took his life by shooting at Norwich, Conn.

Acting on information furnished by a traitor, the Russian police captured over 100 leaders and members of the St. Petersburg military organization of the social democrats who were conducting a propaganda in the army and navy.

Bands of negroes are pillaging estates in Cuba and it is believed they have arms that were landed recently in Pinar del Rio province.

Simon Guggenheim's candidacy for the United States senate was indorsed by the Republican legislators of Colorado.

Israel Zangwill explained that the Jewish Territorial organization proposed to have Jewish immigrants from Russia land in Galveston instead of New York, and he distributed from there.

President Roosevelt and party returned from their outing at "Pine Knot," in the Virginia woods.

An attempt was made to wreck the Northern Pacific west-bound flyer near Big Timber, Mont.

The Algeciras convention was formally signed at Madrid in the presence of representatives of all the nations that took part in the conference.

C. C. Marris, night agent for the Burlington road at York, Neb., was victorious in a fight with two masked robbers.

The countess of Clancarty, who was at one time well known on the stage as Belle Bilton, died at her residence at Garbally Park, County Galway, Ireland.

Herman Guldnest, a well-known fresco painter, hanged himself in New York.

Announcement was made in Paris that a rich man, impressed by reading "Paul and Virginia," bequeathed $10,000 for a statue of Bernardin de Saint Pierre. The commission was given to Sculptor Holwock, whose cast has been made.

One man was killed and 30 persons were injured when a street car in Cincinnati ran away, struck a telegraph pole and turned turtle.

Rev. E. D. Eaton, pastor of the North Congregational church of St. Johnsbury, Vt., announced that he had decided to accept the invitation to return to Beloit college (Wisconsin), to resume the presidency of that institution.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science elected Prof. E. L. Nichols, of Cornell university, president, and selected Chicago as its next meeting place.

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered In the Gopher State

Aid for Chinese.

Minneapolis—The Minnesota Red Cross society is making an effort to meet the need of famine sufferers in China and has issued a call to the citizens of the state for contributions. Disastrous floods in China have rendered many people homeless and dire need is felt for food of every description. The United States consul at Shanghai has cabled the state department that conditions are continually growing worse and that many people are actually starving. An appeal has been made to President Roosevelt from a relief committee of foreign consuls and prominent men in Shanghai for flour and food supplies. The Red Cross society has taken up the work of collecting supplies which will be sent to China, with the consent of congress, on government transports. At the time of the San Francisco disaster the Chinese minister received $222,000 for relief fund only a portion of which, however, went to the relief of the Chinese in San Francisco. All contributions should be sent to Kenneth Clark, St. Paul, treasurer of the Minnesota branch of the National Red Cross society.

Good Showing.

A very material improvement in the state's finances is shown by the report of State Treasurer J. H. Block on the condition of the treasury at the close of business, the 31st. The report shows a cash balance of $536,499.15, while the revenue fund shows an overdraft of $171,295.30.

While there is an overdraft in the revenue fund, it is much smaller than that of a year ago, being $171,295.30, as compared with $419,083.77 last year. Another item which shows the relative condition of the finances of the state is the amount of auditor's warrants outstanding. On Jan. 1, 1906, these warrants amounted to $1,715,683.08, which, added to the overdraft of $419,083.77 in the revenue fund on that date makes a total deficit of $2,134,766.85. There has been during the year a reduction of nearly two-thirds in the amount of auditor's warrants outstanding, the amount in the banks yesterday being $597,502.85. This amount, added to the revenue fund overdraft as it stood yesterday, makes the deficit $768,798.15, a reduction of $1,365,968.70 in the deficit during the year. As these warrants are held by the banks and draw interest at the rate of 4 or 4½ per cent, the saving in the interest charge on this item is a very respectable sum.

A Busy Year.

St. Paul—The police court has had a prosperous year and the amount of business has increased materially over that of preceeding years. During the year 10,025 offenders stood before the judge, and of this number 1,477 were committed to the workhouse for an aggregate term of 30,530 days. There were 205 released from the workhouse on paying their fines.

A total of $29,166.50 was received from the criminal and civil branches of the court, of which $27,581 was contributed by the criminal branch. Of the money taken in $28,346.50 went to the city treasury and $370 to the state. There were 1,016 cases tried by the police court judges and there were seven jury trials. There were 593 people arrested on warrants and 5,820 summarily. There were 195 felonious offenses and 3,504 misdemeanors; 759 warrants were issued and 946 criminal complaints filed.

Buried Treasure.

Winona—No more buried treasure has been found on the farm of the late Lemuel Hill in the town of Pleasant Hill in this county, but it is believed that there is considerably still to be unearthed. Mr. Hill, an eccentric old bachelor, died last fall, and shortly after, several thousand dollars in cash and securities was found buried in the wheat in the granary. Mr. Hill had sold little grain for a number of years, and thousands of bushels had accumulated. To make room for the new crops each year, he has shoveled out hundreds of bushels on the ground around the granary, and much of this has spoiled. Many bushels of the grain under cover has been allowed to go to waste by becoming old and musty and not fit for sale.

That New County.

Bemidji—The newly organized county of Koochiching will not be hewed out of the northern portion of Itasca county and allowed to remain permanently as a self-governed "bailiwick" without overcoming serious obstacles in the line of contests and legal protests against the manner in which the establishing of the county was obtained.

A notice of contest has been filed with the clerk of court of Itasca county at Grand Rapids, in which allegations are made as to the legality of the recent election, which was declared to be in favor of the establishing of the new county of Koochiching.

News Notes.

Owatonna—The state convention of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian association, will be held in this city Feb. 7 to 10. It is estimated that between 400 and 500 delegates from all parts of the state will be in attendance, and among these will be many well-known church and college workers.

St. Paul—The firemen had a busy time of it last year and responded to 907 calls. During the year three serious fires occurred of which the Palace Clothing house fire in June was the worst.

Minneapolis—The state railway and warehouse commission issued an order debarring James Manahan from appearing before the commission.

Cokato—Mr. and Mrs. John P. Chelgren of this place, both at the age of seventy-one years, celebrated their golden wedding in this village.

Minneapolis—The state board of control will ask for an emergency appropriation of $335,500.

St. Paul—The district court issues an order for the Great Northern to show cause in the attorney's general's suit.

St. Cloud—Governor and Mrs. C. A. Gilman celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home here on New Year's day.

Battle Lake—At a special election held today the village of Battle Lake voted $8,000 bonds to buy an acetylene lighting plant and waterworks system for the village.

St. Paul—A blaze at 2:30 yesterday afternoon in a Christmas tree at the home of R. A. Alexander, 86½ Park place, called out the firemen. The furniture of the room was damaged to the extent of $100.

Grand Meadow—Peter M. Kerst, public examiner, today authorized the Exchange State Bank to begin business. The new bank has $25,000 capital and succeeds the Exchange bank, a private institution.

Minneapolis—Crime is decreasing in Minneapolis, the county jail people say. They base their opinion on the fact that only 500 prisoners have been behind the bars this year. In 1905 there were 529 entries on the jail lists.

St. Paul—Benny Cates, alias Tim Kelley, colored, was arrested by the police. He is charged with smashing the show window of C. E. Danneberg's fur store, 76 East Fifth street, Dec. 5, and making away with a lot of furs.

St. Paul—W. E. Williams, 989 North Seventh street, was struck by a switch engine in the Milwaukee yards at the South Side junction, early today, and painfully injured. He was thrown to one side of the track and his leg was fractured.

Eveleth—Matt Maki, a Finn employed as a laborer by the Drake & Stratton company in stripping operations at the Fayal mine, was instantly killed by a stone which was blown from a blast 500 feet away from where Maki was working.

St. Paul—George Brooks Young, a former associate justice of the state supreme court, died Sunday afternoon at his home, 324 Summit avenue. The end came suddenly in consequence of a severe cold contracted on a trip to New York a week ago.

St. Paul—Master Theodore, Miss Irene and Miss Alice, the triplets born to Mrs. Frank Blachowski, 469 Topping street, Oct. 28, passed their first Christmas engrossed in the occupation of absorbing nourishment and in sleeping.

St. Paul—Judge Hallam filed a decision in the case of the state against the Twin City Telephone company, holding that the payment by the company of its 3 per cent gross earnings tax exempts it from any other form of taxation on real estate used in its business.

Virginia—William Rantz, a brakeman on the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg road, is dead as a result of injuries received in making his first trip on the road. Rantz, who was twenty-four years old, came here a short time ago and secured a position as brakeman.

Fort Snelling—Gen. A. W. Greeley, acting commander of the department of Dakota, has remitted the unexpired portion of the sentence of Loren W. Chapman, who has been serving at Fort Snelling on an eighteen-month sentence for desertion. He had served about two-thirds of the sentence.

St. Paul—St. Paul had an exceptional year in 1906 so far as building operations are concerned. In fact, it was a record year, with the largest aggregate since the boom period back in the eighties. The building permits for 1906 aggregate $7,000,282, an increase of $809,223 over the figures in 1905.

Minneapolis—Several men and women living in apartments over the Custom laundry, on Sixth street south, narrowly escaped being suffocated late the other evening as a result of a fire that did about $500 damage to the laundry property. Luckily all were rescued before completely overcome by the dense smoke that filled their rooms.

Minneapolis—The aggregate cost of the buildings this year is $9,452,300, which is more than a half million ahead of the magnificent record made last year. These figures include only the actual cost of construction and do not cover the plumbing, heating and electrical permits, which will probably run over $1,000,000.

International Falls—Determined that this city shall not follow the example of other towns which during their mushroom growth have become hotbeds of vice and crime, and believing that the saloon is largely responsible for such conditions, the city council has passed an ordinance limiting the number of saloons to ten until the city shall have passed the 2,000 population mark.

Mankato—F. W. Johnson, quartermaster general on the governor's staff, was given a surprise at his home at New Ulm when a number of his friends gathered unannounced. Gen. Joseph Bobleter of the brigade staff was spokesman, and in a neat speech presented to Gen. Johnson a sword. The donors were of the general's immediate military and political friends, and after the presentation Mrs. Johnson entertained those present at luncheon. Gen. Johnson is a brother of Gov. John A. Johnson.

St. Paul—An increase of twenty-six deaths over last year is the record of the coroner's department for 1906, the total number of natural deaths and of a violent nature coming to the attention of Coroner Miller being 406, while the list for 1905 was 380.

Jesup—J. S. Beam was found dead in his stable by his wife. He was found lying face downward behind the horses, his right arm extended between the hind feet of one of the animals.

Battle Lake—Mrs. L. H. Herness was found dead in bed at her home in this village this morning. Death resulted from heart disease.

JAP YOUTH ON SCHOOLSHIP.

Will Get Thorough Training on an American Boat.

The first Japanese youth to be admitted to the crew of the schoolship St. Mary's is Katzern Artyoshi. Artyoshi, who is 17 years old, has been in the revenue cutter service on the Pacific for the last three years.

As it is necessary for all foreigners who wish to become members of the schoolship's crew to have a guardian, Artyoshi was forced to get one before he could be admitted to the crew. He succeeded in getting Capt. Osborn to act in that capacity. Capt. Osborn will coach the boy along and help him over the hard points in his lessons.

Artyoshi has not made up his mind yet whether he will remain in this country or go home to Japan after he has been graduated from the schoolship. A term on the schoolship fits a boy for service in the merchant marine. Artyoshi says he likes the United States and may stay here, but if Japan ever goes to war he will return home quickly as possible to take part in it.

ELEVEN YEARS OF ECZEMA.

Hands Cracked and Bleeding—Nail Came Off of Finger—Cuticura Remedies Brought Prompt Relief.

"I had eczema on my hands for about eleven years. The hands cracked open in many places and bled. One of my fingers was so bad that the nail came off. I had often heard of cures by the Cuticura Remedies, but had no confidence in them as I had tried so many remedies, and they all had failed to cure me. I had seen three doctors, but got no relief. Finally my husband said that we would try the Cuticura Remedies, so we got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent Pills. Of course I keep Cuticura Soap all the time for my hands, but the one cake of Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment cured them. It is surely a blessing for me to have my hands well, and I am very proud of having tried Cuticura Remedies, and recommend them to all suffering with eczema. Mrs. Eliza A. Wiley, R. F. D. No. 2, Liscomb, Iowa, Oct. 18, 1906."

Monarchs as Linguists.

Monarchs must know more than one language. King Edward, who traveled so much, speaks French better than some Frenchmen, and also German. The czar of Russia speaks French as well as his native tongue and knows the numerous dialects. Emperor William of Germany speaks French and English correctly, and is also well versed in Latin. The king of Spain, the youngest of all, speaks German with ease and also French and English. Because of his marriage he now practices the latter. The king of Portugal speaks French, English, German and Spanish. The king of Italy is a master of French and German and is also well versed in the various Italian dialects.

HAD THE ROBBER'S SYMPATHY.

Chivalrous Brigand Commiserated Woman's Life Partner.

Lancia, the noted Italian automobilist, was asked the other day if he did not think motor racing too dangerous.

"Dangerous—yes," M. Lancia replied. "Too dangerous—no. For nothing that benefits mankind—and automobiles benefit mankind inexpressibly—is too dangerous for a man to undertake.

"I have a good deal of contempt for men who are not brave to the point of rashness. I am like a highwayman who held up a gasoline runabout on the outskirts of Rome.

"This highwayman stopped the runabout with a shot in the air. Then he ran forth from the tomb that had concealed him—the hold-up happened on the Appian Way—and found, to his surprise, only a woman in the little car.

"'Where, madam, is your husband?' he demanded, sternly and suspiciously.

"'He's under the seat,' she answered, flushing.

"'Then,' said the highwayman, 'I won't take nothing. It's had enough to have a husband like that without being robbed into the bargain.'"

POSTUM CEREAL CO., LTD.

Guarantee On Their Products.

We warrant and guarantee that all packages of Postum Cereal, Grape-Nuts and Elijah's Manna hereafter sold by any jobber or retailer, comply with the provisions of the National Pure Food Law, and are not and shall not be adulterated or mis-branded within the meaning of said Act of Congress approved June 30, 1906, and entitled, "An act for preventing the manufacture, sale or transportation of adulterated or mis-branded or poisonous or deleterious foods, drugs, medicines, liquors, and for regulating traffic therein for other purposes."

POSTUM CEREAL CO., LTD.
C. W. POST, Chairman,
Battle Creek, Mich.

Dec. 12, 1906.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of December, 1906.

BENJAMIN F. REM,
Notary Public.

My commission expires July 1, 1907.

Our goods are pure, they always have been and always will be, they are not mis-branded. We have always since the beginning of our business, printed a truthful statement on the packages of the ingredients contained therein and we stand back of every package.

FIRST STATE CAPITOL.

BIRTHPLACE OF WISCONSIN IS STILL STANDING.

Erection of Imposing Structure at Madison Recalls Humble Building Where Territorial Administration Was Organized.

Madison, Wis.—Wisconsla's new capitol will be a sumptuous structure compared with the building the state fathers occupied when they gathered in legislative session ia 1848. The development of the great commonwealth is shown in the required amplification of its statehouse. The legislature of Wisconsin has far outgrowa the modest little building which at the time of its erection was considered the finest of its kind. It has demands that the enlarged capitol could not meet, and so the old will give place to the new.

Work on the new structure is being rapidly pushed, and at the meeting of December 27 specimens of the best grades of building material for the outside walls were submitted by Architect Post.

In the early days many towns were anxious to have the capitol building located within their limits, and many a bitter contest was waged over its location. None of the seventeen applicants succeeded in securing it. A town was laid out especially adapted to its needs, a site unrivaled in natural beauty by any Wisconsin towa.

The location of the present state capitol was selected by James D. Doty in 1836, and in December of that year when the legislature coavened at Belmont, an act was passed to establish the statehouse at Madison. There were many reasons why this site was selected, and chief among them was the central location. Milwaukee, Green Bay and the lead mining region in the southwestern part of the state were the principal centers of immigration and of activity, so in selecting Madison the distance from any one of the points would be about equal. The Wisconsin territory had belonged to the Michigan tract. It was partitioned and organized at Mineral Point July 1, 1836, into the territory of Wisconsin. The first legislative body met at Belmont and there was a long struggle as to where the capitol of the new state would be permanently located. Seventeen towns desired it and each had inducements to offer. Fond du Lac, Dubuque, Portage, Helena, Milwaukee, Racine, Belmont, Mineral Point, Green Bay, Platteville, Cassville, Belleview, Koshkonong, Wisconsinapolis, Wisconsin City, Peru and Madison. Some of these towns were, ns yet, not laid out, but their promoters had hopes for them if the capitol was erected at the point advocated.

It was decided that the permanent structure would be at Madison and a commission consistlag of James D. Doty, A. A, Bird and John O'Neil was appointed by the government to begin work at once. On July 4, 1837, ths cornerstone was laid with ceremonies appropriate to the occasion. The legislature of Wisconsin met for the first time at Madison in 1838, hut, as the capitol buildiag was not at that tima in a suitable condition for occupation the session was held in the hasement of the American house, where tha annual message of the goveraor, Henry Dodge, was delivered. During 1836 and 1837 the national government appropriated $40,000 for the capitol building, Dane county $4,000, and the territorial legislatura about $16,000, making the complete cost $60,000. The building, when finished, was a substantial structure, which in architectural design and convenience of arraagement compared favorably with capitols of the adjacent states.

First Legislative Hall of Wisconsin.

Tho building was enlarged from time to time to provide for the growing wants of the state.

In 1904 n portion of the north wing and the greater part of the laterior of the capitol was destroyed by fire.

The first legislative hall of Wisconsin is still standing and there are many earnest people in the state who are pleading for its restoration, or at least, to have it saved from the desecration it is at present subjected to. At the time when the first legislative body sat in conference, the building was a story and a half frame house, battlement fronted. It was at the meeting in this humble place that the territorial administration was organized, the territory divided into counties, county seats established, ways and means of borrowing moaey discussed. This birthplace of the great state of Wisconsin must always be of interest to its citizens, who can never forget the wisdom and forethought of the pioneers who, meeting to establish a great commonwealth, laid the foundatioas for the good of posterity. The old building at Belmont is perhaps nothing more to many than any other old landmark, but to the earnest-minded it stands for something more.

Woman on Hospital Board.

Unique Distinction Held bp Miss Bullard of Virginia.

Richmond, Va.—Dr. Irene B. Bullard of Radford, recently appointed by the general hospital board as third assistant physician at the Eastern State

Dr. Irene B. Bullard.
(Southern Girl Who Has Had An Unusual Career.)

Hospital for the Insane at Williamsburg, is the only woman physician in the state nnd probably in the south holding a responsible official position under a state government in n professional capacity as a doctor of medicine. Dr. Bullard, who is yet in her twenties, looks younger than her years. Her social standing is so high and her beauty so marked that she could long since have blossomed into a belle, but she would have none of it. She has been a bookworm from n child, devouring subjects far beyond her years, while other girls were yet with their dolls and their toys.

Dr. Bullard gradunted from Wadsworth high school, Radford, where she was born and reared, at an early age. She attended a school at Madison, Wis., afterward taking the professional course at Farmville, teaching three years in the public schools of Pulaski after her gradution. But the science of medicine, to which the child had been attracted, now lured the girl, and, broadening her studies as her years ndvanced, she in timo obtained her degree as a doctor of medicine. To achieve this end she became a trained nurse, practicing her profession at tho bedside of her patients for several years with great success.

Dr. Bullard is the youngeat daughter of Mrs. Meta G. Bullard, and the late Daniel Bullard, who settled in Virginia prior to the civil war. Though a native born Virginian, she comes from Puritan stock, uniting the energy and progressive traits of the Yankee with the warm-heartedness and generous impulsiveness of the south.

IN MEMORY OF THOMAS MOORE.

Artistic Celtic Cross Erected on His Grave in England.

London.—Recently in the churchyard of Bromham, Wiltshire, England, the Celtic cross shown in the illustration, which stands over the grave of Thomas Moore, the renowned Irish poet, was unveiled with imposing ceremonies. Thousanda nttended the ceremonies and green flags and scrolls bearing quotations from the "Irish Melodies" were abundantly in evidence. Among the speakers were Justin McCarthy and John Dillon, M. P. Moore was born in Dublin on May 28, 1779, and died nt Bromham on the 25th of February, 1852. His famous "Irish Melodiea" were published between the yeara 1807 and 1834.

The Memorial to Moore.

HIS GENTLE REMINDER.

Dinner had heen cleared away, and the head of the establishment was trying to settle down to the evenlag paper, while his wife busied herself with some fancy work, and at the same time endeavored to interest him in the gossip of the neighborhood.

"Mary," said the sorely-tired man at last, glancing up from his paper, "did you ever hear the story of the precious gems?"

"Why, no," she replied. "What is it?"

"It's a fairy legend that my grandmother told me when I was a hoy," he continued. "It was about a woman from whose lips fell a diamond or a ruby for every word she spoke."

"Well?" said his wife, as he paused.

"That's all there is of it, my dear," he replied. "But I was just thinking, if such things happened nowadsys, I'd open a jeweler's shop first thing in the morning."

And this is wby, for nearly four whola minutes, silenca rsigaed supreme.

A Reporter Knocked Out.

Reporter (breathlessly)—The people say there has been n suicida here.

Landlady—Yes; a young woman—Ann Blank.

Reporter (rapidly writes)—"Miss Annie Blank, the young and beautiful daughter of——." Who was her father?

Landlady—Mr. A. Z. Blank, of Chicago.

Reporter (continues writing)—"A. Z. Blank, of Chicago, killed herself at her boarding house, No. 1234 909th street, yesterday, because—" What did she kill herself for?

Landlady—Because she was so homely.—N. Y. Weekly.

SO DID HE.

Edith—I do so admire a man who says the right thing at the right time.

Harold—So do I—especially whea I'm thirsty.

Different.

He'd hear her voice by telephone
From early morn till night,
And in his mind had conjured up
A vision of delight;
But when they met he found her not
A "vision," but a "sight."
—Houston Post.

A Juvenile Taste Explained.

Little Boy—Our cook has gone away, and I'm awful glad. Now mamma will have to make the cake, and mamma's cake is always heavy.

Guest—Well, I declare! Do you prefer heavy cake?

Little Boy—Yes'm. You get more chewin' in one piece.—N. Y. Weekly.

Wanted to Know.

"I hope," said the fond parent kindly, "that you fully realize the value of the prize you are getting in my daughter."

"I can't say that I do," replied the young man. "What is she worth in round figures?"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Playground Knowledge.

Teacher—What are parallel lines?—Micky Mulherry, what nre you grinning at?

Micky Mulberry—'Scuse me, Miss Sharpe, but any loidy might make de same mistake;—yer means parallel bars, don't yer?—Puck.

Deeply Stirred.

Deacon Drybones (enthusiastically)—Does not this congregational singing stir you up?

Prof. Note (n musician)—Stir me up? Indeed it does. Makes me swear.—N. Y. Weekly.

As to An Acquaintance.

Blanche—Well, he likes to hear her sing. Music ia the food of love, I suppose.

Belle—Hm! I should think love would be more or less in danger of dyapepsia.—Puck.

He Tried It Once.

"What made your husband'a hair turn so gray? He's still a young man. Wns it the result of some terrible fright?"

"No. He once tried to have a house built."—Judge

Started In For Himself.

Acquaintance—Were you ever buncoed?

Skinflint—Was I? Why I was buncoed ao many times that it taught me the game.—Detroit Free Press.

After an Explosion.

De Style—Does your auto cover much ground.

Gunbusta—One of them did. Why, parts of it were found in three different counties.—N. Y. Times.

PROUD OF HIM.

The young man felt that he was in love, and wisely decided to consult his father in the matter.

"She's heautiful, of course?" said the old gentleman, after hearing his son and heir's confession.

"Oh, father, she's—"

"Never mind that," interrupted the old gentleman. "I know it all. Good family?"

"One of the hest in the city," exclaimed the young man. "Why, her father, when he was alive, was—"

"Father dead?" interrupted the old gentleman again.

"Yes. She's an orphan."

"Um—well, that's no fault of hers. Have you stopped to think how you will provide for her?"

"Oh, hut she's rich, father!" exclaimed the young man, joyfully. "She's worth $100,000 in her own right."

The old man shook his head doubtfully.

"Never marry a girl for money, my boy," he said. "You'll be sorry if you do."

"But, father—"

"Never marry a girl for money," repeated the old gentleman, meditatively. "It makes more trouble in this world than anything else. But," he added, suddenly brightening up, "if you can love a girl who has monay, do it, my son, do it!"

"I can, father, I can!" exclaimed the young man.

"My hoy, I am proud of you."

Lesson From the Past.

Noah Webster was compiling his spelling book.

"I want to get spelling reform on the market," he said, "before Andy Karnaygy and Brandy Matthewa get to monkeying with the language."

Wherenpon he began with feverish haste to scratch the "u" out of "favour," "honour," and other words of like orthography, thereby achieving a clean scoop on the authors of tha 300 amended spellings.—Chicago Tribune.

The Ruling Passion.

Wild-Eyed Lover—This is your last chance, Cold Beauty. Speak quickly. Do you see that can? It's full of dynamite. Promise to marry me, or I will touch it off.

Cold Beauty—Will you promise to keep me in hetter style than that horrid Miss Pert is going to live in when she marries Mr. De Rich?

"Impossible!".

"Touch it off."—N. Y. Weekly.

After the Honeymoon.

"Dear me!" exclaimed the hride of a month, as she glanced out of the parlor window. "There goes the old locksmith. We haven't paid him for mending our hell."

"Oh, what's the use?" chuckled her husband.

"What's the use?"

"Yes; you know 'love laughs at locksmiths.'"—Chicago Daily News.

Thrift.

Manager—How many of these 15-cent ladies' hose have we in stock?

Salesman—Four pairs, sir.

Manager—Then advertise a special sale on them at five cents a pair, and when we run out we'll offer the hungry moh our 12-cent hose at 19 cents a pair. The hose-buying public must he accommodated at any cost.—Judge.

ALL AROUND.

Helen—So it was a cross-country chase?

Harry—I should say so. Everybody was cross when we struck the mud and the farmers were cross when we struck their fences.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Quickest Way.

To telephone or telegraph
Is always futile labor;
If you'd spread news just notify
Your wife to teleneighbor.
—Puck.

The Motive.

Sallie—Now that I have moved into your neighborhood, you must tell me where to go to church.

Alice—Well, I prefer St. Luke's for choir and St. Lucre's for curates.—N. Y. Times.

Served the Purpose.

Idlers—Our family physician told father that I must have exercise and air.

Chum—What did your father do; buy you a riding horse?

Idlers—Not much! He got me a job as mail carrier.—Detroit Free Press.

The Easiest Way.

Editor—What is that Polish anarchist's name?

Reporter — It's Czolydsklovitchpetrolfwidzheimerakiovitch.

Editor—That's enough. Call him 'Pi-Line' for short.—Judge.

Nervousness Increasing

Rich and Poor Are Alike Afflicted in These Strenuous Times--Excessive Worry the Most Common Cause of Breakdown.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

The prevalence of nervous disease cannot ha ignored by anyone who is familiar with social conditions in America. Both women and men are sufferers from n malady that creeps on them stealthily and pounces on its victims as a beast springs from ambush. The nervous patient apparently breaka down suddenly, but in reality the diaease has heen making its gradual approach with steps so alow and symptoma so slight that they have been unnoticed by family and friends, and have often escaped the vigilant eye of the physician.

It is no longer an extraordinary occurrenca in life to be obliged to spend a period of retirement at a rest cure or a sanitarium, and the people who require treatment for nerves are of no class or special degree of culture. They include men of brilliant ability, famous at the bar, on the hench and in the pulpit; women of fashion and aristocratic hreeding at one end of the scale, and at the other they number hard-working laborers, toiling at a grinding and monotonous task for a small daily wage, and the wives of farmers and workingmen to whom the excitement of the social whirl are unknown.

Among the victims of nervous disease are thosa who can afford to pay princely sums for medical skill and professional nursing. In the retreats to which they go they nre encompassed with gentle ministries and receive constant and sedulous care. When the pendulum swings the other way and it is in the home of decent poverty that nervousness binds a sufferer in chains there are pitiful instances of distress because of the lack of money. A few months ago an honest man, earning a regular but small income, knocked in vain at the doors of n dozen institutions. He was willing and anxious to pay a sum in accordance with his means for the relief of his suffering wife, but there was not a hospital open to one lika her. Of course, there are state asylums and hospitals to which people are consigned, and where they may receive scientific treatment without cost to themselves, hut there are thousands of self-respectiag and independent families living on small incomes who would rather see their dear ones in the grave than in a public and charitable institution.

* * * * *

What are the causes that explain the increase of nervous disease? They are not far to seek. A common and frequent beginning of nervousness is excessive worry. When anyone is under a continual strain, no matter what its nature, there is injury to the physical and mental fabric to an extent that means mischief in due time.

Doubtless, most of us worry too much over trifles. Little things vex our souls and harass our patience. Larger thinga dwell upon our strength, too, and the burden grows greater than we can lift or carry. A good deal of worry would he prevented could we gain our own consent to live in the present and dismiss undue anxiety about the future. It is not today that wears us out half so often as it is to-morrow. We are afraid that the house will take fire or the children have scarlet fever or whooping cough, or the money prove insufficient for the demands upon it, or that a lad may lose his situation, or a girl be unable to get through college. We spend an enormous amount of our capital stock of wholesome vigor in worrying about possible accidents and casualtiea, and we drift into a state of chronic morbidness or melancholy, after which comes the deluge.

The attempt to do too many things nt once or to do a single thing too well and with too much painstaking is another prolific aource of nervousness. Overwork la responsible for countless ills. We might almost call overwork a national sin. The temptation to it ia in the air we breathe. Idleness is everywhere regarded as a deep disgrace, for we have inherited a strenuous drop of hlood from those who earliest sought these shores.

To keep the balance even between work and play is difficult for the majority. Any effort to reduce the hours of a working day so that there shall be space left for nmusement and recreation, as well as for healthful sleep, is a movement in the right direction. It ought not to be forgotten that the men and women who work hardest and are most frequently spendthrifts of vitality nre not those at the bottom of the ladder, but those at the top. The man who worka with his brain is more likely to drain his vitality by continued overwork than the man who digs a trench or wields a hammer.

Overwork depresses vitality, and wasted vitality is a forerunner of nervous disease and sometimes of mental derangement. Many a life has been nervously wrecked and many a promising career effectually checked by recourse to stimulants and narcotics. Morphia in its various forms spells ruin to those who indulge in its perilous ease from pain. It is more to be dreaded and its clutch upon the system is more deadly than the pernicious effects of alcoholic stimulation. The inebriate has n better chance for the recovery of health and the rehabilitation of self-respect than has the victim of morphine poisoning. The latter directly saps both energy and morality and undermines not only the will but the sense of delicacy and tha ordinary regard for truth. It strikes a hlow at ethics and paralyses integrity.

Victima of morphia in a more or less hopeless condition of exhausted nerves are found in every rest cure, and although they are occasionally rescued, a large percentage finally drift iuto imbecility or violent insanity.

Patients tortured hy neuralgia or racked hy extreme pain are soothed by a physician's prescription that for the time may afford relief and do no permanent harm. But when next pain has them in its tormenting grasp they do not send for the doctor, but take the drug at their own volition. Little by little they increase the dose. The hypodermic syringe, so swift and magical in its potency, has been a fatal instrument in the hands alike of men and women who have discovered how speedily it conquers physical anguish and gives blessed and blissful relief.

It would he hetter to set the teeth and endure the torment than to accept ease from the little puncture that in the end may meau something worse than pain.

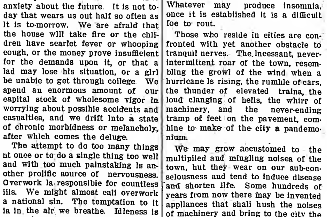
Insomnia, itself a result of the excitement and urgency of our present mode of life, is another fruitful and familiar occasion of nervous disease. To lie awake hour after hour, and night after night, to hear the clock strike while the mind ranges over everything past, present and future, that can promote wakefulness, to find every device futile and to stay stubbornly alert when drowsiness flies the pillow, all this is to say good-hy to healthful and equal poise of nerves. Whatever may produce insomnia, once it is established it is a difficult foe to rout.

Those who reside in cities are confronted with yet another obstacle to tranquil nerves. The incessant, never-intermittent roar of the town, resembling the growl of the wind when a hurricane is rising, the rumhle of cars, the thunder of elevated traina, the loud clanging of hells, the whirr of machinery, and the never-ending tramp of feet on the pavement, combine to make of the city a pandemonium.

We may grow accustomed to the multiplied and mingling noisea of the town, hut they wear on our sub-consciousness and tend to induce disease and shorten life. Some hundreds of years from now there may be invented appliances that shall hush the noises of machinery and bring to the city the sweet stillness of a summer field in the morning. In tbat day nervous maladies may perhaps be unknown.

(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Pretty Bonnet for Little Girl



This very pretty little bonnet may be made in silk, velvet, or fine cloth; the latter la especially nice, aa there nre often pieces left from making the coat that will come in just the thing for the honnet. The head-band of our model la covered with lace, hut it might he emhroidered, or be of velvet. The edge of crown la gathered and aewn to thia head-band, which must be lined with silk. A amall tip of ostrich feather la sewn at each side, and ribbon is sewn to each end of head-band to fasten it by.

Used in millions of homes

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

It is put up under the supervision of a competent chemist, from the finest materials possible to select, insuring the user light, wholesome, easily digested food. Therefore, CALUMET is recommended by leading physicians and chemists.

Perfect in Quality
Economical in Use
Moderate in Price

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect. Therefore, Calumet leaves no Rochelle Salts or Alum in the food. It is chemically correct. "For your stomach's sake" use Calumet. For economy's sake buy Calumet.

$1,000.00 given for any substance injurious to health found in Calumet.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

The name of Johnson is certainly one to conjure with in Minnesota. There are eight Johnsons in the legislature this winter, and one Johnston. The Senate will have Senators C. A. Johnson of St. Peter, Victor L. Johnson of Center City and James Johnson of Bertha. The house will have six Johnsons on its roll call, A. G. Johnson of 33rd district, St. Paul, A. W. Johnson of Litchfield, C. E. Johnson, J. C. Johnson of Albert Lea, J. T. Johnson of Fergus Falls, and L. H. Johnson of Minneapolis.

On Decmeber 27th attorneys for and against Mahnomen county were given an opportunity to state their views before Gov. Johnson. Simon Michelet, Gust Beaulieu, Rev. Beaulieau and Atty. Hendricks of Fosston argued against the proposition and Editor Wigham and Atty. J. T. VonMetre of Mahnomen urged that the proclamation announcing the new county be issued. The main objection raised by the Michelet party was that the reservation did not contain the required 2000 inhabitants. On advice of attorney general the Governor decided that he would not go back of the census figures and immediately issued his proclamation proclaiming Mahnomen county. The court is now Michelet's only recourse.

Forty North Dakota towns are short of fuel and the outlook for relief is anything but encouraging. In the country districts farmers are burning fences, straw, sheds and lumber and many of them are taking their families to town where they can place them in hotels, although the situation is found to be as desparing in the towns as elsewhere. Daily appeals for relief are sent to the officials of the different railroads and the Interstate Commerce commission with but little response in the way of actual relief. The situation is indeed desperate and it is high time that the government take matter in hand and see that special coal trains are run until some relief is obtained. While the railroads claim to be doing all in their power to transport fuel to the famine districts they fail to deliver carload after carload of coal that has been on the road twenty, thirty and forty days.

Dig That Ditch Out.

Editor Hunt of the Sunbeam, believes that the problem of draining some of the wet portion of the reservations could be successfully solved by deepening the channel of the Red Lake river, and in referring to the matter says:

Sec. 5, of the Steenerson drainage bill reads as follows:

"That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized and directed to use the drainage reclamation fund for the operation and maintenance of all ditches, canals, embankments, dikes, structures, or reservoirs constructed under the provisions of this Act, and for straightening, deepening, and enlarging natural water courses as to make them serve as efficient drainage outlets."

If the government engineers could be at a point about 1½ miles above Highlanding next spring and see the waters of the Red Lake river starting across the country through Deer Park township and finally reaching the Clearwater river, they would certainly conclude that the channel of the Red Lake river needed deepening to take care of the water during the flood season. It is not the water that does not run into this river that does the most damage, but the water that runs out of it.

Timely Data For The New Year.

Data of general interest concerning the year 1907 has been made up. Four eclipses of the sun and moon are scheduled for this year. These eclipses and the transis of Mercury across the surface of the sun will be visible to all but the eastern part of the United States. The first eclipse will occur on Jan. 14. It will be a total eclipse of the sun and will be visible to North America. The next eclipse will be on January 29. This will be a partial eclipse of fair Luna and will be visible here. As it will occur early in the morning, starting at 6:06, it will require early rising to view it. The next to occur will be an eclipse of the son on July 10, also visible to North America. Another partial eclipse of the moon is scheduled for July 24, and will occur in the evening, visible in this territory. This latter will probably be the most interesting eclipse of the year, and will start at 9:04 o'clock in the evening. The moon will not leave the shadow until 11:41 o'clock. Easter Sunday comes early, being on March 31, which brings all the other Easter days early also. March 24 is Palm Sunday, and Good Friday comes on March 29. February 17 is the first Sunday in Lent.

The Word "Tar."

Why is the word "tar" a synonym for "sailor?" Some dictionaries say that the allusion is to the seamen's tarry hands and clothes—the "savour of tar" of Stephano's song in "The Tempest." Burns uses "tarryhreeks" as equivalent to "sailor." But it is regarded as much more probable that "tar" is short for "tarpaulin," since Clarendon and other writers colloquially use "tarpaulin" to signify a seaman. Of course, this ultimately gets back to tar, a tarpaulin being a tarred "palling," or covering (the same word as "pall").

Sure of His Choir.

A peppery New England parson who was disturbed by his choir during prayer time got even with them when he gave out his closing hymn by adding, "I hope the entire congregation will join in singing their grand old hymn, and I know the choir will, for I heard them humming it during the prayer."

Weak Lungs
Bronchitis

For over sixty years doctors have endorsed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds, weak lungs, bronchitis, consumption. You can trust a medicine the best doctors approve. Then trust this the next time you have a hard cough.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of
SARSAPARILLA.
PILLS.
HAIR VIGOR.

Ayer's

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Ayer's Pills keep the bowels regular. All vegetable and gently laxative.

IN JANUARY SESSION

County Commissioners Holding Important Meeting of the Year--Three Days' Grind.

The board of county commissioners of Red Lake county met at the office of the county auditor Tuesday afternoon, to hold the important business session of the year.

The first business up was the election of a chairman, and Commissioner Lindquist of the First district was chosen, Commissioner Demann being named as vice-chairman.

The bonds of the newly elected officers were all accepted and they were duly sworn in and took up their new duties.

Dr. Cummings, of St. Hilaire, and Commissioners Aubol and Demann were named as the county board of health for the ensuing year.

The auditor, county attorney and chairman of the board were named as the purchasing committe for the ensuing year.

The salary of County Superintendent McAnulty was fixed at $1250 for the ensuing two years. The salary of the superintendent has heretofore been $1050, with additional allowances for expenses of travelling, etc., but this term he will receive $1250 and must pay his own expenses. In addition to this he will be entitled to the sum of $50 for institute work. Mr. McAnultuy has done much good work for the schools during his term in office, at a considerable expense to himself, and the board deemed it proper that he should be allowed more money with which to continue his good work.

The board examined the books of Ex-county Treasurer Hansen and found the same correct.

The township of Polk Center was allowed the sum of $75 from the road and bridge fund to aid in bridge and road work.

The petition of A. Bergdal, of Mayfield, to be set off from school district No. 36 to district No 25 was granted. A. C. Mayfield was present and opposed the granting of the petition, but the board refused to listen to the opposition.

A new school district was formed in Smiley, to be known as the Casper Weiner district.

The day of the hearing on the petitions of John L. Rodniechl and Henry Hansen for new school districts on the reservations was set for the next meeting.

The petition of Frank Larage for a new reservation school district was granted.

The bids for wood were all rejected and the auditor was instructed to procure 45 cords of green poplar wood at a cost not to exceed $2.75 per cord.

B. H. Costello was named as assessor for assessment district No. 1.

Tom Green was allowed $11.60 on a judgment against the county. It appears that some buggies belonging to another party were assessed to Mr Green, and on suit brought to collect the county won. The original owner afterward paid the amount, and Mr. Green recovered from the county on a judgment.

The auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for the placing of proper piers under the new Louisville bridge, and was instructed to correspond with W. F. Murphy, of Minneapolis, regarding the matter. The original site for the bridge was changed on the application of said Murphy, with the understanding that he was to take care of the expense incurred, and he will be asked to comply with his agreement.

The county attorney was allowed the sum of $250 as a contingent fund.

The bid of H. E. Ives to do the county printing of Red Lake county for the ensuing year was allowed. Publication of all official matters will be made in the papers at Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire, Plummer and Red Lake Falls.

The town of Louisville was allowed the sum of $150 from the road and bridge fund to aid in building a bridge between section 10 and 15.

The board is this afternoon wrestling with a big bunch of bills, and will probably adjourn this evening.

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours
Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date
Give me a call.

MAKING NEW CITIZENS

Conditions Imposed By Congress Are More Exacting Than Old Law.

Clerk of Court C. W. Johnson is expecting to receive the full quota of blanks and naturalization forms according to the new law which was passed last June, together with a copy of the laws and regulations governing admission to right of American citizenship. Naturalization papers were issued during the fall term of court according to the old law which was passed in 1902. This law placed many restrictions to the naturalization law which was in effect prior to that date, but the new law is much stricter. According to the provisions of the new law the applicant for naturalization must file declaration of his intention to become a citizen after he has become a resident of this country for not less than two years. In this declaration the applicant must set forth his name, age, occupation, personal description, weight, height, color of hair, eyes, complexion, etc., his place of birth, his last foreign residence, his allegiance, the name if possible of the vessel in which he came to this country and renounce by name all allegiance to any prince, potentate or sovereignty whatever. Not less than two years or more than five years after the declaration of intention has been filed before the clerk of court must then make his application for citizenship. If married he must state the name of his wife, and the place of her nativity as well as the names of all the children. A few exceptions are made. If an applicant for naturalization papers has served in the United States army or navy and has been honorably discharged, and can show his discharge and prove a residence of one year in this country papers can be granted to him. No Chinese are to be admitted as citizens under any circumstances whatever. Heavy fines and penalties are imposed for any infractions of this law or any part. The clerk is required to make a quarterly report of all applications rejected and a quarterly statement of all fees collected. The fees are $1.00 on the filing of declaration, $2 when application is made for final papers, and $2 when the papers are granted. Half of the fee is retained by the clerk, and half forwarded to the bureau of immigration and naturalization.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the City Hall, January 3rd, 1907.

Meeting called to order by Vice President Hennemuth

Roll called.

Aldermen all present except Brady and Borchers.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

On motion unanimously carried the following bills were allowed:

Julius Keibl, for street work..		$12 00
do	do	6 00
do	do	4 50
John Deforge	do	8 25
do	do	18 16
J. A. Duffy, services on board of Equalization		9 00

The bid of J. C. Wilkinson for services as physician and health officer was laid on the table.

The report of the street commissioner was read and ordered placed on file.

On motion meeting adjourned.

H. Hennemuth, Vice-President.

Approved this 9th day of January, A. D., 1906.

J. A. Duffy, Mayor.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin,
City Clerk.

Badger

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker entertained a few friends at their home Sunday.

M. Quesnell and wife pleasantly spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Demerais.

Francois LaBissoniere transacted business at Red Lake Falls Saturday.

Jos. Page and sister, Miss Mary, of Gentilly township, accompanied by their niece, Miss Cora Trudeau, also of that place, were visitors at the Donna Laurent home over Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Telesphore Robillard and sons, Maurice, Walter and Ernest, of Red Lake Falls, spent last week visiting their relatives and many Badger friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis St. Ives spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Donna Laurent.

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Ducharme of Crookston visited at the home of their uncle Jos. Ducharme last week.

Telesphore Ducharme and sister, Miss Annie drove to the Falls Saturday last on a business mission.

Bray.

Mostly everybody is providing himself with a pair of skis so as to be able to keep on top of the deep snow.

Elmer Burkee of St. Hilaire, came out last Sunday after two weeks Xmas vacation, to start his school in Dist. 180.

A debate was held in the school house last Friday eve, the subject discussed was, "Resolved, That woman should have the right to vote for any office in the U. S." The defenders of the rights of the fairer sex carried off the victory.

C. P. Swanson transacted business at St. Hilaire Monday.

C. A. Lindquist went to Red Lake Falls last Monday to take charge of his office as county commissioner for this district.

Oscar Swanson commenced school in Dist. 90 last Monday after two weeks Xmas vacation.

A number of young people from Bray took in the New Year dance at Wylie Monday evening.

E. L. Quist of Thief River Falls was in Bray last Sunday.

Albert Anderoon drove to St. Hilaire Monday.

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.---First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

YOU CAN SAVE

A checking account will not only help you spend your money economically, but it will also help you to save money systematically.

When you have a record of every cent you pay out (which you will have, if you pay by check) you will be more careful of your expenditures.

A checking account gives you a complete record of every cent you spend. You get a receipt for each bill paid. You have safety for your funds and convenience for your business transactions.

PAY BY CHECK.

The Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.
A Minnesota State Depository.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞ House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

5,000 Rifles SENT NO MONEY

FREE TO BOYS

Just send us your name and address so that we may tell you how to get this fine rifle Absolutely FREE.

YOU CAN HAVE ONE

As we are going to give away 5,000 of them. We mean it, every word, and this is an honest, straightforward offer, made by an upright business firm who always do exactly as they agree. All we ask is that you do a few minutes work for us. It is so very easy that you will be surprised. This Handsome Rifle is not a toy air rifle, but is a genuine steel, blue barrel, hunting rifle, that is strong, accurate and safe and carries a 22 calibre long or short cartridge. If you want a fine little hunting rifle, just write and ask us for particulars. They are free and you will surely say it's the best offer you ever saw or heard of.

BE SURE and WRITE AT ONCE before the 5,000 rifles are all gone, as the boys are taking them fast. Address

Peoples Popular Monthly,
567 Arcade Building,
DES MOINES, IOWA.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Our Hardware Stock Is Now Complete .....

We have been busy the past few days receiving new stock and getting it in shape for your inspection at any time. We have restocked our store with new goods of standard make and manufacture and offer them to you at prices that are consistent with first-class material and square dealing. We will be pleased to have all our old customers and many new ones call at our store, and you can rest assured that you will always find the prices right, the goods up to a high standard of quality, and that, as in the past, every courtesy possible will be extended to the trade.

Keen Kutter Axes & Tools, Wilson Air-Tights, Syracuse Easy Washers, Standard Tinware and Enameledware, etc. etc.

Hunt Hardware Co.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, ... it is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than anyother. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

Will Hunt returned to Minneapolis last evening, after his visit here.

Just received a car of Hocking Valley soft coal. See Salley for your supply.

P. O. Floan was an over-night visitor at Crookston Monday on some business matters.

Mike McCarthy, the well-known Gand man, spent Saturday and Sunday in the city.

Miss Mayme Erickson left Saturday evening for Fergus Falls, to again take up her teaching duties.

County Surveyor J. K. Wood came down Monday evening to qualify as successor to himself Tuesday.

A social dancing party was given at the K. of P. hall last Thursday evening, which was attended by a large crowd.

The following letters remain uncalled at the postoffice at Red Lake Falls for the week ending Jan. 5, 1907: Jno. Plass, Jay Payne.

S. T. Johnson came down from Thief River Falls Monday evening to be sworn in as court commissioner of Red Lake county on Toesday.

Sheriff Dan Linnihan returned Friday from a visit at Big Falls, where he spent a couple of days last week on business in his official capacity.

Joseph Houle left Monday evening for Stephen, after a week's visit here, to spend a few days before retorning to his home at Gilby, North Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moreau, of Mentor, spent Monday in the city with relatives, and looked over some property near here with a view of purchasing

S. M. Sivertson went down to Atwater, Willmar and other points last Friday on a business mission in the interests of the Red Lake Falls Milling company.

Maurice Miller, of Black River, the Polk county agent for the Watkins Remedy company, spent Tuesday and yesterday in the city on some business matters.

President Garceau, of the First State Bank, was confined to his home a couple of days this week with a severe cold, but is again able to be at his post in the bank.

Will Hunt came up from Minneapolis Saturday to spend a week or so with his parents and many friends hereaway. Will is still employed with a big wholesale hardware firm at Minneapolis, and is doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Belair rejoice in the arrival of a fine new baby girl at their home last Friday. It is unnecessary to state that the new arrival was most warmly welcomed by the happy parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harlow came home Friday evening from their honeymoon visit with relatives at Thief River Falls and other north points. Mr. Harlow will complete his term of school out east, but it is understood that he expects to locate elsewhere next spring. Mr. Harlow is well liked by the people of Red Lake Falls and they would be pleased to see him locate here permanently.

School opened Monday.

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

Mrs. Conrad Lajambe is on the grippe list this week.

Tella Morin returned Monday from a week's pleasore trip at the Twin cities.

Wanted—A girl for general house work. Inquire of Mrs. S. M. Siverton, north side.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

"Bad Bill" Ittner departed Monday evening for Minneapolis to resume his work at the varsity.

Miss Ella Krueger visited with relatives at Crookston from Friday evening until Monday morning.

Anthony Paradis left Monday evening for Collegeville to resume his work at St. John's university.

Miss Lulu Fletcher left last Friday for Ely, to resume her work as teacher in the public schools there.

Frank and Chas. Brady returned to Minneapolis Monday evening to re-enter the U, after a holiday lay-off.

Ralph Healy and Joe Toupin left Saturday for Minneapolis to again take up their work at the varsity.

Miss Ida Miller returned Tuesday morning from a pleasant holiday visit with her parents at Hillsboro, North Dakota.

Mrs. A. G. Groshong has recovered from a very serious attack of neuralgia, which kept her quite ill all of last week.

Miss Pauline Nieland and Misses Gertrude and Etta Hennemuth spent Friday last at St. Hilaire as the guests of Mrs. H. E. Ives.

For Sale—A "Jewett" Typewriter, just as good as new, which we will sell at a bargain. First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Miss Etta Garceau, cashier at the Busy Store, is the latest victim of the grippe and has been confined to her home several days this week.

Miss Mamie Regan and sister, Eva, returned home from Crookston Friday after having spent several days in that city as the guests of friends.

Henry Grenier left Monday evening to enter St. John's university at Collegeville, where he will take a business course during the next few months.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Johnson returned to their home at Park River, North Dakota, last Friday evening after their holiday visit at the Toupin home here.

William Erickson has accepted a position as stenographer and assistant bookkeeper at the Merchants State Bank, and entered upon his new duties last week. Will's many Red Lake Falls friends are pleased to know that he is to remain with us.

For a few hours last evening this section enjoyed a genuine rip-roarin' old fashioned blizzard, but it only lasted until about midnight. It is the opinion of those who know, that there is more snow on the level at present than at any time in the past ten years. But than, the "oldest inhabitant" tells us also that profitable seasons always follow winters of deep snow, so there is at least a grain of consolation ahead.

'Phone 7—Groceries—SPILLANES.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

G. A. Kankel has an interesting new ad in today's Gazette. Look it up.

Read the new ad of the Hont Hardware company elsewhere in today's paper.

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

Ex-sheriff Dan Linnihan left Tuesday evening for Big Falls, where he had some business matters to look after.

O. T. Tanberg came down from Thief River Falls Monday evening, to again become a resident of Red Lake Falls.

Ex-county Commissioner P. A. Ekstrom was in from Black River yesterday, listening to the deliberations of the new board of commissioners.

Editor and Mrs. Harry E. Ives of St. Hilaire spent Tuesday in the city. Harry was down to watch the deliberations of Red Lake county's new board of commissioners, while Mrs. Ives visited with her parents.

Dr. Spofford is at Grand View Hotel, Red Lake Falls, the 7th day of every month. Latest scientific methods in examining eyes and fitting glasses.

E. G. Storaasli went down to Minneapolis Saturday, and expects to remain there several months. He will open an office there and dispose of his real estate holdings in this part of the country.

Hardwareman Kankel has the agency for the "One Minute Washer," a new creation in washing machines. The washer is one of the slickest things out in this line, and is worth going in to see.

FARM LOAN:—We have money of private parties to loan on improved farms at 7 per cent. Liberal terms of payment. No delays. Come and see us before placing a loan. Germo & Farley. d13-4w

Mrs. Chas. E. Boughton and son arrived home yesterday morning from a visit of two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Joseph Jerome, of Battle River. Her niece, Miss Elsie Jerome, accompanied her home for an extended visit.

Lars Lien and John Johnson, prominent Rocksbury farmers, were here Tuesday night before the board of county commissioners on matters pertaining to Rocksbury and North ditch No. 1. They returned home yesterday.

P. K. Olson arrived home Monday evening from Billings, Montana, where he has been for the past few weeks, looking after some horses he has on a railroad contract out there. P. K. reports things booming in that part of Montana this winter.

Herman Harren arrived here Monday from Bisbee, North Dakota, for a visit with his brother, J. P., and many friends. Herman has been in business at Bisbee for the past couple of years, but recently disposed of his interests there and will locate elsewhere.

Albany Deforge returned home last week from the hospital at Fosston, after having recently submitted to an operation for the removal of one of his limbs. He has recovered very nicely from the affects of the ordeal, and it is thought that he will have no further trouble.

Rev. H. W. Knox leaves Monday for Rollis, Marshall county, where he will spend a week of revival meetings. He will be gone only one Sunday, at which time the pulpit at the Presbyterian church will be occupied by Sunday School Missionary, D. K. Laurie, of Crookston.

The man who wrestles with the cow and learns the calves to suck, who casts the corn before the awl..e, is now in greatest luck; for butter's on the upper grade, veal's higher than a kite, pork is climbing up the scale and beef is out of sight; eggs he gathers every day from his Poland chicken coop are almost worth their weight in gold and we are in the soup. His corn bringa him a fancy price, it's rising every day and he rakes in all kinds of mon for a half a load of hay. The farmer is in the saddle and when he comes to town the rest of us by right go way back and sit down.

Crookston is laboring in the throes of a coal famine and considerable suffering has already been experienced by citizens who have been unable to secure sufficient fuel to keep their homes comfortable. Last Friday an investigation showed that among six dealers in the city there were only 8 tons of soft and not a pound of hard coal on hand. The dealers have had orders in for about 50 carloads some of the orders dating back as far as Nov. 20, but up to the first of the week not a carload had been received although several have been reported as being shipped from the source of supply. It is estimated that about 45 tons of hard coal and 20 tons of soft coal are used daily in Crookston at this time of the year, and unless immediate relief is forthcoming considerable suffering will result from the situation.

See Salley for your coal supply.

Notice the specials the Big Store is quoting in their advertising space in today's Gazette.

Court Commissioner S. T. Johnson has spent the week here attending to the duties of his office.

The Merchants State Bank has an interesting new ad in their space in today's Gazette. Look it up.

Wanted: 1000 lbs. of dressed poultry. Will pay 8c for fancy chickens. Must be drawn. Theo. LaBissoniere.

Rev. Father Adolph, of Thief River Falls, was an over-night guest Tuesday of Rev. Father Ambrose in this city.

Dr. J. C. Wilkinson and son arrived home Saturday from their ten day visit with the Doctor's mother and sisters at Iowa Falls, Iowa.

The Woodmen and their families had a pleasant dancing party at their hall Tuesday evening. A good sized crowd was present and an enjoyable time was had by all.

John Alstadt has purchased the building on Main street formerly used as the office of the Thief River Lumber company, and is moving it to his residence property this week.

Editor Chas. W. Latta was in from Plommer Tuesday looking after business matters. Charley recently assumed his new duties as postmaster at Plummer, and wears his added responsibilities with becoming grace and dignity.

Frank Schirrick, chairman of the town of Polk Center, was a caller here yesterday, appearing before the board with a petition for aid for his town for road and bridge work. The Gazette was favored with a pleasant call.

J. E. Bray and family left Tuesday evening for Montreal, where they will reside in the future, Mr. Bray having decided to engage in business in that city. They will have the best wishes of the people here for unprecedented success.

Sam E. Hunt was home over Sunday after his first week on the road, and remained until Monday evening. Sam likes his new work very well as far as he has gone, and when he gets his itinerary arranged to suit him he will be perfectly satisfied.

On Wednesday evening a number of friends gave a very enjoyable party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bray, in honor of Mrs. J. M. Bray, of Calgary, and Mrs. M. Verboncour, of Grand Forks. Refreshments were served and all those present were royally entertained.

A. P. Toupin, Chas. N. Bourdon and Exerie Chatel left Tuesday evening for Calgary, N. W. T., where they will spend the next couple of weeks looking over that much-talked-of country. They went via Winnipeg, and will take in all the big towns on their way to Calgary. Besides seeing the country thoroughly and getting such pointers as they want, these gentleman went prepared to have an enjoyable outing, and it is a sure thing that they will have it.

Tom Whalen, of LeSueur, this state, arrived here yesterday for a couple of days visit with his old-time friends, Messrs. Groshong and Blake. Mr. Whalen is a breeder of and dealer in horses of all kinds, and is recognized in that part of the state, as the life of the horse market. He is favorably impressed with Red Lake Falls, and is seriously considering the proposition of coming here to locate. There is lots of room here for hustlers of Mr. Whalen's kind, and The Gazette sincerely trusts that he will decide to come.

Thief River Press: Spiess Bros., proprietors of the Fair Store on Second street, last week made a voluntary assignment in favor of their creditors. The assets of the firm are $3,250, the liabilities $4,300. D. B. Bakke was appointed receiver and will take charge of the stock. The heaviest creditors are W. G. and W. B. Jordan, $1,000; Geo. R. Newell, $600; Grimshaw Shoe Co., $300; Red Lake Falls Milling Co., $100; and Wyman, Partridge and Co., G. Somees; Finch, Smith Co., and others for varying smaller sums. A number of local people are also creditors in small amounts. It is believed that the creditors will be paid fifty cents or more on the dollar for all their claims.

It has been truly said that the advertising merchant is the one who does the business in these days of push and enterprise. There are more newspaper readers today than ever before in the history of the world. One of the first things that a merchant considers in placing his advertising is the circulation of the paper in which he wishes to advertise. The Gazette's list of subscribers is about 50 per cent larger than that of any other publication circulating in this section of the county. It places your business under the eyes of the buyer. He sees what he wants, and, knowing where to find it, looks up the wide awake merchant who asks him to come and see him. Success in these days of sharp competition calls for eternal vigilance. You can't keep a hustler down.

Napoleon Gamache left Monday for Collegeville where he will attend St. John's university the remainder of the winter.

M. O. Sortedahl left Saturday for points in Iowa, where he will look up business for his company until the last of this week.

Francis Gamache has secured a position as clerk in his uncle's store at Cass Lake, and left for that place Monday to take up his new duties.

Wanted:—Gentleman or lady to travel for mercantile house of large capital. Territory at home or abroad to suit. If desirable the home may be used as headquarters. Weekly salary of $1,000 per year and expenses. Address, with stamp, Jos. A. Alexander, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

The Hon. G. A. Gearhart delivered his "Footprints of the Centuries" to a large and appreciative audience at the Metropolitan opera house last Friday evening. Mr. Gearhart came as the fourth number of the Lyceum course being given under the Study Club auspices, and no one was in the least disappointed with the entertainment he put up.

Hollen S. Thompson, formerly a resident of Red Lake Falls, was recently married to Miss Florence A. Shue, at Rockford Illinois, and they are now at home to their friends at Suite 4, Temple court, Winnipeg, where Mr. Thompson has a lucrative position. There are many people here who will remember "Tommy" and will join in extending congratulations and well wishes.

George Altnow, formerly of this city, is now employed in the Great Northern shops at Grand Forks, and characteristic of all Red Lake Falls boys who know a good thing when they see it, writes that he must have the Gazette's weekly visit in order to complete his happiness for all time on. George will get the "long felt want" from this time henceforth, and with it goes a wish for unbounded prosperity.

Teachers' Examinations.

The semi-annual teachers' examinations will be held at Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and 2, 1907, in accordance with the following program:

Note—Civics is now required for second grade and limited certificates.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31st.
(First Grade Studies)
A. M.— 8:00 Enrollment.
8:15 Geometry.
10:00 Physics.
P. M.— 1:30 Algebra.
3:15 Physical Geography or General History.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1st.
(Second Grade Studies)
A. M.— 8:00 Enrollment.
8:30 Professional Test.
9:30 Spelling.
10:00 Arithmetic.
P. M.— 1:15 Geography.
2:45 Composition and Penmanship.
3:20 Reading.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2nd
(Second Grade Studies Continued)
A. M.— 8:00 U. S. History.
9:45 English Grammar.
11:30 Music.
P. M.— 1:15 Physiology-Hygiene.
3:45 Civics.
4:00 Drawing.

—H. T. McANULTY,
Co. Supt.

Prices for this Week at the Big Store

Our business last week was excellent. Thank you. Hundreds availed themselves of our bargains. Come again.

25 pound box of Fancy California Prunes	$1.50
10 pound box of the same Prunes	70c
Fine 35c Japanese Tea	25c
Fancy 20c Rio Coffee for	18c
Comb Honey, per pound	12½c
Fancy New York apples, per peck	45c
Solid package of Blueberries	16c
German Dill Pickles, per quart; try these	10c
Glycerine Soap, 3 bars for	10c
Fancy Cranberries, per quart	12½c
Soft Shelled Walnuts pound	20c
Good Corn Starch at	5c
Cooking Figs, fancy, per pound	8c
Gold Medal Sorghum, per quart	20c
Soda Crackers, the best made	7½c

Crockery Department

$8.00 Dinner Set of 47 pieces, this week for	$5.75
Choice of 15c and 25c Holiday Goods	10c

Dry Goods Department

Dressing Sacques, all fine Elder Down goods, 75c to $2.00 quality; choice	49c
Men's $1, $1.25 and $1.50 Dress Shirts; choice	75c

Men's Fine Pants, $2.50 to $5 quality.

30 per cent. off.

New line of Ladies' Petticoats in mercerized and heather-bloom Taffetas, at

$1.25 to $3.00

The best line we have ever shown.

It Pays to Trade at

The Big Store

THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

NEW RUGS
from your old carpets
ARTISTIC - DURABLE - LOW IN PRICE
Write for illus. booklet & prices
We pay the freight
Walker Rug Mfg. Co.
Nicolet Island. Minneapolis Minn.

SHIP YOUR GRAIN. We are the only firm in this city dealing exclusively with the farmer. All Millers know that our cars are of one grade and not elevator mixed, which explains why our service is more satisfactory than any other concern. Submit us samples for grades, etc. COOPER COMMISSION CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

After Inventory Remnant Sale

We have just completed our annual inventory and find that we have a few remnants in Dress Goods and other fabrics. These are all staple goods, but in order to clean them out we are offering them at Greatly Reduced Prices.

In Our Winter Goods ... Department ...

we find that we are overstocked in some lines, and wishing to make room for Spring Goods which will arrive later, we are cutting prices on all overstocked lines in order to move them quickly. These are all first-class goods and it will pay you to look them over.

THE BUSY STORE
GARCEAU & ZAISER.

Poultry Taken At Highest Market Prices.

An Extra Stove

This is the time of year when you realize that you need an extra stove to keep the home comfortable. You may not want to keep a fire in it all the time—then why not buy the

Wilson Air Tight Heater

Quick Fire
Quick Heater
Reasonable Price

We also carry everything you want in the Hardware line. Our stock is all new, and you can rest assured that the goods purchased from us are the best obtainable for the money. We will be pleased to have you drop in at any time and look over our new store.

G. A. KANKEL
The Hardware Man.
'Phone No. 74 Red Lake Falls.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

His face relaxed a little, and he concluded almost quizzically:

"Was not Satan hurled from high heaven for resisting authority?"

She pouted, caught him by the lapels of his coat and prettily tried to shake him.

"Now, now! stop it at once, and come to the house. I've been tending your father and mother, and I'm going to tend you. What you need directly is food. Your look may be holy, but I prefer full cheeks. Not another word until you have eaten every crumb I put before you."

With an air of captor, daintily fierce, she led him toward the house and up to the door, which she pushed open before him.

"Come softly, your mother may be still asleep—no, your father is talking—listen!"

A querulous voice, rough with strong feeling, came from the inner room.

"Here, I tell you, is the prophecy of Joseph to prove it, away back in 1832—"

He broke off, for the girl came leading in the son, who, as soon as he saw the white-haired old man with an open book, sitting beside the wasted woman on the bed, flew to them with a glad cry.

They embraced him and smoothed and patted him, tremulously, feebly, with broken thanks for his safe return. The mother at last fell back upon her pillow, her eyes shining with the joy of a great relief, while the father was seized with a fit of coughing that cruelly racked his gaunt frame and left him weak but smiling.

The girl had been placing food upon the table.

"Come, Joel," she urged, "you must eat; we have all breakfasted, so you must eat alone, but we shall watch you."

She pushed him into the chair and filled his plate, in spite of his protest.

"And now we must be about our preparations for the journey. The time is short—who is that?"

He sprang to the door. Outside, quick steps were heard approaching. The girl, who had risen in some confusion, stood blushing and embarrassed before him. The mother rose feebly on her elbow to reassure him.

"'Tis Capt. Girnway, laddie. Have no alarm—he has befriended us. But for him we should have been put out two days ago, without shelter and without care. He let us be housed here until you should come."

There was a knock at the door, but Joel stood with his back to it. The words of Seth Wright were running roughshod through his mind. He looked sharply at Prudence.

"A mobocrat—our enemy—and you have taken favors from him—a minion of the devil?—shame!"

The girl looked up.

"He was kind; you don't realize that he has probably saved their lives. Indeed, you must let him in and thank him."

"Not I!"

The mother interposed hurriedly.

"Yes, yes, laddie! You know not how high-handed they have been. They expelled all but us, and some they have maltreated shamefully. This one has been kind to us. Open the door."

"I dare not face him—I may not contain myself!"

The knock was repeated more loudly. The girl went up to him and put her hands on his shoulders to draw him away.

"Be reasonable," she pleaded, in low tones, "and above all, be polite to him."

She put him gently aside and drew back the door. On the threshold smiled the young captain. His cap was doffed, and his left hand rested easily on the hilt of his sword. He stepped inside as one sure of his welcome.

"Good morning, Miss Prudence, good morning, Mr. Rae, good morning, madam—good morning—"

He looked questioningly at the stranger. Prudence stepped forward.

"This is Joel Rae, Capt. Girnway."

They bowed, somewhat stiffly. Each was dark. Each had a face to attract women. But the captain was at peace with the world, neatly uniformed, well fed, clean-shaven, smiling, pleasant to look upon, while the other was unshaven, hollow-cheeked, gaunt, roughly dressed, a thing that had been hunted and was now under ban. Each was at once sensible of the contrast between them, and each was at once affected by it: the captain to a greater jauntiness, a more effusive affability; the other to a stonier sternness.

"I am glad to know you have come, Mr. Rae. Your people have worried a little, owing to the unfortunate circumstances in which they have been placed."

"I—I am obliged to you, sir, in their behalf, for your kindness to my father and mother and to Miss Corson here."

"You are a thousand times welcome, Mr. Can you tell me when you will wish to cross the river?"

"At the very earliest moment that God and the mob will let us. To-morrow morning, I hope."

"This has not been agreeable to me, believe me—"

"Far less so to us, you may be sure; but we shall be content again when we can get away from all your whiggery, democratism, devilism, mobism!"

He spoke with rising tones, and the other flushed noticeably about the temples.

"Have your wagons ready to-morrow morning, then, Mr. Rae—at eight? Very well, I shall see that you are protected to the ferry. There has been so much of that tone of talk, sir, that some of our men have resented it."

He turned pleasantly to Prudence.

"And you, Miss Prudence, you will be leaving Nauvoo for Springfield, I suppose. As you go by Carthage, I shall wish to escort you that far myself, to make sure of your safety."

The lover turned fiercely, seizing the girl's wrist and drawing her toward him before she could answer.

"Her goal is Zion, not Babylon, sir—remember that!"

She stepped hastily between them.

"We will talk of that to-morrow, captain," she said, quickly, and added: "You may leave us now, for we have much to do here in making ready for the start."

"Until to-morrow morning, then, at eight."

He bowed low over the hand she gave him, gracefully saluted the others, and was gone.

"Her Goal Is Zion, Not Babylon—Remember That!"

CHAPTER IV

A Fair Apostate.

She stood flushed and quick-breathing when the door had shut, he heading toward her with dark inquiry in his eyes. Before she spoke, he divined that under her nervousness some resolution lay stubbornly fixed.

"Let us speak alone," she said, in a low voice. Then, to the old people, "Joel and I will go into the garden awhile to talk. Be patient."

"Not for long, dear; our eyes are aching for him."

"Only a little while," and she smiled back at them. She went ahead through the door by which they had first entered, and out into the garden at the back of the house. He remembered, as he followed her, that since he had arrived that morning she had always been leading him, directing him as if to a certain end, with the air of meaning presently to say something of moment to him.

She led him to a rustic double chair under the heavily fruited boughs of an apple tree, and made him sit down. She began with a vivacious playfulness, poorly assumed, to hide her real feeling.

"Now, sobersides, it must end—this foolishness of yours——"

She stopped, waiting for some question of his to help her. But he said nothing, though she could feel the burning of his eyes upon her.

"This superstitious folly, you know," she blurted out, looking up at him in sudden desperation.

"Tell me what you mean—you must know I'm impatient."

She essayed to be playful again, pouting her dimpled face near to his that he might kiss her. But he did not seem to see. He only waited.

"Well—this religion—this Mormonism——"

She shot one swift look at him, then went on quickly.

"My people have left the church, and—I—too—they found things in Joseph Smith's teachings that seemed bad to them. They went to Springfield. I would have gone, too, but I told them I wanted first to see you and—and see if you would not come with us—at least for awhile, not taking the poor old father and mother through all that wretchedness. They consented to let me stay with your parents on condition that Capt. Girnway would protect them and me. He—he—is very kind—and had known us since last winter and had seen me—us—several times. I hadn't the heart to tell your father; he was so set on going to the new Zion, but you will come, won't you?"

"Wait a moment!" He put a hand upon her arm as if to arrest her speech. "You daze me. Let me think." She looked up at him, wondering at his face, for it showed strength and bitterness and gentleness all in one look—and he was suffering. She put her hand upon his, from an instinct of pity. The touch recalled him.

"Now—for the beginning." He spoke with aroused energy, a little wistful smile softening the strain of his face. "You were wise to give me food, else I couldn't have solved this mystery. To the beginning, then: You, Prudence Corson, betrothed to me these three years and more; you have been buried in the waters of baptism and had your washings and anointings in the temple of the most high God. Is it not so? Your eyes were anointed that they might be quick to see, your ears that they might be apt at hearing, your mouth that you might with wisdom speak the words of eternal life, and your feet that they might be swift to run in the ways of the Lord. You accepted thereby the truth that the angel of God had delivered to Joseph Smith the sealing keys of power. You accepted the glorious articles of the new covenant. You were about to be sealed up to me for time and eternity. Now—I am lost—what is it?—you father and mother have left the church, and because of what?"

"Because of bad things, because of this doctrine they practice—this wickedness of spiritual wives, plural wives. Think of it, Joel—that if I were your wife you might take another."

"I need not think of it. Surely you know my love. You know I could not do that. Indeed I have heard at last that this doctrine so long gossiped of is a true one. But I have been away and am not yet learned in its mysteries. But this much I know—and it is the very cornerstone of my life: Peter, James and John ordained Joseph Smith here on this earth, and Joseph ordained the twelve. All other churches have been established by the wisdom or folly of man. Ours is the only one on earth established by direct revelation from God. It has a priesthood, and that priesthood is a power we must reverence and obey, no matter what may be its commands. When the truth is taught me of this doctrine you speak of, I shall see it to be right for those to whom it is ordained. And meantime, outside of my own little life—my love for you, which would be always single—I can't measure the revealed will of God with my little moral foot-rule. Joseph was endowed with the open vision. He saw God face to face and heard His voice. Can the standards of society in its present corruption measure and pass upon the revelations of so white-souled a man?"

"I believe he was not white-souled," she replied, in a kind, animated way, as one who was bent upon saving him from error. "I told you I knew why you were sent away on mission. It was because you were my accepted lover—and your white-souled Joseph Smith wanted me for himself."

"I can't believe it—you couldn't know such a thing"—his faith made a brave rally—"but even so, if he sought you, why, the more honor to you—and to me, if you still clung to me."

"Listen. I was afraid to tell you before—ashamed—but I told my people. It's three years ago. I was 17. It was just after we had become engaged. My people were then strong in the faith, as you know. One morning after you had left for the East, Brigham Young and Heber Kimball came to our house for me. They said the Prophet had long known me by sight, and wished to talk with me. Would I go with them to visit him and he would bless and counsel me? Of course I was flattered. I put on my prettiest frock and fetchingest bonnet and set off with them, after mamma had said yes. On the way they kept asking me if I was willing to do all the Prophet required. I said I was sure of it, thinking they meant to be good and worshipful. Then they would ask if I was ready to take counsel, and they said, 'Many things are revealed unto us in these last days that the world would scoff at,' but that it had been given to them to know all the mysteries of the Kingdom. Then they said, 'You will see Joseph and he will tell you what you are to do.'"

He was listening with a serious, confident eagerness, as if he knew she could say nothing to dim the Prophet's luster.

"When we reached the building where Joseph's store was, they led me up-stairs to a small room and sent down to the store for the Prophet. When he came up they introduced me and left me alone in the little room with him. Their actions had seemed queer to me, but I remembered that this man had talked face to face with God, so I tried to feel better. But all at once he stood before me and asked me to be his wife. Think of it! I was so frightened! I dared not say no, he looked at me so—I can't tell you how; but I said it would not be lawful. He said, 'Yes, Prudence, I have had a revelation from God that it is lawful and right for a man to have as many wives as he wants—for as it was in the days of Abraham, so it shall be in these days. Accept me and I shall take you straight to the celestial Kingdom. Brother Brigham will marry us here, right now, and you can go home to-night and keep it secret from your parents if you like.' Then I said, 'But I am betrothed to Joel Rae, the son of Giles Rae, who is away on mission.' 'I know that,' he said—'I sent him away, and anyway you will be safer to marry me. You will then be absolutely sure of your celestial reward, for in the next world, you know, I am to have powers, thrones, and dominions, while Brother Joel is very young and has not been tried in the Kingdom. He may fall away and then you would be lost.'"

The man in him now was struggling with his faith, and he seemed about to interrupt her, but she went on excitedly.

"I said I would not want to do anything of the kind without deliberation. He urged me to have it over, trying to kiss me, and saying he knew it would be right before God; that if there was any sin in it he would take it upon himself. He said, 'You know I have the keys of the Kingdom, and whatever I bind on earth is bound in heaven. Come,' he said, 'nothing ventured, nothing gained. Let me call Brother Brigham to seal us, and you shall be a star in my crown for ever.'

"Then I broke down and cried, for I was so afraid, and he put his arms around me, but I pushed away, and after awhile I coaxed him to give me until the next Sabbath to think it over, promising on my life to say not one word to any person. I never let him see me alone again, you may be sure, and at last when other awful tales were told about him here, of wickedness and his drunkenness—he told in the pulpit that he had been drunk, and that he did it to keep them from worshipping him as a God—I saw he was a bad, common man, and I told my people everything, and soon my father was denounced for an apostate. Now, sir, what do you say?"

When she finished he was silent for a time. Then he spoke, very gently, but with undaunted firmness.

"Prudence, dearest, I have told you that this doctrine is new to me. I do not yet know its justification. But that I shall see it to be sanctified after they have taught me, this I know as certainly as I know that Joseph Smith dug up the golden plates of Mormon and Moroni on the hill of Cumorah when the angel of the Lord moved him. It will be sanctified for those who choose it, I mean. You know I could never choose it for myself. But as for others, I must not question. I know only too well that eternal salvation for me depends upon my accepting manfully and unquestioningly the authority of the temple priesthood."

"But I know Joseph was not a good man."

"I believe with all my heart Joseph was good; but even if not—we have never pretended that he was anything more than a prophet of God. And was not Moses a murderer when God called him to be a prophet?"

"And this awful journey into a horrid desert. Why must you go? Surely there are other ways of salvation." She hesitated a moment. "I have been told that going to heaven is like going to mill. If your wheat is good, the miller will never ask which way you came."

"Child, child, some one has tampered with you."

She retorted quickly.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

How to Become Expert at the Bowling Game

A Few Pointers to Beginners by Frank Brill—Brief History of the Sport.

Frank Brill, of Chicago, or better known as Pop, one of the best known bowlers of the country, having played in special matches both in the east and west, tells in his own words how to become an expert at the popular game. Brill is well known to local bowlers and many good pointers may be gathered from his story:

"The game of bowling requires almost as much preparation as any game that is played to-day. Until one acquires form be will tire himself at the game and accomplish poor results. It is a game that requires a great deal of strength to become expert, but this may gradually be developed.

"Care should be taken in every movement until one has learned to work like a machine. Many a star player has been put out of a big match through the simple cause of getting excited and failing to watch the balls as they come in on the runway, with a smashed finger or thumb as a result.

"Little suggestions can be given to players as to correct position to take when aiming for the head pin, every man having more or less his own style best fitted for his build and method of letting go of the ball. General suggestions are to take a position about three long steps back of the foul line with a little allowance for the slide.

"A player soon learns which position is best suited to him, it all depending on whether he uses a center ball, a side delivery, either right or left, or the numerous versions of the cross alley, back-up or other styles. As a general rule the right foot should be forward with the weight of the ball resting on the other hand than that used to deliver the ball.

"The swing which occurs just before the ball leaves the hand is one of the most difficult things for the new bowler to get just right, too many players letting the ball swing back of them until the arm is nearly horizontal. Back of a certain point too much of a swing loses a lot of power, while it also affects the accuracy of the shot. I use a smaller swing probably than any bowler of class in the city, my swing being supplemented with a little push as the ball leaves my hand. The style is a difficult one for a beginner to learn, but once mastered shows immediately in an improvement in the bowler's general average."

Bowling is about the most popular indoor winter sport of this country, and is also one of the oldest games known to the civilized world. Our ancestors hundreds of years ago indulged in a pastime which, excepting a few radical changes during the last century or so, was substantially the same as the present game of bowling and seems to have been just as popular with them.

Bowling seems to have been originated early in the middle ages. It was at that time purely an outdoor sport. As was the rule with everything of that period, the sport was known by a variety of names. It was called "bowls," "French bowls" and "carrean." Those three names seem to have been the most common. At that time the game was very different from the present sport, but there was much similarity. The game was played with teams, as to-day. The balls—or bowls, as they were then called—were made of stone, one-half spherical, the other half oval shape. This gave the ball a curve as it sped down the bowling alley or green, as an alley was called in that day. The scene of the game was a plot of ground called a rink or bowling green, at each end of which was placed a cone, which was the mark for the bowlers to roll into. The cones were bowled to from one end of the rink and then from the other. The object of the game was for one side to place the ball nearer the cone than its opponents. Thus the side bowling would try and knock their opponents' ball away from the cone, supplanting their own, as in the game of quoits, the nearer the cone scoring one point for his team. Skill was required to bowl so as to get nearer the cone without knocking the opponent's ball closer.

Later the stone ball was supplanted by one made of lignum vitae. The latter being made spherical, the outside of the tree from which the balls were made being lighter than the heart, naturally gave the ball the desired basis for a curve. Some bowlers loaded one side of the ball with a heavy metal, so as to obtain the desired effect for a curve.

The cones were finally done away with and superseded by a stone or earthen ball about three and one-half inches in diameter. These new ones were known as "jacks." Instead of having a stationary mark at which to bowl, the jack was knocked all over the green, and it required strategy and skill to play a good game.

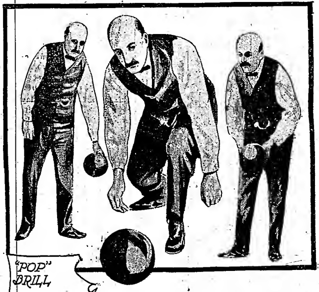
The game was introduced into America early in the eighteenth century. It seems to have been very popular in New York. In 1792 there was a locality in New York called Bowling Green, and it is still known by that name. From the time that the sport was introduced into America it has rarely ever died out, although the outdoor game has long since given way to the indoor.

As an indoor game the sport originated from several games, among which were Cayles, French quilles, skettles, logetts and sayles. In the game of cayles and logetts conical-shaped pins made of bone were set in rows of six or eight, and the players tried to knock them down by throwing balls at them. Knocking the pins down by bowling a ball came at a much later period. The sport was stopped for a short time by some laws which prohibited the playing of nine pins and similar games.

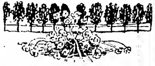
The first game known to have been played indoors was on a covered alley some time in the twelfth century. The first match game indoors in this country was a game played on the Knickerbocker alleys in New York on January 1, 1840. Until 1875 there was no standard length of the alleys or the size of the balls and pins. Before that time the pins were longer and much heavier than those of the present day, and it was much easier to get the "strike."

The rules and regulations for the bowling game came into effect in 1875, when a number of bowlers from the large cities got together and adopted them. Up to 1890 the games of the east were played under the rules of the National Bowling league, while bowlers of the west played a "go-as-you-please game." The game was brought down to a scientific point in 1895, when the American Bowling congress was formed, which has made it one of the important factors in the indoor winter sports. New style of alleys was soon adopted, the narrow ones giving way to the wider ones, which are 60 feet long and four feet wide. The old-style solid ball was replaced by one with thumb and finger holes, and the 18 and 16-inch pins were done away with and the regulation size used. The balls of the present time weigh about 14 or 15 pounds, and are about 27 inches in circumference.

THREE POSES OF VETERAN CHICAGO BOWLER



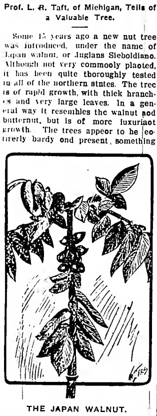
HORTICULTURE



INTERESTING JAPANESE WALNUT

Prof. L. R. Taft, of Michigan, Tells of a Valuable Tree.

Some 15 years ago a new nut tree was introduced, under the name of Japan walnut, or Juglans Sieboldiana. Although not very commonly planted, it has been quite thoroughly tested in all of the northern states. The tree is of rapid growth, with thick branches and very large leaves. In a general way it resembles the walnut and butternut, but is of more luxuriant growth. The trees appear to be entirely hardy and present, something of a subtropical appearance. While they develop most rapidly upon a rich loam soil, such as is commonly known as black walnut land, they thrive under almost any condition, provided there is a fair amount of plant food and moisture in the soil.



THE JAPAN WALNUT.

The Japan walnut has been grown with considerable success on the grounds of the Michigan experiment station, from which this branch was taken.

The trees come into bearing when planted three or four years, and from that time bear continuously, if given good care. The nuts are produced in large panicled clusters and somewhat resemble the common butternut, or white walnut, except that they are slightly smaller and more nearly ovate in form. They crack very readily and the kernels are easily removed from the shells. They lack the strong flavor of the butternut, and on this account would be preferred by most persons, although it does not compare with the hickory nut, pecan and other nuts.

The luxuriant growth, handsome foliage, and the hardiness of the tree, make it very promising as an ornamental tree, and the productiveness and edible qualities of the nuts give to it additional value.

GARDEN NOTES.

Apples will keep much longer if wrapped.

Use any coarse litter that will hold the snow to cover the spinach bed. Do it now.

Burn off the asparagus tops and manure the bed. In the spring put on a good layer of salt.

Vines and trees and almost everything grown on the farm are benefited by lime and ashes.

Spray peach trees with lime water as thick as can be used. It will protect the buds from cold.

Four or five years is generally the life of a blackcap patch, but they should be renewed when decided failure is apparent.

Pasturing sheep in a sod pasture is advised. They are not apt to injure the trees, they enrich the soil, and their close cropping prevents the evaporation of moisture which occurs in long grass.

Thin grape vines at any time before spring growth starts, but when there is no frost in the canes. If the old vine is weak and not in bearing condition and you have a vigorous new cane from the roots, cut away the old vine.

Rhubarb is easily grown in the cellar for winter use. Spade up the roots before the ground freezes too solidly and then allow them to freeze thoroughly. Place them in a box in the cellar and cover the roots to keep them dark. Keep them free from frost, and the stalks will grow and supply the table without further trouble.

Subsoiling in Orchards.

The advice is given to subsoil orchards before the trees are set. This may sometimes pay, but generally it will not. The theories in favor of it are not carried out by actual experience. Whether or not subsoiling will pay is a matter that will depend on the character of the soil. If the soil is very compact below the line touched by ordinary plowing, subsoiling should be very beneficial. It is impossible to establish a rule that can be applied to all soils, and most orchard soils do not seem to return a profit on the labor of subsoiling. The roots of the trees have great penetrating power and will dip deep in ordinary soils if they find plant food by so doing.

THE TRUCK PATCH.

Culled from the Daily Experience of a Trucker Who Works.

Cleaning up truck patches and hauling manure are in order, and the work should be pushed whenever the weather will permit. Besides improving the looks of the premises, cleaning up and burning rubbish will destroy a host of predatory insects that are only waiting until warm weather to come out and attack the growing crops. A pile of rails, boards or stakes if left undisturbed over winter will harbor enough "punkin bugs" almost to ruin a patch of melons, cukes or squashes; to say nothing of other pests.

It requires quite as much skill successfully to market a crop as it does to grow it. Many men can grow a crop all right, but they fall down when it comes to marketing it to the best advantage.

With an adequate home market the grower has control of his products from start to finish, and at the close of each day he knows just what they sold for. It is very different with the man who must ship his products to a distant market to be sold on commission. His control ceases when the goods are delivered to the transportation company; and he is at the mercy of the commission man, and must wait several days to know his fate.

The grower can control the grading and packing, and this has much to do with the price whether the goods are sold in the home market or on consignment. In all the cities and larger towns there are people able and willing to pay good prices for fruits and vegetables if they can get what they want. This class of people grows larger every year. To reach them the goods must be of superior quality and they must present an attractive appearance.

Commission merchants say that their best customers fall over each other to buy the consignments of certain growers, and will not look at anything else so long as there is a chance to get the favorite brand. Such goods are usually sold in advance of arrival. They are in demand because they are carefully and honestly packed and are guaranteed to be all right clear through. Any grower who will put up his products neatly and honestly can in a short time establish a reputation that will be worth money every year.

Frequently the market for sweet potatoes is at its best just before the holidays. It's a good plan to hit that market. It may be the potatoes are not keeping well. If so, get them out. After the holiday trade the market is nearly always dull and prices are down for weeks. Meanwhile, potatoes in the bin may be deteriorating every day. In one district where large quantities of potatoes are raised, black rot was prevalent at digging time. Under such conditions the sooner the potatoes are marketed after they are dried out, the better it will be for the grower.

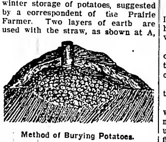
Before packing, the potatoes should be brushed or wiped clean and sprouts and fibrous roots removed. While doing this it is an easy matter to grade them by putting the large, medium size and small ones into separate boxes. This will make three grades and they should be packed in separate barrels. Medium size potatoes always command the highest price, and barrels containing them can be marked "fancy." The large ones can be designated as "No. 2," and the small ones as "common." But the different grades can be distinguished by any kind of mark, provided that the commission man knows what the marks mean.

The barrels should be carefully faced with potatoes of uniform size. Some growers place all the potatoes in the barrel by hand. Others pour them in after facing, shaking the barrel occasionally to settle the potatoes. Whichever method is used, the barrels should be so well filled and rounded up that considerable pressure is required to get the head in place. Unless this is done the barrels will not be full when they reach their destination. The critical buyers, says Farm Journal, pay the fancy prices, and they will not look at a "slack" or carelessly packed barrel.

TUBER PIT.

How Potatoes May Me Buried and Kept in Good Condition.

We show herewith a plan for the winter storage of potatoes, suggested by a correspondent of the Prairie Farmer. Two layers of earth are used with the straw, as shown at A, in between. This, the correspondent says, has the tendency of forming an air space and tends to retain the heat better. The layer of straw should be heavy enough so that when the last layer of earth is put on that the straw will form a four or five-inch thickness. If desired, coarse manure can be piled on top after the first freeze comes early in the winter.



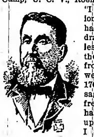
Method of Burying Potatoes.

Not the least among the difficulties that beset the trucker, is that of securing reliable and efficient help. Not only is the supply of help short, but the wage rate is increasing. Worst of all, the laborers grow less and less reliable and efficient. The better class of men, attracted by higher wages and shorter hours, are leaving the farm and finding employment elsewhere.

TORTURED WITH GRAVEL.

Since Using Doan's Kidney Pills Not a Single Stone Has Formed.

Capt. S. L. Crute, Adjt. Wm. Watts Camp, U. C. V., Roanoke, Va., says: "I suffered a long, long time with my back, and felt draggy and listless and tired all the time. I lost from my usual weight, 225, to 170. Urinary passages were too frequent and I have had to get up often at night. I had headaches and dizzy spells also, but my worst suffering was from renal colic. After I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I passed a gravel stone as big as a bean. Since then I have never had an attack of gravel, and have picked up to my former health and weight. I am a well man, and give Doan's Kidney Pills credit for it."



Sold by all dealers. 60 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Lecturer on Hysteria.

Marie Pierre Feliux Janet, professor of experimental psychology in the University of Paris, who is now traveling and lecturing in the United States, figures in the public mind as a hypnotist. As a matter of fact, this is only incidentally, but he is trying to demonstrate that the victim of hysteria is at the same time two different persons.

ODELL OBEYED HIS FATHER.

Emphatic Message That Broke Up Conference of Politicians.

Four years ago, when ex-Gov. Odell, of New York, was coming up for a renomination at the convention in Saratoga, there was a plan to put a man on the ticket with him for lieutenant governor to whom Odell objected strongly.

The governor's father, 88 years old, a deacon in the church and very strict in religious matters, was in Saratoga.

There was a conference at one of the hotel cottages that lasted until late in the morning. The other leaders were trying to force Odell to take the obnoxious man.

About two o'clock Odell's father, who had heard what was going on, stalked angrily over to the cottage and rapped on the door. Frank Platt, son of Senator Platt, came to the door.

"Well?" said Platt sharply.

"I want to see my son," demanded Odell.

The governor came to the door.

"What is it, father?" he asked.

"Ben," said the old deacon, "tell them to go to ——!"

"Yes, father," replied the governor obediently, and he went back and did just that.—Saturday Evening Post.

MONKS FIRST PLAYED DOMINOES

Origin of Game That Is Popular the World Over.

With regard to the game of dominoes there is a very interesting story connected with its origin. It runs thus: There were two monks who had been committed to the penalty of a long seclusion and were condemned to keep absolute silence. To relieve the monotony they played a game by showing each other small flat stones marked with black dots. By a well-understood arrangement, the monk whose hand was used at first informed the other player by repeating in an undertone the first line of the vesper hymn, "Cantate Domino" (Sing unto the Lord). In time the monks completed the set of stones and formulated the rules of the game, so that by the time they were free to come out from their punishment they had found the game so interesting that on teaching it to the other members of the monastery it became a favorite and lawful pastime. It soon became popular all through Italy and from there extended to the whole world. The first line of the vesper hymn which the monks had used as a signal was reduced to the word domino, and the name has stuck to the game ever since.

CRIED EASILY.

Nervous Woman Stopped Coffee and Quit Other Things.

No better practical proof that coffee is a drug can be required than to note how the nerves become unstrung in women who habitually drink it.

The stomach, too, rebels at being continually drugged with coffee and tea—they both contain the drug—caffeine. Ask your doctor.

An Ia. woman tells the old story thus:

"I had used coffee for six years and was troubled with headaches, nervousness and dizziness. In the morning upon rising I used to belch up a sour fluid regularly.

"Often I got so nervous and miserable I would cry without the least reason, and I noticed my eyesight was getting poor.

"After using Postum a while, I observed the headaches left me and soon the belching of sour fluid stopped (water brash from dyspepsia). I feel decidedly different now, and I am convinced that it is because I stopped coffee and began to use Postum. I can see better now, my eyes are stronger.

"A friend of mine did not like Postum but when I told her to make it like it said on the package, she liked it all right." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Always boil Postum well and it will surprise you.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. "There's a reason."

THE PROGRESS OF THE CANADIAN WEST.

Nearly 200,000 of an Increase in Canada's Immigration in 1906.

The progress of a new country cannot be better ascertained than by noting the increase of railroad mileage in its transportation system, and, judged by this standard, the Canadian West leads all the countries in the world during the current year. Thirty years ago there was not one hundred miles of railroad west of the Great Lakes, and very little prospect of a transcontinental route for many years to come, but by the end of 1885 the Canadian Pacific Railway was within measurable distance of completion, and last year—twenty years later—over 6,000 miles of railroad traversed the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

In the past year the work of railroad construction has been vigorously prosecuted, and by the end of 1906, some 6,000 miles of completed railroad has been added, making a total of fully 11,000 miles in the three great grain producing provinces of Canada. Such an increase in the transportation facilities of the country is bound to make good times not only in the districts where the railroads are being built, but throughout the entire west. Allowing $20,000 a mile for construction, the sum of $100,000,000 will be put in circulation, and this in itself should cause good times to prevail in a land where work is plentiful, wages are high, and the cost of living is moderate.

But the building of new railroads through Western Canada means a greater benefit to the country than merely the money put in circulation by the cost of construction. Additional railway building means the opening of new agricultural districts and an additional area under crops; a largely increased output of grain to foreign markets with consequent financial returns; the erection of elevators and the growth of villages, towns and cities; and everything else that makes for the progress of national life, and the opening up of additional thousands of free homesteads, so extensively advertised by the Canadian government agent, whose address appears elsewhere.

It was stated on the floor of the Canadian Parliament recently by a prominent representative that ten years from now would see the bulk of the population of Canada residing west of the Great Lakes, and if the work of railway building during the present year is any criterion, the prophecy made by the Canadian statesman may be easily fulfilled inside of the time stated. During the present year no less than 189,064 persons have found homes in the Canadian west, of whom 57,798 were Americans who have seen the great possibilities of this new West, and have decided to cast in their lot with it. Certainly, our neighbor north of the 49th parallel is making a great record, and deserves the success that appears to be coming its way.

Prominent on Lecture Platform.

Senator Tillman probably earns more money every year on the lecture platform than any other American who talks to the public for pay. From an authoritative source the statement comes that the South Carolinian's net proceeds thus far this year from his lecture tour are $25,000. Senator Tillman is paid from $250 to $500 a lecture and he is constantly in demand. His season is not confined to the summery Chautauqua course and he fills nearly as many dates in the winter as at any other time of the year. In the last four years it is said that he has laid aside over $60,000 from his lecture receipts. Henry Watterson perhaps comes next in the matter of earnings on the platform. Champ Clark, of Missouri, ranks high as a popular favorite and makes about twice as much as a lecturer as his congressional salary.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Look out for the bright, for the brightest side of things, and keep thy face constantly turned to it.—Jeremy Bentham.

Trappers' Supplies Sold Cheap.

Write for catalog and circular No. 9. N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

A man isn't necessarily a manufacturer because he is always on the make.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Many a widow's heart has been warmed over by an old flame.

Furs, Hides, Pelts.

Write for prices and ship to McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

They are countless roads on all sides to the grave.—Cicero.

We pay the highest price for Butterfat in cream. Write for prices. Milton Dairy C., St. Paul.

Villains invariably get what is coming to them—on the stage.

For Prices on Poultry,

Either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, S. Paul.

Nothing is more annoying than a tardy friend.—Plautus.

Perfectly simple and simply perfect is dyeing with PUTNAM FADELESS DYES. 10c per package.

Fear of the future is worse than one's present lot.—Quintilian.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Nothing is more displeasing than vanity—in others.

Garfield Tea is made of herbs—a great point in its favor! Take it for constipation, indigestion and liver disturbances.

Some men get as tired of being married as some women do of not being.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

High aims form high character, and great objects bring out great minds.—Tryon Edwards.

Top Prices for Hides, Furs, Pelts.

Write for circular and catalogue No. 9, N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

Sultan Makes Concession.

The sultan has given up opposing the introduction of electric light in Constantinople, and ere long that city will be lighted at night for the first time.

Keep Your Blood Pure.

No one can be happy, light-hearted and healthy with a body full of blood that cannot do its duty to every part because of its impurity; therefore, the first and most important work in hand is to purify the blood so that every organ will get the full benefit of a healthy circulation. There is no remedy so good as that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills. Each pill contains one grain of the solid extract of sarsaparilla blended with two grains of a combination of pure and mild vegetable products, making it a blood purifier unexcelled in character. One or two taken every night for awhile will produce surprising results.

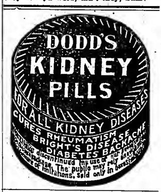
Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century, and are for sale everywhere, plain or sugar-coated.

Strangely Mounted.

The strangest military body in the world is a band of cavalry at Saint de Moorvay, a province on the east coast of Africa, which is under the rule of the French governor general at Madagascar. These soldiers go about their military operations on oxen. The animals are lean creatures, and it is said they move with surprising rapidity.

No Advance in Wisdom.

Mark Twain tells how four years ago he was invited by the University of Missouri to go out there and receive the degree of LL. D. At the same time he visited Hannibal, his boyhood home. Just as he was about to leave, being accompanied to the station by a crowd of citizens, Tom Nash, a schoolfellow, came up—white headed, but still a boy. He shook hands with his friend of many a year and nodding toward the crowd said: "People of this town are the same blamed fools they always were, ain't they, Sam?"



STOVE POLISH
ALWAYS READY TO USE. NO DIRT, DUST, SMOKE OR SMELL.
NO MORE STOVE POLISH TROUBLES

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Canadian Government Free Farms

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Over 200,000 American farmers who have settled in Canada during the past few years testify to the fact that Canada is, beyond question, the greatest farming land in the world.

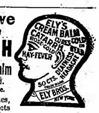
OVER NINETY MILLION BUSHELS

of wheat from the harvest of 1906 means good money to the farmers of Western Canada when the world has to be fed. Cattle Raising, Dairying and Mixed Farming are also profitable callings. Coal, wood and water in abundance; churches and schools convenient; markets easy of access. Taxes low.

For advice and information address the Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or any authorized Canadian Government Agent. CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. Machlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

A Positive CURE FOR CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at Once.



It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts. at Druggists or by mail; Trial size 10 cts. by mail.
Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

HOW can I ever do my work when my muscles are all inflamed with Rheumatism?

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment

Rubbed on Briskly

will remove the inflammation, limber up the muscles, and make you good as new. 25c., three times as much 50c. All dealers.
I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?

Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postcard to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. 6, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the

SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free

and it will be sent you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.

NO PATENT FEE FOR OUR SERVICES

Send for booklet. MILO B. STEVENS & CO., 900 14th St., Washington, D. C. Branches at Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. Estab. 1864.

PROTECT YOUR IDEAS

TRUCKS

Ask for free catalog ST-190.

FAIRBANKS, MORSE & CO., MINNEAPOLIS.

OLD VIRGINIA LANDS We have bargains in lands from $5.00 an Acre up. For further information address the SOUTHSIDE REALTY CO., Inc., Petersburg, Va.

VIRGINIA FARMS and HOMES

FREE CATALOGUE of Splendid Bargains.
R. B. CHAFFIN & CO., Inc., RICHMOND, VA.

NO COAL FAMINE IN VIRGINIA. Good market. Splendid climate. Land $10 per acre. Catalog free. Good farms to exchange. J. B. YOUNG & CO., Box 753, Richmond, Va.

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

MASURY'S HOUSE PAINT

THE PAINT WITH THE LONGEST LIFE

There is no question about it.

Masury's House Paints have been submitted to every possible test during the past sixty-five years. They have withstood the attacks of extreme heat, extreme cold, moisture and time. When properly applied on the proper surface they invariably give good accounts of themselves. Painters praise them because of their endurance and preservative qualities. Consumers endorse them because, by their use, they are spared the expense of repainting for the longest possible period. The wonderful success of the house of John W. Masury & Son for more than half a century is due to the care with which they select the ingredients used in the manufacture of their paints. Many substances could be used to lessen cost, but they are unhesitatingly rejected.

PURE LINSEED OIL

is used on account of its superior preservative qualities. The pigments ground with it are selected because experience has proved them to be best. In deciding upon paints for original painting or repainting you must remember it costs just as much to spread poor paints as it does to spread the best paints, and that in the interests of economy you should choose Masury's House Paints for the reason that they live the longest and retain their brilliancy of finish long after inferior paints have completely vanished. They are manufactured only by

John W. Masury & Son, New York and Chicago

THE PERSONAL TAXES

Amounts to be Paid in Townships of Red Lake Falls, Louisville and Lake Pleasant.

RED LAKE FALLS TWP.

Laflamboise, Wilfred	$ 1 31
" Israel	1 76
Emard, Eli	2 40
Constant, Napoleon	5 38
Mercier, Clem	9 17
Busse, Edward	10 44
Bose, Johathan	64
Bos, Joe	2 87
Porter, Gideon	6 40
Flanagan, John	7 01
Emard, Peter, jr	7 53
Gervais, Norman	5 10
Hagl, Frank	4 49
Sancartier, Cassimere	1 21
Akenson, Swan	2 23
Spelker, August C	17
Lohmkuhl, John	10 76
Froelich, E G	3 69
Marleau, William	2 79
Sutter, Leo	10 10
Hirsch, Conrad	4 80
Engebretson, E M	8 82
Gilde, Ghrist	4 42
Carlson, John	7 46
Gerlach, Carl	8 94
Leader, Herman	7 10
Finsand, Ole	9 03
Kees, Michael	8 73
Lumertz, John	8 02
Lasha, J H	5 27
Allison, A	5 38
Jahnke, Ludolph	14 09
Willer, George	2 97
Hendermark, Carl	5 60
Lasha, P	5 62
Nauman, John	3 86
" Conrad	13 07
Hendly, Sam	2 02
Witte, W F	2 50
Fritz, Harry	2 23
Steele, Matthew	3 80
Dutault, E S	2 89
Roe, Nels F	3 30
Latandresse, Francis	9 09
Bethka, Robert	5 15
Cyr, Paul	11 65
Sande, Joseph	8 88
Wolf, Herman	7 27
Baril, Ildaige	11 31
Lasha, Eli	3 88
Tolan, N	2 25
Finsand, Helen	4 04
Kortke, Fritz Mrs	48
Fernholz, Emma	1 58
Marleau, Nap	1 84

LOUISVILLE

Audette, Pierre	11 98
" Isadora	1 47
" Leon	21
Bouchin, Napoleon	15 24
Brunelle, Fred	6 99
Boivin, F J	11 51
Brunelle, Roderick	6 19
Bouchin, F	18 67
Barry, A D	6 91
Brunelle, Joel	5 26
Connaughty, Michael	8 85
Casavant, Napoleon	15 40
Clement, E	4 61
Colomb, Peter	8 39
Ducharme, Louis	19 36
Dolbeck, Benjamin	2 06
Elvidge, C F	17 28
Grenier, Francois	8 75
" Eugene	02
Gerlach, Henry	7 55
Grenier, F P	70
Huot, Edward	02
Huot, Arthur	9 98
Hilse, Erast	23 09
Huot, John	5 35
Huot, Cherist	1 38
Jones, J M	11 86
Lizotte, Damase	8 58
Lizotte, Antoine	14 53
Lacoursire, Emil	7 63
Lizotte, Juel	6 85
Lizotte, Joseph	7 73
Lizotte, Dennis	3 06
Lizotte, Fred	1 10
Lacosse, John	17 95
Marcott, George	37
" N W	37
" Alfonse	6 13
" Joseph	7 28
Mathews, J F	24 28
Noel, Joseph	9 98
Niel, Edwin	3 88
Noel, Antoine	4 43
O'Niel, Runer	3 51
O'Neil, David	4 58
Pepin, George	9 98
Provost, Joseph	8 90
Piovost, Raoul	5 91
Patur, John	4 88
Pepin, Ferdinand	4 11
Provost, O	77
Patnode, Marcell	14 18
Rol, Napoleon	11 52
Raymond, Joseph	2 04
Roy, Lovelt	14 18
Raymood, George	5 88
Red Lake Falls Milling Co	25 49
St Mitchell, Alpnonse	11 86
Schmidt, Christine	4 45
Sehulz, Herman	12 67
St Michel, Alfred	6 07
Sehmidt, Fred	9 48
Schultz, J R	2 71
Schwalenberg, Jake	7 30
Vanee, Russel E	6 13
Wilfred, C D	5 81
Zutz, Alphonse	7 37

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure.

Mr. Murray's family, the widow, two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1316 Nicollet Ave, Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

LAKE PLEASANT

Arel, Telesphore	17 29
Bjorgo, Erick	7 70
Callller, McLea	1 87
Champoux, Dolphis	14 81
Champoux, Adelard	27
Cardinal, Hubert	11 21
Columbus, Florestine	11 15
Desmarais, Phillip	13 86
Ducharme, M	1 59
Demann, W	58
" W C L	13 67
Delorme, Cuer	6 01
Dupont, Encariste	19 50
Delorme, Ambroise	23 08
" Marie	7 01
Frinke, Albert	5 02
Glass' F E	8 53
Glass, J H	3 53
Hunter, J H	94
Jacobson, Theodore	9 04
Kellogg, F A	20 01
Laurant, Adelard	9 10
Luxemberger, Sam	11 81
" George	9 42
Mayer, Eddie	10 14
Marchildon, George	7 18
Nelson, Carl	10 11
Nelson, James	5 71
Prudhomme, Joseph	15 85
Perrault, Joseph	10 23
Page, Joseph	8 71
Page, Fosuna	3 95
Purath, Ernest	6 98
Pensonault, Francis	8 74
Quesnell, Michael	15 32
St. Mars, Eugeae	6 70
Scharmer, Gust	4 80
Seboemauer, Paul	15 43
Seharper, Wm	15 70
Thorpe Elevator Co	18 87
Trudeau, Raphael	12 95
Weiss, Minnie	9 90
Waldorf Mathies	8 47
Welsh, T B	6 02

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF PETER MARTEL.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake } In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Martel, Decedent:

The State of Minnesota to Joseph Martel and all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court his final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with his petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled: Therefore, You, And Each of You, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the city Red Lake Falls, in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 1st day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the seal of said court, this 9th day of January, 1907. —N. W. Tarrant,
(Court Seal) Probate Judge.
Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Petitioner. j10-24

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF CHARLES W. CRESS.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake } ss.
In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the estate of Charles W. Cress Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Louisa E. Cress, Cora Ellen Cress, Emma May Cress and Floyd J. H. D. Cress, all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court her final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with her petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 2 o'clock p. m., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the seal of said Court, this 8th day of January, 1907. N. W. Tarrant, (Seal) j10-j31 Probate Judge.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
The Kind You Have Always Bought

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL

ESTATE OF ANDREW R. PETERSON

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake } ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew R. Peterson, decedent:

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA TO Mathilda Krane, August R. Peterson and Clause Peterson and all persons interested in the allowance and probate of the will of said decedent:

The petition of Clause Peterson being duly filed in this court, representing that Andrew R. Peterson, then a resident of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, died on the 14th day of December, 1906, leaving a last will and testament which is presented to this court with said petition, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that letters of administration with the will annexed be issued thereon to Andrew R. Peterson.

NOW THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of January, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

WITNESS THE HONORABLE N. W. TARRANT, Judge of said court, and the seal of said court, this 18th day of December, 1906.
(Seal) N. W. Tarrant,
Judge of Probate.
J. K. Hannay,
Attorney for Petitioner,
St. Hilaire, Minn. d20-j3

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of sixty ($60.00) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry J. Enderle, a single man, mortgagor, to the First State Bank of St. Hilaire, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of April, A. D., 1903, and with the power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of April, A. D., 1903, at two o'clock p. m., in Book 29 of Mortgages, on page 26 thereof, which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said First State Bank of St. Hilaire, mortgagee, to De Nederlandsch-Amerikaansche Hypotheekbank (The Netherlands American Mortgage Bank) by written assignment, dated the 9th day of October, A. D., 1903, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deed on the 9th day of October, A. D., 1903, at 2:05 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages, on page 521.

AND WHEREAS, It is provided in and by the terms of said mortgage that if default be made in any of the terms and conditions of the said mortgage, the assignee or the mortgagee and holder of the said mortgage might declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable.

AND WHEREAS, Under the terms and conditions of the said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained, the said assignee and holder of the said mortgage has duly elected and hereby does duly elect to declare and does hereby declare the whole principal sum of the said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice.

AND WHEREAS, There is actually due and claimed to be due and payable thereon at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand One Hundred Two and 40-100 ($1,102.40) Dollars, and the power of sale having become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt remaining secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statue in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, namely: The North-west Quarter (N. W. ¼) of section twenty-four (24) in Township one hundred fifty-two (152) north of range forty-four (44) west of the 5th principal meridian, in Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 18th day of January, A. D., 1907, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the said debt of One Thousand One hundred two and 40 100 ($1,102.40) Dollars, and interest thereon, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-Five ($75) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 1st, 1906.
De Nederlandsch-Amerikaansche Hypotheekbank.
(The Netherlands American Mortgage Bank,)
Assignee of Mortgagee.
Wm. J. Brown.
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Warren, Minnesota. d6-j17

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred, Fifty-six and 4-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by C. A. Steen (a single men) Mortgagor, to Sadie O. Elwood, Mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of March, 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1903, at 2:10 o'clock P. M., in Book 21 of Mortgages on page 142.

That since the execution and delivery of said mortgage the mortgagee, Sadie O. Elwood has married and that her name is now Sadie O. Grady, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The northeast quarter (NE¼) of section number twenty-eight (28), township number one hundred and fifty (150) north, range number forty-four (44) west of the 5th Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres of land, according to the U. S. Government survey thereof, be the same more or less, in Red Lake county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred, fifty-six and 4-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 18th, A. D., 1906.
Sadie O. Grady,
formerly Sadie O. Elwood,
Mortgagee.
Germo & Farley,
Attorneys for the Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minn. d20-f24

TIME CARD
OF TRAINS.

DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAYS

North Bound
No. 155 From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 am
South Bound.
No. 156 departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn
F. A. MIZEN, Agent.

PORTABLE VILLAGES.

Turcomans Move Their Houses From Place to Place.

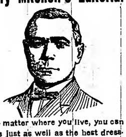
The Turcomans, who live on the eastern shore of the Caspian sea, carry their villages about with them when they travel. As a tribe sets out on a journey every man packs his wooden house upon a camel, which the animal can easily carry, and when a spot is reached where he and his friends intend to remain for any great length of time the camels are unloaded and a village started which it takes about an hour or so to build.

It is to be remembered that the houses are real houses and not tents and that the settlement is not a camp, but a village. The traveling house of the Turcoman is a marvel of skill and ingenuity and is really much lighter, more portable and can be packed into a much smaller compass than any of the so called portable houses that are manufactured and sold in some parts of our country.

The frame is made of strong, light wood laths about an inch broad by three-quarters of an inch thick, crossing each other when set up in position at right angles about a foot apart and fastened at each crossing by the thongs of rawhide so as to be movable, and the whole framework may be opened or shut in the same manner as those toys for children that consist of a squad of wooden soldiers and will expand or close at will so as to form open or close columns.

One part or more made in this way and all inclosing a circle fifteen or twenty feet across form the skeleton of the walls and are firmly secured in place by bands of ropes made of hair or wool fastened round the end of each rod. From the upper ends of these rods similar rods bent near the wall and into something less than a right angle are so disposed that the longer portions slope to the center and, being tied with rope, form the roof.

Over this is thrown a covering of black felt, having in the center a large hole which answers both for a window and a chimney. Large pieces of the same coarse black felt are wrapped round the walls, and outside these, to keep all tight, is bound another frame of split reeds or canes or of some very light, tough wood bound closely together with strong cords.



Harry Mitchell's Editorial

No matter where you live, you can dress just as well as the best dressed city man. Write me for samples and self-measurement blank, and for $15, $20, and $25 I'll make to your order as good a suit or overcoat as any other tailor would charge you $30, $35, and $40 for. I will guarantee perfect fit and satisfaction or no pay; and, further, will pay all Express charges, so your clothes cost no more than the city chap's. Write today to
HARRY MITCHELL, 310 Nicollet Ave. MINNEAPOLIS.

DR. N. M. WATSON
Physician and Surgeon
Graduate of McGill University, Montreal.
Office over First State Bank.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.
DENTIST
Offices in LaBissoniere Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.
At St Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley
GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys at-Law
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 47 Collections attended to.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
TIME TABLE
THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West				Going East
8:15 pm	Lv	St. Paul	Ar.	7:45 am
8:50 pm		Minneapolis		7:10 am
8:15 pm		Duluth		7:10 am
9:15am		Crookston		6:45pm
10:00am		Dugdale		6:00pm
10:35am		RED LAKE FALLS		5:25pm
11:05am		St. Hilaire		4:55pm
11:35am		Thief River Falls		4:30pm
12:01am		Steiner		4:05pm
12:15am		Sandridge		3:52pm
12:40am		Middle River		3:21pm
1:05pm		Strathcona		2:57pm
1:35pm	Ar	Greenbush	Lv	2:25pm

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from
J. L. TRACY, Agent
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER
MAIN STREET, - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet Pure and Wholesome.
It's All The What
That's Fit To Eat.

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near oor idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS
MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..
BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats
Fish and Game in Season.
Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.
TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

TWO MONTHS' TUITION FREE and your car fare paid by the........
UNION
Commercial College
Complete Business; Shorthand, English and Banking Courses. Every graduate in position. Write for particulars and Free Catalogue.
UNION COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,
THACKER & HUGHES, Props. Grand Forks, North Dako

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains
Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY
Grand View Hotel
Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City
W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

HIDES
10 to 50% more Spot Cash for HIDES and RAW FURS by shipping to us than by selling at home. Fair dealings. Prompt cash returns. Best prices for HIDES, PELTS, RAW FURS, WOOL, ETC. Write for Price List, Market Report, shipping tags and how to obtain our Hunters' & Trappers' Guide. We are the most responsible Hide and Fur House in the N. W. Endorsed by 100 leading agricultural papers.
ANDERSCH BROS., Department 66, - - - MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

ESTABLISHED 1867
SHIP YOUR HIDES, FURS, WOOL, ETC.
DIRECT TO US AND SAVE SMALL DEALERS' PROFITS.
D. BERGMAN & CO., ST. PAUL, MINN.
TOP MARKET PRICES, IMMEDIATE CASH RETURNS
WRITE FOR PRICE LIST AND SHIPPING TAGS.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 17, 1907 No 16

RED LAKE COUNTY WINS ADDED LAURELS

NEW HEALTH BOARD

Under New Law County Commissioners Create A Health Board for Red Lake County.

In compliance with the provision of a law of 1905, the board of county commissioners on Tuesday last appointed the members of the county board of health to hold office in Red Lake county. The law requires that the board shall consist of a physician and two members of the board of county commissioners. Those appointed are Dr. Cummings of St. Hilaire, and Commissioners Hemann and Aubol.

The state having required that each county in the state should have a county board of health, the question naturally arises, what are the duties devolving upon the members of the board. The physician appointed is known as the county health officer and it shall be his duty to make quarterly reports to the state board as to the general sanitary condition of the county, such reports having special reference to communicable diseases. Special attention must be given to rabies and glanders. He shall also keep close watch over apparent epidemic or endemic diseases, see that the proper returns of births and deaths are made, note the condition of slaughter houses and rendering establishments, reporting to the state secretary from time to time. In short, the officer has general supervision of sanitary affairs in this county, calling upon the state board of health, when, in his opinion, conditions demand it. These county officers meet once annually at the call of the state board. All necessary expenses are met by the county board of commissioners. It is believed that the new county board of health will be a source of economy to the county in that it shall advise local boards of health how to proceed in dealing with sanitary problems, and audit bills for the care and control of contagious diseases.

VIGOROUS DIRECTIONS

Are Given To Land Office Authorities By Washington Department.

Register Montague and Receiver Peterson of the Crookston U. S. Land office have received the following important order from the secretary of the interior:

"It shall be the duty of the special agent on receipt of any charge or complaint or upon information being acquired by him from any source, that an unlawful inclosure is being maintained by any person or persons, association, or corporation, to at once proceed to secure sufficient data, including a description of the lands inclosed, with reasonable certainty, not necessarily by metes and bounds, nor by Government subdivisions of surveyed land, but only so that the inclosure may be identified and the person or persons guilty of the violation, as nearly as may be, and by description if the name can not, on reasonable inquiry, be ascertained, and to at once submit such case, with the data thus obtained, to the United States attorney for prosecution.

"It shall be the duty of the special agent, and he shall so instructed, to be on the alert and vigilant to detect the existance of unlawful inclosures in his district and to proceed in accordance therewith as hereinabove directed, and that he is not to construe his duties as requiring that before proceeding in the matter of an unlawful inclosure, there must first be filed with him a formal complaint by some person or persons acquainted with the facts, but it shall be his duty as hereinbefore stated, to take the initiative himself."

WILL MEET SOON.

County Teachers Will Gather at Thief River in February.

The next meeting of the Red Lake county teachers association will be held at Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday, February 22 and 23, and the committe in charge of the meeting are already busy arranging for a program that will be the best in the history of the association.

As the 22nd is Washington's birthday anniversary it is planned to make the program for that day patriotic to a large extent, and the teachers will be called upon to arrange many novel features for this day's exercises.

Several prominent valley educators will be present, and nothing will be left undone to make the gathering one well worth attending.

The complete program will be published as soon as the committee gets it completed.

Young People Wed.

Linus Holberg, a prominent young man of this city, and Miss Gena Sedig, daughter of John Sedig, of Emardville township, were married at Thief River Falls Tuesday of this week by Rev. I. T. Aastad. They returned here on the evening train and are at present stopping at the Grand View, but will go to housekeeping within a short time. Linus has for several years been a valued employee of the Red Lake Falls Milling company holding one of the most important positions in the plant, and is considered as one of Red Lake Falls' steadiest and best young men. The bride is a young lady of great popularity in her own town and is known by many people here, having been at one time a resident of this city. The Gazette joins with the many friends of the young couple in a wish for continued happiness and prosperity.

WILL ADVERTISE CITY

Commercial Club To Take Part in The Publicity Campaign.

On Monday evening the Commercial Club held its regular monthly meeting in the city hall. About fifty members were present which considering the size of the club, is a good attendance and shows that the mission of the organization—that of keeping our citizens in touch with matters of interest to the city and surrounding country—is bearing fruit and promises to be one of the principal factors in the development and progress of Red Lake Falls and vicinity.

The matter of joining the Red River Valley Improvement and Immigration association in an advertising campaign of the resources and advantages of this section of the country was brought up for continued consideration. After hearing the report of the committee for soliciting subscriptions it was concluded that sufficient funds were assured for this city to take part in the movement as planned by the Improvement and Immigration association. Upon submitting the question to a vote it was carried almost unanimously in the affirmative, and P. B. Gaass was then elected as a delegate to attend the meeting of the association which was held at Fargo yesterday, Wednesday.

D. J. Doran was elected secretary of the club to fill out the unexpired term of W. S. Cox, whose resignation was tendered at the last meeting.

That interest in the Commercial club is growing was apparent from the number in attendance at the meeting Monday evening and it is hoped that a still larger number will be present when the club meets in February.

Exhibit of Wheat Grown Here Runs Off With First Honors In State Seed Grain Fair.

Olaf Nelson, of Black River Township, Carries Off The Glory And With It A Cash Prize Of $200.---Means Much To Red Lake County.

Olaf Nelson, son of N. A. Nelson of River Falls township, is the lucky winner of the first prize for wheat in the state seed grain contest held at Minneapolis last week, and as a result the young man will receive the sum of $200 in cash, besides the high honor the award carries with it.

The rural school seed grain contest was started by the experiment station of the State University last winter, and early in the year the plans were laid before the county superintendents of the the different counties, urging them to co-operate with the station and endeavor to make the plan a success all along the line. While the plans as outlined meant a considerable amount of work for the county superintendents, nevertheless in a large number of counties they were looked upon with general favor, and the subject of rural school agriculture was taken up with a vim.

Red Lake county was in the game from the start, and despite many obstacles Superintendent McAnulty took up the slogan and commenced early to work for a big bunch of contestants in this county. He interviewed the business men of Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls and secured a long list of cash and valuable articles to be hung up as prizes in the county contest, as an incentive for the young people of the county schools to get into the game. The work of grading the prizes and arranging details was a difficult one, but Mr. McAnulty was not scared by a little work and when the spring breakup came so that the work could be started, he had awakened a great interest in the plan, and a large number of contestants were at once competing for the prizes. Mr. McAnulty aided them in every way possible by giving them the rules from the state experimental station governing the raising of the grains, and urging them to greater efforts.

The work of the Red Lake county contestants was carried on in full accordance with all directions and rules, and when the county seed grain fair was held in this city December 1, an exceptionally large number of exhibits were at hand. In the wheat contest which was judged by Prof. Robertson, of the Crookston Experimental farm, the exhibit of Peter Lachance, of Terrebonne, was awarded first, and that of Olaf Nelson, of River Falls, second. These exhibits with the prize winners in the oats and corn contests were sent to Minneapolis to be entered in the state seed grain fair, which was held in that city last week under the auspices of the experimental station.

A. D. Shamel, of Illinois, considered the best grain expert in the west, was the judge of the exhibits, and decided that the exhibit of wheat raised by Mr. Nelson was the best in the contest, and the first prize of $200 was awarded accordingly. Thus it was that the wheat termed second best in the county contest by Expert Robertson was given the first award in the state contest by Expert Shamel, a fact which should be proof conclusive that Red Lake county today excells the world in the matter of quality wheat raising.

The outcome of this contest cannot help but be gratifying to the people of Red Lake county, who are interested in its future welfare. Minnesota has long been considered the prize winner of the wheat states, and the advertisement that Red Lake county now gets as the best agricultural county of the best agricultural state cannot help resounding to its future and everlasting good.

Red Lake county exhibitors have won first honors time after time in the butter and cheese contests of the state, proving thereby its fitness as a diversified farming field, and with the added glory the wheat contest brings to us, we can lay just claim to being the leading "bread and butter" county of the greatest commonwealth of the nation. The value of such an advertisement cannot be overrated, and to those who have been responsible for this condition of affairs too much praise cannot be given.

Without detracting one iota of glory from the young man who was justly honored last week, The Gazette believes that a corresponding amount is due Superintendent of Schools McAnulty for the part he has played in the matter. There is not a doubt but what the contestants of this county went into the contest with as much or more enthusiasm as those of any county contesting, and they were at all times aided and encouraged by the county superintendent, and that the work has resulted so successfully is just cause for Mr. McAnulty to feel well repaid for the time and efforts spent along this line.

The following letter from D. D. Mayne, principal of the State School of Agriculture is self-explanatory:

SUPT. H. T. MCANULTY,
Red Lake Falls, Minn,

Dear Superintendent McAnulty:—

I take great pleasure in informing you that Mr. Olaf Nelson of St. Hilaire in your county secured the first prize in the State contest in growing wheat. This prize amounts to $200 in cash. Will you please convey this information to Mr. Nelson with our most hearty congratulations.

I sincerely hope that this large prize may be the means of greatly stimulating the work of growing better grain in your county and that all the students in your schools may take up the study with greater interest.

Will you kindly fill out the enclosed blank and return to me at your earliest convenience. In the case of the very large prizes we feel it due to the donors that they receive some assurance from the county superintendents that the grain submitted was grown in accordance with the rules. I have no doubt but that this will be entirely satisfactory to you.

Hoping that you may be able to secure a photograph of the winner for us, and the composition requested, I am,

Yours very truly,
—D. D. MAYNE,
Principal.

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Wanted:—Gentleman or lady to travel for mercantile house of large capital. Territory at home or abroad to suit. If desirable the home may be used as headquarters. Weekly salary of $1,000 per year and expenses. Address, with stamp, Jos. A. Alexander, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.---First State Bank. Red Lake Falls.

WHALEN WILL COME.

Red Lake County Gets Hustling Citizen Through Deal Last Week.

A deal was made through President Garceau, of the First State Bank last week, whereby this part of Red Lake county secures a new citizen in the person of Thomas Whalen, of LeSueur, this state, who purchased the northeast quarter of Section 4, Red Lake Falls—the Gideon Poirier farm—Saturday last. The consideration was $4500, all cash.

Mr. Whalen spent several days of last week here visiting with Messrs. Groshong and Blake, old-time comrades, and became so favorably impressed with this part of the valley that he decided to locate here, and through Mr. Garceau secured one of the finest farming properties in this neighborhood.

Mr. Whalen is a man of many years experience as a farmer and stock raiser, and will be a valuable addition to this part of the state. For a long time past he has been engaged in the horse business extensively and has earned a reputation throughout his part of the state as the life of the horse market. He intends to make a model farm out of his property here, and will continue in the blooded stock business as he did in southern Minnesota.

Mr. Whalen has for several years been an expert horse judge at the Minnesota state fair, and was also employed in the same capacity at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1892.

He is also a lover of "speeders" as well as other good horse flesh and has several horses in his string that can go some when occasion presents itself.

He will move his family here early in the spring to take up his residence on his new property, and will go in to win. He is thoroughly familiar with the work he will undertake here, and that he will be successful can never be doubted for an instant.

Mr. Whalen's son, George, arrived here Saturday to look after his father's interests until such time as he can get here.

The Gazette is pleased to know that Mr. Whalen is to become a resident of great and growing Red Lake county, and is sanguine in its opinion that he will never regret his move.

DONE GOOD WORK.

Contractor James Brady, of This City, Completes Two Big Jobs.

Contractor James Brady of this city arrived home last Saturday from Kelliher, Beltrami county, where he has just completed a fine new school building. The building was inspected and accepted by the school board last Thursday, and Mr. Brady was very highly complimented on the quality of work he done. The new structure is about 50 feet square, two stories, and is finished in an elegant manner throughout. The lower floor is divided into two rooms for school purposes, while the upper part is to be used as a city hall. Mr. Brady used the finest material and put on his best workmanship, which gives the Kelliher people a school house that will long stand as a credit to their city.

Mr. Brady also built a $5000 school building at Big Falls earlier in the year, starting the work June 10 and completing the building on October 10. This building was also a very nice one, and the work pleased the people of Big Falls immensely.

Mr. Brady has a good reputation throughout that part of the state as a first-class contractor, and will undoubtedly get other work up there the coming season.

200 cords dry poplar wood for sale, delivered at your door. C. E. Boughton. d6tf

THE REGULAR CONCERT

Local Band Organization Practicing Hard For Their Next Appearance

The next public appearance of the Red Lake Falls band in concert work will be on Friday evening, January 25th, when the regular January program will be given.

Prof. Bruckman now has the band well in hand, and is arranging an attractive program for the concert on the 25th.

A number of new selections will be on the program, besides several of the good old numbers, and the people can depend on hearing something extra good on this date.

The usual specialties will be introduced, to make the program varied and interesting.

The following is the program:

PART I.

March, - - - - Gomuelute
"Cheer Up."
Overture, - - - - - Suppe
"Jolly Robbers."
Cornet Duet, - - - Ellenberg
"Kindred Souls."
Clem Brunelle, H. H. Gareeau.
Waltz, - - - - - - Fox
"Dorothy Vernon."
Quartette, - - - - Selected
Messrs. Bruckman, Healy, Berthon, Tracy.

PART II.

March, - - - - - Selected
Medley Overture, - - - O'Hara
"The Star."
Recitation, - - - - Selected
Duet for Cornet and Trombone, - - - - - Barnard
"The Pals,"
Clem Brunelle, H. Healy.
March, - - - - - McFall
"The New King."

FINAL LYCEUM NUMBER

Colonial Saxophone Quartette On February 11th Will Complete The Series

The final number in the series of entertainments furnished by the Midland Lyceum Bureau, will be given at the opera house on the evening of Tuesday, February 11th, when the Colonial Saxophone Quartette, said to be the best of the series, will appear in a varied program.

The company is composed of four young musicians who come recommended as finished artists in their line. They are all vocal soloists, all soloists on the saxophone, three are cornetists and one a violinist, so that the combination cannot help but be an interesting and highly entertaining one, that will please everyone who attends.

The Lyceum course has been very successful both from a financial as well as an entertainment standpoint, and the Study Club deserves the thanks of all for taking up and carrying out the work of arranging for these entertainments.

The Saxophone Quartette will be a fitting finish to an excellent line of entertainments, and the capacity of the hall should be taxed to accommodate the people who will attend.

NOTICE.

To the Public: The impression has erroneously gotten abroad that the G. A. Kaakel and Hunt Hardware company are still owned and controlled jointly by the undersigned and Mr. Hunt. I desire to impress upon the minds of the people that this an error, absolutely without foundation, as I am and expect to be in the future absolutely independent of and not connected with any business concern in Red Lake Falls or Red Lake county.

I am prepared to give the trade good values in all branches of the hardware business, and respectfully invite comparison of prices with any like concern in the valley.

Respectfully soliciting your business, and assuring you that I will treat you right at all times, I am

Yours for business,
G. A. Kaakel,
The Hardware Man.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS. · MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

The house of representatives, in committee of the whole, refused to strike out of the army appropriation bill an item of $1,000,000 to pay the expenses of state militia participating in encampments of the regular army.

The subcommittee of the senate committee on Indian affairs agreed to report an amendment to the Indian appropriation bill striking out the appropriation for the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa.

A resolution providing for a sweeping investigation of the conduct of United States Senator J. W. Bailey, of Texas, was introduced in the house of representatives of the state legislature, signed by 28 members.

Senators Foraker and Lodge debated the president's discharge of colored troops, and Senator Gearin criticised his attitude toward the Japanese in America.

MISCELLANEOUS.

James Cullen, who had murdered his wife and stepson, was taken from jail at Charles City, Ia., and hanged by a mob that included four ministers and several women.

Suits to dissolve the alleged Gould merger of railways and other concerns were filed by Attorney General Hadley, of Missouri.

Lieut. Gen. Vladimir Pavloff, advocate general of the Russian army, was killed by an assassin at St. Petersburg.

Twenty-seven men were enveloped in molten metal and killed and seven others fatally hurt by the explosion of a steel furnace in Pittsburg, Pa.

Exposures of the methods of the transcontinental railroads of America in distributing the nation's traffic were made in Chicago when J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the great Harriman railway properties, became a witness before the interstate commerce commission.

Two masked bandits held up an interurban electric car near Brooklyn, Ill., and after firing several shots, robbed the conductor of $40 and made their escape.

David Overmyer, probably the most prominent Democratic politician in Kansas, died at his home in Topeka, aged 60 years.

Pinning to his clothes a note saying that "life is a rarebit dream," Albert A. Chittenden, an artist, committed suicide by inhaling gas in his apartments in New York.

Mrs. Maria Novack, aged 70 years, wife of Thomas Novack, living near Holding, Minn., was found dead in the woods about two miles from her home.

Young Corbett was whipped in a six-round bout at Philadelphia by Tommy Murphy.

A charter was granted at Atlanta, Ga., to the Savannah, Augusta & Northern Railroad company to construct a line from Savannah to Rossville, Ga.

Archbishop George Montgomery is dangerously ill at the Adler sanitarium in San Francisco.

The Japanese budget for the next fiscal year, which the government expects to present soon, provides an expenditure of 611,000,000 yen (about $305,000,000).

Plans for a new 20-story hotel to occupy the entire block in Broadway from Thirty-second to Thirty-third street, New York, are being prepared.

High water has caused thousands of dollars worth of damage around Iroquois, Ill. Railroad tracks are inundated for miles and homes completely submerged.

John H. Graham, founder of the Graham & Morton Transportation company, which runs one of the largest lines of boats plying between Chicago and the east shore of Lake Michigan, died at St. Joseph, Mich.

Gov. Folk, of Missouri, granted a respite until January 17 to William Spaugh, under sentence to be executed for the murder of Sheriff Polk.

Miss Beatrice Kobbe, niece of Maj. Gen. W. A. Kobbe, U. S. A., and Raymond D. Little, the well-known tennis player, were married in All Angels' Protestant Episcopal church, New York.

Mrs. A. B. Sims, prominent in Des Moines, Iowa, society and holder of the national whist championship, created a sensation in Des Moines by denouncing whist playing at the University Place Church of Christ, and declaring that she never again would touch cards.

Andrew Carnegie has given $50,000 to build a Creek memorial at Okmulgee, I. T., in honor of the celebrated Creek chief Esparhacker.

The total number of immigrants admitted during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, was 1,100,735, beating all records.

Eighteen Chinamen who had been smuggled across the river were caught by immigration officers at El Paso, Tex., as they were loading their belongings into a Santa Fe box car.

Citizens of North Yakima raided a coal train and carried off 20 carloads of fuel.

Reckon, one of the greatest race mares and dams in America, died at the Dixiana stud, Lexington, Ky.

Operator W. M. Dutrow and seven trainmen were held by the coroner's jury for the wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio at Terra Cotta.

Republican legislators of South Dakota indorsed Robert J. Gamble to succeed himself as United States senator.

Robbers blew open the vault of a bank at Bonfield and escaped with $800.

The Santa Fe railway was indicted twice by a federal grand jury at Los Angeles, Cal., for giving rebates on lime shipments.

The mills at Minneapolis, were forced to close for lack of cars.

Muzaffar-Ed-Din, shah of Persia, died at Teheran after a long illness.

Mexican troops killed 30 riotous strikers at Nogales and wounded more than 80, after the mobs had destroyed property valued at $1,500,000.

Fire gutted a great portion of the large plant of the Michigan Stove Works in Detroit, causing a loss estimated at $750,000, while the entire plant was insured for but $380,000. One spectator was killed and several others were injured.

The Republican members of the Minnesota legislature in caucus nominated United States Senator Knute Nelson to succeed himself. This is equivalent to election.

A lamp being used by Mrs. Elle J. Longley, of St. Louis, exploded, covering her with oil, and she was burned to death.

The election of Congressman Joseph M. Dixon to the United States senate to succeed Senator Clark, was assured at Helena, Mont., a caucus of the Republican members of the legislature giving him 49 votes to 22 for former Senator Lee Mantle.

After running wild for miles at 75 miles an hour, the Northwestern fast mail was saved from destruction by Engineer Shull, who, scalded nearly to death, made his way to the express car and pulled the air brakes rope.

At a meeting of the London Aero club it was decided to send a challenge for the James Gordon Bennett aeronautic race to take place at St. Louis in October. Three competitors will be sent.

The United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati upheld the constitutionality of the Kentucky law empowering the governor to appoint a racing board to control horse racing in the state.

Congressman Slayden, of Texas, said in the house that negroes were not fit to be American soldiers.

Senator Overman, of North Carolina, addressed the senate in opposition to the proposed federal child labor laws, his opposition being based on the broad ground of state rights.

Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz, of San Francisco, through his attorneys petitioned the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus, alleging that he was being illegally deprived of his liberty. The writ was granted.

An immediate investigation of the alleged exposure of cruelty and inhumanity by attendants at the Cleveland state hospital for the insane was ordered by Gov. Harris, of Ohio.

Free mail delivery was restored in those portions of New Orleans which were cut off January 1 by order of the postmaster general on account of improper sidewalk facilities.

France has a population of 39,252,267, according to the latest census. This is an increase of only 290,322 over that shown by the census of 1905.

Prof. E. T. Cox, a prominent member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, died at his home in Jacksonville, Fla., aged 86 years.

The legal battle started by the state of Minnesota to determine the necessity for the issue of the proposed $60,000,000 worth of Great Northern railroad stock began in the Ramsey county district court at St. Paul, before Judge Hallam.

President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe told the interstate commerce commission in Chicago that the first intimation he had that the Union Pacific owned $10,000,000 of Santa Fe stock was in the press dispatches from New York.

Edward De Morny, editor of Judy, of London, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment for publishing obscene advertisements.

Harry K. Allen, charged with embezzling $7,000 as recorder of the Kansas City chapter of Shriners, was bound over to the criminal court Tuesday. He is one of the best known Shriners in the United States.

Near Cairo, Ill., thousands of acres of land were flooded and the loss of live stock and corn was heavy.

The store of the Henkin Mercantile company was burned at Plainview, Neb., the loss being estimated at $50,000.

The entire family of George Devino, at Winooski, Vt., consisting of six persons, the father, mother and four children, were killed by illuminating gas which entered the house from a break in the street main through a sewer pipe.

Col. William C. Williams, a well-known veteran of the civil war, died at Indianapolis after four days' illness with pneumonia.

During a storm the Greek sailing boat Urania went on the rocks near Ancona, Italy, and was wrecked. Thirteen members of the crew were drowned.

The strike of the Southern Pacific was formally declared off at Houston, Tex., following the signing of an agreement by officials of the road and the unions.

The equestrian statue of Gen. George B. McClellan in Washington will be unveiled on May 15.

Attorney General Jackson, on behalf of the people of the state of New York, entered suit in the supreme court against George B. McClellan, praying that the latter be ousted from the office of mayor of the city of New York on the ground that he has usurped and unlawfully holds such office, whereas William Randolph Hearst is legally entitled to the same.

The City of Panama was buffeted by a furious storm and several of the crew were washed overboard, one drowning.

Joseph C. Rogers, New York manager for the Pittsburg Steel Plate company, was found dead in bed at Upton, Mass., the cause being heart disease.

Reliable information has been received at Washington of a prospective influx of over 2,000 Japanese into the United States from Mexico.

A Southern Pacific engine blew up at Curry, Texas, killing Fireman Garliaghouse and Engineer Walter Hshertin.

Mollie Thorson, living near Erhard, Minn., said a masked man covered with a sheet entered her house and shot her.

Gov. Hughes of New York granted a requisition for William Stinson, of Terre Haute, Ind., on a charge of burglary. Stinson was the vice president of the National Mine Workers of America for the Eleventh district of Indiana.

Alfred E. Davis, the last of the pioneer railroad builders of California, died at Alameda, aged 79 years. He was associated with the late James J. Fair in railroad enterprises.

A dispatch from Colombo reports immense tidal waves on the south coast of Ceylon Friday a few hours after a seismograph had recorded a submarine earthquake 2,000 miles to the southeast.

An Omaha passenger train struck a sleigh containing Miss Mattie Clemons, aged 22, and her brother, aged 17, on a grade crossing in the town of Union, near Eau Claire, Wis. Miss Clemons' head was cut off; the boy may recover.

Coroner Kline of Dayton, O., has exonerated the Gilman family in connection with the murder of Dora Gilman. He says he believes Davis Curtis, who was tried and dismissed in a magistrate's court, is guilty of the murder.

The will of A. J. Cassatt leaves his estate of $5,000,000 to the widow and three children.

The Chinese trading quarter of Bangkok was devastated by fire, the loss being about $3,000,000.

Japanese poachers have found short shrift on the Kamchatkan peninsula, according to advices received by the steamer Empress of Japan. The Jiji Shimpo says investigations show that 40 Japanese vessels have disappeared since 1904, and that 400 men are missing.

Postmaster General Cortelyou resigned the chairmanship of the Republican national committee and Harry S. New of Indiana became acting chairman.

One of three firemen buried in the debris of a New York fire was found to be alive and was rescued after eight hours of digging.

The safety vault at the Peoria, Ill., public library was blown open and all records of defalcation in the case of Newton C. Dougherty, former superintendent of schools of that city, were stolen and afterward burned in the furnace in the building.

William H. Bailey, who was trainmaster in charge of the supplies for the army commanded by Gen. Grant during the civil war, died at St. Louis from Bright's disease.

A runaway team dashed into a crowd at New York, killing a baby in its carriage and so injuring the child's mother and three other children that they can hardly survive.

Corporal Knowles of the Twenty-fifth infantry, colored, was arrested for the murderous assault on Capt. E. B. Macklin at Fort Reno.

Rollo Steele, formerly of Chicago and Garner, Iowa, being refused a loan of $5,000 by the Fourth Street National bank of Philadelphia, threw a bomb that killed himself and the cashier, injured six others and wrecked the bank.

Zinat, Raisuli's stronghold, was captured by the Moroccan army and he and his followers fled to the mountains.

All the negro troops now in the United States have been ordered to prepare for service in the Philippines.

Miss Mary F. Johnson, sister-in-law of Gov. Guild of Massachusetts, eloped with and married a titled sewing machine agent.

Frederick R. Martin, of Portland, Ore., shot and slightly wounded his wife, shot to death Miss Emma Helms, his sister-in-law, and then sent a bullet into his own head.

A convention of shippers in Chicago decided to ask President Roosevelt to issue a special message urging demurrage legislation.

Papers were signed for the settlement of the Southern Pacific firemen's strike.

Missionaries in the Pacific islands declare that France has ceded Tahiti to Great Britain in consideration of territorial concessions in Burma or Further India (Indo-China).

A statement issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor announces that this country now ranks third in the value of manufactures entering the world's internal commerce, the amount of its exports for the past year having aggregated more than $700,000,000

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

IS NOW IN FULL SWING AT THE STATE CAPITAL.

Several Important Measures are Intruced Including a Two cent Railroad Fare.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 7—Harmony prevailed at the caucus of the republican members of the senate at the Ryan hotel this afternoon, and the dove of peace was also present at the caucus of the republican representatives of the house, held this evening at the capitol. The senate caucus was practically in charge of Senator E. E. Smith, of Minneapolis, and there is every indication that the combination which worked in the senate two years ago has been reorganized this time, the members being brought into line by each one in the combination being given an appointment of some employee. The senate slate agreed upon was as follows:

Samuel A. Langum, of Preston, secretary.

W. H. Alton, of St. Paul, assistant secretary.

W. A. Simonton, of Glenwood, recording secretary.

Frank Holcomb, of St. Paul, enrolling clerk.

E. A. Nelson, of Hallock, engrossing clerk.

James H. Ege, of Minneapolis, sergeant-at-arms.

Rev. J. W. Eckman, of Dunnell, chaplain.

The action of the house caucus this evening was simply a ratification of agreements between steering committees arrived at during the day. The slate went through without a hitch, as follows:

Speaker, L. H. Johnson, Minneapolis.

Chief clerk, Adolph E. L. Johnson, Minneapolis.

First assistant clerk, Archibald H. Vernon, St. Paul.

Second assistant, Oscar Arneson, Herman.

Reading clerk, John T. Jones, Minneapolis.

Enrolling clerk, Lester Bartlett, Buffalo.

Engrossing clerk, D. W. Meeker, Moorhead.

Sergeant-at-arms, F. B. Selz, Red Wing.

Postmaster, Albert H. Spring, Rochester.

St. Paul. Minn., Jan. 8—At noon today the thirty-fifth Minnesota legislature came into existence with the calling to order of the state senate by Lieut. Gov. A. O. Eberhart and the opening of the house of representatives by Julius H. Schmahl, secretary of state. In the senate the members were sworn in by Charles M. Start, chief justice of the supreme court; in the house, by Calvin L. Brown, associate justice.

In both branches of the legislature the minority made some objection to the republican slates, but with no avail so far as changing of the schedules was concerned. In the house, Lawrence H. Johnson of Minneapolis was nominated for speaker by Judge H. G. Hicks of Minneapolis. Dr. J. H. Dorsey was nominated for speaker for the democrats by James Handlan of St. Paul. Johnson received 106 votes, Dorsey 13. The remainder of the slate then went through without any trouble. Adolph E. L. Johnson of Minneapolis received 116 votes for chief clerk, Archibald H. Vernon of St. Paul was elected first assistant, A score of men were employed as committee clerks, door, cloak room, and gallery keepers, etc., at the usual compensation of $5 a day.

The program followed by the senate was like that of the house, the adoption of the prepared slate and the doling out of a lot of minor jobs to waiting politicians. Samuel A. Langum of Preston was named secretary of the senate, a job he has held every two years for so long that only "the earliest settlers" can remember he ever had a predecessor. W. H. Alton of St. Paul, a new man, was named assistant secretary. Frank Holcomb of St Paul was named enrolling clerk. E. A. Nelson of Hallock secured election as engrossing clerk and so on down the slate. Then came a lengthy resolution by Senator "Andy" Stephens of Polk county, naming the long list of minor employes. Senator McGowan, democrat, of Minneapolis, wanted action delayed on the resolution until the morrow. The republicans couldn't hear him. He then announced notice of debate. Notice of debate under the old senate rules compels the tabling of a resolution for 24 hours. But Lieut. Gov. Eberhart ruled that the senate as yet had no rules, the old ones not having as yet been readopted; and the resolution would have to go to immediate vote. It carried by a vote of 57 to 4, a good preliminary score for the republican machine in the senate. After the transaction of some minor business preliminary to perfecting the senate organization, adjournment was taken.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9—The presentation of the governor's message to the legislature which was expected, and the introduction of a grist of thirteen bills in the senate, which were unexpected, were the two events of today's session at the capitol. The senate convened with the house to hear the message. The galleries were crowded with people, many being ladies. Gov. J. A. Johnson spoke for nearly three hours. Even though he took this length of time, he cut out considerable of the seventy pages of his typewritten manuscript in the delivery.

Senator Peterson has the honor of introducing the first senate file, S. F. No. 1 which was a bill to appropriate $150,000 for the general expenses of the legislative session.

There were several other senate bills worthy of special mention. Senator Sullivan introduced S. F. 2, to permit the state board of control to establish a plant at the state prison for manufacture of farm machinery and thus compete with the farm machinery trust in this industry as well as in the manufacture of twine. The board is authorized to use half the net proceeds of the prison for this purpose by the bill. The same senator fathered a measure to create a legislative reference and information bureau at the capitol, similar to the Wisconsin law.

Senator Calhoun introduced a bill to provide for election of delegates to state, congressional and judicial conventions by the Australian ballot, anyone desiring to be allowed to have his name placed on the delegate ticket.

Senator Wilson introduced a bill to create a state tax commission of three members. Senator Calhoun introduced two measures, to appropriate commissioners of three members each for preparation of Minnesota exhibits at the Alaskan Yukon Pacific exposition at Seattle in 1909, and at the Jamestown, Va., exposition in 1907. The two bills carry an aggregate appropriation of $150,000.

Senator Peterson introduced a measure to fix a two cent a mile rate for passenger traffic on railroads. Senator Cashman had a railroad measure to establish a distance tarriff; that the same rate on the same class of freight per ton mile must prevail for both long and short hauls. Another bill to establish a two cent rate on railroads was the product of Senator Moonan. No bills were presented in the house.

The expected happened last evening when the republicans of the house and senate in caucus by a vote of 133, all present, nominated Knute Nelson to succeed himself as United States senator Jan. 22. Senator Gunderson of Alexandria made the nominating speech for the caucus.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10—The legislature today practically decided upon a thorough probe of the alleged harvester and general farm machinery trust, and of the coal combine which is said to control both the price and supply of fuel in Minnesota and the northwest. In the house, the resolution calling for the farm machinery probe was introduced by L. C. Spooner of Morris; the one for the coal combine investigation, by Elias Rochie of Madison. The resolutions called for joint committee of the house and senate to be appointed, and were promptly passed. In the senate the same resolutions were introduced by Senators Peterson and Hanson, but were laid over for further consideration on suggestion of Senator Geo. P. Wilson that one committee could combine the work and accomplish it better than two.

Seven bills made their appearance in the house today, the first of the session. Among them were three measures for two cents per mile railroad fare. John Zelch of Cottage Grove got in the first one. Burdette Thayer of Spring Valley and A. G. Johnson of St. Paul followed.

W. C. Bicknell of Morris introduced an income tax measure, providing for a tax of 1 per cent on incomes up to $10,000, 2 per cent on incomes up to $15,000; over $15,000, 3 per cent.

W. A. Nolen introduced his famous reciprocal demurrage bill which was defeated two years ago after a hard fight.

The senate took another spurt in the introduction of bills, running the number from 13 yesterday up to a total of 32 today. Senator Wright of Litchfield introduced several important measures, to apply the primary law to state offices, to permit orders of the railroad commission to go into immediate effect, and to create a 7 per cent gross earnings tax for express companies. Senators Wright and McGowen both introduced bills calling for registration with the secretary of state of all legislative lobbyists who must give a strict accounting of their actions and for all money spent. Senator Works fathered a bill to extend the Lorrens real estate law, optionally, to all counties of the state. It now only applies in the three largest, Senator Fasseen had a measure to increase the personal tax exemption from $100 to $200. Senator Wilson presented one to create a permanent tax commission of three members, at $4,000 a year salary each.

Both senate and house adjourned to 8 p. m. next Monday, that members might go home for Sunday.

Amboy—The annual hunt proved to be a success, although no big game was killed. There were twenty hunters on a side, and the start was made at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. All game was returned to the judges at 7 o'clock that evening. The trophies of the chase consisted of 300 cottontails, 1 jack rabbit, 1 crow and 2 owls. Capt. William Kienholz's company won by 148 points.

Mankato—A company is being organized in Mankato with $50,000 capital to manufacture automobiles along lines of an invention made by Ernest Rosenberger a wholesale candy manufacturer of this city.

Beards as a Sign of Mourning.

In ancient Rome men only grew beards as a sign of mourning. In Egypt all went clean shaven, but in Assyria only the slaves and peasants shaved.

Two Kinds of Flying Fish.

Flying fish of two distinct kinds are known to men—namely, the flying gurnards and the flyng herrings.

Serve the Lord in Youth.

When men grow virtuous in their old age, they only make a sacrifice of the devil's leavings.—Pope.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Coal is Found.

Owatonna.—A large vein has been discovered on the Albert Kasper farm two miles south of this city. The vein is five feet or more in width and one hundred feet under ground. The coal is said to be valuable for fuel purposes, being a species of soft coal, but still resembling anthracite.

Some years ago, owners of land near this farm discovered coal on the banks of Straight river, which flows a short distance in the rear of the farm. The coal was found at the foot of a hill and close to the surface of the water, which washes against it at this point. A small quantity of the coal was tested and found to be good. Since that time, however, no further developments have been made and the discovery has been allowed to go.

A short time ago, Mr. Kasper engaged well diggers to drill a well near his house, and this work later was started. The work went along smoothly until the drill was about one hundred feet below the surface, when it was found that some hard substance was being encountered by the drill. An investigation immediately was ordered by the owner of the machine, Edward Austin, and the substance was brought to the surface and carefully examined. It then was discovered that a bed or vein of coal had been struck by the drill.

Samples of the fuel were then taken to the Kasper home and tested and later used in the stove, where they were found to burn well. Samples also were brought to one of the local blacksmith shops and were used in the forge.

Farmers' Institutes.

Minneapolis.—Following is a list of the farmers' institutes scheduled for the last half of January, with the name of the local corresponding secretary:

Dodge Center, Dodge county, Jan. 22, Peter J. Schwarg; Granada, Martin county, Jan. 24, Edward R. Deebach; Welcome, Martin county, Jan. 25, H. A. Zittel; Jackson, Jackson county, Jan. 26, W. W. Wold; Edgerton, Pipestone county, Jan. 28, C. F. Blackmere; Pipestone, Pipestone county, Jan. 29, F. A. Payne; Slayton, Murray county, Jan. 30, James Ruane; Luverne, Rock county, Jan. 31, H. J. Miller; Waconia, Carver county, Jan. 22, W. J. Kuntz; Norwood, Carver county, Jan. 23, J. W. Craven; Gaylord, Sibley county, Jan. 24, Charles Wallin; Gibbon, Sibley county, Jan. 25, A. E. Nelson; Franklin, Renville county, Jan. 26, A. J. Olin; Hanley Falls, Yellow Medicine county, Jan. 29, W. E. Hanson; Clarkfield, Yellow Medicine county, Jan. 30, A. J. Johnson; Dawson, Lac qui Parle county, N. F. Soderberg.

More Money.

St. Paul.—The state treasury has received the semi-annual interest on the Massachusetts gold bonds, which pay 3½ per cent and the Virginia funding bonds at 3 per cent. The interest received from the Massachusetts bonds amounts to $39,535, and the interest from the Virginia bonds, $31,725. Of this latter, the school fund will receive $24,525 and the university $5,325. The internal improvement fund of the state will receive $375 and the state institutions' fund will be enriched $1,500 by the payment of this interest. The Virginia bonds are among the lowest interest-bearing securities that the state holds and the amount held by the state of these bonds is $1,635,000.

State Treasurer Julius Block, a year and a half ago, ordered the investment board to transfer this money to the state so that it could be loaned within the state to the several counties and school districts at 4 per cent.

Car Shortage.

Minneapolis.—Owing to the car shortage, which precluded the possibility of adequately handling wheat shipments during the last three months of 1906, there were 5,668 less cars of freight received at Minneapolis during the year just closed than in 1905.

The report of the Minneapolis Commercial Club shows that during the past year a total of 285,058 car lots of freight was received, as against 290,726 in 1905.

To counteract this and to show the rapid growth of Minneapolis as a manufacturing center the report shows that the freight shipments from this city amounted to 7,003,519 pounds more than in 1905.

News Notes.

Washington.—Charles H. Furch was appointed postmaster at Burtrum, Todd county, Minn., vice F. W. Willson resigned, and C. E. Melgaard at Rosby, Hubbard county, Minn., vice K. Erickson, resigned.

Mankato.—Rev. and Mrs. N. B. Foot celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Eagle Lake. Rev. Foot has held charges in several Southern Minnesota towns during his long residence in the state, and is also prominent in Masonic and Grand Army circles.

Blackduck.—On account of the mild weather which has prevailed so far this winter logging is practically at a standstill in this vicinity. There is snow to spare in the woods, but it fell before the ground had frozen. The snow is about three feet on the level, but has no foundation. Heavy hauling is impossible and only light loads can be carried.

Minneapolis.—Joe Mahoney and Ed Bryant, proprietors of the Unique theater, Seventh and Jackson streets, got into a fight in the theater, after which Mahoney was found with his right ear nearly cut off, his left ear penetrated by a knife blade and two gashes on his neck, one of which narrowly escaped the jugular vein.

Winona.—W. L. Miller, alderman from the Third ward, was examined for insanity and committed to the asylum at Rochester. His trouble dates back to about two years ago, when he was the victim of a severe electric shock.

Rochester.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Durand of this city, each eighty-four years old, celebrated their sixty-sixth wedding anniversary.

Frank Danna, 45 years old, a switchman in the employ of the Minneapolis Transfer Company, was run over by a train and instantly killed.

St. Paul.—Labor Commissioner Williams is in favor of establishing two more state labor bureaus.

SUGGESTS MUCH NEW LEGISLATION

AT HIS SECOND INAUGURAL THE STATES EXECUTIVE ADVOCATES TAXATION REFORM, LOWER FREIGHT AND TWO-CENT FARE.

State Department of Mines and Mining Proposed, and a Royalty Tax on Iron Ore Recommended—Reciprocal Demurrage Law Favored.

St. Paul, Jan. 9—The formal inauguration of John A. Johnson's second term as governor of Minnesota took place today at the state capital at a joint meeting of the senate and house in the hall of representatives. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Chas. M. Start, and immediately following the ceremony Governor Johnson read his message, in substance as follows:

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

The first paragraph of our constitution states that government is instituted for the security, benefit and protection of the people, in whom all political power is inherent together with the right to alter, modify, or reform such government when the public good may require. It is not instituted for the protection of interests deriving their privileges from the sovereign power of the people; neither is it instituted to deprive any individual or any interest of any right which may obtain under the constitution. You are elected as representatives of all the people of the state to make such alterations and modifications in our laws as will incline to the domestic welfare, and I believe that at this session of the legislature you are given opportunities that seldom come to a law-making body. I hope and believe you will approach the office committed to your care with zeal and activity and with the sole purpose and motive of doing that which is best for the commonwealth.

There is much cause for congratulation in the general condition of our prosperity. We have particular reason for felicitation in the financial condition of the state. According to the report of the state auditor there has been much improvement during the past biennial period. Economy by the legislature, followed by economical administration on the part of the executive departments, will bring a further improved condition in the near future.

TAXATION.

One of the greatest questions with which you will be called upon to deal is that of solving the problem of providing, at least in some measure, a wise and just method of distributing the tax burden of the people you represent.

From the birth of our state government we have had an unchanged system of taxation in the form of a direct tax upon real and personal property. The history of taxation in our state has taught us that taxes have not been equal and that the method has not been efficient. The fault has been in part the law and in part the application.

The state constitution provided that laws should be passed taxing all property according to its true value in money. Laws have been enacted with this idea in view, and yet we know that the taxation of all forms of property, while based in some measure upon valuation, has seldom or never approximated full value. Real property has been generally assessed at anywhere from twenty-five to fifty per cent of actual value; and tangible personal property at much the same ratio; while millions of dollars of taxable and intangible property has escaped taxation entirely because of the ability of the owner to evade his lawful tax burden.

It is not to be presumed that this or any other legislative body while able to devise a system of taxation or enact a tax law which is going to bring about in complete form the results commonly hoped for by all people compelled to pay taxes. The best that this body can do is to equalize as nearly as may be the burden of taxation and so adjust it that its weight will not fall too heavily upon those unable to bear it, and distribute the responsibilities in accordance with the privileges enjoyed under our government. We cannot escape taxation. Taxes are and must be levied for the purpose of government. During the year 1905, the total taxes levied in our state for all purposes amounted to $22,355,326.25, distributed in various ways for the carrying on of state, county, city, town and school governments. No law can be enacted by you which will in a very large measure reduce this burden of taxation, which was even greater in 1906 than in 1905, the total taxable valuation of the property of the state for 1906 being $914,000,000 in round numbers, as against $553,000,000 in 1905.

At the recent general election the people of Minnesota voted to modify the constitution, and adopted an amendment giving to the legislature this wider latitude; and it now falls to you to justify, in some small measure at least, the opinion of the people that this action, both by the legislature and by themselves, was a wise one.

PERMANENT TAX COMMISSION.

I would most urgently recommend legislation providing for the establishment of a permanent tax commission, which shall be empowered to make a careful and scientific study of this question and report from time to time, both to the executive officers and to the legislature.

The commission should visit the several counties of the state annually, or at least biennially, and should be empowered to supervise the work of local assessors and boards and provide rules to facilitate the performance of the duties of assessors and otherwise aid them in the work of securing equal and uniform assessments. Specially important service can be rendered by the proposed state commission in seeing that the tax laws made by this legislature are enforced strictly, uniformly and impartially, and that assessments are free from discrimination as between counties, local assessment districts and different parcels of property in the same district.

TAXATION OF IRON MINES.

Prior to 1896, the owners of iron mines in Minnesota paid a nominal tax of one cent per ton on ore mined and shipped, in lieu of all other taxes. The law, that of 1881, was clearly unconstitutional at that time and was repealed in 1897. Under this act, during the five years ending with 1895 the tonnage taxes on Minnesota iron mines netted a total of only $72,817.

Beginning with 1896, the mines have been assessed as other real property for direct taxation; the totals for St. Louis county, as equalized by the State Board of Equalization, being for the past ten years approximately as follows: $5,900,000 in 1896, $6,000,000 in 1898, $16,000,000 in 1900, $20,000,000 in 1902, $42,000,000 in 1904, and $50,000,000 in 1906.

How inadequate even the assessment of 1906 may be is apparent from the estimates of the companies themselves who hold the mining properties as assets for capitalization. In 1902, when the United States Steel Corporation had much smaller iron ore holdings than at present, the officers testified in a chancery suit, as appears in a government report, that this corporation had in reserve in deposits of tested ore upwards of 700,000,000 tons upon which the corporation placed a value of $1.00 per ton as the worth of ore to the company as [illegible] conversion into merchantable products. Subsequent reports of the corporation and public statements of its former president, Chas. M. Schwab, confirm this claim, and show, moreover, that the great bulk of this iron ore asset of the United States Steel Corporation is located in Minnesota. Since 1902 the exploration and acquisition of iron ore properties in Minnesota have proceeded on a large scale, until the present estimates of mining, financial and government authorities as regards the explored merchantable ore deposits in Minnesota are upwards of one and one-half billions of tons. It is, therefore, apparent that even the 75,000,000 valuation placed upon the iron mines of Minnesota by the State Board of Equalization in 1906 represents only a small fraction of something like five to ten per cent of the actual value placed upon the properties by the companies themselves for practical commercial purposes.

IRON ORE ROYALTY TAX.

Under the new constitutional amendment it is within your power, as it is your duty, to provide some system of taxation which will give the state at least an approximately fair share of its just revenue income from this great iron ore wealth. One step in the right direction, it occurs to me, would be an income tax on the royalties or mineral rights, which are not now listed for taxation.

An income tax of 5 per cent on the $6,500,000 of royalties estimated to have been received by fee holders of Minnesota from iron lands during the year 1906 would net the state treasury $325,000, or a 10 per cent tax would net $650,000.

A royalty tax, were the total thereof equivalent to 5 cents per ton on the present tonnage of 25,000,000 tons shipped from Minnesota mines in 1906, would net $1,250,000, or somewhat exceed the present tax revenue derived from direct taxation of tangible property. This royalty tax should go to the state treasury, and represent the total taxation of the intangible property or rights of mining companies and fee holders; leaving the direct realty tax, as now, for the support of local government.

As much of the inequality arising from the application of the tax laws is due to inefficient machinery for assessment, you may find the following change worth your consideration, namely, the abolition of the office of assessor in cities, villages and towns, and in their place establish either a tax commissioner for the county, or in the larger counties, a tax commission of three or five persons, to be employed annually with a view of the proper listing of property and the better equalization of existing values.

Taxation of sleeping car and telephone companies on a gross earning basis is recommended.

TAXATION OF EXPRESS COMPANIES.

Your attention is directed to the feasibility and propriety of making a change in the matter of the taxation of express companies. Our statute now provides for the taxation of express companies, based on 6 per cent of the receipts on business done between points in the state, after deducting the amounts paid to railroads for the transportation of freight within the state. This practically makes the rate of taxation of express companies 3 per cent as the railroads are paid about 50 per cent of the revenue. Express companies do not include any proportion of the earnings or receipts on interstate business; that is, business which originates in and terminates outside of Minnesota, and vice versa, and business passing through the state. Railroads doing business in this state pay 4 per cent on a proportion of all inter-state and also on intra-state earnings, and I believe Minnesota is the only state where the statute provides for the collection of taxes on an earnings basis, to pay on the balance, after deducting the amount paid to railroads. Express companies should not be treated differently from other companies, and I believe it would be more practical to take the total earnings of the express companies and ascertain Minnesota's proportion of such revenue for taxation purposes based on the ratio of mileage in Minnesota of such express companies, which the mileage bears to the total operated mileage; or, in lieu of some such provision, adopt the excise plan obtaining in the state of Ohio with relation to sleeping car companies, to which reference has already been made.

LICENSE TAX ON CORPORATIONS.

Your attention is likewise respectfully called to the following resolution of the state board of equalization adopted Oct. 4, 1906, in favor of levying an annual license tax on corporations, with the spirit of which I heartily concur:

"RESOLVED, By the state board of equalization that the governor is respectfully requested to ask for the passage of a law by the next legislature fixing an annual license fee of, say, $10, for each and every corporation, whether local or foreign, doing business in the state of Minnesota, with a proviso that in the case of failure to pay said annual fee, the offending corporation be barred from the courts of this state, and their charter be considered annulled, said license fee when paid to be accompanied by the address of the principal office, the names of the officers and the amount of capital paid in of said corporation. The fees arising to be paid to state treasurer and be covered into the state general fund."

STATE DEPARTMENT OF MINES.

By reason of the vast interests of the state in mines and mineral properties, I herewith submit to you the advisability of organizing a new state department devoted to the subject and the creation of the position of state commissioner of mines, giving such official powers and duties similar to those of the commissioners of insurance, labor, railroads and warehouses, dairy and food, game and fish, or the superintendent of banks. To this department might be entrusted the enforcement of the state mine inspection and regulation laws, the examination of the mineral resources of the state school and other public lands, the protection of the state's interests in iron ore royalties and mineral contracts and leases, as well as the maintenance of a bureau of statistics and general information in regard to the mining industries and mineral resources of the state for the aid and use of the state legislative and various executive departments.

The fact that Minnesota today holds over one-half of the estimated iron ore reserve of the United States, and that our state school and other public institutions have greater mineral holdings than those of any other state in the Union, show the propriety and public value of such department to the state, even if our past experience did not prove the necessity of additional state executive authority and machinery in the regulation and protection of its mineral interests.

MINERAL LEASES.

The state has a large area of land containing iron ore, and in the past has leased on terms out of proportion to just and proper conditions. The statute now provides that from all iron ore taken from state lands, the state shall receive a fixed royalty of 25 cents per ton, each ton to be reckoned at 2,240 pounds. In the light of the leases made between private parties this fixed sum is an absurdity, and should be changed without further delay. The average royalty paid by the United States Steel Company to the owners of land on the Masabi range is more than 27 cents per ton, and upon the Vermillion range, almost 37 cents per ton. Recently this corporation has negotiated a lease with private parties at 85 cents per ton, with a contract to mine not less than 750,000 tons per year. An important lease still more recently has been made on the basis of $1 per ton royalty, and this is likely to be the Masabi range basis for the future. In view of this condition, the state cannot longer afford to pursue the policy of disposing of its iron ore wealth at prices less than that paid to private individuals. I would suggest that the provisions of the law be changed, fixing a minimum royalty on state leases of not less than 50 cents per ton, and authorizing a board consisting of the governor, attorney general and the state auditor to dispose of mineral leases at public auction to the highest bidder without fixing a maximum price by law. Rather than to continue issuing mineral leases at the price now fixed by law, it would be better far to withdraw all state mineral lands from the market, and hold them for the future with a view of granting to succeeding generations a fair share of this rich heritage with which by nature we have been endowed.

RAILROAD LEGISLATION.

No problem with which you have to deal is of more importance to you and the people you represent than that of railway transportation, and a proper adjustment of transportation rates. Some idea of the importance of this question to the people of the state may be gathered from the fact that the total gross earnings of railroads within the state of Minnesota as reported by the companies to the railroad and warehouse commission for the year ending July 31, 1906, was $81,619,640.36. The gross earnings per mile of the railroads within this state were $10,283.28, and the net earnings per mile $3,109.90. The relative importance of this amount to the people may be understood when we realize that the total gross earnings in Minnesota, being $81,619,640.36, is over fifty per cent of the estimated farm productions of 1906. The basis of our wealth is agricultural, and the total estimated agricultural products of Minnesota during the past year, including wheat, oats, corn, rye, barley, flax, potatoes, hay, butter, cheese, live stock, poultry, market garden, fruit and nursery products is approximately $160,000,000. In other words, it required more than one-half of the agricultural products enumerated to satisfy the transportation demands of railroad corporations within the state of Minnesota.

REDUCTION OF FREIGHT RATES.

The vast earnings of railway companies have been swollen by excessive rates of transportation, which have been much higher in our own state than in the state south of us, or in Canada, to the north of us. There is a general and just demand that the people be relieved from the extortion and the abuse of high and unfair railroad rates of transportation. In my biennial message to the last legislature, and in discussing this same question, I said that I believed there was a remedy in the establishment of a maximum freight rate that would be fair to the shipper, and not be a hardship to the transportation company; that the railroad and warehouse commission was clothed with proper legal authority to establish fair and equitable rates, and that this failure to establish fair and equitable rates was because of lack of aggressive administration rather than a lack of legal authority. I recommended at that time the appointment of a joint legislative committee to make a complete and full investigation of prevailing rates of transportation within Minnesota, with a view of establishing by law, a maximum tariff rate for transportation which might bear a reasonable rate of interest and profit on the investment, be fair to all parts of the state, and absolutely prohibit unjust discrimination between localities or individuals. Pursuant to that recommendation, the legislature appointed a joint committee which made an investigation of the prevailing rate conditions, and, as a result thereof, the legislature adopted a joint resolution directing the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners to proceed with a view to a reduction of merchandise rates within the state of Minnesota. During the past biennial period efforts have been made by the board of railroad and warehouse commission looking toward a reduction of the rates of transportation, resulting in a reduction on merchandise rates; a voluntary reduction by some of the railroads in the matter of coal and grain rates. I am satisfied, however, that absolute justice has not yet been done to the people of the state of Minnesota. During the past year, I caused to be made a complete tabulation of the prevailing rates of transportation between points on the several lines of railway within the state of Minnesota.

The recent rate reductions are in the right direction. Compared, however, with grain rates in the Canadian provinces to the north of us and with Iowa merchandise rates to the south, it is apparent that Minnesota freight rates are still at too high a level, and especially in view of the enormously heavy tonnage passing over Minnesota roads from the several northwestern states tributary to Minnesota distributing points.

A TWO-CENT PASSENGER RATE.

Hitherto we have dealt largely with the adjustment of the rates of transportation on freight. The time has come in our state when relief is also demanded in the matter of passenger rates. The current fare for the carrying of passengers now is three cents per mile. It is recognized that the average fare per mile paid by persons who travel on railroads does not exceed 2.3 per mile. A maximum rate of two per cent per mile should be fixed by law and fixed now. The public has demanded it; the public is right in making that demand, and the legislature should not defer actions.

ABOLITION OF PASSES.

The time has also come for some specific action in the matter of the enactment of law forbidding the granting of pass privileges by railroad corporations to people other than bona fide employees of railways and their families. Our state enjoys the peculiar distinction of having deferred action upon this matter until other states have taken the initiative. So insistent have the people become in their demand for this reform that all of the several political organizations have been compelled to recognize the justice of the demand, and have incorporated planks in their various platforms looking toward the abolition of the pass system in the state of Minnesota.

RECIPROCAL DEMURRAGE CHARGES.

For many years the railroad companies of Minnesota have made demurrage charges upon shippers without reciprocity. A reciprocal demurrage law, which will be fair to all parties is demanded by the public and should be enacted at this session of the legislature. If the members of this body need any further enlightenment as to the absolute necessity of prompt action in the passage of such a just and practicable measure, you will find it in the conditions of so-called car shortage which have afflicted the agricultural districts of this and neighboring states in the Northwest during the past ninety days. Even so flagrant have been the conditions that the general government felt compelled to visit this state with its force of traffic experts, hold hearings of shippers and carriers, and enter into an exhaustive investigation of our defective traffic facilities. As one of the chief remedies for the insufficient supply of cars, which has resulted in the loss of thousands of dollars to Minnesota wheat growers, and in some localities produced temporary coal famine, I suggest a reciprocal demurrage law, subjecting carriers to the same penalties for delay in furnishing cars as the carriers impose upon shippers for delay in loading cars. Under present conditions it is time that the state impressed upon public carriers the fact that a private corporation which seeks from the state a charter to exercise a quasi-public function is bound to perform that function to the best of its physical ability, and heed the public interest, and that its duty to the public is paramount to its duty to swell the already generous dividends to its stockholders by "ton-mileage" or other arbitrary economies.

INSURANCE.

Since the last session of the legislature the subject of insurance, and life insurance in particular, has occupied a conspicuous place in the public mind and will no doubt receive your particular attention.

Great evils have grown up in connection with this very important phase of our industrial life; extravagant salaries and commissions have been paid; ambiguous, deceptive and often fraudulent contracts have been sold; colossal accumulations have been secured by adroitly conceived plans and used for the benefit of favored individuals, or hazarded in the doubtful conflicts waged by captains of finance in the money centers of the country. That all this has not been followed by great disaster is due to the wonderful resources of our land and is not to the credit of those who have thus abused their trust.

During your deliberations upon this question you will be told that any legislation seeking to regulate life insurance is "paternalism"; that the companies are private corporations which should be left to manage their own affairs, and finally that the subject is so delicate and technical that if legislation is inevitable its construction should be left to those who by study and research have become expert upon the subject.

In February, 1906, a conference of governors, attorneys general and insurance commissioners was held at Chicago to consider and further the adoption of uniform insurance legislation. A committee appointed by that conference has given careful consideration to the subject since that date; its report will be before you and I bespeak for it your most earnest consideration.

BANKS AND BANKING.

According to the report of the public examiner, the state banks of the state show during the last biennial period the greatest volume of growth of any such period in the state's history.

The number of state banks in operation increased from 525 to 627, a net gain of 102. During the same period the aggregate capital stock, surplus, and undivided profits increased from $11,410,633.04 to $13,414,249.45. The gross deposits had reached the sum of $64,392,858.79, an increase of 48 per cent. The total resources show a net increase of 38 per cent. During this two-year period, there has been no state bank failure, and only one temporary suspension, which resulted in a re-organization and the strengthening of the bank without loss to the depositors or other creditors. The total banking resources of Minnesota in July, 1906, including state and national banks, saving banks and trust companies, but not including private banks, amounted to $266,490,032.83. The total deposit increase in Minnesota's financial institutions, not including private banks and building and loan associations, is approximately sixty millions of dollars, or 40 per cent; this being without doubt the greatest deposit growth in both volume and percentage for any equal period in the state's financial history. The examination of banks subject to inspection by the public examiner has developed the fact that the demand upon our banks for commercial loans is becoming limited in certain localities. Under favorable financial conditions, such as the state is enjoying at the present time, the banks have a considerable amount of surplus funds. Under our present banking laws a state bank is not permitted to make a loan in excess of 15 per cent of its capital stock and surplus. First mortgage farm loans have proven to be a highly satisfactory class of investments, and probably no better or safe class of loans can be made by banks operating in farming communities. Under the circumstances I would concur with the recommendation of the public examiner that our banking laws be so amended as to permit of the making of first mortgage loans on improved farms located within our state equal to 25 per cent of the capital stock and surplus of the bank, all such loans to be limited to and not exceed 50 per cent of the cash value thereof; provided that no bank shall invest in that class of loans in the aggregate more than 60 per cent of its deposits.

PERMANENT SCHOOL FUND.

I desire to call your attention to one peculiarity in the law relating to the investment of our permanent school funds. The law now provides that loans to school districts for the erection of school buildings shall be at a rate of 4 per cent per annum, and at the same time provides that this fund may be loaned for the construction of ditches for drainage at 3 per cent per annum. It is not fair that the institutions for which this fund is created should suffer by this discrimination. It is hardly fair to provide a higher rate of investment for the schools of the state than for other purposes. We should not discriminate against the educational interests of the commonwealth; and either the rate of interest in one case should be raised, or in the other lowered.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

No one institution within our state is of so much importance as our state university. Its growth in the past has been phenomenal, and with the aid and encouragement which should come to it from the legislature its future possibilities are unlimited. Requests for financial aid for the construction of new buildings are not as large as during other periods, and are submitted to you with the suggestion that they receive careful consideration. It is a recognized fact that this institution has been handicapped somewhat by reason of financial policies which have hitherto made it impossible to pay adequate salaries by which men of recognized ability could be employed and retained in the institution, and from time to time we suffer the loss of some of our best teachers by reason of the inability to properly and adequately compensate them. Certainly Minnesota can afford to pay reasonable compensation for this class of service, and to provide means by which we can compete with any educational institution in the country in bidding for talent which would permanently endow our university.

Since the last session of the legislature the state university has fallen heir to a large sum of money known as the Elliott bequest, providing for a memorial hospital in conjunction with the medical school. This bequest has not yet been secured because its acceptance would involve a new policy and the board of regents decided that this could not properly be done without legislative sanction and approval, and the acceptance would necessarily be conditioned upon the legislature making provision for the future maintenance of the proposed hospital. Your attention will be officially called to this matter later. It is but right that you should know that the bequest, while urged for this specific purpose, will still be available for the use of erecting a memorial building of some other character. Inasmuch as it involves a large sum of money which can be used to splendid advantage at the university, I trust that the question will receive from you that consideration to which it is entitled.

LOGS AND LUMBER.

I am pleased to be able to convey to the legislature the information that during the past biennial period all settlements by the timber board of the state for timber trespass upon public lands have been in strict accordance with the law. Irregular settlements of preceding periods have likewise been considered, and a number of cases were placed in the hands of the attorney general with strict instructions to begin immediate and continuous prosecution of the cases with a view to the collection of all moneys to which the state is entitled under the law. The attorney general, in his prosecution of these cases, has secured from the supreme court an opinion sustaining the validity of the present timber trespass law, and it requires no amendment so far as it relates to punishment of offenders under the law. It has, however, some features which should be changed. The timber board should be given a wider range of authority in settling controversies and making adjustments by which the necessity of some law suits might be dispensed with. A change should certainly be made in that section of the act providing for a re-scale of state timber. Under the present statute provision is made for a re-scale upon a demand by the state auditor, and in such case he is required to serve notice upon the surveyor general, giving a description of the tract upon which a re-scale is demanded. The surveyor general thereupon appoints one of his deputies to act in concert with a state estimator, appointed by the auditor for this purpose, the two to make a re-scale of the timber embraced in the permit, and make a report of the same for record with the auditor. It is provided that in case both the deputy and the estimator agree upon the scale, the same shall be final and binding upon the state and the purchaser; and if it shall appear by the state re-scale that the first scale was practically correct, the state shall pay the surveyor general the sum of $5 for each day spent by his deputy in making such re-scale, in addition to all necessary expenses incurred by him in traveling to and from the land, and that in case of a material difference in the two scales, the surveyor general shall not be entitled to compensation for such re-scale.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

It is hardly necessary to call your attention to the need of some very important modifications of our primary election law. Much opposition to the law as it now stands exists, and there is prejudice against a primary election at all because of the possibilities of abuse under our present system. It is urged, and not without some degree of reason, that the present primary election system cultivates perjury, fraud, deceit, misrepresentation, and a total disregard for our entire election system. Citizens called upon to declare their political affiliations feel that election judges trespass upon the constitutional rights of the citizen and ignore to some extent the very purposes for which the law was created. Candidates for office, recognizing the possibility of victory through the assistance of political parties other than the one with which they affiliate, encourage fraudulent and deceitful voting. This, however, is no excuse for the demand that the present law be repealed. I believe the present law works better results for the people as a whole than the old convention system, but it is not without its weaknesses, and some radical changes should be made in the present law to overcome some of the difficulties in the way of its successful operation. I believe the law would be improved by providing that political parties through conventions might be permitted to nominate two or more candidates for each office, leaving the power of selection of the nominees to a primary between these nominations. The present system of permitting any citizen to declare himself a candidate for nomination by the mere filing of a nomination fee suggests a possibility of having a totally unfit and unworthy man become the nominee of the political party with which he affiliates. A suggestion worthy of consideration is that nomination to the primary election, or the right of a citizen to have his name placed upon the ballot, should be by petition only. The number of petitioners required should be sufficient to prevent frivolous candidates, but not so high as to bar worthy aspirants.

GOOD ROADS.

The subject of better highways and of making good roads is still prominent in the public mind, and much more interest is being taken along this line than heretofore. We have come to recognize that the improvement of our public highways means better and more economical transportation facilities. The amendment to the constitution proposed by the last legislature relating to this question failed of passage by reason of the failure of a large number of the people of the state to vote upon this question. There was some opposition to the amendment by reason of the fact that the proposed amendment imposed certain limitations upon the legislature. I trust that provision will be made for the submission to the people of another amendment to the constitution, and that restrictions heretofore contained in the constitution be removed. For instance, the legislature is now authorized to add to the state road and bridge fund by providing in its discretion an annual tax levy upon the property of the state not to exceed in any year one-twentieth of one mill on all the taxable property in the state. This limitation should be removed and the legislature should be permitted at its discretion to levy a tax sufficient to accomplish good results along the line of better highways. The provision now in the constitution that no county shall receive in any year more than three per cent, or less than one-half of one per cent of the total fund thus provided should also be changed by striking out that portion of it which provides that a county shall not receive not less than a certain amount. All of the legislative restrictions should be removed with the exception of a possible restriction providing maximum amounts. I believe the legislature understands the importance of this subject, and that further comment is unnecessary.

DRAINAGE.

The subject of drainage is one proper for your consideration at this time. Approximately 2,368,000 acres of the state holdings of 2,750,000 acres of school and state institutional land, which do not include 60,000 acres not yet patented to the state, are too wet for agricultural purposes. This large area is confined to thirty counties in northern Minnesota; 90 per cent of the land being in Roseau, Cass, Itasca, St. Louis, Aitkin, Lake and Cook counties. With this immense area of low lands which the state is able to reclaim at a comparatively small cost, it would seem to be an excellent public policy that the most advanced methods for their reclamation be adopted and that Minnesota co-operate with any satisfactory plan proposed by the federal government for drainage.

Under authority granted by Chapter 169, General Laws 1905, the state drainage commission, has caused a topographical survey to be made of state swamp lands. The report of this work will be submitted to you, and will show the number of acres of wet lands belonging to the state, their location, the feasibility and the cost of their reclamation by systematic drainage. This report will show that the average cost per acre for their reclamation will be $1.40 and that when drained the lands will become productive and their present value increased many times the cost of such drainage. It is a good business proposition that these lands be drained. It is unjust to other business improvements in these counties that the state's wet lands be allowed to stand as barriers in the way of progress. Increased activity along this line will compel the reclamation of thousands of acres of low lands now held by railroad and land companies, and the country will provide homes for those of our citizens now seeking homes elsewhere.

I am glad to be able to say that there is in Minnesota but one sentiment on the question of the wisdom of some plan of drainage, and I would urge liberality in appropriations to this end. I would also at this time call your attention to the plan now in operation in many of the other states by which the geological survey of the federal government undertakes to make a complete survey of the state, with perfect maps, important data, etc. For each dollar expended by the state, the geological survey appropriates an equal amount, and the result is eventually to secure a survey made along the most approved lines at an expense which would be prohibitive were the state to undertake the work alone. This matter is not least worthy of your thoughtful investigation.

UNIFORM DIVORCE LAW.

During the past year a divorce congress was held in the city of Philadelphia to which duly accredited representatives of the various states of the Union were gathered with a view of framing a uniform divorce statute relating to the annulment of marriage and divorce for adoption by the several legislatures of the various states in the Union. The ease with which some states permit annulment of marriages and divorces has come to be an American scandal, and it is earnestly hoped that there will be a complete co-operation by all of the several states of the Union on this important question. At the congress named, Minnesota was represented by a duly accredited representative, who assisted in the preparation of a proposed uniform statute covering this question. Copies of this proposed statute will be submitted to this body, and your earnest consideration of the matter is desired. I trust that Minnesota will be among the first states of the Union to put herself right on this important question.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

I would call your attention to the merits of the advisory initiative and referendum. This permits the people of a state, county, city, village or town to express their views upon questions affecting their organizations and is fast gaining ground upon the theory that the duly elected officers are the servants of the people who elected them and will be guided by the expressed views of a majority. The advisory initiative and referendum is but a step farther than the right of petition, and is not binding upon their officers. The enactment of a law providing for an advisory initiative and referendum can be accomplished without a constitutional amendment, and I am firmly of the opinion that such legislation is desirable. There can be, I am sure, no valid reason against the submission to the people of a proposed constitutional amendment providing for a direct initiative and referendum. This would give the people an opportunity to vote on the question whether or not they want the right to instruct their representatives and also the further right to pass upon the laws enacted by their legislature. But whether or not you would care to go so far in this direction, I would urge your consideration of a plan for an advisory initiative and referendum.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

Public ownership of public utilities is fast becoming an accomplished fact in many of the cities and villages of the state. If a city, village or town desires to conduct its public utilities by and for the public, after having so decided by a majority vote, there can be no objection to allowing the municipality to raise the money necessary to purchase and operate in any way it sees fit. Under our present laws it is permitted to bond all the property of the community for this purpose. If, on the other hand, it can find persons who are willing to loan the money upon the property of the public utility desired to operate, pledging only the property of the public utility loaned on, there can be no objection on the part of owners of other and general property.

DAIRY AND FOOD DEPARTMENT.

In the field of production our greatest dependence is upon agriculture. In its several branches none has made greater progress in this state during recent years, than the dairy industry. Minnesota butter occupies in the markets of the United States a position in which it commands a decided premium over the product of any other state. This is due in no small measure to the progress made in elevating the standard of its butter by the department, and is shown in the fact that in six national contests, Minnesota has four times been awarded highest honors. Not only along dairy lines, but in raising the standard and quality of food products manufactured and sold in the state has the department excelled. The laws entrusted to this department for enforcement have been administered with the single purpose of accomplishing the ends sought by the legislature. The department has been governed by the policy, first, of rigidly enforcing the laws; and, second, to educate the dealer as well as the consumer to a realization of the necessity of complete co-operation in all efforts looking toward the sale and consumption of pure foods; and while our laws are as far advanced, and perhaps more so, than those of other states, there are deficiencies and some necessity for amendment to existing laws in order to make the work of the department more effective.

In a report which will later be laid before you, this department recommends that the liquor law be so amended as to fix a standard for purity and to inaugurate a system of labels that will inform the purchaser the character of the liquid that he purchases. The paint provision of the present law is absolutely inoperative and affords no protection to the purchaser.

Standards for flavoring extracts ought to be established. The section of the law governing the manufacture and sale of maple syrup and maple sugar should be amended to prevent deceptive labeling; the law relating to labeling of substitutes of pure jellies, jams and preserves should be repealed, and a new law should require simply the printing of the formula in legible type. An effective patent medicine law should be adopted, requiring the labeling of all packages giving the formula of the product when it contains dangerous ingredients. A standard for ice cream should be established. The department should be relieved of the burden of proof when dealing with food products in which the ingredients are generally recognized and deleterious to health. Owing to the growth of the canning industry, a special law should be enacted giving the department supervision as to sanitary conditions, and fixing a standard of purity in the output of the canneries; and the national pure food law will be more effective if the legislature will make the Minnesota law as nearly uniform as possible to the national law. These recommendations are based on the best experience of the officers of the dairy and food department for Minnesota, and in them I heartily concur, earnestly calling your attention to the suggestions in the hope that beneficent legislation will follow.

STATE PRISON.

During the past two years the state prison twine plant has been materially enlarged; the output amounting during this period to twenty-four and a half million pounds, which was sold at a price amounting to $2,360,000. It is conservatively estimated that the farmers of this state have been benefited to the extent of at least three cents per pound, amounting to approximately $750,000, while the state at the same time has made a net profit of $410,000, thus yielding during the two years a net profit to the state and the citizens thereof of more than $1,100,000. The past two years have been the most prosperous and beneficial since the twine plant was originated. The product has given general satisfaction, and the demand is still beyond the capacity of the plant. In my message to the legislature two years ago, I recommended that practically all of the labor of the prison should be devoted to this industry. I renew the suggestion that the plant should be still enlarged so as to increase the capacity at least five million pounds annually. This can easily be done without additional appropriation from the state, except for the necessary buildings on the new prison site to be used for that purpose. With this increase the output would be 18,000,000 pounds per annum, and would nearly meet the requirements of the total average crop year in the state. The National Cordage Company, a subsidiary corporation of the International Harvester Company, has commenced making twine from flax fibre in this state for the evident purpose of competing with the state product. To meet this situation and to protect the state interests, the law should most certainly be amended to permit the sale of the prison-made twine outside of the state in order that we may meet any effort made by the twine trust to throttle our plan inside of state lines. I would also suggest that the law be changed so as to allow the sale of twine to dealers after March 1, reserving 600,000 pounds to fill small cash orders direct to farmers. With the large increase in the output, it will be necessary to dispose of a large amount of the product through the dealers of the state, as a prudent business man will not wait longer than February or March to secure his twine. He should be allowed to place his orders early enough to meet his requirements and that of his trade. The law now in force restricting the dealer to sell twine at one cent profit per pound is ample protection to the farmer, and fair and equitable to all concerned.

There seems to be a feeling upon the part of our citizens in favor of making farm machinery at the state prison to compete with the trust; that is, the manufacture of such machinery as is now not made in the state. I believe a departure could be made along this line which would prove of great advantage to the agricultural interests, and I would suggest that the management at least be authorized to investigate the feasibility with power to act. This does not necessarily require or need to carry with it an appropriation, as the necessary expense conservatively engaged could be met from the earnings of the state twine plant.

STATE SOLDIERS' HOME.

I would call your attention to the requirements of additional appropriations for the state soldiers' home in order that Minnesota may continue to discharge her debt to the veterans who gave their early years to the cause of the country in the preservation of the Union. Increasing age, disability and dependence mean that the number of veterans at the home and throughout the state who receive state aid will grow instead of decrease for the next few years. A total of 2,513 cases in which relief was provided through the agency of the relief fund were treated during the biennial period ending July 31, 1906, the average payment being $5.40. The last legislature appropriated $75,000 for a home for the mothers, wives and widows of soldiers. It was found that this sum would not build and equip the building contemplated, and $2,000 was borrowed from the soldiers' relief fund to assist in the work, while changes were made in the plans by which the cost was lessened. The board of trustees now ask for an additional appropriation of $60,000 to complete the woman's building according to the original plans and to install an electric elevator. The building has been so far completed as to admit of its occupancy and the first woman to be enrolled is the mother of two Minnesota soldiers. She has just passed the century mark and were it not for the beneficence of the state she would now be forced to become an object of charity.

LIVE STOCK SANITARY BOARD.

Laws governing treatment of contagious diseases in cattle, hogs and horses have been vigorously enforced but there is, I regret to say, an alarming increase in diseases requiring special supervision. The executive officers of the live stock sanitary board report that there were killed for the year ending July 31, 1906, a total of 1,438 head of cattle because of tuberculosis and 606 head of horses for glanders. The law requires that the state shall pay three-fourths of the appraised value of animals killed under its terms, but limits the value of the animals to a reasonable maximum. Under the law creating a separate sanitary board there was a reduction to $19,000 of the amount given to the board for its maintenance annually, this amount being intended also to cover the state's share of the value of animals slaughtered under its provisions. I do not hesitate to say that the sum is wholly inadequate. There are now on hand over 750 claims approved by the board, representing every county in the state, for slaughtered cows and horses, aggregating $55,000, and which the state is under a moral obligation to pay. The board asks for $55,000 to wipe out this debt and also asks for an appropriation of $50,000 annually with which to eradicate tuberculosis in cattle and glanders in horses.

CONCLUSION.

By way of conclusion, permit me to add that I have every confidence that you will be guided and governed by a desire to do that which is best for the state. This commonwealth, with all of its moral, intellectual, and material advancement is, I am sure, as dear to you as to me. We have been chosen by the same people; we serve the same cause; we may differ in our opinions, but if our differences are honest ones, they will find adjustment with little difficulty. Whatever our political convictions, our duty is the same. We may have our obligations to political parties, and these obligations it seems to me will be best met and redeemed in the public service regardless of the demands of partisan service; that we will serve our parties best by serving the state best.

We live in a time when purely party considerations are being made to yield to the principles of good government, and in any conflict between the two our first duty is to the state and nation, and allegiance to a party organization a secondary matter. Let us strive to attain the highest ideals and reward the people who have reposed special confidence in us by honest effort which will make us worthy of the honors conferred upon us. In your every effort to bring about a healthier and better state of governmental affairs I pledge you the hearty co-operation of my office, and the assurance that I will be glad to welcome any suggestion calculated to promote the prosperity of our people and the general domestic welfare.

Always the Same

Calumet Baking Powder

The only high grade Baking Powder sold at a moderate price.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

MODEL FARMS VS. FREE SEEDS.

The plan suggested by Department of Agriculture officials to do away with the "free-seed graft," and establish instead a large number of experimental farms throughout the country, should meet with the approval of farmers in general. There has been so much dissatisfaction expressed over the present system of seed distribution that a change of some kind seems imperative, and the plan outlined by B. T. Galloway, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry, and W. J. Spillman, chief of the Division of Farm Labor, is at least worthy of consideration. Their aim is to have "model farms" in every Congressional district, and ultimately in every county.

At present the free distribution of seeds costs the Government $150,000 a year. Messrs. Galloway and Spillman propose that this amount be used in equipping experimental farms. If Congress can be made to see the good that would be accomplished by such a method of educating the farmers, it is safe to say that an additional appropriation for that purpose would soon be forthcoming. With the seedmen and many farmers fighting the "free-seed graft," there is no hope for any betterment of the present service, so if the "model farm" plan can be substituted for it, it is hard to see how anyone can oppose it.

Government officials estimate that with the $150,000 now spent in distributing seeds two experts can be sent into every State and Territory to establish experiment stations. It is expected that the farmers would gladly furnish the land and equipment for such farms, so that the only expense to the Government would be the salaries of the experts which would not average more than $1,500 a year. Nearly every experimental station now being operated in the United States is self-supporting, and many of them are returning a profit. In the case of the new stations such profits could be used for extending the work.

The farmers of the United States want something new. There is probably not a farmer in the country who will not admit that the State agricultural experiment stations have done a world of good for modern agriculture, and if that is so, it naturally follows that more experiment stations can do more good.

If the Government will give us "model farms" instead of free garden seeds, let's accept the proposition without delay.

It Quiets the Cough

This is one reason why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so valuable in consumption. It stops the wear and tear of useless coughing. But it does more—it controls the inflammation, quiets the fever, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about this.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. O. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Hasten recovery by keeping the bowels regular with Ayer's Pills.

Harry Thaw, the New York murderer, is doomed. His mother-in-law is to take part in the prosecution.

By direction of President Roosevelt, Secretary Hitchcock has ordered all fences removed from public lands. This does not include political "fences," however.

If all of the reform measures that have been introduced in Congress and State legislatures become laws, there wont be any need of New Year's resolutions in the future, because we will all be in the penitentiary.

Montgomery, Ward & Co. have brought suit against the Commercial News, of Sioux Falls, alleging that the News has, by means of its editorial and other articles and cartoons, created a feeling against mail order houses and especially against the plaintiff. The case was to have been tried in the United States court in Sioux Falls last Saturday, but was postponed. The outcome of the case is awaited with interest throughout the country, for, should the plaintiff be able to recover damages in this case, there is scarcely a responsible newspaper or other publication in the United States that might not be made to pay for injuring the business of the plaintiff.

The Crookston Journal of Tuesday evening contains a warm and decidedly interesting roast for Superintendent Lowry, of the Northern division of the Great Northern railroad, and from the Journal's story this gentleman (?) was deserving of all he got in the roast line—and more. It appears that this man Lowry took exceptions to a freight crew refusing to work like dogs in twenty below weather, twenty-three hours out of the twenty-four, fired them bodily and annulled their passes when they were at a point thirty miles or more from home. The crew had worked over seventeen hours on a trip north from Crookston to St. Vincent, and on the way back had been out some fifteen or sixteen hours when they reached Warren. Here some trouble occurred on a box car, and this man Lowry ordered them from his warm den at Crookston, to fix it up, a work that would require several hours, before proceeding on to Crookston. The thermometer stood at twenty-five below zero and these worn-out slaves wanted to leave the car and take the train on into Crookston, instead of doing the repair work then. Mr. Lowry said no, however, and fired the three brakemen instantly, annulling their passes at the same time, never stopping to question the fact that they might be without money or friends with a long distance between them and home. The present tendencies seem to be to do everything possible to increase the burdens of the poor devil who works for an honest living, and the question of human endurance or justice cuts absolutely no figure with the high salaried, favored pets who sit by the warm fireside and lord over their inferiors (?) when a matter of dollars and cents is at stake. The pity is that the order of things could not be reversed, so that such self-important slave-drivers as this Lowry could be made to feel the lash the "powers that be," but they apparently can't. The declaration that "all men are created free and equal" looks rather insignificant in the light of events like the one cited in the Journal.

Roseau Times: The railroads wound up the old year and started in on the new with a rate-a-death rate that is appalling. Too much water in the stock works over time.

Princeton Union: This country will send provisions to the starving Chinese. Why doesn't this country first assuage the hunger of the starving multitude in the slums of New York and other large cities?

BIG DRAINAGE CANAL

Engineer Mershon of Chicago Has Investigated Several Canal Routes.

Hon. Asher Murray of Wadena has received a blue print from Engineer R. J. Mershon of Chicago, showing several prosposed routes for a great canal to be designed to carry the surplus water from the northern and western borders of Minnesota to the Grsat Lakes.

Mr. Mershon visited Wadena within the past year while engaged in the work of investigation to ascertain the feasibility of the proposed canal. When there he expressed the belief that the canal would follow Leaf river if it was ever built, but it now seems that it will pass across the state to the south of that river.

The blue print shows the starting point of the canal at Rainy Lake, a short distance above Rainy Lake, which has an elevation of 1,115 feet. The water will, it appears, be taken out of the Rainy River below International Falls so as not to interfere with the water power at that point.

From International Falls the route of the canal is southwest for 140 miles passing a short distance north of Red Lake, to a point not far south of Thief River Falls which has an elevation of 1,036 feet.

From Thief River Falls the canal goes directly south along the high ridge or tableland at the east edge of the Red River Valley, and within about five miles from Red Lake Falls, and strikes a point east of Breckenridge. A branch from Lake of the Woods comes south to connect with the main canal at Thief River Falls.

From Breckenridge several routes are proposed to carry the water to Lake Superior. One is down the Minnesota river to St, Paul, and thence following parralel with the St. Croix river to Lake Superior.

Another route goes east from Breckenridge, passing through or near Royalton and Mille Lacs lake, thence over into Wisconsin, and down the Brull river into Lake Superior.

Still another route goes east from Breckenridge, passing just north of Milaca, through Pine City and thence northeast to Lake Superior.

Another route passes through Princeton, Willmar and Sauk Rapids. All of the routes enter Lake Superior, which has an elevation of 608 feet.

This great canal is not going to be built at once. Many years may elapse before it is constructed, if, indeed, it is ever built. Unquestionably large interests are behind the project, which has for its principal aim the giving of additional water to supply the Erie canal, the Chicago drainage canal and other waterways and water powers in the east.

Before the canal could be built international obstacles would have to be brushed aside and many interests would have to be satisfied. The United States government would also have a hand in the building of the waterway. This canal would furnish another great transportation route, besides providing water power along its route.

Detroit Record: The frequency with which wrecks are reported makes the newspaper boys feel better about being cut out of their mileage books. It's safer to be at home, anyway, and we don't care to have anything so dangerous as a railway mileage book in our possession.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours

Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date

Give me a call.

THE PERSONAL TAXES

Amounts to be Paid in Townships of Terrebonne, Poplar River and Lambert.

TERREBONNE

Albricht, William	$ 5 20
Archambeault, Arthur	7 33
" J B	31
Bakke, A O	5 18
Beaudin, Cyrille	8 43
Clement, H	4 70
Cote, Joseph	9 88
Cote, Votorie	12 08
Cadieux, L C	23 05
Cadieux, Edward	8 47
Champoux, Joseph	6 19
Clement, Dolphin	7 76
Desotelle, Celina	10 12
Dupont & Son	6 34
" Joseph	2 95
" William	1 26
Derosier, Phermen	2 28
" Bruneau	16 99
Dandaneau, Joseph	5 10
Derosier, Antoine	9 38
Dandaneau, Barthmoe	2 42
Ducharme, Joseph	14 18
Eig, Sigeyonn	69
Fourmier, Joseph	12 36
" Alex	5 77
" Tousaint	1 64
" Isaac	7 23
Gerrietts, Henry	7 05
Gervais, Wilfred	12
Gregoire, Fudeine	1 54
Gagnon, Regis	11 15
Generour, Edward	9 88
Grassman, Mike	2 19
Gagner, Amade	5 57
Gagner, Laurent	9 81
Hillikson, Carrie	2 60
Hartley, Thomas	2 54
Jolly, Herlette	14 38
Janson, John H	2 93
Jensen, Jens	3 48
Kirchens, Frank	4 94
Kankel, C O	1 69
Kankel & Ziegler	3 14
Lizee, G	4 62
Leforge, Remi	1 02
Laurent, Dona	93
Martell, Joseph	11 98
Morinville, Ephrem	5 10
Mayer, Matilda	10 79
Medsun, Nels	3 69
Montrleul, Chories	5 12
Moreau, Ovid	1 53
Prenevost, Ariine	13 32
Perrusse, Alferle	11 96
Perrusse, Aleide	8 39
Perrault, Elie	6 77
Paranteau Bros	4 31
Paranteau, Louis	7 87
Patnode, Mose	4 19
Perrault, Louis	29 02
Quesnell, William	40
" Robert	33
" Stephen	17 12
Robillard, Ovilia	8 44
" Descrie	3 28
Reinschmidt, J A	10 17
Reyandu, Houldas	3 18
Rosignol, Celina	10 01
Rock, Ovilla	7 84
St. Yves Louis	9 87
Sibert, Simen	4 49
Sahsrm, Celina	9 33
Sauve, Havier	17 56
Suprenant, J B	25 71
Thibert, Marcellin	1 14
" Reymond	9 10
Tonpin, Peter	8 95
Toreau, Louis	10 74
Terrebunne Corporation	1 18
Walker, Ray	4 61
Wolfe, Amede	4 47
Welsh, Dan	8 18
Zeigler, John	5 92
Beaudin, Joseph	2 59

POPLAR RIVER

Bach, Caruline	3 68
Beaudry, Euclide	3 58
Brown, Tyler	5 24
Bruneau, David	5 22
Carlson, Chron	1 11
Corbeil, Josephat	11 14
Carlson, John	1 07
Champagne, Madime	9 00
Childs, Clyde	5 63
Cole, Henry	7 09
Corbell, Armond	7 76
Corbell, Horace	2 02
Cyr, Henry	9 98
Dandaneau, Louis	1 48
Davis, Nord	1 67
Dion, Emery	2 72
Demers, Oliver	3 72
Davis, J H	1 65
Daseller, Marcelle	4 47
Fournier, Theophile	5 10
" Arthur	6 05
Guerand, Moses	4 44
Gagner, Octave	5 29
Fournier, Alevis	7 30
Halley, Louise	43
Hebert, W M	2 21
Hebert, A H	39
Hallas, Charles	7 72
Hedland, Iver	2 15
Hebert, J B	5 10
Hebert, Ed	3 02
Dion, Dolphis	2 71
Hince and Lerone	3 89
Desotelle, Elerick	1 77
" Sophranie	12 67
Lefevre, Daniel	5 62
Leruur, Frank	1 41
Laniel, Arthur	61
Lussier, Cyrille	11 86
Lerour and Hince	3 04
Lerour, Tennir	2 34
McKnignt, Morter	1 14
Mnreau, Thomas	3 31
McKnight, J T	6 95
Martineau, Narcisse	1 29
Ohln, Frank	84
Poiriel, Jilbers, jr	12 71
Pigeun, Joseph	9 80
Paradis, Oliver	9 80
Poirier, Jitbert, jr	6 56
Pennington, W S	68
Premo, H S	14 73
Paradis, David	8 50
Paquin, D	6 56
Robidour, Joseph	4 35
" Narcisse	8 71
Sauve, Joseph	2 50
Champagne, Peter	6 83
Tonbouse, John	12 74
Vanderwaal, A	6 80
Vogue, W M	10 05
Bray, Zotique	9 46
Wilbur, Chas	13 42
Wilkinson, B O	6 37
Stahl, William	4 60
Tangus, Charles	2 46
Brooks Mer. Co	48 60
First State Bank of Brooks	121 08
Selden-Lumber Co	82 58
Osborne, M O, Milliam elev co	35 64
Prairie Elevator Co	35 64

St. Cloud Journal-Press: It seems to be against the law to issue transportation to newspapers for advertising, but not to give passes to members of the legislature. Perhaps the railways argue that this is the same as receiving cash for transportation—and the railroads insult a lawmaker every time they hand him out a bit of pasteboard. But methinks most of them enjoy being insulted.

YOU CAN SAVE

A checking account will not only help you spend your money economically, but it will also help you to save meney systematically.

When you have a record of every cent you pay out (which you will have, if you pay by check) you will be more careful of your expenditures.

A checking account gives you a complete record of every cent you spend. You get a receipt for each bill paid. You have safety for your funds and convenience for your business transactions,

PAY BY CHECK.

The Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.
A Minnesota State Depository.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞ House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

5,000 Rifles FREE TO BOYS

Just send us your name and address so that we may tell you how to get this fine rifle Absolutely FREE.

YOU CAN HAVE ONE

As we are going to give away 5,000 of them. We mean it, every word, and this is an honest, straightforward offer, made by an upright business firm who always do exactly as they agree. All we ask is that you do a few minutes work for us. It is so very easy that you will be surprised. This Handsome Rifle is not a toy air rifle, but is a genuine steel, blue barrel, hunting rifle that is strong, accurate and safe and carries a 22-calibre long or short cartridge. If you want a fine little hunting rifle, just write and ask us for particulars. They are free and you will surely say it's the best offer you ever saw or heard of.

BE SURE and WRITE AT ONCE before the 5,000 rifles are all gone, as the boys are taking them fast. Address

Peoples Popular Monthly,
567 Arcade Building,
DES MOINES, IOWA.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas H. Fletcher.

Our Hardware Stock Is Now Complete .....

Keen Kutter Axes & Tools, Wilson Air-Tights, Syracuse Easy Washers, Standard Tinware and Enameledware, etc. etc.

We have been busy the past few days receiving new stock and getting it in shape for your inspection at any time. We have restocked our store with new goods of standard make and manufacture and offer them to you at prices that are consistent with first-class material and square dealing. We will be pleased to have all our old customers and many new ones call at our store, and you can rest assured that you will always find the prices right, the goods up to a high standard of quality, and that, as in the past, every courtesy possible will be extended to the trade.

Hunt Hardware Co.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter [illegible], filing devices, etc. It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than any other. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

'Phone 7--Groceries--SPILLANES.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

Fred Richards commenced a term of school at Dorothy Monday of this week.

Just received a car of Hocking Valley soft coal. See Salley for your supply.

Henry Cyr, of Poplar River, brought in a wolf hide yesterday and received $7.50 bounty.

Ed L. Healy spent several days at Minneapolis the first of the week, looking after some business matters.

L. C. Simons came home Saturday evening from a week spent at Plummer looking after the business of the First State Bank.

Chas. Tschida, the Fertile cigar maker, was a caller here yesterday on his way up the north line to look after business matters.

Nels Peterson, of Sanders, and Aug. Adolfson, of Black River, prominent farmers of their respective localities were business callers at the county seat Tuesday.

For Sale--A "Jewett" Typewriter, just as good as new, which we will sell at a bargain. First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Joseph Case and Miss Ida Lang, two popular young people from Tilden, were married at St. Mary's church in this city at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Harry Healy, Clem Brunelle and F. F. Freund went up to Thief River Falls Friday morning and furnished music in the evening for a big dancing party at the Antlers Club.

Dr. Spofford is at Grand View Hotel, Red Lake Falls, the 7th day of every month. Latest scientific methods in examining eyes and fitting glasses.

Nick Helm and son arrived home Friday from Kelliher, where they have spent the past couple of months doing the painting work on the new school house built at that place by Contractor Brady of this city.

Wm. Holberg is able to be about his room a little this week, after having been a long sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism. Bill's many friends will trust that his complete recovery may be rapid from now on.

P. E. Pirath of this city has been appointed the northwestern agent for the American LaFrance Engine company, of Elmira, New York, the oldest and largest manufacturers of fire apparatus in the world. Mr. Pirath has several counties in which to work and will start his canvass early in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Regan entertained a large party of friends at their North Side home last Friday evening, in honor of Mr. Regan's birthday anniversary. The evening was spent at cards and other amusements, and elaborate refreshments were served the guests. The merry making continued until a late hour, and even then the guests were loath to depart as the time had been so enjoyable to all. Mr. Regan was the recipient of the good wishes of all for many years of health and happiness.

See Salley for your coal supply.

Ernest G. Buse was a caller at Thief River Falls last Saturday.

Dan Linnihan was a business caller at Thief River Falls Tuesday.

Phil Zeh of Thief River Falls was a business caller here over Monday night.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

The Big Store has a new ad in today's Gazeete. It will pay you to carefully note the prices quoted.

Mrs. Joseph Salley and son went up to Thief River Falls Monday morning for a visit at the home of her sister.

Miss Flora Eickhof came up from Crookston Saturday and made an over-Sunday visit with her sister, Mrs. Arthur Zaiser.

The Misses Eva Paul and Algina Guilmette went down to Crookston last evening for a week's visit with relatives and friends.

The Thief River Falls fire department will give a grand ball on Friday evening, January 25. Several from here are planning on attending.

Roadmaster Regan and Foreman Kehoe went down to Crookston Monday evening, and went over the Greenbush line Tuesday with a snow plow and flanger.

Paul and Otto Rogge arrived home last Friday from Kelliher, where they have spent the fall assisting Contractor Brady in his work on the new school house at that place.

FARM LOAN:--We have money of private parties to loan on improved farms at 7 per cent. Liberal terms of payment. No delays. Come and see us before placing a loan. Germo & Farley. d13-4w

Albert Zimple arrived home Sunday from Sarles, North Dakota, to spend the remainder of the winter with his family here. Mr. Zimple has been doing carpenter work at Sarles for over a year past, and reports himself as well pleased with that part of North Dakota.

Edward Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Paul, of this city, is expected to arrive here the latter part of this or first part of next week, after a three year's absence. Ed has been doing military service since leaving here and has spent a greater part of the time while away in the service in the Phillippines. He recently landed at San Francisco where he received an honorable discharge, and is now on his way home. Ed's many friends here will be glad to see him again after his long absence.

Harry Fritz will leave with his family Saturday of this week for St. Paul, where he has accepted a position as chief engineer in a large harness manufacturing concern, and these good people will make that city their future home. Mr. Fritz has conducted a farm just west of this city for several years past, and has been quite successful in his work. His father lives at St. Paul, however, and when Harry was offered so good a position there he decided to quit farming and take up the work of his profession again. Mr. and Mrs. Fritz have a host of warm friends in this part of the county, who will join in wishing them the best of success in their new home.

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

CANDY--If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

W. A. Schreiter was a business caller at Thief River Falls Monday.

H. H. Zaiser went over to Grand Forks last evening on a brief business mission.

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

Arthur Holberg is here from Grand Forks, spending the week with his brothers and many friends.

MEN WANTED--To cut 500 cords of poplar wood, eight miles east of this city. Inquire of V. M. Higinbotham.

Joseph Berry returned to his home at Hibbing last evening, after a pleasant holiday visit with his brother, John, of this city, and A. D., of Louisville.

The force at the office of County Auditor O'Brien is busy this week getting up the annual financial statement and delinquent tax list. The work will require several weeks.

Wm. Butin, a prominent farmer from near Argyle, has rented the Leo Sutter farm just northwest of this city, and will take possession within a few weeks. Mr. Butin comes recommended as a first class citizen, and will undoubtedly do well here.

P. B. Gaass left Tuesday evening for Fargo where he attended the meeting of the Red River Development and Immigration association, which was held there yesterday. Mr. Gaass went as a delegate from the Commercial Club of this city.

The measles is again epidemic, and a number of children about the city have been quite ill with the disease during the past couple of weeks. Electrician Smith's three little ones are just recovering from a quite serious attack, and Master George Knox is reported as being confined to his bed with it this week.

E. A. Nelson of Brandon, writes L. A. Kaufer that he was unavoidably delayed and will not be here to open up the Kaufer barber shop and bath parlors until the last of the week. He had intended to open up Tuesday of this week, but the delay was caused by matters which he had not looked for.

President M. A. Converse, of the Northwestern Minnesota Firemen's Tournament Association, will call a meeting of the executive committee of the association within the near future to be held at Crookston, when matters pertaining to the coming firemen's tournament to be held here will be taken up and discussed. President Converse and Secretary Borchers will attend from here.

A party of friends were delightfully entertained at six o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Sivertson Saturday evening. The dinner was served in courses and was an elaborate one, to which the guests did ample justice. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Padden, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zaiser, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cairns, H. H. Zaiser, Miss Flora Eickhof, of Crookston and Mrs. Webber of Rice.

Eva Morrill, a little six-year-old girl, whose parents live at Brooks, died at one of the city hospitals in Crookston Tuesday after an operation for an attack of appendicitis. The operation was successful but the little girl was too weak and died shortly afterward. The remains were shipped to Erskine Wednesday morning where they were transferred to the Soo and taken to her home at Brooks for burial.

The basket social and dance given by the M. B. A.'s at their hall in the Kaus block Monday evening, proved to be in keeping with former entertainments of this kind given by this society. The fair sex were there in abundance with tempting baskets, and when auctioned off by Joseph Belair were eagerly bid for by the male folks. The sale of baskets netted the lodge a large sum, and furnished untold amusement. Freund's orchestra furnished the music for the dance, and until a late hour the merriment was kept up.

Crookston Times: Ed L. Healy the Red Lake Falls water power man, came in from there Sunday evening and left this morning on the delayed Minneapolis train. Mr. Healy had an unenviable experience on his trip. He left Red Lake Falls Sunday accompanied by his son, who was going to drive him to Tilden where he was to take the the Great Northern train into this city that evening. However he had only gone about half way when they became stuck in the snow and found that it would be impossible to drive further. Mr. Healy had to get out and walk the rest of the distance and the young man turned back. Mr. Healy arrived in Crookston only to find that his train was several hours late. He kept waiting about the depot all night and waited there until late this afternoon for the train that was held behind a freight at Grand Forks. The train was expected to arrive at any time as it was not known when the freight would be liberated from the snow drift where it was stalled.

Hon Marcus Johnson was a business caller here the first of the week.

Forty below Tuesday morning. But than, that's easy when you get used to it.

B. E. Burkee and Claus Peterson, of St. Hilaire, were callers at the county seat Saturday.

Wanted: 1000 lbs. of dressed poultry. Will pay 8c for fancy chickens. Must be drawn. Theo. LaBissoniere.

Wilber Bougie returned to his home in Crookston last Tuesday, after having spent a pleasant visit of a week with his uncle, Jos. L. Cyr.

A party of young people, chaperoned Miss Mary Lamb, will attend a social gathering at the J. P. Bagen home, west of the city tomorrow evening.

Louis Sieff and F. Sullivan arrived home yesterday from a trip to Billings and intermediate points, where they have been looking after railroad contract work.

Mrs. G. G. Kindseth will serve lunch, Saturday afternoon from four to six o'clock, January 19, for the benefit of the Norwegian Lutheran church. All are cordially invited.

E. L. Norton, traveling freight agent for the Burlington, spent yesterday in the city looking up business and visiting with his cousin, H. H. Zaiser. Mr. Norton is just in from North Dakota and reports the congestion of traffic as very bad out there.

John P. Bagen, who recently traded for and moved onto the Nauman farm just west of the city, has leased the Harry Fritz place just adjoining his farm, and will work them both the coming season. Mr. Bagen comes from Douglas county and has great faith in Red Lake county as an agricultural section. He will go into the the diversified style of farming on a large scale, and will unquestionably succeed.

Rev. H. W. Knox left Monday morning for Middle River, and from there drove to Rollis, Marshall county, where he will spend a couple of weeks holding revival meetings. He was joined here by D. K. Laurie, Sunday school missionery for this district, who will assist him in the meetings. Either Mr. Knox or Mr. Laurie will come down Saturday evening to hold the regular services at the Presbyterian church here Sunday.

The roads throughout the county are said to be something fierce just now, and those who are obliged to drive get their money's worth every time. The trail proper is not in bad shape and is generally well broken, but if a driver is unfortunate enough to meet a team going in the opposite direction he generally has a picnic trying to get back on the road. One farmer was telling The Gazette Saturday that he was obliged to unhook his horses from his sled three times in coming to town that day, a distance of but a few miles, and each time great difficulty was experienced in getting straightened out again.

O. T. Romsos arrived here Sunday from Sarles, North Dakota, and will spend the week in this neighborhood looking after some business matters. Mr. Romsos reports the fall and winter business as exceptionally good with his firm, and says that they have never had cause to regret making the change of location. The tremendous amount of snow this winter has played havoc with the railroad lines in North Dakota, and O. T. says that a train on some of the branches out that way is quite a curiosity these days. His town has not yet been bothered with the coal famine to the extent of some other places out there but the supply has not been overabundant and a continuance of the blockades resulting the past month will affect them before long.

Teachers' Examinations.

The semi-annual teachers' examinations will be held at Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and 2, 1907, in accordance with the following program:

Note--Civics is now required for second grade and limited certificates.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31st.
(First Grade Studies)
A. M.-- 8:00 Enrollment.
8:15 Geometry.
10:00 Physics.
P. M.-- 1:30 Algebra.
3:15 Physical Geography or General History.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1st.
(Second Grade Studies)
A. M.-- 8:00 Enrollment.
8:30 Professional Test.
9:30 Spelling.
10:00 Arithmetic.
P. M.-- 1:15 Geography.
2:45 Composition and Penmanship.
3:20 Reading.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2nd
(Second Grade Studies Continued)
A. M.-- 8:00 U. S. History.
9:45 English Grammar.
11:30 Music.
P. M.-- 1:15 Physiology-Hygiene.
3:45 Civics.
4:00 Drawing.

--H. T. McANULTY,
Co. Supt.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Herbert Findelsen:
.... Reporter.

A defi will be posted in the near future, challenging the business men of the town to a spelling match with the High School. This contest will take place in about six weeks, if the challange is accepted. The minor details of the match will be arranged later by the contesting parties. Undoubtedly this will give an impetus to spelling such as Red Lake Falls has never known before.

Measles have become almost an epidemic in the lower grades. Many are forced to remain at home both on account of the aforesaid sickness and the extreme cold. We hope that most, if not all of the high school pupils, have passed the (measly) stage.

It was reported in these columns a few weeks ago that the high school would begin singing after Christmas, but owing to some misunderstanding between Professer Chamberlain and the committee appointed to select the song books, no books have been sent for as yet.

Tuesday the Cicero class finished the fourth oration of the six that are required.

Miss Elsie Mead is taking a post graduate course at present. Civics, grammer, arithmetic and Zoology are the subjects she is studying.

Four pupils have left school from the eighth grade. Francis Gamache has gone to work in a store at Cass Lake, Louis Patnode is employed at the Big Store, Irene Belair is attending the convent, while Elizabeth Schlessinger is staying at home. Maggie Orr is the only new scholar.

The high school and eighth grade began spelling Tuesday. The classes for the present were divided alphabeticly among the teachers. At the end of the first month they will be divided according to their standing.

The eighth grade English history class has studied as far as Henry VII. while the geometry class are trying to solve the Pythagorus proposition. The junior class can say by experience that they will not forget the dread name in times to come.

Miss Twinman, who has been confined to her home for the past few days, resumed her duties Wednesday morning. During her absence Miss Hanson took charge of the Latin classes.

Miss Rebbecca Hunt has been absent the early part of the week on account of sickness.

The civics and politicel economy class changed the regular routine after the holidays, and they are now taking political economy three times a week instead of only twice.

The English classes in the high school are progressing nicely. The Freshmen are about to take up "Silas Marner," the Sophmores are beginning "The Gettysburg Address" and "The Bunker Hill Orations." The brilliant Junior class has just finished studying the writers of the first twenty years of the Elizabethan period in English literature,

The Spartan society will give a program Friday of this week. Parents and those interested are invited to come and see real talent.

A Few More Hot Shots
For Economical Buyers

Dollars are going further than usual just now, and we intend they shall right along.

Fancy KKK Norwegian Herring	10c
Hamburg Spiced Herring at	10c
10 lb box Fancy California Prunes	70c
25 lb Box Fancy California Prunes	$1.50
Red Pitted Cherries, soiled labels, worth 30c	15c
Comb Honey, always the best	12½c
Shad Halibut, per box, at	10c
Norseman Boneless Cod at	12½c
Fine Can Peas at	9c
1 gal pail Syrup at	40c
3 lb can Asparagus Tips	25c
Fine Jap Tea, reg. 35c	25c
10 lb box Macaroni	65c
Monarch Jams, pure fruit all kinds, jar	25c

Shoe Department.

$1.50 Ladies' Felt Shoes at	98c
$1.50 Men's Fine Jersey Artics, 1 buckle	$1.25

Crockery Department

100 piece dinner set, Johnson's semi-porcelain, best English ware	$7.25
Dinner Set of 47 pieces, this week for	$5.75

Dry Goods Department

25 per cent off on Woolen Blankets
white, grey and red.

30 per cent off on Men's Dress Pants

New line of Ladies' Petticoats in mercerized and heather-bloom Taffetas, at
$1.25 to $3.00
The best line we have ever shown.

It Pays to Trade at
The Big Store
THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

After Inventory Remnant Sale

We have just completed our annual inventory and find that we have a few remnants in Dress Goods and other fabrics. These are all staple goods, but in order to clean them out we are offering them at Greatly Reduced Prices.

In Our Winter Goods ... Department ...

we find that we are overstocked in some lines, and wishing to make room for Spring Goods which will arrive later, we are cutting prices on all overstocked lines in order to move them quickly. These are all first-class goods and it will pay you to look them over.

THE BUSY STORE
GARCEAU & ZAISER.
Poultry Taken At Highest Market Prices.

An Extra Stove

This is the time of year when you realize that you need an extra stove to keep the home comfortable. You may not want to keep a fire in it all the time--then why not buy the

Wilson Air Tight Heater

Quick Fire
Quick Heater
Reasonable Price

We also carry everything you want in the Hardware line. Our stock is all new and you can rest assured that the goods purchased from us are the best obtainable for the money. We will be pleased to have you drop in at any time and look over our new store.

G. A. KANKEL
The Hardware Man.
'Phone No. 74 Red Lake Falls.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

"He did not tamper, he has never sought to—he was all kindness."

She stopped, her short upper lip holding its incautious mate a prisoner. She blushed furiously under the sudden blaze of his eyes.

"So it's true, what Seth Wright hinted at! To think that you, of all people—my sweetheart—gone over—won over by a cursed mobocrat—a fiend with the blood of our people wet on his hands! Listen, Prue; I'm going into the desert. Even though you beg me to stay, you must have known—perhaps you hoped—that I would go. There are many reasons why I must. For one, there are 640 poor hunted wretches over there on the river bank, sick, cold, wet, starving, but enduring it all to the death for their faith in Joseph Smith. They could have kept their comfortable homes here and their substance, simply by renouncing him—they are all voluntary exiles—they have only to say 'I do not believe Joseph Smith was a prophet of God,' and these same Gentiles will receive them with open arms, give them clothing, food, and shelter, put them again in possession of their own. But they are lying out over there, fever-stricken, starving, chilled, all because they will not deny their faith. Shall I be a craven, then, who have scarcely ever wanted for food or shelter, and probably shall not? Of course you don't love me or you couldn't ask me to do that. Those faithful wretched ones are waiting over there for me to guide them on toward a spot that will probably be still more desolate. They could find their way, almost, by the trail of graves we left last spring, but they need my strength and my spirit, and I am going. I am going, too, for my own salvation. I would suffer anything for you, but by going I may save us both. Listen, child; God is going to make a short work on earth. We shall both see the end of this reign of sin. It is well if you take wheat to the mill, but what if you fetch the miller chaff instead?"

"Joel—dear, dear Joel!—indeed I pity and sympathize—and care for—but I cannot go—even after all you say. And don't you see it will always be so! My father says the priesthood will always be in trouble if it sets itself above the United States. Dear Joel, I can't go, indeed I can't go!"

He spoke more softly now.

"Thank God I don't realize it yet—I mean, that we must part. You tell me so and I hear you and my mind knows, but my heart hasn't sensed it yet. I can feel it now going stupidly along singing its old happy song of hope and gladness, while all this is going on here outside. But soon the big hurt will come. Oh, Prue—Prue, girl! can't you think what it will mean to me? Don't you know how I shall sicken for the sight of you, and my ears will listen for you! Prudence, Prue, darling—yet I must not be womanish! I have a big work to do. I have known it with a new clearness since that radiance rested above my head last night. The truth burns in me like a fire. Your going can't take that from me. It must be I was not meant to have you. With you perhaps I could not have had a heart single to God's work. He permitted me to love you so I could be tried and proved."

"But indeed I must be favored more than common, to deserve that so great a hurt be put upon me, and I shall not be found wanting. I shall never wed any woman but you, though, dear. If not you, never any other."

He stood up.

"I must go in to them now. There must be work to do against the start to-morrow."

"Joel!"

"May the Lord deafen my ears to you, darling!" and squaring his shoulders resolutely away from her, he left her on the seat and went in.

The old man looked up from his Bible as his son entered.

"It's sore sad, laddie, we can't have the temple for your sealing-vows."

"Prudence will not be sealed to me, father." He spoke dazedly, as if another like the morning's blow had been dealt him. "I—I am already sealed to the Spirit for time and eternity."

"Was it Prudence's doings?" asked his mother, quickly.

"Yes, she has left the church with her people."

The long-faced, narrow-browed old man raised one hand solemnly.

"Then let her be banished from Israel and not numbered in the books of the offspring of Abraham! And let her be delivered over to the buffetings of Satan in the flesh!"

CHAPTER V.

Giles Rae Beautifies His Inheritance.

By eight o'clock the next morning, out under a cloudy sky, the Raes were ready and eager for their start to the new Jerusalem. Even the sick woman's face wore a kind of soft and faded radiance in the excitement of going. On her mattress, she had been tenderly installed in one of the two covered wagons that carried their household goods. The wagon in which she lay was to be taken across the river by Seth Wright—for the moment no Wild Ram of the Mountains, but a soft-cooing dove of peace. Permission had been granted him by Brockman to recross the river on some needful errands; and, having once proved the extreme sensitivenesss, not to say irritability, of those in temporary command, he was now resolved to give as little eclat as possible to certain superior aspects of his own sanctity. He spoke low and deferentially, and his mien was that of a modest, retiring man who secretly thought ill of himself.

He mounted the wagon in which the sick woman lay, sat well back under the bowed cover, clucked low to the horses, and drove off toward the ferry. If discreet behavior on his part could ensure it there would be no conflict provoked with superior numbers; with numbers, moreover, composed of violent-tempered and unprincipled persecutors who were already acting with but the merest shadow of legal authority.

On the seat of the second wagon, whip in hand, was perched Giles Rae, his coat buttoned warmly to the chin. He was slight and feeble to the eye, yet he had been fired to new life by the certainty that now they were to leave the territory of the persecuting Gentiles for a land to be the Saints' very own. His son stood at the wheel, giving him final directions. At the gate was Prudence Corson, gowned for travel, reticule in hand, her prettiness shadowed, under the scoop of her bonnet, the toe of one trim little boot meditatively rolling a pebble over the ground.

"You—My Sweetheart—Gone Over—Won Over by a Cursed Mobocrat."

"Drive slowly, Daddy. Likely I shall overtake you before you reach the ferry. I want but a word yet with Prudence; though"—he glanced over at the bowed head of the girl—"no matter if I linger a little, since Brother Seth will cross first and we must wait until the boat comes back. Some of our people will be at the ferry to look after you—and be careful to have no words with any of the mob—no matter what insult they may offer. You're feeling strong, aren't you?"

"Ay, laddie, that I am! Strong as an ox! The very thought of being free out of this Babylon has exalted me in spirit and body. Think of it, boy! Soon we shall be even beyond the limits of the United States—in a foreign land out there to the west, where these bloodthirsty ones can no longer reach us. Thank God they're like all snakes—they can't jump beyond their own length!"

He leaned out of the wagon to shake a bloodless, trembling fist toward the temple where the soldiers had made their barracks.

"Now let great and grievous judgments, desolations, by famine, sword, and pestilence come upon you, generation of vipers!"

He cracked the whip, the horses took their load at his cheery call, and as the wagon rolled away they heard him singing:

> Lo, the Gentile chain is broken!
> Freedom's banner waves on high!

They watched him until the wagon swung around into the street that fell away to the ferry. Then they faced each other, and he stepped to her side as she leaned lightly on the gate.

"Prue, dear," he said, softly, "it's going hard with me. God must indeed have a great work reserved for me to try me with such a sacrifice—so much pain where I could least endure it. I prayed all the night to be kept firm, for there are two ways open—one right and one wrong; but I cannot sell my soul so early. That's why I wanted to say the last good-by out here. I was afraid to say it in there—I am so weak for you, Prue—I ache so for you in all this trouble—why, if I could feel your hands in my hair, I'd laugh at it all—I'm so weak for you, dearest."

She tossed her yellow head ever so slightly, and turned the scoop of her bonnet a little away from his pain-lighted face.

"I am not complimented, though—you care more for your religion than for me."

He looked at her hungrily.

"No, you are wrong there—I don't separate you at all—I couldn't—you and my religion are one—but, if I must, I can love you in spirit as I worship my God in spirit—"

"If it will satisfy you, very well!"

"My reward will come—I shall do a great work, I shall have a Witness from the sky. Who am I that I should have thought to win a crown without taking up a cross?"

"I am sorry for you."

"Oh, Prue, there must be a way to save the souls of such as you, even in their blindness. Would God make a flower like you, only to let it be lost? There must be a way. I shall pray until I force it from the secret heavens."

"My soul will be very well, sir!" she retorted, with a distinct trace of asperity. "I am not a heathen, I'd thank you to remember—and when I'm a wife I shall be my husband's wife—"

He winced in acutest pain.

"You have no right to taunt me so. Else you can't know what you have meant to me. Oh, you were all the world, child—you, of your own dear self—you would have been all the wives in the world to me—there are many, many of you, and all in a heavenly one—"

"Oh, forgive me, dearest," she cried, and put out a little gloved hand to comfort him. "I know, I know—all the sweetness and goodness of your love, believe me. See, I have kept always by me the little Bible you gave me on my birthday—I have treasured it, and I know it has made me a better girl, because it makes me always think of your goodness—but I couldn't have gone—and that marrying is so odious—"

"You shall see how little you had to fear of that doctrine which God has seen fit to reveal to these good men. I tell you now, Prue, I shall wed no woman but you. Nor am I giving you up. Don't think it. I am doing my duty and trusting God to bring you to me. I know He will do it—I tell you there is the spirit of some strange, awful strength in me, which tells me to ask what I will and it shall be given—to seek to do anything, how great or hard soever, and a giant's, a god's strength will rest in me. And so I know you will come. You will always think of me so—waiting for you—somehow, somewhere. Every day you must think it, at any idle moment when I come to your mind; every night when you waken in the dark and silence, you must think: 'Wherever he is, he is waiting for me, perhaps awake as I am now, praying, with a power that will surely draw me.' You will come somehow. Perhaps, when I reach winter quarters, you will have changed your mind. One never knows how God may fashion these little providences. But He will bring you safe to me out of that Gentile perdition. Remember, child, God has set His hand in these last days to save the human family from the ruins of the fall, and some way, He alone knows how, you will come to me and find me waiting."

"As if you needed to wait for me when I am here now ready for you, willing to be taken!"

"Don't, don't, dear! There are two of me now, and one can't stand the pain. There is a man in me, sworn to do a man's work like a man, and duty to God and the priesthood has big chains around his heart dragging it across the river. But, low, now—there is a little, forlorn boy in me, too—a poor, crying, whimpering, babyish little boy, who dreamed of you and longed for you and was promised you, and who will never get well of losing you. Oh, I know it well enough—his tears will never dry, his heart will always have a big hurt in it—and your face will always be so fresh and clear in it!"

He put his hands on her shoulders and looked down into the face under the bonnet.

"Let me make sure I shall lose no look of you, from little tilted chin, and lips of scarlet thread, and little teeth like grains of rice, and eyes into which I used to wander and wonder so far—"

She looked past him and stepped back.

"Capt. Girnway is coming for me—yonder, away down the street. He takes me to Carthage."

His face hardened as he looked over his shoulder.

"I shall never wed any woman but you. Can you feel as deeply as that? Will you wed no man but me?"

She fluttered the cherry ribbons on the bonnet and fixed a stray curl in front of one ear.

"Have you a right to ask that? I might wait a time for you to come back—to your senses and to me, but—"

"Good-by, darling!"

"What, will you go that way—not kiss me? He is still two blocks away."

"I am so weak for you, sweet—the little boy in me is crying for you, but he must not have what he wants. What he wants would leave his heart rebellious and not perfect with the Lord. It's best not," he continued, with an effort at a smile and in a steadier tone. "It would mean so much to me—oh, so very much to me—and so very little to you—and that's no real kiss. I'd rather remember none of that kind—and don't think I was churlish—it's only because the little boy—I will go after my father now, and God bless you!"

He turned away. A few paces on he met Capt. Girnway, jaunty, debonair, smiling, handsome in his brass-buttoned uniform of the Carthage Grays.

"I have just left the ferry, Mr. Rae. The wagon with your mother has gone over. The other had not yet come down. Some of the men appear to be a little rough this morning. Your people are apt to provoke them by being too outspoken, but I left special orders for the good treatment of yourself and outfit."

With a half-smothered "thank you," he passed on, not trusting himself to say more to one who was not only the enemy of his people, but bent, seemingly, on deluding a young woman to the loss of her soul. He heard their voices in cheerful greeting, but did not turn back. With eyes to the front and shoulders squared he kept stiffly on his way through the silent, deserted streets to the ferry.

Fifteen minutes' walk brought him to the now busy waterside. The ferry, a flat boat propelled by long oars, was landing when he came into view, and he saw his father's wagon driven on. He sped down the hill, pushed through the crowd of soldiers standing about, and hurried forward on the boat to let the old man know he had come. But on the seat was another than his father. He recognized the man, and called to him.

"What are you doing there, Brother Keaton? Where's my father?"

The man had shrunk back under the wagon-cover, having seemingly been frightened by the soldiers.

"I've taken your father's place, Brother Rae."

"Did he cross with Brother Wright?"

"Yes—he—" The man hesitated. Then came an interruption from the shore.

"Come, clear the gangway there so we can load! Here are some more of the damned rats we've hunted out of their holes!"

The speaker made a half-playful lunge with his bayonet at a gaunt, yellow-faced specter of a man who staggered on to the boat with a child in his arms wrapped in a tattered blue quilt. A gust of the chilly wind picked his shapeless, loose-fitting hat off as he leaped to avoid the bayonet-point, and his head was seen to be shaven. The crowd on the bank laughed loud at his clumsiness and at his grotesque head. Joel Rae ran to help him forward on the boat.

"Thank you, brother—I'm just up from the fever-bed—they shaved my head for it—and so I lost my hat—thank you—here we shall be warm if only the sun comes out."

Joel went back to help on others who came, a feeble, bedraggled dozen or so that had clung despairingly to their only shelter until they were driven out.

"You can stay here in safety, you know, if you renounce Joseph Smith and his works—they will give you food and shelter." He repeated it to each little group of the dispirited wretches as they staggered past him, but they replied staunchly by word or look, and one man, in the throes of a chill, swung his cap and uttered a feeble "Hurrah for the new Zion!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

It would be easier for most people to do their duty if they could be made to suspect that they ought to be doing something else.

Sporting Gossip.

We have heard of the spit ball and the rubber-filled ball of baseball, but the latest sensation in football is the rebounding ball. A dozen years ago the spiral punt was introduced, and was the aim of great kickers to master this trick of the gridiron. Lately a certain young giant of the St. Louis university team has acquired the art of throwing a spiral the distance of an average punt—45 yards—but it remained for Bocock, Georgetown's quarter back, to discover the rebounding ball. The trick was discovered in this way: The varsity had been hammering the scrub's line with cross bucks and straight formations with considerable success. Capt. Bocock gave the signal for a quarter back kick, and the end slipped out behind the scrubs' line. The ball was kicked, but the scrubs' quarter back was on the varsity end like a flash. What was their surprise when the ball rebounded from their very grasp several yards into the arms of the varsity full back, who tore down the field for a touchdown while the others were looking for the ball. A few minutes later Bocock tried another kick, the ball rebounding even farther than at the attempt before. By this time Coach Reilly and Bocock himself began to take notice. The blue and gray captain recalled that he had booted the ball in a peculiar manner. When scrimmages were over for the day he practiced this kick, and, after some few attempts, was able to get the proper English on the ball, so that it rebounded twice out of every three times. A special formation was added to those already on the backfield's slate, in which the Georgetown backs got the ball on the rebound, to the confusion of the opposing team, which had fallen back for a punt. The trick was used by Georgetown in her games last season with considerable success.

Frank Donahue's determination to stick to the hotel business will be a decided loss to the Detroit club. The trouble with "Donny" was that he never was quite serious enough. He never was prone to going into the box out of his regular turn and never made a reputation in this respect like "Rescuing Rube." When he did pitch, though, Donahue usually twirled a first class article of ball, and from the time the season opened until it closed he was nearly always in condition to give his club his best services. Donahue is one of the very few pitchers who can boast of holding a team down to no runs or hits. He did this several years ago against Boston, when pitching for the Phillies. When the war with the American league broke out, Donahue, after giving the Phillies a chance to "see" the offer of the American league, jumped the team. He signed with St. Louis, and was later traded to Cleveland, who in turn traded him to Detroit. It was while with Cleveland that Donahue had rather an odd experience. His manager fined him $200 for drinking two glasses of beer one night. Although admittedly the humorist of the baseball profession, "Donny" couldn't quite see the joke in paying $100 per drink, not counting the 5 cents to the bartender; and he jumped the Cleveland team. While at home he played with semi-professional teams. One day he pitched for Wissahickon, at Wilmington. That afternoon Wilmington never made a hit off Donahue and yet the Peach Staters won by 1 to 0. The cause of this was a couple of wild throws in the ninth inning, which permitted a Wilmington player to score.

Frank Donahue.

The well known jockey, W. Gannon, has been engaged at a salary of $8,000 per year to ride for the Russian imperial stables the coming season. Gannon should fill the bill admirably, as the high weights in Russia will permit him to ride in all sorts of races. Besides the salary the position will be worth an extra $1,000 per year.

Thomas Hueston of St. Louis won the pool championship from Jerome Keogh of Buffalo, in a contest at the latter city recently. The score was: Hueston, 195; Keogh, 193, and the total for three nights was: Hueston, 600; Keogh, 507.

No muss or failures made with PUTNAM FADELESS DYES; bright, beautiful colors a certainty.

Each wrinkle on a woman's brow represents an experience.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

With too many people charity is more of a fad than a virtue.

For Prices on Poultry,
Either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, S. Paul.

Some men can't even do their duty without making a fuss about it.

We pay the highest price for Butterfat in cream. Write for prices. Milton Dairy Co., St. Paul.

New York Philanthropist.

Dr. Adelaide Wallerstein, rich, young and handsome, has turned part of her elegant New York home into a physician's office. Here she devotes about six hours a day to practicing medicine, all the income so derived going to her charity work on the east side of the city. Mrs. Wallerstein is accomplished and socially prominent, but has given up most of her society pleasures for her professional and charitable work.

Mark Twain's Neat Answer.

Eugene Ware, of Topeka, recently wrote to Mark Twain: "I picked up your last volume. I read it clear through from cover to cover; it was like a bob-tailed flush. I could not lay it down." From No. 21 Fifth avenue, New York city, Mr. Clemens answered back as follows: "Dear Mr. Ware: I am an old brass-bound, copper-riveted, fire-assayed Presbyterian, with 71 years' experience in unworldliness, and I don't understand your metaphor, but I know it was intended as a compliment and I make it cordially welcome."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
CURES RHEUMATISM BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE DIABETES

Nails and Apples.

When our grandmothers were sick, when they were tired out, unable to work or sleep, when their cheeks became hollow, their rosy complexion began to fade and their eyes to lose their luster, they were told that they required "more iron in their blood."

Instead of swallowing bottles of medicine, containing strong acids (to hold the iron in solution), they would simply stick half a dozen or more iron nails into an apple, leave them in over night, remove the nails and next morning, before breakfast, EAT THE APPLE.

This method was as a rule so successful, that physicians in Germany are now recommending a preparation made from apple pulp and iron, as an excellent tonic.

This only shows, that the nearer we approach nature the more apt are we to find remedies for the sick.

Mr. Zaegel, established as a chemist at Sheboygan, Wisconsin, for the past 23 years, has given this matter of using nature's remedies much attention and if any of our readers will write him, he will be pleased to send the names of nine roots and herbs which, when mixed as directed, have been found an excellent remedy for Rheumatism, Constipation, Backache and Catarrh.

If you will mention the nature of your complaint he will also mail you a free sample of an extract he makes from these roots and herbs together with letters from people who have been greatly benefited by its use.

Address your letter to Max R. Zaegel, Chemist, 162 Main Street, Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

In order to get some of this extract free you had better write at once as the quantity is limited.

A Positive CURE CATARRH
Ely's Cream Balm
Is quickly absorbed.
Gives Relief at Once.
It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts., at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size 10 cts. by mail.
Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.
HAY FEVER

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

AN IMPORTANT CASE

Patient Cured of Ataxia Gives the Entire Credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. S. C. Welloek, of 114 Cleveland Avenue, Everett, Mass., the wife of an employe in the government works at Chelsea, says:

"I had been troubled with nervousness for ten years and the disease kept growing on me. Then I learned that I was suffering from locomotor ataxia. I had terrible tremblings in my right leg which would get rigid and when this happened in the street I had to stand still until it passed away to keep from falling. My right arm felt as if a thousand needles were pricking it. The sheet touching my knee in bed would nearly cause me to scream out with pain and both knees were so weak I could hardly stand.

"I had to use a cane and be helped about by my son. Then the pain began to settle in the calves of my legs and the muscles became numb and quivered constantly. The cords under my knees seemed to be drawn up tight and the terrible shooting pains in my legs would nearly drive me insane. My toes became numb and at times would prickle as if needles were being thrust into them. My eyes became dull and black spots floated before them. My heart was very weak.

"My attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I bought several boxes right away and soon felt relief. I was so pleased that I kept on taking them until they cured me entirely, and I have had no symptoms of the trouble for over a year."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

A booklet, entitled "Nervous Disorders," sent free on request.

Owes Double Allegiance.

Count Prosper D'Epinay, who has been decorated in Paris by the British ambassador with the Victorian Order, is in the odd position of being a British subject and yet a Frenchman at the same time. He was born in the island of Mauritius some 65 years ago. The island, of course, is inhabited by a French-speaking population and once formed part of the territories of France. Both the count's parents being French, the count is regarded in France as a Frenchman, but being born under the British flag he is just as surely a British subject.

Comment That Stung.

The marquis of Lansdown, leader of unionist peers in the British parliament, speaks rarely but always with effect. He revels in grave sarcasm. On one ocasion Lord Crews, the liberal leader, made a speech on a subject which he desired to leave a matter for open voting among his followers. Lord Lansdowne congratulated his friend on his eloquent speech. "I have followed it," he said, "with earnest attention not only on account of the importance of the subject but also on account of the noble lord's judicial attitude. I admired his earnestness and eloquence, but what impressed me most was his impartiality." A pause. "Yes, until the last minute I did not know on which side of the fence his lordship was coming down."

French President's Double.

M. Fallieres was until recently believed to be the only president of the French republic who had no double, but his counterpart has been found. The man who most resembles him physically is a respectable merchant of the Rue Saint Honoro, who plays his part with decorum and dignity. He wears exactly the same kind of blue butterfly necktie with white dots as the president, the same kind of hat and exactly so oddly cut a beard. And on his promenades he is always accompanied by a friend who could easily be taken for the president's private secretary. Dignified and with measured steps the enviable double walks through the Faubourg Saint Honora and feels overjoyed at being saluted on all sides.

NEVER TIRES

Of the Food That Restored Her to Health.

"My food was killing me and I didn't know the cause," writes a Colo. young lady. "For two years I was thin and sickly, suffering from indigestion and inflammatory rheumatism.

"I had tried different kinds of diet, plain living, and many of the remedies recommended, but got no better.

"Finally, about five weeks ago, mother suggested that I try Grape-Nuts, and I began at once, eating it with a little cream or milk. A change for the better began at once.

"To-day I am well and am gaining weight and strength all the time. I've gained 10 lbs. in the last five weeks and do not suffer any more from indigestion and the rheumatism is all gone.

"I know it is to Grape-Nuts alone that I owe my restored health. I still eat the food twice a day and never tire of it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The flavor of Grape-Nuts is peculiar to itself. It is neutral, not too sweet and has an agreeable, healthful quality that never grows tiresome.

One of the sources of rheumatism is from overloading the system with acid material, the result of imperfect digestion and assimilation.

As soon as improper food is abandoned and Grape-Nuts is taken regularly, digestion is made strong, the organs do their work of building up good red blood cells and of carrying away the excess of disease-making material from the system.

The result is a certain and steady return to normal health and mental activity. "There's a reason." Read the little book "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

DESIGN FOR POULTRY HOUSE.

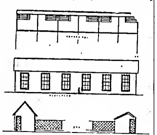
Building Which Will Accommodate One Hundred and Fifty Fowls.

The size of the building here represented is 12 feet wide and 80 feet long, divided into six separate apartments for poultry, with a passageway in the rear of the separate apartments. This is called a connected apartment house, from the fact that from the hallway in the rear you could enter each apartment. When it is desirable so to do, there need not be any partitions, but the whole building may be thrown into one large room.

The advantages gained from the separate apartment house are several. First of all, hens do better when not to exceed 25 or 30 are permitted to live in each apartment. This building, as represented here, would furnish six rooms large enough for 25 each of fowls the size of Plymouth Rocks or Wyandottes. Thirty Leghorns might be kept to good advantage in each apartment. The roosts should all be constructed on the level from a dropping board. Underneath the dropping board may be constructed the nests, or the nests may be built against the partition while that divides the apartments. It is always best to raise the nests from the ground, and to have the hens enter them from the rear or behind to lay. This hides the hen and the eggs away from those on the floor, and does not tempt them to fly up and eat the eggs.

The run or area way in front of the poultry house can be large or small, according to the ground space that you have to devote to the same. The more the better. Fowls always do the best that have a large space of yard room to roam over.

The gable may be constructed fashioned after either one of the end elevations presented, or, where it is preferred, the rear wall may be built high enough so as to have a shed roof from rear to front the entire width of the building. In the construction of a poultry house, great stress should be laid on having of dry floors and dry interior. Perfectly dry floors usually assure a dry interior. In selecting the location for a poultry building, always place it on the high ground, where there is an under and surface drainage. If this cannot be, dig out the ground, fill in with broken stone, and make a cement floor, at least a foot larger all around than will be the building thereupon. This cement floor will serve the double purpose of assuring a dry interior and shutting out vermin. Always cover the cement floor during the winter months with six or eight inches of dry earth, and throw thereupon plenty of dry litter, either straw, leaves, or light material that will do for scratching purposes.



Plans of House.

Where it is thought practicable to make use of what is known as the fresh-air or muslin curtain front to the windows, it is only necessary to remove part or all of the sash, and substitute frames covered with unbleached muslin. The use of the muslin curtain is thought to make the interior more healthful for the poultry. The continual passing of the air through the curtain has a tendency to dry the atmosphere within the poultry house. While such buildings, says Country Gentleman, are considerably colder than tight glass fronts, the interior is apt to be perfectly dry, and the hooded roost may be made use of in cold localities to keep the fowls warm during the frost of winter weather.

As to a correct ration of feed for the production of eggs during the winter months, try a dry grain ration, one-third wheat, the rest made up of a mixture of all kinds of small grain. If a mash food is fed, always feed it at noon. It is best when composed of equal parts, by measure, of cornmeal, ground oats, bran and middlings, all mixed with either scalding-hot milk or water, and allowed to set to cool.

Some animal food of some kind—beef scrap or ground green bone—should always be furnished them in winter. In addition to this, plenty of green food of some kind, water and grit should always be at hand. If fed this ration, and to this rule, and properly housed, hens should always furnish a full egg supply in winter.

Packing Fowls.

When fowls are packed in barrels or boxes for shipment, all the animal heat should be out of them. To pack them before that time is to increase the opportunities for the heat to develop in the interior of the box or barrel and the forces of decomposition begin their work. It will be seen that this might easily lead to heavy losses, as it frequently does.

The next thing to green bone for eggs is good thick buttermilk.

BLOATED WITH DROPSY.

The Heart Was Badly Affected When the Patient Began Using Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Elizabeth Maxwell, of 415 West Fourth street, Olympia, Wash., says:

"For over three years I suffered with a dropsical condition without being aware that it was due to kidney trouble. The early stages were principally backache and bearing down pain, but I went along without worrying much until dropsy set in. My feet and ankles swelled up, my hands puffed and became so tense I could hardly close them. I had great difficulty in breathing, and my heart would flutter with the least exertion. I could not walk far without stopping again and again to rest. Since using four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills the bloating has gone down and the feelings of distress have disappeared."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

And it's a sure thing that one can't be sure of anything in this world.

Furs, Hides, Pelts.

Write for prices and ship to McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Nothing pleases a homely woman so much as to have a man compliment her figure.

Take Garfield Tea, the Natural Laxative, for constipation, indigestion, liver and kidney derangements, and colds. It is made of Herbs. Guaranteed under the Pure Food Law.

We daily influence each other for good or evil. Let us not be the occasion of misleading others by our silence when we ought to speak.—J. H. Newman.

FITS, St. Vitus Dance and all Nervous Diseases permanently cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ld., 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Still Working for Humanity.

Tannia Claflin, as she was called before she married an English lord and went to England to live in the '70s, is back again in New York. Her agitation now is to promote happier marriages by lectures and informal entertainments in churches.

Millionaire Is Generous.

Congressman John E. Andrus, who represents the Yonkers, N. Y., district, for several years has taken delight in playing the role of Santa Claus to the pages and telephone and telegraph boys of the house. This year, as usual, his gifts to the youngsters consisted of two and five-dollar bills. Col. Andrus is worth $20,000,000, made out of the manufacture of pepsin.

Safe, Sure and Speedy.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as Allcock's Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the functions of muscles, nerves and skin.

Allcock's Plasters are the original and genuine porous plasters and like most meritorious articles have been extensively imitated, therefore always make sure and get the genuine.

ANIMALS THAT SHED TEARS.

Travelers' Observations Have Proved That Weeping Is Common.

Travelers through the Syrian desert have seen horses weep from thirst, a mule has been seen to cry from the pain of an injured foot and camels, it is said, shed tears in streams, says a writer in Harper's Weekly. A cow sold by its mistress who had tended young soko apa used to cry from vexation if Livingston didn't nurse it in his arms when it asked him to. Wounded apes have died crying, and apes have wept over their young slain by hunters. A chimpanzee trained to carry water jugs broke one and fell a-crying, which proved sorrow, though it wouldn't mend the jug. Rats, discovering their young drowned, have been moved to tears. A giraffe which a huntsman's rifle had injured began to cry when approached. Sea lions often weep over the loss of their young. Gordon Cummings observed tears trickling down the face of a dying elephant. And even an orang-outang when deprived of its mango was so vexed that it took to weeping. There is little doubt, therefore, that animals do cry from grief or weep from pain or annoyance.

OLD CAPT. CACK'S [illegible]

Somewhat Pointed, But It Denoted Quick Intelligence.

Pierce Jay, the commissioner of banks of Massachusetts, at the American Bankers' association's convention in St. Louis, advocated a better accounting system.

"But above all," said Mr. Jay, in a discussion of his idea, "we want intelligence, if embezzlement is to be thoroughly put down. Systems are good, but intelligence is better, and in cashiers and tellers and bookkeepers and note clerks we want the same keen, quick intelligence that characterized old Capt. Hiram Cack, of Gloucester.

"Cack lay very ill. One day he got down-hearted, feeling that his case was hopeless.

"'I fear, doctor,' he said, 'there isn't much hope for me.'

"'Oh, yes, there is,' the doctor answered. 'Three years ago I was in your condition precisely, and look at me now.'

"Cack, intelligent and alert, said quickly:

"'What doctor did you have?'"

ALMOST A SOLID SORE.

Skin Disease from Birth—Fortune Spent on Her Without Benefit—Cured Her with Cuticura.

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. G—— suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I was there when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then went back and stayed with them two weeks longer, and when I went home I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years, but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. Mrs. W. P. Ingle, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

Made Much on Small Capital.

Twenty-five years ago W. S. Wetham left the town of La Grange, Ga., with the munificent sum of one dollar in his pocket and landed in New York with nothing to his credit but his clothes and his character. The quality of the former does not matter and the quality of the latter has shown itself. He is to-day president of 75 banks, all but four of which are situated in his native state. In return for Georgia's small advance of 100 cents he has pretty well cornered her banking interests and has in keeping a goodly amount of her funds. The four banks of which he is president outside of the state of Georgia are situated in Florida.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, } ss.
Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D., 1886.

{ SEAL } A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Woman's Important Position.

An American woman, Mrs. John Leslie—familiarly known as Mrs. Jack Leslie—who was Leonie Blanche Jerome of New York, is inofficial adviser in fashion and dress of the duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, to the former of whom she is lady in waiting.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Complaint is generally despicable, always worse than unavailing.—Carlyle.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Nothing hurts a conceited man like being ignored.

What is Pe-ru-na?

Is it a Catarrh Remedy, or a Tonic, or is it Both?

Some people call Peruna a great tonic. Others refer to Peruna as a great catarrh remedy.

Which of these people are right? Is it more proper to call Peruna a catarrh remedy than to call it a tonic?

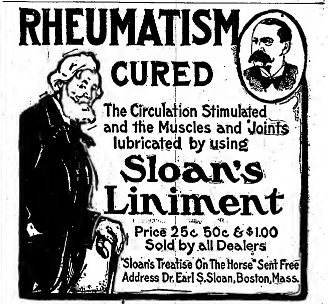
Our reply is, that Peruna is both a tonic and a catarrh remedy. Indeed, there can be no effectual catarrh remedy that is not also a tonic.

In order to thoroughly relieve any case of catarrh, a remedy must not only have a specific action on the mucous membranes affected by the catarrh, but it must have a general tonic action on the nervous system.

Catarrh, even in persons who are otherwise strong, is a weakened condition of some mucous membrane. There must be something to strengthen the circulation, to give tone to the arteries, and to raise the vital forces.

Perhaps no vegetable remedy in the world has attracted so much attention from medical writers as HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS. The wonderful efficacy of this herb has been recognized many years, and is growing in its hold upon the medical profession. When joined with CUBEBS and COPAIBA a trio of medical agents is formed in Peruna which constitutes a specific remedy for catarrh that in the present state of medical progress cannot be improved upon. This action, reinforced by such renowned tonics as COLLINSONIA CANADENSIS, CORYDALIS FORMOSA and CEDRON SEED, ought to make this compound an ideal remedy for catarrh in all its stages and locations in the body.

From a theoretical standpoint, therefore, Peruna is beyond criticism. The use of Peruna, confirms this opinion. Numberless testimonials from every quarter of the earth furnish ample evidence that this judgment is not over enthusiastic. When practical experience confirms a well-grounded theory the result is a truth that cannot be shaken.



RHEUMATISM CURED

The Circulation Stimulated and the Muscles and Joints lubricated by using

Sloan's Liniment

Price 25c 50c & $1.00
Sold by all Dealers
"Sloan's Treatise On The Horse" Sent Free
Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass.

NO MORE MUSTARD PLASTERS TO BLISTER.
THE SCIENTIFIC AND MODERN EXTERNAL COUNTER-IRRITANT.

CAPISICUM VASELINE

EXTRACT OF THE CAYENNE PEPPER PLANT

A QUICK, SURE, SAFE AND ALWAYS READY CURE FOR PAIN.—PRICE 15c.—IN COLLAPSIBLE TUBES—AT ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS, OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 15c. IN POSTAGE STAMPS. DON'T WAIT TILL THE PAIN COMES—KEEP A TUBE HANDY.

A substitute for and superior to mustard or any other plaster, and will not blister the most delicate skin. The pain-allaying and curative qualities of the article are wonderful. It will stop the toothache at once, and relieve Headache and Sciatica. We recommend it as the best and safest external counter-irritant known, also as an external remedy for pains in the chest and stomach and all Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Gouty complaints. A trial will prove what we claim for it, and it will be found to be invaluable in the household and for children. Once used no family will be without it. Many people say "it is the best of all your preparations." Accept no preparation of vaseline unless the same carries our label, as otherwise it is not genuine. SEND YOUR ADDRESS AND WE WILL MAIL OUR VASELINE PAMPHLET WHICH WILL INTEREST YOU.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO.
17 STATE STREET, NEW YORK CITY

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use } Thompson's Eye Water

A. N. K.—G (1907—2) 2160.

THE CANADIAN WEST IS THE BEST WEST

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The testimony of thousands during the past year is that the Canadian West is the best West. Year by year the agricultural returns have increased in volume and in value, and still the Canadian Government offers 160 acres FREE to every bona fide settler.

Some of the Advantages

The phenomenal increase in railway mileage—main lines and branches—has put almost every portion of the country within easy reach of churches, schools, markets, cheap fuel and every modern convenience.

The NINETY MILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP of this year means $60,000,000 to the farmers of Western Canada, apart from the results of other grains and cattle.

For advice and information address the SUPERINTENDENT OF IMMIGRATION, Ottawa, Canada, or any authorized Government Agent.

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. Machlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

LIVE STOCK AND MISCELLANEOUS

Electrotypes

IN GREAT VARIETY FOR SALE AT THE LOWEST PRICES BY

A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO.
73 W. Adams Street, CHICAGO

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children

The Kind You Have Always Bought

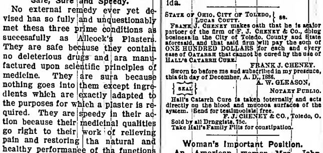
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?

Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postal card to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. 6, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free and it will be sent to you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.



STIFFNESS, STITCHES, LAMENESS, CRAMP, TWISTS AND TWITCHES, ALL DECAMP WHEN YOU APPLY

ST. JACOBS OIL

THE OLD-MONK-CURE

PRICE 25 AND 50 CENTS

EGGS

at 50 cts. a dozen pay.

Why not get them in fall and winter when prices are highest by using the scientifically prepared poultry tonic? First in the market and in use forty years to make hens lay. Helps poultry to get full benefit of all kinds of food, makes chicks grow rapidly and keeps them healthy. One pk. 25c; five, $1; two-lb. can, $1.20; six, $5.00. Express paid. At all dealers.

SHERIDAN'S CONDITION POWDER

I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

NO COAL FAMINE IN VIRGINIA. Good market. Splendid climate. Land $10 per acre. Catalog free. Good farms for exchange. J. B. Young & Co., Box [illegible], Richmond, Va.

DR. N. M. WATSON
Physician and Surgeon
Graduate of McGill University, Montreal.
Office over First State Bank.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.
DENTIST
Offices in LaBissoniere Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.
At St. Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Theo. Gureau, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley
GUREAU & FARLEY
Attorneys at-Law
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 47. Collections attended to.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Harry Mitchell's Editorial

When Minneapolis' Finest Tailor sends you samples of all the latest fabrics and his self-measurement blank, guaranteeing perfect fit and satisfaction and offers to make a suit or overcoat for $15, $20, and $25, that any other tailor would charge you $30, $35, and $40 for, don't you think it's time to write him and order your Fall Garment? I am making more clothes for out-of-town men than any other tailor in America. I prepay all Express charges (so your clothes cost you no more than the city man's), and if everything is not perfectly satisfactory I refund your money.
HARRY MITCHELL, 810 Nicollet Ave. MINNEAPOLIS.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure.

Mr. Murray's family, the widow, two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and expert attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1319 Nicollet Ave, Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

NORTHERN PACIFIC
TIME CARD
—OF—
TRAINS.

DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAYS

North Bound
No. 155 From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at 7:45 am

South Bound.
No. 156 departs .... [illegible] pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul Minn
P. A. MIZEN, Agent.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

WANT SPELLING MATCH

Prof. Chamberlain Would Pit High School Students Against Business People.

Prof. E. W. Chamberlain, of the city schools, has a plan whereby a novel and interesting spelling contest will be pulled off in the near future, provided interest is taken in the affair as it is thought it will be.

His plan is to pit a bunch of high school students, to the number of twenty or thirty, against a corresponding number of business and professional men; in an old fashioned spelling match.

While the details have not yet been worked out the plan would be to use words of commercial use in the contest, with competent judges to pronounce the words and judge as to the spelling. A time limit would be set, and at the end of the match the side having the most members up would win the match.

The Gazette would like to see the match carried out, as it would not only be great sport, but would spur the students to greater efforts in order to avoid a trimming when they met the older heads.

Further than this, it would appear that there a number of "old guys" about town who would appreciate digging down into the cobweb piles and bringing forth their old spellers for a period to brush up some of the rusty points in anticipation of the contest. With the large number of college men and others up in the spelling line around town, it would seem that a formidable team could be gotten together, that could at least succeed in keeping the "skule kids" busy for a time.

Encourage the plan by all means, as there is much good to be derived therefrom.

COLD IN CANADA.

Henry Kaufer Tells of Suffering Among Stock.

In a letter to his brother, L. A. Kaufer, of this city, H. J. Kaufer, who is now located at Calgary, N. W. T., writes that conditions are very bad there this winter, owing to the extreme cold weather that country has been having. He says that for days the theremometer has been way down in the "pictures," and that 45 degrees below zero is now looked upon as balmy weather.

As a result of the terrible cold stock has suffered greatly from exposure, and reports brought to Calgary are that cattle are dying by the thousands there at present. Besides the alarming death rate among the stock, the settlers are also suffering much privation and hardship, as the extreme cold weather has made it very difficult to travel for supplies.

Mr. Kaufer reports his folks as all well and happy. He is employed in a large tonsorial parlor at Calgary for the winter.

PORTABLE VILLAGES.

Turcomans Move Their Houses From Place to Place.

The Turcomans, who live on the eastern shore of the Caspian sea, carry their villages about with them when they travel. As a tribe sets out on a journey every man packs his wooden house upon a camel, which the animal can easily carry, and when a spot is reached where he and his friends intend to remain for any great length of time the camels are unloaded and a village started which it takes about an hour or so to build.

It is to be remembered that the houses are real houses and not tents and that the settlement is not a camp, but a village. The traveling house of the Turcoman is a marvel of skill and ingenuity and is really much lighter, more portable and can be packed into a much smaller compass than any of the so called portable houses that are manufactured and sold in some parts of our country.

The frame is made of strong, light wood laths about an inch broad by three-quarters of an inch thick, crossing each other when set up in position at right angles about a foot apart and fastened at each crossing by the thongs of rawhide so as to be movable, and the whole framework may be opened or shut in the same manner as those toys for children that consist of a squad of wooden soldiers and will expand or close at will so as to form open or close columns.

One part or more made in this way and all inclosing a circle fifteen or twenty feet across form the skeleton of the walls and are firmly secured in place by bands of ropes made of hair or wool fastened round the end of each rod. From the upper ends of these rods similar rods bent near the wall and into something less than a right angle are so disposed that the longer portions slope to the center and, being tied with rope, form the roof.

Over this is thrown a covering of black felt, having in the center a large hole which answers both for a window and a chimney. Large pieces of the same coarse black felt are wrapped round the walls, and outside these, to keep all tight, is bound another frame of split reeds or canes or of some very light, tough wood bound closely together with strong cords.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF PETER MARTEL.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Martel. Decedent:

The State of Minnesota to Joseph Martel and all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court his final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with his petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; Therefore, You, And Each of You, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the city Red Lake Falls, in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 1st day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the seal of said court, this 9th day of January, 1907.

—N. W. Turrant,
(Court Seal) Probate Judge.
—Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Petitioner. j10-24

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of sixty ($60.00) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry J. Ederle, a single man, mortgagor, to the First State Bank of St. Hilaire, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of April, A. D., 1903, and with the power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of April, A. D., 1903, at two o'clock p. m., in Book 29 of Mortgages, on page 26 thereof, which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said First State Bank of St. Hilaire, mortgagee, to De Nederlandsch-Amerikaansche Hypotheekbank (The Netherlands American Mortgage Bank) by written assignment, dated the 9th day of October, A. D., 1903, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deed on the 9th day of October, A. D., 1903, at 2:05 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages, on page 521.

AND WHEREAS, It is provided in and by the terms of said mortgage that if default be made in any of the terms and conditions of the said mortgage, the assignee or the mortgagee and holder of the said mortgage might declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable.

AND WHEREAS, Under the terms and conditions of the said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained, the said assignee and holder of the said mortgage has duly elected and hereby does duly elect to declare and does hereby declare the whole principal sum of the said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice.

AND WHEREAS, There is actually due and claimed to be due and payable thereon at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand One Hundred Two and 40-100 ($1,102.40) Dollars, and the power of sale having become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt remaining secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statue in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, namely: The North-west Quarter (N. W. ¼) of section twenty-four (24) in Township one hundred fifty-two (152) north of range forty-four (44) west of the 5th principal meridian, in Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Red Lake county at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 18th day of January, A. D., 1907, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the said debt of One Thousand One hundred two and 40 100 ($1,102.40) Dollars, and interest thereon, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-Five ($75) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 1st, 1906.

De Nederlandsch-Amerikaansche Hypotheekbank.
(The Netherlands American Mortgage Bank)
Assignee of Mortgagee.
Wm. J. Brown,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Warren, Minnesota. d6-j17

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred, Fifty-six and 4-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by C. A. Steen (a single men) Mortgagor, to Sadie O. Elwood, Mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of March, 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1903, at 2:10 o'clock P. M., in Book 21 of Mortgages on page 142.

That since the execution and delivery of said mortgage the mortgagee, Sadie O. Elwood has married and that her name is now Sadie O. Grady, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The northeast quarter (NE¼) of section number twenty-eight (28), township number one hundred and fifty (150) north, range number forty-four (44) west of the 5th Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres of land, according to the U. S. Government survey thereof, be the same more or less, in Red Lake county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred, fifty-six and 4-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 18th, A. D., 1906.

Sadie O. Grady,
formerly Sadie O. Elwood,
Mortgagee.
Gormo & Farley,
Attorneys for the Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minn. d20-j24

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF CHARLES W. CRESS.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } SS.
In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the estate of Charles W. Cress Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Louisa E. Cress, Cora Ellen Cress, Emma May Cress and Floyd J. H. D. Cress, all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court her final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with her petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled;

Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 2 o'clock p. m., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the Seal of said Court, this 6th day of January, 1907.

N. W. Turrant,
[Seal] j10-j24 Probate Judge.

How Are Your Kidneys?
Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Pills cure all kidney ills. Sample free. Add. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or N. Y.

ORDER FOR CREDITORS TO PRESENT CLAIMS WITHIN THREE MONTHS.

ESTATE OF ANDREW R. PETERSON

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew R. Peterson, deceased:

Letters of Administration with the will annexed on the estate of Andrew R. Peterson deceased, late of the Village of St. Hilaire, in the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to Olaus Peterson;

It appearing on proper proof by affidavit of the administrator with the will annexed made and filed herein, as provided by law, that there are no debts against the estate of said Andrew R. Peterson deceased.

It is Ordered, That three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date on this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased, if any there be, are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said county, for examination and allowance or be forever barred.

It is farther ordered that Tuesday, the 16th day of April, 1907, at ten o'clock A. M., at a Special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, be and the same is hereby appointed as the time and place when and where the the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And it is farther ordered, that notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate, by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 14th day of January A. D. 1907.

(Probate) (Seal) By the Court,
N. W. Turrant,
Judge of Probate.
J. K. Hannay,
Attorney for Petitioner,
St. Hilaire, Minn. j17-j31

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventy and 99-100 ($70.99) Dollars, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Joseph Bousbea, administrator of the estate of John Bousbea, deceased, mortgagor, to M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of March, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 21 of Mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, to John Jaenike by written assignment dated the 9th day of April, 1904, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 14th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages on page 119.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said John Jaenike the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., by written assignment dated the 14th day of December, 1906, and recorded on the 19th day of December, 1906, at 6 o'clock p. m., in book 15 of mortgages page 345, and by reason of the default herein before mentioned the said Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, the assignee of said mortgagee, chooses to declare and hereby does declare the whole debt secured by the aforesaid mortgage due and payable making in all four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in, and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the south-west quarter of section fourteen (14), Township numbered one hundred fifty (150), North of Range forty-two (42), west of the 5th P. M. in the state of Minnesota, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the second day of March, 1907, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 15th, A. D., 1907.

Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee,
F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. j17-f28

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION.

Estate of AMELIA KORTKE, Deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss
In Probate Court,

In the matter of the estate of Amelia Kortke Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Eric Kortke, Henry Kortke, Emil Kortke and Annie Kortke, and Daniel Gerlach, their Guardian, and all persons interested in the granting of administration of the estate of said decedent:

The petition of Chas. E. Boughton, having been filed in this court, representing that Amelia Kortke, then a resident of the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, died intestate on or about the 15th day of September 1906; and praying that letters of administration of her estate be granted to Theo Gureau; and the court, having fixed the time and place for hearing said petition;

Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court rooms in the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in the county of Red Lake state of Minnesota, on the 8th day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the Seal of said Court, this 17th day of January, 1907.

N. W. Turrant,
[SEAL] j17-j31 Judge of Probate
Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Petitioner.

HOLLISTER'S
Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggets
A Busy Medicine for Busy People.
Brings Golden Health and Renewed Vigor.
A specific for Constipation, Indigestion, Live and Kidney Troubles, Pimples, Eczema, Impure Blood, Bad Breath, Sluggish Bowels, Headache and Backache. It's Rocky Mountain Tea in tablet form, 35 cents a box. Genuine made by HOLLISTER DRUG COMPANY, Madison, Wis.
GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
TIME TABLE
THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 pm	Lv St. Paul Ar.	7:45 am
8:50 pm	Minneapolis	7:10 am
8:15 pm	Duluth	7:10 am
9:15am	Crookston	6:45pm
10:00am	Dugdale	6:00pm
10:35am	RED LAKE FALLS	5:25pm
11:05am	St. Hilaire	4:55pm
11:35am	Thief River Falls	4:30pm
12:01am	Steiner	4:05pm
12:15am	Sandridge	3:52pm
12:40am	Middle River	3:21pm
1:05pm	Strathcona	2:57pm
1:35pm	Ar Greenbush Lv	2:25pm

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from
J. L. TRACY, Agent
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER
MAIN STREET, - - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet Pure and Wholesome.

It's All The What

That's Fit To Eat..

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near oor idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..
BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats
Fish and Game in Season.
Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.
TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

TWO MONTHS' TUITION FREE and your car fare paid by the........
UNION
Commercial College
Complete Business, Shorthand, English and Banking Courses. Every graduate in position. Write for particulars and Free Catalogue.
UNION COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,
THACKER & HUGHES, Props. Grand Forks, North Dako

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains
Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY
Grand View Hotel
Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City
W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

HIDES
10 to 50% more Spot Cash for HIDES and RAW FURS by shipping to us than by selling at home. Fair dealings, Prompt cash returns, Best prices for HIDES, PELTS, RAW FURS, WOOL, ETC. Write for Price List, Market Report, shipping tags and how to obtain our Hunters' & Trappers' Guide. We are the most responsible Hide and Fur House in the N. W. Endorsed by 100 leading agricultural papers
ANDERSCH BROS., Department 69, - - - MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

ESTABLISHED 1867
SHIP YOUR HIDES, FURS, WOOL, ETC.
DIRECT TO US AND SAVE SMALL DEALERS' PROFITS.
D. BERGMAN & CO., ST. PAUL, MINN.
TOP MARKET PRICES, IMMEDIATE CASH RETURNS
WRITE FOR PRICE LIST AND SHIPPING TAGS:

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 24, 1907 No 17

SUPREME COURT HANDS THIEF RIVER A LEMON

WILL DO GOOD WORK

Red River Valley Development Association Will Soon Get Busy In Earnest.

Delegate P. B. Gaas returned home last Friday morning from Fargo where had attended a meeting of the Red River Valley Development and Immigration Association held chiefly for the purpose of electing permanent officers. There was such a marked display of interest and enthusiasm in the work that the association intends to undertake in the development of this section of the country that its continuance and success seem evident.

The following are the names of the officers elected for the ensuing year: P. H. Konzen, Hallock, pres.; E. J. Weizer, Fargo, vice-president; Thomas R. Brown, Jr. re-elected secretary; L. A. Hunton, of Moorhead, treasurer.

These are the members of the board of directors: J. W. Wheeler, Crookston; B. F. Lounsberry, Wahpeton; J. S. Ulland, Fergus Falls; H. H. Wheelock, Fargo; A. L. Hanson, Ada; Geo. Duis, Grand Forks; J. F. Cashel, Grafton; R. C. Mathwig, Warren; Frank Lynch Casselton, N. D.; E. Y. Sarles, Hillsboro, N. D.; J. A. Duffy, Red Lake Falls; A. Stonehouse, Larimore.

The officers and members of the board are men of prominence and their reputation for enterprise and business sagacity makes their selection particularly appropriate in advancing the interests of an organization the character of the one in question. After a meeting of the new board which will be held in the course of the next week or two it is expected that everything will be in readiness for the launching out of the work.

Short addresses were made by delegates such as C. L. Sawyer, a member of the state legislature and and secretary of the Minnesota real estate board, who gave an interesting and enthusiastic talk upon the subject of publicity and improvement work. The representatives of several publicity agencies outlined briefly several plans for advertising and systematically advancing the interests of the valley. At the next meeting of the board arrangements will be finally made for the adoption of a good and effective plan of advertising the Red River Valley.

A committee consisting of A. Stonehouse, A. P. Hanson and E. J. Weiser was appointed to see what could be done with the railroads to secure as favorable treatment for land dealers residing in the valley, as was granted land men from the outside. Strong resolutions were passed relative to the matter and it is expected that some definite action will be taken at once by the committee.

Mr. Gaass was well pleased with the work done by the convention.

SAXOPHONE QUARTETTE

Last Number of The Lyceum Course Will Be Given On February Eleventh.

As announced in last week's Gazette, the final number of the Lyceum entertainment course will be the Colonial Saxophone Quartette, at the opera house on the evening of Tuesday, February 11.

This number will without question be the best of the series, and everyone within a radius of twenty miles of town should plan on attending. The company is composed of four young men, all artists, and they give a varied and pleasing entertainment that always meets with universal favor. They are vocalists, cornetists, saxophonists, vilonists, and all around musicians, and no matter what line of music one may like, he will hear it when this company comes.

The lecture course has been quite successful financially and has given the people a series of entertainments that would be hard to beat. What surplus is left after the course is finished, will be applied to library purposes, so that in patronizing this entertainment you will be assisting a worthy cause.

Plan on attending the final number and you will surely have no cause to regret it.

Decision Handed Down Last Friday Favors Red Lake Falls In Every Particular --- Hopes Of Up-River Town Dashed To Earth.

Opinion Written By Justice Brown Upholds Contention Of Local Attorneys.

Friday of last week the Supreme Court of the State of Minnesota handed down its decision in the case of L. A. Kaufer et al vs James E. Ford, as county auditor, of Red Lake county.

The findings of the court are exactly as looked for by the attorneys for Red Lake Falls, and are a decided victory for this city in the county seat removal case, practically upholding the opinion that Red Lake Falls has been right in all things contended, and shoving the county seat way back out of the reach of greedy Thief River Falls, as it were.

The findings of the court are couched in the usual legal terms, but boiled down to the bare facts, hold that all action heretofore taken by the board of commissioners, on the county seat removal petition is null and void, and sustaining Red Lake Falls in the injunction proceedings, prohibiting the auditor from calling a special election to vote on the matter of county seat removal. The order of Judge Watts is reversed, and the findings of the court above follow:

It is held:

That the judgment in the mandamus proceeding was final and conclusive upon all questions affecting the jurisdiction of the board to hear and determine the petition upon its merits and those questions cannot be further ligitated in this or any other action.

That proceeding was brought by a legal voter of the county, on behalf of himself and all other voters and the judgment therein is conclusive as to all legal voters of the county upon all issues which were, or might have been, ligitated therein, if not appearing that it was obtained by fraud or collusion.

That the trial court exceeded its authority in commanding the board to convene on a date named, then and there to determine the merits of the petition, without further requiring notice to the voters of the county, as required by section 396, R. L. 1905, and to this extent the judgment is invalid on its face.

That no valid certificate by the board of county commissioners to the effect that a proper petition has been filed can be issued by the board until after a hearing duly had, pursuant to the notice required by the statute referred to,

Order reversed.

—Brown, J.

The findings of the court above uphold in every instance the contention of the Red Lake Falls attorneys—that at no time has Thief River Falls had the right side of the argument—and the long-drawn out county seat fight is today in practically the same shape as it was in when Thief River Falls filed their $6,000 removal petition nearly two years ago. For over two years they have kept a high-salaried committee and attorney constantly at work on the case, at a cost that would astonish even their most ardent supporters were it made public, and in all this time they have accomplished absolutely nothing—other than to bring large costs and trouble upon the taxpayers of Red Lake county.

The case has been before the people so much from time to time that they are all more or less familiar with the circumstances, but right here a few facts once again repeated can be looked at with a clearer vision since the decision of the Supreme Court.

Red Lake Falls bore the brunt of the fight and the expense for the division of Polk county, which division was strenuously opposed by Thief River Falls. Notwithstanding their opposition Red Lake was set off from Polk as a county early in 1897—and is there a property owner in the county today who can say that the change was not beneficial to all?

Red Lake Falls was made the county seat of the new county as a reward for the good work done, but just as soon as the schemers at Thief River Falls figured they had the power they immediately went after the seat of government, foisting this expensive and drawn out fight upon the people without the least reason, and for no other purpose than to cripple Red Lake Falls and attain their own greedy desires.

The people generally had always been well satisfied with Red Lake Falls as the seat of government and until the fight was forced upon them by Thief River Falls had never entertained an idea of removal of the county seat away from this city.

Here then is the thing in a nutshell, and to the people of the county at large will come a thrill of satisfaction to know that the Supreme Court decision practically leaves Thief River without a prop beneath their hopeless cause, and this with their $16,000 "get-all-you-can" campaign fund dwindled to the nearly infinitesimal.

It will be well worth while to note the position the fellows who have been obliged to contribute so heavily to the "slush fund" of the up-river town will take in this matter, and it would not be surprising to see them flatly refuse to go down in their pockets and dig up more money to keep several men in comfort, while no returns come in, These heaviest "diggers" have reason to be sore at the way their money has been handled, and are justified in their contention that the same money expended every year in another direction could not be "casting bread upon the waters"—for unlike the old proverb it is not "returned to thee" in this instance. A two years drain like this has been hard on the people up there, and it is not to be wondered at that they are ready to refuse to do any more paying for a thing they have no hope of getting—especially when they can now see where they are in the same position as they were two years ago when the fight started—except that haven't got their cash.

The petition must now go back to the board of county commissioners for final action, and there can scarcely be but one result. Red Lake Falls now has practically enough withdrawals to kill the petion, and has men at work securing more, so that no matter how soon the board convenes enough names will be taken off the petition to make it only good for framing purposes, to be kept and cherished by the salary-fat committee from the Thief town. Red Lake Falls will gladly welcome action on the petition by the fair and impartial gentlemen that today comprise the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, and has no fear but what the people of the county will get a "square deal."

Decision Leaves Thief River In Worse Hole Than When They Started The Fight.

The expense of the case through the upper court will be about $500 and unless the Thief River committee makes good their promises to pay it, the taxpayers will once again get it in the neck, as the county will have to dig up the cost. Attorney Miller for Thief River Falls agreed that that city would pay the costs provided they were beaten, but its a safe bet that they wont keep their promise, as they have long since given evidence that they have absolutely no regard for the fellows who have to pay the bills in the fight Thief River Falls forced upon the county.

Naturally the people here are well pleased at the way the thing has come out. The labor performed by Attorneys Boughton and Grady and others for the "good of the cause" has been a labor of love, and they have received pay for only the actual time and money spent defending Red Lake Falls interests. Contrast this with the way the Thief River side has been conducted by prince albert coated and white vested individuals, and is there any wonder that Red Lake Falls have cause to rejoice?

Red Lake Falls was rightfully made the county seat, has rightfully held it against the attacks of a greedy opponent, and will rightfully continue to be the seat of government for years to come—and the people of the county at large who have taken time to consider what this means are justified in rejoicing with us.

BANK BUYS BONDS.

Merchants State Furnishes Money To School District.

The Merchants State Bank of this city purchased the bond issue of school district No. 47 on the reservation. The bonds are in the amount of $700, and bear 5 per cent. The election for the bond issue was held December 12th and Mr. Duffy closed the negotiation for them just twelve days later. The money will be used to erect a new school building in that district, work on which will be commenced early in the spring.

The fact that the home bank takes up these school bonds, makes it very convenient for the districts desiring financial aid, and saves them considerable trouble and expense.

The Merchants State has been the only bank in the county to purchase them so far, and has given the people prompt service and good treatment.

It is likely that several other new reservation districts will take similar action in the spring.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned until February 2nd, 1907, at 6 o'clock p. m., for 175 cords of green poplar and 25 cords of green oak to be delivered at the Washington and Lafayette schools in Red Lake Falls, on or before April 1st, 1907.

By order of the school board.

Dated January 23rd, 1907.

A. P. Toupin, Secy.

QUARTERLY REPORT.

Receipts of Land Office For Last Year Amounted to $37,000.

The following is a statement of money received at the Crookston U. S. Land Office during the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1906:

Fees and commissions....	$ 2,166.55
Sales of public lands.....	2,391.09
Sales of Chippewa lands..	9,870.34
Sales of Red Lake land...	23,076.55
Total receipt............	$37,504.51

This statement shows that the affairs of the U. S. Land Office are in excellent condition and the receipts average more than usual for this time of the year.

New Barber Here.

E. A. Nelson, formerly of Brandon, arrived here Monday, and Tuesday morning opened up to the public the Kaufer barber shop and bath parlors. Mr. Nelson comes recommended as a first-class workman and all-around good fellow, and will undoubtedly receive a fair share of the public's patronage. He will keep his shop up to the times in all respects, and will try and merit all the favors he receives.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.---First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Program For Band Concert Tomorrow Evening.

PART I.

March, - - - - White
"Cheer Up."
Overture, - - - - - Sappe
"Jolly Robbers."
Cornet Duet, - - Eilenberg
"Kindred Souls."
Clem Brunelle, H. H. Garceau
Waltz, - - - - - - Fox
"Dorothy Vernon."
"Killarney" Transcription, arr Brooks
(Orpheus Quartette)
Messrs. Bruckman, Healy,
Berthoa, Tracy.

PART II.

March, - - - - - Zamenie
"Cleveland News."
Recitation, "The Black Horse and His Rider."
Paul Brunelle.
Selection, - - - - - Balfe
"Bohemian Girl."
Duet for Cornet and Trombone,
- - - - - - Barnard
"The Pals."
Clem Brunelle, H. Healy.
March, - - - - - McFall
"The New King."

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Wanted:—Gentleman or lady to travel for mercantile house of large capital. Territory at home or abroad to suit. If desirable the home may be used as headquarters. Weekly salary of $1,000 per year and expenses. Address, with stamp, Jos. A. Alexander, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

EARLY SETTLER DEAD.

Alexis Fournier, of Terrebonne, Dies Very Suddenly.

Alexis Fournier, an old and highly respected resident of Terrebonne township, died very suddenly Monday evening, after an illness of but a few hours. The old gentleman had enjoyed very fair health all winter long, and his sudden death came as a great shock to his family and many friends. Death was caused by an affection of the throat.

Deceased was about 72 years of age, and was a man well preserved and one who had always enjoyed the best of health. He was one of the pioneers to this part of the Red River valley, settling here nearly thirty years ago. He was a good citizen, greatly admired by all who knew him.

Deceased is survived by eight children, as follows: Mrs. Louis Paranteau, Mrs. O. Derosier, Mrs M. Derosier, Mrs. Joseph Laurent, Della, Isaac and Alexis Fournier, all of Terrebonne, and Mrs. Al. Paquin, of this city.

The funeral was held from the Catholic church at Terrebonne yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, a large number of sorrowing neighbors and friends attending the last sad rites.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

J. PLETH WILL LEAVE

Hustling Plummer Land Man Makes Arrangements to Locate Elsewhere.

In last weeks' Plummer Pioneer Julius Pleth, the hustling land man of that place, announces that he will shortly leave Plummer and locate at St. Paul, where he will open up a real estate office and handle Minnesota, North and South Dakota lands.

Mr. Pleth has been a prominent factor in the [illegible] estate circles of Red Lake [illegible] for several years past, [illegible] news that he will [illegible] leave us is not pleasing in [illegible] least to the people of Red Lake county, although they realize and hope that the change will be highly beneficial to the genial Pleth.

For several years prior to the time Plummer was put on the map of Red Lake county—over two years ago—Mr. Pleth was located at St. Hilaire, where he conducted a real estate office, and while there established a state-wide reputation through his advertising and hustling business capacity. The words "St. Hilaire and Pleth" were synonymous terms and it is not idle talk to say that largely through Mr. Pleth's efforts does the county surrounding this city and St. Hilaire today enjoy the enviable reputation as the banner farming community of the Red River Valley. When Plummer was started Mr. Pleth was made townsite agent and moved there to continue his business, and his success since that time is well known to all. He has ever been on the alert to keep things moving, and there has been no public enterprise started that Mr. Pleth has not been connected with.

He announces that from his St. Paul office he will still continue to boom Red Lake county—the prize county of them all—and in this there is at least a measure of consolation to offset his loss to the county.

Mr. Pleth is made of the stuff that brings success, and the Gazette predicts and earnestly hopes that his new field may yeild him far greater success and emoluments than his most modest anticipations will warrant him to hope for.

DAIRYMEN'S CONTEST

Red River Valley Dairymen's Association Will Give $25.00 For Best Cow.

The cow is boss and that is the reason why we want the boss of the bossies to ornament the badges for the next convention of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association in Crookston on Nov. 6th and 7th, 1907. In order to find out which one of the bossies is the best one they will be given a chance to show it between Feb. 15th and Sept. 15th, 1907. To the owner of the cow giving the greatest amount of butter fat in that time will be given $25.00 in cash besides the honor of having the photograph of the cow with the owner's name on the badges.

RULES FOR THE CONTEST.

Those wishing to compete must notify the secretary of the association before Feb. 15th, 1907, stating that he or she desires to enter the contest.

Records must be based on weights taken at least every tenth day during the contest. Each cow must have her milk tested at least every month, according to directions given by the buttermaker of the creamery of which he is a patron. The buttermaker or creamery inspector shall do the testing and shall testify to the correctness of the record. The record must be in the hands of the secretary before Sept. 20th, 1907, and must give the name of the cow, breed, age, number of calves, number of pounds of milk, and number of pounds of butter fat given between Feb. 15th and Sept. 15th, 1907, and these records must be sworn to before an officer qualified to take oath.

Contestant must be a resident of the 9th congressional district. No entry fee required.

—Executive Committee.

Red River Valley Dairymen's Association, Joel G. Winkjer, Secy., Crookston, Minnesota.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS. - MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

President Roosevelt's second message on the Brownsville affair, with added proof of the guilt of the negro troopers was sent to the senate. The president lifted the ban on the civil employment of the discharged soldiers, but yielded in nothing else.

President Roosevelt asked for appropriation of $2,000,000 for construction of dam in Colorado river and save the Imperial valley of California.

House committee cut ten per cent. from the amount of the appropriation to pay the railroads for carrying the mail.

President Roosevelt has made the report of the Keep commission recommending "cost-keeping in government service."

Senator Hopkins, of Illinois spoke in defense of Reed Smoot's right to occupy his seat in the senate.

The house committee adopted a substitute ship subsidy bill that provides a subvention for seven mail lines to Latin America and the orient.

The senate Tuesday confirmed the nominations of Messrs. Cortelyou, Garfield and Meyer to cabinet positions and H. K. Smith to be commissioner of corporations.

Senator Foraker offered a compromise resolution on the Brownsville affair that it was believed would be adopted by the senate with little opposition.

The house passed the fortifications appropriation bill without amendment.

THE JAMAICA DISASTER.

An earthquake, followed by fire, partly destroyed Kingston, a city of 50,000 inhabitants, and capital of the island of Jamaica. Many persons were killed and injured, among the dead, according to report, being Sir James Fergusson and 40 soldiers. Many American and English tourists are in Jamaica, the latter including a party of distinguished statesmen and agricultural experts. Direct communication with Kingston was cut off.

Later advices are that the dead in the Kingston earthquake may reach 1,000. Great distress prevails and starvation threatens the survivors. The United States dispatched two shiploads of food at once and Admiral Evans hastened to the scene on a torpedo boat destroyer, followed by two battleships. Other relief measures were taken promptly in America and England.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The flood in the Ohio river valley below the Little Kanawha river and at Pittsburg grew more serious, and the weather bureau sent out a warning.

Senator Reuben R. Adams was expelled from the Arkansas senate and in his stead Col. William Lambert was appointed by the governor. Adams, during the trial of Senator Festus O. Butt, who was convicted of bribery, admitted accepting a bribe.

President Roosevelt, Speaker Cannon and others addressed the convention of the association for the extension of foreign commerce.

Attorney General Davidson turned over to the Texas house the documentary evidence that he had in his possession, which, it is charged, implicates United States Senator Bailey in connection with the readmission of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, in violation of the anti-trust laws of the state.

Gov. Deneen of Illinois appointed Van L. Hampton, editor of the Macomb Journal, commissioner of the penitentiary at Joliet, to succeed James M. Phelps, of Freeport, resigned.

The electric plant of the Laclede Gas Light company of St. Louis, was totally destroyed by fire entailing a loss of $260,000.

Secretary Hitchcock has issued an order withdrawing from all forms of disposal under the public land laws, except mineral laws, the vacant, unappropriated public lands in Siskiyou and Modoc counties, California. The lands will be added to the Modoc reserve.

As the result of a mine explosion at Clinton, Ind., eight men are dead and two others seriously injured.

Bill for an accounting has been filed against the Illinois Central Railroad company by Attorney General Stead in the Supreme Court at Springfield. The amount sued for is $4,800,000.

Pennsylvania road is declared to be seeking control of Santa Fe road to block Harriman's plans.

Collapse of part of a new parochial school in Chicago led to a cry of "earthquake," which resulted in a neighborhood panic and inflicted injuries on one woman.

A resolution was presented to the United Mine Workers' convention by members of Indiana district No. 11 reflecting on the record of James Epperson as state mine inspector and expressing grave doubt of his ability to administer the affairs of the office.

Rev. Laurence J. Kavanagh, S. J., a professor in St. Joseph's college, Philadelphia, is dead, aged 54.

The Seaboard Air Line Florida special, north-bound, ran into an open switch two miles north of Raleigh, N. C. The boiler of the locomotive exploded and the train caught fire.

Count Henri de la Vaulx made a successful voyage with his new steerable balloon in France. He is said to have attained a speed of 17 miles an hour and to have steered and sailed his balloon at will.

One Italian workman was killed and another badly injured by the explosion of a ton of dynamite in the South Shore Stone company's quarry, two and a half miles east of Monroe, Mich.

The blowing up of a freight engine on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad at Norristown, Pa., killed five men.

Judge O. B. Gould, member of the Minnesota board of control, died at Minneapolis.

The late Congressman Robert Adams, Jr., of Philadelphia, who committed suicide last year, was a defaulter to the amount of $70,000.

Count Nicholas Tolstoi and five other persons were burned to death in the count's residence, near Moscow, Russia.

Rear Admiral Sigsbee was retired on account of age.

Maj. John B. Furay, a Nebraska pioneer, well known all over the west, died at Omaha, aged 67 years, of paralysis.

A. T. Clinton, one of the pioneer business men of La Crosse, Wis., died, aged 76.

W. P. Frye was elected senator from Maine, W. Murray Crane from Massachusetts, Simon Guggenheim from Colorado, Norris Brown from Nebraska, W. E. Borah from Idaho, Robert L. Taylor from Tennessee, J. M. Dixon from Montana, H. E. Burnham from New Hampshire, and H. A. Richardson from Delaware.

Alderman William S. Clifford and David Mann, a foreman of a stoneyard, were arrested in New York on charges of bribery in the election of a recorder of the court of general sessions to succeed Recorder Goff.

Heavy rains caused a sudden rise of Rock Bridge creek which flooded the town of Flat Rock, Ky. The inhabitants were compelled to flee in boats.

Announcement is made that the Lackawanna railroad has decided upon Scranton, Pa., as the location for the $2,000,000 locomotive shops.

The work of laying the walls of the new capitol of Wisconsin was begun. The building is to cost between $4,000,000 and $6,000,000.

Mrs. Sarah McCall, a graduate of Mount Holyoke college class of 1851, and for 30 years an instructor in the academy of Knox college, died at Galesburg, Ill., aged 78.

Bills were introduced in the Wisconsin state assembly for a two-cent railroad fare and repealing the mortgage tax law.

A typhoon swept the islands of Samar and Leyte, Philippines, and 100 lives were lost.

Gen. Fernando Figuroa was elected president of the republic of Salvador.

The Democratic caucus of the general assembly of North Carolina nominated United States Senator F. M. Simmons for a second term.

A federal grand jury at Chicago voted indictments against John R. Walsh in connection with the failure of the Chicago National bank.

Fire in Chicago practically destroyed the big printing plant of M. A. Donahue & Co., the loss being $500,000.

Prince Aga Khan of India, a descendant of one of the oldest and most prominent families of Bombay, arrived in San Francisco. The prince came to study American industries.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland said in New York that an organization of Cleveland citizens planned buying the Cleveland Electric railway plant and to run the car lines of that city on a three-cent basis.

Severe snowstorms, gales and cold weather prevailed in the northwest.

A total eclipse of the sun occurred in central Asia and was satisfactorily observed. The period of totality was two minutes, but the sun was partly obscured for an hour.

The Western Implement and Vehicle Dealers' association met in Kansas City in annual convention with close to 1,000 members present.

King Alfonso of Spain has decided the boundary dispute between Honduras and Nicaragua in favor of the former republic.

A deal is in progress for merging the lighting and heating companies of San Francisco. The proposed combine represents a capital of $20,000,000.

Mission board in conference at Philadelphia issued an appeal to President Roosevelt and King Edward to act on Congo outrages.

Margaret Maillard, the Chicago girl in New York in search of her father, turned out to be Clara Boose, and is held by the police on the charge of being an expert thief.

Passenger train No. 30 on the Rock Island was wrecked at Barney, N. M., and five people were killed and eight injured. The train ran through an open switch.

Walter S. Bogie, Jr., son of the millionaire president of the Crescent Coal company, Chicago, was killed by a pistol shot in a room at his home. Members of the family declare the death was accidental.

Plans prepared by a Chicago syndicate of 35 men, which has purchased lake front property of New Buffalo, Ind., show a hotel structure of 500 rooms, to cost $500,000, and other improvements up to $1,000,000.

C. A. Carlson, of Des Moines, Ia., driver of the world's championship hose team, was killed in a collision with a street car. Three other firemen were injured.

F. C. Fairbanks, son of the vice president, was indicted at Steubenville, O., for perjury in connection with his recent marriage.

Ernst Stiller, a prominent banker and politician of Lubeck, Germany, was shot by a woman, who then killed herself.

The United Mine Workers of America opened their annual convention in Indianapolis and heard President Mitchell's report.

The suit of the state of Illinois against the Illinois Central railroad for the collection of several million dollars which the state alleges has been withheld from the state's share of the gross earnings of the railroad was filed in the state supreme court at Springfield by Attorney General Stead.

A grand jury at Findlay O., returned 939 indictments against the Standard Oil company, subsidiary companies, the Rockefellers and others, for conspiracy against trade.

President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern railway, wrote a long letter to Gov. Johnson on the railway situation, declaring the only solution was the building of a vast amount more trackage

The lower house in Nebraska tabled the resolution to investigate Norris Brown, candidate for the United States senate, and the Colorado senate did the same for Simon Guggenheim, who will be the new senator from that state.

L. T. Moore of Benton Harbor shot his wife and Deputy Sheriff Pearl and attempted suicide.

A severe blizzard was general over the greater part of Kansas and a large section of the state was covered with sleet and fine snow.

The British ship Pengwern, from Taltal, Chile, for Falmouth with a cargo of saltpeter, grounded at Scharporn. Twentyfour men were drowned.

Two deaths from beri-beri and three in a serious condition is the report made by Capt. Larsen of the Norwegian bark Gulfport that arrived at Mobile from Sekoude on the Gold coast.

Andrew Carnegie will be the heaviest personal tax-payer in New York if the list of assessments made public by the assessors is not amended. The value of his personal property is fixed at $5,000,000 and that of John D. Rockefeller at $2,500,000.

Rock Island passenger train No. 26, from St. Joseph to Kansas City, collided with a freight train at Waldron, Mo., killing three trainmen and injuring a number of trainmen and passengers.

Members of the Ashtabula, O., Plumbers' association pleaded guilty to indictments charging them with violating the Valentine anti-trust law, and were fined.

Chief of Police James Daily and Officer John Peterson of Red Wing, Minn., were shot and probably fatally wounded by August Bloom, a barber, whom they were endeavoring to arrest.

Henry Richardson was declared the Republican nominee for the United States senate, on the ninth ballot in the caucus of the 36 members of the lower branch of the Delaware legislature.

Violation of the Sherman act preventing combinations in restraint of trade is charged in a suit against several steamship companies and their New York agents brought in the United States circuit court by Thomas & Co., of New York, exporters.

C. W. Thomas, Toledo, O., may die, John Olinger of Toledo was seriously hurt and five other persons were injured in a rear-end collision between a Monon passenger train and a Wabash train at the 112th street crossing, Chicago.

Rudolph Koradi consul for the Swiss government in Philadelphia, is dead at the age of 82 years. Mr. Koradi who was made consul at that port in 1856, was said to be the oldest consul in the world in point of years and service.

Peter's pence, collected in the Roman Catholic churches of the archdiocese of Chicago, which will be delivered to the pope in Rome by Archbishop Quigley, will amount to $25,000.

Malik Mansour Mirza, the second son of the late shah of Persia, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by taking opium.

Oliver Dyer, who is said to have introduced stenography into this country and was the first shorthand reporter in the United States senate, died in Boston, aged 83 years.

Henry Squires, at one time America's leading tenor, died in Burlington, Iowa, aged 82 years.

Students attending the American college in Rome were presented to the pope, who talked to them about the church troubles in France and told of his appreciation of America's support.

John Smith, one of the men under indictment for the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox in Kentucky has made a confession in which he said Hargis and Callahan induced him and two others to kill Cox.

Two men were killed and more than a score of persons injured, including several women, by an explosion of acetylene gas at a card party in Woodman's hall in Wilmington, Ill.

Elbert W. Gibson, principal of the schools at Riverdale, Mich., was drowned while trying to save 14-year-old Harry Valance, who had broken through the ice while skating.

THOUSAND ARE DEAD IN JAMAICA DISASTER

Sore Distress, Famine and Ghastly Scenes in Ruined Kingston.

Earthquake and Fire More Serious Than Early Reports Indicated---90,000 Islanders Homeless---United States Rushes Forward Supplies---Admiral Evans Hastens to Scene.

St. Thomas, D. W. I.—Reports received here from Jamaica say it is estimated that 1,000 persons have been killed by the earthquake and fire and that 90,000 persons on the island are homeless. The damage to Kingston alone is placed at fully $10,000,000.

Advices received here Wednesday say that all people have been warned to keep away from Kingston. The stench there is described as awful. There is no fodder for animals and famine is imminent. Money is useless. The banks have been burned, but the vaults are supposed to be safe.

Great Distress in City.

The misery on all sides is indescribable. Rich and poor alike are homeless. Provisions of all kinds are urgently needed. It is impossible to say where anybody can be found. Sir James Fergusson, vice chairman of the Royal Mail Steamship company, is among the killed. The loss of life is very great, but the exact numbers are not yet known, the dead being buried under smouldering ruins. The mercantile community suffered most severely, warehouses falling upon them. Many professional men are dead or injured.

SCENE AT KINGSTON, JAMAICA.

View of One of the Principal Streets Leading to Harbor. Great Damage Was Caused by the Earthquake and Fire Which Followed in This Section.

The negroes are looting. Ghastly scenes are being witnessed. All the shops have been destroyed and all the buildings in and around Kingston are in ruins. Very few of them are safe to live in.

New York.—Very few messages, and these meager and lacking in detail, were received direct from Jamaica Wednesday to give additional information of the devastation and death wrought by the earthquake that ravaged Kingston on Monday afternoon. Such intelligence as has come through, however, shows the situation to be apparently more serious than was outlined in the first official reports received at the colonial office in London from the governor of the West Indian island, Sir Alexander Swettenham, and Hamar Greenwood, M. P.

Cable communication with Jamaica seems to be almost impossible either on account of the local disruption of the lines and system, or possibly because of the absolute precedence given in British colonies to official dispatches.

Most of Island Escapes.

The devastation would appear to have been confined to the vicinity of Kingston, one dispatch giving ten miles as the radius of damage. The rest of the island, including Port Antonio, does not seem to have suffered severely.

The estimates of dead range from 100 to 400, but with the exception of Sir James Fergusson and perhaps half a dozen other white men, there is no mention of fatalities to foreigners. The American tourists who were at Kingston at the time, estimated at about 2,000 persons, it would seem are safe. The estimates of persons injured is placed in the thousands. It is feared that when the ruins of the city are searched these casualty lists will be materially increased. A large majority of the 50,000 population of Kingston are black, and it is probable that nearly all the casualties were among these people. It is reported that about two score black soldiers were burned to death in a military hospital near the city.

Looting by the Blacks.

Looting and disorder, including raids on rum shops by the blacks, followed the catastrophe, but prompt repressive measures restored order. Panic prevails, however, especially as the earth shocks continued Tuesday and Wednesday, and great numbers of the city's population have fled to the neighboring countryside Food supplies are beginning to be urgently needed, and the demand on medical supplies has exhausted the stock in hand.

The fire that followed the disaster, it was reported, was confined to that section of the city bordering on the water front. The flames were supposed to have been checked, but a later dispatch indicates that they may have again broken out.

Call for Assistance.

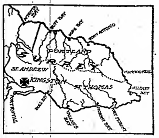
Washington.—Official news of the disaster at Kingston, Jamaica, reached Washington slowly Wednesday; in fact, the first report did not come to hand until well along in the afternoon, when a dispatch was received at the state department dated "Jamaica, 3:31 p. m., January 16," and signed, "American Consul," stating that Kingston had been destroyed and hundreds of lives lost, and that food was badly wanted.

KING'S HOUSE, RESIDENCE OF GOVERNOR.
This Building at Kingston, Jamaica, Was Completely Destroyed by the Earthquake.

As a matter of fact, the signature to this dispatch was misleading, for the consul is absent on leave from his post. It was assumed at the department that the vice and deputy consul, William H. Orrett, at Kingston, had sent the dispatch. A reference in the cablegram to the fireproof safe is understood to convey assurance of the safety of the consular records and papers. It was also regarded as possible that the message might have come from Nicholas R. Snyder, the American consul at Port Antonio, on the island of Jamaica.

However, the dispatch was regarded as warranting the taking of instant measures of relief. Indeed, the navy department had been in advance in this matter, for through Capt. Behler, the officer in charge of the naval station at Key West, wireless communication was early established between the navy department and Admiral Evans, commanding the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, Cuba, and when Secretary Root later indicated the desirability of sending warships at once to the distressed island, it turned out that Admiral Evans had anticipated the direction and had started on a torpedo boat destroyer, the swiftest vessel in the American fleet, for Kingston, ordering two of the slower battleships to follow as soon as they could.

The appeal for food supplies directed attention to the fact that under ordinary conditions none of the government supplies could be used for outside relief save by special authority of congress.



Map of Kingston and Vicinity.

Metcalf Sends Food.

That fact, however, did not prevent Secretary Metcalf from ordering two supply ships with full cargoes of food at once to Jamaica, leaving for Thursday the question as to how the supplies are to be given to the needy inhabitants.

The war department up to the close of business had not acted upon the application for food, but it is assumed that in anticipation of the passage of the necessary legislation by congress, it will at least take care to get supplies to the island ready for the distributing agencies. There are stores of food at San Juan, Porto Rico and at Havana, that might be used for emergencies, leaving the department to draw later upon the large stocks at New York.

England More Anxious.

London.—The brief dispatches received here Wednesday night, including some from Kingston direct, declaring that 100 persons had been killed in the earthquake of Monday, leave the country a prey to renewed suspense as to the fate of the capital of the island of Jamaica.

Two things stand out of the general gloom and bring intense satisfaction to the British public. The first is the fact, confirmed Wednesday night in a dispatch from Sir Alfred Jones himself that the Jones party are all safe. The second is found in the prompt and active steps taken by the American government to investigate the real conditions and afford the necessary succor to the unfortunate city.

Message from Sir Alfred Jones.

Up to a late hour Wednesday night the colonial office had no further news to communicate and the public found satisfaction in the belief that the casualties among the English residents of the island had been few. Then came a message from Sir Alfred Jones which confirmed the worst fears. This message is addressed to Elder Dempster & Co., and is as follows:

"Kingston was overwhelmed by an earthquake Monday afternoon at 3:30. All the houses within a radius of ten miles have been damaged and almost every house in the city is destroyed. Fire broke out after the earthquake and completed the work of destruction. It is estimated that 100 persons have been killed and 1,000 injured. The public offices and hospitals are in ruins. Among the killed are Sir James Fergusson, many prominent merchants and professional men and a great many natives. There were no fatalities at the Constant Springs hotel.

"The business quarter of Kingston is now a heap of smouldering ashes.

"We are thankful that our party is all right."

JAMAICA SCENE OF DISASTERS.

Fate Has Pursued the Island by Hurricane and Quake.

Jamaica has been the scene of many catastrophes of nature, both by storm and earthquake. A great earthquake visited the island in 1892, destroying Port Royal, when out of 3,000 houses only 200 were left standing. It was this catastrophe that led to the founding of Kingston. In 1782 Kingston had a fire which destroyed property to the value of $2,500,000, and in 1843 another fire caused damage to the amount of about $15,000,000. A tremendous hurricane visited the island in 1815. The whole island was destroyed, hundreds of houses were washed away, vessels were wrecked and about 1,000 persons were drowned.

In August, 1880, a cyclone passed over the eastern half of Jamaica, destroying nearly all the wharves in the harbor of Kingston and also caused much damage to the shipping in the harbor.

In August, 1903, Jamaica was swept by a hurricane which almost totally destroyed Port Antonio and inflicted damage in various parts of the island amounting to about $10,000,000. On November 13 inst a sharp earthshock was felt in the south and the north of the island of Jamaica. It was followed immediately by a second shock, which was the heaviest experienced in Jamaica in many years.

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

Re-elected.

The board of managers of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society have reelected E. W. Randall secretary for the year 1907. This will be Mr. Randall's thirteenth year in charge of the state fair, which has been a continuous success under his direction. E. L. Mattson, cashier of the Swedish-American National Bank of Minneapolis, was chosen treasurer, vice F. J. Wilcox of Northfield, who has served in this capacity for many years, and who retires with the respect and regard of the entire board.

Practically the same list of superintendents and committees as in 1906 was announced by President C. N. Cosgrove. Col. W. M. Liggett remains in charge of the cattle division which he has handled for 16 years; G. W. Patterson is superintendent of horses; J. M. Underwood of agriculture and horticulture; R. F. Nelson of the exposition and woman's buildings and C. M. Griggs of the amusements. Wm. E. Lee will manage the manufactures and farm machinery divisions.

Although this year's fair will not open for nearly nine months, a very large list of amusement attractions was laid before the board and the fair will be able to choose from the best that the country affords. The needs for several new buildings were discussed at some length and various requests for changes in the premium offers were received, but action on all these matters were deferred—except that the market gardeners secured a raise in the amount of their premium offers and the board voted to renew the offers for fat cattle in carload lots made last year with much satisfaction to the breeders and cattle men.

A New Campus.

Minneapolis—According to E. B. Johnson's estimate, $600,000 will be the net cost of the new campus extension which is being so strongly urged by the alumni and friends of the University of Minnesota.

The proposed tracts include seventeen blocks south of the present campus and four blocks north of the campus along University avenue. Mr. Johnson estimates that the property south of the campus, not including the buildings, would cost $211,000; for that on the north, $140,000, making a total of [illegible] for land alone.

On this property there are 206 houses which, it is thought, could be purchased for an average of $2,500 each, or $3,000 at the most, bringing the total cost of the houses up to [illegible] and the total cost of both land and buildings to $1,000,000.

Important Decision.

St. Paul—A decision of great importance to the game and fish commission was handed down in the supreme court in the case of the state against Tower Lumber company, in which the right of the state to prohibit the running of logs in a stream in which the game and fish commission is engaged in gathering fish spawn is upheld.

The decision affirms an order of Judge Lewis, in the Ramsey county district court, overruling the demurrer of the company to the complaint of the state in the suit brought to recover [illegible] damages for the loss alleged to have been sustained by the state on account of the company's running logs down Pike river, after having received notice that the commission was then engaged in gathering pike spawn therein.

Dockage.

St. Paul—Members of the legislature will be "docked" $5 for every day they are absent without excuse. This is the requirement of the revised statutes, a "[illegible]" which got away from the members two years ago, and is likely to create all sorts of trouble at this session. The discovery will cause a large-sized row, it is feared, and the early repeal of the obnoxious section is predicted.

There was only one member absent on the opening day of the session, but the second day, Wednesday, there were five senators and ten representatives absent without excuse, as shown by the journals of the two houses. Thursday, the third day, there were six senators and nineteen house members recorded as absent without excuse.

Inheritance Tax.

Minneapolis—An amendment to the inheritance tax law by which the county treasuries would share in the tax is advocated by State Auditor S. G. Iverson in his annual report to the legislature. He believes that if the county shared in the tax the county officers, who are intrusted with the collection of the tax, would be more vigilant and energetic in collecting the full amount of the tax. He says:

"Up to Aug. 1, 1906, the sum of $159,451.91 had been collected under the law. From Aug. 1, 1906 up to the present time, Dec. 1, 1906, $93,367.95 has been collected. Several large estates are now being administered in our probate courts, which will add goodly sums to the state's revenue."

News Notes.

Washington—Fort Snelling will get about $7[illegible],000 for the rifle and artillery range, road construction, and for small buildings out of the military appropriation bill, which passed the house.

Cloquet—Free delivery of mail will be installed as soon as houses and business places are properly numbered. The city has purchased a new rock crusher for use in the macadamizing. Duluth, Missabe & Northern engines are hauling Great Northern freight trains on the Mesaba division.

Minneapolis—The first local company for the manufacture of denatured alcohol for industrial purposes has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state.

St. Paul—The Y. M. C. A. committees secure $3,007.50 toward the additional $100,000 needed for the building fund.

Ft. Snelling—Two more soldiers are bitten by a stray dog.

Hamline—James J. Hill gives $50,000 to the Macalester college endowment fund.

Minneapolis—Dr. Ward recommends law to protect the state against diseased live stock.

St. Paul—The state senate employes three St. Paul school boys as pages, causing trouble.

St. Paul—A young man falls down a flight of stairs in the Auditorium and fractures his skull.

Minneapolis—The cost of the proposed capitol approaches will amount to little to the individual tax payer.

St. Paul—A bill will be presented to the legislature calling for a recount of the votes cast on the constitutional amendments.

Duluth—The Denn Arizona Copper company, authorized capital $3,500,000, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state.

Faribault—W. H. Dicke, who was at one time a leading business man of this city, has gone insane and is an inmate of the county jail.

Faribault—The farmers of ths town of Wheeling and merchants of the village of Nerstrand will build a farmers' elevator at that place.

Mankato—The Commercial club canvassing committees has thus far raised about $20,000 toward building a local street railway and have only begun their labors.

Rushford—When Mrs. Lars O. Bjerke went to the South Side Hotel at 239 Cedar avenue, Minneapolis, with her little daughter, to meet her husband, she found him lying in bed, shot through the head.

Inver Grove—Bennett Bros.' saloon was burned early in the morning, causing a loss of $1,500. The origin of the fire is not known. When the fire was discovered the flames were breaking through the roof and were beyond control.

Mankato—The state game and fish commission has ordered all fishing houses removed from Madison, Francis and several other lakes in this vicinity. On the other lakes houses are permitted where proper licenses are secured. He believes that the laws are being generally observed this winter.

Renville—Fire last night destroyed the creamery in this city. It was built in 1903 by O. H. Howe and was one of the best equipped plants in the county. The loss will amount to $6,000 and, it is said, there is no insurance. The creamery was owned by Carlson & Klarquist of Minneapolis. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Mankato—At a meeting of the county commissioners of Blue Earth and Waseca counties, it was decided to build a joint bridge on the county line, both counties to get bids and the lowest bidder in either county to get the contract. The counties will divide the cost between them.

Moorhead—John Holst, a machinist in the roundhouse here, met with a terrible death. He was engaged in repairing a leaky flue in a boiler when it burst, covering him from head to foot with scalding steam. A companion who was assisting him also was injured, but not seriously.

Mankato—The county of Blue Earth has something like $20,000 of its revenue fund tied up in public ditch improvements, upon which the farmers have a ten-year limit in making payments. The first of the dozen ditches that have been constructed has not yet been fully paid for.

Rochester—The Southeastern Minnesota Poultry Association has elected officers for the coming year, as follows: President, Arthur Williams; vice president, W. Sherman of Red Wing; superintendent, John Robertson; secretary and treasurer, Louis Neitz; directors, Charles Elliott, Geo. Stevens, Dr. Miller, R. W. Waldron, and D. H. Williams.

St. Paul—The action brought by the attorney general to enforce the payment of a four per cent gross earnings tax for 1905 from the Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin railroad company and the Duluth and Northern Minnesota Railroad company was up for hearing before Judge Hallam.

Duluth—The fact that the sleeves of his coat had frozen solidly to the ice while he was endeavoring to cling to it, James Breich of Burlington, Iowa, owes his life. He was rescued from a watery grave by Albert Anderson, engineer for the Gowan-Peyton-Twohy company, and T. Torkelson, barn boss for the Armour Packing company, after he had lost consciousness and was totally exhausted from exposure to the bitter cold and the icy waters of ths ship.

Moorhead—John Holst, a machinist in the roundhouse here, met with a terrible death as the result of an accident. He was engaged in repairing a leaky flue in the boiler when it burst, covering him from head to foot in scalding steam. A companion who was assisting him also was injured, but not seriously. Immediately after the accident Holst was removed to the hospital, where it was found that his flesh was literally parboiled. He lived several hours, however, remaining conscious until his death.

St. Paul—Oswald Waber, a young man, had his right arm drawn into a circular saw, the jagged teeth cutting through the muscles of the forearm and severing one of the bones. Several splinters of bone had to be removed from the wound, but the doctors believe they can save Wabsr's arm.

Mankato—Frederick Deef was arraigned on a warrant charging him with assault in the first degree upon Henry Potz, and his hearing was set for Jan. 28.

Ft. Snelling—Hereafter soldiers who wish to keep pet dogs at the post must mako application to the adjutant to do so.

FLOOD OF BILLS ROLLS IN STEADILY

BOTH THE SENATE AND HOUSE SHOW GREAT ACTIVITY.

Resolutions to Probe Farm Machinery and Coal Combines Introduced in Both Houses—Presiding Officers Announce Committees.

St. Paul, Jan. 14.—Three measures aiming to collect a greater tax from ths iron ore wealth within the state, wers introduced at ths legielative session tonight. Senator Victor L. Johneon preeented one calling for a royalty of 50 cents a ton for 1907, and an addition of 4 cents a ton eech eucceeding year. H. O. Bjorke pressnted a bill in the house providing a tax of 5 cents for every long ton, hased on reports of mining compeniss which must hs filed, the income to be divided between the road and hridge fund and the drainags fund. A house bill hy R. H. Jeffereon of Bingham Lake, provides for a tax of 25 cents per long ton. There are two other important features; one provides for a new state officer, a mining tax commissioner, and the other is held out to tempt the eetahlishment of a smelting worke by giving a credit of 20 cents per ton for ore emelted within the state.

H. O. Bjorke of Leke Park presented a new hill for the liceneing of dogs, $2 for malee, $3 for a female, and $1 reward for the killing of each unlicensed dog, the income thus created to go to an estahlishment of a state Pastuer institute.

C. M. Bendixon of Morgan introduced another anti-pass hill in the house. The hill followe the provisions of the federal anti-pass law, applying its conditione to the state.

The house passed a resolution introduced by J. A. Gatee of Kenyon, calling for the appointment of a committee of five to make an investigation of the Minneapolis chamher of commerce and the Duluth hoard of trade. The committee, yet to he named, is given power to suhpoena witneeses and engage clerical help.

St. Paul, Minn. Jan. 15.—The event of today in both branches of the legislature was the announcement of the committee appointments hy the presiding officers. Though hoth presiding officers have devoted weeks of time to preparing the committees, there is the usual amount of grumhling heard from disgruntled ones who did not get the most choice positions. In the house, Wells is made chairman of appropriations, Peterson of corporations; drainage, Wright; elections, Tighe; general legislation, Hugo; ineurance, Timherlake; railroads, Spooner; taxes Thayer; towns and counties, Rachie; judiciary, Hicks.

In the eenate, Sundherg is cheirman of drainage; Dunn of elections; Peterson, of finance; Wileon of jndiciary; Layhourn of insurance; Smith of taxes; Canfield of towns and counties.

The event of today'e eeseion in the houee was the fight on the so-called Gates resolution, calling upon the governor for a specisl message on the suhject of temperance and county option. The repnhlicans of the house held a caucus at noon and decided to tomorrow pass the resolution. W. A. Nolan introduced a resolution for an Investigation of the lumber business throughout Minnesota. It was referred to the committee on rules. In the senate the same resolution was fathered by Senator H. E. Haneon. It was laid over.

Knut Knutson introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the Great Northern iron ore deal, on account of the charter of the Great Northern not permitting the company to handle mineral lands. The reeolution was adopted without a dieeenting vote.

Resolutions for the investigation of ore land matters, their taxation and their handling were paeeed in both housee. The one in the house was fathered hy C. M. Bendixon, of Morgan; the one in the senate by Senator Morgan.

Eighteen hills put in apppearance in the senate today. Most important were eeveral by Senator Julius Coller, of Scott county, calling for increases in salariee of etate officials to the following figuree: Chief justice, $7,500: associate justices, each $7,000; governor, $7,500; eecretary of state' $4,000; attorney general, $6,000; each assistant, $3,000.

A. G. Johnson, of St. Paul, introdnced two hille in the house today which caused coneiderahle talk. They fixed the price of illuminating gas at not to exceed 80 cents a thousand, and street car faree at eight rides for a quarter.

St. Paul, Jan. 16—It was today put np to Gov. J. A. Johnson to declare himeelf on the eubject of county option and liqnor traffic in general. This is the reeult of the house passing the pending so-called Gates resolntion. It went throngh today by a viva voce vote. A large number of peopls had gathered in the house galleries expecting a hot debete, but the republicans gave no tims for objection hy the democrats, and shot the resolution through today as soon ae it came up. It is understood Gov. Johnson welcomee the reeolution and will give a message strongly endorsing county option.

S. O. Morse of Slayton introducsd a resolution in the houee today to allow each msmher $250 for legislative expenees. The resolution received numerous seconde and it looked as though it was going to quickly elide through, but A. J. Rockne held it up for twenty-four hours by giving notice of debate.

C. E. Johnson of Leke Elizaheth presented e memorial resolution proteeting againet the action of the internsl revenue department at Washington on the ruling which makee industrial alcohol remain at a price where it is out of reach for industrial purposes. A hill was introduced in the house by B. H. Timberleke and in the senate hy E. E. Smith, hoth Minneapolis men, estahlishing a pension for firemen over fifty years of age and who have served 20 years, no pension to exceed $40 a month. A fund for this purpoee is estahlished in cities hy a two per cent tax on fire insurance premiume in such cities heing diverted from the state to the Firemen's Relief aesociation.

The event of the senate session today was the introduction of a bill hy Senator Thorpe of Willmar, providing for county option on the liquor license queetion. The bill was referred to the committee on temperance. Senator McGowan of Minneapolis fathered a meaeure to prohihit corporations from contrihuting to political parties, committees or candidates, and another anthorizing the pnhlic examiner at his discretion to make examinations of corporations to see that the law wes not heing violated.

Lieut. Gov. Eherhart announced on the part of the senate the appointment of two investigating committees, following the paseage of two pending resolutions. One committee consisting of Senators Cook, Layhourn and V. L. Johnson, ie for the investigation of mineral lands and taxes; the other, consisting of Senators Thorpe, Pugh, Witherstine and Calhoun, is to investigate the grain husiness at Minneapolis and Duluth.

St. Paul, Jan. 17—An important bill put in an appearance in the legislature today when Senator P. Fitzpatrick, democrat, of Winona, introduced Senate File 78. The hill establishes the initiative and referendum relative to legislation. A petition of five per cent of the voters may propose any new law or conetitutional amendment desired, to he accepted or rejected at the polls the ensuing general election. Or, on a petition of a like number of voters, any legislation enacted by the legislature will have to be submitted to a vote by the people. The bill was referred to the judiciary committee. Senators Elwell and Swanson hoth today introduced hills to authorize the state hoard of control to eetahlish stone crushers to be operated hy convict labor, the crushed etone to he given to counties applying through their county commissioners, for the improvement of county roads. Senator F. L. Clague, epeaker of the house two years ago, preeented a measure to create a new judicial district, the Nineteenth, composed of Lincoln, Lyon, Murray and Pipestone counties. Senator Thorpe introdnced a measure to aholish private banks in etate, a duplicate of a bill he fathered two years ago hut which went down in a strenuous hattle in the senate.

In the house today, Walter W. Case of Cloquet, introdnced a hill, prompted hy the increasing number of railroad accidents, to compel the inetallation of safety devices on rairoads wherever the state railroad commission may think such devicee needed. Fred V. Burdorf entered a hill importance to Northern Minneeota, to permit town eupervieors to construct and maintain drainage ditchee. The ditchee are to he conetructed on petition of property owners of property to be henefited. J. D. Mapleton of Wahpeton with a view to aiding voters to retain their health, has introdnced a bill to prohihit political candidates from distrihuting cigars or intoxicating liquors.

Up to today, there heve been introduced 118 hills in the legislatvre 74 in the senate, 44 in the house. Two years ago on the same legislature day, the 6th, there were hnt 36 bille presented. At the last session the total oumher of hills was 1,410. If the increased ratio of the preeent eeeeion compared with the last, continnes, the numher of bills thie eession will reach 1,410.

Wm. H. Williams, etate lahor commissioner, has heen inveetigating the employment of pages in the eenate. He hae found three boye under 16 years of age employed, which is in violation of the child labor law. The senate is going to patch the matter np hy getting epeciel excuse permits for the three hoys in queetion during the three months of the eession.

No State Printer Chosen.

St. Paul—The election of a state printer has been deferred until after April 1. The state printing commission had a seeeion Jen. 12 bnt could not come to any decieion end adjourned the meeting.

There are three candidatee—A. N. Dare of Elk River, the preeent incumhent; J. T Mennix of Minneapolie, a newspaper man of thet city and repreeentative in the legislature in the last session, and G. F. Wright, supervisor of the 1905 census and now employed by a Minneapolis printing firm.

On State Boards

St. Paul—Gov. Johnson has announced the appointment of R. E. Denfeld of Duluth as a memher of the state high school board. He eucceeds Supt. C. M. Jordan of Minneapolie, who has heen a memher of the hoard for many years.

The governor aleo announced the appointment of Merril C. Tifft of Long Prairie as a memher of the state normal board. He enceeds W. S. Hammond of St. Jamee, Mr. Hommond'e term expires next epring and he did not seek reappointment.

NOT NECESSARY.

By all meens let us oling to the old spelling. If the present style wes good enough for our psrents why not good enough for us?

The "gnat," for instsnce. Instead of dropping the g why not, if it ie a good thing, use it more freely?

Why not raise your ghat to a gcat if she is gfat?

And k—whet herm in a little more of a sensible custom? If you have the knowledgs why make a knoise. Knohody is knaughty. A knife is knever knice unless knecessary. And why should not a knave knall knepkins to knsrcotics? And are knepkins hetter then gnapkins?

Kno; decidedly knot!—Life.

The Low-Cality and High.

Mr. Baker, who had recently hecome hlessed with an ahundsnce of this world's goods, established his family in a home commensurate in heauty with his new fortune. Shortly after, an acquaintance met him, and, passing the time of day, asked how the verious members of hie family were.

"Fine!" was his reply. "You eee, it was this way—the doctor says that where we lived the low-cality wasn't good for us, but now that we've moved into a high-cality, we're all right."—Judge.

WHICH?

"Erna lets Herr Heine hutton her jacket, mamma, and doesn't say a word!"

"A girl who is well brought up doesn't notice such a tbing, dear!"

"Do you mean me or Erna?"—Simplicissiums.

Merely a Deduction.

"I am the master of my Fate"—
And far the poet's words have carried.
A cinch that he was single. No
Man is master if he's married.
—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Greek Meets Greek.

The cautious young maa was feeling his way before declaring himself.

"Er—what kind of a cook are you?" he asked.

"Well, that depends," she replied. "What kind of a provider are you?"—Chicago Daily News.

Rural Delights.

Tired City Child—Mamma, I'm awful sick of city streets.

Mamma—Well, my dear, next Saturday we'll go to Central park, and you can have a lovely time all day long keeping off the grass.—N. Y. Weekly.

Simplified Language.

He (in Boston)—Do you walk around town very much?

She (a native)—No, I never walked around the city in my life, but I walk about the streets a good deal.—Chicago Daily News.

The Doctors Agreed.

Skeptic—Did you ever know two doctors to agree?

Medical Student (after reflection)—Y-e-s, once.

"Where was it?"

"At a post mortem."—N. Y. Weekly.

His Little Scheme.

"How do you manage to sell so much stock?" asked the president of the mining company.

"Oh," replied the successful agent, "I throw gold dust in my victims' eyes."—Chicago Daily News.

A Confession.

Ledy—You sey your conecience never troubles you. Have you never done anything you were ashamed of?

Tramp—Yes, ma'am. I once worked for a living.

A Wooden God.

"They sey the Chinese women are idol worshipers."

"Well, so are some Americans. I know a woman that just worships a stick of a men!"—Detroit Free Press.

Finishes It.

"When you heve written e story, do you not go over it and give it a finishing touch."

"No; the first editor I send it to usually does that."—Houston Post.

Immune.

Impecunious Bill—There's one thing that isn't worrying me.

Friend—What's that?

Bill—The proposed tax on incomes.
—Detroit Free Press.

Disdain.

Stella—Does she look at him through rose colored glasses?

Bella—No, auto goggles—N. Y. Sun.

A SIMPLE FORMULA

PRESCRIPTION OF AN EMINENT SPECIALIST IS GIVEN.

Necessary Ingredients Cost Little and Can Be Secured at Any Good Drug Store—Will Break a Cold Quickly.

Mix half ounce of the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine with two ounces of glycerine and half a pint of good whisky; shake well and use in teaspooaful doses. A noted authority on diseaees of the throat and lungs who eetablished a camp for consumptives in the pine woode of Meine, declares thet the ahovs formula will heal the lungs end cure any cough that is curahle. It will hreak up a cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients cen he secured from any good prescription druggist at small coet.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispeneing; each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) prepared only hy Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), which are put out under various names, such as Concentrated Oil of Piae, Pine Balsam, etc. Never accept these as a snhstitute for the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine, as they will invariahly produce nausea and never effect the desired result.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is also eaid to he a perfect neutralizing agent for uric acid.

Autocratic Revivalists.

The earl and countess of Tankerville have heen holding crowded religious meetings in Shropshire, England. Both are much interested in thie kind of work. Tho countess was Miss Lenore Ven Marter, an American girl, end the earl spent much of his youth in this country. He ie an energetic memher of the house of lords and, like his wife, e great lover of art.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Fine Feat of Engineering.

The feat of moving a lighthouse without taking it apart or dismantling it in any way has recently heen accomplished at Ashtahula. The range light, weighing 65 tons and standing 65 feet high, was placed on a lighter and towed along the river a distance of 750 feet, and then successfully placed on a new site. It was raised hy the use of jacks and moved on rollers to end from the lighter. Guy ropes held it in poeition while moving.

'Way Up in Maine.

"Well, no," said the cross-roads storekeeper up in the Androscoggins-kiggingomphremagogkattawampus region, "I ain't got them articles in stock at present, but I guess yew can find the olive ile at the post office and the canned tomaters at the harber shop. So yew shot a moose, did yew? Well, that's reel fine, but I kind o' hoped if it was yew was goin' to have an accident yew'd shoot Hen Pussley, yewr guide. I ain't vindictive, or anything of the kind, but he's been owin' me five shillin's for I d'know how long, and I kind o' think I c'u'd c'lect it easier out o' his estate than I cen out o' Hen."—Smart Set.

American Idealism.

Since my first arrival in America I have held that the real spirit is idealistic and that the average individual American is controlled by idealistic impulses. Those who may contradict me cen not have sounded the depths of the philosophy of Ralph Waldo Emerson, or studied the life and read the speeches of Abraham Lincoln, and considered their far-reaching effect on the American people. In Lincoln's great character nothing stands more striking than the way in which he combined reality and the loftiest ideal, with a thoroughly practical capacity to achieve that ideal by practical methods. This faculty seemed to give him a far-sighted, almost superhuman vision, which enabled him to pierce the clouds obscuring the sight of the keenest statesmen and thinkers of his age—Baron Speck von Sternburg, in Forum.

COSTLY PRESSURE.

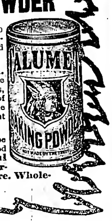
Heart and Nerves Fail on Coffee.

A resident of a great western state puts the case regarding stimulants with a comprehensive brevity that is admirable. He says:

"I am 56 years old and have had considerable experience with stimulants. They are all alike—a mortgage on reserved energy at ruinous interest. As the whip stimulates but does not strengthen the horse, so do stimulants act upon the human system. Feeling this way, I gave up coffee and all other stimulants and began the use of Postum Food coffee some months ago. The beneficial results have been apparent from the first. The rheumatism that I used to suffer from has left me. I sleep sounder, my nerves are steadier and my brain clearer. And I hear testimony also to the food value of Postum—something that is lacking in coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason. Read "The Road to Wellville," the quaint little book in pkgs.

Health Insurance at little cost

CALUMET BAKING POWDER



$1,000.00 reward is offered to anyone for any substance injurious to the health found in Calumet Baking Powder.

Purity is a prime essential in food. Calumet is made only of pure, wholesome ingredients combined by skilled chemists, and complies with the pure food laws of all states. It is the only high-grade Baking Powder on the market sold at a moderate price.

Calumet Baking Powder may be freely used with the certainty that food made with it contains no harmful drugs—It is chemically correct and makes Pure. Wholesome Food.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

Under the new code, members of the legislature can only receive pay for the days they actually attend the sessions of the law-making body. It is said that some of the members can now be found sitting on the capitol steps before daylight so as to be sure and not miss drawing that $5 per.

Quite a number of the legislators are returning the annual passes tendered them by the railroads. It is not so much the anti-pass agitation, but rather the great number of wrecks which causes them to decline any temptation to climb aboard the steam cars any oftener than absolutely necessary.

By a rising vote of 133 to 92 the house last Friday adopted an amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, which was taken from the speaker's table with the senate amendments, increasing the salary of the vice-president, speaker, the members of the cabinet to $12,000 per year and those of the senators, representatives and delegates from territories, and the resident commissioner from Potto Rico to $7,500 per year, the increases to take effect March 4, 1907. An effort was made to have a roll call but only 34 members arose, which was not a sufficient number, so that the house was relieved of the necessity of going on record.

Senator Gunn has prepared a bill for the establishment of a new normal school at Cass Lake. While there may be a demand for an additional normal school in this state, it would seem that a much better location could be selected. The territory that would in any way be affected by the location of such an institution at Cass Lake, is already pretty well covered by the normals at Duluth, St. Cloud and Moorhead. There is a large section of northwestern Minnesota which is quite remote from a normal school, and, if a new one is to be established, its location somewhere within this territory would be far more to the advantage of the people who stand in need of such an institution. This is a matter that the Commercial clubs of the valley would do well in looking into. While we cannot all have a normal school, its location in this section of the state would be of greater benefit and more fitting than at Cass Lake.

The doing away with every element of the old time political campaign except the stump speech will be accomplished if two bills before the house are passed and become effective. A bill introduced by J. D. Davidson of Waseca seeks to prohibit the giving of money, drinks or cigars, and a bill presented by F. B. Philips of St. Paul prohibits the use of other campaign material, such as buttonhole talks, cards, circulars and other printed matter. The Davidson bill provides that no candidate for a political office and no political committee shall give a voter money, intoxicating liquor or cigars during any primary or general election day. It prohibits the candidates and commitees from hiring any conveyance or vehicle to or from the polls, except those who are infirm or diabled. A penalty of $50 to $100 or imprisonment ten to thirty days, or both, is provided in the bill.

BURNS' ANNIVERSARY.

Tomorrow, Friday, January 25th is the 148th anniversary of Robert Burns. In nearly every hamlet throughout the land where Celtic blood is pronounced among the inhabitants, the clans will congregate and do honor to their beloved poet, Burns.

Many people have no enthusiasm for poetry, the vast realm of literature that is placed in that form being a closed book to them from choice, but there are a few people and not one who boasts a strain of Celtic blood, but glories in the songs of Robert Burns. There is almost a half superstitious reverence in the Scotchman's heart for this loved poet and his joy of living which might be censored by a strict historian, is regarded as goodfellowship by them, and they never forget a debt of gratitude for the wealth of homely poetry, which goes straight to the heart. Few poets are revered as is Burns and there is not another of English literature whose birthday is observed the world over, as is that of Burns, wherever there is a man of Scotia to observe it.

Robert Burns was born January 25, 1759, in a small cottage about two miles from Ayr, the eldest son of a small farmer, a hard working, honest man, who reared his children in the fear of God. Carlyle, the best biographer that has yet written of Burns, said of him: "The poet was fortunate in his father a man of thought, intense character, as the best of our peasants are, valuing knowledge, possessing some and open minded for more, of keen insight and devout heart, friendly and fearless; a fully unfolded man seldom found in any rank in society, and worth descending far in society to seek. Had be been ever so little richer the whole might have issued elsewhere. But poverty sunk the whole family even below the reach of our cheap school system and Burns remained a hard worked ploughboy."

The rugged charm and homely simplicity of his verse has an appeal that is limited only by an understanding of the language, and the keener the ability to appreciate the little touches that a Scotchman only can create or fully appreciate, the wider becomes the enthusiam for Burns and his theory. Perfect sincerely is this; his genius makes the simple flowers of the field and the insignificant "beauties" enduring emblems of phases of life. The works of Burns owe part of their popularity, as one writer put it, "to their being an epitome of melodies, moods and memories that had belonged for centuries to the national have passed into them."

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you—healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. O. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Ayer's

SENATOR NELSON RE-ELECTED.

United States Senator Knute Nelson was re-elected to represent Minnesota in the upper branch of the national congress by the state legislature Monday. Nelson received 143 votes, 98 in the house and 45 in the senate. Four republicans were absent in the house and two in the senate, but in the senate four democrats joined the Nelson column. Each explained his vote and expressed a personal preference for Senator Schaller, but voted for Nelson in obedience to the wishes of his constituents. The four so voting were Farmington of Ortonville, Glotzbach of Faribault, Pauly of Minneapolis and Witherstine of Rochester. Cashman of Owatonna stayed by Schaller, as his pledge was only to vote for Nelson if needed. John A. Johnson and Frank A. Day each received one vote in the senate.

SAME IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Fargo Morning Call: The weekly newspapers of North Dakota have done more to assist in the building up of the state than all other efforts combined. And for this reason the merchants of the towns and cities throughout this state should see to it that their efforts are repaid by a liberal patronage. The publisher of the weekly newspaper is there almost before the town is laid out and begins to sing the praises of "our town"—and he never lets up. Give him your support—he's building up your business every day.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Herbert Findeisen: Reporter.

The Physics class have found that their after-school sessions continue after the holidays just as before.

The Political Economy class is investigating the various forms of credit.

During this cold weather everybody is suffering but no one is so cold as the High School pupils. There is always some one standing around the radiators and those in the seats are watching and waiting for their chance. But the vigors of the cold are still worse in the eighth grade room. This room seems to get the brunt of the cold weather, the scholars often being obliged to wear their coats and overshoes.

The Spartan program last Friday was rendered so well that the judges awarded the society 51 points. That's going some.

The Physics class is just beginning the study of Electricity. They hope that it will be as interesting as the study of machines.

Miss Twinam's Cicero class is now digging down into the depths of harkness in an effort to turn English into Ciceros phrases, idioms, etc.

The Civics class is now studying the Constitution. They had a debate Tuesday on "Resolved, That the United States senators be elected by the people." The negative won.

The eigth grade arithmetic class are studying reduction of compound quantities.

No singing books yet. Aint in a shame.

Miss Wilson's history class is reviewing ancient history, before taking up modern history. We can sympathize with them—we've been there before.

Some of the members of the sixth grade have shown a marked improvement in their work since the holiday vacation.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

The fifth grade began the study of Europe this week.

The fourth grade have finished their physiology and the last half of the year will study the geography of the home.

A reading table was started by Mr. Healy's room last week. We have four files of the Youth's Companion brought weekly by different pupils, two files of the Children's Tribune, two of the Journal Junior, and one of the American Boy. These are all weekly papers and the children who are up to grade are allowed to read any time they have their lessons. Any one may take the papers home or read at intermsssions.

Both fifth and sixth grades will finish their history this month.

The fifth grade had an examination on South America Monday.

The sixth grade are studying James Russel Lowell in language at present.

Charlie Boughton, Geo. Zeh and Ralph Bourdon have been transferred from the Lafayette school to our school.

Last September the sixth grade wrote letters and sent them to different parts of the world. Since that time we have received three letters in answer, one from Massachusetts and the others from Australia. The following is what they said:

Armory Street School,
Springfield, Mass.
Oct. 9, 1906.

Dear School Friend—

Springfield is one hundred miles west of Boston, and 136 miles north of New York.

We live near the Connecticut river, we are on the east bank.

We have 75,000 people.

The Armory is one mile south of the school building; they make guns and all kinds of fire arms there.

The factories make automobiles, electric cars and skates.

Our school is made of red brick with white sandstone for trimmings. It has two stories or twelve rooms. There are two rooms given to the kindergarten and there are seven grades.

We have shower baths and we have twenty minutes to take one in. We are going to have an addition made to the school, we are going to have ten rooms more.

There are about forty children in a room; we are in the sixth grade.

We are studying about North America in our geographys, and we are reading about Robinson Crusoe; we are in three part music,

We have a fire drill and it took 470 children one minute and 25 seconds to get out of the school.

Your loving school friend,
—John Cawley.

District Girls' School
Tamworth, New South Wales,
Australia, 23rd November, 1906.

Dear Schoolfriend—

Having read your letter this morning, I will now try to answer your questions. Our school is divided into three departments, the infants, the boys and the girls department, but the more advanced girls and boys study together. We study much the same subjects as you, but we also have Science, Brushwork, Geometry, Algebra and the languages we study are French and Latin. There are fourteen teachers altogether in our school. During the month of June, July and August we have winter in Tamworth, and the frosts are very heavy, but the ice is so thin that it melts in a few hours. We have had a few light falls of snow, but that is a very unusual occurrance. The summer glides into winter so gradually that there is no noticeable break in the seasons. The summer months are, generally speaking, December, January and February, and during those months the heat is intense, the highest temperature being about 112 degrees. As the Christmas vacation falls during these hot months the towns west of the 147th meridan have six weeks holiday, and the towns east of this meridian, where the heat is exceptional, also have six weeks holiday. We have, besides, one week at Easter and one at Michaalmas together with the 26th January, anniversary day, the 9th November, our King's birthday and Good Friday, and for the last few years we have had Empire Day, 24th May, our late Queen's birthday.

Tamworth is a municipality, and has many fine public buildings, the chief being the postoffice, the various banks and the council chambers.

Farming is the chief industry carried on around here, wheat and maize being the chief cereals grown.

Our longest day is on the 21st December, the shortest, when the sun is farthest from us, is the 21st June. The sun is never directly over us but always a little to the north of us. Tamworth is about one hundred miles, in a straight line from the coast, but we can reach our principal seaport, Pt. Jackson, by rail in about nine hours. Pt. Jackson is visited by the English mail steamers, which includes the P. & O. line, and the Orient steamers. Also the Messageries Maritimes, North German Lloyd, the Canadian Mail steamers and the A. & A. line and the Nippon line. These are independent of the sailing and cargo vessels. We have also a line of Australian mail steamers visiting the States of the Commonwealth. We six states federated on the 1st January, 1901, and are called the Commonwealth.

Your letter made us feel that America and Australia are not so far apart and we hope that it will not be the last.

Yours faithfully,
—Rena Calov.

(Aged 16 years)

District Girls' School, Tamworth,
New South Wales, Australia,
November 23rd, 1906.

Dear Schoolfriend—

In answer to your letter asking of the climate and season of my town I can say we are having splendid weather at present, for the season which is now the beginning of summer. We have had plenty of rain which pleased the farmers very much. Their chief work is dairying pastoral purposes and agriculture. I attend the Tamworth District School. Our chief studies include arithmetic, reading, geography, spelling, theory of music, writing, history, drawing, French algebra, art, physical culture, botony, domestic economy, singing and geometry. We are having a concert on the 28th and 29th of this month in which there are 21 children representing different nations in full dress. We are accustomed to having a concert at the end of every year, but I think this one will be better than all we have had. We have a municipal council and also a mayor. The population of our town is about 6000 and is the chief town of a mining pastoral and agricultural district. It is situated on the Peel river which is spanned by a bridge. We also have a post and telegraph office which is very large for the town in which it is situated,

I remain,
Your schoolfriend,
Ruby Fitzsimmons.

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours

Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date

[illegible]

New Barber Shop

I have opened up for business the

Kaufer Barber Shop and Bath .. Parlors ..

and respectfully ask the public to give me a call. Will guarantee the best of work and courteous treatment. I will appreciate your trade

E. A. NELSON
THE NEW BARBER

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to emply in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank

Red Lake Falls | Minnesota

Bray.

Last Saturday we had the first real blizzard of this winter and as a result the roads were badly blocked up,

Messrs. Emil Larson and C. P. Swanson were at Wylie last Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Wylie Elevator and Mercantile Co. at that place.

C. P. Swanson transacted business at St. Hilaire Tuesday.

Richard Melin of Polk Centre was here last Tuesday talking telephone business to the farmers of this vicinity. The opportunity of getting a phone line through this part of the country has awakened some interest among the farmers.

A debate was held in the school house last Friday evening. The subject for debate was, "Resolved, That the pen is mightier than the sword." The verdict of the judges was in favor of the affirmative side.

Oliver Romsos formerly of Wylie, but now of Sarles, N. D., was a caller in Bray last Thursday.

John B. Hanson drove to St. Hilaire Friday.

Whist parties until the wee hours of the morning is all the go now.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞ House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

SHIP YOUR GRAIN. We are the only firm in this city dealing exclusively with the farmer. All Millers know that our cars are of one grade and not elevator mixed, which explains why our service is more satisfactory than any other concern. Submit us samples for grades, etc. COOPER COMMISSION CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

Our Hardware Stock Is Now Complete .....

Keen Kutter Axes & Tools, Wilson Air-Tights, Syracuse Easy Washers. Standard Tinware and Enameledware, etc. etc.

We have been busy the past few days receiving new stock and getting it in shape for your inspection at any time. We have restocked our store with new goods of standard make and manufacture and offer them to you at prices that are consistent with first-class material and square dealing. We will be pleased to have all our old customers and many new ones call at our store, and you can rest assured that you will always find the prices right, the goods up to a high standard of quality, and that, as in the past, every courtesy possible will be extended to the trade.

Hunt Hardware Co.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter [illegible] etc. It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than anyother. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

ENGLAND SAYS NO ALUM IN FOOD

In England and France the Sale of Alum Baking Powder is prohibited by law because of the injurious effects that follow its use.

The law in the District of Columbia also prohibits Alum in food.

You may live where as yet you have no protection against Alum The only sure protection against Alum in your Baking Powder is to

Say plainly—

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ROYAL is made from Absolutely pure Cream of Tartar,—a pure Grape product. Aids digestion—adds to the healthfulness of food.

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

'Phone 7—Groceries—SPILLANES.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

Just received a car of Hocking Valley soft coal. See Salley for your supply.

M. O. Sortedahl went over to Fosston last evening on a brief business mission.

Frank Jeffers has spent several days of this week at Thief River Falls, attending to business matters.

For Sale—A "Jewett" Typewriter, just as good as new, which we will sell at a bargain. First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Dr. Spofford is at Grand View Hotel, Red Lake Falls, the 7th day of every month. Latest scientific methods in examining eyes and fitting glasses.

Forty-one new subscribers so far in 1907 is the Gazette's record. This aint so bad, considering the deepsnow and lack of inclination to budge from the warm fireside.

George Singer, of Rhoda, was here last Thursday securing signatures to a petition to our representatives in the legislature for state aid in building a new bridge over the Clearwater river at Green's crossing in Equality. The petition was liberally signed, and the aid asked will likely be secured.

See Salley for your coal supply.

John Doyca was a Crookston visitor Tuesday night.

The Royal Neighbors will hold their regular meeting Friday evening at 7:30.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere and daughter, Erin, are both reported on the grippe list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Harlow are now keeping house in the Storaasli cottage on the North Side.

Chairman C. A. Lindquist, of the board of commissioners, came in from Bray Tuesday to look after matters connected with his office.

Dan Linnihan left last evening for Waseca, where he will spend a week at the home of his parents, who reside there. Dan has not been home for some time past and anticipated a pleasant outing.

FARM LOAN:—We have money of private parties to loan on improved farms at 7 per cent. Liberal terms of payment. No delays. Come and see us before placing a loan. Germo & Farley. d13-4w

H. H. Zaiser departed Tuesday evening for Itasca county, to spend a few days looking after some matters pertaining to his timber claim. His brother, Arthur, left last evening for the same place.

After Inventory Remnant Sale

We have just completed our annual inventory and find that we have a few remnants in Dress Goods and other fabrics. These are all staple goods, but in order to clean them out we are offering them at Greatly Reduced Prices.

In Our Winter Goods ... Department ...

we find that we are overstocked in some lines, and wishing to make room for Spring Goods which will arrive later, we are cutting prices on all overstocked lines in order to move them quickly. These are all first-class goods and it will pay you to look them over.

THE BUSY STORE
GARCEAU & ZAISER.

Poultry Taken At Highest Market Prices.

Salley sells coal. 'Phone 79.

Read the new ad of the Merchants State Bank in today's Gazette.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

A pleasant young folks party was held at the Frank St. Martin home Tuesday evening.

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

Landlord W. H. Krueger spent Monday night at Crookston attending some business matters.

MEN WANTED—To cut 500 cords of poplar wood, eight miles east of this city. Inquire of V. M. Higinbotham.

Register of Deeds Quist drove to Thief River Falls Saturday and spent Sunday with friends, driving here again Monday.

Sam and Freddy Bougie returned to their home in Crookston Tuesday, after having visited a couple of days with their uncle, Jos. L. Cyr, of this of this city.

Freund's orchestra will go to Plummer Saturday evening where they will furnish music for a big dance to be given there that evening. "Deutscher Freund" and his music making bunch are in big demand in the valley this winter, and give good satisfaction at every turn of the road.

Frank E. Hunt writes to have The Gazette forwarded to him at Providence, Rhode Island, where he expects to be about a month more before returning home. Mr. Hunt reports himself as enjoying his visit very much, and is seeing lots to interest him. He says that the weather there is very mild this winter, but that in some sections there is lots of sickness. The farmers are commencing to plow and prepare for their spring work.

A Junior band has been organized and Monday evening some twentyodd young fellows met at the city hall to take the preliminary steps toward organizing. Prof. Bruckman gave them a long talk on the band business, and the boys were enthusiastic to get the new band started. All the young men about town should be encouraged to join the new organization and work hard to become proficient. To sustain a band of the size of our present one, new material must be kept coming all the time, and the boys can rest assured that under Prof. Bruckmon's tutelage they will come along in good shape.

There is at least one thing, if no more, that the residents of Red Lake county can be happy over this winter, and that is that they live here instead of across the line in North Dakota. While daily reports are to the effect that a great deal of suffering and hardship is being endured by the people out there this winter through a lack of fuel and supplies, just the contrary is the rule here, and today not a case of privation is reported in Red Lake county, caused by the severe winter. So far this winter fuel has been plentiful everywhere, and on all lines of road through the county train service has been adequate, and practically regular. While the deep snow has interfered considerably with getting out wood and supplies, nevertheless there has been enough to meet the market demands, which is a condition that would be much enjoyed by the residents of the winter afflicted state a few miles to the west of us. But then the glories of this part of the Red River valley as a place of abode are so often apparent, that we who are here are tired of elucidating upon them.

Don't forget the band concert tomorrow night.

Miss Gina Kaasa spent Sunday with friends at Grand Forks.

Mrs. Conrad Lajambe has entirely recovered from a very serious grippe attack.

The Big Store has some interesting new bargains in their advertising space this week.

Mrs. J. B. O'Brien went up to St. Hilaire yesterday morning to spend a couple of days with friends.

Miss Vina Carver went to Thief River Falls Tuesday, near which place she will teach a term of school.

Frank Martin of Crookston, spent Sunday and Monday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere, in this city.

The Farmers' Grange gave a party and dance at the M. B. A. hall last evening, and had one of their usual enjoyable times.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Belair went down to Crookston Monday evening to spend several days with relatives and friends there.

Salesmen wanted to look after our interest in Red Lake and adjacent counties. Salary or commission. Address Lincoln Oil Co., Cleveland, O.

W. B. Chesire, O. C. More and Joseph Boushea, of Brooks, George Bender, of Garnes, and E. L. Wichterman, of Gully, Polk county, drove in last evening to appear as witnesses in the Brohman-Singer law suit.

Ed L. Healy arrived home Monday morning from a week's business visit at the Twin Cities. The storms of last week made all trains run way behind their schedules, and the trip both to and from the cities took two days.

Rev. H. W. Knox and Sunday School Missionary D. K. Laurie returned here Saturday evening from Rollis, where they went the first of last week to hold a series of revival meetings. They intended to remain for a week longer or more, but from the fact that Mr Knox's voice failed him, and the weather was so stormy and the roads so bad people could not get out, they decided to discontinue the meetings until a future date, when weather conditions are more favorable.

Plummer Pioneer: Mr. and Mrs. Julius Pleth returned on Thursday morning from St. Cloud, where they spent the holidays visiting with Mrs. Pleth's relatives. They remained there to attend the wedding of Mrs. Pleth's sister, Miss Anna Enderle, to William S. Weber which occurred at St. Cloud Cathedral on the 8th inst. The bride is known to many in this vicinity, having visited here with Mrs. Pleth, and all who know her will join sincerely in the wish that every happiness in life may be hers.

Monday's passenger on the Great Northern was over two hours late, the delay being caused by the blockade resulting from Saturday's blizzard. The train left Crookston only twenty minutes late, preceeded by a big snow plow, but both got stuck in the Delorme cut south of here, and were held up considerably over an hour. Saturday's storm was one of the fiercest of the many fierce ones this season, and this branch was far more fortunate than many others from the fact that it got any train service at all Monday.

Kellher Journal: A. J. Poullot, an old friend of the editor, is here from Red Lake Falls this week looking over Kellher's numerous business opportunities. Al. spent a pleasant hour in the Journal sanctum talking over old times.... Fred Burgdorf who has been in Kellher for the past two weeks looking over the town, returned Wednesday to his home in Red Lake Falls. Fred will return to Kellher in about two weeks to take charge of the electric lighting plant for the city, having been engaged as chief electrician by the council.

North Star Court, No. 588, Catholic Order of Foresters this week received a draft for $1,000, the amount of life insurance carried in this order by Joseph Noel, of Louisville. The draft is in honor of Merance Noel, his wife. The promptness with which this money came shows how systematically the society handles their business. Mr. Noel died on December 29, and Financial Secretary Fortier took the matter up with the head office immediately, making a special effort for returns. A slight delay was caused in getting the death certificate, but aside from this the matter was taken care of very promptly, and the draft was issued on January 17th by High Treasurer John A. Limback, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, arriving here a few days later. This was surely quick work, and shows that the Foresters waste no time in providing for the widows and orphans.

Red Lake Falls people will remsmber Attorney Francis Bergstrom, who spent a summer in this city a few years back. Mr. Bergstrom is now locrted at Worchester, Massachusetts, where he is practicing succesafully at his profession. The following from the Worchester Daily Telegram tells of a recent case he won: "Attorney Francis Bergstrom of Worchester was counell in a case in the Superior court in Providence, yestarday, in which the plaintiff got a verdict of $8,500. Mr. Bergstrom appered for Oscar B. Eckberg, Providence, a young man 18 years old: who sued the American Locomotive Co., of Providence for $10,000, for the loss of four fingures of the right hand in a planer at the plant of the defendant company at Providence, some time ago. Yesterday a jury in the Superior court in Providence, before Judge Baker, gave him a verdict of $8,500 Eckberg [illegible] American Locomotive Co., at the time he lost the fingers."

Attend the regular monthly band concert at the Met tomorrow night.

Arthur Guillmette is out again after a week's tussel with the grippe.

Chas. Kruger, of Key West, has spent the week here, a guest of Fred Krueger.

Walter Lacoursiere and Paul Lizotte left Tuesday evening for Billings, Montana, where they will spend several months working with a railroad contractor.

Sheriff Lewis A. Nelson left Tuesday evening for St. Paul, to spend several days in attendance at the session of the Minnesota Sheriff's association which is being held in the capitol city this week. Mr. Nelson will return tomorrow or Saturday.

Mrs. T. G. Brunelle and Miss Alexana Dubuque came over from Crookston last Thursday for a brief visit with Red Lake Falls friends, being guests at the J. P. Harren home. Mrs. Brunelle returned home Monday evening, but Miss Dubuque is spending the week here.

Erick Craft, living between the rivers, lost a valuable horse Saturday. Mr. Craft came to town that day and made the homeward trip in the terrible blizzard of that afternoon. The trip was very hard on the horses, and both were nearly played out when they got home. One of them recovered all right, however, but the other died during the night.

The Foresters and their ladies will give a reception and dance at their hall next Wednesday evening, January 30th, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Normandeau and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Harlow. Dancing will be the feature of the evening, for which Fruend's orchestra will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served and a delightful time is anticipated.

Arther Mercier came down from Calgary, N. W. T., last Saturday and has spent the week here and at Thief River Falls. It is announced that tomorrow "Art." will be married at Thief River Falls to Miss Emma London, a prominent young lady of that city, and will go back to Calgary where he has a good position. The young couple will have the best wishes of the people of Red Lake Falls for all kinds of happiness.

A case is on before Justice Swanson's court today between Joseph Brohman, of Lambert, and George Singer, from Gully. The case is a peculiar one, inasmuch as the amount involved is only a lonely $5 bill. It appears that at Brohman's auction sale Singer bought some goods, and claims that he paid the clerk $65 while Brohman claims it was only $60. They could not agree and the suit resulted. A large number of witnesses from Brooks, Lambert, and Gully, Polk county, are here attending the suit. Attorney Boughton is appearing for Brohman and Attorney Grady for Singer.

A. P. Toupin, Chas. N. Bourdon and Exerie Chatel arrived home Saturday morning from their two weeks trip to Calgary and other points in northwest Canada. They were accompanied on their trip by a party of gentlemen from Crookston, and besides looking over the country very carefully they had a most enjoyable trip. They suffered no delays on their journey aside from a slight one at Winnipeg on the trip out, and while away put in every moment getting pointers and taking in everything to be seen. The party spent four days at Calgary, and looked over the town and surrounding country. The weather was extremely cold while they were there, but it did not interfere with their trip to any extent, and they all got all the sightseeing they cared about. The party from here were very favorably impressed with that country as they saw it, and report that the volume of business done at Calgary is tremendous. The several Red Lake Falls people now located at this thriving city were found prospering, and none of them are sorry that they went there. The trip was a very pleasant one, and the boys from here felt well repaid for the time spent.

Pounding .. Hard ..

Our low prices are pounding high prices hard and making us good business. Here are specials for this week again:

3 lb can Pears, chuck full of No. 1 fruit in a fairly thick syrup. Per can	15c
7 for $1.00. $1.60 per doz Try them, as cheap as tomatoes
Corn, good quality per dz.	75c
25 lb prunes, fancy fresh stock	1.50
Crackers, best, lb.	7½c
XXX Envelopes, large size, 3 for	10c
Baker's chocolate per lb,	35c
Macaroni, 10 lb for	65c
Best Imported Macaroni	10c
Saluratus per pkg	6c
Corn starch, per pkg	5c
Elastic starch per pkg	9c
5 lb Quakers Rolled Oats	25c
Gold Dust, 5 lbs	20c
Fine Syrup 1 gal pail	40c
KKK Herring per lb	10c
Carol Tomatoes worth 15c at	12½c
3 lb can mackeral and tomatoe sauce	22c
3 lb can Sauer, Kraut, Imported	12½c

Dry Goods Department

20 pc off on Winter Shawls
20 pc off on Dress Pants
20 pc off on woolen blankets
20 pc off on men's heavy sweaters all colors, all grades
20 pc off on fleeced lined Wrappers.
"Home Made" brand, full size and beautifully made.

See our Muslin Underwear A beautiful line.

35c Golf Gloves at	25c

We want your trade.
That means YOU.

It Pays to Trade at

The Big Store

THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

We Have What You Want In Hardware.

No matter how small an article or how large, if it can be found in a hardware store we have it for you. Our new goods are nearly all in, and we are confident that we can fit you out with just what you need—and you will be pleased at the prices asked.

Seasonable Reminders:

WILSON AIR-TIGHTS, BEST RANGES,
TOOLS OF ALL KINDS,
NEW TINWARE AND ENAMELEDWARE
"ONE-MINUTE" WASHERS
The latest and best thing the washing machine line
MANY OTHER THINGS YOU NEED.

We only ask you to inspect our stock and get our prices, and we have no fear but what you will be convinced that we can save you money.

Let Us Figure On Your Contract Work, Repair Work, Etc., Etc.....

G. A. KANKEL

The Hardware Man.

'Phone No. 74 Red Lake Falls.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON, AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

When they were all on with their [illegible] belongings, he called again to the man in the wagon.

"Brother Keaton, my father went across, and he—"

Several of the men on shore answered him

[illegible] "Old white-whiskered [illegible] went over the river"—[illegible]—"A sassy old codger he [illegible]. He got his needings, too"—[illegible] needings—"

The last of the line and the oars began to dip.

The confusion of landing and the preparation for an immediate start drove for the time all other thoughts from his mind. It had been determined to get the little band at once out of the marshy spot where the camp had been made. The teams were soon hitched, the wagons loaded, and the train ready to move. He surveyed it, a hundred poor wagons, many of them without cover, loaded to the full with such nondescript belongings as a house-dwelling people, suddenly put out on the open road, would hurriedly snatch as they fled. And the people made his heart ache, even to the deadening of his own sorrow, as he noted their wobegoneness. For these were the sick, the infirm, the poor, the inefficient, who had been unable for one reason or another to migrate with the main body of the Saints earlier in the season. Many of them were now racked by fever from sleeping on the damp ground. These bade fair not to outlast some of the lumbering carts that threatened at every [illegible] to jolt apart.

But the line bravely formed to the [illegible] with Seth Wright as captain, and the march began. Looking back, he saw peaceful Nauvoo, its houses and gardens softened by the cloudy sky and the autumn haze, clustering under the shelter of their temple spire—their temple and their houses, of which they were now despoiled by a mob's fury. Ahead he saw the road to the west, a hard road, as he knew—one he could not hope they should end without leaving more graves by the way—but Zion was at the end.

"Only a short march to-day, brethren. Our camp is at Sugar Creek, nine miles—so take your time this first day."

Near the head of the train were his own two wagons, and beside the first walked Seth Wright and Keaton, in low, earnest converse. As he came up to them the bishop spoke.

"I got Wes' and Alec Gregg to drive awhile so we could stretch our legs." But then came a quick change of tone, as they halted by the road.

"And there's no use beatin' about the bush. Them devils at the ferry [illegible] drowned your pa."

He went cold all over. Keaton, looking sympathetic but frightened, spoke next.

"You ought to thank me, Brother Rae, for not telling you on the other side when you asked me. I know better. Because, why? Because I knew you'd fly off the handle and get yourself killed, and then your ma'd be left all alone, that's why, now—and prob'ly they'd 'a' wound up by dumping the whole passle of us bag and baggage into the stream. And it wa'n't any use, your father bein' dead and gone."

The Bishop took up the burden, slapping him cordially on the back.

"Come, come—hearten up, now! Your pa's been made a martyr—he's heired his inheritance in Zion—whinin' won't do no good."

He drew himself up with a shrug, as if to throw off an invisible burden, and answered, calmly:

"I'm not whining, Bishop. Perhaps you were right not to tell me over there, Keaton. I'd have made trouble for you all." He smiled painfully in his effort to control himself.

CHAPTER VI.

The Lute of the Holy Ghost Is Further Chastened.

In a craze of rage and grief he turned toward the river, when he heard the sharp voice of the Bishop calling him back.

"It ain't any use, Joel."

"Couldn't we find his body?"

"Not a chance in a thousand. It was carried down by the current. It would mean days and mebbe weeks. Besides, we need you here. Here's your duty. Sakes alive! If we only had about 20 minutes with them cusses like it was in the old days! When you're ready to be a Son of Dan you'll know what I mean. But never mind, we'll see the day yet when Israel will be the head and not the tail."

"My mother? Has any one told her?"

"Wal, now, I'm right sorry about that, but it got out before you come over. Tarlton McKenny's boy, Nephi, rowed over in a skiff and brought the news, and some of the women went and tattled it to your ma, I guess. It upset her considerable. You go up and see her."

He ran forward toward the head of the train, hearing as he went words of sympathy hurried to him by those he passed. Mounting the wagon, he climbed over the seat to where his mother lay. She seemed to sleep in spite of the jolting. The driver called back to him:

"She took on terrible for a spell, Brother Rae. She's only jest now got herself pacified."

He put his hand on her forehead and found it burning. She stirred and moaned, and muttered disjointed sentences. He heard his father's name, his sister's, and his own, and he knew she was delirious. He eased her bed as well as he could, and made a place for himself beside her where he could sit and take one of the pale, thin hands between his own and try to endow her with some of his abundant life. He stayed by her until their camping place was reached.

Once for a moment she opened her eyes with what seemed to him a more than normal clearness and understanding and memory in them. Though she looked at him long without speaking, she seemed to say all there was to say, so that the brief span was full of anguish for him. He sighed with relief when the consciousness faded again from her look, and she fell to babbling once more of some long gone day in her girlhood.

When the wagon halted he was called outside by the driver, who wished instructions regarding the camp to be made. A few moments later he was back, and raised the side of the wagon cover to let in the light. The look on her face alarmed him. It seemed to tell unmistakably that the great change was near. Already she looked moribund. An irregular gasping for breath, an occasional delirious mutter, were the only signs of life. She was too weak to show restlessness. Her pinched and faded face was covered with tiny cold beads. The pupils of her eyes were strangely dilated, and the eyes themselves were glazed. There was no pulse at her wrist, and from her heart only the faintest beating could be heard. In quick terror he called to a boy working at a wagon near by.

"Let the Wrath of God Abide Upon 'Em."

"Go for Bishop Wright and tell him to bring that apothecary with him."

The two came up briskly a few moments later, and he stood aside for them in an agony of suspense. The Bishop turned toward him after a long look into the wagon.

"She's gone to be with your pa, Joel. You can't do anything—only remember they're both happy now for bein' together."

It made little stir in the busy encampment. There had been other deaths while they lay out on the marshy river flats. Others of the sorry band were now sick unto death, and many more would die on the long march across the Iowa prairie, dropping out one by one of fever, starvation, exposure. He stood helpless in this chaos of woe, shut up within himself, knowing not where to turn.

Some women came presently from the other wagon to prepare the body for burial. He watched them dumbly, from a maze of incredulity, feeling that some wretched pretense was being acted before him.

The Bishop and Keaton came up. They brought with them the makeshift coffin. They had cut a log, split it, and stripped off its bark in two half-cylinders. They led him to the other side of the wagon, out of sight.

Then they placed the strips of bark around the body, bound them with hickory withes, and over the rough surface the women made a little show of black cloth.

For the burial they could do no more than consign the body to one of the waves in the great billowy land sea about them. They had no tombstone, nor were there even rocks to make a simple cairn. He saw them bury her, and thought there was little to choose between hers and the grave of his father, whose body was being now carried noiselessly down in the bed of the river. The general locality would be kept by landmarks, by the bearing of valley bends, headlands, or the fork and angles of constant streams. But the spot itself would in a few weeks be lost.

When the last office had been performed, the prayer said, a psalm sung, and the black dirt thrown in, they waited by him in sympathy. His feeling was that they had done a monstrous thing; that the mother he had known was somewhere alive and well. He stood a moment so, watching the sun sink below the far rim of the prairie while the white moon swung into sight in the east. Then the Bishop led him gently by the arm to his own camp.

There cheer abounded. They had a huge camp fire tended by the Bishop's numerous children. Near by was a smaller fire over which the good man's four wives, able-bodied, glowing and cordial, cooked the supper. In little ways they sought to lighten his sorrow or to put his mind away from it.

He talked long with the Bishop when the women had climbed into their wagon for the night. He amazed that good man by asking him if the Lord would not be pleased to have them, now, as they were, go back to Nauvoo and descend upon the Gentiles to smite them. The Bishop counselled him to have patience.

"What could we do now with these few old fusees and cheap arms that we managed to smuggle across—to say nothing of half of us being down sick?"

"But we are Israel, and surely Israel's God—"

"The Lord had his chance the other day if he'd wanted it, when they took the town. No, Joel, he means us to gether out and become strong enough to beat 'em in our own might. But you wait; our day will come, and all the more credit to us then for doin' it ourselves. Then we'll consecrate the herds and flocks of the Gentile and his store and basket, his gold and silver, and his myrrh and frankincense. But for the present—well, we got to be politic and kind of modest about such doin's. The big Fan, the Sons of Dan, done good work in Missouri and better in Nauvoo, and it'll do still better where we're goin'. But we must be patient. Only next time we'll get to work quicker. If the Gentiles had been seen to quicker in Nauvoo, Joseph would he with us now. We learned our lesson there. Now the Lord has unfurled a Standard of Zion for the gathering of Israel, and this time we'll fix the Gentiles early."

"Amen! Brother Seth."

A look of deep hatred had clouded the older man's face as he spoke. He continued:

"Let the wrath of God abide upon 'em, and remember that we'e bein' tried and proved for a purpose. And we got to be more practical. You been too theoretical yourself and too high-flyin' in your notions. The kingdom ain't to be set up on earth by faith alone. The Lord has got to have works, like I told you about the other day."

"You were right, Bishop, I need to be more practical. The olive branch and not the sword would Ephraim extend to Japheth, but if—"

"If Japheth don't toe the mark the Lord's will must be worked upon him!"

"So be it, Brother Seth! I am ready now to be a Son of Dan."

The Bishop rose from in front of their fire and looked about. No one was near. Here and there a fire blazed, and the embers of many more could be seen dying out in the distance. The nearest camp was that of the fever-stricken man who had fled on to the boat that morning with his child in his arms. They could see his shaven head in the firelight, and a woman hovering over him as he lay on the ground with a tattered quilt fixed over him in lieu of a tent. From another group came the strains of an accordion and the chorus of a hymn.

"That's right," said the Bishop. "I knew you'd come to it. I saw that long ago. Brother Brigham saw it, too. We knew you could be relied on. You want the oath, do you?"

"Yes, yes, Brother Seth. I was ready for it this morning when they told me about father."

"Hold up your right hand and repeat after me:

"'In the name of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, I do covenant and agree to support the first Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, in all things right or wrong; I will faithfully guard them and report to them the acts of all men as far as in my power lies; I will assist in executing all the decrees of the first President, Patriarch, or President of the Twelve, and I will cause all who speak evil of the Presidency or Heads of the Church to die the death of dissenters or apostates, unless they speedily confess and repent, for pestilence, persecution, and death shall follow the enemies of Zion. I will be a swift herald of salvation and messenger of peace to the Saints, and I will never make known the secret purposes of this Society called the Sons of Dan, my life being the forfeiture in a fire of burning tar and brimstone. So help me God and keep me steadfast.'"

He repeated the words without hesitation, with fervor in his voice, and the light of a holy and implacable zeal in his face.

"Now I'll give you the blessing, too. Wait till I get my bottle of oil."

He stepped to the nearest wagon, felt under the cover and came back with a small bottle in his hand.

"Stand jest here—so—now!"

They stood at the edge of the wavering firelight, and he put his hand on the other's head.

"'In the name of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, and by the authority of the Holy Priesthood, the first President, Patriarch, and High Priest of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, representing the first, second and third Gods in Heaven, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, I do now anoint you with holy consecrated oil, and by the imposition of my hands do ordain and set you apart for the holy calling whereunto you are called; that you may consecrate the riches of the Gentiles to the House of Israel, bring swift destruction upon apostate sinners, and execute the decrees of Heaven without fear of what man can do with you. So mote it be. Amen.'

"There, boy, if I ain't mistaken, that's the best work for Zion that I done for some time. Now be off to your rest!"

"Good night, Bishop, and thank you for being kind to me! The Church Poet called me the Lute of the Holy Ghost, but I feel to-night that I must be another Lion of the Lord! Good night!"

CHAPTER VII.

Some Inner Mysteries Are Expounded.

The hosts of Israel had been forced to tarry for the winter on the banks of the Missouri. A few were on the east side at Council Bluffs on the land of the Pottawattamie Indians. Across the river on the land of the Omahas the greater part of the force had settled at what was known as Winter Quarters. Here in huts of logs, turf, and other primitive materials, their town had been laid out with streets and byways, a large council-house, a mill, a stockade, and blockhouses. The Indians had received them with great friendliness, feeling with them a common cause of grievance, since the heavy hand of the Gentile had pushed them also to this bleak frontier.

To this settlement early in November came the last train from Nauvoo, its members wearied and wasted by the long march, but staunch in their faith and with hope undimmed. It was told in after years how there had leaped from the van of this train a very earnest young man, who had at once sought an audience with Brigham Young and certain other members of the Twelve who had chanced to be present at the train's arrival; and how, being closeted with these, he had eagerly inquired if it might not be the will of the Lord that they should go no farther into the wilderness, but stand their ground and give battle to the Gentiles forthwith. He made the proposal as one who had a flawless faith that the God of Battles would be with them, and he appeared to believe that something might be done that very day to force the matter to an issue. When he had made his proposal, he waited in a modest attitude to hear their views of it. To his chagrin, all but two of those who had listened laughed. One of these two, Bishop Snow—a man of holy aspect whom the Church Poet had felicitously entitled the Entablature of Truth—had looked at him searchingly, then put his hand upon his own head and shaken it hopelessly to the others.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Quiet Missionary Work.

Literary Critic (laying down a new book)—I wish every maid, wife and mother in the country could read that book.

Able Editor—Well, run in a line to the effect that that book is one which no woman should be allowed to see.—N. Y. Weekly.

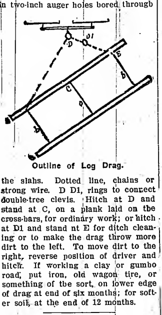
ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

DRAGGING THE ROAD.

The Use of the Log Drag Again Emphasized.

The use of a simple log drag, made as shown in the cut, drawn lengthwise of the road over the ruts when the frost is coming out, will fill up the hollows, smooth off the bumps and make a bad road passable. The drag is made as follows:

The two halves of a split log, a a, nine feet long, ten to 12 in. thick, set on edge, 30 in. apart, both flat sides to the front. Strong oak or hedge bars, b b, the ends of which are wedged in two-inch auger holes bored through the slabs. Dotted line, chains or strong wire. D D1, rings to connect double-tree clevis. Hitch at D and stand at C, on a plank laid on the cross-bars, for ordinary work; or hitch at D1 and stand at E for ditch cleaning or to make the drag throw more dirt to the left. To move dirt to the right, reverse position of driver and hitch. If working a clay or gumbo road, put iron, old wagon tire, or something of the sort, on lower edge of drag at end of six months; for softer soil, at the end of 12 months.



Outline of Log Drag.

EVERYBODY DRAG!

When the smiles of spring appear,
Drag the roads;
When the summer time is here,
Drag the roads;
When the corn is in the ear;
In the winter cold and drear;
Every season in the year;
Drag the roads!

When you've nothing else to do,
Drag the roads;
If but for an hour or two,
Drag the roads.
It will keep them good as new,
With a purpose firm and true,
Fall in line! It's up to you:
Drag the roads!

Would you do the proper thing?
Drag the roads.
Set the system on the wing:
Drag the roads.
Give the drag a lively swing:
Toss the laurel wreath to King!
Hats off! Everybody sing.
Drag the roads!
—M. Albertus Coverdell.

SINGLE YEAR EXPERIMENTS.

They are Not to be Relied on for Conclusive Evidence.

Single year experiments are little to be relied on. There are so many conditions that enter into the growing of crops that it is impossible to say that a certain thing comes from certain elements or factors, if the experiment be conducted for but one year. If the experiment when repeated gives the same results through several years we may be sure that the results are produced by some causes which can be well defined. It is a mistake, says Farmers' Review, for experimenters to report experiments till they have been carried on far enough to mean something. In the cases of certain fields there is always a variation between different fields, which is sure to affect the yield. How great this variation is, it is difficult to tell, and we do not know that any one has tried to measure this variation. Thus, if a field is manured and seeded in a certain way it will not produce the same amount of seed on both sides of it or on the two halves. It would be possible by cutting each half up into small squares to find the amount of natural variation.

Single year experiments therefore are of little value as determining the value of processes. Yet some of our farmers have allowed themselves to be directed in the future course in farming by the outcome of a single experiment on their farms. This is extremely unscientific.

AROUND THE FARM.

The pullets, if they have been properly bred and fed, should now be doing steady laying.

You never saw a scrawny hen laying. It is the well-fed hen, the one that looks neat and trim.

Rusty iron placed in the drinking water at this season serves an excellent purpose as a tonic.

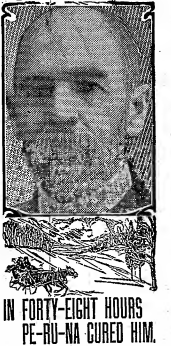
The ideal farm of the future will be the one where father, mother and the little folks are the happiest.

If the farmer succeeds, the country prospers, peace and plenty reign and the world rejoices.—Farm Journal.

What business have you to sing "Home Sweet Home" until you have provided a full supply of dry fuel under shelter?

He who takes the surplus water out of a field in an old section is as great a benefactor as he who irrigates a desert.—Rural New Yorker.

Keep a note book near you, and, as they come to your mind, make a list of the seeds you will need. Before you know it, it will be time to make garden again. Send for the catalogues and read them.



LIEUTENANT BOWMAN.

IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS PE-RU-NA CURED HIM.

Cold Affected Head and Throat—Attack was Severe.

Chas. W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adjt. 4th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from Lanham, Md., as follows:

"Though somewhat averse to patent medicines, and still more averse to becoming a professional affidavit man, it seems only a plain duty in the present instance to add my experience to the columns already written concerning the curative powers of Peruna.

"I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat. I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions. I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack.

"Members of my family also use it for like ailments. We are recommending it to our friends."

—Chas. W. Bowman.

Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Almanac for 1907.

Novelist's Early Earnings.

A pocket series of Mr. Thomas Hardy's stories is to be published soon, and lately a complete edition of his books in 20 beautiful volumes was issued in America with success. When Mr. Hardy took the manuscript of "Under the Greenwood Tree" to the late Mr. Tinsley that enterprising publisher offered the novelist the sum of $125 down for the book. Mr. Hardy accepted the sum, although he owned that he was "a bit disappointed," adding that nevertheless he "meant to keep on." Next came his book "A Pair of Blue Eyes," for which Mr. Tinsley gave the novelist $500, saying: "There is no money in the book, but I can see that Hardy is going to get a grip some day."

THE FIRST TWINGE

Of Rheumatism Calls for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills If You Would Be Easily Cured.

Mr. Frank Little, a well known citizen of Portland, Ionia Co., Mich., was cured of a severe case of rheumatism by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In speaking about it recently, he said: "My body was run down and in no condition to withstand disease and about five years ago I began to feel rheumatic pains in my arms and across my back. My arms and legs grew numb and the rheumatism seemed to settle in every joint so that I could hardly move, while my arms were useless at times. I was unable to sleep or rest well and my heart pained me so terribly I could hardly stand it. My stomach became sour and bloated after eating and this grew so bad that I had inflammation of the stomach. I was extremely nervous and could not bear the least noise or excitement. One whole side of my body became paralyzed.

"As I said before, I had been suffering about five years and seemed to be able to get no relief from my doctors, when a friend here in Portland told me how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured him of neuralgia in the face, even after the pain had drawn it to one side. I decided to try the pills and began to see some improvement soon after using them. This encouraged me to keep on until I was entirely cured. I have never had a return of the rheumatism or of the paralysis."

The pills are for sale by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

UTTERLY WORN OUT.

Vitality Sapped by Years of Suffering with Kidney Trouble.

Capt. J. W. Hogan, former postmaster of Indianola, now living at Austin, Tex., writes: "I was afflicted for years with pains across the loins and in the hips and shoulders. I had headaches also and neuralgia. My right eye, from pain, was of little use to me for years. The constant flow of urine kept my system depleted, causing nervous chills and night sweats. After trying seven different climates and using all kinds of medicine I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy has cured me. I am as well to-day as I was twenty years ago, and my eyesight is perfect."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SAVES HER VISITING CARDS.

One Woman's Pet Economy Certainly a Queer One.

Women are proverbially niggardly on one or two points; every woman that ever existed had some pet economy, no matter how extravagant she may be in some respects. There's the woman who spends hundreds of dollars on imported gowns, but hates to give up one penny for a paper of pins. The paper-saving person who drops into department stores and hotels to borrow stationery rather than spend any money upon the commodity always is with us; we all know the stamp stealer and the match borrower; but the visiting-card economizer is a new brand of woman who exists only in the most exclusive society. So niggardly is she on the point of her visiting cards that she demands them back from her intimate friends; from her mere acquaintances she steals them at an opportune moment when the servant's back is turned, or when the mistress has left the room. She puts them slyly back into her card case. By a clever series of manipulations it is said she can make 100 of them go as far as 500 went before.

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RAILROAD AND WESTERN CANADA.

Will Open Up Immense Area of Free Homestead Lands.

The railway facilities of Western Canada have been taxed to the uttermost in recent years to transfer the surplus grain crop to the eastern markets and the seaboard. The large influx of settlers and the additional area put under crop have added largely to the grain product, and notwithstanding the increased railway facilities that have been placed at the disposal of the public, the question of transportation has proved to be a serious one.

It will, therefore, be good news to everyone interested in Western Canada to know that an authoritative statement has been given out by C. M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, that that railway will do its share towards moving the crop of 1907 from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba to tide water, and thus assist in removing a serious obstacle which has faced the settlers during recent years. Mr. Hays, who has just completed a trip from Portage la Prairie to Edmonton in a prairie schooner, a distance of 735 miles, which was covered in eighteen days, is enthusiastic about the country.

This will be gratifying to settlers in the Canadian West, even if Mr. Hays declines to be bound to a time limit with the exactitude of a stop-watch. The Grand Trunk Pacific road will be in a position to take part in the transportation of the crop of 1907, and that will be satisfactory to the settlers in that country when the harvest is garnered.

The wheat crop of 1906 in Western Canada was about 90,000,000 bushels, and, with the increased acreage which is confidently expected to be put under crop next year, it is safely calculated that fully 125,000,000 bushels will be harvested in 1907. The necessity for increased transportation facilities are, therefore, apparent, and the statement made by Mr. Hays will bring encouragement to the farmers of the Canadian West, new and old. The opening up of additional thousands of free homesteads is thus assured by the agent of the Canadian Government, whose address appears elsewhere.

Destructive Yellow River.

Thousands of men work all their lives at securing the banks of the great Yellow river in China. Yet every now and then the tide sweeps away all opposition and the loss in human life is greater than any war ever caused. Nineteen years ago the river burst its bonds. Day after day the torrent flowed, 20 miles to the hour, 30 miles wide and ten feet deep. The flood has been described as that of five Danubes pouring from a height for two months on end. For 2,000 years the Chinese have been embanking this river.

Convict's Peculiar Claim.

A life convict in the Andamans had served some long period when an order recently came for his release. All the time he had been in the band, and had evidently so far forgotten that he was a prisoner that on his release he put in a claim for a pension on account of his long and faithful service as a government servant.—Madras Mail.

Economy is the road to wealth. PUTNAM FADELESS DYE is the road to economy. 10c per package.

It's a wise Satan who keeps his beard away from the candles.

Garfield Tea purifies the blood and eradicates disease. Take it for constipation. Guaranteed under the Pure Food Law.

Many a man smacks of freshness, but freshness gets no smacks.

For Prices on Poultry,
Either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, S. Paul.

Many a citizen who trades on margins wouldn't think of buying a gold brick.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

And when a man bumps up against hard luck he always blames some other fellow for shoving him.

Top Prices for Hides, Furs, Pelts.
Write for circular and catalogue No. 9, N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

Invention Long Looked for.

A Paris paper devoted to scientific subjects announces the discovery of a practical method of shielding watches and clocks from all magnetic influences. It is said to be the work of a watchmaker named Leroy.

SCALY ERUPTION ON BODY.

Doctors and Remedies Fruitless—Suffered 10 Years—Completely Cured by Cuticura.

"When I was about nine years old small sores appeared on each of my lower limbs. I scratched them with a brass pin and shortly afterwards both of those limbs became so sore that I could scarcely walk. When I had been suffering for about a month the sores began to heal, but small scaly eruptions appeared where the sores had been. From that time onward I was troubled by such severe itching that, until I became accustomed to it, I would scratch the sores until the blood began to flow. This would stop the itching for a few days, but scaly places would appear again and the itching would accompany them. After I suffered about ten years I made a renewed effort to effect a cure. The eruptions by this time had appeared on every part of my body except my face and hands. The best doctors in my native county advised me to use arsenic in small doses and a salve. I then used to bathe the sores in a mixture which gave almost intolerable pain. In addition I used other remedies, such as iodine, sulphur, zinc salve, ——'s Salve, —— Ointment, and in fact I was continually giving some remedy a fair trial, never using less than one or two boxes or bottles. All this was fruitless. Finally my hair began to fall out and I was rapidly becoming bald. I used ——'s ——, but it did no good. A few months after, having used almost everything else, I thought I would try Cuticura Ointment, having previously used Cuticura Soap and being pleased with it. After using three boxes I was completely cured, and my hair was restored, after fourteen years of suffering and an expenditure of at least $50 or $60 in vainly endeavoring to find a cure. I shall be glad to write to any one who may be interested in my cure. B. Hiram Mattingly, Vermillion, S. Dak., Aug. 18, 1906."

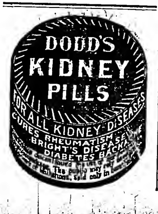
MEN STILL LIVE IN CAVES.

Troglodytic Villages Are Found in Northern Africa.

Grottoes and caverns are used more or less as shelters by primitive peoples and thus inhabited caves are of course most frequent in Africa. A considerable number of natives make their homes in caves along the southern shore of the Strait of Gibraltar and in some of those caves are found the polished stones and arrow heads of the stone age. Troglodyte villages are frequent in the Tebessa territory of Algeria, one of which, at Djeurf, 250 feet above the gorge of the Wadi Hallail, is reached by steps cut in the rock.

The inhabitants of the Tunisian Island of Galite are cave dwellers, their habitations being grottoes which they have dug out of the limestone, or ancient burial caverns that they have enlarged. The subterranean villages of Matmata and of Medennie, hewn out of the rock, are in southern Tunisia.

A Christian monastery built underground in the twelfth century still exists at Goba, Abyssinia. The enormous cavern discovered several years ago within two hours' walk of the port of Tanga, in German East Africa, contains rooms the roofs of which are from 120 to 250 feet above the floor. Only a few of these vast chambers have yet been explored, for the entire cavern seems to be inhabited by millions of bats. One of these killed with a stick measured nearly five feet across its extended wings.



Always to Be Depended Upon.

When a person gets up in the morning with a dull headache and a tired, stretchy feeling, it's an almost certain indication that the liver, or bowels, or both, are decidedly out of order.

At such times Nature, the wisest and best of doctors, takes this means to give warning that she needs the help and gentle assistance which can best be obtained from that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills, which has been in use for over a century.

They are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used when doctors were few and far between, and when people had to have a remedy that could absolutely be depended upon.

Brandreth's Pills can be depended upon, and are sold in every drug and medicine store, plain or sugar-coated.

Man cannot be altogether cleared from injustice in dealing with beasts as he now does.—Heraclitus.

To recover quickly from bilious attacks, sick-headache, indigestion or colds, take Garfield Tea, the mild laxative. Guaranteed under the Pure Food Law.

Kindness is wisdom. There is none in life but needs it and may learn.—Bailey.

Trappers' Supplies Sold Cheap.
Write for catalog and circular No. 9. N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

A man's good judgment usually shows up the day after.

Furs, Hides, Pelts.
Write for prices and ship to McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

The last person to forget a kindness is the one who does it.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

If you are a gay old dog you have no right to whine.

We pay the highest price for Butterfat in cream. Write for prices. Milton Dairy Co., St. Paul.

Lots of the money that men marry is counterfeit.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Uneasy lies the head that wears a frown.

Attention, Ladies!

You will be interested in our new size family package of Quaker Oats. Each package contains a beautiful piece of semi-porcelain china. It is better oats and better china than you have been buying at the price of ordinary kinds—25 cents.

Quaker Oats

is the best Oatmeal because it is made of oats of the finest quality (Quaker Quality) in the largest, cleanest and best equipped mills in the world. The careful, painstaking processes bring out all the delicious flavor and leaves only the nourishing, wholesome elements.

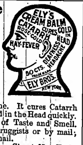
Buy a package to-day for breakfast to-morrow!

The Quaker Oats Company

A Positive CURE FOR CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm

is quickly absorbed.
Gives Relief at Once.



It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts. at Druggists or by mail; Trial size 10 cts. by mail.
Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

PROTECT YOUR IDEAS DON'T DELAY
TO APPLY FOR PATENT
Send for FREE BOOKLET and learn why.
MILO B. STEVENS & CO., 900 14th St., Washington, D. C. Branches at Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. ESTABLISHED 1864.
NO PATENT, NO FEE FOR OUR SERVICES

LIVE STOCK AND MISCELLANEOUS ELECTROTYPES
In great variety for sale at the lowest prices by A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO., 73 W. Adams St., Chicago

VIRGINIA FARMS and HOMES
FREE CATALOGUE of Splendid Bargains.
R.B. CHAFFIN & CO., Inc., RICHMOND, VA.

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

NEW WHEAT LANDS IN THE CANADIAN WEST

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

5,000 additional miles of railway this year have opened up a largely increased territory to the progressive farmers of Western Canada and the Government of the Dominion continues to give ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY ACRES FREE to every settler.

THE COUNTRY HAS NO SUPERIOR

Coal, wood and water in abundance; churches and schools convenient; markets easy of access; taxes low; climate the best in the northern temperate zone. Law and order prevails everywhere.

For advice and information address the SUPERINTENDENT OF IMMIGRATION, Ottawa, Canada, or any authorized Canadian Government Agent.

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. Machlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

That Cough

makes your life a burden.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment

dropped on sugar will cure it, and cure as well colds, cramps and all throat troubles. For Internal as much as for External use. 25c., three times as much 50c. All dealers.
I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?

Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postcard to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. 6, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the

SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free

and it will be sent you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

OLD VIRGINIA LANDS We have bargains in lands from $5.00 an Acre up. For further information address the SOUTHSIDE REALTY CO., Inc., Petersburg, Va.

NO COAL FAMINE IN VIRGINIA. Good market. Splendid climate. Land $10 per acre. Catalog free. Good farms to exchange. J. S. YOUNG & CO., Box 753, Richmond, Va.

A. N. K.—G (1907—3) 2161.

THE DISCOVERER

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine for Woman's ills in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female illnesses or such hosts of grateful friends as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing all forms of Female Complaints, Inflammation and Ulceration, and consequent Spinal Weakness.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Local Weaknesses than any other one remedy. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregularities and periodical pains, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it; also deranged organs, causing pain, dragging sensations and backache. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system.

It removes that wearing feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues". These are indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the organs, which this medicine cures as well as Chronic Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

Masury's House Paints

ARE THE PAINTS THAT NEVER FAIL

INSIST upon having these superior liquid colors. There are shades to suit the most exacting taste. You can not only satisfy your own artistic conceptions, but in selecting Masury's House Paints you are choosing those which time and experience have proved to be the best. When properly applied on the proper surface they will outlast all other paints. Their durability has caused them to be known as

THE PAINTS THAT LIVE THE LONGEST

They are Pure Linseed Oil Paints, guaranteed to be such in the fullest sense. The pigments used have withstood the crucial test of exposure to the inclemencies of weather in every climate, and during a period of sixty-five years they have never failed to give complete satisfaction. The appearance of thousands of American homes is enhanced by these standard paints. It costs just as much to paint with one or the other of the many uncertain mixtures now on the market as it does to paint with Masury's House Paints which are indisputably the best in the world. These superlative mixed house paints are manufactured by

John W. Masury & Son, New York and Chicago.

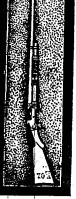
WINCHESTER

REPEATING SHOTGUNS

are strong shooters, strongly made and so inexpensive that you won't be afraid to use one in any kind of weather. They are made 10, 12 and 16 gauge.

A FAVORITE OF AMERICAN SPORTSMEN

Sold Everywhere.



160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

FREE Homesteads

IN

WESTERN CANADA.

Special Trains Leave Chicago, March 19th,

FOR

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Homesteads.

Canadian Government representatives will accompany this train through to destination.

For certificate entitling cheap rates, literature and all particulars, apply to

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak., J. M. MAC LACHLAN, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. HOLMES, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

CALIFORNIA Irrigated Farms. Big new Gov't aided canal. Only $250 [illegible] Wooster, 1365 O'Farrell St., San Francisco.

DEFIANCE STARCH easiest to work with and starches clothes nicest.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Unionville, Missouri.

DR. N. M. WATSON

Physician and Surgeon

Graduate of McGill University, Montreal.
Office over First State Bank.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ALGUE, D. M. D.

DENTIST

Offices in LaBlssoniere Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.

At St. Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys at-Law

Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 47 Collections attended to.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Harry Mitchell's Editorial

I do a bigger tailoring business than all the rest of the Minneapolis tailors combined, and about half of it comes through the mails from people who live out of town. Do you know what this means to you? It means that for $15, $20, and $25 I'll make you a suit or overcoat that you'd have to pay any other tailor $30, $35, and $40 for. Further, I'll guarantee perfect fit and satisfaction or cheerfully refund your money, and so that your clothes won't cost you any more than the city man pays, I'll pay all Express charges. Write me today for samples and self-measurement blank, and let me make you the swellest and most satisfactory garment you ever wore.

HARRY MITCHELL, 310 Nicollet Ave. MINNEAPOLIS.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure.

Mr. Murray's family, the widow, two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1319 Nicollet Ave. Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

New Creamery Officers.

Plummer Pioneer: The annual meeting of stockholders of the Emardville Creamery association was held in this village on Monday last, and while it was hardly what could be called a love feast, it was quite harmonious and a new set of officers was elected that will spare no effort to push the creamery to the front. The new officers elected were:

President—P. S. Medchill.
Secretary—Olaf Tande.
Treasurer—A. J. Hemstad.
Directors—D. D. Haugan, Anton Lee, A. J. Hemstad, John Froiland and Andrew Johnson.

D. D. Haugan was selected for vice president. In vote for president Messrs. Medchill and Haugan tied, Medchill winning out when lots were drawn.

Secretary Olaf Tande, who was re-elected, refused to accept the office for the reason that he is living too far away from the creamery and that his time is too much taken up with the management of his farm and his county agency for the Gold Coin Stock Food and Remedies which business is growing rapidly. Mr. Tande made an exemplary secretary and his refusal to re-accept the office is genuinely regretted by all. It is probable that the new Directors, who meet today will select A. M. Hass to fill the office.

Important to Teachers.

Superintendent McAnulty desires the Gazette to call the attention of the teachers of Red Lake county to the following notes regarding the teachers examinations to be held at Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire on Jaauary 31, February 1 and 2:

It will be remembered that Civics is required for a second grade or a limited certificate. The rule observed at the last August examination with reference to civics will be observed at this examination as well; i. e., "All second grade certificates will remain force until the date of expiration, but for their renewal, and for the exchange of a limited for a complete, civics will be required. To give applicants additional time for preparation, however, a conditional second grade, allowing two conditions, one in civics and one in any other second grade subject, will be issued on this February examination. Also a limited second grade will be issued, in like manner, allowing the condition in civics alone." Beginning with the examination next summer, only one condition will be allowed on a second grade, and no condition on a limited.

Persons who will have taught the five months required for a second grade, or the eight months required for a first grade, by March 1, of this year, may be reported as having taught that length of time, as that is the date from which certificates based on this examination will be dated.

On recommendation of county superintendent the department will extend a conditional first or second grade certificates expiring March 1, 1907, and make it valid, without further examination, until September 1, 1907, thus allowing its holder to remove condition at the next summer examination. This may serve to accommodate many teachers whose schools are now in session, or who, by reason of bad roads, and inclement weather, may find it difficult to attend the examination. It is understood that all such certificates for extension are to be sent in with the other examination returns.

Settlers Granted Leave.

The following telegram to the Crookston Land office will explain itself:

Washington, D. C.
Jan. 19 20, 1907.

Register and Receiver,
Crookston, Minn.

Homestead settlers in your district are granted leave of absence from their land for a period of three months from January 18th provided that the period of actual absence shall not be deducted from the full time of residence required by law. Application for leave not necessary.

—G. F. Pollock,
Acting Commr.

PRISON MACHINERY.

It is reported that the farm machinery combinations have refused to sell extras to persons using goods furnished by the state prison twine plant. An investigation has been set a-foot and if the report be found true the legislature will be asked for an appropriation with which the prison authorities may begin manufacturing farm implements as well as twine. In view of the fact that the state realized $409,452.87 net the past year from its prison twine plant in addition to saving the farmers $734,973 making a net profit of over a million, it would seem a wise thing for the legislature to do. The prison warden also recommends that the prohibiting of the sale of twine to dealers until after July 1st each year be modified, as it gives the trusts an undue advantage in its present form. "If we are to have war with the trusts," says the warden, "give us the open field."

Teachers' Examinations.

The semi-annual teachers' examinations will be held at Red Lake Falls, St, Hilaire and Thief River Falls, Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and 2, 1907. in accordance with the following program:

Note—Civics is now required for second grade and limited certificates.

THURSDAY. JANUARY 31st.
(First Grade Studies)
A. M.— 8:00 Enrollment.
8:15 Geometry.
10:00 Physics.
P. M.— 1:30 Algebra.
3:15 Physical Geography or General History.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1st.
(Second Grade Studies)
A. M.— 8:00 Enrollment.
8:30 Professional Test.
9:30 Spelling.
10:00 Arithmetic.
P. M.— 1:15 Geography.
2:15 Composition and Penmanship.
3:20 Reading.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2nd
(Second Grade Studies Continued)
A. M.— 8:00 U. S. History.
9:15 English Grammar.
11:30 Music.
P. M.— 1:15 Physiology-Hygiene.
3:45 Civics.
4:00 Drawing.

—H. T. McANULTY,
Co. Supt.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL.

ESTATE OF MARGARETTA WALTER

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Margaretta Walter, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Andrew Walter, Phillip Walter, John Walter, Maggie Adler (nee Walter), Anna Skala (nee Walter), Mary Kaus (nee Walter) and all persons interested in the allowance and probate of the will of said decedent: The petition of Phillip Walter being duly filed in this court, representing that Margaretta Walter, then a resident of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, died on the 31st day of December, 1906, leaving a last will and testament which is presented to this court with said petition, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to Phillip Walter. Now therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Honorable N. W. Tarrant, Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 24th day of January, 1907.

[Seal] N. W. TARRANT, Judge.
F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Petitioner. j24f7

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR LIQUOR LICENSE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, City of Red Lake Falls. } ss.

Notice is hereby given, That application has been made in writing to the City Council of said City of Red Lake Falls and filed in my office, praying for License to Sell Intoxicating Liquors for the term commencing on February 3rd, 1907, and terminating on February 2nd, 1908, by the following persons and at the following place, as stated in said application, respectively, to-wit:

J. KERSTING & CO.

In that certain frame building situate on lot 21 of block 7 in Champagne & Dow's addition to Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Red Lake Falls at the City Hall in the City of Red Lake Falls in Red Lake County, and State of Minnesota, on Thursday, the 7th day of February A. D., 1907, at 8 o'clock P. M. of that date.

Witness my hand and seal of the City of Red Lake Falls, this 24th day of January, A. D., 1907.

(Seal) A. P. TOUPIN.
j24-31 City Clerk.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF PETER MARTEL.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Martel, Decedent:

The State of Minnesota to Joseph Martel and all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court his final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with his petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; Therefore, You, And Each of You, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the city Red Lake Falls, in the county of Red Lake. State of Minnesota, on the 1st day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the seal of said court, this 9th day of January, 1907.

—N. W. Tarrant,
(Court Seal) Probate Judge.
—Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Petitioner. j10-24

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred, Fifty-six and 4-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by C. A. Steen (a single man) Mortgagor, to Sadie O. Elwood, Mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of March, 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1903, at 2:10 o'clock P. M., in Book 21 of Mortgages on page 142.

That since the execution and delivery of said Mortgage the mortgagee, Sadie O. Elwood has married and that her name is now Sadie O. Grady, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given. That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The northeast quarter (NE¼) of section number twenty-eight (28), township number one hundred and fifty (150) north, range number forty-four 144) west of the 5th Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres of land, according to the U. S. Government survey thereof, be the same more or less, in Red Lake county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred, fifty-six and 4-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 18th, A. D., 1906.

Sadie O. Grady,
formerly Sadie O. Elwood,
Mortgagee.

Germo & Farley,
Attorneys for the Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minn. d20-j21

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF CHARLES W. CRESS.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } SS.

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the estate of Charles W. Cress Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Louisa E. Cress, Cora Ellen Cress, Emma May Cress and Floyd J. H. D. Cress, all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court her final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with her petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled;

Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House. In the City of Red Lake Falls in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 2 o'clock p. m., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the Seal of said Court, this 6th day of January, 1907.

N. W. Tarrant,
[Seal] j10-j24 Probate Judge.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

ORDER FOR CREDITORS TO PRESENT CLAIMS WITHIN THREE MONTHS.

ESTATE OF ANDREW R. PETERSON

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss.

In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew R. Peterson, deceased:

Letters of Administration with the will annexed on the estate of Andrew R. Petersen deceased, late of the Village of St. Hilaire, in the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to Claus Petersen:

It appearing on proper proof by affidavit of the administrator with the will annexed made and filed herein, as provided by law, that there are no debts against the estate of said Andrew R. Peterson deceased.

It Is Ordered, That three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date on this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased, if any there be, are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said county, for examination and allowance or be forever barred.

It is further ordered that Tuesday, the 16th day of April, 1907, at ten o'clock A. M., at a Special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, be and the same is hereby appointed as the time and place when and where the the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And it is further ordered, that notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate, by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 14th day of January A. D. 1907.

(Probate) By the Court,
(Seal) N. W. Tarrant,
Judge of Probate.

J. K. Hannay,
Attorney for Petitioner,
St. Hilaire, Minn. j17-j31

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventy and 99-100 ($70.99) Dollars, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Joseph Brushea, administrator of the estate of John Roushea, deceased, mortgagor, to M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of March, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 21 of Mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, to John Jaenike by written assignment dated the 9th day of April, 1904, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 14th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages on page 119.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said John Jaenike the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., by written assignment dated the 14th day of December, 1906, and recorded on the 19th day of December, 1906, at 6 o'clock p. m., in book 15 of mortgages page 345, and by reason of the default herein before mentioned the said Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, the assignee of said mortgage, chooses to declare and hereby does declare the whole debt secured by the aforesaid mortgage due and payable making in all four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the south-west quarter of section fourteen (14), Township numbered one hundred fifty (150), North of Range forty-two (42), west of the 5th P. M. in the state of Minnesota, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the second day of March, 1907, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 15th, A. D., 1907.

Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee,

F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. j17-f28

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION.

Estate of AMELIA KORTKE, Deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss

In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Amelia Kortke Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Eric Kortke, Henry Kortke, Emil Kortke and Annie Kortke, and Daniel Gerlach, their Guardian, and all persons interested in the granting of administration of the estate of said decedent:

The petition of Chas. E. Boughton, having been filed in this court, representing that Amelia Kortke, then a resident of the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, died intestate on or about the 15th day of September 1906; and praying that letters of administration of her estate be granted to Theo Garceau; and the court, having fixed the time and place for hearing said petition;

Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court rooms in the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in the county of Red Lake state of Minnesota, on the 8th day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

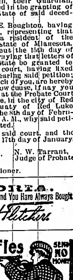
Witness, the Judge of said court, and the Seal of said Court, this 17th day of January, 1907.

N. W. Tarrant,
[SEAL] j17-j31 Judge of Probate
Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Petitioner.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
The Kind You Have Always Bought

5,000 Rifles FREE TO BOYS

SEND NO MONEY



Just send us your name and address so that we may tell you how to get this fine rifle Absolutely FREE.

YOU CAN HAVE ONE

As we are going to give away 5,000 of them. We mean it, every word, and this is an honest, straightforward offer, made by an upright business firm who always do exactly as they agree. All we ask is that you do a few minutes work for us. It is so very easy that you will be surprised. This Handsome Rifle is not a toy air rifle, but is a genuine [illegible]

BE SURE and WRITE AT ONCE before the 5,000 rifles are all gone, as the boys are taking them fast. Address

Peoples Popular Monthly,
567 Arcade Building,
DES MOINES, IOWA.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather. the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER

MAIN STREET, - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet Pure and Wholesome.

It's All The What

That's Fit To Eat..

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near our idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS MILLING CO.

The Falls Meat Market

BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats

Fish and Game in Season.

Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.

TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

TWO MONTHS' TUITION FREE and your car fare paid by the........

UNION

Commercial College

Complete Business, Shorthand, English and Banking Courses. Every graduate in position. Write for particulars and Free Catalogue.

UNION COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,

THACKER & HUGHES, Props. Grand Forks, North Dako

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains

Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY

Grand View Hotel

Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City

W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

HIDES

10 to 50% more Spot Cash for HIDES and RAW FURS by shipping to us than by selling at home. Fair dealings. Prompt cash returns. Best prices for HIDES, PELTS, RAW FURS, WOOL, ETC. Write for Price List, Market Report, shipping tags and how to obtain our Hunters' & Trappers' Guide. We are the most responsible Hide and Fur House in the N. W. Endorsed by 100 leading agricultural papers

ANDERSCH BROS., Department 66, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

ESTABLISHED 1867

SHIP YOUR HIDES, FURS, WOOL, ETC.
DIRECT TO US AND SAVE SMALL DEALERS' PROFITS.
D. BERGMAN & CO., ST. PAUL, MINN.
TOP MARKET PRICES, IMMEDIATE CASH RETURNS
WRITE FOR PRICE LIST AND SHIPPING TAGS.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 31, 1907 No 18

BOURDON IS PRESIDENT

First State Bank Choose New Officers at Meeting Last Saturday.

The annual election of officers of the First State Bank was held at the banking rooms last Saturday, and the officials for the ensuing year were chosen. This election was to have been held on January 8, at the time the new directors were chosen, but was postponed until last Saturday.

The new officers chosen to conduct the bank's affairs for the next year, are:

President—Chas. N. Bourdon.
Vice-President—Frank E. Hunt.
Cashier—Theo. Gareeau.
Asst. Cashier—Geo. F. Hennings.

The election makes a slight change in the officers, Mr. Gareeau having held the presidency during the past year and Geo. F. Hennings the cashiership. C. N. Bourdon, the new president, is a heavy shareholder in several Red Lake county banks, and is familiar with the banking business. He will not, however, be actively indentified with the working force at the First State.

Theo. Gareeau, who again takes the cashiership, has been identified with the First State Bank for a long number of years, and largely through his excellent management of its affairs has this institution gained their enviable place it now holds in the business circles of Red Lake county. Theo. is a capable banker and prince of good fellows, and will continue to oversee the work at the bank with the good judgment always exercised.

G. F. Hennings who takes the assistant cashiership, is a favorite with the bank patrons, and the public generally, and is a valuable assistant to Mr. Gareeau in the handling of the First State Bank affairs. Harry Gareeau and Noel Delorme will be retained on the clerical force.

The First State Bank is one of county's leading institutions, and the people are interested in its progress.

BIG MASK BALL.

St. Hilaire Firemen Will Give One February 8.

The St. Hilaire fire department has issued bills announcing a grand mask ball to be given at the Imperial hall in that village on the evening of Friday, February 8. The Red Lake Falls Concert Orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music for the occasion, which will insure the St. Hilaireites something good. Supper will be served at Hotel Markham.

The St. Hilaire fire laddies are royal entertainers, and a large number of Red Lake Falls people are planning on going up to enjoy their hospitality on that evening.

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Missing--One Court Commissioner

Of Medium Size, But Feeling Much Larger---Eyes, Wash-blue; Hair Cut Decollete; When Last Seen Was Standing on an Anti-Injunction Plank, Clad in a Stand-up Collar and an Air of Virtuous Indignation, and Wearing the Motto, "Lead Us Not Into Temptation."---It is Feared He Became Top-Heavy and the Plank Tipped Up.---No Reward Has Yet Been Offered, as Court Commissioners Are Not of Much Use Now.

Search at the courthouse Wednesday, developed the fact that the Court Commissioner elected last November, has not showed up at his office for a week. One of the local attorneys desired his services and signature to an attachment order, but he was not to be found, and even his seal had disappeared. The day before he had been required by other attorneys, with the same results, and the papers had to be sent to Crookston, instead.

On Wednesday, the attorney attempted to call him up at Thief River Falls by both the Tri-State and Northwestern telephones, but without result. Several messengers were sent out to look for him, who searched the town from end to end, but reported that they were unable to find him or any one who knew him. From all appearances he was an unknown quantity.

The messengers were told that he was Court Commissioner, an exjustice, and then some, and that he was probably holding his county office in the old barn which Thief River was going to give the county for a courthouse, but they insist that if such a man was ever there it was only on election day and the day the census was taken. Today, a telegram has been sent him from which nothing has yet been heard, and the worst is feared.

A county officer who by law is required to keep his office at the county seat, and to be there when the people want to use him, but who stays away thirty-two days in a month, and can't be found on the thirty third, is not of much use to the county.

In It's Infancy.

Prof. J. L. Haecker, of the Minnesota College of Agriculture and Experiment Station is quoted in an exchange as follows:

"The dairy industry in the northwest is still in it's infancy and we confidentially look for even more rapid growth in the future than it has made in the past. The time is not distant when Minnesota alone will derive an annual income from this one industry of $30,000,000. We will invade not only the eastern but the foreign markets. We can produce better and cheaper butter than can Denmark or any other country, for they all must look to America, and especially to the northwest, for their food stuffs, and whenever we can convince the western grain grower that it is to his advantage to convert his surplus feed into butter, ship the more concentrated product, realize a greater income and at the same time improve the fertility of his farm, the change will surely be made."

Rev. Fayolle Ill.

The Very Reverend Father E. Fayolle has been quite ill at his home here during the past few days and on account of his illness no services were held at St. Joseph's church last Sunday. The reverend father is suffering from an attack of a malady that has bothered him for a long time, which combined with a severe cold has made him a very sick man. He is, however, receiving the best care that medical skill can afford, and the people are hopeful of his recovery within a very short time.

Teachers' Exams.

The regular semi-annual teachers' examinations are being held in this city, at St. Hilaire and at Thief River Falls, today, and will continue until Saturday. Superintendent McAnulty is conducting the examination here, Prof. Hay has charge of the work at Thief River and Miss Knudson is conducting at St. Hilaire. A large number of teachers are taking the exams this year.

Issue One Cent Book.

Postmaster Marshall has received the following information from the postoffice department at Washington, D. C.:

"Postmasters are notified that preparations are being made to issue 1 cent postage stamps in book form beginning about March 1, 1907. There will be only one size containing twenty-four 1 cent stamps in four sheets of six stamps each, interleaved with parafine paper and bound like the books of 2-cent stamps. The selling price will be 25 cents per book. Until a supply of revised requisition Forms No. 3293 can be furnished. Postmasters desiring a supply of the books of 1 cent stamps will make requisition therefrom on form 3293 by interlining the number desired, and the value thereof, above the items of books of 2 cent stamps. The smallest number issued to postmasters will be ten.

Bank Shows Gain

The statement of the condition of the Merchants State Bank is published in today's Gazette. The business of the Merchants State shows a nice increase and is a standing testimonial of the ability of Cashier Duffy and his force of assistants. There are few, if any, towns in the Valley that can boast of two such banking institutions as Red Lake Falls has, and that their business is on the constant increase is a source of much satisfaction to the people of this end of the county.

A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Colonial Saxophone Quartette Is Pronounced Great Stuff By Critics.

The Colonial Saxophone Quartette which appears at the Metropolitan opera house on Monday, February 11, as the final number in the series of Lyceum course entertainments, comes recommended as the best of the many good numbers in this course, and also one of the finest entertainments ever given in the northwest.

This company presents a musical entertainment varied to suit the tastes of all, and it is a sure thing that the people here will not have an opportunity of hearing as good a company as this for some time to come.

The company is composed of four young men, who are saxophonists, vocalists, cornetists, violinists and all around musicians. The program proper embraces numbers of popular composition as well as the work of the old masters, and it is arranged to suit every musical taste.

The people of this part of the county should turn out in large numbers to this entertainment, in order that high-class companies may find inducement to visit Red Lake Falls occasionally.

The seat sale will open at Anderson's Jewelry Store one day in advance of the date of the entertainment.

Bray Mutual Prospering.

The annual report of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company as published in last week's St. Hilaire Spectator, shows this excellent society to be in tip-top condition, both financially and as to the new business secured. The company received from new policies and assessments levied during 1906, $1,293.58, and paid losses of $1,110.00 during the same period. The company had a cash balance on December 31, of $59.59, after paying all losses and expenses. The company had 308 policies in force December 31, 1906, in the total amount of $382,295.00, a gain of about $100,000 during 1906. The company does business in fourteen townships in Red Lake county, the town of River Falls having $56,195 insurance in force, the largest amount in any of the towns in which business is written. Nels K. Anderson, of Sanders was re-elected president, and C. P. Swanson, of Bray, was re-lected secretary. These men have been largely responsible for the great success of the company, and are held in high esteem as careful and competent officers.

Names Another Deputy.

Sheriff Lewis A. Nelson announces the appointment of Ben Isaacson as deputy sheriff. Mr. Isaacson will live here and will have charge of the office work, sales, etc., and look after the sheriff's business while L. A. is away. Mr. Nelson is called from here very often in his official capacity, and found it necessary to have a resident deputy. Mr. Isaacson is a brother-in-law of Sheriff Nelson, and is making his home with Mr. Nelson here.

New Pool Hall.

Teunis Lemieux has opened up a pool and billiard hall in the Lemieux building next door to the Merchants State Bank, and is doing a first-class business. Mr. Lemieux has some good tables, and will keep his place strictly up-to-date.

St. Hilaire Spectator: Buttermaker Geo. L. Austin informs us that there will be a farmers' meeting under the auspices of the State Farmer's Club in this village on Friday February 22nd. Preparations are now under way to make this the largest and most successful farmers' meeting ever held in Red Lake county. Three or four of the best speakers on farm topics in the state will be present and these addresses will all be of the practical kind, not theoretical, and by men who thoroughly know what they are talking about.

North Yakima, Washington, and surrounding country has had the coldest weather during the past few weeks that has ever been known there and reports from that place would indicate that a great amount of damage will result to the fruit trees. There are a large number of Red Lake county people located there, and it is probable that authentic information regarding the damage done will be received here shortly.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.---First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Will He Skidoo?

Saturday of this week, February 2, is Ground Hog day, and according to the handed down and worn-out tradition, his hogship will venture forth from his warm winter abode for a smell of the winter ozone and to take a peep at the snow drifts so promiscuously scattered about. And here's the rub! If by chance Mr. Hog shall then see his shadow he will immediately get the hunch that the Thief River county seat committee is after him and will at once "skidoo" back to his warm den, where for six weeks he will rest in contentment, pleased to let old Boreas vent his spite on us to the best of his ability. If, however, his shadow is not descernable when he comes out, tradition has it that he will shake off his winter garb, and then in kindness will the weather man let up on his ferocious attacks, and joyous spring with its singing birds, babbling brooks and budding flowers, will descend upon us with all its glories, surely to the gratification of the long-suffering, snow bound public. Of course, whether you are a believer in these old-time traditions or not, is supposed to cut no ice with our friend, the ground hog, as he will arrive on schedule time any way. Let us hope that the son-of-a-gun will be too thin to make a respectable shadow this year, and that failing to see any alarming signs he will stay with us and not "skidoo."

Honorably Discharged.

The following from the Presides of Monterey, California, News, pertains to a young man whose home is in this city, and who is well and favorably known here:

Corporal E. E. Paul, Co. D, was discharged on the 18th, and it is with sincrere regret that we learn he will not, at the present time, reenlist, having decided to try civil life for awhile. All his comrades in the regiment had hoped be would remain for it is such men as he that makes serving in the army enjoyable. Corporal Paul has not decided upon his future vocation, but it is certain that the firm employing him will find they have a man worthy of their confidence and trust.

TO SCORE THEIR BIRDS

D. E. Hale, Expert On Fancy Poultry, Will Be Here Latter Part of This Week.

D. E. Hale, of Minneapolis, one of the best poultry experts in the west, will visit Red Lake Falls the latter part of this week—probably arriving Saturday and remaining until Monday evening, when he will be a guest of the officers of the Northern Minnesota Poultry association. Mr. Hale was the judge at the recent poultry show at Minneapolis and is this week in Montana officiating in a like capacity.

The object of his visit here will be to score the fancy chickens owned by the members of the association, and meet with them to talk poultry raising from a scientific standpoint. While the association does not intend this as a poultry show, nevertheless they invite anyone who has fancy chickens to bring them in and have them scored while Mr. Hall is here.

When the association was organized something over a year ago, it was the intention at that time to hold a big show here in December last, but owing to the fact that the officers had so many other matters to look after, nothing could be done to that end. It was then thought that they could be able to hold a show in the present month, but at a recent meeting they decided to wait until next fall, when they can make early preparations for an excellent time.

They are getting Mr. Hale here now to get a line on what their birds really are, and also to get pointers on mating for the spring breeding, and hope to realize a great amount of benefit as a result of his visit.

Anyone interested in the poultry business is invited to meet this distinguished poultryman while he is here, and bring in for scoring purposes what fancy birds they may have.

Will Enter Judgment.

On February 5, judgment will be entered in the District Court for the costs in the recent county seat case in the Supreme Court. The costs amount to about $500, and unless the Thief River committee makes good their promise to pay the same, the taxpayers will again be called upon to dig up for Thief River's benefit.

The up-river city forced this fight upon the people of Red Lake county, and so far have made it cost each taxpayer a neat sum, and with the additional $500 the county will have to pay, the fellows who pay the tax will get an additional jolt. The Thief River Falls committee agreed, through their attorneys, to pay the costs in this action in case the decision was against them, and the public will anxiously await their action in the matter. It is a sure shot that they will not pay, though, as they have in many instances in the past proven that they have absolutely no regard for the feelings or pocketbooks of the people in general.

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to emply in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank
Red Lake Falls Minnesota

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED : LAKE : FALLS : MINNESOTA

OFFERS YOU

PROMPT SERVICE
LIBERAL TREATMENT
ABSOLUTE SAFETY

We Extend the Accommodations of a Strong and Well-Equipped Bank

OFFICERS
CHAS. N. BOURDON, President
FRANK E. HUNT, Vice-President
THEO. GARCEAU, Cashier
GEO. F. HENNINGS, Asst. Cash.

DIRECTORS
Theo. Garceau Frank E Hunt
Chas. N. Bourdon
W. A. Schreiter A. P. Toupin
N. M. Watson Geo. F. Hennings

DEFECTIVE PAGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS. - MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

The senate accepted the proposition of the house of representatives to increase the salaries of senators members and territorial delegates to $7,500 annually, and those of the vice president, the speaker of the house and members of the president's cabinet to $12,000.

The senate passed the compromise Foraker resolution authorizing the committee on military affairs to investigate the facts of the affray at Brownsville on the nights of August 13 and 14 last, "without questioning the legality or justice of any act of the president in relation to or connected with that affray."

Representative De Armond, of Missouri, introduced a bill in the house authorizing the president to retire any judge of the United States when he thinks the retirement of such a judge would promote the public welfare, and giving the president power, by and with the advice of the senate, to fill the vacancy thus created.

The house of representatives voted to raise the salaries of congressmen to $7,500 a year.

The house committee on agriculture decided to recommend the discontinuance of free seed distribution.

THE JAMAICA DISASTER.

Rear Admiral Davis' mission of mercy to stricken Kingston came to an abrupt and painful conclusion in consequence of Gov. Swettenham's objection to the presence of American sailors engaged in the work of clearing the streets, guarding property and succoring the wounded and sick, culminating in a sarcastic and insulting letter to the admiral peremptorily requesting him to reembark all parties which had been landed. Admiral Davis promptly sailed away with his three vessels.

American refugees from Kingston arrived in New York and issued a formal complaint against certain British officials in Jamaica and especially Capt. Parsons, of the steamer Port Kingston, which was chartered for Sir Alfred Jones and party. The captain is accused of driving refugees from his vessel, refusing them food, forcing them, including women and injured, to sleep on the docks and behaving generally in an inhuman and uncivil manner. Gen. Wint at Havana, on request of the British consul there, sent army tents to Kingston. Gov. Swettenham cabled his thanks to Washington, but did not explain his insults to Admiral Davis.

The president has assured Esme Howard, British charge, that the government has no intention of paying any attention to the Swettenham-Davis incident at Kingston. Two more very severe shocks terrified Jamaicans Tuesday. Food and other supplies were sent from Boston and Panama. Vice Consul Orrett says the dead probably will number over 2,000.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Judge Oscar Hallam at St. Paul signed an order enjoining James J. Hill and other officials of the Great Northern Railway company from making the proposed increase of $60,000,000 worth of additional stock of that company or issuing the same or a part thereof during the pending litigation without first making an application in writing therefor to the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission and securing its approval thereof.

Theodore P. Shonts has tendered his resignation as chairman of the Panama canal commission and has been elected president of the Interborough Metropolitan Traction company of New York.

Twenty miners lost their lives as a result of an explosion in the Colorado Fuel and Iron company's coal mine near Primero, Col.

Henry Ball, a negro, was lynched at Greenwood, Miss., the home of Gov. Vardaman, Tuesday night, by unknown parties.

Four men were killed and several injured in a freight wreck on the Ohio division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad near Letart, W. Va.

B. F. Scott, prominent lawyer of Ottawa, Ia., committed suicide by shooting himself in the head while brooding over his failure to be elected state representative last fall.

Franklin G. Churchill, a veteran newspaper editor, died at Lansing, Mich.

Former Gov. Higgins of New York is critically ill with heart disease at his home in Olean.

Knute Ole Knudson was found not guilty of his wife's death by poisoning and was given his liberty in Chicago after the jury had been out eight hours deliberating upon the verdict.

The Alabama house of representatives passed a resolution approving the action of President Roosevelt in discharging the negro soldiers implicated in the Brownsville, Texas, affair.

Fire in Viroqua, Wis., destroyed the Vernon county bank and the buildings occupied by the Bell and the La Crosse and Interurban Telephone companies.

The house of representatives of South Dakota passed an anti-lobbying bill, making it unlawful for persons interested in legislation to approach members except through the regularly organized committees.

The 200 Japanese immigrants who arrived at San Francisco on the steamer Alameda, and whose landing was not allowed by the immigration commissioner, were permitted to land later on instructions from Washington.

A maid in the service of Queen Olga of Greece has been arrested charged with the theft of diamonds valued at $2,000 from ornaments belonging to her majesty. The maid substituted paste imitations for the real stones.

The Red Cross sent by cable draft the sum of $5,000 to the American consul general, Rogers, at Shanghai for the relief of the Chinese famine sufferers.

Ferocious wolves are causing panic and havoc in the north provinces of Spain. The heavy fall of snow has driven the animals into the plains, where they have attacked flocks and devoured a man and a child.

The Kansas legislature in joint session ratified the election of Charles Curtis as United States senator for the long term, also for the unexpired term of ex-Senator Joseph R. Burton.

Porter county, Indiana, grand jury and the state railroad commission are probing the wrecks at Woodville, Fowler and Sandford, which cost in the aggregate nearly 100 lives.

Three serious fires in Richmond, Va., did damage aggregating $300,000. The armory of the Richmond Blues, the second oldest military company in the United States, was destroyed.

Mrs. Narcissa Nance Kendrick, aged 68 years, a niece of President James K. Polk, is dead at Uniontown, Pa.

The trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White began in New York Wednesday.

All grades of fine writing paper are to be increased ten per cent in price, according to advices from Holyoke, Mass.

Joseph W. Bailey was reelected United States senator from Texas by a vote, in both houses of the legislature, of 108 to 45; necessary to a choice, 83.

Senator Shelby M. Cullom was given the majority vote of both branches of the Illinois legislature.

Capt. Thomas Peabody, who commanded the transport Sheridan when it ran on a reef off Hawaii last summer, has been suspended for six months.

Senator Guiseppe Saracco, formerly premier of Italy and minister of the interior, is dead at Bistagne. He was 85 years old.

As a result of a revival the entire male population of Port Republic, N. J., has "sworn off" smoking.

The vault of a bank at Crittenden, Ky., was blown open, but the robbers took only $500, leaving $4,000.

The United Mine Workers of America reelected President Mitchell and all the other officers.

The main buildings of the department of communications, Tokyo, Japan, were burned down, involving a loss estimated at $500,000.

The volcano of Asama-Yama, in the island of Hondo, Japan, has been in active eruption since last Friday.

Jeffersonville, Ind., was thrown into mad panic by a false report that the waters of the Ohio river had broken through the Pennsylvania railway roadbed and were flooding the town.

Dr. H. W. Haslett, of Grand View, Ill., one of the injured in the Sandford, Ind., explosion, died at Terre Haute.

Fire in Richmond, starting in the building occupied by the Blues armory, threatened the chamber of commerce and other fine structures.

The steamer Alameda arrived at San Francisco from Honolulu with about 200 Japanese laborers aboard. They were refused landing by Immigration Commissioner North, under instructions from Washington.

The Cuban steamer Atlantico ran aground near Porto Padre and was a total wreck.

The tidal wave in the Dutch East Indies engulfed the island of Simalu, drowning 1,500 persons.

Gen. Luke E. Wright, American ambassador to Japan, has made known to his friends that he will retire from the diplomatic service next August and will return to his home in Memphis, Tenn., to resume the practice of law.

Gov. Deneen appointed B. A. Eckhart, of Chicago, and J. A. Willoughby, of Belleville, members of the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission.

The cold wave in Europe that caused intense suffering reached England.

The mutilated body of William Heston was found hanging in a cabin near South Bend, Ind.

Severe earthquake shocks were reported from Alexandrovsk, the port of Sakhalin and Elizabethpol.

An appropriation of $2,600,000 will be asked from the legislature by the University of Illinois. Of this sum, $1,600,000 is for running expenses and the remaining $1,000,000 for new buildings.

The dreaded nun butterfly is appearing everywhere in Bohemia, threatening the devastation of the forests. The woods of Saxony and Silicia are also threatened. The ministry of agriculture has appointed a commission of investigation.

The Colorado senate ordered an investigation of Senator Morgan's charge that he was bribed two years ago by a railway.

The Arkansas house of representatives refused to indorse President Roosevelt's action in the Brownsville affair.

H. M. Berger, a private banker of Viola, Wis., was admitted to bankruptcy.

W. M. Robertson, a well known Nebraska politician, died at Norfolk, Neb.

At least 23 persons were killed and 35 injured when a carload of powder exploded at Sandford, Ind., just as a Big Four passenger train was passing. The train was blown to pieces and the passengers shockingly mutilated.

Revised lists give the dead in the Big Four wreck at Sandford, Ind., as 28, and the injured as 32.

In a head-on collision at Fowler, Ind., on the Big Four, 13 persons were killed and many injured.

Deep snow covered North Dakota and most of the northwest and put a complete stop to railway traffic.

Senator Tillman made fun of the senate, was sharply rebuked by Senators Spooner and Carmack, and apologized.

Gov. John S. Little of Arkansas suffered a physical collapse and will be confined to his home for several weeks.

The Wabash river levee at Terre Haute broke and the suburb of Taylorville was flooded, hundreds of people being driven from their homes.

Indianapolis was selected as the next meeting place of the convention of the United Mine Workers in January, 1908. Thomas Burke, of Illinois, and Patrick Gilday, of Pennsylvania, were elected delegates to the international congress, which will be held next summer in Salzburg, Austria.

The long and costly Shea labor conspiracy trial in Chicago came to an unsatisfactory end with the $30,000 jury unable to agree on a verdict.

Josiah Flynt Willard, whose experiences as tramp, author, vagabond and sociologist under the name of "Josiah Flynt," gave him a world-wide reputation, died in Chicago.

The Merchants and Farmers' bank of Fairmont, Minn., suspended.

The report of the legislative committee, finding nothing in the charges against Senator Gamble which reflects upon his personal or official integrity, was adopted by large majorities in both houses of the South Dakota legislature.

Republican legislators of New Jersey renominated Senator Dryden, and in Iowa Senator Dolliver was renominated.

A large steamer, believed to be the English steamer Arcola, 3,500 tons, grounded on the rocks close to Morro castle, while trying to enter Havana harbor.

Paul Fournier and George Cyr, of Quiring, Minn., were arrested on charges of killing of N. O. Dahl and his daughter, Aagot, near Quiring in April, 1904.

Fire of unknown origin at Utica, Licking county, Ohio, destroyed the McKittrick business block and the C. W. Jewel hardware store, entailing a loss of $10,000.

A midwinter tornado visited Blackwell, Okla., totally demolishing a number of buildings and injuring several people.

John Leheman and his wife were found dead near Appleton, Wis., presumably having been chloroformed by burglars.

Dr. Thomas F. Mayham, aged 77 years, one of the best known pioneers of Wisconsin and ex-mayor of Fond du Lac, died in his office.

Charges of graft by D. E. Potter, former sheriff, and members of the board of supervisors, which, it is predicted, will rival the Dougherty expose 18 months ago, are being investigated by a grand jury at Peoria, Ill. It is declared that revelations will be made of dishonesty and theft that will involve many county officials.

Rev. W. P. McGlaufin of Minneapolis, was elected general superintendent of the Universalist church, the highest position in the denomination.

Robert Hell, the young farmer who was charged with having murdered Miss Mary Glass, a school teacher, at Whitewater, Ken., died without making a confession.

Colder weather and a gale of wind increased the suffering of those thousands who had been made homeless by the flood in Ohio, and a number of buildings that had been weakened by the water went down before the wind.

Nicholes Sendstone, 27 years old, a tanner of North Woburn, Mass., was burned to death, and Otto Mietzner was probably fatally burned in a fire that destroyed the boathouse of the Medford Boat club.

Joseph N. Good, motorman, was killed and Willerd Bradhurst, conductor, was severely injured at Bryan, O., when a passenger car on the Toledo and Indiana Traction line ran into a box car.

By the explosion of the boiler of a Reading engine attached to one of the Atlantic City flyers at Blue Anchor, N. J., the engineer, Edward McConaghy, the fireman, Frederick Arthur, and an extra fireman named Clark were instantly killed.

Senor Coronado and members of his staff in Havana were challenged to fight duels because of the publication by Senor Coronado's paper, Discusion, of a police raid on a cock fight at Marianao, Cuba, Sunday.

Santa Fe passenger train No. 4, east-bound, the Chicago Limited, was wrecked at Hutchinson, Kan., the engineer killed and a number of passengers injured.

Abe Attell knocked out Harry Baker, of San Francisco, in the eighth round before the Pacific Athletic club at Los Angeles, retaining the featherweight championship.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

St. Paul, Jan. 17—An important bill put in an appearance in the legislature today when Senator P. Fitzpatrick, democrat, of Winona, introduced Senate File 78. The bill establishes the initiative and referendum relative to legislation. A petition of five per cent of the voters may propose any new law or constitutional amendment desired, to be accepted or rejected at the polls the ensuing general election. Or, on a petition of a like number of voters, any legislation enacted by the legislature will have to be submitted to a vote by the people. The bill was referred to the judiciary committee. Senators Elwell and Swanson both today introduced bills to authorize the state board of control to establish stone crushers to be operated by convict labor, the crushed stone to be given to counties applying through their county commissioners, for the improvement of county roads. Senator F. L. Clague, speaker of the house two years ago, presented a measure to create a new judicial district, the Nineteenth, composed of Lincoln, Lyon, Murray and Pipestone counties. Senator Thorpe introduced a measure to abolish private banks in state, a duplicate of a bill he fathered two years ago but which went down in a strenuous battle in the senate.

In the house today, Walter W. Case of Cloquet, introduced a bill, prompted by the increasing number of railroad accidents, to compel the installation of safety devices on railroads wherever the state railroad commission may think such devices needed. Fred V. Burdorf entered a bill importance to Northern Minnesota, to permit town supervisors to construct and maintain drainage ditches. The ditches are to be constructed on petition of property owners of property to be benefited. J. D. Mapleton of Wahpeton with a view to aiding voters to retain their health, has introduced a bill to prohibit political candidates from distributing cigars or intoxicating liquors.

Up to today, there have been introduced 118 bills in the legislature 74 in the senate, 44 in the house. Two years ago on the same legislature day, the 6th, there were but 36 bills presented. At the last session the total number of bills was 1,410. If the increased ratio of the present session compared with the last, continues, the number of bills this session will reach 1,410.

Wm. H. Williams, state labor commissioner, has been investigating the employment of pages in the senate. He has found three boys under 16 years of age employed, which is in violation of the child labor law. The senate is going to patch the matter up by getting special excuse permits for the three boys in question during the three months of the session.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22—Both senate and house voted for United States senator today, and by a party vote chose Hon. Knute Nelson of Alexandria to succeed himself. Albert Schaller was the canidate for the democrats. When it came to calling upon the senator from Hastings, however, for his vote, after a witty speech he cast it for Frank A. Day, the governor's secretary. Ole E. Sageng of Dalton, the lone populist voted for Gov. J. A. Johnson as the choice of his party for United States senator. The prohibitions in the house cast their ballots for W. J. Dean of Minneapolis. So it was, that in the senate the vote stood, Nelson, 440; Schaller, 141; J. A. Johnson. 10; Frank A. Day, 1. In the house, Nelson, 98; Schaller, 13; Dean, 3. C. J. Gunderson of Alexandria nominated Knute Nelson for the republicans of the senate, and in the house, Judge H. G. Hicks of Minneapolis made the nominating speech. Tomorrow the two houses will meet in joint session and in formal action as one body complete the final step of the re-election of Minnesota's senior United States senator to succeed himself.

In the senate today Senator George P. Wilson of Minneapolis introduced a bill to establish an industrial training school for girls to be located under the state board of control in some county not already containing a state institution. The bill carries an appropriation of $100,000 and provides for an advisory board of five women to be appointed by the governor. Senator Canestorp introduced a measure permitting county boards to purchase ditching machines for uses on highways. Senator Putnam entered another reform insurance bill, aiming to compel insurance companies to make annual apportionment and a counting of their surplus.

In the house Representative Thundale fathered a bill to bring telephone and telegraph companies under jurisdiction of the railroad and warehouse commission. F. E. Nimocks introduced a bill to compel railroads to pay essessments for local improvements. A capitol commission bill appeared, by J. W. Stokes, placing management of the old and new capitols under a board composed of the governor, secretary of state, and treasurer.

Farmers having claims against the state for condemned livestock, will have a special interest in a bill by H. C. Hanson, appropriating $60,000 for the sanitary livestock board to use in wiping out its existing indebtedness.

F. B. Wright of Minneapolis is author of a bill to establish a graded system of taxation on iron ores, according to quality, the royalty running from 25 cents to $1.45 a ton. The provisions of the bill are patterned after the prices paid by the Steel trust in its purchase of the famous J. J. Hill ore lands in northern Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23—Hon. Knute Nelson, the "little giant" of Alexandria was today formally named United States Senator for a six year term to succeed himself, by the Minnesota legislature. The house and senate met promptly at noon in the house chamber and was called to order by Speaker Johnson. The minutes of yesterday's sessions of both houses telling of the vote in each whereby Senator Nelson was elected were read and formally approved. Speaker Johnson then announced that Senator Nelson was re-elected and adjournment was at once taken until eleven a. m. the following day. The house at its separate session today broke all records so far made as to the number of bills introduced in one day. Thirty-three were today presented. The Anti-cigarette bill made its biennial appearance fathered by S. O. Morse. Walter L. Case of Carlton representing the Head of the Lake delegation introduced a bill for a recount of the vote on the Constitutional amendments, each county to pay its proportionate part of the expense. L. C. Spooner introduced a bill to authorize the board of control to sell binding twine outside the state. The measure follows the recommendations of both the board and the governor and is aimed to give the state more freedom in competing with twine sold by the trust. W. C. Bicknell introduced the Stephens Senate bill for establishing of nine agricultural high schools in different geographical districts of the state. Elias Rachie introduced in the house and Senator Withersteine in the senate a bill calling for the establishment of a state board of immigration consisting of the governor, auditor and secretary of state, these to select two other members and the entire board to elect an executive agent who will be the only salaried member of the immigration bureau. The bill carries an appropriation of $50,000.00.

S. A. Nelson in the senate and J. A. Gates in the house presented a memorial to congress asking for abolishment of the tarriff on lumber with a view to knocking out the alleged lumber trust. The resolution was adopted by the senate without a dissenting vote, but laid over for the day in the house on notice of debate. Senator Putnam introduced a bill in the senate claiming to decrease accidents suffered by railway employes. The measure demands that automatic brakes be placed on all freight cars operated in the state of Minnesota by Jan. 1, 1908. Senator Fosseen is the author of another of the insurance reform bills which put in an appearance today. It forbids insurance companies under heavy penalty from making political contributions in any way whatsoever.

The election committees of both house and senate are now very busy with two contested election cases. In the house Jas. D. Denege, republican, is claiming the seat of J. D. O'Brien, democrat, elected from the 4th ward, St. Paul. O'Brien was given a certificate of election on the strength of but one vote the better of Denege, and that vote is contested by Denege on the ground that the mark on the ballot is on the blank line just below O'Brien's name. The committee has about all the evidence in hand, and it is understood will make a ruling in favor of O'Brien. The senate election committee is taking evidence in the contest inaugurated by Pierce Butler, democrat, against J. M. Hackney, republican, who holds a certificate of election from the suburban and rural district of Ramsey county. There is every indication that the committee will recommend to the senate that the votes of students in college of the district be declared legal which will mean the winning of the contest by Mr. Hackney.

New York Thieves.

There are between 10,000 and 11,000 professional thieves in New York city, and several hundred thousand amateurs who only steal when oportunities are offered.

Spoiled.

"Are you making anything of a hit with Miss Prettygirl?"

"I fear not. Can't seem to interest her. I have lauded her beauty, but my strongest superlative make absolutely no impression."

"Hold on! I forgot to tell you, old man. She was formerly engaged to the press agent of a circus."

Filings at Winona

Winona Minn.—Filings for nominations for the primary election to be held next month prior to the city election on April 1 closed at midnight. Mayor Latsch, who has given the city one of the cleanest administrations it has had in many years, and who on his own initiative is securing the building of public baths that will cost over $10,000, refused to be a candidate for mayor again. Dr. E. S. Muir, popular physician, has filed for the democratic nomination for mayor.

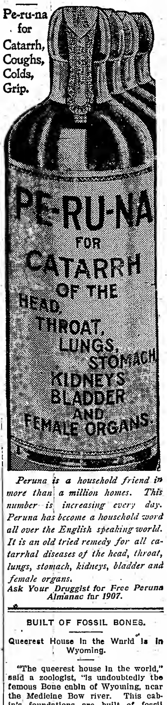
Fruit Growers Meet

Austin, Minn.—The fourteenth annual meeting of the Southern Minnesota Horticultural society opened, with a good attendance. The program was of unusual merit, more papers than usual being presented.

The present officers of the society are: President, A. W. Massee, Albert Lea; vice president, J. C. Hawkins, Austin; vice president, L. P. H. Higby, Albert Lea; secretary, O. M. Peterson, Albert Lea; treasurer, Jens A. Jensen, Rose Creek. Direct all correspondence to O. M. Peterson, sec., Albert Lea.

HOUSEHOLD FRIEND.

Pe-ru-na for Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Grip.



Peruna is a household friend in more than a million homes. This number is increasing every day. Peruna has become a household word all over the English speaking world. It is an old tried remedy for all catarrhal diseases of the head, throat, lungs, stomach, kidneys, bladder and female organs.

Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Almanac for 1907.

BUILT OF FOSSIL BONES.

Queerest House in the World is in Wyoming.

"The queerest house in the world," said a zoologist, "is undoubtedly the famous Bone cabin of Wyoming, near the Medicine Bow river. This cabin's foundations are built of fossil bones.

"Bones of dinosaurs jaws of the diplodocus, teeth of the brontosaurus, knuckles of the ichthyosaurus, vertebrae of the camarasaurus, chunks of the barosaurus, the cetiosaurus, the brachiosaurus, the stegioseurus, the the ornitholestes or bird-catching dinoseur—all entered into this wonderful cabin's foundations, making it the most curious and the most costly edifice, not excepting the Pennsylvania capitol, in America.

"This hut was built by a Mexican sheep-herder, who had happened by chance on the grandest extinct animal bed in the world. This was a plot of about 50 yards square wherein lay in rich profusion the bones of all the animals of the reptilian age. The heaviest and the lightest, the largest and the smallest, the most tranquil and the most ferocious lay side by side.

"The place was evidently once a river her, and the dead bodies that floated down the stream were here arrested, to lie for hundreds of thousands of years till a sheep-herder came along, and, rooting among the bones as big as bowlders, set about the building of the world's queerest cabin."

Slightly Mixed.

A travelling salesman died suddenly in Pittsburg, Pa., and some of his friends telegraphed the undertaker an order to make a large wreath. Investigation showed that the telegram ordering the wreath read as follows:

"'Rest in peace,' on both sides of the ribbon; if there should be room: 'We shall meet in heaven.'"

The underteker was out of town, and the new assistant handled the job. It was a startling floral piece which turned up at the funeral. The ribbon was extra wide, and it bore the inscription:

"Rest in peace on both sides, and if there is room we shall meet in heaven."

Judges on Their Dignity.

The ceremony of the United States supreme court judges marching from their robing room across the corridor to take their seats on the bench, which occurs at high noon every week day while the court is holding session, is always a matter of interest to the average visitor at the capitol. Every day there is a small crowd waiting to see the stately procession. The other day Justice Moody, as the youngest member of the august body, brought up the rear. A flicker of a smile appeared on his face as he noted the black-robed figures ahead of him, but it passed away instantly and he became as solemn and grave as the others.

Youthful Astronomer.

Robert H. Baker, formerly of the Amherst faculty is assistant astronomer of the Allegheny observatory at the age of 23.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER VII.—Continued.

The one who had not laughed was Brigham himself. For to this great man had been given the gift to look upon men and to know in one slow sweep of his wonderful eyes all their strength and all their weakness. He had listened with close attention to the remarkable plan suggested by this fiery young zealot, and he studied him now with a gaze that was kind. A noticeable result of this attitude of Brigham's was that those who had laughed became more or less awkwardly silent, while the Entablature of Truth, in the midst of his pantomime, froze into amazement.

"We'll better consider that a little," said Brigham, finally. "You can talk it over with me to-night. But first you go get your stuff unloaded and get kind of settled. There's a cabin just beyond but two up the street here that you can move into." He put his large hand kindly on the other's shoulder. "Now, go and get fixed and come to my house for supper along about dark."

Somewhat cooled by the laughter of the others, but flattered by this consideration from the Prophet, the young man had gone thoughtfully out to his wagons and driven on to the cabin indicated.

Brigham talked to him late that night, advancing many cogent reasons why it would be unwise to make war at once upon the nation of Gentiles to the east. Of these reasons the one that had greatest weight with his hearer was the assurance that such a war would not at present be pleasing in the sight of God. To others, touching upon the matter of superior force they might have to contend with, he was loftily inattentive.

From matters of civil government they turned to affairs domestic.

"[illegible]," said the young man, "the [illegible] this new order of celestial [illegible]." And Brigham had become [illegible] at once.

"Yes," he said, "when the family [illegible] was revealed from Heaven, and Joseph began on the right and the left to add to his family, oh, dear, what a quaking there was in Israel! But there it was, plain enough. When you have received your endowments, [illegible], all the tokens, signs, and every preparatory ordinance that can be given to a man for his entrance through the celestial gate, then you can [illegible]."

He gazed a moment into the fire of hickory logs before which they sat, and then went on, more confidentially:

"Now you take that promise to Abraham—'Lift up your eyes and behold the stars. So shall thy seed be as numberless as the stars. Go to the sea-shore and look at the sand, and behold the smallness of the particles thereof—I am giving you the gist of the Lord's words, you understand—'and then realize that your seed shall be as numberless as those sands.' Now think for a minute how many particles there are, say in a cubit foot of sand—about one thousand million particles. Think of that! In eight thousand years, if the inhabitants of earth increased one trillion a century, three cubic yards of sand would still contain more particles than there would be people on the whole globe. Yet there you got the promise of the Lord in black and white. Now how was Abraham to manage to get a foundation laid for this mighty kingdom? Was he to get it through one wife? Don't you see how ridiculous that is? Sarah saw it, and Sarah knew that unless seed was raised to Abraham he would come short of his glory. So what did Sarah do? She gave Abraham a certain woman whose name was Hagar, and by her a seed was to be raised up unto him. And was that all? No. We read of his wife Keturah, and also of a plurality of wives which he had in the sight and favor of God, and from whom he raised up many sons. There, then, was a foundation laid for the fulfilment of that grand promise concerning his seed."

He peered again into the fire, and added, by way of clenching his argument: "I guess it would have been rather slow going, if the Lord had confined Abraham to one wife, like some of these narrow, contracted nations of modern Christianity. You see, they don't know that a man's posterity in this world is to constitute his glory and kingdom and dominion in the world to come, and they don't know, either, that there are thousands of choice spirits in the spirit world waiting to tabernacle in the flesh. Of course, there are lots of these things that you ain't ready to hear yet, but now you know that polygamy is necessary for our exaltation to the fulness of the Lord's glory in the eternal world, and after you study it you'll like the doctrine. I do; I can swallow it without greasing my mouth!"

He prayed that night to be made 'holy as Thy servant Brigham is holy, to hear Thy voice as he hears it; to be made as wise as he, as true as he, even as another Lion of the Lord, so that I may be a rod and staff and comforter to these buffeted children of Thine."

His prayer also touched on one of the matters of their talk. "But, O Lord, teach me to be content without thrones and dominion in Thy Kingdom if to gain these I must have many wives. Teach me to abase myself, to be a servant, a lowly sweeper in the temple of the Most High, for I would rather be lowly with her I love than exalted to any place whatsoever with many. Keep in my sinful heart the face of her who has left me to dwell among the Gentiles, whose hair is melted gold, whose eyes are azure deep as the sky, and whose arms once opened warm for me. Guard her especially, O Lord, while she must company with Gentiles, for she is not wonted to their wiles; and in Thine own good time bring her head unharmed to its home on Thy servant's breast."

"You have built me up," he confided to Brigham, one day. "I feel to rejoice in my strength." And Brigham was highly pleased.

"That's good, Brother Joel. The host of Israel will soon be on the move, and I shouldn't wonder if the Lord had a great work for you. I can see places where you'll be just the tool he needs. I mistrust we sha'n't have everything peaceful even now. The priest in the pulpit is thorning the politician against us, gouging him from underneath—he'd never dare do it openly, for our Elders could crimson his face with shame—and the minions of the mob may be after us again. If they do, I can see where you will be a tower of strength in your own way."

"Keep in My Sinful Heart the Face of Her Who Has Left to Dwell Among the Gentiles."

"It's all of my life, Brother Brigham."

"I believe it. I guess the time has come to make you an Elder."

And so on a late winter afternoon in the quiet of the Council-House, Joel Rae was ordained an Elder after the order of Melchisedek; with power to preach and administer in all the ordinances of the church, to lay on hands, to confirm all baptized persons, to anoint the afflicted with oil, and to seal upon them the blessings of health.

In his hard, narrow bed that night, where the cold came through the unchinked logs and the wind brought him the wailing of the wolves, he prayed that he might not be too much elated by this extraordinary distinction.

CHAPTER VIII.

A Revelation from the Lord.

From his little one-roomed cabin, dark, smoky, littered with hay, old blankets, and skins, he heard excited voices outside, one early morning in January. He opened the door and found a group of men discussing a miracle that had been wrought overnight. The Lord had spoken to Brigham and word had come to Zion to move toward the west.

He hurried over to Brigham's house and by that good man was shown the word of the Lord as it had been written down from his lips. With emotions of reverential awe he read the inspired document.

"The Word and Will of the Lord Concerning the Camp of Israel in its Journeyings to the West." Such was its title.

"Let all the people," it began, "of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, be organized into companies with a covenant and a promise to keep all the statutes of the Lord our God.

"Let the companies be organized with captains of hundreds and captains of fifties and captains of tens, with a President and Counsellor at their head under the direction of the Twelve Apostles.

"Let each company provide itself with all the teams, wagons, provisions, and all other necessaries for the journey.

"Let every man use all his influence and property to remove this people to the place where the Lord shall locate a stake of Zion, and let them share equally in taking the poor, the widows, and the fatherless, so that their cries come not up into the ears of the Lord against His people.

"And if ye do this with a pure heart, with all faithfulness, ye shall be blessed in your flocks and in your herds and in your fields and in your families. For I am the Lord your God, even the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Jacob. I am He who led the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, and my arm is stretched out in these last days to save my people of Israel.

"Fear not thine enemies, for they are in my hands, and I will do my pleasure with them.

"My people must be tried in all things, that they may be worthy to receive the glory that I have in store for them, even the glory of Zion; and he that will not receive chastisement is not worthy of my Kingdom. So no more at present. Amen and Amen!"

This was what he had longed for each winter night when he had seen the sun go down,—the word of the Lord to follow that sun on over the rim into the pathless wilderness, infested by savage tribes and ravenous beasts, abounding in terrors unknown.

Early in April the life began to stir more briskly in the great camp that sprawled along either side of the swollen, muddy river. From dawn to dark each day the hills echoed with the noise of many works, the streets were alive with men and women going and coming on endless errands, and with excited children playing at games inspired by the occasion. Wagons were mended and loaded with provisions and tools, oxen shod, ox bows renewed, guns put in order, bullets moulded, and the thousand details perfected of a migration so hazardous. They were busy, noisy, excited, happy days.

At last, in the middle of April, the signs were seen to be right. Grass grew and water ran, and their part, allotted by the Lord, was to brave the dangers of that forbidding land that lay under the western sun. Then came a day of farewells and merrymaking. In the afternoon, the day being mild and sunny, there was a dance in the bowery,—a great arbor made of poles and brush and wattling. Here, where the ground had been trodden firm, the age and maturity as well as the youth and beauty of Israel gathered in such poor festal array as they had been able to save from their ravaged stores.

The Twelve Apostles led off in a double cotillion, to the moving strains of a violin and horn, the lively jingle of a string of sleigh-bells, and the genial snoring of a tambourine. Then came dextrous displays in the dances of our forbears, who followed the fiddle to the Fox-chase Inn or Garden of Gray's Ferry. There were French Fours, Copenhagen jigs, Virginia reels,—spirited figures blithely stepped. And the grave-faced, square-jawed Elders seemed as eager as the unthinking youths and maidens to throw off for the moment the burden of their cares.

From midday until the April sun dipped below the sharp skyline of the Omaha hills, the modest revel endured.

CHAPTER IX.

Into the Wilderness.

On to the West at last to build the house of God in the mountains. On to what Daniel Webster had lately styled "A region of savages and wild beasts, of deserts, of shifting sands and whirlwinds of dust, of cactus and prairie dogs."

The little band of pioneers chosen to break a way for the main body of the Saints consisted of 143 men, three women, and two children. They were to travel in 73 wagons, drawn by horses and oxen. They knew not where they were to stop, but they were men of eager initiative, fearless and determined; and their consolation was that, while their exodus into the desert meant hardship and grievous suffering, it also promised them freedom from Gentile interference. It was not a fat land into which they were venturing; but at least it was a land without a past, lying clean as it came from the hand of its maker, where they could be free to worship God without fearing the narrow judgment of the frivolous. Instructed in the sacred mysteries revealed to Joseph Smith through the magic light of the Urim and Thummim, and sustained by the divine message engraved on the golden plates he had dug up from the hill of Cumorah, they were now ready to feel their way across the continent and blaze a trail to the new Jerusalem.

They went in military style with due precautions against surprise by the Lamanites—the wretched red remnant of Abraham's seed—that swarmed on every side.

Brigham Young was lieutenant general; Stephen Markham was colonel; the redoubtable John Pack was first major, and Shadrach Roundy, second. There were two captains of hundreds and fourteen captains of tens. The orders of the lieutenant general required each man to walk constantly beside his wagon, leaving it only by his officer's commands. To make the force compact, the wagons were to move two abreast where they could. Every man was to keep his weapons loaded. If the gun was a caplock, the cap was to be taken off and a piece of leather put on to exclude moisture and dirt; if a flintlock, the filling was to be taken out and the pan filled with tow or cotton.

Their march was not only cautious but orderly. At five a. m. the bugle sounded for rising, two hours being allowed for prayers and breakfast. At night each man had to retire to his wagon for prayer at eight-thirty, and to rest at nine. If they camped by a river they drew the wagons into a semicircle with the river at its base. Other times the wagons made a circle, a fore-wheel of one touching a rear wheel of the next, thus providing a corral for the stock. In such manner was the wisdom of the Lord concerning this hegira supplemented in detail by the worldly forethought of his servant Brigham.

They started along the north bank of the Platte river under the auspicious shine of an April sun. A better route was along the south bank where grass was more plentiful and the Indians less troublesome. But along the south bank parties of migrating Gentiles might also be met, and these sons of perdition were to be avoided at any cost—"at least for the present," said Brigham, in tones of sage significance.

And so for 200 miles they broke a new way over the plains, to be known years after as "the old Mormon trail," to be broadened later by the gold-seekers of forty-nine, and still later to be shod with steel, when the miracle of a railway was worked in the desert.

Joel Rae, walking beside his wagon, meditated chiefly upon the manner in which his Witness would first manifest itself. The wonder came, in a way, while he thus meditated. Late one afternoon the scouts thrown in advance came hurrying back to report a large band of Indians strung out in battle array a few miles ahead. The wagons were at once formed five abreast, their one cannon was wheeled to the front, and the company advanced in close formation. Perceiving these aggressive maneuvers, the Indians seemed to change their plan and, instead of coming on to attack, were seen to be setting fire to the prairie.

The result might well have been disastrous, as the wind was blowing toward the train. Joel Rae saw it; saw that the time had come for a miracle if the little company of Saints was to be saved a serious rebuff. He quickly entered his wagon and began to pray. He prayed that the Lord might avert this calamity and permit the handful of faithful ones to proceed in peace to fashion His temple on earth.

When he began to pray there had been outside a woeful confusion of sounds,—scared and plunging horses, bellowing oxen, excited men shouting to the stock and to one another, the barking of dogs and the rattling of the wagons. Through this din he prayed, scarcely hearing his own voice, yet feeling within himself the faith that he knew must prevail. And then as he prayed be became conscious that these noises had subsided to a wonderful silence. A moment this lasted, and then he heard it broken by a mighty shout of gladness followed by excited calls from one man to another.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

LARGE LAND BUSINESS.

St. Paul.—During the last ten years the land business of the state of Minnesota has more than trebled, and the total volume of the financial transactions of the state have nearly doubled.

This is demonstrated by surprising statistics prepared by Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor, relative to the business of his office. For the two years ending July 31, 1896, the end of the fiscal year, the total accumulation from state lands and credited to the different trust funds, was $737,894.65; for the two years ending July 31, 1906, it was $2,239,305.82.

For the two years ending July 31, 1896, the total cash received was $10,909,812.23 and the total amount disbursed during the period was $10,539,751. For the two years ending July 31, 1906, the total amount received was $19,651,114.07, the total amount disbursed, was $19,507,532.62.

Since the formation of its state government, Minnesota has never gone through a year without having a balance to the state's credit at the end of the year. In 1860 this record came near being broken, as the balance at the end of the year was only $675.78. The year 1899 was the one when the state came out with the largest balance ever shown by the auditor's ledger. Exclusive of money carried over from the previous year, it then totaled $2,607,115.97.

ATTEMPTED HOLDUP.

St. Paul.—A daring attempt to hold up a street car at Fillmore avenue and South Robert street was made by a lone highwayman.

The car had stopped to let off some passengers. Just as the conductor rang the "go ahead" bell a man stepped in front of the motorman's window and attracted his attention. Motorman Bernard S. Arndt, thinking that some trouble had happened, opened the door of his car to make inquiries. As he did so the man pointed a revolver at his head.

Mr. Arndt quickly closed the door of the vestibule and scrambled back into the car through the window. When the passengers, the motorman and conductor got outside the car the man was gone. Three men, it is said, were running west on Fillmore avenue.

The police were notified and Sergeant Dennis McCarthy of the Ducas street police station sent out several officers A man giving the name of William Whipple, twenty-eight years old and a stranger in the city, was arrested in a saloon near the Robert street bridge.

EXPERT BEEF CUTTING.

Hamline.—John Gosling is from Missouri, and if there is any one of the component parts of a beef's carcass that he has not discovered, you will have "to show" him. He gave what he calls a "beef demonstration" at the agricultural experiment station of the university, before about 200 of the short course students and a bunch of cattle buyers from South St. Paul.

There is no man in the United States who is better posted on the subject of beefsteak than Mr. Gosling. He was the buyer of export cattle for some of the biggest packing houses in the country for several years; at present he is engaged in the demonstration business, giving his expert opinion on the choice cuts of beef.

There were three beef "critters" used in the classroom—one of the five steers that the school showed at the recent fat stock show in Chicago; a "fair to good" steer from the farm, and a poor skinny cow-creature whose carcass was carved before the farmer-students as a specific warning against killing the wrong sort of "critter" to make beef.

THE STATE WINS.

St. Paul.—Judge Oscar Hallam of the Ramsey district court has granted the request of the state of Minnesota for a temporary injunction against the Great Northern railway's proposed $60,000,000 increase of capital stock. The document was filed with the clerk of court at 8:30 a. m.

Judge Hallam's decision is a complete victory for the state in the action brought last month by Attorney General E. T. Young and his assistant, R. A. Stone, to compel the railroad to recognize the state railroad and warehouse as provided in the laws of the state commission before issuing the stock, requiring railroads first to make application to the commission and to secure its approval of the issue.

All points made by the state were sustained, while the contentions of the railroad company's attorneys, W. R. Begg, F. B. Kellogg, C. A. Severance and R. E. Olds, were contravened.

MINNESOTA LONG JUMP.

Duluth.—More than five thousand people, one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a ski jumping contest in this country, saw the American record of the long distance jump broken by six feet on the hill of the Duluth Ski club. Ole Feiring of Duluth was the successful contestant. His longest jump was 112 feet, but on each of his trials he broke the former world's record of 106 feet, making 108 on his preliminary attempt, 112 feet on his first regular jump and 110 feet on his second regular jump.

NEWS NOTES.

Northfield.—Carleton's orators chosen by competition to take part in the Ware oratorical contest on Feb. 12 are Edward W. Cross of St. Louis Park, and John Munroe of Dell Rapids, S. D.

Mankato.—District Judge Cray has filed a decision in which he upholds the legality of the re-assessment of the cost of paving Broad street upon the property owners. All but two of the owners have paid. The paving litigation has been in the courts for several years both in the state and federal courts.

Winona.—Wah-a-hauga, the Winnebago chief who was killed on the St. Paul road in the city limits, was buried in Woodlawn cemetery at the expense of the county.

St. Paul.—The Commercial club directors indorse $500,000 bond issue for district high schools.

Ft. Snelling.—Two soldiers were sent to Pasteur Institute.

Minneapolis.—Thomas Hughes, a foreman in the Milwaukee yards, fell down an elevator shaft in the company's storehouse in South Minneapolis and died at St. Barnabas hospital as a result of his injuries.

Minneapolis.—Joseph Habel, who lives at the North Side hotel, was overcome with gas at his room but was rescued by the police who went to the hotel to serve a warrant on him charging him with drunkenness.

Rochester—Rochester's foremost firm of mechanics, Ellis & Edwards, has applied for a patent on an engine which is declared by a patent attorney, W. S. Powers of Minneapolis, to be the most powerful engine yet invented.

Rochester.—At the annual meeting of the Oldsted County Medical association the following officers were elected: President, Dr. J. E. Crewe; vice president, Dr. P. R. Mosse; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Justus Matthews.

Mankato.—Rev. William A. Sunday has replied to the joint committee of local Protestant churches that extended an invitation to him to come to Mankato, saying that he cannot accept the invitation to hold revivals here.

Inver Grove—E. O. Hand, night yardmaster for the Rock Island was severely injured in an accident in the yards. Hand was standing beside a stove in the caboose warming himself when a car struck it, throwing him against the stove.

St. Paul.—The governor also has appointed Dr. Frank D. Parker, a member of the state board of osteopathic examiners and registration, and Dr. C. A. Mack of Stillwater as a member of the state board of veterinary medical examiners.

Mankato.—The annual poultry show of the Central Minnesota Poultry association opened in this city with nearly one thousand entries. The show is the largest and finest yet held by the association, hundreds of entries being made from other towns.

Hitterdal.—Sakri Sandberg, eighty years old and helpless, was burned to death at his home near here. During the absence of his aged wife, Sandberg, who was bedridden, attempted to light his pipe and in doing so set fire to his beard and the bed clothing.

Brainerd.—Attorney General Young has refused to institute proceedings in the name of the state to prevent the division of Itasca county as a contest is already in progress in the courts against the creation of the new county of Koochiching, to comprise the northern half of Itasca county.

Owatonna.—Plans were received in this city for the erection of one of the finest business blocks in this part of Minnesota. The new building is to be erected by the National Farmers' bank. It will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000 or more and will be on one of the most prominent corners of the city.

Hamline.—The proposed legislation before the present session of the legislature requiring graduates of the University of Minnesota law college to take the state bar examination before being admitted to practice, is considered by the faculty members of the law college as a direct slap at their efficiency.

St. Paul.—Governor Johnson announced the appointment of members of the state forestry board for a four-year term as follows: S. M. Owen and John Lind of Minneapolis; F. Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul; W. H. Tomlinson of Le Sueur; N. M. Williams of Little Falls; A. C. Wedge of Albert Lea; S. T. Davis of Duluth.

St. Paul.—Katrina Tschida, 18 years old, and Annie Tschida, 15 years old, daughters of M. A. Tschida, 436 Lafond street, were seriously injured by the closing of a folding bed. Miss Annie has a compound fracture of the right arm below the elbow. Miss Katrina received internal injuries and her recovery is doubtful.

Moorhead.—Gov. Johnson announced the appointment of C. A. Nye as member of the state normal school board, succeeding S. C. Comstock, also of this place. The latter is also a member of the board of regents of the state university, and the governor deemed it advisable to give some other man the position on the normal school board.

Minneapolis.—A clerk employed by the Lund Land company stepped too close to some one while on the way to the bank and the company is out just $400 in cash. The clerk placed the money and started to deposit it, but on reaching the bank found that it was gone. The matter was reported to the police and detectives are investigating.

Mankato.—From $3,000 to $4,000 worth of pearls were taken from the Cedar river by local pearl hunters during the year 1906. Some beautiful pearls were found, one selling for $100 and another for $86. Others ranged in price up to $50 each. The pearls were bought by local dealers and sent to the Eastern market, where the dealers often more than doubled their money.

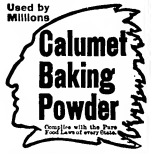
Brainerd.—Fire, which broke out shortly after 6 o'clock in the Reilly block, totally destroyed three store buildings and their contents, entailing a loss in the neighborhood of $75,000, partially covered by insurance. Mrs. Elizabeth Cossins, aged ninety-two, a mother-in-law of two of the men who were burned out, died instantly of the shock when informed that the stores and stock were a total loss.

Duluth.—Minnesota railroads will use every legal effort to prevent the reduction ordered for Jan. 25 in coal, grain and live stock rates by the railroad and warehouse commission.

Wells.—The first meeting of the school boards of Faribault county under the new law was held at Blue Earth on call of County Superintendent Gillman.

St. Paul.—The club women of the state begin an active campaign to secure a separate training school for girls.

Minneapolis.—Two boys from the parental school got away from a deputy sheriff while on the way to the jail.



Used by Millions
Calumet Baking Powder
Complies with the Pure Food Laws of every State.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

NO RELIEF HERE.

The lower house of representatives of North Dakota passed a two cent rate bill Monday, and by a vote of [illegible] to 13, which makes the maximum rate to be charged by railroads for carrying passengers, and also prohibits the giving of passes.

The North Dakota legislature appears to be doing something in the way of good for the people this year, and several much desired reform measures have been enacted.

Their work is indeed a contrast to that of the Minnesota legislature now in session at St. Paul. About all the wise solons of our state have done so far is to draw their $5 per and discuss at length a bill to increase their salaries. Bills by the wagon load have been introduced, from prohibiting the use of white elephants as pets down to licensing the stinger on a bee, but the exact worth of the whole bunch of measures isn't but very little.

True, there have been a number of excellent reform measures presented, but they have been so hopelessly covered up by a conglomeration of measures affecting everybody and everything, that they are completely lost in the shuffle, and "the interests" will see to it that they are kept smothered until it is too late to do any good.

The Minnesota legislature is fast earning a reputation as one of the weakest bodies of lawmakers in the west, and the common people may just as well at once abandon all hope of getting any relief at the hands of this august body.

The same people, however, are the ones at fault, and as long as they continue to take no more interest in seeing competent men sent to the legislature than they have done in the past, they can expect to feel the iron grip of the trust or one of its tenacles whenever they attempt to turn around.

Thief River Falls wants the new normal school. Sure Mike! Thief River has always wanted the earth with a few planets thrown in—and it would not be at all surprising to see them attempt to have the capitol at Washington removed to the much inflated burg on the Marshall county line.

The fame of Thief River Falls is widespread. In a mass meeting at Bemidji the other evening, when the normal school proposition was being discussed, a prominent attorney there stated in his speech that Thief River was after the school and had a prominent lobbyist at work at St. Paul in their interests. In contrasting that place with Bemidji as a location for the new school this attorney said: "Thief River Falls was a small burg located at the stub-end of a branch line of the G. N. railway, running from Crookston. True, they had the Soo road, but the trains did not run six months in the year, and were of little value. so far, to that place"

The Northern Pacific railroad company is sending out marked copies of the Minneapolis Tribune containing a series of articles written by Howard Elliot, president of the road, and the newspapers especially are being favored by these marked papers. It is easy to see wherein the railroads will not suffer in articles written by one of the keenest railroad men in the business, and the only purpose the N. P. can have is to lend the impression that the railroads are the benefactors and are hampered by public sentiment being against them. "The People and the Railroads" is a subject that offers food for thought far greater than can be given it off-hand, but when the time comes that the railroads are operated for the benefit of the people instead of the chosen few there will not be any great demand for articles along the lines of the one being written by Mr. Elliot.

MINNESOTA'S FARM LANDS.

Acre for acre, the farm lands of Minnesota are far better than even the best of the lands of either Kansas or Nebraska west of a line drawn through the center of those two states and are as productive as the choicest farming sections east of that line. And this is as true of the lands of Northern Minnesota as of those of the beautifully cultivated and finely productive southern part of the state.

Further, experience has shown in every place where it has been tested, notably in the once great Kankakee marshes of Illinois and Indiana, that lands from which it has been necessary to drain off water are far more fertile than even the choicest bits of the surrounding territory and consequently, command premium prices in the market.

Minnesota has not heretofore attracted its full, fair share of farming immigrants, but it has not taken the same steps to advertise its advantages as its really less favored sister states have done nor has it had the assistance such as the railroads, seeking passenger business, have given to the others for a long term of years in the form of colonist or homeseeker excursions.

In this respect, Minnesota is very like Missouri—another queenly state of immense resources. But Minnesota and Missouri will soon come into their own rightful places in the very forefront of great agricultural states. If the legislature shall enact a good strong drainage law, this advance will be greatly accelerated, especially as regards Northern Minnesota. But it is certain to come nevertheless and that before very many years.—Duluth Herald.

Statement of the Condition of the Merchants State Bank at Red Lake Falls, Minn.

STATEMENT of the condition of Merchants State Bank at Red Lake Falls, Minn., at close of business on Jan. 26, 1007. Date of Call by Supt., Jan. 26, 1907. Date of Report by bank, Jan. 30, 1907.

RESOURCES

Loans and Discounts			$102,167 57
Overdrafts			735 31
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures			5,649 74
Other Real Estate			1,994 25
Due from Banks		$19,440 58
Checks and Cash Items		3,271 03
Cash on Hand, items below		6,107 88
Currency	$3,146 00
Gold	1,060 00
Silver	1,900 00
Other	1 88
Total Cash Assets		28,810 49	28,819 49
Other Resources			7,616 65
Total			$146,983 04

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock		$ 15,000 00
Surplus Fund		3,000 00
Undivided Profits, Net		5,768 64
Deposits Subject to Check	$ 43,778 63
Demand Certificates	1,138 47
Cashier's Checks	80 48
Total Immediate Liabilities	44,997 58
Time Certificates	78,216 82
Total Deposits	123,214 40	123,214 40
Total		$146,983 04

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
County of Red Lake, }

I, J. A. Duffy, Cashier of the above named Bank do solemnly swear that the above Statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. A. DUFFY, Cashier.

Attest:
A. P. TOUPIN, } Directors
L. A. KAUFER, }

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 30th day of January. 1907.

P. F. POOLIOT,
Notary Public, Red Lake County, Minn.

My Commission expires March 13, 1908.

WILL NEVER CHANGE.

Fertile Journal: The supreme court last week handed down a decision in the Red Lake county seat fight in which Red Lake Falls gets the best of its rival, Thief River Falls. It seems the fight for county seat honors in that county has only begun and it will be years, if ever, before it will be changed.

In discussing the present as a period of "law enforcement" the Review of Reviews takes a very hopeful view. In part it says: "With the Interstate Commerce Commission showing a new spirit of energy, the Interior Department relentless against evil-doers, the new Department of Commerce able and willing to make use of its powerful weapon of publicity, and the Department of Justice aroused to fresh efforts by the prestige of its recent successes, we are quite sure to see within the coming two years an activity in the enforcement of federal laws such as we have hardly ever witnessed before. In former periods of immense business prosperity and tendency to seculation it has been difficult to keep the Government departments free from corrupt relationship with private enterprise. But we have come into a period of honest as well as efficient administration."

Bray.

Chas. Lindquist transacted business at Red Lake Falls Wednesday.

M. J. Akerlund has arrived home from his work on the G. N. railway to spend a week with brothers and sister.

Alfred Olson and Halvor Hanson drove to St. Hilaire last Tuesday.

A debate was held in the school house Friday evening as usual. The subject for debate was, "Resolved. That it is better to farm a 160 acre farm than a larger one." The verdict of the judges was in favor of the negative side.

C. P. Swanson and E. J. Akerlund transacted business at St. Hilaire Friday.

Carl Person of Thief River Falls has been here during the last week looking over friends and relatives.

Chas. Lindquist drove to St. Hilaire last Friday.

Mike Ault made a trip to Thief River Falls the first of the week.

Badger

Welter Columbus and sister. Miss Florence, crossed the Badger limit Sunday afternoon and were travelling east.

A party of Ed. St. Yves' young friends gathered at the latter's home Sunday and spent the evening most pleasantly. Those present were Messrs. Homer and Horece Laurent, Louis Qnesnell and Edmond Cadieux and the Misses Anne Quesnell and Dore Cedieux.

Demasse LeChance and Adelard Leurent were business callers at M. Quesnell's Monday morning.

Dolphis Champeeu and lady of this place, were visitors at the home of their son, Dan, at Red Lake Falls over Saturday and Sunday.

Pete LaChence and sister, Rose, entertained a number of Terrebonne and Bedger friends at their home Sunday evening.

Messrs. Ovile Robillard and Adelard Laurent and wives were guests at Michel Quesnell's last Sunday.

Miss Annie Ducharme is expected home these days from Lambert where she has been visiting for the past week.

A new milking machine has just been invented and is in successful operation at Dayton, Ohio. It is an electric motor which fastens to the rump of the cow, the electricity being generated by a small dynamo to her tail. She switches her tail, the dynomo starts and by means of a bevel gear and block and tackle the milk is extracted, strained and the pail and strainer hung up to dry. A small phonograph accompanies the outfit and yells "so" every time the cow moves. If she lifts her foot to kick, a little dingus slides over a whatnot and the phonograph says "damn it." If she continues to kick a hinged arm grabs up the milk stool and "lams" her on the back until it loosens a patch of skin the size of a dust pan.—Ex.

IF YOU TOUCH your tongue to ALUM

and look in the glass—you will see the effect—You can't help puckering—it makes you pucker to think of tasting it.

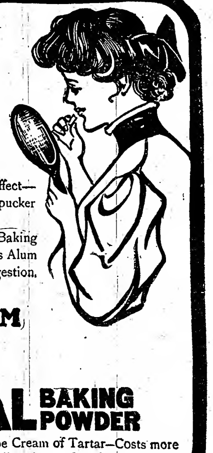
By the use of so called cheap Baking Powders you take this puckering, injurious Alum right into your system—you injure digestion and ruin your stomach.

AVOID ALUM

Say plainly—

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Royal is made from pure, refined Grape Cream of Tartar—Costs more than Alum but you have the profit of quality, the profit of good health.



COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the City Hall, Thursday, January, 24th, 1907.

Meeting called to order by president Borchers.

Roll called.

Aldermen all present.

Minutes of last regular meeting read and approved.

On motion unanimously carried the following bills were allowed:

John Deforge, for street work		$14 85
John Deforge,	do	9 90
Peter Fairo,	do	75
Julius Keuhl,	do	7 50
Joseph Payment,	do	75
Zelser Bros., livery		3 00
John Drier, salary as fire warden, 2 mo		12 00
James Brady, salary as alderman, etc		37 00
Joseph Sally, for coal		15 90
J. C. Wilkinson, for salary as health officer and city physician bill of $52.00 allowed at		27 00

The application for abatement of taxes of Joseph Lachance on lots 21 and 22 of block 2, in Rail Road addition, was, on motion, duly recommended.

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Hennemutb and seconded by Alderman Crompe:

Resolved, that the sum of $20.00 per month, beginning January 1st, 1907, and ending January 1st, 1908, be and the same is hereby appropriated toward the Red Lake Falls band, and that the mayor and city clerk are hereby authorized to issue its city warrant monthly on the general fund of said city in payment thereof.

Upon roll call the following aldermen voted aye: Hennemuth, Crompe, Bray, Paul and Borchers.

Nays: None.

Whereupon the president declared the motion adopted.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for city printing for the present year.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers, President.

Approved this 30th day of January A. D. 1907.

J. A. Duffy,
Mayor.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin,
City Clerk.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned until February 2nd, 1907, at 6 o'clock p. m., for 175 cords of green poplar and 25 cords of green oak to be delivered at the Washington and Lafayette schools in Red Lake Falls, on or before April 1st, 1907.

By order of the school board.

Dated January 23rd, 1907.

A. P. TOUPIN, Secy.

SHIP YOUR GRAIN. We are the only firm in this city dealing exclusively with the farmer. All Millers know that our cars are of one grade and not elevator mixed, which explains why our service is more satisfactory than any other concern. Submit us samples for grades, etc. COOPER COMMISSION CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

New Barber Shop

I have opened up for business the

Kaufer Barber Shop and Bath .. Parlors ..

and respectfully ask the public to give me a call. Will guarantee the best of work and courteous treatment. I will appreciate your trade

E. A. NELSON
THE NEW BARBER

Our Hardware Stock Is Now Complete .....

Keen Kutter Axes & Tools, Wilson Air-Tights, Syracuse Easy Washers. Standard Tinware and Enameledware, etc. etc.

We have been busy the past few days receiving new stock and getting it in shape for your inspection at any time. We have restocked our store with new goods of standard make and manufacture and offer them to you at prices that are consistent with first-class material and square dealing. We will be pleased to have all our old customers and many new ones call at our store, and you can rest assured that you will always find the prices right, the goods up to a high standard of quality, and that, as in the past, every courtesy possible will be extended to the trade.

Hunt Hardware Co.

HOLLISTER'S
Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggets
A Busy Medicine for Busy People.
Brings Golden Health and Renewed Vigor.

A specific for Constipation, Indigestion, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Pimples, Eczema, Impure Blood, Bad Breath, Sluggish Bowels, Headache and Backache. It's Rocky Mountain Tea in tablet form, 35 cents a box. Genuine made by HOLLISTER DRUG COMPANY, Madison, Wis.

GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter presses, filing devices, etc. It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than any other. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

Just received a car of Hocking Valley soft coal. See Salley for your supply.

Lewis Seiff visited at Plummer Saturday,

Frank Doyea visited at Thief River Falls Saturday.

Sheriff Nelson was a Thief River Falls visitor on professional business Monday.

Moses Allard arrived here from Bigfork Saturday for a week's sojourn with his relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moquin, living on the North Side, welcomed the arrival of a girl baby at their home Sunday.

MEN WANTED--To cut 500 cords of poplar wood, eight miles east of this city. Inquire of V. M. Higinbotham.

Conductor James Regan, of Crookston, is spending the week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Regan, in this city.

For Sale—A "Jewett" Typewriter, just as good as new, which we will sell at a bargain. First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Mrs. C. Baker left for her home at Itaces, this state, Saturday evening, after a visit of a month at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Cairns, in this city.

Services will be held at the Norwegian Lutheran church next Sunday at 10:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m., the Rev. I. T. Aastad of Thief River Falls officiating. All are invited.

FARM LOAN:—We have money of private parties to loan on improved farms at 7 per cent. Liberal terms of payment. No delays. Come and see us before placing a loan. Germo & Farley. d13-4w

Butcher James Blake was handing out the cigars Tuesday on the arrival of a fine new son of regulation weight at the Blake home that morning. The mother and child are doing nicely while Daddy Jim is bearing up well under his added responsibilities.

F. E. Sullivan, who is a heavy railroad contractor and who at the present time has large contracts near Great Falls, Montana, left last week after having spent a few days with relatives and friends in this city. Despite the heavy snow, work has been continued all winter out west.

Arthur Mercier, formerly of this city, but now of Calgary, N. W. T., and Miss Emma Lonson of Thief River Falls, were married at that place last Saturday afternoon at four o'clock. The newly wedded pair arrived here Monday evening to spend a week with Mr. Mercier's mother and other relatives and friends, after which they will remain a week at Thief River and then depart for Calgary, to make their future home. Mr. Mercier has a fine situation at Calgary and is greatly pleased with that country as a place of abode. He reports that the present winter has been most severe that country has ever known, and that much suffering has been occasioned as a result of the cold weather. However, this winter was an exception, and the general opinion is that it will not occur again for another decade.

'Phone 7—Groceries—SPILLANES.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's

O. B. Cruzen was in from Wylie on business Monday.

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

Samuel Giheau went over to Grand Forks last evening to attend to some business matters for a day or two.

Arthur Zaiser arrived home yesterday from a business trip to the Big Fork country, where he has spent the past week.

County Surveyor Wood came down from Thief River last evening to look after some matters at the court house pertaining to his official capacity.

Mrs. E. F. Marshall departed Tuesday evening for the cities where she will visit her son, Drew, and Mrs. James Meehan for a week. She will also visit at Litchfield before returning.

The official proceedings of the recent meeting of the board of county commissioners appear in supplement form in today's Gazette, and the reader can read for himself what the board accomplished.

Sheriff Lewis A. Nelson arrived home from the cities Saturday morning after having spent several days there in attendance at the meeting of the Minnesota Sheriff's association. Mr. Nelson reports a profitable gathering and a first-class time.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Duffy rejoice in the arrival of a fine new son at their home, which arrived on Thursday afternoon last. The youngster is a healthy specimen of babyhood, and the Gazette trusts that he may live long as a joy and comfort to his parents.

Will Holberg is again able to be about town after a several month's lay-up with a very serious attack of inflamatory rheumatism. "The Pope" has certainly had his share of sickness during the past few years, and his many friends will hope that he may forever and on escape further attacks on his health.

St. Hilaire Spectator: The north bound freight while switching in the yard here last Thursday evening accidently ran into an open switch about seven o'clock and the engine, tender and the front end of a box car ran off the track. The south bound freight was at Red Lake Falls and was sent for and they succeeded in putting them back on the track again after several hours' hard work, and the freight left for Greenbush about 11 p. m.

The Plummer creamery has done a remarkably successful business during the year just past, and the statement published in last week's Pioneer makes a remarkably good showing. During the year 1906 the creamery received 211,070 pounds of cream, and received a totel of $13,561.59, paying the patrons $11,073.02 during the year. The average price paid to patrons for butter fat was 20.6 cents per pound. The farmers out east realize that the creamery and cheese factory help out wonderfully in the year's receipts, and rally to the support of these institutions in a commendable manner.

See Salley for your coal supply.

VALENTINES AND MASKS AT SPILLANE'S.

Editor Harry E. Ives and wife, were down from St. Hilaire over last night.

Linus Hoiberg and wife are now keeping house in the Rogge house on the North Side.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

Billy Lee came over from Kelliher Monday and is spending several days with his many friends here. Billy is now employed at Kelliher.

Dr. Spofford is at Grand View Hotel, Red Lake Falls, the 7th day of every month. Latest scientific methods in examining eyes and fitting glasses.

Miss Stella Hennemuth came in from Lambert yesterday to spend a few days at her home here and to take in the teachers' examinations being held at the high school building today.

Mrs. Chas. Cyr returned to her home here Sunday after spending a month at the home of her son, Henry Cyr, in Poplar River. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cyr on the 17th inst, and Grandma Cyr was out getting acquainted with the new arrival.

The Misses Hanson, Lamb, Trudo and Wilson will entertain at the K. P. hall Saturday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon from 3 to 5 the married ladies will be their guests, and cards will furnish the amusement. In the evening a dancing party will be given, from 9 to 12, when the young people will be their guests.

St. Hilaire Spectator: A couple of mallard ducks have been spending the winter in a little pool of water made by the artesian well on John Maakrud's farm just south of town. They located there early last fall and got quite tame and John took good care that they had plenty to eat. Someone shot one of them a couple of weeks ago and the other soon after left for a warmer climate.

The Foresters and their ladies tendered a reception at their hall last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Eusebe H. Normandeau and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Harlow, two of the Foresters who have recently joined the ranks of the Benedicts. Dancing and cards were the features, Freund's orchestra providing the music. Elaborate refreshments were served and a very enjoyable time resulted.

Justice Toupin rendered his decision Monday in the case of Brohman vs. Singer, which was tried before him last Thursday. The decision is in favor of Brohman, who is giving a judgment for $103. The case was over a dispute in regard to some money paid at the time Brohman held his auction sale, and was stubbornly fought on both sides. Attorney Boughton represented Mr. Brohman. It is thought that Singer will appeal to the district court.

People should beware the pneumonia microbe. This is the time of the year it travels about in large number seeking whom it may attack and lay flat on their backs. The grip and rheumatism microbes are also abroad in the land. Among others the bacilli mentioned flourish in cold weather—a forty below zero atmosphere only merely eases their activity and destructiveness. When you go forth into the frigid atmosphere wrap yourselves warmly, brethren, especially about the chest, and thus frustrate the designs of the ravenous winter microbes.

A case is on in Justice Toupin's court this afternoon entitled the State vs. P.K.Olson. Olson is charged with slander of females, and the action is brought at the instigation of Louis Seiff, the complaint setting forth that the defendant has slandered and vilified the wife of the complaintant. A jury is sitting on the case and it is thought that the entire afternoon will be occupied with the work of hearing evidence and reaching a verdict. County Attorney Germo is conducting the State's case, while Attorney Grady is attorney for Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whalen arrived here yesterday from LeSueur, and are at present staying with their son on their new farm property in Red Lake Falls township. Mrs. Whalen will remain here from now on with her son, who has charge of the farm, while her husband will return to LeSuer within a few days, where he has some business matters to arrange before moving here definately. Mr. Whalen is the gentleman who recently purchased the Gideon Porier farm in this township, and expects to have everything ready when spring arrives so that the place can be handled to the best advantage. He will bring a large amount of blooded stock here with him, and intends to make his place a model grain and stock farm. Mr. Whalen is worth a lot to any country, and the Gazette is pleased to welcome him as a resident of the best part of the best county in the best state in the union.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

Notice the new ad. of the First State Bank in today's Gazette.

Read the new advertisement of G. A. Kankel in today's Gazette. There is meat in it for the buyer.

M. and Mrs. Joseph Belair returned Thursday last from a several days visit with friends at Crookston.

Miss Rose Cyr arrived home Monday from Bigfork where she has spent the past few weeks with relatives and friends.

Frank St. Martin has been quite ill the past week with an attack of stomach trouble, but is reported as improving at present.

Sheriff Nelson drove out to Plummer yesterday to summon some witnesses in the case that is being tried before Justice Toupin here today.

The Royal Neighbors will give a children's party at the Woodmen hall on Friday evening, February 8. All Royal Neighbors and Woodmen and their families are cordially invited to attend.

Freund's orchestra drove out to Plummer Saturday afternoon and played for a big dance held there that evening. As is usual they gave excellent satisfaction. The dance was a very enjoyable one and was largely attended.

Miss Tillie Matthies is recovering from an attack of blood poisoning. A few weeks ago she scratched her hand with a pin and blood poisoning set in, causing her considerable inconvenience. Dr. Wilkinson attended to the injury and she is at present recovering nicely.

Leo Spillane arrived here Monday from Cloquet and will spend a month or so with his parents and many friends. Leo has been working at the printing business in various parts of the state for the past year, and during the past four months has held a good position on a Cloquet paper.

The thermometer got busy again Sunday and Monday and the mercury lingered persistently around the bottom of the tube continually. Sunday morning the reports varied, but it is safe to say that 35 below is a conservative estimate, while Monday wasn't much better. It is a sure thing that the present winter will long be remembered by the "oldest inhabitant."

Edward Paul who recently received his discharge from Uncle Sam's army at the Presido of Montrey, California, writes to his parents here that he will not be home before May or June. Ed has lived in the land of sunshine and flowers so long that he is a little skittish about coming back into the frigid zone, and there are a lot of us who will pronounce his decision at this time as a wise one.

The regular monthly concert by the Red Lake Falls band was given before a large and appreciative audience at the Metropolitan opera house last Friday evening. The program of band numbers was a well arranged one, and contained many difficult and beautiful selections. The Orpheus Quartette rendered a couple of delightful numbers and Paul Brunelle recited the "Black Horse and His Rider." Both efforts were liberally applauded. A social dance followed the concert, and all present enjoyed a delightful evening.

Martin Helgeson, a young man 22 years of age was crushed under a load of poplar wood last Tuesday and killed two miles southeast of Thief River Falls. He was engaged in hauling polls with his cousin, Henry Helgeson and was walking alongside the load when a bad piece of road caused the load to tip over and fall upon him. His lungs were crushed so badly that he died almost instantly.

County Attorney Germo was called to Thief River Falls yesterday, as he presumed on a criminal case, but when he got there he found there was nothing to it. It appears that a party at Thief River owed a liveryman some money for livery hire, and was unable to pay. The liveryman had him arrested and attempted to make the county attorney's office a collection agency—charging the debtor with fraud. The fellow expressed a willingness to pay, but couldn't do it just now, so there was no grounds for holding him in a criminal action and the case was dismissed.

The annual meeting of the Red Lake County Agricultural association was held at Thief River Falls last Monday evening and new officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, C. C. Jackson: 1st vice-president, John Morgan; 2nd vice-president, O. J. Shei; secretary, M. V. Evenson; asst. secretary, Melvin Evenson; treasurer, F. J. Stebbins. The lease for the fair grounds expires this year, and the owner C. J. Knox, will not rent them again. A committee was appointed to arrange for the purchase of new grounds.

The young folks had a very enjoyable party at the W. T. Spillane home last Saturday evening. Various games furnished the amusement and refreshments in abundance were provided. The following were present: The Misses Eda Lizee, Eva and Louise Paradis, Marie Cadieux, Kathleen Spillane, Cora Paul, Dora Toupin, Della Duhuc, Mona Zeh, Alma Guillmette, Leah Latendresse, Eva Beaudro and Erma Schreiter, Masters Carl Buse, Walter and Theo Gareeau, Alfred Floan, Robert Zaiser, Marcus Marshall, David Paradis and Ray Linnihan.

Muslin Underwear, Laces, Embroideries, Lingeries, are now the Talk of the Hour!

We never were better equipped in those kindred lines than we are now. We always were headquarters in that line and we intend to maintain the supremacy. Our laces and embroideries are put up in book form, so you don't have to spend half a day looking at a stock, you can see it all at a glance, so to speak......................................

Dress Goods

Our dress goods will be here next week. It will be a winner. Never have we spent so much time and exercised such care in selecting a line as we have this spring. Quality, and above all, style will be the strong feature of the line. You may depend on the goods to be the very latest. Wait till they get here before making any selections.

.. Shoes ..

Don't forget the St. Cecilia shoes when you need a pair of fine shoes. These shoes are gaining popularity every day. The price is $3.50 made in Welts or Turns, plain lace or blucher in B, C, D, E and EE. We have the stock, so you are sure of a fit. For a cheaper shoe try our Godman at 1.75-2.25 You will be surprised at the style and the wear they will do you. No better shoes made.

Specials in Groceries

9 bars Calumet Laundry Soap 25c, Fancy can Pears 15c-7 for $1, Corn 75c doz, maple syrup 1.35, clothes pins 4 doz for 5c, pop corn 8c box, 5 lb jar jelly 20c, bird seed 7c, Jap Rose 7c bar, Castile soap 3c bar, Ink 3c bottle, After-dinner Mints 10-25c, 100-piece set English Semi-Porcelain Dinner set 7.25

It Pays to Trade at

THE BIG STORE

Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

After Inventory Remnant Sale

We have just completed our annual inventory and find that we have a few remnants in Dress Goods and other fabrics. These are all staple goods, but in order to clean them out we are offering them at Greatly Reduced Prices.

In Our Winter Goods ... Department ...

we find that we are overstocked in some lines, and wishing to make room for Spring Goods which will arrive later, we are cutting prices on all overstocked lines in order to move them quickly. These are all first-class goods and it will pay you to look them over.

THE BUSY STORE

GARCEAU & ZAISER.

Poultry Taken At Highest Market Prices.

Keen Kutter

E.C. SIMMONS KEEN KUTTER ST. LOUIS MO.

To the buyer of cutlery and tools the trade-mark "Keen Kutter" has a meaning that can only be appreciated after a thorough trial has been given. We are pleased to announce to the trade that we now have a complete line of

"Keen Kutter" Cutlery and Tools

and invite the keenest inspection of this handsome new stock. We have also received some new . . .

"One Minute Washers"

the latest and easiest running washing machine made. If you are in the market for a washing machine don't fail to look at the "One-Minute Washer." Wash day will have no terrors for the housewife thereafter. The women are invited to come in and see one work. No trouble to show its workings.

The Hardware Man G. A. KANKEL Red Lake Falls, Minn.

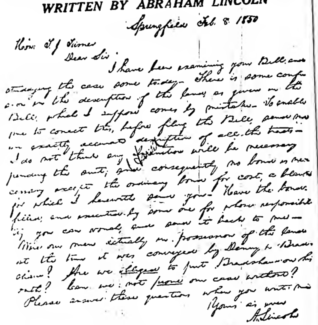
WRITTEN BY ABRAHAM LINCOLN



Springfield Feb. 8. 1850

Hon: T. J. Turner

Dear Sir:

I have been examining your Bill. and studying the case some to-day. There is some confusion in the description of the land, as given in the Bill, which I suppose comes by mistake. To enable me to correct this, before filing the Bill, send me an exactly accurate description of all the tracts. I do not think any injunction will be necessary pending the suit; and consequently no bond is necessary except the ordinary bond for cost, a blank for which I herewith send you. Have the bond filled, and executed by some one for whose responsibility you can vouch, and send it back to me. Was our man actually in possession of the land at the time it was conveyed by Denny & Brad. Are we obliged to put Bradshaw on his oath? Can we not prove our case without? Please answer these questions when you write me.

Yours as ever

A. Lincoln

An autograph letter of Abraham Lincoln written more than half a century ago to his life-long friend, Thomas J. Turner, of Freeport, Ill., afterward a colonel in an Illinois regiment, is here reproduced as an object of national interest.

The value of this letter to the family to whom it has descended—like an heirloom in succession—may be estimated from the fact that it has passed from deathbed to deathbed as a sacred trust in the Turner generations, the man to whom it was written treasuring the series of Lincoln's correspondence in order to bequeath to members of his family souvenirs whose value he foresaw with prophetic eye.

Any letter of Abraham Lincoln's would be of interest to the people of Illinois, especially one written before the period of war and turmoil, when the Springfield lawyer was engaged in the vocations of peace. The owner of the letter—a Freeport man—is now living in Chicago.

Famous Illinois Tavern.

Where Lincoln, When a Circuit Riding Lawyer, Swapped Stories.

With the demolition of the old Kelley tavern, torn down to make room for a barn, there passed one of the famous old hostelries of Illinois. Built in [illegible], the old tavern became the stopping place of all west bound travelers, it being the only hotel between Danville and Urbana on the state road.

For years it enjoyed great popularity, especially during its ownership by [illegible] Kelley, who operated it from [illegible] until 1861. During the '50s it was the regular stopping place of the old time circuit riding lawyers, among whom were Abraham Lincoln and Judge David Davis. Both Lincoln and Davis were warm friends of Kelley, whose ready wit and great fund of stories made him a favorite with both men. Kelley was a great story teller, and during the months intervening between the April and September terms of court he searched assiduously for "new stories to tell Abe."

Often Lincoln's coming, being heralded about the surrounding country, drew scores of farmers to the hotel, and not infrequently residents of Urbana drove down to enjoy the contest between the two great story tellers. However well equipped with new material was Mr. Kelley he always found himself vanquished by Mr. Lincoln, whose fund of anecdotes seemed inexhaustible. Old residents say that the two champions frequently told stories almost all night, Lincoln sitting in an immense armchair, with wide rockers and a buffalo robe cushion, known to the household as "Abe's chair." The old chair is still in the possession of the Kelley family, one of its most cherished heirlooms.

The old tavern played an important part in the social life of the community. Here during the winter months assembled all the young people for miles around to dance and enjoy themselves. In the yard were held the turkey shoots on Thanksgiving and Christmas, when the pioneers assembled to prove their wonderful skill with their old muzzle loading firearms. Whisky on these occasions flowed freely, and some famous fights have occurred about the old building, but for the most part the early settler was good natured, even in his cups, and no serious damage was done in these encounters.

With the coming of the railroads and the passing of the stage coach the old tavern suffered a lamentable falling off in business, and after a precarious existence it was closed and the building became the home of a tenant farmer. Later it was used for the storage of grain and farm implements. Falling into decay, it has at last been torn down, after an existence of 75 years, many of its timbers going into the new barn.

As Wallace Saw Lincoln.

Famous Author Wrote Entertainingly of First Meeting.

The charm of Lew Wallace's Autobiography consists not only in the fact that the author was a famous general and famous novelist, but that so many of his recollections are reminiscent of the great.

One of the most fascinating descriptions is that of his first sight of Abraham Lincoln. It was in 1850, at a tavern in Danville, Ill.

Wallace writes as follows:

"There was one of the contestants who arrested my attention early, partly by his stories partly by his appearance. Out of the mist of years he comes to me now exactly as he appeared then.

"His hair was thick, coarse and defiant; it stood out in every direction. His features were massive, nose long, eyebrows protrusive, mouth large, cheeks hollow, eyes gray and always responsive to the humor. He smiled all the time, but never once did he laugh outright. His hands were large, his arms slender and disproportionately long. His legs were a wonder, particularly when he was in narration; he kept crossing and uncrossing them, sometimes it actually seemed he was trying to tie them into a bowknot.

"Altogether, I thought him the gauntest, quaintest and most positively ugly man who had ever attracted me enough to call for study. Still, when he was in speech, my eyes did not quit his face. He held me in unconsciousness.

"About midnight his competitors were disposed to give in; either their stories were exhausted, or they were tacitly conceding him the crown. From answering them story for story, he gave two or three to their one. At last he took the floor and held it. And, looking back, I am now convinced that he frequently invented his replications; which is saying he possessed a marvelous gift of improvisation.

"Such was Abraham Lincoln. And to be perfectly candid, had one stood at my elbow that night in the old tavern and whispered: 'Look at him closely. He will one day be president and the savior of his country,' I had laughed at the idea but a little less heartily than I laughed at the man.

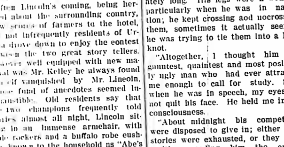
"Afterward I came to know him better, and then I did not laugh."

Lincoln Then and Now.

Tall, swart, ungainly, gaunt, he stood before us,
Chaffed by the mob for his unsightliness.
Now like a very god he towers o'er us,
Beloved for his tender knightliness.

A laughing-stock his figure when we knew him,
A shrine for all that's best in us since then.
Revering e'en the blessed soil that grew him—
A model he for all his fellow men.
—Baltimore American.

MODEL OF LINCOLN'S ONLY PATENT



One of the most valuable of the government's unique collection of patent models, the finest in the world, is No. 6,469, granted May 22, 1849 to Abraham Lincoln for method of lifting vessels over shoals. The device consists of the application to a river steamer, of two or more collapsible floats made like bellows, worked from sides of boat by upright poles. When a vessel so equipped strikes shoal water the bellows are inflated by pressure on the poles, which is supposed to raise the boat clear of the bottom. When the bellows are to be deflated a windlass raises the poles.—N. Y. World.

A STRAPPING YOUTH.

Kneeling at her tiny feet
Shod in dainty shoes,
For a pleasure so complete
Who'd a chance refuse?
As she lingers on the ice
And to give awaits
Joy to some admirer nice
Strapping on her skates.

Careful not to pinch her toes,
Nor to bruise her heels,
Though a fellow freeze his nose
Or an ear congeals,
Naught can chill his bliss to hold
Those wee pedal mates,
Though he shivers with the cold
Strapping on her skates.
—Judge.

Too Suggestive.

Sandy Pikes—What did the kind lady say when you told her all dem historical stories?

Gritty George—She said I was a wss a "wise old saw."

Sandy Pikes—Great hobos! Yer better run. Next thing she'll be expecting you to show up at de woodpile.—Chicago Daily News.

DIDN'T LIKE DARK COLORS.

Jobos—I heard you tell that man to never darken your door again. Trying to marry your daughter?

Thoms—No; he's a painter and he painted my front door ebony instead of oak.—Troy Budget.

Father Explains.

Johnny—Papa, what does automobile mean?

Papa—It comes from the Greek "auto"—self—and the Latin "mobile" movement. It means a machine that goes by itself.

Johnny—Doesn't any one have anything to do with it?

Papa (who tries to drive a horse and buggy)—No one with any self-respect.—Home Magazine.

Rough on Bill.

"What has become of Bad Bill?" asked the new arrival in the Frozen Heart hotel.

"Bad Bill?" echoed the landlord. "Oh, he 'bit the dust' yesterday."

"What? Bad Bill dead?"

"Oh, no. Bill took a ride in a tenderfoot's gasoline carriage and swallowed a peck of dust in a twenty-mile spin."—Chicago Daily News.

All His Trouble in Vain.

The scientist had invaded the jungle and conquered the monkey language.

"And now that you have acquired our lingo," said the head monkey, "have you any information of value to convey to us?"

Of course, the scientist, nonplused, had to sneak back to civilization.

Moments of History.

Ulysses looked upon the sirens with considerable amusement, at the same time ordering the man at the prow not to hurry.

"There was a time," he observed flippantly, "when your antics would have amused me. But—musical comedy is not what it used to be."—Life.

Mr. Henpeck Warned.

Mr. Henpeck—I shall have to go to town to-day, my dear, and I shall want some money, for there's train fare, lunch, 'bus fares, and I've got to—

Mrs. H.—Well, then, take this shilling, and mind, if you come home the worse for drink I'll not let you in.

A Society Mother.

Rector—And have you any children?

Society Woman—Yes; three little darlings.

Rector—Are they boys or girls?

Society Woman—Dear me! Do you know, for the moment I can't remember?—N. Y. Times.

Not Guilty.

"Pop!"

"Yes, my son."

"Do poets have to be born?"

"Yes, my boy."

"Ain't the stork responsible for them, too?"—Yonkers Statesman.

His View Point.

"I see that the duke of Atholl, in England, has 22 titles."

"What of it?"

"Wouldn't you like to have that many and be able to sell each one to an heiress?"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Compact.

Eve—Belle going to be married and live in a flat? Why, I don't see how she will have room.

Edna—Oh, yes, she is going to accept such a narrow-minded chap.—Chicago Daily News.

Simplified Art.

Patience—That painting doesn't look like one of the old masters.

Patrice—No, it's not. The artist belongs to the new school of simplified painters.—Yonkers Statesman.

BOY WAS SOMEWHAT MIXED.

Had Wrong Idea of the Sound to Be Removed.

Deacon Allen Sheldon, who recently passed away, was universally respected by all who knew him, and his stories were listened to with much delight, says a writer in the Boston Herald. He used to tell the following with a great deal of interest:

When a very small boy he asked his father to let him go with him to the town meeting. He went, with the promise that when he returned he would tell the folks what happened.

In those days the church was supported by a tax on every property holder. Whatever of interest came up for the church had to be voted on at the town meeting.

The pastor being feeble and his voice not strong, an article in the town warrant called for the removal of the sounding board from over the pastor's head, since it acted as an extinguisher, and not as originally planned. When Allen returned he told his mother about the sounding board, and said:

"Mr. Flagg got up and said, in his squeaky voice: 'Mr. Moderator, I make a motion that we remove the sound from under the board.'"

AWFUL EFFECT OF ECZEMA.

Covered with Yellow Sores—Grew Worse—Parents Discouraged—Cuticura Drove Sores Away.

"Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor called it. We called in the family doctor, and he gave some tablets and said she would be all right in a few days. The eczema grew worse and we called in doctor No. 2. He said she was teething, as soon as the teeth were through she would be all right. But she still grew worse. Doctor No. 3 said it was eczema. By this time she was nothing but a yellow, greenish sore. Well, he said he could help her, so we let him try it about a week. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Of course we 'phoned for doctor No. 3. He came over and looked her over, and said that he could not do anything more for her, that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Oswego to doctor No. 4, and he said the eyesight was gone, but that he could help it. We thought we would try doctor No. 5. Well, that proved the same, only he charged $10 more than doctor No. 4. We were nearly discouraged. I saw one of the Cuticura advertisements in the paper and thought we would try the Cuticura Treatment, so I went and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. We think there is no remedy so good for any skin trouble or impurity of the blood as Cuticura. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 17, 1906."

Rich Men Work for Pleasure.

Theodore Gill, the world's greatest authority on fishes, works for the United States government, receiving one dollar a month for his services. He is a rich man on whom many universities have conferred titles and degrees. Dr. Harrison G. Dyer, another wealthy man, who knows more about mosquitoes than any other living person, devotes much of his time to government, receiving $25 a month. Gifford Pinchot, a millionaire, is head of the United States forestry service, but he is comparatively well paid, his salary being $45 per annum. Several other rich men are on the government pay roll at nominal figures, working for the pleasure of "doing things," as President Roosevelt puts it.

Thoroughly Reliable.

If ever there was a reliable and safe remedy it is that old and famous porous plaster—Allcock's. It has been in use for sixty years, and is as popular to-day as ever, and we doubt if there is a civilized community on the face of the globe where this wonderful pain reliever cannot be found. In the selection of the ingredients and in their manufacture the greatest care is taken to keep each plaster up to the highest standard of excellence, and so pure and simple are the ingredients that even a child can use them.

Allcock's are the original and genuine porous plasters and are sold by Druggists all over the world.

Makes Plea for Dance.

It seems a very great pity that some determined effort cannot be made to make dancing more popular. Nowadays, when exercise is a kind of religion to men and women alike it is odd that one recommended by all doctors and recognized all the world over and in all ages as an attractive pastime, into which the art of fascination largely enters, should be more and more neglected among us.—Lady's Pictorial.

Then They Went Off.

"It strikes me that you are loaded," said the pistol to the double-barrel shotgun.

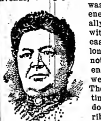
"Oh, not quite," rejoined the latter. "I'm only half-shot."

Whereupon they both exploded with laughter.—Chicago Daily News.

A poor man's chances for reaching the age of three-score and ten are far better than a rich man's, because the doctors waste less on him.

TERRIBLE TO RECALL.

Five Weeks in Bed With Intensely Painful Kidney Trouble.



Mrs. Mary Wagner, of 1367 Kossuth avenue, Bridgeport, Conn., says: "I was so weakened and generally run down with kidney disease that for a long time I could not do my work and was five weeks in bed. There was continual bearing down pain, terrible backaches, headaches and at times dizzy spells when everything was a blur before me. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and painful, and there was considerable sediment and odor. I don't know what I would have done but for Doan's Kidney Pills. I could see an improvement from the first box, and five boxes brought a final cure."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

No Longer Novel.

When James P. Magenis was chief deputy in the internal revenue service he was stricken with a severe attack of typhoid fever, and it was some weeks before he was able to resume his duties.

Before his illness his hair was luxuriant, but after it a bald spot began to show, which was noticed by a deputy, who spoke to him about it.

"Pardon me, Jim," he said, "but you are getting bald, and you know a head of hair like yours is quite a novelty these days."

"Yes," said Magenis, "I have been told my hair was quite a novelty, but do you know," he said, and a gleam of fun was in his eye, "I notice since my illness, that every time I run my hand over the top of my head the novelty is wearing off."

Shakespeare as Novel Hero.

William Shakespeare is the hero of a new and striking novel by the Danish woman writer Sophus Banditz. Moreover, British and American readers will probably soon have a chance to read this tale, for Queen Alexandra, who recently read it in the original, was so much impressed by it that she advised the authoress to have it translated into English. This translation is now proceeding and the English version is to be dedicated to the queen, who is herself a Dane.

Freak of Dublin Corporation.

The Dublin corporation adopted a proposal to provide the captain and mate of the mud barge Shamrock with gold-laced uniforms of Irish manufacture.

Garfield Tea (the Herb remedy which is Guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drugs Law) should be taken to regulate the Liver, Kidneys, stomach and bowels, and to purify the blood.

Choose always the way that seems the best, however rough it may be; custom will soon render it easy and agreeable.—Pythagoras.

Panthers and Grizzly Bears.

Ship Furs Pelts McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn. Write for prices.

There is no cure for the indigestion caused by being compelled to eat your own words.

Trappers' Supplies Sold Cheap.

Write for catalog and circular No. 9. N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Naturally a man would rather part his hair than part with it.

For Prices on Poultry,

Either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, St. Paul.

Lots of fools look wise and lots of wise men look otherwise.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Every time a man accepts a 10-cent gift it costs him a dollar.

We pay the highest price for Butterfat in cream. Write for prices. Milton Dairy Co., St. Paul.

You can also tell a man by the company he doesn't keep.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Love your enemies—but not John Demijohn.

RHEUMATISM
AND NEURALGIA

TRADE MARK

ST. JACOBS OIL

The Proved Remedy
For Over 50 Years.

Price 25c and 50c

Keeps Young by Outdoor Exercise.

Although James Bryce, the new British ambassador to this country, is 68 years old, he has not by any means exhausted his physical energies or his fondness for exercise in the open. His favorite recreation is mountain climbing, and he is president of the English Alpine club.

Why She Suffered.

"Yes, she is a woman who has suffered a great deal because of her belief."

"Indeed! And what is her belief?"

"That she can wear a No. 3 shoe on a No. 6 foot."—Royal Magazine.

BRING GOOD HEALTH

Dr. William' Pink Pills, Used After the Grip, Arrest Fatal Decline and Rebuild the System.

Any bodily weakness caused by a deficiency in the blood can be cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because these pills actually make new blood. After attacks of the grip the blood is generally run down and the patient continues to decline.

"About three years ago," says Mrs. Jennie Cowan, of 718 N. Henry Street, West Bay City, Mich., "I caught a severe cold, which ran into the grip. I was confined to my bed for two weeks. At the end of that time I was able to be about, but was completely run down. I was so weak I could hardly stand, my cheeks had no color and I felt faint. My heart would flutter and it was difficult for me to breathe at times. Neuralgia settled in the back of my head and stomach and I suffered from rheumatism in my shoulders.

"I had the care of the best doctor in town but became no better until a friend told me one day how she had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I soon felt better and continued using them until I was entirely cured. They built me up again to perfect health and I use them now whenever I feel at all sick and they always help me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in such cases, as well as in other blood diseases, because they not only drive off the germs of the disease but build up the system. The pills have cured anaemia, rheumatism, after-effects of fevers, neuralgia and many other severe disorders.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear
Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

A Positive CURE

CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm
Is quickly absorbed.
Gives Relief at Once.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES CATARRH COLD IN HEAD ROSE COLD HAY FEVER DEAFNESS HEADACHE ELY BROS. NEW YORK

It cleanses, soothes heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts., at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size 10 cts. by mail. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

HAY FEVER

FARMS THAT GROW
"NO. 1 HARD" WHEAT

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

(Sixty-three Pounds to the Bushel). Are situated in the Canadian West where Homesteads of 160 acres can be obtained free by every settler willing and able to comply with the Homestead Regulations. During the present year a large portion of

New Wheat Growing Territory

HAS BEEN MADE ACCESSIBLE TO MARKETS BY THE RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION that has been pushed forward so vigorously by the three great railway companies.

For literature and particulars address SUPERINTENDENT OF IMMIGRATION, Ottawa, Canada, or the following authorized Canadian Government Agent:

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. Machlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

Mention this paper.

Should Hens

be helped to make a large egg yield? Why not, as well as helping cows to give extra milk?

SHERIDAN'S CONDITION POWDER

is a scientific medicine invented to enable hens get the full benefit from all kinds of food. It's the pioneer of tonics to make hens lay. In use over forty years. One pack, 25c.; five, $1; two-lb. can, $1.20; six, $5.00. Express paid. At all dealers. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?

Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postcard to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. 6, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the

SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free

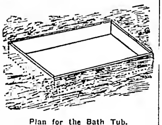
and it will be sent you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.

THE HOGS' BATH TUB.

Handy Device Which Makes the Dipping Process Easy.

Dipping hogs is at best nasty work, and by providing a properly constructed bath tub much, if not all, of this work may be avoided.

Construct a tank of any width and length you please, just so it is large enough, but be careful not to get it more than 15 inches deep, directs the Prairie Farmer. A good size to make is five feet wide by ten feet long and 15 inches deep, using lumber two inches thick and 15 inches wide for the sides and ends, and flooring of galvanized iron for the bottom.



Plan for the Bath Tub.

Set this in the ground under a shed near where the hogs are fed and fill to a depth of about ten inches with water and on top of this place half an inch of crude oil.

During summer and fall, and even on real warm rays in winter, hogs will gladly use this to wallow in if shut away from mudholes, and it is sure death to lice and skin diseases.

The advantage of this tub over pouring the crude oil into mudholes as has been suggested, is that it is more economical and is cleaner, besides being more effective.

GIVE THE SHEEP A CHANCE.

Protect the Little Fellows From Parasites and Germ Diseases.

The lambs come into the world perfectly free from parasites and generally from germ diseases. It is probable that most of them are free from internal parasites. The flock owner should realize this and endeavor to protect the little things from all that would make them less thrifty than they are when they are born, says Farmers' Review. Some of the most successful flocks of sheep in the country have been made so because of the care bestowed upon them. In the very first place they have been protected against all kinds of parasites, and have been given quarters in which disease germs could not thrive.

Their owners have realized the fact that about all that sheep need is a chance to be thrifty. It is well known that they have in themselves an unusual power of resisting disease and of rising above averse conditions. The successful raising of sheep does not require extraordinary measures so much as ordinary measures. The steps to be taken need to be those of protecting the sheep against enemies of various kinds rather than to devise new methods generally.

It will be found that the successful shepherds are in all cases men that look carefully after the multitude of little things, which go to make up the grand total of things making for the welfare of the flock. To give the sheep a good fighting chance is all that is necessary to insure success.

SEPARATOR MILK FOR PIGS.

It Should Prove the Best Kind of Feed When Warm.

There is an impression among some farmers that the feeding of skim milk warm from the separator is injurious to pigs. Prof. William Deitrich, of the Illinois experimental station, writing on this matter, says that there is no reason why it should cause trouble since warm milk is the natural food of pigs. It may be that the scouring and running down in flesh that is sometimes observed is caused by sudden changes in feed; such as, for instance, change from cold sour skim-milk to warm fresh skim-milk. The skim-milk in either form is good feed, but it will not do to change from one to the other very suddenly. Another cause of the trouble may be that the pigs are being fed too much. Sometimes people think that when the cream is taken out of the milk there is not much left that is of any value and young animals are fed very liberally and often overfed, and this becomes a very serious matter. The skim-milk has relatively more protein than whole milk and a comparatively small excess of protein in the system will very likely bring about digestive troubles.

Give Boar Plenty of Room.

Many breeders make the mistake of keeping the herd boar in a small, dirty pen and provide no yard for him to exercise in. He should have a strong pen and a yard of about an acre away from the rest of the herd.

Sheep Growing.

There is a great tendency among farmers to go into the sheep business, as we advised. This country ought to grow all its wool, export a lot, and mutton ought to be within the reach of every man's table.

BALM OF SCRIPTURE

HEALING PROPERTIES OF PINE KNOWN TO ANCIENTS.

Oil of the White Pine Tree Used Successfully by Physicians in Treating Consumptive Patients.

The Oil of the Pine Tree is supposed to be the balm of Scripture. It contains great medicinal properties and was regarded with the utmost esteem by the ancients, and to the present day is peculiarly prized by the people of the East.

A noted authority on diseases of the throat and lungs, who established a camp for consumptives in the Pine Woods of Maine, says that his entire treatment consisted of fresh air, nourishing food and the Pure Virgin Oil of the White Pine Trees, mixed with Whisky and Glycerine in the following proportions:

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)..	½oz.
Glycerine	2 "
Good Whisky	8 "

Used in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

It is claimed the above mixture will heal and strengthen the lungs, break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable.

The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost, and can be easily mixed in your own home.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper with the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), which are put out under various names, such as Concentrated Oil of Pine, Pine Balsam, etc. Never accept these as a substitute for the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine, as they will invariably produce nausea and never effect the desired result.

SURELY WINS THE PALM.

One Mean Man Who Outdoes Some Others.

Many stories have been told of mean men, such as he who used a wart for a collar-button and he whose birthday gift to his son consisted in washing the windows so that the lad might watch the cars go by. This man, however, seems to have won the palm:

There was an extremely mean man in New Hampshire, who was the proprietor of a hotel. By his direction rules were posted in the hostelry forbidding almost every conceivable privilege to those not guests of the place. There was absolutely no chance for the casual loafer to get newspapers, pen, ink, stationery, etc. There were not even free seats in the office.

One day, relates the Success Magazine, he chanced to observe a chronic loafer gazing at the old clock that hung on the wall The next day a sign was placed over the clock. It read: "This clock is for the use of the guests of the hotel only."

Berth Was Reserved.

Franklin K. Lane, interstate commerce commissioner, went west last week. He wanted to reserve a berth from Chicago to Minneapolis. He wired the request and this reply came back: "Can't do it. Interstate commerce commission will not allow it." He fired a wire back reading: "By what authority do you say interstate commerce commission will not allow you to reserve a berth in a sleeping car?" The Pullman agent answered: "By the authority of a recent ruling." Mr. Lane was interested by this time and he telegraphed: "I am a member of the interstate commerce commission and am not familiar with the ruling. Give me a reference." And a short time afterward he received this telegram: "Berth reserved."

WHITE BREAD

Makes Trouble for People with Weak Intestinal Digestion.

A lady in a Wis. town employed a physician who instructed her not to eat white bread for two years. She tells the details of her sickness and she certainly was a sick woman.

"In the year 1887 I gave out from overwork, and until 1901 I remained an invalid in bed a great part of the time. Had different doctors but nothing seemed to help. I suffered from cerebro-spinal congestion, female trouble and serious stomach and bowel trouble. My husband called a new doctor and after having gone without any food for 10 days the doctor ordered Grape-Nuts for me. I could eat the new food from the very first mouthful. The doctor kept me on Grape-Nuts and the only medicine was a little glycerine to heal the alimentary canal.

"When I was up again doctor told me to eat Grape-Nuts twice a day and no white bread for two years. I got well in good time and have gained in strength so I can do my own work again.

"My brain has been helped so much, and I know that the Grape-Nuts food did this, too. I found I had been made ill because I was not fed right, that is I did not properly digest white bread and some other food I tried to live on.

"I have never been without Grape-Nuts food since and eat it every day. You may publish this letter if you like so it will help someone else." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Get the little book "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

A Big Bargain for 12 Cents Postpaid.

The year of 1906 was one of prodigal plenty on our seed farms. Never before did vegetable and farm seeds return such enormous yields.

Now we wish to gain 200,000 new customers this year and hence offer for 12c postpaid

1 pkg.	Garden City Beet...........	10c
1 "	Earliest Ripe Cabbage..........	10c
1 "	Earliest Emerald Cucumber....	15c
1 "	La Crosse Market Lettuce.....	15c
1 "	13 Day Radish..............	10c
1 "	Blue Blood Tomato...........	15c
1 "	Juicy Turnip	10c
1000	kernels gloriously beautiful flower seeds	15c
	Total	$1.00

All for 12c postpaid in order to introduce our warranted seeds, and if you will send 16c we will add one package of Berliner Earliest Cauliflower, together with our mammoth plant, nursery stock, vegetable and farm seed and tool catalog.

This catalog is mailed free to all intending purchasers. Write to-day.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box W, La Crosse, Wis.

Japanese Hot Baths.

In Japan hot baths are used at a temperature of 104 degrees. Fahrenheit. Immediately they leave this the bathers plunge into perfectly cold water. A European doctor who has spent many years in Tokio declares that, after a bath of this heat and the subsequent douche he used to feel warm all day in the coldest winter weather, while in summer the bath had the exactly contrary effect, and was most cooling and refreshing.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Slightly Mixed.

A traveling salesman died suddenly in Pittsburg, Pa., and some of his friends telegraphed the undertaker an order to make a large wreath. Investigation showed that the telegram ordering the wreath read as follows:

"'Rest in peace,' on both sides of the ribbon; if there should be room: 'We shall meet in heaven.'"

The undertaker was out of town, and the new assistant handled the job. It was a startling floral piece which turned up at the funeral. The ribbon was extra wide, and it bore the inscription:

"Rest in peace on both sides, and if there is room we shall meet in heaven."

Makes Plea for Dance.

It seems a very great pity that some determined effort cannot be made to make dancing more popular. Nowadays, when exercise is a kind of religion to men and women alike it is odd that one recommended by all doctors and recognized all the world over and in all ages as an attractive pastime, into which the art of fascination largely enters, should be more and more neglected among us.—Lady's Pictorial.

Life of Horses and Dogs.

The statement has been made that horses average from 20 to 30 years of life, and dogs from 12 to 14 years. A French encyclopedist credits the horse with 30 to 40 years, the dog with 20 to 24. There is a sufficient range of uncertainty in these figures to cause doubt whether detailed study has been made of the subject.

Washington a Shingle State.

The state of Washington produced 10,500,000,000 shingles in 1906 fiscal year, or 68½ per cent of the total output of the United States. Washington has 459 mills, with a daily output of 47,940,000, or 18 per cent more than in 1905. In no other other state does the yearly output approximate 1,000,000,000.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES color almost twice as much as any other dye and cost you the same. 10c per package.

If you want to see a man act silly hunt up one who is jealous.

Top Prices for Hides, Furs, Pelts.

Write for circular and catalogue No. 9, N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

Virtue is its own reward—or its own punishment, as the case may be.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

A poor man's chances for reaching the age of three-score and ten are far better than a rich man's, because the doctors waste less on him.

FITS, St. Vitus Dance and all Nervous Diseases permanently cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ld., 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Developing the Sudan.

There is talk in England of the proposed development of the natural resources of the Sudan through scientific exploration. Immense forests line the banks of the Blue Nile along its upper reaches, extending to the Abyssinian frontier. The ebony tree is met with along that river and also near the Sobet. Along the White Nile the India rubber creeper, a valuable source of rubber, abounds. There are large forests in the Behr-el-Ghazal province and gold has been mined in some of the mountains. Search will be made for fuel.

Scrupulous Senator.

Senator Spooner of Wisconsin surprised some members of congress with whom he was chatting the other day by announcing that he has never taken part in a congressional junket of any kind. "I never shall undertake such a journey at government expense," he said. "There is something very objectionable to me in members of congress going on such expeditions." For the same reason that made him sidestep a congressional junket Senator Spooner said he had never been shaved in the senate barber shop, which is maintained at Uncle Sam's expense.

Priscilla's Revenge.

It was in the days of old when knights were bold and dressed in gleaming armor.

"George, dear," said Priscilla, over her daily task, "wilt thou not help me with my skeins?"

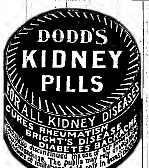
"By the tower of London—no!" roared George, as he sharpened his lance. "You haven't a spinning wheel for a husband."

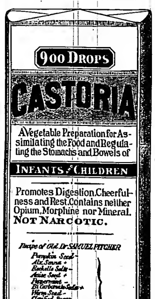
Two hours later George returned from the fray with his armor battered and torn.

"Dearest Priscilla," he said, softly, "wilt thou not put a few patches on my dress suit?"

"No, George," replied Priscilla, sweetly. "You haven't a blacksmith for a wife."

And the bold knight was so humiliated he went over to Ye Frozen Heart tavern and stood the tavern-keeper off for a tankard.





900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS & CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

MISS JULIE FLORENCE WALSH

WOMEN SUFFER

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong?

The cause may be easily traced to some feminine derangement which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, dragging sensations, flatulency, nervousness, and sleeplessness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded, a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The best remedy for all these symptoms is made from native roots and herbs. No other medicine in the country has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female ills.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Miss J. F. Walsh, of 328 W. 36th St., New York City, writes:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been of inestimable value in restoring my health. I suffered from female illness which caused dreadful headaches, dizziness, and dull pains in my back, but your medicine soon brought about a change in my general condition, built me up and made me perfectly well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and organic diseases. It is invaluable in preparing for child-birth and during the Change of Life. It cures Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, and invigorates the whole system.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

Sloan's Liniment
For Cough, Cold, Croup, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck. Rheumatism and Neuralgia
At all Dealers
Price 25c 50c & $1.00

Sent Free
"Sloan's Book on Horses Cattle, Hogs & Poultry

Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan
615 Albany St. Boston, Mass.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

FREE Homesteads IN WESTERN CANADA.

Special Trains Leave Chicago, March 19th, FOR

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Homesteads.

Canadian Government representatives will accompany this train through to destination.

For certificate entitling cheap rates, literature and all particulars, apply to

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.,
J. M. MAC LACHLAN, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota,
E. T. HOLMES, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

NO MORE MUSTARD PLASTERS TO BLISTER.
THE SCIENTIFIC AND MODERN EXTERNAL COUNTER-IRRITANT.

CAPISICUM VASELINE

EXTRACT OF THE CAYENNE PEPPER PLANT

A QUICK, SURE, SAFE AND ALWAYS READY CURE FOR PAIN.—PRICE 15c.—IN COLLAPSIBLE TUBES—AT ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS, OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 15c. IN POSTAGE STAMPS. DON'T WAIT TILL THE PAIN COMES—KEEP A TUBE HANDY.

A substitute for and superior to mustard or any other plaster, and will not blister the most delicate skin. The pain-allaying and curative qualities of the article are wonderful. It will stop the toothache at once, and relieve Headache and Sciatica. We recommend it as the best and safest external counter-irritant known, also as an external remedy for pains in the chest and stomach and all Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Gouty complaints. A trial will prove what we claim for it, and it will be found to be invaluable in the household and for children. Once used no family will be without it. Many people say "it is the best of all your preparations." Accept no preparation of vaseline unless the same carries our label, as otherwise it is not genuine. SEND YOUR ADDRESS AND WE WILL MAIL OUR VASELINE PAMPHLET WHICH WILL INTEREST YOU.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO.
17 STATE STREET, NEW YORK CITY

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

NO COAL FAMINE IN VIRGINIA. Good market. Splendid climate. Land $10 per acre. Catalog free. Good farms to exchange. J. B. YOUNG & Co., Box 753, Richmond, Va.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

DR. N. M. WATSON

Physician and Surgeon

Graduate of McGill University, Montreal. Office over First State Bank.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.

DENTIST

Offices in LaBissoniere Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.

At St. Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys at-Law

Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 47. Collections attended to.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure.

Mr. Murray's family, the widow two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1419 Nicollet Ave, Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

Harry Mitchell's Editorial

I do a bigger tailoring business than all the rest of the Minneapolis tailors combined, and about half of it comes through the mails from people who live out of town. Do you know what this means to you? It means that for $15, $20, and $25 I'll make you a suit or overcoat that you'd have to pay any other tailor $30, $35, and $40 for. Further, I'll guarantee perfect fit and satisfaction or cheerfully refund your money, and so that your clothes won't cost you any more than the city man pays, I'll pay all Express charges. Write me today for samples and self-measurement blank, and let me make you the swellest and most satisfactory garment you ever wore.

HARRY MITCHELL, 310 Nicollet Ave. MINNEAPOLIS.

For Lung Troubles

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral certainly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption. And it certainly strengthens weak throats and weak lungs. There can be no mistake about this. You know it is true. And your own doctor will say so.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Keep the bowels regular with Ayer's Pills and thus hasten recovery.

Teachers' Examinations.

The semi-annual teachers' examinations will be held at Red Lake Falls, St, Hilaire and Thief River Falls, Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and 2, 1907, in accordance with the following program:

Note—Civics is now required for second grade and limited certificates.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31st.

(First Grade Studies)

A. M.— 8:00 Enrollment.
8:15 Geometry.
10:00 Physics.
P. M.— 1:30 Algebra.
3:15 Physical Geography or General History.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1st.

(Second Grade Studies)

A. M.— 8:00 Enrollment.
8:30 Professional Test.
9:30 Spelling.
10:00 Arithmetic.
P. M.— 1:15 Geography.
2:45 Composition and Penmanship.
3:20 Reading.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2nd

(Second Grade Studies Continued)

A. M.— 8:00 U. S. History.
9:45 English Grammar.
11:30 Music.
P. M.— 1:15 Physiology-Hygiene.
3:45 Civics.
4:00 Drawing.

—H. T. McANULTY,
Co. Supt.

Origin of Ox Tail Soup.

During the reign of terror in Paris in 1793 many of the nobility were reduced to starvation and beggary. The abattoirs sent their hides fresh to the tanneries without removing the tails, and in cleaning them the tails were thrown away. One of the noble beggars asked for a tail, and it was willingly given to him. He took it to his lodging and made (what is now famous) the first dish of ox tail soup. He told others of his good luck, and they annoyed the tanners so much that a price was put upon them.

Ambition.

Ambition becomes displeasing when it is once satiated. There is a reaction, and as our spirit till our last sigh is always aiming toward some object it falls back on itself, having nothing else on which to rest and having reached the summit it longs to descend.—Corneille.

Easy Work.

First Transient—If you had got to go into business, what line would you choose? Second Ditto—I'd open an employment agency. It would be so nice to be getting other people to work without having any temptation to do any yourself.

Still Time.

Burroughs—Say, old man, there was a time when you promised to share your last dollar with me.

Richley—That's all right. I haven't got down to it yet.

Though the sun scorches us sometimes and gives us the headache, we do not refuse to acknowledge that we stand in need of his warmth.—De Mornay.

wanted:—Gentleman or lady to travel for mercantile house of large capital. Territory at home or abroad to suit. If desirable the home may be used as headquarters. Weekly salary of $1,000 per year and expenses. Address, with stamp, Jos. A. Alexander, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞ House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours

Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date

Give me a call.

[illegible] carpets
[illegible]
Walter Rug [illegible] Co.
Nicollet [illegible]

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL.

ESTATE OF MARGARETTA WALTER

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Margaretta Walter, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Andrew Walter, Phillip Walter, John Walter, Maggie Adler (nee Walter), Anna Skala (nee Walter), Mary Kane (nee Walter) and all persons interested in the allowance and probate of the will of said decedent: The petition of Phillip Walter being duly filed in this court, representing that Margaretta Walter, then a resident of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, died on the 31st day of December, 1906, leaving a last will and testament which is presented to this court with said petition, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to Phillip Walter. Now therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Honorable N. W. Tarrant, Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 24th day of January, 1907.

[Seal] N. W. TARRANT, Judge.

F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Petitioner. j24-f7

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR LIQUOR LICENSE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, City of Red Lake Falls. } ss

Notice is hereby given, That application has been made in writing to the City Council of said City of Red Lake Falls and filed in my office, praying for License to Sell Intoxicating Liquors for the term commencing on February 3rd, 1907, and terminating on February 2nd, 1908, by the following persons and at the following place, as stated in said application, respectively, to-wit:

J. KERSTING & CO.

In that certain frame building situate on lot 21 of block 7 in Champagne & Dow's addition to Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Red Lake Falls at the City Hall in the City of Red Lake Falls in Red Lake County, and State of Minnesota, on Thursday, the 7th day of February A. D., 1907, at 8 o'clock P. M. of that date.

Witness my hand and seal of the City of Red Lake Falls, this 21th day of January, A. D., 1907.

(Seal) A. P. TOUPIN.
City Clerk.
j24-31

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF PETER MARTEL.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Martel, Decedent:

The State of Minnesota to Joseph Martel and all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court his final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with his petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; Therefore, You, And Each of You, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the city Red Lake Falls, in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 1st day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the seal of said court, this 9th day of January, 1907.

—N. W. Tarrant,
Probate Judge.

(Court Seal)

—Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Petitioner. j10-24

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred, Fifty-six and 4-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by O. A. Steen (a single man) Mortgagor, to Sadie O. Elwood, Mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of March, 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1903, at 2:10 o'clock P. M., in Book 21 of Mortgages on page 142.

That since the execution and delivery of said mortgage the mortgagee, Sadie O. Elwood has married and that her name is now Sadie O. Grady, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The northeast quarter (NE¼) of section number twenty-eight (28), township number one hundred and fifty (150) north, range number forty-four (44) west of the 5th Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres of land, according to the U. S. Government survey thereof, be the same more or less, in Red Lake county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock, a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred, fifty-six and 1-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 18th, A. D., 1906.

Sadie O. Grady,
formerly Sadie O. Elwood,
Mortgagee.

Germo & Farley,
Attorneys for the Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minn. d20-f24

CITATION FOR HEARING ON FINAL ACCOUNT AND FOR DISTRIBUTION.

ESTATE OF CHARLES W. CRESS.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } SS.

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the estate of Charles W. Cress Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Louisa E. Cress, Cora Ellen Cress, Emma May Cress and Floyd J. H. D. Cress, all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this court her final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with her petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 2nd day of February, 1907, at 2 o'clock p. m., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the Seal of said Court, this 9th day of January, 1907.

N. W. Tarrant,
Probate Judge.

[Seal] j10-j24

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned until February 14th, 1907, 12 o'clock M, for printing the official business of the city council for the year ending January, A. D., 1908.

—By Order of the City Council.

—A. P. TOUPIN,
City Clerk.

How Are Your Kidneys?

Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Pills cure all kidney ills. Sample free. Add. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or N. Y.

ORDER FOR CREDITORS TO PRESENT CLAIMS WITHIN THREE MONTHS.

ESTATE OF ANDREW R. PETERSON

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss.

In Probate Court,

In the matter of the estate of Andrew R. Peterson, deceased:

Letters of Administration with the will annexed on the estate of Andrew R. Peterson deceased, late of the Village of St. Hilaire, in the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to Olaus Peterson:

It appearing on proper proof by affidavit of the administrator with the will annexed made and filed herein, as provided by law, that there are no debts against the estate of said Andrew R. Peterson deceased:

It is Ordered, That three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date on this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased, if any there be, are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said county, for examination and allowance or be forever barred.

It is further ordered that Tuesday, the 16th day of April, 1907, at ten o'clock A. M., at a Special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, be and the same is hereby appointed as the time and place when and where the the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And it is further ordered, that notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate, by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 14th day of January A. D. 1907.

(Probate)
(Seal)

By the Court,
N. W. Tarrant,
Judge of Probate.

J. K. Hannay,
Attorney for Petitioner,
St. Hilaire, Minn. j17-j31

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventy and 99-100 ($70.99) Dollars, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Joseph Boushea, administrator of the estate of John Boushea, deceased, mortgagor, to M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of March, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 21 of Mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, to John Jaenike by written assignment dated the 9th day of April, 1904, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 14th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages on page 119.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said John Jaenike the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., by written assignment dated the 14th day of December, 1906, and recorded on the 19th day of December, 1906, at 6 o'clock p. m., in book 15 of mortgages page 345, and by reason of the default herein before mentioned the said Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, the assignee of said mortgagee, chooses to declare and hereby does declare the whole debt secured by the aforesaid mortgage due and payable making in all four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the south-west quarter of section fourteen (14), Township numbered one hundred fifty (150), North of Range forty-two (42), west of the 5th P. M. in the state of Minnesota, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the second day of March, 1907, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 15th, A. D., 1907.

Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee,

F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. j17-f28

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION.

Estate of AMELIA KORTKE, Deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake } ss

In Probate Court,

In the matter of the estate of Amelia Kortke Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Eric Kortke, Henry Kortke, Emil Kortke and Annie Kortke, and Daniel Oerlach, their Guardian, and all persons interested in the granting of administration of the estate of said decedent:

The petition of Chas. E. Boughton, having been filed in this court, representing that Amelia Kortke, then a resident of the county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, died intestate on or about the 15th day of September 1906; and praying that letters of administration of her estate be granted to Theo Garceau; and the court, having fixed the time and place for hearing said petition; Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court rooms in the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in the county of Red Lake state of Minnesota, on the 8th day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said court, and the Seal of said Court, this 17th day of January, 1907.

N. W. Tarrant,
Judge of Probate

[SEAL] j17-j31

Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Petitioner.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

5,000 Rifles FREE TO BOYS

Just send us your name and address so that we may tell you how to get this fine rifle Absolutely FREE.

YOU CAN HAVE ONE

As we are going to give away 5,000 of them. We mean it, every word, and this is an honest, straightforward offer, made by an upright business firm who always do exactly as they agree. All we ask is that you do a few minutes work for us. It is so very easy that you will be surprised. This Handsome Rifle is not a toy air rifle, but is a genuine steel, blue barrel, hunting rifle, that is strong, accurate and safe and carries a 22-calibre long or short cartridge. If you want a fine little hunting rifle, just write and ask us for particulars. They are free and you will surely say it's the best offer you ever saw or heard of.

BE SURE and WRITE AT ONCE before the 5,000 rifles are all gone, as the boys are taking them fast. Address

Peoples Popular Monthly,
567 Arcade Building,
DES MOINES, IOWA.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS, SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING, WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER

MAIN STREET, - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet Pure and Wholesome.

It's All The What

That's Fit To Eat.

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near our idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS MILLING CO.

The Falls Meat Market

BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats

Fish and Game in Season.

Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.

TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

TWO MONTHS' TUITION FREE and your car fare paid by the........

UNION

Commercial College

Complete Business, Shorthand, English and Banking Courses. Every graduate in position. Write for particulars and Free Catalogue.

UNION COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,

THACKER & HUGHES, Props. Grand Forks, North Dako

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains

Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY

Grand View Hotel

Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City

W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

HIDES

10 to 50% more Spot Cash for HIDES and RAW FURS by shipping to us than by selling at home. Fair dealings. Prompt cash returns. Best prices for HIDES, PELTS, RAW FURS, WOOL, ETC. Write for Price List, Market Report, shipping tags and how to obtain our Hunters' & Trappers' Guide. We are the most responsible Hide and Fur House in the N. W. Endorsed by 100 leading agricultural papers

ANDERSCH BROS., Department 66. - - - MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

ESTABLISHED 1867

SHIP YOUR HIDES, FURS, WOOL, ETC. DIRECT TO US AND SAVE SMALL DEALERS' PROFITS.

D. BERGMAN & CO., ST. PAUL, MINN.

TOP MARKET PRICES, IMMEDIATE CASH RETURNS

WRITE FOR PRICE LIST AND SHIPPING TAGS.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 7, 1907 No 19

THE FINAL NUMBER

Lyceum Series Will Conclude With Saxophone Quartette Next Monday Evening.

The Colonial Saxophone Quartette, the final number of the Lyceum entertainment course, will hold the boards at the Metropolitan opera house Monday evening next, and every indication points to a record-breaking attendance.

The quartette comes with a reputation of being one of the finest ever seen in this section of the state, and as the entertainment they put up is out of the ordinary run it will without question please everyone who is present.

Nothing too good can be said of this company as princely entertainers, and the people who remain at home on Monday night will surely miss something good.

Casey Will Leave.

J. A. Casey, formerly of this city, who has been the manager of the yards of the Robertson lumber company at Crookston for the past five years, will sever his connection with that company March 1st and will be succeeded by Fred Morin, whose home is here, but who has been with the company at Hallock for some time past. Mr. Casey goes to South Dakota where he owns a half interest in two yards. He will sell one and run the other himself. Last year Mr. Casey did the biggest business since he went to Crookston. He is a business man from the ground up, pleasant, affable and thoroughly versed in the lumber business. He has a host of friends in the valley who regret his approaching departure but who will wish him all manner of success.

Attended Directors Meeting.

Samuel Gibeau returned home Friday from Grand Forks, where he spent last Thursday attending the meeting of the Red River Valley Developement and Immigration association. Mr. Gibeau represented Mayor Duffy, who was unable to get away.

The meeting was well attended and much good work was outlined. Early in the session committees were named to report resolutions which will tell of the actual conditions in the Red River Valley at the present time. These resolutions are to be sent to newspapers and other places, where they will do the most good. It was pointed out that the snow blockade conditions in this section have been grossly exaggerated in the east and there is need of a movement to get the truth before the people.

The matter of railway rates for homeseekers was taken up and the committee appointed at the Fargo meeting reported correspondence with the railways in regard to the matter. Some progress has been made in the movement.

It was decided to continue the work of organization. An effort will be made to have the organization of the Red River Valley as complete as possible.

HAD OUR FIRST TIE-UP

Red Lake Falls Experiences Its First Day Without Train Service On Great Northern.

What proved to be one of the heaviest of the many heavy storms of the present winter struck this section of the country last Friday afternoon, and until Saturday evening the wind and snow combined carried things with a high hand, and made it decidedly uncomfortable for the fellow who was foolish enough to put his nose out of doors.

The storm was probably the worst of the winter, inasmuch as it tied up this branch of the Great Northern completely for two days, the first time that the road has failed to get its train over the line daily during the winter. Friday evening's passenger to Crookston got through by hard work, but owing to the heavy drifting and terrible cold Saturday no service was attempted and not until Monday noon did the Great Northern passenger get through. A snow plow and flanger came this far Sunday and cleared up the big cuts about this city.

The Northern Pacific did not get any trains through Monday and it was reported that between here and Hill Top the track was covered by drifts twenty feet high in some places, and as hard as ice.

The storm also played havoc with the country roads, which were nearly in good shape again after the last storm, and as a result no wood can be brought to town. Red Lake Falls is at present nearly face to face with a fuel famine. No wood is to be had on the market, and hard and soft coal are both minus quantities.

So far no actual suffering has been reported, but there are many business places and families that are condensing their living space in order to save fuel, as there will apparently be no relief for a few weeks as yet. The coal dealers have a lot of coal on the road, but with the condition the railroads are in just at present not much hope is held out that it will get here very soon.

Worth Trying.

A writer in the Rochester Post and Record who claims to have knowledge of the fact indites the following: "A tried remedy, yet few seem to know of it as a cure. Don't cut your hand or foot off when you have been so unfortunate as to freeze them but pack well in fine salt as soon as possible, and leave so until frost is all out, and all will be well as before frosted and without pain." This should be printed at the beginning of cold weather every year by all newspapers—it would save hands and feet. Papers please copy.

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

TEACHERS WILL MEET

Next Gathering of Red Lake County Association To Be Held at Thief River Falls.

The next meeting of the Red Lake County Teachers' association will be held at Thief River Falls on Friday and Saturday, February 22 and 23.

The committee in charge of the program preparation reports fair progress, and hope for one of the largest and most interesting gatherings in the history of the association. While all the details are not fully completed, the following is a brief outline of the program that will be rendered:

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, FEB. 22

Discussion of State Teachers' Examination questions written upon Jan. 31st, Feb. 1st and 2nd, 1907.

FRIDAY EVENING.

Lecture on Alaska by Dr. Gamble. Music and entertainment will be furnished by the High School Mandolin Club, and by the faculty and students of Thief River Falls schools.

SATURDAY, FEB. 23.

Discussion of examination questions continued.

All teachers are requested to bring exhibits of work done in their respective schools by pupils in all grades.

Prof. Hay has charge of the evening's entertainment, and a good time is assured.

IRON ORE DISCOVERED

Sixty Foot Ledge Struck at Kelliher at Depth of Five Hundred Feet.

When the drilling for iron ore was commenced last August, a short distance south of Kelliher, it was generally believed by those acquainted with the conditions existing in the country surrounding that place, that iron ore would sooner or later be discovered. But the hopes of even the most enthusiastic probably never realized the extent of the deposits nor the richness of the ore.

The drill, which has been operated almost continuously since last August, completed its work, having drilled to a depth of over 500 feet. Although small deposits of iron were discovered at frequent intervals after the drill had been lowered one hundred feet, it was not until three weeks ago that the main ledge, the "pay dirt," was encountered. Since that time the diamond drill has been used exclusively, and approximately sixty feet of solid iron ore has been gone through.

From time to time samples of the ore have been sent away to be assayed, and while the results of the tests have not been divulged yet it is known that the ore is very rich.

Next week other drills will be commenced to determine in what direction the ledge runs and the extent of the deposit. Drilling will be commenced at different points and exact position of the ledge determined.

The finding of ore will mean much to Kelliher and the entire county. It will create a new industry that will employ hundreds of men, and that in conjunction with her lumbering and agricultural industries will make Kelliher the metropolis of Beltrami county and one of the most substantial cities in Northern Minnesota.

Fred Krueger Hurt.

The venerable Fred Krueger was quite badly injured Tuesday, and as a result will be confined to his bed for several weeks. He was starting for home carrying a box under his arm when he slipped and fell heavily to the ground, his side striking across the edge of the box. The fall broke two ribs and injured him otherwise. He was removed to his home and medical aid attended to his injuries, and while he is doing as well as can be expected it will be some time before he is out again. "Uncle Fred" is a familiar figure on our streets, and his many friends hope that his period of enforced lay-up will be decidedly brief.

EXHIBIT OF POULTRY

Local Chicken Fanciers Enter Birds In Crookston Poultry Exhibition.

Several of the local poultry enthusiasts sent some of their choice poultry down to Crookston last evening to be entered in the poultry show being held there this week under the auspices of the Red River Valley Poultry association.

This show is the annual exhibit of the association, and it was expected that a large number of feathered beauties would be entered to compete for the prizes hung up. The chickens sent by the local enthusiasts are all fine specimens and will undoubtedly cut a figure when it comes to judging the winners. The following gentlemen sent birds from here: M. A. Converse, pen of Barred Rocks and pen of Single Comb White Leghorns; Dr. J. C. Wilkinson, pen of White Plymouth Rocks and pen of Rhode Island reds; Fred L. Farley, pen of White Wyandottes.

Expert D. E. Hale, who was expected here last Saturday to score the birds for the members of the local association, wired Saturday that he was snow-bound at Minot and could not get here on time, if at all. As there was no telling what time he might be able to come the matter was dropped for the present and the association will wait until next fall, when they plan to have a monster poultry show in this city.

MUCH SNOW FALLEN

U. S. Weather Observer Grasse Gives Comparative Snowful Figures.

U. S. Weather Observer Grasse of the Moorhead office has furnished the following comparative figures anent the snowfall during the seasons 1896-7 and 1906-7:

	Winter of 1896-7	Winter of 1906-7
November	30.4	14.6
December	7.1	13.8
January	15.5	17.5
February	13.6
March	7.3
Total	73.9	45.8
Total to Jan. 31	53.

It will be noted that while the snowfall of the winter of 1896-7 to Jan. 31 was 53 inches whereas the snowfall during the present winter to Jan. 31 was 45.8 inches, the difference is only 7.2 inches.

The heavy snowful in the winter of 1896-7 was in November, the first month of the winter, being more than double that of November of last year, but the snowfall during December of 1906 was nearly double that of December, 1896 and the snowfall during the past month was nearly two inches greater than during January, 1897. Should February and March make a record to that of December and January, the snowfall for this winter will exceed that of 1896-7 and render the recurrence of a big flood probable. February and March have a chance to become very popular months in the Red River Valley.

Wedding at Dorothy.

Tom O'Neil and Miss Laura Cassavaunt, two popular young people of Dorothy, were married at the Gentilly Catholic church Monday in the presence of a large number of friends. After the ceremony the guests returned to the home of the bride's parents near Dorothy where a wedding reception and good time was held during the afternoon and evening. The contracting parties are both well known in this part of Red Lake county. Mr. O'Neil is the carrier on the Dorothy-Red Lake Falls mail route and is a first class young man. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Cassavaunt, of Parnell, Polk county, and is known as an accomplished young lady. The young people will live at Dorothy.

How Are Your Kidneys?
Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Pills cure all kidney ills. Sample free. Add. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or N. Y.

STORE GUTTED BY FIRE

Store Room Occupied By J. R. & R. Fortier The Scene of a Hot Blaze.

Last evening at about half past eight, the clang of the fire bell called out the populace in double quick time, when it was seen that the store of J. R. & R. Fortier, adjoining the post-office was a mass of flames.

The department responded very quickly and were at once getting busy to check the flames. Before the engine was in operation, however, the fire had gained great headway on the interior of the building, and the room was a seething mass of fire. Just before the water was turned on the fire broke through the front, and ten minutes more would have meant the utter ruin of the building. As soon as the water was available, however, quick work was made of the blaze, and within a very few moments the fire boys had the flames under complete control.

The entire stock of general merchandise owned by J. R. & R. Fortier is a total loss, the fixtures and all being completely destroyed. Upstairs is the photograph gallery of W. A. Reichel, and Mr. Reichel suffers a heavy loss from water and smoke, although nothing in his rooms was burned. After the fire had been put out down stairs, a small blaze was found in the second story and the water was again turned on, playing havoc with the interior of Mr. Reichel's gallery. In the front part of the building upstairs, Miss Elida Peterson conducted a dressmaking establishment, and while considerable damage was done to her goods through moving and with the smoke and water, her loss will not be very heavy.

The origin of the fire is a complete mystery. Mr. Fortier had closed his store yesterday for a few days to mark down his goods preparatory to inaugurating a closing out sale. During the day yesterday his stove had given trouble, and it is thought that after closing up last evening the store must have again blown up, and set fire to the contents.

The building is owned by W. A. Reichel, and while quite badly damaged down stairs can be put in shape again very easily. Owing to the damage done by water and smoke to his photographic outfit upstairs, Mr. Reichel will be a heavy loser, but it is understood that he is fairly well covered by insurance.

The lack of wind was favorable to the firemen, but had the flames got a few minutes longer start, it is likely that several buildings would have gone up in smoke before the fire could have been checked.

NOTICE.

All knowing themselves indebted to the undersigned by book account or otherwise, will confer a great favor by settling same at the earliest moment possible. —J. R. & R. Fortier.

Accounts can be seen at V. M. Higinbotham's office.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS

The Commercial Club Meeting Next Monday Will Be An Important One.

The regular monthly meeting of the Red Lake Falls Commercial Club will be held at the city hall on Monday evening next, and it is desired that every member of the club be present as it is one of the most important of the year.

At this meeting officers for the ensuing year will be chosen, and here in itself is a matter that should be of general concern, as during the next few months the officers and directors of the club will be called on to do a lot of work, and it is important that they be men of recognized ability and good judgment.

At Monday night's meeting Delegate Gaass, who attended the meeting of the Valley association a few weeks ago, and Delegate Gibeau, who attended the directors' meeting of the same association at Grand Forks last week, will make their report to the club as to the observations taken.

Manny other matters of especial interest in general will come up, and it is hoped that a goodly number of the members will be present.

Many Took Exams.

The semi-annual teachers' examinations held in the three principal cities of the county Thursday, Friday and Saturday were fairly well attended, and County Superintendent McAnulty is busy getting his reports out for the state superintendent.

Thirty-four took the examinations here; twenty at St. Hilaire and forty-three at Thief River Falls, a total of ninety-seven, which is a few less than took the February examinations last year.

Superintendent McAnulty reports that all but about twenty schools in the county have engaged teachers for the spring term, and that prospects for a successful school year were never better.

BOOKS FINE FEATURE.

Famous Elks Quartette To Sing at February Band Concert.

Manager Tracy of the local band organization has made arrangements for an excellent special feature for the February band concert, which will undoubtedly prove a good drawing card.

He has secured the famous Elks' male quartette, of Crookston, for this occasion and this popular musical bunch will be on the program for a couple of numbers. This quartette has been singing together for a long time, and are very highly spoken of by all who have heard them.

The date of the next concert has not yet been given out, but it will take place some time the latter part of this month. A number of extra fine numbers are being worked up, and it is planned to make this concert one of the best of the winter series.

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to employ in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank
Red Lake Falls Minnesota

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED : LAKE : FALLS : MINNESOTA

OFFERS YOU
PROMPT SERVICE
LIBERAL TREATMENT
ABSOLUTE SAFETY

We Extend the Accommodations of a Strong and Well-Equipped Bank

OFFICERS
CHAS. N. BOURDON, President
FRANK E. HUNT, Vice-President
THEO. GARCEAU, Cashier
GEO. F. HENNINGS, Asst. Cash.

DIRECTORS
Theo. Garceau Frank E. Hunt
Chas. N. Bourdon
W. A. Schreiter A. P. Toupin
N. M. Watson Geo. F. Hennings

Red Lake Falls Gazette.
Dudley & [illegible], Publishers.
RED LAKE FALLS. MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

The interstate commerce commission transmitted to congress its first report on its investigation on discriminations and monopolies under the joint resolution of congress of March 7, 1906. The report deals with the bituminous coal monopoly of the east, says the railways control the output and makes recommendations for remedial legislation.

The interstate commerce commission severely arraigned the Standard Oil company, accusing it of nearly every crime that a corporation can commit.

The house representatives restored to the agricultural appropriation bill the provision for free distribution of seeds.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Several hundred men and boys attempted to lynch a negro in the business section of Pittsburg because he fought a newsboy.

Secretary Loeb announced that the Panama canal contract had not yet been let to W. K. Oliver or anyone else, and that all bids might be rejected.

It was stated that at least 2,000 cars loaded with merchandise for the northwest were stalled at Minneapolis and many more at other points.

Representative Wadsworth, of New York, in vindicating himself and the agricultural committee for the work done last session on the meat inspection bill, assailed President Roosevelt's course.

California congressmen had a long conference with the president and said the outlook was good for a satisfactory solution of the Japanese school trouble.

Charles L. Stevens, grand master of Michigan Masons, died of heart disease at Detroit.

While testing a new fire escape on a sorority house at Madison, Wis., Miss May Douglas, of Winona, Minn., fell from the third story to the ground and was probably fatally injured.

Every building in Vandalia, Ill., was shaken by an earthquake and many persons were aroused from deep sleep. The shock was accompanied by a loud rumbling.

A fifth attempt to wreck trains on the Kansas City, Clinton & Springfield railway was made one mile south of Osceola, Mo. A section foreman found eight railroad spikes between rails.

The mill of the Economic Gold Extraction company, located in Eclipse Gulch, near Victor, Col., was destroyed by fire. The plant was installed at a cost of $500,000.

Indian Inspector James McLaughlin, of Washington, has secured an agreement with the Rosebud Sioux Indians for the throwing open by the federal government of nearly a million acres of land in Tripp county, S. D.

Twenty-three Mexican revolutionists under sentence of imprisonment for five to eight years, were released from jail at Monterey, Mex., by sympathizers.

Edmund E. Price, well-known criminal lawyer and playwright of New York, died suddenly.

Secretary Taft authorized the superintendent of the West Point Military academy to take the entire corps of cadets to the Jamestown exposition.

Students of Lawrence university attending a banquet at Kaukauna, Wis., were attacked by roughs and burnt with sulphuric acid.

Capt. George B. Boynton, sentenced to six months on Blackwell's island for complicity in a plan to counterfeit the silver dollars of Venezuela, was pardoned by the president.

Stockholders of the Santa Fe Railway company voted for the issuance of $98,000,000 in bonds.

Two men were killed by the explosion of a locomotive near Fort Wayne, Ind.

State Senator S. A. D. Keister, of Wyoming, died of appendicitis at Chadron, Neb.

Socialists in Warsaw undertook and carried out the execution of a bandit who made an unsuccessful attempt to secure $500 from the Commercial bank of Warsaw.

James Wade, one of the oldest and best known members of the bar of Cleveland, O., is dead.

The joint postal commission authorized at the last session of congress recommended many additions to the law relative to second class mail matter.

Every able-bodied man in Shawneetown, Ill., helped repair a break in the levee and the city was saved from flood.

John F. Magner, associate editor of the Star-Chronicle of St. Louis, died suddenly at his home from hemorrhage of the stomach.

Eighty or more men were entombed in the Stuart coal mine near Fayetteville, W. Va., by a terrific explosion. Rescuers could not enter the shaft and it was believed not one of the miners would be taken out alive.

Late estimates of the dead in the Stuart mine disaster placed the number at 60.

Mrs. Nancy White, a negress, 106 years old, the oldest woman in western Pennsylvania, is dead at her home in New Haven, Pa. Up to three years ago she worked as a washerwoman.

The grand jury of Allegheny county, Pa., returned six true bills against the Pullman Palace Car company, alleging the sale of impure milk and cream to its patrons.

It was reported from the Vatican that the offerings of Peter's pence this year are smaller than usual.

Martial law was declared in Valencia, Spain, following the food-tax riots and a strike of workmen. Serious trouble is feared.

Maj. Austin Cushman, who was private secretary to President Fillmore, died while attending a Masonic celebration in Boston. He was 80 years old and a prominent G. A. R. man.

Dudley Chase, ex-chaplain of the United States army, is dead in Philadelphia, aged 91. He was a son of Dr. Philander Chase, an early bishop of Illinois.

M. Guidema, governor of the political prison on Vasili Ostrov, a suburb of St. Petersburg, was shot in the main street of the island and died almost immediately. The assassin escaped.

Five men were killed and 11 were hurt by an explosion of powder in the Johnson City and Big Muddy coal mine at Johnson City, Ill.

The mine disaster at Saarbruecken, Prussia, resulted in 148 deaths, according to an official report.

Fire, which started with an explosion in the paint shop, destroyed one entire section of the big Baldwin Locomotive Works at Philadelphia, entailing a loss of $1,000,000.

Gov. Swettenham of Kingston formally withdrew his offensive letter to Rear Admiral Davis and expressed regret for having written it. Residents of Kingston passed resolutions condemning the governor's conduct.

W. K. Oliver, to whom the Panama canal contract is to be awarded, formed a partnership with F. C. Stevens, president of a bank in Washington and state superintendent of public works of New York.

Hundreds of cars of fuel and groceries for the people of the northwest were stalled in snow drifts.

The Kansas legislature passed a bill abolishing capital punishment.

The Maritime express train, from Montreal to Helifax, was wrecked near Windsor Junction, on the Intercolonial railroad, but no one was killed.

Mayor Erickson of Blomington, Ill., who was missing, returned after a trip to New York.

The hydrographic office at New Orleans announced that the Gulf stream had made important changes in its course.

Gen. Rylke, president of the St. Petersburg court martial, was given the post of military procurator which had been vacant since the assassination Jan. 9 of Gen. Pavloff.

Henry J. Allen, of Ottawa, Kan., bought from Harry J. Hagney the Wichita Daily Beacon.

McKinley's birthday was appropriately celebrated in Washington and other cities.

Harry Allen, who was prominent in the movement to make Kansas a free state, died suddenly at the National Soldiers' home at Lansing, Kan.

Reports that Count Leo Tolstoi was dying were contradicted by his son.

Two men were killed by an explosion that destroyed a powder mill near Fontninet, Ind.

Eight persons were injured, two fatally, by a railway collision at Crowder City, I. T.

Charles Behrens was indicted for embezzling $42,000 of the funds of a bank at Huntingburg, Ind.

The Portland (Me.) poorhouse is caring for Mrs. Steele, formerly Miss Jessamy Bret Harte, daughter of the author, Bret Harte. Mrs. Steele is said to be without means and is ill.

Many Dutch officials have been killed or wounded by revolting natives on the island of Java.

Jacob Gerbovitz, 24 years old, fired four shots at his wife, Emma Gerbovitz, and then turned the revolver upon himself, inflicting a wound from which he is expected to die, at Kenosha, Wis.

Seven thousand naphtha workers went on strike at Baku, Transcaucasia.

In a collision between an express train and an extra freight on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad at South River, Mass., five employes of the railroad were killed.

Tony Sain committed suicide at Uniontown Pa., by jumping into a coke oven.

It is reported that Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, is soon to leave the stage and marry Alfred T. Rogers, an attorney of Janesville.

Representative A. D. Dulaney of Little Rock county, Arkansas, was indicted on the charge of accepting a bribe of $200.

Attorney General Young, of Minnesota, made another attack on the Great Northern railway by beginning quo warranto proceedings to compel the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad company to show cause why its charter should not be forfeited. This company is really the parent of the Great Northern Railway company and the Great Northern was joined in this issue, as it is the owner of the Manitoba company's stock.

Rev. Cornelius Hill, oldest of the Oneida chiefs, is dead on the reservation near Green Bay, Wis., aged 75 years.

Otis Eddy, aged 102 years, died at his home in Rockford, Ill. He was believed to be the oldest Mason in this country in years of membership, having been initiated into the order May 20, 1826.

Mail reports from American consular officers in China confirm the worst stories of the famine.

More than 100 Chinese were drowned when a severe windstorm swept Hong Kong harbor.

Fire in a garage in New York destroyed 100 automobiles, the loss being $750,000.

J. J. Hill, E. H. Harriman and the Republican policy of protection were assailed in the minority adverse report on the Littauer compromise ship subsidy bill, which was filed in the house, signed by four Democratic members of the committee on merchant marine.

Charles W. Schulte, aged 63, a capitalist and banker of Memphis, Tenn., committed suicide at the Battle Creek sanitarium, where he was being treated for a nervous trouble.

Mrs. August Ringling, mother of the Ringling brothers, died in Baraboo, Wis.

James H. Beatty, for 15 years judge of the United States district court for the district of Idaho, tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt.

Col. Richard W. Blue, formerly a well-known Kansas politician and attorney, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Bartlesville, I. T., aged 65 years.

Gesper Kuhiczoi of Jersey City, N. J., deliberately placed his head on a rail at Allegheny, Pa., and a train severed it. He was insane.

The plant of the Phelps Publishing company, Springfield, Mass., was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

Walter L. Lane, publisher of the Muscatine (Iowa) Journal, died of heart trouble.

Albert Houck found the body of his wife lying on a table of her room, burned to a crisp, in Pittsburg, when he returned from work.

The lifeless bodies of Jacob Weil, the proprietor of a Brooklyn restaurant, and of his wife, Rosa Weil, were found in their apartments. Both had been asphyxiated by gas.

H. L. F. Lagercrantz has been appointed minister of Sweden to the United States.

Mrs. Emma Randall and Miss Della Ihde of Geneva, Iowa, saved an Iowa Central passenger train from being wrecked. They discovered a broken rail, and with a shawl flagged the train.

The first international exposition of safety devices and industrial hygiene was opened in New York.

The levee broke at Luxorn, Ark., and the town was flooded.

Thirty thousand people passed by the bier of the late Senator Alger, whose body lay in state in the Detroit city hall.

Senator Alger was buried at Detroit with full military honors.

Three firemen were killed and many injured by falling walls when the Seneca building in Buffalo, N. Y., was destroyed by fire.

Five men were killed, two fatally hurt and 20 injured by the explosion of an ammonia tank in Armour & Co.'s plant at the Chicago stockyards.

Reed Knox, son of Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, was married to Miss Elizabeth McCook of Washington.

John T. Williams, 40 years old, paying teller of the Lincoln National bank of New York, was found dead in Bronx park with an empty bottle that had contained poison lying at his side. Gen. Thomas L. James, president of the bank, said the dead man's accounts were straight.

Sigmond Weinstein, cashier of the Galveston agency of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, shot and killed himself in the reading room of the Elks club.

Rev. Dr. Henry Martin Field, for 44 years editor of the Evangelist, of New York, and brother of Cyrus W., David D. and Stephen J. Field, died, aged 85 years.

The French steamer St. Germain, bringing 200 laborers for the canal from West Indian ports, arrived at Colon and was at once placed under quarantine on account of smallpox on board.

The necessity for the restoration of the canteen in the American army was strongly set forth in a letter from Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee to Capt. J. Walter Mitchell of the Spanish-American War Veterans' association.

Mrs. Patrick Rice rescued her 12-year-old son from her burning home in Chicago and then was fatally burned in a vain effort to save another son, aged eight.

Alton Cameron, aged 23 years, a brother-in-law of Judge William F. Connolly, of the Detroit recorder's court, was shot and instantly killed in a saloon by Joseph Schulte, the bartender, after a quarrel.

Rev. Alexander Gilchrist, D. D., secretary of the Home Mission board of the United Presbyterian denomination and one of the most prominent figures of the church, died at his home in Pittsburg, Pa.

An unknown young man and young woman at Camden, N. J., committed suicide by letting an electric train strike them.

Twelve miners were killed by an explosion of fire damp in a mine at Lorentz, W. Va., and nine men were killed by a dynamite explosion near Pearisburg, Va.

The German government won a definite victory in the general election for a new reichstag. The liberal, radical and conservative parties, supporting Prince von Buelow's colonial policy, won at least 20 seats and the socialists lost 17 or 18 seats.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 26—Both senate and house today took action to endorse Edward T. Young, attorney general, in his legal battle against the railroads, both in the matter of that official's attack on the legality of the Manitoba charter now held by the Great Northern, and that of the injunction brought against the state by the ten railroads operating within it to prevent the putting into effect of the new lower rates ordered by the state railroad commission.

In the house L. O. Spooner, chairman of the railroad committee, today introduced a bill to grant the attorney general $25,000 a year for the employment of additional counsel and for entering into such expenses as are necessary in important litigations. Spooner gave notice that he would ask next Tuesday for passage of the bill under suspension of the rules which usually tie a bill down to a number of weeks before it is passed after its introduction. Spooner believes that no red tape should hamper the state in legal defense of the rights of the people at this time.

In the senate, B. E. Sundberg introduced a lengthy resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of five senators to make a special investigation of railroads, freight tonnage, etc., in Minnesota, the committee to engage for a clerk an expert on railroad matters. The author of the resolution said that at the present time the temporary injunction granted the railroads against the state railroad commission, in part ties the hands of the commissioners from immediate further action and investigation of railroad matters; but that the state senate is free to take up the fight for the people. The resolution will be acted upon next Tuesday when according to another resolution by Senator Putnam which passed, the state railroad commission is asked to report on what information about railroads it has on hand and what further data it desires.

The session of the senate today was marked by the introduction of nine bills for reform of life insurance companies. The bills regulate the salaries of insurance company officials and employes, disbursements and investments of companies, provisions relative to agents, prohibition of nonparticipating policies, prohibition of discriminations, and methods for election of company directors by policyholders. The bills were introduced by Senators Cashman (two), Glotzbach (two), Coller (two), Works and Farrington (two).

Senator J. F. Calhoun of Minneapolis introduced a bill to appropriate $10,000 for a silver service to be presented by the state to the new Battleship Minnesota, the governor to name a committee of three to purchase the service and present it to the secretary of the navy.

A new county option bill, to take the place of the one now pending, was introduced in the upper house today by Senator Thorpe of Willmar, and in the lower house by Representative Rachie of Madison. The new bill is endorsed by the prohibitionists, Anti-Saloon league, and several Scandinavian temperance organizations which are interested in the issue. The new bills call for a petition of 25 per cent of the voters to have the matter voted upon. The district court receives the petition, and is authorized to order a special election on the subject instead of having the issue met at the regular town election.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 29—Senator Sundberg of Kennedy today succeeded in getting his resolution, calling for an investigation of Minnesota railroads by a special senate committee, passed by the upper house. The vote on the resolution stood 55 to 1, practically every senator wanting to have his vote recorded "right" in the sight of his constituents, tho many were evidently opposed to the measure. J. F. Calhoun was the lone senator who voted against the resolution, and he probably would have joined the "band wagon" if it were not that his name on the roll call is about the first and he had to announce his vote before knowing how the rest of the senate would declare itself. There was much discussion on the resolution. E. E. Smith thought it unnecessary extravagance to engage and extra clerk for the committee when the senate already had so many employes. Sundberg replied that Smith might as well come out and try to kill the resolution in the open. Geo. P. Wilson, former attorney general, took exception to the insinuations made by Sundberg to an honest criticism and Sundberg said if his remarks had been ungentlemanly he would apologize.

The chair named on the special committee Senators Sundberg, chairman, Cashman, Nelson, Sageng and Canestorp. The opposition to the resolution on the part of some of the senators was because of the belief that the "expert clerk" called for by the resolution was to be Eric Olson, who injected himself into most of the railroad rate hearings before the state commission, and whose evidence submitted, though voluminous, was of little aid from a point of view of legal intelligence and enlightenment.

There were numerous bills introduced in the senate today, but they were for the most part of little interest. Senator George P. Wilson introduced a bill making uniform laws for the sale of all goods. The bill was drafted by a conference of commissioners on uniform state laws. Senator Hinton introduced a bill appropriating $25,000 as state aid for the teaching of domestic science in high schools, the aid to be from $200 to $400 a school. Senator Dar Hall presented a measure to appropriate $16,000 for establishment of a state fruit breeding farm, and making a standing appropriation for the institution of $2,000 annually.

In the house today S. D. Peterson caused a lively debate by offering a resolution commending former Congressman J. M. McCleary of the Second district for his stand in congress for a high tariff. The resolution went over on notice of debate by Ambrose Tighe of St. Paul. A third fish hatchery is established at Detroit Lake in a bill introduced by Representative Bjorge. The measure carries an appropriation of $10,000. J. A. Gates introduced a bill to propigate prairie chickens in the state by forbidding that they be killed for the next two years.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 30—Senator Albert Schaller of Hastings, democrat, today introduced a bill in the senate which if it passes, will permit the state to give the laugh to the railroads which have secured a temporary injunction against the putting in effect of the new low tarriff on general commodity freights, as established by the railroad and warehouse commission. The bill reads that the tariffs for carrying general commodity freight in the state of Minnesota shall be—and then follows in detail a table of rates promulgated by the state commission. If this became a law, the rates would of course be in effect and in the meantime it will be impossible for the railroads to bring an injunction suit against the legislature to stop the passage of the bill.

Another important measure which put in an appearance today was an innocent looking bill by Senator V. B. Seward of Marshall, proposing the substitution of the words "every person" for the word "male," in section 1, article 7 of the constitution. The effect of this change would be to permit free and equal suffrage of women with men at any and all elections.

The senate held a long debate this morning on the Moonan resolution, ordering the senate railroad committee to report on the 2-cent fare as soon as possible, and not later in any event than Feb. 6. The resolution suffered several amendments, finally being lost by a vote of 22 to 31. Senator Peterson, the author of one of the 2-cent fare bills, led the attack on the resolution on the ground that the railroad committee had not had an opportunity to meet and consider its bills because several of its members had been busy serving on the elections committee on the Butler-Hackney contest; and that the committeemen should not therefore, be made to suffer the odium which would attach on the passage of a criticising resolution.

The house adjourned at 11 a. m., after passage of resolutions to the memory of the late Dr. L. W. Babcock of Wadena, a former speaker of the house. Some business was transacted, however. S. O. Morse, on his own request, had his resolution appropriating $250 legislative expenses to each member, referred back to himself, a gentle parliamentary method of giving a resolution or bill its funeral. His action was the result of a story, the truth of which is not doubted, that the attorney general was preparing a report for the house relative to the resolution which dealt with the proposition with ungentle hand, and Morse desired to avoid the coming trouble.

The house voted to adopt the report of the committee on express and telegraph lines, which recommended the adoption of Donald Robertson's resolution calling for investigation of express rates. N. J. Holmberg offered a measure prohibiting the sale of liquor or cigarettes within one mile of the state agricultural college. The measure, however, makes no refence to the "makings," and the student who formerly rolled his own cigarette may continue to do so even if the legislature passes the bill. N. F. Hugo of Duluth offered a bill to stimulate the building of rural street railway lines. It provides that roads and highways may be condemned for tracks on consent of county commissioners.

Tomorrow afternoon the senate will take up as a special order of business the contest brought by Pierce Butler, democrat, for the senatorial seat of J. M Hackney of Hamline. The elections committee has a majority report in favor of Hackney, but there is liable to be a wordy battle on the proposition. The attorneys of each side are to be allowed an hour and a quarter each to address the senate.

Stuck by the Way

Minneapolis, Minn.—There are hundreds of cars loaded with coal from Duluth side tracked all over the Northwest, and they will not reach their destination till spring.

This statement was made by a prominent official of the Pittsburg Coal company to The Tribune, in discussing the coal supply of Northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

"It is hard to help," added the official, "it is simply a problem of the snows and storms. A train of coal leaves Duluth and is blocked by snow."

Will Suffer

St. Cloud, Minn.—Theodore H. Beaulieu of the White Earth Indian agency says there will be intense suffering in northern Minnesota before supplies can be taken in. He refers particularly to the White Earth reservation, where, he says, conditions are much different from former years.

Since the land has been allotted Indians and others are not permitted to help themselves to timber, even for fuel, and they now have to buy their wood. The winter has been exceptionally severe.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY
Says Pe-ru-na Is a Good Medicine.

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. C. C. BROOKS.

THERE are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather.

This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether it be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowl complaint, whether the liver be affected or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

The weather slightly deranges the mucous membranes of the organs and the result is some functional disease.

Peruna has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments of this sort.

Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Almanac for 1907.

BROKE THE DEER'S BACK.

How Treed Hunter Escaped From Threatened Death.

Peter Rindernecht, of Camp Bailey, Pa., is still talking of his narrow escape from an infuriated deer, which he finally killed in an unusual manner.

While the other members of the camp were away on a long drive, Pete, finding things slow in camp, decided to do a little hunting on his own hook.

Back of the Hinkle farm he jumped a large buck and fired a shot which made a flesh wound. The angry deer, lowering its prongs, made for Pete, who dropped his rifle and climbed the nearest tree.

The deer pawed at the tree, snorting with rage, and Pete thought it a fine joke until night began to draw near with the buck still on guard.

Pete yelled for help, but his cries only echoed through the ravines. It was very cold, and the hunter found that it would not be long until he would release his hold on the branches and fall to the ground.

A desperate plan was determined upon. Pete weighs close to 280 pounds, and when the buck, walking around the tree, was directly beneath him, the hunter doubled himself up like a ball and dropped.

He landed right on the buck's back, breaking its spinal column and crippling it so that the work of killing it with his hunting knife was easy.

Has Cinch on Position.

Various authorities have passed on a letter received at the post office department a short time ago and it has finally been sent to the postmaster general. The letter came from a western postmaster at a small office and read: "In accordance with the rules of the department, I write you to inform you that on next Saturday I will close the post office for one day, as I am going on a bear hunt. I am not asking your permission to close up and you can discharge me if you want to. But I will advise you now that I am the only man in the county who can read and write." It is not likely that the postmaster will be discharged.

Long and Remarkable Life.

Suffold tells us of a remarkable record of an old man of his acquaintance employed by Mr. William Lodge, of Gorleston-on-Sea. This old gentleman began his working life as a farm laborer 71 years ago, before Queen Victoria came to the throne, and at 81 he can still drive a plow as well as most men of half his years. Almost more remarkable is the fact that although he has spent practically all his long life within sight of the sea he has never been on it, nor has he ever been inside a train.—Tit-Bits.

The Well Knit College Chap.

Ethel's big sister has an ardent admirer who is a college athlete, a big, broad-shouldered chap. Ethel overheard her sister say that he was well knit. The next evening, when the young man called, Ethel went into the parlor to entertain him.

"Do you know what sister says about you?" demanded Ethel.

"No. Something nice, I hope," said the young man.

"Oh, yes, it's very nice," replied Ethel. "She says you are beautifully crocheted."

Red Lake Falls Gazette.
Dudley & Coglow, Publishers
RED LAKE FALLS. MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

The interstate commerce commission transmitted to congress its first report on its investigation on discriminations and monopolies under the joint resolution of congress of March 7, 1906. The report deals with the bituminous coal monopoly of the east, says the railways control the output and makes recommendations for remedial legislation.

The interstate commerce commission severely arraigned the Standard Oil company, accusing it of nearly every crime that a corporation can commit.

The house representatives restored to the agricultural appropriation bill the provision for free distribution of seeds.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Several hundred men and boys attempted to lynch a negro in the business section of Pittsburg because he fought a newsboy.

Secretary Loeb announced that the Panama canal contract had not yet been let to W. K. Oliver or anyone else, and that all bids might be rejected.

It was stated that at least 2,000 cars loaded with merchandise for the northwest were stalled at Minneapolis and many more at other points.

Representative Wadsworth, of New York, in vindicating himself and the agricultural committee for the work done last session on the meat inspection bill, assailed President Roosevelt's course.

California congressmen had a long conference with the president and said the outlook was good for a satisfactory solution of the Japanese school trouble.

Charles L. Stevens, grand master of Michigan Masons, died of heart disease at Detroit.

While testing a new fire escape on a sorority house at Madison, Wis., Miss May Douglas, of Winona, Minn., fell from the third story to the ground and was probably fatally injured.

Every building in Vandalia, Ill., was shaken by an earthquake and many persons were aroused from deep sleep. The shock was accompanied by a loud rumbling.

A fifth attempt to wreck trains on the Kansas City, Clinton & Springfield railway was made one mile south of Osceola, Mo. A section foreman found eight railroad spikes between rails.

The mill of the Economic Gold Extraction company, located in Eclipse Gulch, near Victor, Col., was destroyed by fire. The plant was installed at a cost of $500,000.

Indian Inspector James McLaughlin, of Washington, has secured an agreement with the Rosebud Sioux Indians for the throwing open by the federal government of nearly a million acres of land in Tripp county, S. D.

Twenty-three Mexican revolutionists under sentence of imprisonment for five to eight years, were released from jail at Monterey, Mex., by sympathizers.

Edmund E. Price, well-known criminal lawyer and playwright of New York, died suddenly.

Secretary Taft authorized the superintendent of the West Point Military academy to take the entire corps of cadets to the Jamestown exposition.

Students of Lawrence university attending a banquet at Kaukauna, Wis., were attacked by roughs and burnt with sulphuric acid.

Capt. George B. Boynton, sentenced to six months on Blackwell's island for complicity in a plan to counterfeit the silver dollars of Venezuela, was pardoned by the president.

Stockholders of the Santa Fe Railway company voted for the issuance of $98,000,000 in bonds.

Two men were killed by the explosion of a locomotive near Fort Wayne, Ind.

State Senator S. A. D. Keister, of Wyoming, died of appendicitis at Chadron, Neb.

Socialists in Warsaw undertook and carried out the execution of a bandit who made an unsuccessful attempt to secure $500 from the Commercial bank of Warsaw.

James Wade, one of the oldest and best known members of the bar of Cleveland, O., is dead.

The joint postal commission authorized at the last session of congress recommended many additions to the law relative to second class mail matter.

Every able-bodied man in Shawneetown, Ill., helped repair a break in the levee and the city was saved from flood.

John F. Magner, associate editor of the Star-Chronicle of St. Louis, died suddenly at his home from hemorrhage of the stomach.

Eighty or more men were entombed in the Stuart coal mine near Fayetteville, W. Va., by a terrific explosion. Rescuers could not enter the shaft and it was believed not one of the miners would be taken out alive.

Late estimates of the dead in the Stuart mine disaster placed the number at 60.

Mrs. Nancy White, a negress, 106 years old, the oldest woman in western Pennsylvania, is dead at her home in New Haven, Pa. Up to three years ago she worked as a washerwoman.

The grand jury of Allegheny county, Pa., returned six true bills against the Pullman Palace Car company, alleging the sale of impure milk and cream to its patrons.

It was reported from the Vatican that the offerings of Peter's pence this year are smaller than usual.

Martial law was declared in Valencia, Spain, following the food-tax riots and a strike of workmen. Serious trouble is feared.

Maj. Austin Cushman, who was private secretary to President Fillmore, died while attending a Masonic celebration in Boston. He was 80 years old and a prominent G. A. R. man.

Dudley Chase, ex-chaplain of the United States army, is dead in Philadelphia, aged 91. He was a son of Dr. Philander Chase, an early bishop of Illinois.

M. Guldema, governor of the political prison on Vasili Ostrov, a suburb of St. Petersburg, was shot in the main street of the island and died almost immediately. The assassin escaped.

Five men were killed and 11 were hurt by an explosion of powder in the Johnson City and Big Muddy coal mine at Johnson City, Ill.

The mine disaster at Saarbruecken, Prussia, resulted in 148 deaths, according to an official report.

Fire, which started with an explosion in the paint shop, destroyed one entire section of the big Baldwin Locomotive Works at Philadelphia, entailing a loss of $1,000,000.

Gov. Swettenham of Kingston formally withdrew his offensive letter to Rear Admiral Davis and expressed regret for having written it. Residents of Kingston passed resolutions condemning the governor's conduct.

W. K. Oliver, to whom the Panama canal contract is to be awarded, formed a partnership with F. C. Stevens, president of a bank in Washington and state superintendent of public works of New York.

Hundreds of cars of fuel and groceries for the people of the northwest were stalled in snow drifts.

The Kansas legislature passed a bill abolishing capital punishment.

The Maritime express train, from Montreal to Halifax, was wrecked near Windsor Junction, on the Intercolonial railroad, but no one was killed

Mayor Erickson of Blomington, Ill., who was missing, returned after a trip to New York.

The hydrographic office at New Orleans announced that the Gulf stream had made important changes in its course.

Gen. Rylke, president of the St. Petersburg court martial, was given the post of military procurator which had been vacant since the assassination Jan. 9 of Gen. Pavloff.

Henry J. Allen, of Ottawa, Kan., bought from Harry J. Hagney the Wichita Daily Beacon.

McKinley's birthday was appropriately celebrated in Washington and other cities.

Harry Allen, who was prominent in the movement to make Kansas a free state, died suddenly at the National Soldiers' home at Lansing, Kan.

Reports that Count Leo Tolstoi was dying were contradicted by his son.

Two men were killed by an explosion that destroyed a powder mill near Fontainet, Ind.

Eight persons were injured, two fatally, by a railway collision at Crowder City, I. T.

Charles Behrens was indicted for embezzling $42,000 of the funds of a bank at Huntingburg, Ind.

The Portland (Me.) poorhouse is caring for Mrs. Steele, formerly Miss Jessamy Bret Harte, daughter of the author, Bret Harte. Mrs. Steele is said to be without means and is ill.

Many Dutch officials have been killed or wounded by revolting natives on the island of Java.

Jacob Gerbovitz, 24 years old, fired four shots at his wife, Emma Gerbovitz, and then turned the revolver upon himself, inflicting a wound from which he is expected to die, at Kenosha, Wis.

Seven thousand naphtha workers went on strike at Baku, Transcaucasia.

In a collision between an express train and an extra freight on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad at South River, Mass., five employes of the railroad were killed.

Tony Sain committed suicide at Uniontown Pa., by jumping into a coke oven.

It is reported that Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, is soon to leave the stage and marry Alfred T. Rogers, an attorney of Janesville.

Representative A. D. Dulaney of Little Rock county, Arkansas, was indicted on the charge of accepting a bribe of $200.

Attorney General Young, of Minnesota, made another attack on the Great Northern railway by beginning quo warranto proceedings to compel the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad company to show cause why its charter should not be forfeited. This company is really the parent of the Great Northern Railway company, and the Great Northern was joined in this issue, as it is the owner of the Manitoba company's stock.

Rev. Cornelius Hill, oldest of the Oneida chiefs, is dead on the reservation near Green Bay, Wis., aged 75 years.

Otis Eddy, aged 102 years, died at his home in Rockford, Ill. He was believed to be the oldest Mason in this country in years of membership, having been initiated into the order May 20, 1826.

Mail reports from American consular officers in China confirm the worst stories of the famine.

More than 100 Chinese were drowned when a severe windstorm swept Hong Kong harbor.

Fire in a garage in New York destroyed 100 automobiles, the loss being $750,000.

J. J. Hill, E. H. Harriman and the Republican policy of protection were assailed in the minority adverse report on the Littauer compromise ship subsidy bill, which was filed in the house, signed by four Democratic members of the committee on merchant marine.

Charles W. Schulte, aged 63, a capitalist and banker of Memphis, Tenn., committed suicide at the Battle Creek sanitarium, where he was being treated for a nervous trouble.

Mrs. August Ringling, mother of the Ringling brothers, died in Baraboo, Wis.

James H. Beatty, for 16 years judge of the United States district court for the district of Idaho, tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt.

Col. Richard W. Blue, formerly a well-known Kansas politician and attorney, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Bartlesville, I. T., aged 65 years.

Gasper Kubiczoi of Jersey City, N. J., deliberately placed his head on a rail at Allegheny, Pa., and a train severed it. He was insane.

The plant of the Phelps Publishing company, Springfield, Mass., was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

Walter L. Lane, publisher of the Muscatine (Iowa) Journal, died of heart trouble.

Albert Houck found the body of his wife lying on a table of her room, burned to a crisp, in Pittsburg, when he returned from work.

The lifeless bodies of Jacob Weil, the proprietor of a Brooklyn restaurant, and of his wife, Rosa Weil, were found in their apartments. Both had been asphyxiated by gas.

H. L. F. Lagercrantz has been appointed minister of Sweden to the United States.

Mrs. Emma Randall and Miss Della Ihde of Geneva, Iowa, saved an Iowa Central passenger train from being wrecked. They discovered a broken rail, and with a shawl flogged the train.

The first international exposition of safety devices and industrial hygiene was opened in New York.

The levee broke at Luxora, Ark., and the town was flooded.

Thirty thousand people passed by the bier of the late Senator Alger, whose body lay in state in the Detroit city hall.

Senator Alger was buried at Detroit with full military honors.

Three firemen were killed and many injured by falling walls when the Seneca building in Buffalo, N. Y., was destroyed by fire.

Five men were killed, two fatally hurt and 20 injured by the explosion of an ammonia tank in Armour & Co.'s plant at the Chicago stockyards.

Reed Knox, son of Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, was married to Miss Elizabeth McCook of Washington.

John T. Williams, 40 years old, paying teller of the Lincoln National bank of New York, was found dead in Bronx park with an empty bottle that had contained poison lying at his side. Gen. Thomas L. James, president of the bank, said the dead man's accounts were straight.

Sigmond Weinstein, cashier of the Galveston agency of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, shot and killed himself in the reading room of the Elks club.

Rev. Dr. Henry Martin Field, for 44 years editor of the Evangelist, of New York, and brother of Cyrus W., David D., and Stephen J. Field, died, aged 85 years.

The French steamer St. Germain, bringing 200 laborers for the canal from West Indian ports, arrived at Colon and was at once placed under quarantine on account of smallpox on board.

The necessity for the restoration of the canteen in the American army was strongly set forth in a letter from Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee to Capt. J. Walter Mitchell of the Spanish-American War Veterans' association.

Mrs. Patrick Rice rescued her 12-year-old son from her burning home in Chicago and then was fatally burned in a vain effort to save another son, aged eight.

Alton Cameron, aged 23 years, a brother-in-law of Judge William F. Connolly, of the Detroit recorder's court, was shot and instantly killed in a saloon by Joseph Schulte, the bartender, after a quarrel.

Rev. Alexander Gilchrist, D. D., secretary of the Home Mission board of the United Presbyterian denomination and one of the most prominent figures of the church, died at his home in Pittsburg, Pa.

An unknown young man and young woman at Camden, N. J., committed suicide by letting an electric train strike them.

Twelve miners were killed by an explosion of fire damp in a mine at Lorentz, W. Va., and nine men were killed by a dynamite explosion near Pearisburg, Va.

The German government won a definite victory in the general election for a new reichstag. The liberal, radical and conservative parties, supporting Prince von Buelow's colonial policy, won at least 20 seats and the socialists lost 17 or 18 seats.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 26—Both senate and house today took action to endorse Edward T. Young, attorney general, in his legal battle against the railroads, both in the matter of that official's attack on the legality of the Manitoba charter now held by the Great Northern, and that of the injunction brought against the state by the ten railroads operating within it to prevent the putting into effect of the new lower rates ordered by the state railroad commission.

In the house L. C. Spooner, chairman of the railroad committee, today introduced a bill to grant the attorney general $25,000 a year for the employment of additional counsel and for entering into such expenses as are necessary in important litigations. Spooner gave notice that he would ask next Tuesday for passage of the bill under suspension of the rules which usually tie a bill down to a number of weeks before it is passed after its introduction. Spooner believes that no red tape should hamper the state in legal defense of the rights of the people at this time.

In the senate, B. E. Sundberg introduced a lengthy resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of five senators to make a special investigation of railroads, freight tonnage, etc., in Minnesota, the committee to engage for a clerk an expert on railroad matters. The author of the resolution said that at the present time the temporary injunction granted the railroads against the state railroad commission, in part ties the hands of the commissioners from immediate further action and investigation of railroad matters; but that the state senate is free to take up the fight for the people. The resolution will be acted upon next Tuesday when according to another resolution by Senator Putnam which passed, the state railroad commission is asked to report on what information about railroads it has on hand and what further date it desires.

The session of the senate today was marked by the introduction of nine bills for reform of life insurance companies. The bills regulate the salaries of insurance company officials and employes, disbursements and investments of companies, provisions relative to agents, prohibition of non-participating policies, prohibition of discriminations, and methods for election of company directors by policyholders. The bills were introduced by Senators Cashman (two), Glotzbach (two), Coller (two), Works and Farrington (two).

Senator J. F. Calhoun of Minneapolis introduced a bill to appropriate $10,000 for a silver service to be presented by the state to the new Battleship Minnesota, the governor to name a committee of three to purchase the service and present it to the secretary of the navy.

A new county option bill, to take the place of the one now pending, was introduced in the upper house today by Senator Thorpe of Willmar, and in the lower house by Representative Rachie of Madison. The new bill is endorsed by the prohibitionists, Anti-Saloon league, and several Scandinavian temperence organizations which are interested in the issue. The new bills call for a petition of 25 per cent of the voters to have the matter voted upon. The district court receives the petition, and is authorized to order a special election on the subject instead of having the issue met at the regular town election.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 29—Senator Sundberg of Kennedy today succeeded in getting his resolution, calling for an investigation of Minnesota railroads by a special senate committee, passed by the upper house. The vote on the resolution stood 55 to 1, practically every senator wanting to have his vote recorded "right" in the sight of his constituents, tho many were evidently opposed to the measure. J. F. Calhoun was the lone senator who voted against the resolution, and he probably would have joined the "band wagon" if it were not that his name on the roll call is about the first and he had to announce his vote before knowing how the rest of the senate would declare itself. There was much discussion on the resolution. E. E. Smith thought it unnecessary extravagance to engage and extra clerk for the committee when the senate already had so many employes. Sundberg replied that Smith might as well come out and try to kill the resolution in the open. Geo. P. Wilson, former attorney general, took exception to the insinuations made by Sundberg to an honest criticism and Sundberg said if his remarks had been ungentlemanly he would apologize.

The chair named on the special committee Senators Sundberg, chairman, Cushman, Nelson, Sageng and Canestorp. The opposition to the resolution on the part of some of the senators was because of the belief that the "expert clerk" called for by the resolution was to be Eric Olson, who injected himself into most of the railroad rate hearings before the state commission, and whose evidence submitted, though voluminous, was of little aid from a point of view of legal intelligence and enlightenment.

There were numerous bills introduced in the senate today, but they were for the most part of little interest. Senator George P. Wilson introduced a bill making uniform laws for the sale of all goods. The bill was drafted by a conference of commissioners on uniform state laws. Senator Hinton introduced a bill appropriating $25,000 as state aid for the teaching of domestic science in high schools, the aid to be from $200 to $400 a school. Senator Dar Hall presented a measure to appropriate $16,000 for establishment of a state fruit breeding farm, and making a standing appropriation for the institution of $2,000 annually.

In the house today S. D. Peterson caused a lively debate by offering a resolution commending former Congressman J. M. McCleary of the Second district for his stand in congress for a high tariff. The resolution went over on notice of debate by Ambrose Tighe of St. Paul. A third fish hatchery is established at Detroit Lake in a bill introduced by Representative Bjorge. The measure carries an appropriation of $10,000. J. A. Gates introduced a bill to propigate prairie chickens in the state by forbidding that they be killed for the next two years.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 30—Senator Albert Schaller of Hastings, democrat, today introduced a bill in the senate which if it passes, will permit the state to give the laugh to the railroads which have secured a temporary injunction against the putting in effect of the new low tarriff on general commodity freights, as established by the railroad and warehouse commission. The bill reads that the tariffs for carrying general commodity freight in the state of Minnesota shall be—and then follows in detail a table of rates promulgated by the state commission. If this became a law, the rates would of course be in effect and in the meantime it will be impossible for the railroads to bring an injunction suit against the legislature to stop the passage of the bill.

Another important measure which put in an appearance today was an innocent looking bill by Senator V. B. Seward of Marshall, proposing the substitution of the words "every person" for the word "male," in section 1, article 7 of the constitution. The effect of this change would be to permit free and equal suffrage of women with men at any and all elections.

The senate held a long debate this morning on the Moonan resolution, ordering the senate railroad committee to report on the 2-cent fare as soon as possible, and not later in any event than Feb. 6. The resolution suffered several amendments, finally being lost by a vote of 22 to 31. Senator Peterson, the author of one of the 2-cent fare bills, led the attack on the resolution on the ground that the railroad committee had not had an opportunity to meet and consider its bills because several of its members had been busy serving on the elections committee on the Butler-Hackney contest; and that the committeemen should not therefore, be made to suffer the odium which would attach on the passage of a criticising resolution.

The house adjourned at 11 a. m., after passage of resolutions to the memory of the late Dr. L. W. Babcock of Wadena, a former speaker of the house. Some business was transacted, however. S. O. Morse, on his own request, had his resolution appropriating $250 legislative expenses to each member, referred back to himself, a gentle parliamentay method of giving a resolution or bill its funeral. His action was the result of a story, the truth of which is not doubted, that the attorney general was preparing a report for the house relative to the resolution which dealt with the proposition with ungentle hand, and Morse desired to avoid the coming trouble.

The house voted to adopt the report of the committee on express and telegraph lines, which recommended the adoption of Donald Robertson's resolution calling for investigation of express rates. N. J. Holmberg offered a measure prohibiting the sale of liquor or cigarettes within one mile of the state agricultural college. The measure, however, makes no refence to the "makings," and the student who formerly rolled his own cigarette may continue to do so even if the legislature passes the bill. N. F. Hugo of Duluth offered a bill to stimulate the building of rural street railway lines. It provides that roads and highways may be condemned for tracks on consent of county commissioners.

Tomorrow afternoon the senate will take up as a special order of business the contest brought by Pierce Butler, democrat, for the senatorial seat of J. M Hackney of Hamline. The elections committee has a majority report in favor of Hackney, but there is liable to be a wordy battle on the proposition. The attorneys of each side are to be allowed an hour and a quarter each to address the senate.

Stuck by the Way

Minneapolis, Minn.—There are hundreds of cars loaded with coal from Duluth side tracked all over the Northwest, and they will not reach their destination till spring.

This statement was made by a prominent official of the Pittsburg Coal company to The Tribune, in discussing the coal supply of Northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

"It is hard to help," added the official, "it is simply a problem of the snows and storms. A train of coal leaves Duluth and is blocked by snow.

Will Suffer

St. Cloud, Minn.—Theodore H. Beaulieu of the White Earth Indian agency says there will be intense suffering in northern Minnesota before supplies can be taken in. He refers particularly to the White Earth reservation, where, he says, conditions are much different from former years.

Since the land has been allotted Indiana and others are not permitted to help themselves to timber, even for fuel, and they now have to buy their wood. The winter has been exceptionally severe.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY

Says Pe-ru-na Is a Good Medicine.

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. C. O. BROOKS.

THERE are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather.

This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether it be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowl complaint, whether the liver be affected or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

The weather slightly deranges the mucous membranes of the organs and the result is some functional disease.

Peruna has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments of this sort.

Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Almanac for 1907.

BROKE THE DEER'S BACK.

How Treed Hunter Escaped From Threatened Death.

Peter Rindernecht, of Camp Bailey, Pa., is still talking of his narrow escape from an infuriated deer, which he finally killed in an unusual manner.

While the other members of the camp were away on a long drive, Pete, finding things slow in camp, decided to do a little hunting on his own hook.

Back of the Hinkle farm he jumped a large buck and fired a shot which made a flesh wound. The angry deer, lowering its prongs, made for Pete, who dropped his rifle and climbed the nearest tree.

The deer pawed at the tree, snorting with rage, and Pete thought it a fine joke until night began to draw near with the buck still on guard.

Pete yelled for help, but his cries only echoed through the ravines. It was very cold, and the hunter found that it would not be long until he would release his hold on the branches and fall to the ground.

A desperate plan was determined upon. Pete weighs close to 280 pounds, and when the buck, walking around the tree, was directly beneath him, the hunter doubled himself up like a ball and dropped.

He landed right on the buck's back, breaking its spinal column and crippling it so that the work of killing it with his hunting knife was easy.

Has Cinch on Position.

Various authorities have passed on a letter received at the post office department a short time ago and it has finally been sent to the postmaster general. The letter came from a western postmaster at a small office and read: "In accordance with the rules of the department, I write you to inform you that on next Saturday I will close the post office for one day, as I am going on a bear hunt. I am not asking your permission to close up and you can discharge me if you want to. But I will advise you now that I am the only man in the county who can read and write." It is not likely that the postmaster will be discharged.

Long and Remarkable Life.

Suffold tells us of a remarkable record of an old man of his acquaintance employed by Mr. William Lodge, of Gorleston-on-Sea. This old gentleman began his working life as a farm laborer 71 years ago, before Queen Victoria came to the throne, and at 81 he can still drive a plow as well as most men of half his years. Almost more remarkable is the fact that although he has spent practically all his long life within sight of the sea he has never been on it, nor has he ever been inside a train.—Tit-Bits.

The Well Knit College Chap.

Ethel's big sister has an ardent admirer who is a college athlete, a big, broad-shouldered chap. Ethel overheard her sister say that he was well knit. The next evening, when the young man called, Ethel went into the parlor to entertain him.

"Do you know what sister says about you?" demanded Ethel.

"No. Something nice, I hope," said the young man.

"Oh, yes, it's very nice," replied Ethel. "She says you are beautifully crocheted."

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered In the Gopher State.

State Fair.

Secretary E. W. Randall of the Minnesota State Fair has been officially informed that the board of directors of the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association, at their annual meeting, formally voted an appropriation of $2,500 for premiums for a special shorthorn show at the Minnesota state fair. The appropriation is made with the provision that the Minnesota State Agricultural Society shall set aside a like amount and thus make the entire premium offerings for shorthorn cattle the full sum of $5,000.

Immediately upon receipt of this notification the managers acquiesced in the provision and have appropriated $2,500 and have thus secured the holding of a great Shorthorn exhibition at the next fair. But in addition they have promoted an enormous livestock show all along the line, as the action in regard to shorthorns will stimulate other breeders' associations and there are good chances of liberal appropriations from several of these organizations. Secretary Randall is in correspondence with the American Hereford Breeders' Association, the American Aberdeen-Angus Association and others and expects favorable action in the near future.

One feature of the Shorthorn show will be of great interest to Minnesota livestock breeders. Of the total of $5,000, $1,000 will be set aside exclusively for Minnesota Shorthorns. This will give the breeders of the state a chance to show their stock without competition with fancy stock from other parts of the country—a privilege which they will not be slow to take advantage of. At the same time if they wish to compete in the open classes for a share of the $4,000 offered without limitation, they are at liberty to do so—and some of the Minnesota herds will have good chances of winning in this general competition.

State Dairymen.

Owatonna.—The election of officers at the state dairymen's convention was held and resulted as follows:

President—Lucien A. Sweet of Fairmont.

Vice President—Robert Crickmeyer of Owatonna.

Secretary—John Morley of Owatonna.

Treasurer—August Ahlswede of Jordan.

The highest scores were announced as follows:

Creamery Classes—	Score.
H. P. Schultz, Shakopee	96
I. J. Lovlock, Lake Stella	95¾
A. G. S[illegible], St. Clair	95½
Hand Separator Class—
A. L. G[illegible]son, Beltram	93½
C. P. [illegible], Bock	93
Nels L[illegible], Plainview	93
H. P. White, Ortonville	93
Gust Holt, Lake Park	93
Dairy Class—
Mrs. John Neilson, Morgan	90½
E. E. Butler, Owatonna	90
Mrs. J. H. McRostie, Owatonna	89
David Swenson, Spicer	87
Alberta Winn, Redwood Falls	86½

One hundred and seventy tubs of butter were entered, seventy more than at any preceding convention.

Must Comply With the Law.

St. Paul.—The attorney general has made a ruling to the effect that foreign insurance companies must comply with law requiring foreign corporation to file their articles of incorporation with the secretary of state, providing, however, that they shall not be liable for the payment of more than the minimum fee of $50. As the insurance companies must secure permission from the insurance commissioner to do business in the state they have gone on the theory that this is all that is required of them. The ruling of the attorney general holds them subject to the regulations relating to foreign corporations generally.

Hurled Under Train.

Dodge Center—John Daggett, who lived about five miles west of town, was killed by a freight train, midway between here and Kasson. He was with Riley McKean and they were overtaken by a freight train and both stepped to one side while it passed. Daggett then called out, "Let's catch on," which he tried to do. Losing his hold, he fell under the train, both legs being cut off, and he was also bruised about the head and died instantly.

Capitol Commission Reports.

St. Paul—The seventh annual report of the capitol commission has been filed with the governor. It shows that of the $1,500,000 appropriated at different times for the new capitol, there is $70,530 unexpended. But of this amount $29,158 is to meet balances due on pending contracts and $38,295 must be used to pay interest on the last issue of $500,000 of capitol certificates. Thus the real balance will be but $3,077.

$20,000 Fire at Dexter.

Austin—Fire at Dexter village, about eighteen miles east of Austin, destroyed the fine double brick block belonging to Medberry Brothers, general merchants. The building and contents are a total loss save for partial insurance. The Masons, whose hall was upstairs, lost all their furniture and paraphernalia. The fire is supposed to have started from the furnace. The aggregate loss is estimated to be $20,000.

G. A. R. is Growing.

St. Paul—In spite of the large losses by death, the membership of the Minnesota department, G. A. R., is increasing. Adjt. O. S. Clark has just completed the report for the last half of the year, and it shows a net gain of 34, with a net gain of 202 for the whole of 1906.

During the last six months the department has gained by muster 114, by transfer 63, and by reinstatement 144. In the same time there have been lost by death 106, honorable discharge 13, transfer 43, and suspension 125, a total of 287. The total number in good standing on Dec. 31 was 8,725.

A Pioneer Passes Away.

St. Paul.—Captain James G. McGrew a Minnesota pioneer and a prominent character in some of the stirring affairs of Minnesota territorial days, died at his home, 942 Cromwell avenue, St. Anthony Park, at the age of 73 years. Captain McGrew was born near Dayton, Ohio, 1833 and came to Minnesota territory in 1854, locating in Fillmore county, where he taught school.

At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in Company B of the Fifth Minnesota Infantry. He was elected sergeant, but he rose to the rank of captain and at the close of the war was on the staff of General L. F. Hubbard. Though a true soldier and a hard fighter, participating in many engagements, notably the assault on Vicksburg and at Nashville, he was never wounded.

Histories of the Indian massacres, when the Sioux broke loose in 1862, give Captain McGrew credit for the saving of Fort Ridgely. His bravery and skill as an officer and artillerist saved the position and the settlers gathered in it for protection.

Divide Road Funds.

St. Paul.—The first distribution of state road and bridge funds by the state highway commission is about to be made. During the year it is expected that about $60,000 will be available, most of it coming in on the regular tax settlements, as a result of the one-twentieth of a mill road and bridge tax. Under the law no county may receive more than 3 per cent of the fund or less than one-half of 1 per cent but the state is only to pay one third of the cost of state bridges and roads, built under supervision of the state engineer. Counties that do not conform in the regulations will not get anything.

The highway commission met with the road and bridge committees of both houses. A resubmission of the road and bridge amendment, defeated last fall, will be considered, also the amendments to the law that will make it easier for counties to raise their share of funds for state work.

Regents Will Figure.

Minneapolis.—President Cyrus Northrop has sent out an official call for a special meeting of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, to be held in the president's office Wednesday, Feb. 13.

The meeting is called for the purpose of considering the various needs of the university and the advisability of requesting the legislature for larger appropriations. The matter of campus extension will be brought up, and the proposed raise in the salaries of professors and instructors.

Several minor matters are slated for discussion also, among them the installation of a printing plant for the use of the university and the various university publications.

$50,000 Fire at Halloway.

Halloway.—Fire completely destroyed the main business street of this place. Three general stores, the village hall, postoffice and the bank of Halloway were burned. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have started from a defective stove. The loss is estimated at $50,000, covered by $38,000 insurance.

Train and Wagon Collide.

Moorhead—A farmer named Anderson was driving over the N. P. crossing on Fifth street with a wagon and grain tank when an extra west-bound freight struck the wagon on the pilot of the locomotive and dragged the whole outfit nearly a hundred feet. The wagon and tank were broken to splinters, but neither the team nor the man was seriously injured. Anderson escaped with a few bruises, but otherwise all right. It was almost a miracle that he was not killed instantly or maimed for life.

Postoffice Burned.

Granada—Fire destroyed the F. C. Stone general store, postoffice and telephone exchange at Northrup, six miles northwest of this place. Nothing was saved. The loss is about $3,500, with but little insurance.

News Notes.

Minneapolis.—Little headway has been made in solving the mysterious disappearance of Miss Stewart of Bemidji, who, on her way to visit her sister in Decorah, Iowa, stopped in Minneapolis and vanished.

Minneapolis.—The second annual convention of the Northern Pine Manufacturers closed after re-electing R. M. Weyerhauser of Cloquet, Minn., as president, and recommending that congress take some action toward establishing a wood-testing laboratory in the agricultural department of the University and calling for a uniform grade on lath.

Winona.—Capt. W. A. Thompson, who is in charge of river improvement work on this section of the Mississippi, is pleased at the increase of appropriation to half a million dollars for upper river work. He says that if the bill containing this appropriation is passed, it will bring the addition of new barges and boats to the present fleet. There also will be more money available to make changes in the river channel. A large part of the work this year will be done in the vicinity of Winona.

Virginia.—Emil La Fortune, a Frenchman, thirty-five years old, employed as a top loader in a camp of the Virginia Lumber company, was killed while engaged in loading cars. The boom broke and the end fell, striking him on the back of the head. He lived but a few moments.

Thief River Falls.—The city schools are suffering from a severe attack of matrimony—six of the teachers employed last fall have resigned to be married.

Clarkfield.—Charles A. Anderson, a well known painter of this place, died from the effects of drinking wood alcohol.

Currant Is Recommended to Improve Complexion

It is becoming easier every year to secure a great variety of tonic foods even during the cold weather. Our physicians and food chemists are constantly working to discover the nutritive and tonic properties of food products, and our common sense enables us to use the results of their experiments in planning our own dietaries.

The English doctors and food specialists, including the king's own physician, are just now recommending currants as not only a good, but a necessary, article of daily diet. This fruit has gained an unquestionable reputation as a body builder, and further, it is highly recommended as a purifier of the blood and a reliable beauty food. Its virtues are summed up in the question: "Of what other food—flesh, vegetable, fruit or cereal—can it be said that 99 per cent. is actual nutriment?"

The currant is not only nutritive, but it is economical because of its low price. It is not unagreeable as a food taken straight from the carton, but it is capable of extended use in puddings, cakes and bread.

It has been for a long time recognized that fruits contain predigested food elements which do not clog the system, and are valuable in sustaining strength. Fruit acids cleanse the stomach and bowels and are at the same time valuable as nutritive elements of diet. Any extension of the available winter list should be welcomed. The fruits are foods and medicines, or as some one has said foods which avert the necessity of medicine.

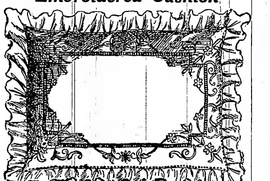
It is only in Greece that the real currant vine will thrive. Strong sunshine, tempered with mountain air and sea breezes; a soil that is light, dry and loamy—these are the first essentials to currant culture. Given such conditions, and grant, further, that the tract of country destined for the currant vineyard is on the slopes of the hills that stretch eastward from the Gulf of Patras to the Gulf of Corinth, and the currant vine, after seven years' careful culture, will be at its best.

Travelers speak of the great richness and beauty of these districts when the currant vines are in full bloom, and of the delicious fragrance of the air when laden with the perfume of the grape berry. The luscious fruit, when fully ripe, is gathered by the Grecian peasantry, much of this pleasant work being relegated to the young countrywomen.

Beautiful girls they are—these Grecian maidens—full of life and laughter. The Grecian girl lives mostly out of doors. Her diet is simplicity itself—bread, olives, thin wine and currants make up her bill of fare. There is, however, no denying that this diet agrees with her health and enriches her complexion.

Visitors to the currant country usually share the general diet of the Greeks. Thus we have the poet Byron writing from Greece in 1824: "For the past five days I have subsisted mainly on currants, a staple product of this classic land. They are an ideal food, largely consumed here, as they would be in other countries if their merits were known."

Embroidered Cushion



This is a rather small cushion, measuring 13 inches in length without the frilled border. It is intended for hanging on the back of a chair to form a head-rest; it is not only comfortable, and a pretty ornament, but prevents the top of an easy chair becoming soiled.

It may be worked on linen with Peri Lusta embroidery, so that it may be frequently washed; or it may be of silk, satin, or art serge worked with silk. Say, for instance, that a pretty shade of art green is used for the cushion, then the embroidery might be worked in shades of blue or gold. The bars are outlined in Italian-stitch, then are crossed by long-stitches; or if linen is used, threads might be drawn to form these bars. The rest of the design is worked in close satin stitch, a little padded by a few running stitches to raise it.

The back of cushion is of sateen unworked. The frill, which is set between the two, is cut on the cross about five inches deep, then folded, the two cut edges being gathered up together and set between the double edges of the cushion. Loops of cord should be sewn at the top of back of cushion by which to suspend it on the chair-back.

Ideas for the Celebration of the Day of St. Valentine

Very little is known of the good old saint whose memory is so wrapped up with Cupid's messages, heart throbs and love verses that it takes a good deal of digging back into the annals of the past to ascertain why he was chosen to be the patron saint of the capricious god of Love.

History tells us that Valentine lived in the third century, was a bishop of Rome, was persecuted for his faith, and died a martyr. English literature of the Elizabethan period contains a number of verses written for Valentine's day showing how in that time the fourteenth of February was regarded as a special season of lovemaking even among the birds, as the following lines of Drayton show:

> "Muse, bid the morn awake,
> Sad winter now declines,
> Each bird does choose a mate,
> The day's Saint Valentine's.
>
> "For that good bishop's sake
> Get up, and let us see
> What beauty it shall be
> That fortune us assigns."

In this world, now so lacking in sentiment, it is well that the spirit of Valentine's day with its renewal of love vows among those already married, its pledges of undying affection between betrothed lovers, and the exchange of love tokens among near and dear friends is being revived. The children of this age and generation need all the poetry and sentiment that can be put into their lives and I am sure that St. Valentine, bishop and martyr, must feel a keen sense of gratitude to have been chosen to preside over and guide the footsteps of his special messenger, Cupid, as he flits hither and yon hearing the healing balm of love for all who are pierced with the sharp darts from his quiver.

Just one word, do not for one minute think that this festival is for the youthful alone. Send a valentine to the very oldest person you know and just see what pleasure the unexpected missive will give.

A Valentine Party.

To make the rooms look very attractive, take down all heavy draperies and replace them with tarlatans in the delicate pastel shades. This completely transforms the house and gives the airiest effect imaginable. Cheese cloth is almost as effective. Veil all electric globes and gas jets with rose crepe paper or the tarlatan. Asparagus vines trailing over the draperies and from the center lights is very pretty and adds fairyland effect.

The hostess will see that only thoroughly congenial young people are asked. When all have arrived pass heart-shaped cards, bearing the names of the men present, to the ladies, and those of the ladies to the men. In this way partners are found for the game to follow, which is usually "Hearts" on this occasion, for no other scheme seems quite as appropriate.

The refreshment table can be made a thing of beauty with pink and green candies, pink and white carnations or roses. Oyster, chicken or sweetbread patties in heart-shaped shells, heart-shaped sandwiches, white grape, nut and apple salad in aspic heart moulds; cherry ice in heart cases and pink frosted heart cakes with the usual accessories will make a delicious menu.

The "piece de resistance" will be a "St. Valentine cake." It will contain two rings, one-half the cake iced in pink and the other in white. The hostess or guest of honor cuts the pink half and passes it to the men, while the host or a man whom the hostess specially wishes to honor cuts the white and passes to the ladies. Those who find the rings are supposed to marry within the year and are in honor bound to entertain the party on next Valentine's day.

The First American Valentine.

It is of interest to know that a young woman of Worcester, Mass., invented the first American valentine in the year 1856, and her business of manufacturing these dainty trifles became so enormous that one firm alone ordered over $25,000 worth of valentines annually. Before this Germany had sent us our supply for the celebrating of this pretty festival.

An invitation to an affair at which "postoffice" is to be a feature of the evening bears this little verse on a card decorated with tiny gilt hearts:

> "Cupid will distribute letters
> On St. Valentine's night;
> Love has bound you in his fetters,
> Come and loose the seal that night."

MADAME MERRI.

WOMAN IS SCIENTIST

FAIR JEWESS RECEIVES MEDAL FROM ROYAL SOCIETY.

Enviable Honor Enjoyed by Mrs. Hertha Ayrton—First Person of Her Sex So Rewarded for Unaided Research.

London.—Mrs. Hertha Ayrton, who is already known to some extent in America, can now claim recognition as England's foremost woman scientist. She is the first woman in the world to be awarded the Royal society's medal for her own unaided efforts in scientific research. Mme. Curie has the medal, it is true, but it was awarded to her jointly with her late husband for their renowned discovery of radium.

Oddly enough, Mrs. Ayrton is also the wife of a renowned scientist; her husband being Prof. W. E. Ayrton, the distinguished electrical engineer and inventor. She is to receive the Royal society's coveted medal on the last day of this month, the occasion being the annual banquet of this world-famous body. It was awarded to her at a recent meeting of the society's council because of her investigations on the electric arc and also as to the nature of sand ripples.

Mrs. Ayrton enjoys two other enviable distinctions. She is the only woman member of the Institute of Electrical Engineers, and four years ago was nominated a Fellow of the Royal society. This is the first time the highest tribunal of English science had nominated a woman. It was such an honor that it attracted immense attention everywhere, and opinion was expressed that the election of a woman was illegal: The Royal society thereupon took the highest judicial opinion, which was that the council had no power to elect a woman. Therefore, Mrs. Ayrton cannot put the magical letters of "F. R. S." behind her name.

She is well known in the United States, for she visited there six years ago, and at the Electrical Congress in Chicago read one of the most interesting of the papers.

At 16, Mrs. Ayrton had graduated and began to earn her living as a professor at Girton college, Cambridge, then in its infancy as a college for women. She was surely the youngest teacher in the history of Girton. It was there that she took up her first researches into mathematics and physics. She invented a sphygmograph for recording pulse beats, but finding something similar on the market, abandoned hers and patented a line divider—an instrument for immediately dividing up a line into any number of equal parts.

For nine years Mrs. Ayrton devoted herself to her family life. Then in 1893 her husband was summoned to the United States on business. His services have often been asked as an expert by India, Japan, the United States, in fact, all parts of the world. In his absence, Mrs. Ayrton continued his work, his investigations and experiments on the electric arc. Seven years later, when his paper on the subject, read before the International Electrical congress, was unfortunately burned in Chicago, Mrs. Ayrton surprised her husband by writing a substitute on the points he had noticed, which he declared was better than the original.

MRS. HERTHA AYRTON.
(Honored by British Royal Society for Scientific Research.)

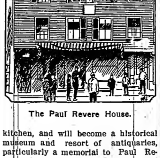
From that time on, she continued her investigations on her own account. For the past six years she has given the electric arc her continued attention. Now having completed her work and solved the knotty problems, she will publish her results in book form. It is partly for this that the Hughes medal of the Royal society was awarded her. Her other achievement is establishing the cause and effect of sand ripples by the tides. This is invaluable in the charting, navigation, and ultimate straightening of winding rivers. It was her first hobby as a child on the seaside. Now she has a score of huge tanks, with sand and pebbly bottoms. Sets of rollers move the waters, and the onlooker can see the sand gradually forming into ripples.

PAUL REVERE'S HOUSE SAVED

Famous Structure at Boston to Be Preserved as Historical Museum.

Boston.—The old house on North square occupied by Paul Revere at the time of his famous midnight ride in 1775, which has been hovering between salvation and destruction for the last five years, is at last saved to posterity beyond the possibility of a doubt.

What is more, it will cease to be used for any of the homely purposes of its recent past, such as the manufacture of cigars, the vending of cabbages and other supplies for the kitchen, and will become a historical museum and resort of antiquaries, particularly a memorial to Paul Revere, thus realizing the dream of many public-spirited Bostonians who have been active in raising the money to preserve it.



The Paul Revere House.

The first decisive move for its preservation was made four years ago by John P. Reynolds, Jr., a descendant of Paul Revere, who bought the property at that time to hold it till such time as a fund could be raised to purchase it for public purposes. The time has now arrived, and Mr. Reynolds has deeded the property for $12,000, his original purchase price, to Grafton D. Cushing, Walter Gilman Page and Charles S. Rackemann, as trustees, who will administer its affairs in the public interest for the present.

About $6,000 will be required for the restoration of the house, which is thoroughly dilapidated. The trustees have at present about $3,000, so it will be necessary to raise as much more before the place will be in first-class condition. It is hoped that all who feel pride in the preservation of the house, and who have not already contributed, will help to make up the deficit, sending any sum, however small, to one of the trustees.

It is also hoped to raise a fund for the maintenance of the building and for the payment of the taxes, unless it shall be exempted from taxation, as its preservers believe it should be, by reason of the object for which it is preserved.

Though the fact is not generally known, the house is undoubtedly much changed in appearance since Revere's day. An architect who is familiar with it says that in Revere's day it was only one story high and had a pitch roof. Now it is of two stories and has an ugly flat roof.

Though it would be both more picturesque and more correct if the extra story was removed and the pitch roof restored, it is feared that if such change should be made there would be a great protest from people who have always regarded the building as representing in its present aspect what it was when Revere lived in it.

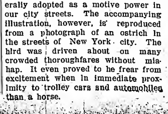
The interior is very different from what it once was, the rooms having been rearranged to accommodate tenement dwellers and lodgers. Beyond the heavy timbers and possibly a few of the window sashes and doors, it is doubtful if any part of the interior of 1775 remains.

The house is believed to be 220 years old. Revere bought it in 1770 and lived in it till about 1789, when his enlarged income enabled him to purchase a more pretentious house in Charter street, in which he lived till he died in 1817.

OSTRICH DRIVEN TO HARNESS.

Unique Turnout Occasionally Seen in Streets of New York City.

New York.—The ostrich when properly broken to harness makes a remarkably satisfactory steed. Its long legs and characteristic habits of running render it very speedy. Remarkable records for speed and endurance have been made by the ostrich in California, but it has yet to be generally adopted as a motive power in our city streets. The accompanying illustration, however, is reproduced from a photograph of an ostrich in the streets of New York city. The bird was driven about on many crowded thoroughfares without mishap. It even proved to be freer from excitement when in immediate proximity to trolley cars and automobiles than a horse.



Ostrich in Harness.

Recommended by leading physicians and chemists

FIVE REASONS WHY

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

has obtained the confidence of the public.

1. It complies with the Pure Food Laws of all states.
2. It is the only high-grade Powder sold at a moderate price.
3. It is not made by a Baking Powder Trust.
4. Food prepared with it is free from Rochelle Salts or Alum.
5. It is the strongest Baking Powder on the market.

$1,000.00 given for any substance injurious to health found in Calumet

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect. Therefore, Calumet leaves no Rochelle Salts or Alum in the food. It is chemically correct.

All Grocers are Authorized to Guarantee this.

Calumet Baking Powder costs little. Costs a little more than the cheap, injurious powders now on the market, but is a big saving over the trust powders.

Try Calumet

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

COUNTY OWNS ITS PROPERTY.

The balance of the purchase price for the Red Lake county court house which was bought by the county commissioners from Ernest Buse two years ago, was paid this week and Red Lake county now owns its property here. With the court house and jail property the county now has about $17,000 dollars invested in Red Lake Falls, but in the face of this fact the Thief River "committee" would have the people vote to abandon this property and move the seat of government to Thief River Falls, where the county has not a dollar's worth of holdings.

The mere moving of the county seat is not all they are after, either, as just as soon as they got the county seat—which, thank goodness, they never will—they would force a bond issue upon the taxpayers, and with the vote of the floating population of the up river town, who have not a dollar's worth of property in the world, would put the farmers and taxpayers of the county in the hole for $100,000 to build a court house and jail at Thief River Falls. This is their intention, and has so been voiced by more than one Thief Riverite who is onto the inside workings at the up-river burg.

Red Lake county now owns all its buildings here, and with the county seat left here will not be taxed a cent for new buildings for many years to come, as both the court house and jail are sufficient for all county purposes.

It would seem that the people would be anxious to see this expensive fight dropped, inasmuch as there is already so much invested in county property in Red Lake Falls, and the sooner that it is dropped for all time to come the better it will be for all concerned.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on haod at all times.---First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Why Refer to Doctors

Because we make medicines for them. We tell them all about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and they prescribe it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption. They trust it. Then you can afford to trust it. Ask your own doctor.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Ayer's

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of
SARSAPARILLA.
PILLS.
HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Ayer's Pills greatly aid the Cherry Pectoral in breaking up a cold.

Minnesota now has eighty-four counties--Mahnomen and Koochiching are the two new ones.

The last juror has been drawn and the Thaw murder trial is on. We will now be treated to disgusting details.

Six more weeks—or more—of winter. The ground hog has sustained his reputation in the shadow casting line. When he dies, may his ashes rest in pieces.

The fuel famine has become so acute in one town in North Dakota that the people are burning up the sidewalks. They are probably thankful that the walks are not cement.

The newspaper is a law book for the indolent, a sermon for the thoughtless, a library for the poor and an admonisher for the lawless. It may stimulate the most indifferent, but it cannot be published without cost and sent free to subscribers. This is no joke.

The report of the geological survey in the drainage investigation of Indian lands in northern Minnesota made last summer goes into more or less minute details on the president's plan for relaiming about 400,000 acres in Red Lake, Marshall and Beltrami counties at a total estimated cost of $1,080,000. The estimated cost for draining the improved land is $1.60 an acre and of unimproved and wholly swamp land, $3.60 an acre.

The Crookston Times says: "The local U. S. land office has received notice that about 25 sections of the land selected by the state as part of its swamp land grant has been cancelled and will now be open for homestead entry. The land in question are located in towns 159-52, 163 and 164-40, and 163-45. These towns are in Kittson and Roseau counties but mostly in Kittson. The reason of the cancellation is because of the treaty by which the government secured the lands from the Indians.

Editor Hunt, of the Sunbeam, sees the need of drastic action on the part of the Thief Riverites, and suggests the heaving overboard of the Johah managers of the up-river county-seat campaign. The Sunbeam says:

"There is a prospect now that Thief River Falls will either abandon the county seat removal proposition, or elect a new lot of managers as it is very evident that the Red Lake Falls boys are too smooth for the managers of the Thief River Falls end of the deal. We only judge by the events of the past few months, for if we employed a man to work in our office as a printer and he should blunder around until he "pied" one of the forms, we should conclude he did not understand his business, and would fire him at once."

FARM LOAN:—We have money of private parties to loan on improved farms at 7 per cent. Liberal terms of payment. No delays. Come and see us before placing a loan. Germo & Farley. d13-4w

---

Use a little KODOL after your meals and it will be found to afford a prompt and efficient relief. KODOL nearly approximates the digestive juices. It digests what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan. Sold here by all druggists.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL.

Society Events Come Thick and Fast Before Lent.

The past week has been quite a busy one in the matter of society doings, and many pleasing functions have taken place.

Saturday afternoon last the Misses Hanson, Lamb, Trudo and Willson entertained a large party of ladies at the K. of P. hall. Despite the disagreeable weather, nearly all who had received invitations braved the elements to attend, and all were well repaid. The young ladies who were hostesses of the occasion had the hall very nicely decorated and cosily arranged for the comfort of their guests. Progressive cinch furnished the amusement of the afternoon, Mrs. Wm. Findeisen and Mrs. J. J. Padden tieing for first honors—Mrs Padden winning the draw for honors. The prize was a handsome silver souvenir spoon, with a picture of the high school building engraved thereon. Elaborate refreshments were served.

In the evening from 9 to 12, the same young ladies entertained the young people at an enjoyable dancing party. Some thirty couple were present, and spent a delightful evening. Good music was provided and an excellent time was had. Refreshments were served.

Monday evening at the K. of P. hall a dance and reception was given by the young people in honor of Arthur Mercier and bride, who left this week for their home in far-off Canada. About thirty-five couples were there and the evening was very enjoyably spent. Dancing furnished the chief amusement, and at midnight refreshments were partaken of. Mr. and Mr. Mercier were the recipients of the well wishes of all for a long life of happiness and prosperity.

Miss Leah Latendresse entertained a party of young people at her home on Sunday evening, and a pleasant time resulted. The evening was spent at games and various other amusements, and the guests were treated to elaborate refreshments before departing for their homes.

Mrs. Conrad Lajambe entertained informally at her home yesterday afternoon—a few close friends being present.

WHITE EARTH

Reservation Indians Are Feeling Effects of Cold Weather.

Theodore H. Beaulieu gives it out as his opinion that there will be intense suffering at some points in northern Minnesota before supplies can be taken to the people. He was speaking in particular of the White Earth reservation. The conditions there this year are much different than in former years. Since the allotments were allowed the Indians and others are not allowed to help themselves to timber even for fuel. They now have to buy their fuel like anyone else. The winter thus far has been a severe one, and the conditions along the new Soo line on the west side of the reservation, which is prairie land, are rather alarming. The Soo, according to Mr. Beaulieu, has practically abandoned this line and the general merchandise people in the small towns have reduced their stocks to a minimum. It is hard even to get the necessaries of life, and as for fuel those who have none are having a hard time of it to get enough to keep warm.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned until February 14th, 1907, 12 o'clock M for printing the official business of the city council for the year ending January, A. D., 1908. —By Order of the City Council.

—A. P. TOUPIN,
City Clerk.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞ House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

LENTEN SEASON SOON

Next Wednesday, February 13, Marks Beginning of Period of Sack Cloth and Ashes.

Wednesday of next week, February 13, is Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, and for a period of forty days the faithful will abstain from worldly pleasures and give up their time to worship.

The Lenten season comes early this year—earlier than for a number of years—and Easter Sunday will fall on March 31. Palm Sunday comes on March 21 and Good Friday on March 29.

Lent is observed principally by those of the Catholic and Episcopalian faith, but as a rule society events are few during this period through respect for what it represents.

Bishop McGolrick of the diocese of Duluth, has issued his annual instructions to the parishes of the diocese regarding Lent, and the following are a few extracts taken therefrom:

All the days of Lent, the Sundays excepted, are days of fast. The precept of fast restricts the use of food to one full meal in the middle of the day and a collation in the evening not exceeding the fourth part of a full meal—custom, however, authorizing the taking in the morning of a cup of coffee, tea or chocolate, with a small piece of bread. When the full meal or principal repast cannot be taken without serious inconvenience toward the middle of the day, the order of repasts may be reversed, the full meal or principal repast being taken in the evening, and the collation at an earlier hour of the day.

The use of flesh is allowed at all meals on Sundays, and at the principal meal on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, except the Saturday of Ember Week (Feb. 23) and the Saturday of Holy Week (March 30th.)

The use of flesh meet, therefore, is forbidden at all meals on Wednesdays Fridays, the Saturdays of Ember Week and the Saturday of Holy Week; and on other days, outside of Sundays it is forbidden at other repasts, outside the full meal. The use of lard is permitted at all times in the preparation of food. Both fish and flesh meat cannot be taken at the same meal, even on Sundays. Persons legitimately excused or dispensed from the precept of fasting may use flesh meat at all meals on whatever day there is a general permission to use it at the principal meal.

From the percept of fast are excused: Those under the age of twenty-one years or over the age of sixty; the infirm and the convalscent; women bearing or nursing children, persons engaged in hard labor or other duties exhaustive of physical strength; persons who from poverty are unable to procure for the principal meal a sufficency of nutritive food. From the precept of abstinence are excused: The young under the age of seven years; the sick; persons who are so situated as not to be able to procure for themselves abstinence food.

In virtue of the authority conceded to Bishops of the United States by a recent Pontifical Indult, permission is granted to "working people" to use meat on all days of Lent, with the exception of Friday, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and the Saturday of Holy Week. The Sovereign Pontiff exhorts all who make use of the privileges of the Indult to be still mindful of their duty to practice self-denial; and he counsels that instead of the abstinence from meat some other sacrifice of bodily comfort be practiced, the Sovereign Pontiff himself suggesting as such sacrifice abstinence from intoxicating drink.

When doubt exists as to whether one's condition or circumstances allow exemption from the precept of fast and abstinence, counsel should be asked from confessors or pastors, who are the authoritative interpreters of the law and who are even empowered in special cases, for good and sufficient reasons, indicated in Catholic theology, to commute the precepts of fast and abstinence to other penitential works. In enjoining upon the faithful fast and abstinence, Holy Church makes a practical application of the evangelical law of self-denial, of which the Savior and his apostles were, by example and by word, such eminent teachers. Without self-denial there is no Christianity. Indeed, without self-denial there is no natural morality. The man who has not acquired by habit the power of self-restraint will not be victorious over sin, amid the storms and temptations of life which all men must encounter

The observance of the fast and abstinence prescribed by the church is taken by the world as a public and fearless profession of Catholic faith. He who, without sufficient or obvious reasons, eats meat or takes his usual meals when abstinence or fast is enjoined, is not accepted as a practical Catholic. The devotion of the Way of the Cross will be observed, when possible, in all churches and chapels, on the Friday evenings through Lent.

Statement of the Condition of the First State Bank at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

STATEMENT of the condition of First State Bank at Red Lake Falls, Minn., at close of business on Jan. 26, 1907. Date of Call by Supt., Jan. 26, 1907. Date of Report by bank, Feb. 2nd, 1907.

RESOURCES
Loans and Discounts			$156,282 39
Overdrafts			468 75
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures			7,600 00
Other Real Estate			1,417 59
Due from Banks		$25,721 33
Checks and Cash Items		118 37
Cash on Hand, items below		7,714 27
Currency	$2,076 00
Gold	4,180 00
Silver	1,308 00
Other	150 27
Total Cash Assets		33,553 97	33,553 97
Total			$199,322 70
LIABILITIES
Capital Stock			$ 25,000 00
Surplus Fund			5,000 00
Undivided Profits, Net			3,087 40
Deposits Subject to Check		$ 34,449 62
Demand Certificates		1,072 18
Certified Checks		1,231 58
Cashier's Checks		225 25
Due to Banks		1,584 73
Total Immediate Liabilities		38,563 36
Time Certificates		127,671 94
Total Deposits		166,235 30	166,235 30
Total			$199,322 70

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, } ss.

I, Geo. F. Hennings, Cashier of the above named Bank do solemnly swear that the above Statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

GEO. F. HENNINGS, Cashier.

Attest: (Two) Directors
THEO. GARCEAU
CHAS. N. BOURNON } Directors

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 2nd day of February, 1907.

NOEL DELORME,
Notary Public, Red Lake County, Minn.

My Commission expires Oct. 24, 1913.

D. W. Brown visited at Thief River Falls yesterday.

Sheriff Lewis A. Nelson was a caller at Thief River Falls Monday.

The list of delinquent real estate taxes was returned to Auditor O'Brien by Clerk Johnson today and is being compared before going to the printer for publication. The list is considerably longer than that of last year.

Willie wailed and Winnie wheezed, while wintry winds whined weirdly. Willie wriggled while Winnie wheezed wretchedly. Wisdom whispers, winter winds work wheezes. Wherefore we write, "Use Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup." Nothing else so good. Sold by all druggists.

Piles of people have Piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve and get relief. Nothing else so good. Beware of imitations. See that the name is stamped on each box. Sold by all druggists.

Plummer Pioneer: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Green are happy over the arrival of a new baby boy at their home in Equality on Tuesday evening. Mother and child are well and Ralph's recovery hoped for in time.... Paul I. D. Ostby shipped his furniture to Thief River Falls on Monday and Mrs. Ostby and children left on Wednesday evening. Mr. Ostby has accepted a position in the freight department at the Soo depot.

New Barber Shop

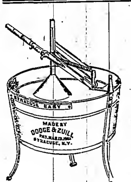
I have opened up for business the

Kaufer Barber Shop and Bath .. Parlors ..

and respectfully ask the public to give me a call. Will guarantee the best of work and courteous treatment. I will appreciate your trade

E. A. NELSON
THE NEW BARBER

The Syracuse "Easy" Washer



A Few Reasons Why You ... Should Have One ...

It saves the clothes.

It saves precious time.

It saves physical force.

It saves in cost—no new tubs or boards to buy.

It washes cleaner and rinses better.

It is adapted to both heavy and light clothes.

We Have Sold Hundreds of these machines since we have had the agency—another good reason why you should have one. We wouldn't have sold so many if they weren't right. Remember we put them out on trial and the price is only ....

$8.00

Hunt Hardware Co.

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

Joe Morisette was here from Plummer yesterday.

J. A. Rothstein, of Plummer, spent yesterday here.

Just received a car of Hocking Valley soft coal. See Salley for your supply.

Fred Brosseau of Crookston, was a guest at the home of his brother-in-law, Ed. Bray, Tuesday.

MEN WANTED--To cut 500 cords of poplar wood, eight miles east of this city. Inquire of V. M. Higinbotham.

For Sale--A "Jewett" Typewriter, just as good as new, which we will sell at a bargain. First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Hjalmer Johnson, a prominent Polk Center farmer, was a caller here yesterday, looking after some ditch business at the court house.

Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere spent a couple of days with her parents at Crookston the first of the week returning yesterday morning.

D. E. Foote, of East Grand Forks, was an over-Sunday visitor with friends here, and remained to take in the dance on Monday evening.

A case will be tried before Justice Toupin next Tuesday entitled Lillie C. Olson vs. Johnson & Norby. The case arises out of rent for the Plummer saloon building.

Miss Stella Hennemuth has returned home from Lambert and will spend a couple of months here. The school she was teaching out there was closed last week on account of the scarcity of fuel and will not be started again until warmer weather comes.

According to the government weather bureau at Crookston Monday was the coldest February 4 for the past seven years. The thermometer on this day stood 38 below, by the government thermometer, and these instruments are generally recognized as very conservative.

'Phone 7—Groceries--SPILLANES'

A. D. Berry was in from Louisville yesterday.

VALENTINES OF ALL KINDS AT FREUND'S.

C. J. Knox, of Thief River Falls, spent last night in the city.

Mike McCarthy, the geolal Gund man, spent last night in the city.

Ed. Johnson and Tom Norby were in from Plummer on business yesterday.

Milk and Cream delivered to any part of the city every evening. Phone 65. Fred Westphal.

Wm. Koch, of the Courier, was confined to his home several days the first of the week with an attack of tonsilitis.

Dr. Wilkinson was called to Dorothy Friday evening, and on account of the severe storm of Saturday did not return here until Sunday.

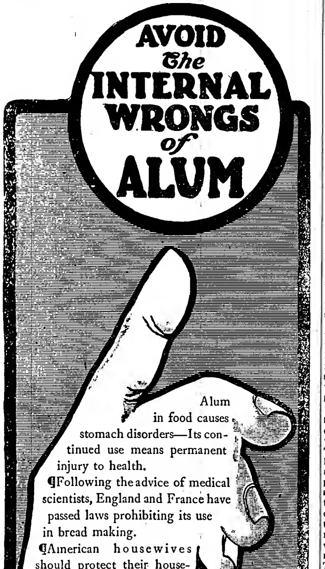
Joe Wessel, the favorite candy salesman, spent Tuesday in the city, placing a large amount of Wessel Bros.' choice goods with our dealers.

James McPeak has purchased the Duffy cottage near the N. P. track and will move it to his lots east of the Clearwater where he will fit it up for a residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mercier left yesterday for Thief River Falls, after spending a week with relatives and friends here. After a week's visit with their Thief River friends they will depart for their future home at Calgary, Canada.

The Sunday School of the Presbyterian church will give a supper Tuesday, Feb. 12th, at the church parlors. Supper will be served from 6 o'clock throughout the evening, for 25c. The following menu will be served:

Creamed Potatoes Cold Meats
Baked Beans Cold Slaw
Cranberry Sauce
Rolls Bread
Pickels Jelly
Doughnuts Assorted Cakes
Coffee.



Alum in food causes stomach disorders—Its continued use means permanent injury to health.

¶Following the advice of medical scientists, England and France have passed laws prohibiting its use in bread making.

¶American housewives should protect their households against Alum's wrongs by always buying pure Grape Cream of Tartar Baking Powder.

¶Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder is to be had for the asking—

Buy by name—

Royal

See Salley for your coal supply.

VALENTINES AND MASKS AT SPILLANE'S.

E. J. Garceau was in from Polk Centre Monday.

Rev. Father Ambrose was a Thief River Falls visitor Monday.

The Big Store has an interesting new ad elsewhere in today's Gazette.

Dr. J. E. Argue was at St. Hilaire over Sunday on his regular monthly professional call.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

County Attorney Germo and Sheriff Nelson were called to Thief River Falls yesterday on a criminal case.

Al J. Pouliot returned home Tuesday from a two weeks' business and pleasure trip to the big woods country over east.

See the new ad of the Hunt Hardware company in today's Gazette. It will give you an idea of the usefulness of the Syracuse "Easy" washing machine.

Dr. Spofford is at Grand View Hotel, Red Lake Falls, the 7th day of every month. Latest scientific methods in examining eyes and fitting glasses.

Warden Wolfer of the Minnesota State Prison has sent out notice to binding twine agents throughout the state to the effect that all orders for twine this year should be completed and turned in by the 1st of March.

A handsome new daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Cadieux at their Terrebonne home Sunday morning last. The new arrival was right royally welcomed, and the many friends of her popular parents will hope that she may ever remain as a joy and comfort to them.

Joseph R. Pouliot came over from Grand Rapids Monday and will spend a few months resting up at his home here. Joe has been employed in one of the large stores at Grand Rapids for the past year, but recently resigned his position. He has not decided where he will go next, but will stay in Red Lake Falls at least 'till the birds come again.

Elsewhere in today's Gazette will be found the statement of the condition of the First State Bank of Brooks. This bank is making constant strides ahead and each succeeding statement shows a handsome gain in business. President Simons and Cashier Cheshire are popular with the people out that way, and the increase in the banks business is pleasing to note.

Julius Pleth was in from Plummer over Tuesday night looking after some business matters. Mr. Pleth will open his office at St. Paul about the 15th of next month, and is optimistic over the outlook for a good real estate business the coming year. He states that the impression that he is to forget Red Lake county is erroneous, as he will keep his office open at Plummer just the same, and will spend considerable time himself up this way. Julius thinks that Red Lake county is a winner in all respects, and plans on doing a big business in this section before another fall.

A lady who understands advertising says: "No lady wishes to be looked up a shopping fiend; she does not care to go into a store and have a merchant show all his stock in order to find out whether he keeps what she wishes to purchase and whether the article is sold at a price she can afford. It is much easier and pleasanter to look thru the advertisements of a paper than it is to bore the clerks and waste her own time. Next to the local news items, the advertisements in a paper stating articles for sale with prices, will keep much of the money that goes to the large cities at home."

The south-bound Great Northern freight was tied up here from Monday evening until Tuesday afternoon, and was finally hauled in to Crookston on Tuesday's freight. The train was late in arriving here Monday and after doing their yard work started to pull out but could not make the cut south of the depot. They attempted to pull up a few cars at a time but could not even do this on account of the extreme cold, and to cap the climax the engine went to the bad and was backed to a siding where it remained until Tuesday afternoon. The life of the railroad man is not by any means all roses at this season of the year, and a great deal of hardship is experienced by the trainmen in attempting to get the trains through at all.

Christian Endeavor Rally.

Rev. A. L. Hall-Quest of the Presbyterian church at Blackduck will visit Red Lake Falls next Tuesday in the interest of the Christian Endeavor work. He is one of the leaders in young people's work in the state. He will have charge of a rally at the Presbyterian church Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Hall-Quest is an accomplished pipe-organist, and will no doubt give some special music on this occasion. Arrangements are being made for an informal reception to Mr. Hall-Quest either before the [illegible] afterwards. Everyone is invited.

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

Ed. Bray was a Crookston visitor over Monday night.

Medore Robillard spent several days at Crookston last week.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

H. F. Brown, the Crookston cigar man, was a caller here yesterday.

W. W. Prichard came down from Thief River Falls last evening on a brief business mission.

Frank Jeffers went down to Minneapolis Tuesday evening on a several days' business mission.

Nels Person and Halvor Kordal, prominent Polk Center farmers, were county seat callers yesterday.

Miss Laura Lizee went down to Crookston Tuesday evening and spent yesterday with friends there.

Master Louis Marchand has been quite ill at his home this week, but is reported as some better today.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will hold a business meeting at the home of Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain, Wednesday, Feb. 13th. Every member is urged to be present.

All headaches go
When you grow wiser
And learn to use
An "Early Riser."

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, safe, sure pills.—All druggists.

Abner Fletcher came over from Grand Forks Friday and visited with his parents and many friends here until Monday evening. Abner is now studying law at the U of North Dakota, and is well pleased with his work.

Merchant J. C. Mathews and wife of Dorothy spent Tuesday afternoon and night in Red Lake Falls. They started to drive home that evening but broke their bobsled before proceeding very far and were obliged to return and spend the night here.

The statement of the condition of the First State Bank is published elsewhere in today's Gazette. The statement shows that this popular banking institution has enjoyed a healthy and substantial growth since the last call, and the increase has been very gratifying to the officers, directors and public generally. The First State Bank is a carefully and well managed institution and deserves the success it is meeting with.

During the heavy wind of last Friday afternoon, an alarm of fire was turned in and the dreaded clang of the fire bell brought the people out in double quick order. The fire was in the house of Levi Miller in the extreme west limits of the city, and was caused by an over-heated stove pipe which was used as a chimney. Luckily Mr. Miller was home at the time and by hard work had the fire nearly out by the time the department arrived with the chemicals. The damage to the building was slight.

Mrs. J. B. Armstrong went down to Crookston Monday evening where she remained a couple of days to be present at an operation on the person of her niece, Miss Ethel Reed, which was performed at St. Vincent's hospital. The little girl has been bothered with some neck trouble for several years and while here last summer was operated upon and greatly relieved. However, the trouble did not entirely cease and she returned to Crookston from her home at Wadena for a further operation, which is hoped will cure her of the troublesome malady.

A SPECIAL ..MONTH..

The month's selling will move along with a dash here. We've a selection of values—real energetic values for you. We propose making it one of the greatest of months for economical buying. Your interest demand that you keep in touch with us ....

100 Pieces of New Dress
... Goods Just In ...

Fresh from the best looms of this country and Europe. The cream from different importers. Never have we exercised such care in selecting a line. It will please you, we are sure—positive of it. No use trying to describe it to you, we could not do justice to the line. Quality and Style are the slogans for spring. We have cheap goods, but our specialty is in stylish stuffs. Come and see for yourself or send for samples ....

15c to $2.00 per yd.
is the range of our new line.

Do you know that Butterick Patterns are now 10c and 15c—none higher............

There is no excuse now for not buying the best when they are as cheap as any other. We keep everything in stock shown in the fashion cards—no waiting.

It Pays to Trade at
THE BIG STORE
The Great Quality Store.
Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

K. O. Lee, of Aberdeen, South Dakota, spent several days here this week, looking after some real estate interests.

Sam E. Hunt was in over Monday for a visit with the home folks. He intended getting here Saturday, but the storm of the night before made a change in his plans necessary.

Anthony Paradis returned home Friday from St. John's college at Collegeville, having received his diploma for a complete course in stenography, typewriting and bookkeeping. The young man will remain here the balance of the winter, and expects to accept a situation in the spring.

A liquid cold relief with a laxative principle which drives out the cold through a copious action of the bowels, and a healing principle which lingers in the throat and stops the coughs—that is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Safe and sure in its action; pleasant to take; and conforms to National Pure Food and Drug law. Contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

Freund's orchestra will go to St. Hilaire Friday, where they will furnish music for the firemen's mask ball which will be held at the Imperial hall that evening.

Star
Restaurant
MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours
Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date
Give me a call.

Keen Kutter

To the buyer of cutlery and tools the trade-mark "Keen Kutter" has a meaning that can only be appreciated after a thorough trial has been given. We are pleased to announce to the trade that we now have a complete line of

"Keen Kutter" Cutlery and Tools

and invite the keenest inspection of this handsome new stock.
We have also received some new . . .

"One Minute Washers"

the latest and easiest running washing machine made. If you are in the market for a washing machine don't fail to look at the "One-Minute Washer." Wash day will have no terrors for the housewife thereafter. The women are invited to come in and see one work. No trouble to show its workings.

The Hardware Men G. A. KANKEL Red Lake Falls, Minn.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER IX.—Continued.

He looked out in calm certainty to observe in what manner the Lord had consented to answer his petition. He saw that the wind had veered and, even as he looked, large drops of rain came pounding musically upon his wagon cover. Far in front of them a long low line of flame was crawling to the west, while above it lurid clouds of smoke rolled away from them. In another moment the full force of the shower was upon them from a sky that half an hour before had been cloudless. Far off to the right scurried the Indians, their feathered figures lying low upon the backs of their small ponies. His heart swelled within him, and he fell again to his knees with many earnest words of thanksgiving for the intercession.

They at once made camp for the night, and by Brigham's fire later in the evening Joel Rae confided the truth of his miracle to that good man, taking care not to utter the words with any delight or pride in himself. He considered that Brigham was unduly surprised by the occurrence; almost displeased in fact; showing a tendency to attribute the day's good fortune to phenomena wholly natural. Although the miracle had seemed to him a small, simple thing, he now felt a little ashamed of his performance. He was pleased to note, however, that Brigham became more gracious to him after a short period of reflection. He praised him indeed for the merit which he seemed to have gained in the Lord's sight; taking occasion to remind him, however, that he, Brigham, had meant to produce the same effects by a prayer of his own in due time to save the train from destruction; that he had chosen to wait, however, in order to try the faith of the Saints.

By the first of June they had wormed their way over 500 miles of plain to the trading post of Fort Laramie. Here they were at last forced to cross the Platte and to take up their march along the Oregon trail. They were now in the land of alkaline deserts, of sage brush and greasewood, of sad, bleak, deadly stretches; a land where the favor of Heaven might have to be called upon if they were to survive. Yet it was a land not without inspiration,—a land of immense distances, of long, dim perspectives, and of dreamy visions in the far vague haze. In such a land, thought Joel Rae, the spirit of the Lord must draw closer to the children of earth.

CHAPTER X.

The Promised Land.

So far on their march the Lord had protected them from all but ordinary hardships. True, some members of the company had suffered from a fever which they attributed to the clouds of dust that enveloped the column of wagons when in motion, and to the great change of temperature from day to night. Again, the most of them were for many weeks without bread, saving for the sick the little flour they had and subsisting upon the meat provided by the hunters. Before reaching Fort Laramie, too, their stock had become weakened for want of food; an extended drought, the vast herds of buffalo, and the Indian fires having combined to destroy the pasturage.

This weakness of the animals made the march for many days not more than five or six miles a day. At the last they had fed to the stock not only all their grain but the most of their crackers and other breadstuffs. But these were slight matters to a persecuted people gathering out of Babylon.

Late in June they reached the South Pass. For many hundred miles they had been climbing the backbone of the continent. Now they had reached the summit, the dividing ridge between streams that flowed to the Atlantic and streams that flowed to the Pacific. From the level prairies they had toiled up into the fearsome Rockies where bleak, grim crags lowered upon them from afar, and distant summits glistening with snow warned them of the perils ahead.

Through all this time of marching the place where they should pitch the tent of Israel was not fixed upon. When Brigham was questioned around the camp-fire at night, his only reply was that he would know the site of their new home when he saw it. And it came to be told among the men that he had beheld in vision a tent settling down from heaven and resting over a certain spot; and that a voice had said to him, "Here is the place where my people Israel shall pitch their tents and spread wide the curtains of Zion!" It was enough. He would recognize the spot when they reached it.

From the trappers, scouts, and guides encountered along the road they had received much advice as to eligible locations; and while this was various as to sites recommended, the opinion had been unanimous that the Salt Lake valley was impossible. It was, they were told, sandy, barren, rainless, destitute of timber and vegetation, infested with hordes of hungry crickets, and roamed over by bands of most savage Indians. In short, no colony could endure there.

They dared not, indeed, go to a fertile land, for there the Gentiles would be tempted to follow them—with the old bloody end. Only in a desert such as these men had described the Salt Lake valley to be could they hope for peace. From Fort Bridger, then, their route bent to the southwest along the rocky spurs of the Uintah mountains, whose snow-clad tops gleamed a bluish white in the July sun.

By the middle of July the vanguard of the company began the descent of Echo canyon,—a narrow slit, cut straight down a thousand feet into the red sandstone,—the pass which a handful of them was to hold a few years later against a whole army of the hated Gentiles.

"Down, Down on Your Knees and Pray."

The hardest part of their journey was still before them. Their road had now to be made as they went, lying wholly among the mountains. Lofty hills, deep ravines with jagged sides, forbidding canyons, all but impassable streams, rock-bound and brush-choked,—up and down, through or over all these obstacles they had now to force a passage, cutting here, digging there; now double-locking the wheels of their wagons to prevent their crashing down some steep incline; now putting five teams to one load to haul it up the rock-strewn side of some waterway.

From Echo canyon they went down the Weber, then toward East canyon, a dozen of the bearded host going forward with spades and axes as sappers. Sometimes they made a mile in five hours; sometimes they were less lucky. But at length they were fighting their way up the choked East canyon, starting fierce gray wolves from their lairs in the rocks and hearing at every rod of their hardfought way the swift and unnerving song of the coiled rattlesnake.

Eight fearful miles they toiled through this gash in the mountain; then over another summit—Big mountain; down this dangerous slide, all wheels double-locked, on to the summit of another lofty hill,—Little mountain; and abruptly down again into the rock gorge afterwards to become historic as Immigration canyon.

Following down this gorge, never doubting they should come at last to their haven, they found its mouth to be impassable. Rocks, brush, and timber choked the way. Crossing to the south side, they went sheerly up the steep hill—so steep that it was all but impossible for the straining animals to drag up the heavy wagons, and so narrow that a false step might have dashed wagon and team half a thousand feet on to the rocks below.

But at last they stood on the summit,—and broke into shouts of rapture as they looked. For the wilderness home of Israel had been found. Far and wide below them stretched their promised land—a broad, open valley hemmed in by high mountains that lay cold and far and still in the blue haze. Some of these had slept since the world began under their canopies of snow, and these flashed a sunlit glory into the eager eyes of the pilgrims. Others reared bare, scathed peaks above slopes that were shaggy with timber. And out in front lay the wondrous lake—a shield of deepest glittering turquois held to the dull, gray breast of the valley.

Again and again they cried out: "Hosanna to God and the Lamb!" and many of the bearded host shed tears, for the hardships of the way had weakened them.

Then Brigham came, lying pale and wasted in his wagon, and when they saw him gaze long, and heard him finally say: "Enough—drive on!" they knew that on this morning of July 24, 1847, they had found the spot where in vision he had seen the tent of the Lord come down to earth.

There on the summit they knelt to entreat the mercy of God upon the land. The next day, by their leader's direction, they consecrated the valley to the Lord, and planted six acres of potatoes.

CHAPTER XI.

Another Miracle and a Temptation in the Wilderness.

The floor of the valley was an arid waste, flat and treeless, a far sweep of gray and gold, of sage-brush spangled with sunflowers, patched here and there with glistening beds of salt and soda, or pools of the deadly alkali. Here crawled the lizard and the rattlesnake; and there was no music to the desolation save the petulant chirp of the cricket. At the sides an occasional stream tumbled out of the mountains to be all but drunk away at once by the thirsty sands. Along the banks of these was the only green to be found, sparse fringes of willow and wild rose. On the borders of the valley, where the steeps arose, were little patches of purple and dusty brown, oak-brush, squaw-berry, a few dwarfed cedars, and other scant growths. At long intervals could be found a marsh of wire-grass, or a few acres of withered bunch-grass. But these served only to emphasize the prevailing desert tones.

The sun-baked earth was so hard that it broke their plows when they tried to turn it. Not until they had spread water upon it from the river they had named Jordan could the plows be used. Such was the new Canaan, the land held in reserve by the Lord for His chosen people since the foundations of the world were laid.

Dreary though it was, they were elated. Had not a Moses led them out of bondage up into this chamber of the mountains against the day of wrath that was to consume the Gentile world? And would he not smite the rocks for water? Would he not also be a Joshua to sit in judgment and divide to Israel his inheritance?

They waited not nor demurred, but fell to work. Within a week they had explored the valley and its canons, made a road to the timber eight miles away, built a saw-pit, sawed lumber for a skiff, plowed, planted, and irrigated half a hundred acres of the parched soil, and begun the erection of many dwellings, some of logs, some of adobes. Ground had also been chosen and consecrated by Brigham, whereon, in due time, they would build up their temple to the God of Jacob.

Meantime, they would continue to gather out of Babylon. During the late summer and fall many wagons arrived from the Missouri, so that by the beginning of winter their number was nearly 2,000. They lived rudely, a lucky few in the huts they had built; more in tents and wagon-boxes. Nor did they fail to thank Providence for the mild winter vouchsafed to them during this unprotected period, permitting them not only to survive, but to continue their labors—of logging, home-building, the making of rough furniture, and the repairing of wagons and tools.

When the early spring came they were again quickly at the land with their seeds. Over 5,000 acres were sown to needful produce. When this began to sprout with every promise of a full harvest, their joy was boundless; for their stock of breadstuffs and provisions had fallen low during the winter, and could not last later than harvest-time, even with rigid economy.

But early in June, in the full flush of this springtide of promise, it appeared that the Lord was minded to chasten them. For into their broad, green fields came the ravenous crickets in wide, black streams down the mountain sides. Over the growing grain they spread as a pall, and the tender sprouts were consumed to the ground. In their track they left no stalk nor growing blade.

Starvation now faced the Saints. In their panic they sought to fight the all-devouring pest. While some went wildly through the fields killing the crickets, others ran trenches and tried to drown them. Still others beat them back with sticks and brooms, or burned them by fires set in the fields. But against the oncoming horde these efforts were unavailing. Where hundreds were destroyed hundreds of thousands appeared.

Despair seized the Saints, the bitter despair of a cheated, famished people—deluded even by their God. In their shorn fields they wept and cursed, knowing at last they could not stay the pest.

Then into the fields came Joel Rae rebuking the frenzied men and women. The light of a high faith was upon him as he called out to them:

"Have I not preached to you all winter the way to salvation in times like this? Does faith mean one thing in my mouth and another thing here? Why waste yourselves with those foolish tricks of fire and water? They only make you forget Jehovah—you fools—you poor, blind fools—to palter so!"

He raised his voice, and the wondering group about him grew large.

"Down, down on your knees and pray—pray—pray! I tell you the Lord shall not suffer you to perish!"

Then, as but one or two obeyed him—

"So your hearts have been hardened? Then my own prayer shall save you!"

Down he knelt in the midst of the group, while they instinctively drew back from him on all sides. But as his voice rose, a voice that had never failed to move them, they, too, began to kneel, at first those near him, then others back of them, until a hundred knelt about him.

He had not observed them, but with eyes closed he prayed on, pouring out his heart in penitent supplication.

As his words rang out, there had been quick, low, startled murmurs from the kneeling group about him; and now loud shouts interrupted his prayer. He opened his eyes. From off toward the lake great flocks of gulls had appeared, whitening the sky, and now dulling all other sounds with the beating of their wings and their high, plaintive cries. Quickly they settled upon the fields in swirling drifts, so that the land all about lay white as with snow.

A groan went up: "They will finish what the crickets have left."

He had risen to his feet, looking intently. Then he gave an exultant shout.

"No! No!—they are eating only the crickets! —the white birds are devouring the black pests; the hosts of heaven and hell have met, and the powers of light have triumphed once more over darkness! Pray—pray now with all your hearts in thanksgiving for this mercy!"

And again they knelt, many with streaming eyes, while he led them in a prayer of gratitude for this wondrous miracle.

All day long the white birds fed upon the crickets, and when they left at night the harvest had been saved. Thus had Heaven vouchsafed a second miracle to the Lute of the Holy Ghost. It is small wonder then if his views of the esteem in which he was held by that power were now greatly enlarged.

In August, thanks to the Heaven-sent gulls, they were able to celebrate with a feast their first "Harvest Home." In the center of the big stockade a bowery was built, and under its shade tables were spread and richly laden with the first fruits their labors had won from the desert—white bread and golden butter, green corn, watermelons, and many varieties of vegetables. Hoisted on poles for exhibition were immense sheaves of wheat, rye, barley, and oats, coaxed from the arid level with the water they had cunningly spread upon it.

There were prayers and public thanksgiving, songs and speeches and dancing. It was the flush of their first triumph over the desert. Until nightfall the festival lasted, and at its close Elder Rae stood up to address them on the subject of their past trials and present blessings. The silence was instant, and the faces were all turned eagerly upon him, for it was beginning to be suspected that he had more than even priestly power.

When he was done many pressed forward to take his hand, the young and the old, for they had both learned to reverence him.

Near the outer edge of the throng was a red-lipped Juno, superbly rounded, who had gleaned in the fields until she was all a Gypsy brown, and her movements of a Gypsy grace in their freeness. She did not greet this young Elder as did the others, seeming, indeed, to be unconscious of his presence. Yet she lingered near as they scattered off into the dusk, in little groups or one by one; and still she stood there when all were gone, now venturing just a glance at him from deep gray eyes set under black brows, turning her splendid head a little to bring him into view. He saw the figure and came forward, peeringly.

"Mara Cavan—yes, yes, so it is!" He took her hand, somewhat timidly, an observer would have said. "Your father is not able to be out? I shall walk down with you to see him—if you're ready now."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

HORTICULTURE

A CHEAP GREENHOUSE.

Structure That Will Prove Adequate for the Small Business.

This greenhouse was built for the purpose of supplying a country town with cut flowers, but later young plants of tomatoes, cabbage and cauliflower were grown as an experiment. These proving successful, many vegetables were grown and put upon the home market, some time before the gardeners had sowed the seed.

This greenhouse is perhaps larger than most gardeners would need, being 60x80 feet, says a correspondent of Orange Judd Farmer. The main entrance is from the south, there being two walks two and one-half feet wide, each extending the length of the house. At the north end of the walk is a door and window opening into the furnace room. This window furnishes all the air for the furnace room during cold weather. This furnace room is 7x18 feet and has an outside door. The pipes extend through the house from the furnace under the center bench and back again to the boiler. The center bench is six feet wide and two side benches each three and one-half feet wide.

Interior of Greenhouse.

Some 840 feet of lumber was required for the benches, which cost $1.25 per hundred feet, rough oak being used for most of the work. The bill of materials for construction of this house was as follows:

960 feet siding at $1.25	$12 00
840 feet for benches	10 50
1,060 feet of sash	53 00
1,200 feet of glass	54 00
150 fire brick	5 00
900 common brick	6 30
Furnace door	3 50
Grate bars	2 00
Sand and lime	3 00
One glass door and 2 plain doors	3 50
Shingles, rafters and sheeting for furnace room	9 00
Smokestack	4 00
60 feet of ridge pole	6 00
120 feet of eve plates	12 00
Nails, screws and hardware	5 00
40 posts	4 00
80 posts	7 20
Carpentry	40 00
Building paper	2 00
Bricklaying	8 00
Total	$250 00

Orchard and Garden.

Fight the scale or cut your trees down.

How many apples have you eaten today?

Scions for grafting purposes can be taken at any time during the winter, or while in a dormant condition. They can be wrapped in wet burlap, packed with moss, or boxed with old sawdust or excelsior.

We must grow low headed apple trees so that we can spray and pick the fruit at least cost, says a correspondent of Farm and Home. I advocate to start a head nine in from the ground and keep the tree low so that the fruit can be picked with a 12-foot ladder.

Send in your nursery order before the rush.

Too much land is the bane of many small fruit growers.

Be sure to have a full crop of nursery catalogues. Write for 'em.

Keep an eye on the strawberry bed. If winds blow the mulch off in spots, replace it at once.

Be prepared to adopt the valuable practical advice which is given so freely by neighbors and practical fruit growers.—Farm Journal.

Heart of the Apple Tree.

It is quite a popular impression that the heart of the apple tree is essential to its well-being. Yet it is known that the heart is but dead wood and plays little part in the life or usefulness of the tree. It helps to keep the tree upright and gives strength to it after the wood that composes the heart has ceased to perform cellular work. The strength given by the heart is valuable when great windstorms sweep over the orchard; for without the hard wood in the center of the tree, it would bend and break. It is often noticed that hearts of apple trees rot out, and the trees go on bearing as if nothing had happened.

Fruit Tree Whitewash.

Last spring I made a whitewash for apple trees with water in which tobacco stems and refuse tobacco had been boiled, using the usual amount of lime required to make a good thick coat on the trees when applied. The effect was beyond my expectation. It made the bark look sleek and healthy, even on trees that had considerable moss on them, also the insects were destroyed on most of the trees. To spray an orchard thoroughly in early winter and again in the spring with the above whitewash will, says Farm and Home, at least hold many insects in check.

Given Free To All Who Ask

Sheboygan Chemist Will Send Liberal Bottle of His Remedy to Any Address, All Charges Paid.

One of the most liberal offers ever made by a responsible business man has recently been announced by M. R. Zaegel, of Sheboygan, Wis., a leading chemist of that city.

Max R. Zaegel Ph. G.

A few years ago Mr. Zaegel, in the course of his scientific investigations discovered a wonderful combination of certain mineral and vegetable oils which when applied to burns, piles, cuts sores and bruises cooled, soothed and allayed inflammation and so constituted a remarkable aid to speedy cure.

The fame of Z. M. O., as he calls it, soon spread far beyond the confines of his home city and thousands of persons in all parts of the country have been convinced of its great merits.

Z. M. O. possesses antiseptic and healing properties which make it of the highest value in treating sores, and wounds in which there is danger of pus or matter appearing and yet it is so simple and harmless that it may be taken internally without the slightest danger. Its taste is pleasant and agreeable.

Mr. Zaegel has retired from his drug business, and will devote his entire time to extending the blessing of Z. M. O.

He has determined to give away absolutely free, a liberal sized bottle of Z. M. O. to all who suffer from aches and pains, catarrh, rheumatism, piles and pains in back. Take advantage at once of Mr. Zaegel's generosity, as every household should have a bottle of Z. M. O.

All that is necessary is to write to Mr. Zaegel, 47 Main St., Sheboygan, Wis., and the trial bottle will be mailed at once, all charges prepaid.

Write to-day, as so many are taking advantage of this offer that Mr. Zaegel states he does not know how long he can continue the free distribution.

Canadian Government Free Farms

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Over 200,000 American farmers who have settled in Canada during the past few years testify to the fact that Canada is, beyond question, the greatest farming land in the world.

OVER NINETY MILLION BUSHELS

of wheat from the harvest of 1906 means good money to the farmers of Western Canada when the world has to be fed. Cattle Raising, Dairying and Mixed Farming are also profitable callings. Coal, wood and water in abundance; churches and schools convenient; markets easy of access. Taxes low.

For advice and information address the Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or any authorized Canadian Government Agent. CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. MacHlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages.

Ely's Cream Balm

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES COLD IN HEAD CATARRH ROSE-COLD HAY-FEVER DEAFNESS HEADACHE 50 CTS. ELY BROS. NEW YORK

cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

PARLOR ORGAN ECHOS A choice collection of instrumental and vocal music, for Organ or Piano. Book 1—31 pieces, 25c. Book 2—24 pieces, 25c. Book 3—26 pieces, 25c. To introduce these beautiful collections a copy of either book will be sent postpaid on receipt of 15 cents, stamps or coin. WM. A. POND & CO., 148 5th Ave., New York.

DEFIANCE STARCH—16 ounces to the package—other starches only 12 ounces—same price and "DEFIANCE" IS SUPERIOR QUALITY.

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

The STORY of CUPID

ST. VALENTINE'S Day perbaps is the least understood of all the days of the year that havs special significance. It is popular. It is observed. Swains a legion make it the occasion for sending tokens to their lady loves, yet not many know why.

Everybody knows what Christmas means, or Independence day, Thanksgiving day, Easter, but the origin of St. Valentine's day, or even its meaning, is a riddle but few have solved.

It is one of the oldest of the holidays. Only Christmas and Easter go further back into antiquity. These days have been observed ever since there was religion. But all the rest of the holidays are but infants beside the February occasion when belaced, befringed and beflowered love tokens are sent on their sentimental journeys.

St. Valentine's day began somewhere about the opening of the third century. It is a quaint combination of religion and sentiment. It represents the dual worship of a great man of the church and cupid, the mischievous patron and saint of love.

It was a queer beginning for a great holiday that people should have united on the same day to honor St. Valentine and Cupid. No more dissimilar deities could be found.

St. Valentine was an early day martyr. He died for the church, and in commemoration of his goodness and piety the Holy See set aside February 14 as the day on which the faithful should do honor to his memory.

On this day it became the custom to hold a love feast, which became known as the Feast of Lupercalia. It was at first a peculiarly religious observance modeled somewhat on the love feasts that are still held in many churches, in which members of the congregation break bread with each other, as a sign of peace and good fellowship.

Eventually the young folks passed from the purely religious feature of the holiday, and began to give it a somewhat secular tone. From loving your sister as a fellow believer in the tenets of the church was not a far step from loving her with the sort of sentiment that usually leads to the altar.

So in place of merely breaking bread together, according to the simple form of old, the young men inaugurated the custom of sending beautiful gifts to the women of their hearts. It was easy to do this without fear of reproof, for custom prescribed that no one could of right refuse that which came on St. Valentine's day, with all the gentle sentiments of love and Christian brotherhood that the festival inspired.

Thus in a gradual way Cupid had come to usurp the place that St. Valentine had once held all alone, and what was originally a time of prayer gradually transformed itself into the season when love sent out its messengers and pleas.

The wise old fathers of the church fought this merging of the religious with the secular, but the idea had taken a firm hold on the people, and was not to be easily abolished.

For a long time the worship of the day was fairly divided between St. Valentine and Cupid. First, the people would send up a prayer for the martyr. Then, this duty discharged, they would assemble in the public squares, the maids forming in line, and youths standing by in laughing eagerness.

One by one the girls would file up to a huge wooden box affixed to a pole and drop in the opening a slip of paper with her name written thereon.

When every girl had deposited her slip, the youths would file up and draw each one a slip. With palpitating hearts would they read the names drawn, for to the maiden thus given to them by good St. Valentine they must be faithful for one year.

Frequently the girl thus drawn, known as a valentine, became the wife of the man to whose lot she had fallen before the expiration of the year of service. The custom lasted through many centuries.

St. Valentine gave the excuse for these sentimental exchanges, but Cupid reaped the actual profit. In point of antiquity, Cupid was far the senior of St. Valentine, though the latter is also pictured in the dignity of a gray beard, while Cupid is a mere sprite of a boy, with bow and arrows. St. Valentine's era was some 20 centuries back. Cupid reaches into the dimmest mist of the antiquities. In fact, there never was time when Cupid did not exist.

The little god himself sent the first valentine of which there is any record, though it wasn't the kind of missive that now comes through the mails in a big square envelope.

The first valentine was a rather crude sort of love message, for it gave pain, but Cupid had an excuse. He lacked other means of reaching the affections of the obdurate Psyche, and when maidens resist a zealous suitor they must expect summary treatment.

Cupid was the son of Venus, herself the goddess of love; hence by inheritance he had a right to expect to know all about the tender passion. But while Venus was queen of love, she also had all the power of experiencing to the full that other passion that so frequently comes with love—jealousy.

The green monster was stirred in her breast by the acclaim that greeted the youngest daughter of a certain king and queen, a maiden known as Psyche. All men raged to possess the hand of this beautiful young girl, and Venus, unable to see her complete dominion even disputed, called to her aid Cupid.

"My son," she said, [illegible] thot beauty. Give thy mother revenge. Infuse in her bosom a love that shall be unrequited, so that her eventual mortification may be as great as her triumph now."

Thus it was that Cupid set out to woo Psyche, not with real love, not with a right motive, but animated by the base desire to feed a mother's hatred.

In Venus' gardens were two fountains, one of sweet, the other of bitter water. From these Cupid filled two amber vases, and suspending them from his quiver, hastened to the chamber of Psyche, whom he found asleep. He poured a few drops of the bitter liquid on her lips, then touched her with his arrow in the side.

Love has queer ways of working out its destiny, and even the god of love was not exempt from its perils. Psyche awoke, and in his eagerness to escape, Cupid slightly wounded himself with his own arrow.

Instantly he himself became stirred with the throbbings of tenderness, and knowing only the motive to repair the damage he had done, he poured all of the sweet water over the startled maiden, and being invisible himself, was able to escape before she could comprehend what had happened.

The two waters and the touch with the quiver may be accurately termed the first valentine of which history affords record. The valentine of today represents the desire of the suitor to win the lady of his love; so did the waters and arrow of Cupid.

That his first motive was base makes little difference, for afterwards he came to love Psyche with genuine loyalty, and against the wishes of his mother, married her.

Cupid, being a god, and Psyche only a mortal, it was not possible that the union should be of the earthly kind. Psyche went to the mountain, conducted by the Zephyr, and was set down at the palace of Cupid.

Then he came to her in the darkness, proclaimed her his wife, and fleeing always before the dawn of day, so maneuvered that while Psyche was filled with love of him and the joy of his presence she had never been able to see him.

Her envious sisters played on her feelings, told her that the husband of her choice, whom she had never seen might be some dangerous monster, who, having fattened her to his liking, would eventually feed upon her.

So they persuaded Psyche to the plan of stealing upon him as he slept, and knife in hand for protection, to gaze upon his features.

Psyche followed out this program, but just as she discovered that her husband was no monster, but the most beautiful of gods, she was unfortunate enough to spill a drop of oil from the lamp. It fell upon his shoulder and awakened him. Saddened and angered, Cupid, after rebuking her for her curiosity, vanished.

Psyche wandered alone and forlorn for a long time, but eventually Jupiter made her immortal, and she was united to Cupid for all time.

EMBARRASSING!

Mrs. Neersite—I found this horrid comic valentine in the coal-bed! I suppose some idiot sent it to Bridget?

Orvilla Mugge—Er, beg pardon, but, er, that's my photograph! Er, I mailed it to your daughter yesterday.

Valentine Baskets.

For the Valentine day luncheon oranges make pretty baskets. To make them cut a slice off one end of each orange about a third of the way down to its circumference. Remove all the pulp of the orange from the basket and with a sharp knife scrape out the bitter white lining. Throw both the basket and its cover into ice water, and put the orange pulp in the ice box. When ready to serve, stand the baskets in a pretty glass dish, propping them up against the sides with the circular pieces cut from the top. Fill each orange skin with pink ice cream and lay a red candy heart on each basket, tie with red ribbon with a red heart attached to each ribbon.

EFFECTIVE REMEDY

SIMPLE FORMULA WILL BREAK A COLD OVER NIGHT.

Prescribed by Well-Known Specialist in the Cure of Consumption—Can Be Prepared by Anyone.

Here is a simple and effective remedy for coughs and colds: Mix a half ounce of the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) with two ounces of glycerine and a half pint of good whisky. Shake well and take in teaspoon doses every four hours.

This formula is said to be very effective, being the prescription of an eminent authority. It will break up a cold in 24 hours, and cure any cough that is curable.

The ingredients for this prescription can be found at any good drug store, but care should be taken that only the pure Virgin Oil of Pine should be used. This is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing, securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, having the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon.

The cheaper oils and those sold in bulk only create nausea and have no effect whatever upon the bronchial tubes.

WHERE APPLES ARE GROWN.

North America the Great Producing Region of the World.

The area of the world devoted to apple raising in the northern hemisphere extends from Scandinavia on the north to the mountain regions of North Carolina and Tennessee on the south. In the southern hemisphere apples are raised in New Zealand and Tasmania, but little success has been obtained in Australia, Africa or South America. North America is the great apple-producing region of the world and New York leads all the other states in the quantity grown, although there are many choice varieties produced in other states, particularly Missouri, Oregon and Washington. The soil and climate conditions must combine to produce the finest fruit. The annual aggregate product of the world is estimated at 100,000,000 barrels, but not all of this is gathered, for in seasons when the production is plentiful large quantities are fed to cattle or allowed to rot on the ground, and every season millions of bushels of the less choice varieties and the poorer fruit from the best trees are turned into cider, which is used as a beverage and for making vinegar and apple brandy.

TWO SISTERS HAD ECZEMA.

Cuticura Cured Scalp Troubles of Two Illinois Girls—Another Sister Took Cuticura Pills.

"I must give much praise to all the Cuticura Remedies. I used but one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, as that was all that was required to cure my disease. I was very much troubled with eczema of the head, and a friend of mine told me to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did, and am glad to say that they cured my eczema entirely. Since then we have always kept the soap on hand at all times. My sister was also cured of eczema of the head by using the Cuticura Remedies. Another sister has used Cuticura Resolvent and Pills and thinks they are a splendid tonic. I cannot say exactly how long I suffered, but I think about six months. Miss Edith Hammer, R. F. D. No. 6, Morrison, Ill., Oct. 3, 1906."

Expert Ocean Mail Sorters.

One of the most interesting performances of modern times is the handling of the mails in great ocean steamships. Some of the men become so expert at sorting that they work almost automatically, many of them being able to put their finger on any particular town marked on the rack blindfolded. On an ordinary western trip they carry on an average about 250,000 letters and some 10,000 registered packets. The latter have all to be written up in detail in their books during the voyage, and this takes more time than the actual sorting. The officials do not always manage to finish the work by the time they reach port, and when such is the case they accompany what is left to the general post office and complete the job there.

Clover & Grass Seeds.

Everybody loves lots and lots of Clover Grasses for hogs, cows, sheep and swine.

We are known as the largest growers of Grasses, Clovers, Oats, Barley, Corn, Potatoes and Farm Seeds in America. Operate over 5,000 acres.

FREE

Our mammoth 148-page catalog is mailed free to all intending buyers; or send

8c IN STAMPS

and receive sample of "perfect balance ration grass seed," together with Fodder Plants, Clover, etc., etc., and big Plant and Seed Catalog free.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box W, La Crosse, Wis.

Revolt Against Trading Stamps.

"No more trading stamps," is the slogan of a campaign which English grocerymen are carrying on. One of them, whose shop is in East London, says: "There is not a small grocer in England who earns 15 per cent on his capital. Ten per cent is average profit and the cost of trading stamps leaves him only about 6¼ per cent.

AWFUL ATTACKS OF PAIN.

A Most Dreadful Case of Kidney Trouble and How It Was Cured.

Thomas N. McCullough, 321 South Weber St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "For twelve or fifteen years I was suffering frequent attacks of pain in the back and kidneys that lasted for three weeks at a time. I would be unable to turn in bed. The urine was in a terrible condition, at times a complete stoppage occurring. I began with Doan's Kidney Pills, and soon felt better. Keeping on, I found complete freedom from kidney trouble. The cure has been permanent. I owe my good health to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

PETS FOR LITTLE PARISIANS.

All Kinds of Animals as Playmates for the Children.

Children play a great role in French society, as all those who have read Gyp's inimitable "P'tit Bob" will readily admit, and now the small Parisienne insists on receiving on her fete day and at the New Year a live pet, instead of a costly doll or a mechanical toy. The demand has been creating a supply, and a lively trade is being done, not only in puppies and kittens, in tiny monkeys and in lambs, but also in tigers and leopards. Up to a certain age, these small felines are quite harmless, and, of course, as soon as they begin, so to speak, to show their teeth and sharpen their claws, they are sent off to one of the two magnificent "Zoos" with which the Gay City is provided.

Invigorate the Digestion.

To invigorate the digestion and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels there is nothing so good as that old family remedy, Brandreth Pills, which has been in use for over a century. They cleanse the blood and impart new vigor to the body. One or two every night for a week will usually be all that is required. For Constipation or Dyspepsia, one or two taken every night will afford great relief.

Brandreth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used and being purely vegetable are adopted to every system.

Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.

Pigeons Aid Physicians.

Carrier pigeons as aids to a physician are reported from the north of Scotland. The doctor has a scattered practice, and when on long rounds he takes several pigeons with him. If one of his patients needs medicine immediately he writes out a prescription, and by means of the bird forwards it to his surgery. Here an assistant gets the message, prepares the prescription and dispatches the medicine. If after visiting a patient the doctor thinks he will be required later in the day, he simply leaves a pigeon, with which he can be called, if necessary.

Records to Be Proud of.

Edward Wolfenden and Thomas Bleakeley have not missed a single session of the Baptist Sunday school at Upland, Pa., in 24 years. Thomas K. Draper has been present at every session for the last 20 years and Elias Eves and William Taylor have attended every Sunday for ten years.

Sweep's Curious Find.

An Atherington (Eng.) sweep, named Joshua Folland, was sweeping the chimney of a house which had been unoccupied for some little time at High Beckington, when, to his great surprise, he swept down seven full-grown, live wild rabbits, which he bagged.

Garfield Tea (Guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Law) regulates a sluggish liver, overcomes constipation, purifies the blood and eradicates disease. It is made of Herbs.

Some men seem to think they are doing a great deal toward righting the world's wrongs by fussing with their neighbors.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

It takes a clever man to pick up an umbrella and walk off with it just as if it belonged to him.

Trappers' Supplies Sold Cheap.

Write for catalog and circular No. 9. N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

The man who is on pleasure bent is apt to find himself broke in due time.

Top Prices for Hides, Furs, Pelts.

Write for circular and catalogue No. 9, N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

Fate is a female who gives men the laugh for believing her.

We Pay Top Price for Cream.

Cash every day. Write for prices and tags. Miller & Holmes, St. Paul, Minn.

Every noble activity makes room for itself.—Emerson.

For Prices on Poultry,

either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, St. Paul, Minn.

To a big-headed man the world is very small.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Large fortunes from small grafts soon grow.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES, are fast to light and washing and color more goods than others. 10c per package.

Men who make the most money get others to make it for them.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

It's just as easy to be pleasant as otherwise—and it pays better.

We Pay the Highest Price

for butter fat in cream. Write for price. Milton Dairy Co., St. Paul.

If all a man's real wants are gratified he has no excuse for being unhappy.

Panthers and Grizzly Bears.

Ship Furs Pelts McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn. Write for prices.

Encourage Building Erection.

Loans are freely made by the Philippine commission to the various provinces for the erection of public buildings in the islands.

Health of New York City.

Statistics of the board of health show that the general death rate in New York city is decreasing in all diseases excepting the four groups of acute respiratory troubles, cancer, diseases of the heart and diseases of the kidneys.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Sweet Amenities.

"I hope you won't be disappointed, dear, for I know everybody thought George was paying attention to you: But as a matter of fact, he asked me last night to marry him."

"He has then carried out his threat, poor fellow!"

"What threat?"

"He declared to me the last time I refused him that he would take some desperate step."

HEALTH AND SPIRITS

Are Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Cases of Debility and Despondency.

General debility is caused by mental or physical overwork with imperfect assimilation of nourishment, or by some acute disease from which the vital forces have been prostrated and the entire organism weakened so as not to easily rally. To restore health it is necessary that the blood should be purified and made new.

The case of Mrs. E. M. Spears, of 92 Mt. Pleasant street, Athol, Mass., is a common one and is given here in order that others may be benefited by her experience. She says: "I had been sick for a year from indigestion and general debility brought on by overwork and worry. I had tried many remedies, but found no relief. I suffered from swelling of the limbs, loss of appetite and dizzy spells, which became so severe towards night, that I sometimes fainted away. I was bilious and my hands and arms would go to sleep for an hour or two at a time. I was so sleepy all the time that I could hardly keep awake. I had frequent cramps in my limbs and severe pains at the base of my head and in my back. My blood was impoverished. I was afraid to give up and go to bed fearing that I would never get well.

"About this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a friend in South Vernon, Vt. I felt better soon after beginning the treatment and continued until I was entirely cured. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a grand medicine for weak women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?
Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postcard to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. 6, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the
SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free
and it will be sent you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.

OLD VIRGINIA LANDS We have bargains in lands from $5.00 an Acre up. For further information address the SOUTHSIDE REALTY CO., Inc., Petersburg, Va.

NATURE PROVIDES FOR SICK WOMEN
a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.
In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines and Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.
During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures of those serious ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person and every thinking woman.
When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacements, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them.
Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.

MASURY'S HOUSE PAINTS
WILL NOT RUN, RUB OFF OR SPOT
DON'T act in the matter of selecting house paints until you are satisfied that you know the paints possessing those indispensable qualities of preservation and durability which make the ideal house paints. Masury's House Paints are not the only paints on the market, but an experience extending over a period of sixty-five years has proved them, beyond the shadow of doubt, to be the best.
They will not run, wrinkle or spot.
They will not chalk, rub off, flake off, peel or blister.
They are famously superior to all other house paints in brilliancy of finish, durability of color, preservative strength and uniform smoothness. One gallon of Masury's House Paints will cover a greater surface than other house paints, which equalizes the first expense. Their great economy is practically demonstrated by the established fact that they will remain intact, in every respect, years after inferior paints have disappeared. The paints that defer repainting for the longest period are the paints that are the cheapest. This is the predominant merit of Masury's House Paints, manufactured and sold for more than half a century by the house of
JOHN W. MASURY & SON, New York and Chicago.

FREEZING TO DEATH
in parts of Northwest and at same time happy and prosperous farmers picking strawberries and shipping garden truck to market at profit up to $500 per acre in Gulf Coast Texas Country where we own 250,000 acres clear, fertile agricultural land ready for plow, ½ to 5 miles from railroad.
Write today for information how to buy a fruit and truck farm $10 down and $10 per month, also 80 to 3,000 acre farms $10 to $18 per acre. Fine healthy climate. Good neighbors, churches, schools. Best markets in world. Ample rainfall. Plenty sunshine. Book and state map of Texas free. Cheap railroad tickets. PICKERT-HAMMOND LAND CO., Grand Central Station, Houston, Tex.

PATENTS THERE'S MONEY IN SMALL INVENTIONS
as well as large. Send for free booklet. MILO B. STEVENS & CO., 900 14th Street, Washington, D. C. Branches at Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. Established 1864.
NO PATENT, NO FEE FOR OUR SERVICES

MY BACK
is so lame, is a common complaint.
Johnson's Anodyne Liniment
Rubbed on Briskly
removes all lameness and soreness of muscles, and quickly heals cuts, burns, scalds, bites and bruises. Established 1810. 25c., three times as much 50c. All dealers. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

VIRGINIA FARMS and HOMES.
FREE CATALOGUE of Splendid Bargains.
R. B. CHAFFIN & CO., Inc., RICHMOND, VA.

BENEFITS OF INDUSTRIAL ARTS

(Affirmative of a debate on this question, recently held at the High School here.)

Madam President, Hon. Judges, Fellow Schoolmates:

The question for discussion today is, "Is is beneficial to introduce into our schools industrial arts?" I speak for the affirmative. I will endeavor to prove to you my side of this question.

The function of the school at the present age is greater than making scholars of the pupils. One of its greater aims is to make men and women of them. On all sides people oppose this important question. But are we going to listen to the friend of the old time school who on general principles, opposes all that has been added since his childhood days as a fad and insists upon old methods and courses of study?

Every school ought to offer more than one course from which the pupil may choose. The school may be small but place can always be found in the building to teach Domestic Science and Manual Training. The basement labratory or even the attic could be made to answer the purpose by few alterations, which would cost but little in comparison to the benefits it would render its pupils. In our case our halls could be used. Perhaps the lower hall would do best as it is not in use as extensively as our upper hall.

Let us first consider the necessity of Domestic Science. Every girl will at some time find the necessity of knowing how to cook. Where can she best learn how to cook? Surely in a school, well-equipped and near at hand where it is being taught under able instructors. You may say that home is the place where the girl should learn how to cook. I will endeavor to prove to you that a girl cannot easily learn to cook at home and at the same time attend to her school-work. She leaves at eight or half-past eight in the morning and gets home at half past four or five in the evening. The time before supper she must spend in bracing out-door air, to keep up her health. After supper she spends from 3 to 4 hours studying tomorrow's lessons. What time has she left to learn cooking at home? Practically none. Therefore we should teach cooking in our school and would be in reach of all, since many a girl cannot go to a real cooking school because she has not the time or money to spend. Then since cooking is of such great importance in our lives, every girl when she comes to the proper age should be able to cook the pure substantial cooking that would be taught in our school. The child that eats pure and wholesome food is the child that grows up strong and robust. While the child that is fed upon dainty fussy dishes, grows up peaked and sickly.

There is yet another point that I wish to bring out in favor of cooking being taught in our school.

The rich girl that learns to cook at home usually becomes exceedingly careless about the amount of material she uses and is not taught the lesson of economizing which every girl ought to know.

Likewise every girl should know how to sew, so she does not have to go to a dressmaker for every stitch she needs. In this way she can save a great deal of money as dressmakers usually charge a good price for their work. Then she will not have to idle her spare moments but can do odd bits of fancy work.

I would say that Manual Training is of as great importance to the boy as Domestic Science is to the girl, tho in entirely different ways. As we all know boys have a great tendency to drop out of school. Now if we had some course as manual training that would attract the boy to school as well as be beneficial to him there would not be as many idlers and criminals as are in the world today. To drop out of school is the first road that leads to the boy's destruction.

Agriculture is another art which is of a vast importance to youth. As I have before mentioned, many boys stay out of schools to learn a trade. And one of these is farming. The boy reaches the seventh or eighth grade, then drops out of school and hires himself to work on the farm. Here he works thru seeding, harvesting and threshing. Then he comes into the city and does all sorts of odd jobs for the city people. Thus he becomes a jack-of-all-trades and knows no trade or profession thoroughly when he gets to be a man and must look out for himself. His life is a complete failure. On the other hand if this boy had gone to school until he knew just what occupation he wished to pursue, he could have been a brilliant success. We could cheaply and easily buy from five to ten acres of land adjoining our city on which the boy could spend sometime raising beans, corn and other vegetables, under the directions of a teacher.

Inventions are made only by men who have had physical training as well as mental training. When such a man comes in contact with machinery he will invent. As soon as his eye perceives his hand will do. If the world wants new inventions she looks to this kind of men. A man will say that his son does not need to have an educated brain to become a farmer. But that is just where people are wrong. A man must be educated to some extent no matter in what profession he be, if he wishes to make a success. Educated farmers is what the world wants now-a-days.

Training the mind only is the cause of many physical defects upon the pupil. A weak body cannot contain a fully developed mind. To have a strong mind one must have a strong body. Look at some of our well educated people—how frail and weak they are—some men so weak that they cannot make use of their hard-earned education. This is all due to the fact that their physical training was entirely left out in the school they acquired their knowlegde. What better physical training can we have in a school than the industrial arts I have just named?

To introduce into our schools industrial arts will do away with the antagonistic feeling between the poor and the capitalists. In one of speeches, E. W. Walker, President of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association, says: "Education for labor not always from labor is the spirit of the modern school. Put intelligence with manual labor not separate intelligence from manual is the new school ideal." Probably no sounder educational ideal has ever been developed.

Another educator says we should place freedom to serve as the supreme educational ideal. It is in accordance with the development of these ideas that industrial schools have multiplied so rapidly: that courses in these subjects have been added in so many of our schools and that the spirit of labor and service is penetrating all our school work. I believe one of the best results manual training and agriculture has been the tendency to unite education of the hand with education of the brain, and thus help abolish the old fallacy of degradation in the work of hands.

Shall we look down upon the man who works with his hands? Let us rather assume the attitude of President Roosevelt when he says in his simple but forceful language: "I pity no man because he has to work. If he is worth his salt he will work. I envy the man who has a work worth doing and does it well. It is the fact of doing work WELL that counts, not the kind of work, so long as that work be honorable."

Thus as the poor and wealthy grow up side by side doing the same kind of work, the old fallacy of thinking work done by the hands degrading, will soon be abolished.

Many a poorer boy or girl cannot go to school until he has acquired a finished education. Here is a great advantage to that boy or girl. They can fall back upon one of these trades learned in school, whereby they can earn a fair and honest living.

Another result of the learning of these arts in our schools, is a rise in the salary of the common people. A person who is thoroughly familiar with his work is wanted by the world now-a-days, and the world pays most any salary to such a man.

A certain business man had employed in his office two men who learned the trade from him and one young man who learned the trade before he took it up as his profession. Within six months the man who had learned the business before he took it up as his work, received twice the amount the other, who had worked in the place for two years received. Thus we see the advantage.

You may say, "why not go to special schools to learn these trades?" They are often a great distance from us and to attend these schools a year or two would require a large amount of money, and time might be wasted. Suppose a boy graduated from a high school and went off to an agricultural school for a year or two. At the end of this time he finds that he does not want to become a farmer so he goes to the university and takes up law. There we see the time wasted. Again he isn't certain if he will ever become a lawyer.

It would be far better to extend our school work for two years at the end of which every pupil would well know what profession he wished to pursue and go directly at it.

My worthy opponent may say that these courses in addition to our present course are far too much for the pupil. The pupil must study enough as it is. This I oppose. In proportion, the pupils lessons would be shorter and he could more firmly impress each lesson upon his mind. There would be a variation in his school work and thus the monotony could be overcome and the pupil would like to study a great deal better.

The points that I advocate are as follows:

1. Plain wholesome cooking is learned.
2. Attraction to the boy who has dropped out or soon will because he is tired of his monotonous school work.
3. It makes a genius of the pupil, the result of which is a new invention.
4. It destroys the feeling between the poor and the capitalists.
5. Training mind and hand at the same time prevents many physical defects upon the pupil.
6. The boy or girl who must stop school before he has acquired a finished education can fall back upon one of these trades learned in school whereby they can earn a fair and honest living.
7. It would cause a rise in the salary of common working people.

DR. N. M. WATSON

Physician and Surgeon

Graduate of McGill University, Montreal.
Office over First State Bank.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ALGUE, D. M. D.

DENTIST

Office in Lemissondiere Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.

At St Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys at-Law

Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 17 Collections attended to.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work the Murray Cure

Mr. Murray's family, the widow, two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1319 Nicollet Ave, Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

Bray.

A good sized blizzard passed over here last Friday and Saturday.

Gust Sebolin returned home from the woods last Tuesday where he has been working during the winter.

Messrs. C. P. Swanson and E. J. Akerlund drove to St. Hilaire last Tuesday.

M. J. Akerlund returned to his work on the G. N. railroad last Thursday after a week's visit at home.

C. P. Swanson was at Wylie last Thursday to attend a meeting of the Wylie Elevator and Mercantile Co.

Messrs. Ernest Akerlund, Ray Lindquist and Gust Dahlen, all from Bray transacted business at St. Hilaire Thursday.

Alfred Johnson drove to Wylie last Tuesday.

Nothing will relieve Indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. KODOL is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. KODOL takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs, and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of KODOL are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. KODOL is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by all druggists.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL.

ESTATE OF MARGARETTA WALTER

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake } ss

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Mergeretta Walter, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Andrew Walter, Phillip Welter, John Walter, Maggie Adler (nee Walter), Anna Skala (nee Walter), Mary Kaus (nee Walter) and all persons interested in the allowance and probate of the will of said decedent: The petition of Phillip Walter being duly filed in this court, representing that Margaretta Walter, then a resident of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, died on the 31st day of December, 1906, leaving a last will and testament which is presented to this court with said petition, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to Phillip Walter. Now therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Honorable N. W. Tarrant, Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 24th day of January, 1907.

[Seal] N. W. TARRANT, Judge.

F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Petitioner. j24f7

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventy and 99-100 ($70.99) Dollars, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Joseph Boushea, administrator of the estate of John Boushea, deceased, mortgagor, to M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of March, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 21 of Mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, to John Jaenike by written assignment dated the 9th day of April, 1904, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 14th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages on page 119.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said John Jaenike the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., by written assignment dated the 14th day of December, 1906, and recorded on the 19th day of December, 1906, at 6 o'clock p. m., in book 15 of mortgages page 345, and by reason of the default herein before mentioned the said Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, the assignee of said mortgagee, chooses to declare and hereby does declare the whole debt secured by the aforesaid mortgage due and payable making in all four hunared twenty and 99-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the south-west quarter of section fourteen (14), Township numbered one hundred fifty (150), North of Range forty-two (42), west of the 5th P. M. in the state of Minnesota, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the second day of March, 1907, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 15th, A. D., 1907.

Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee,

F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. j17-f28

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Rudolf Warberg and Katharina Warberg, his wife, mortgagors, to Ralph Rogers mortgagee, bearing date the 16th day of April 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1903, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., in book 29 of mortgages, on page 29

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Ralph Rogers mortgagee, to G. B. Ward by written assignment dated the 15th day of October 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 13th day of November 1906, at 1:00 o'clock P. M.; in book 32 of mortgages on page 391.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said G. B. Ward, the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, a corporation, by written asignment dated the 13th day of November, 1906, and recorded on the 22nd day of November, 1906, at 3:10 o'clock P. M., in book 15 mortgages page 339, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otberwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

North east quarter of section numbered twenty-eight (28), in township numbered one hundred fifty (150), north of range forty-one (41), west of the 5th P. M. in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 23rd day of March, 1907, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty and no-100 dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, February 6th, 1907.

Merchants State Bank of
Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

F. A. Grady, Attorney for
Assignee of Mortgagee, f7-m21
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

Statement of the Condition of the First State Bank of Brooks, Minnesota.

STATEMENT of the condition of First State Bank of Brooks, at Brooks Minn., at close of business on January 26th, 1907. Date of Call by Supt., January 29th, 1907. Date of Report by Bank, January 31st, 1907.

RESOURCES
Loans and Discounts			$36,739 10
Overdrafts			1,121 29
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures			2,925 24
Due from Banks		$1,808 64
Checks and Cash Items		79 75
Cash on hand, items below		2,013 82
Currency	$1,162 00
Gold	555 00
Silver	290 60
Other	6 22
Total Cash Assets		3,902 21	3,902 21
Total			$44,687 84
LIABILITIES
Capital Stock			$10,000 00
Surplus Fund			600 00
Undivided Profits, Net			643 50
Deposits Subject to Check		12,789 26
Demand Certificates		1,212 25
Total Immediate Liabilities		14,001 51
Time Certificate		19,442 83
Total Deposits		33,444 34	33,444 34
Total			$44,687 84

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake, } ss.

I, W. B. Cheshire, Cashier of the above named Bank do solemnly swear that the above Statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

W. B. CHESHIRE, Cashier.

Attest: (Two) Directors
L. C. Simone, }
Chas. N. Bourdon, } Directors.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 31st day of January, 1907.

O. C. Moore,
Notary Public, Red Lake County, Minn.

My Commission Expires December 2, 1912.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER

MAIN STREET, - - - - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot

"A Pure Flour."
Sweet Pure and Wholesome.

It's All The What | That's Fit To Eat..

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near our idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..

BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats

Fish and Game in Season.

Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.

TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains

Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY

Grand View Hotel

Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City

W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 14, 1907 No 20

MAY REVOKE HIS ORDER

President Has Been Told of Hardships Which Would Be Put on Homesteaders.

It is understood from Washington that the president will, in a few days, take action that will cancel his previous order holding up certain land transactions in the west awaiting investigation as to probable fraud. The president has been strongly advised that he should do this in the case of strictly agricultural lands, where there could be little, if any motive for fraud and collusion, and he is disposed to follow the advice given him.

Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, discussed this question with the president Saturday. He said that there are probably 500 cases in his state where homesteaders made entry, but were unable to make final proof because of the president's order holding up these entries. Senator McCumber asked that the president allow the receivers of public lands to issue receipts, thereby completing the transactions and permitting the homesteaders to begin improvements on the property. When they have obtained receipts they can borrow money on the lands for improvements, this being the method usuall pursued.

"There have been no frauds in the public lands in our state," said Senator McCumber, "and the holding up of these cases has been peculiarly hard upon the persons desiring to make homes for themselves."

The president has had several conferences with western congressmen on this subject including Congressman Steenerson, all of them urging that in the case of agricultural lands, there to be a revocation of the president's order.

There are many homesteaders in this country who will anxiously await the announcement of the president's order.

Honors Are Easy.

St. Hilaire Spectator: Word comes from far-off Worcester, Mass. that Attorney Francis Bergstrom, locally known as the attorney who started the "dump-ground" case, has at last won a law-suit. You never can tell what will happen these days.

Nothing will relieve Indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. KODOL is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. KODOL takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs, and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of KODOL are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. KODOL is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by all druggists.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

A BIG DAIRY MEETING

Farmers Club of St. Hilaire To Hold One Friday of Next Week.

The Farmers' Club of St. Hilaire are the sponsors for a big dairy meeting which will be held at that place Friday of next week, and plans are well under way to make it the biggest meeting of its kind ever held in Red Lake county.

A large number of practical speakers have been secured and will give valuable pointers on farming and dairying. The meeting will be opened at 10 o'clock a. m. and free dinner tickets will be given to farmers attending. Great interest is being manifested in the gathering, and indications point to one of the most successful meetings ever held in the valley.

The farmers around St. Hilaire are endeavoring to make it a great big event, inasmuch as the day will be the fifth anniversary of the organization of the St. Hilaire creamery, now one of the foremost creameries in the state.

Every farmer in Red Lake county is invited to attend.

Trains Get Stuck.

The gale of yesterday played havoc with the railroads again, and caused several tie-ups and had delays. The Great Northern passenger train got through here about on time in the morning, and got back on time in the evening. At this place the freight was side-tracked and the engine was hitched on to the passenger to help them through. However, in the cut at Delorme's south of town, they got stuck in the deep snow and the fire in the front engine got put out, leaving it dead. There were tied up there for several hours before they were finally able to get loose and proceed on their journey. The N. P. south bound got stuck out at Hill Top, and the section crews went out to shovel it out, which required several hours of hard work. The wind drifted the loose snow very badly yesterday and it soon got where it made trouble for the railroads.

New Flax A Wonder.

Flax that will yield from 20 to 25 per cent more flaxseed an acre than the common variety has been developed at the Minnesota experiment station. It has been tried with uniform success for two years, and it is unhesitatingly recommended to the farmers of the state. The new variety is known as No. 25.

In 1905 seed was distributed among forty-eight farmers in various parts of the state, and these reported an average increase in the yield of 26 per cent. The experiments in 1906 showed that it was 20 per cent better as a yielder than the common flax. There are now several thousands of bushels of the new flax available for seed.

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

Commercial Club Holds A Brief Business Session Monday Evening.

The Commercial club held a brief important session at the city hall Monday evening, and a large number of the members were present.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was the only important matter brought up, and the new officers chosen were as follows:

President—L. P. Berthon.

Vice-president—Ed L. Healy.

Secretary and Treasurer—Dan J. Doran.

Board of Managers—J. A. Duffy, Theo. Garceau, A. P. Toupin, S. M. Sivertson, L. C. Simons, M. O. Sortedahl, W. A. Schreiter.

A communication was read from the Great Northern railway company, asking for data, etc., for a booklet they are preparing regarding conditions in this section of the state. They want several letters from farmers and others, and matters of interest otherwise. Ed L. Healy and L. C. Simons were appointed as a committee to look after securing such matter as is desired.

On account of the entertainment at the opera house the meeting was adjourned early, to be convened again this (Thursday) evening, when several other important matters are to be brought up.

It is hoped that a large number of the members will turn out this evening to participate in the deliberations.

Sunday School Convention.

The Forty-Ninth Annual Convention will be held in the city of Minneapolis, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 10-11 and 12, A. D. 1907.

This will be a mass convention and every county will be allowed to send as many delegates as it can to come. However, all delegates must obtain credentials from either pastor or superintendent in order to receive entertainment.

No such array of talent has ever been offered to any Sunday School Convention in Minnesota and therefore we earnestly ask the hearty co-operation of all pastors, superintendents and other Sunday school workers of the state in giving the greatest publicity to this convention.

All railroads in the state will give a fare and one-third for the round trip on the certificate plan.

CRADLE AND THE GRAVE

List of Births and Deaths In Red Lake County For The Past Year.

Clerk of Court C. W. Johnson has received from the state health board, a list of the births and deaths for Red Lake county during 1905, which shows that through the medium of the stork the county enjoyed a nice increase in population. The following is the list:

	Births	Deaths
Bray	5	3
Black River	5	2
Clover Leaf	3	2
Deer Park	11	4
Equality	9	0
Emardville	6	3
Gervais	6	1
Garnes	19	4
Goodridge	11	0
Highlanding	24	2
Kratka	9	3
Louisville	14	2
Lambert	23	8
Lake Pleasant	4	1
Mayfield	11	1
North	8	1
Numedal	6	2
Norden	9	3
Poplar River	14	4
Polk Center	1	0
River Falls	8	7
Smiley	5	0
Sanders	6	1
Silverton	12	4
Terrebonne	21	7
Wyandotte	8	5
152-29	2	1
Unorganized	1	0
154-39	5	0
153-49	5	4
Plummer	1	1
St. Hilaire	34	12
Red Lake Falls city	36	4
Thief River Falls	105	24

BIRDS WIN SOME PRIZES

Exhibitors From Here At Crookston Show Bring Home Ribbons.

Red Lake Falls is again to the front. This time it is in the poultry line. Last week Messrs. M. A. Converse, Dr. J. C. Wilkinson and Fred L. Farley sent several pens of chickens to be exhibited at the poultry show of the Red River Valley Poultry association held at Crookston, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and back they come with a bunch of ribbons for honors fairly won.

The show was one of the biggest ever held in the Red River Valley, and many of the birds exhibited there would have drawn prizes in any show in the world. Poultry fanciers from all over the valley, on both sides of the river were there with entries, and the rivalry for prizes was keen.

The prizes won by M. A. Converse's birds were: Barred rock pullet, 1st; Single Comb White Leghorn, cockerel, 1st and 2nd; Pullet 1st.

F. L. Farley won first on his White Wyandotte cockeral; and 2nd and 3rd on his pullet of the same breed.

Dr. Wilkinson's white Plymouth rocks cockerel won 1st and 2nd; pullets, 1st, 2nd and 3rd. He also got 3rd on Rhode Island Red pullet. The doctor had seven exhibits and secured six prizes.

The local fanciers are well pleased at this showing, as their birds were alongside of the very best in the valley, and that they all won prizes is gratifying to the poultry men and people generally.

The local poultry association will begin their plans early for a big poultry show here next fall, and they will endeavor to make it a record breaker in point of exhibits and prizes offered.

Better Than It Uster Was.

St. Hilaire Spectator: The Great Northern passenger failed to arrive last Saturday for the first time this winter and we were without a passenger from Friday until Monday. Ten years ago we had a winter similar to this one and we were lucky to see a train once a week. During the latter part of January and the first of February, 1897. the train failed to arrive for seventeen days. In fact this branch of the Great Northern ten years ago was run a good deal like they run the Soo at present

A Good Start.

Spectator: "The output of the St. Hilaire creamery so far this year is nearly double that of a year ago," says Buttermaker Geo. L. Austin, and the prospects are bright for a continued increase during the year. When asked what he estimated the total increase would amount to for the year Mr. Austin put it at $15,000, or a $65,000 total for 1907 and he is of the opinion that this is a conservative estimate. $75,000 would sound good; why not make a try for it?

Lent Is On.

Yesterday was Ash Wednesday—the beginning of the Lenton season—and appropriate exercises were held in the Catholic churches of the city. Lent comes much earlier than usual this year, Easter Sunday coming late in March. The usual services will be held in the churches throughout the Lenten period.

Willie wailed and Winnie wheezed, while wintry winds whined weirdly. Willie wriggled while Winnie wheezed wretchedly. Wisdom whispers, winter winds work wheezes. Wherefore we write, "Use Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup." Nothing else so good. Sold by all druggists.

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

PLAN ON FINE MEETING

Committee in Charge Will Have Much Entertainment For Those Attending.

The committee in charge of the program preparations for the meeting of the Red Lake County Teachers association to be held at Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday of next week, February 22 and 23, are making a great effort to show the teachers and others that attend the best time in the association's history.

The program as published in last week's Gazette will be carried out, with many additions of interest. The Thief River Glee club will assist in the evening's entertainment.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the meeting, will be the discussion of the questions asked at the recent state examinations. It is planned to have the full set of questions in all subjects answered and discussed at this session. It is thought that a general discussion of these questions will result in a world of good to the teachers, and they should all go prepared to take an active interest in this part of the program. The meeting will be a good one, and gives promise of being very largely attended.

St. Valentine's Day.

Today, February 14th, is St. Valentine's day. According to the legion, St. Valentine was beheaded on February 14th, while Rome was under the rule of Claudis. The old notion was that the birds began to couple on that day, and hence arose the custom of young persons of both sexes choosing each other as "Valentines," for the ensuing year by a species of lottery. A valentine is, also, and this is the more common acceptance, a letter or other missive sent by young persons to each other on this day, the missive is usually of an amatory or satirical nature and is usually sent annonymously. The recalled "comic valentine" is of late years more in evidence than the elaborate ones of years gone by, but this fact does not make it any more acceptable to the recipient. The number of hideous caricatures that annually change hands on St. Valentine's day runs up into the millions.

Jeff Is Traveling.

Word from Frank Jefferes to friends here announces that he has accepted a position as traveling salesman for the Miller-Davis Printing company of Minneapolis, and will cover territory in northern Wisconsin and Michigan for his house. He does not announce whether or not he will move his family from here. Frank is a hustler and if he don't make good at the work it won't be his fault.

NOTICE.

All knowing themselves indebted to the undersigned by book account or otherwise, will confer a great favor by settling same at the earliest moment possible. —J. R. & R. Fortier.

Accounts can be seen at V. M. Higinbotham's office.

CONCERT NEXT FRIDAY

Red Lake Falls Concert Band Assisted by the Elks Quartette of Crookston.

The regular monthly band concert will be given at the Metropolitan opera house on Friday evening of next week—February 22nd—and inasmuch as this date will be the anniversary of the birth of the Father of His Country, a special effort will be made to make this concert a decidedly pleasing one.

There are a number of special numbers down on the program, and with the choice array of band pieces in course of preparation, the evening's entertainment will be an attractive one.

Chief among the specialties will be the celebrated Elks' Quartette of Crookston. This quartette is composed of C. A. Hitchcock, D. Toutan, W. B. Krons and J. A. Wessel, and has made a decided hit wherever it has appeared. They are down on the program for two numbers and the public can rest assured that they will be good.

Prof. Bruckman is down for a clarinet solo, Harry B. Healy will play a trombone solo, and the full band orchestra will play a number, so that the evening will be one continual round of pleasure to all.

The following is the program:

PART I.

March.................... Selected
Overture.............. von Suppe
Waltz..................... Bailey
"Auf Wiedersehn."
Clarinet Solo........... Thornton
"Second Air Varie,"
E. H. Bruckman.
Song.................... Selected
Elks' Quartette.

PART II.

Overture ....
"Bridal Rose,"
Band Orchestra.
Trombone Solo..........Bennett
Air and Variations.
H. B. Healy.
Song.................... Selected
Elks' Quartette.
Selection............... Czibulka
"Amorita."
March................... Selected

Course Was A Success.

The Colonial Saxophone Quartette, the last of the Lyceum series of entertainments, held forth at the opera house Monday evening of this week, and gave a delightfully pleasing entertainment. Every member of the company was an artist and each succeeding number of the long and excellent program seemed better than its predecessor. A large number of people turned out to listen to the program, and not a single one went away a least bit disappointed. This was the final number of the series, and on the whole course the Study Club who had charge of the course, netted the sum of $33.93 which will be turned over to the school library.

The Lyceum course was a signal success, and all of the five entertainments were fine ones. The Study Club and all those who subscribed so liberally to insure a series of such entertainments, should feel amply repaid for the labors and money expended.

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to emply in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank
Red Lake Falls Minnesota

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED : LAKE : FALLS : MINNESOTA

OFFERS YOU

PROMPT SERVICE
LIBERAL TREATMENT
ABSOLUTE SAFETY

We Extend the Accommodations of a Strong and Well-Equipped Bank

OFFICERS
CHAS. N. BOURDON, President
FRANK E. HUNT, Vice-President
THEO. GARCEAU, Cashier
GEO. F. HENNINGS, Asst. Cash.

DIRECTORS
Theo. Garceau Frank E. Hunt
Chas. N. Bourdon
W. A. Schreiter A. P. Toupin
N. M. Watson Geo. F. Hennings

Red Lake Falls Gazette.
Dudley & Croghow, Publishers
RED LAKE FALLS. MINN.

A WEEK'S NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

RECORD OF MOST INTERESTING EVENTS TOLD IN BRIEFEST MANNER POSSIBLE.

HOME AND FOREIGN ITEMS

Information Gathered from All Quarters of the Civilized World and Prepared for the Perusal of the Busy Man.

RESUME OF THAW TRIAL.

Harry Thaw's counsel announced that his defense would be a plea of hereditary insanity, after the prosecution had stated its case and introduced witnesses to prove the killing of Stanford White.

District Attorney Jerome's cross-examination of Dr. C. C. Wiley, the first "expert" witness who took the witness stand to try to prove that Harry K. Thaw was insane when he killed Stanford White was merciless and searching, resulting in signs that several of Thaw's lawyers would withdraw from the case. It was reported that Delphin M. Delmas and four of his colleagues were so angered by what they considered the usurpation of authority by Attorney John B. Gleason that they had decided to sever all connection with the case unless he relinquished the leading part.

The defense of Harry K. Thaw, under the direction of Attorney Delphin M. Delmas of California, began to assume definite shape and testimony was placed before the jury to the effect that Stanford White had been heard to make a threat to kill the defendant, coupling the threat with the display of a revolver; that Thaw's actions following the killing of White on the roof of Madison Square garden were considered by several eyewitnesses to have been "irrational;" that an uncle of the defendant was insane; that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw passed a note to her husband during dinner at the Cafe Martin the evening of the tragedy; that District Attorney Jerome has this note, and refused, on the demand of the defense, to introduce it in evidence.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

The advocates of a 14-foot channel for the Mississippi river from Chicago to St. Louis and the gulf met defeat when the house, in committee of the whole, having under consideration the river and harbor appropriation bill, voted to stand by the recommendation of the committee in opposition to the project.

Former Sergeant Harris, of D company, Twenty-fifth infantry, testified before the senate committee, asserting the men of that company were not implicated in the Brownsville shooting.

Former Sergeant Fraser of the Twenty-fifth infantry told the senate committee that the colored troops were unpopular in Brownsville and he believed the shooting was part of a plot by citizens to get rid of them.

The national house committee on interstate and foreign commerce decided to make a favorable report on the Livingston resolution providing for an investigation of the New York cotton exchange by the department of commerce and labor.

Senator Hale presented to the senate the detailed plans for the big battleship which it is proposed shall be built as the equal of any fighting vessel now afloat or planned.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The London Pilgrims gave a farewell banquet to James Bryce, new ambassador of Great Britain to the United States.

Senator Richard W. Morgan was expelled from the Colorado senate for accepting a bribe.

Three coal barges broke loose from a tug off the Jersey coast in a storm and one foundered with her crew.

President Diaz of Mexico has expressed a desire to visit Los Angeles during the imperial council of the Mystic Shriners in May.

The Gloucester schooner Gleason rammed a liner on the Newfoundland banks, smashing her own bow, and her crew of 15 was rescued by the steamer.

The Congressional Limited train on the Pennsylvania railroad ran through Philadelphia at terrific speed with the engineer, Joseph Toms, dead at the throttle.

J. J. Moore, millionaire shipping and commission merchant of San Francisco, was kicked by a horse at Ascot park, Los Angeles, and suffered a skull fracture which may prove fatal.

Miss Helen Livingston and her two young nephews froze to death at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Gen. Mark D. Flower, postmaster at St. Paul, Minn., died.

Florence Cecilia Paget, marchioness of Hastings, died at Windsor, after a romantic career.

David Peck Rhoades, one of the founders of the New York Tribune and an associate of Horace Greeley, died at his home in Stratford, Conn.

Archbishop Vilatte was nearly mobbed when he inaugurated the French Apostolic Catholic church in Paris.

Count John A. Creighton died at his home in Omaha, Neb. He leaves about $10,000,000.

Julius Culbertson, a prominent business man of Glidden, Ia., for 35 years a resident of that place, committed suicide by shooting.

Prof. William C. Pickett, one of the best known medical authorities in the United States on nervous diseases and a member of the faculty of the Medico-Chirurgical college of Philadelphia, is dead.

Mrs. Drusilla Morrell, whose husband fought in the war of 1812, is dead in Brooklyn at the age of 102.

Raymond Meyer, a schoolboy of Brooklyn, who was bitten Janaury 17 by a mongrel dog, died of hydrophobia at the Long Island Collega hospital.

Miss Bertha Gootbill was instantly killed, Stewart Shermen was probably fatally injured and George Morris, a hackman, was seriously hurt when a cab was struck by a freight train at Long Branch, N. J.

Alarmed by the recent bomb outrages that have occurred in Madrid many wealthy citizens have left the city. The anarchists are still active.

An unknown man tried to plunge a dagger into George Cristich, son of the late King Milan of Servia, at Constantinople. The weapon spent its force on a thick pocket book.

In a sensational speech before a state senate committee at Lincoln, Neb., Senator Patrick (fusionist), of Sarpy county, accused the brewery and distillery interests of trying to corrupt the legislature and prevent the passage of "unfriendly" bills.

The constitutional convention of Oklahoma killed the woman's suffrage clause.

Harry Strickland, 14 years old, was indicted at Gainesville, Ga., for the murder of his brother.

The Panama Construction company was formally organized with John B. McDonald as president and W. J. Oliver as vice president and general manager.

Frank O. Briggs, of Trenton, was elected United States senator from New Jersey to succeed John F. Dryden.

Assistant Secretary Howe, of the Standard Oil company, denied the assertion of the interstate commerce commission that the company had forced editorial matter on newspapers in which it advertised.

Frank Frink, a rejected suitor, killed Miss Bessie Newton, of Ponca, Neb., on the eve of her marriage to another, and then attempted suicide.

A federal investigator unearthed big land frauds in which rich Californians are involved.

Three men were killed when the boilers of a steamer blew up near Chattanooga, Tenn.

Two persons were killed by a snowslide at Kirwin, Wyo.

Tommy Rayn knocked out Dave Barry in the fifth round of a scheduled 20-round fight before the Whittington Athletic club at Hot Springs, Ark.

Elmer S. Dundy, of the theatrical firm of Thompson & Dundy, died suddenly at the home of his mother at Eighty-third street and Broadway, New York.

State Insurance Commissioner James V. Barry, of Michigan, telegraphed to Paul Morton his declination of the position of secretary of the Association of Life Inurance Presidenis.

At a meeting of the Kingston city council a motion was passed expressing unabated confidence in Gov. Swettenham.

Title to mines in the Fergnson district of Nevada, said to be worth many millions, was won by Joseph de Lamar through a decision rendered by Superior Judge Seawell at San Francisco.

The London music hall strike has been ended. The stars are said to have gained all they asked, but concessions were refused to the musicians and stage hands.

The principal business portion of Coal Harbor, N. D., a small town on the Soo road, was destroyed by fire. The use of snow and wet blankets saved many buildings.

An active campaign against bull fights has begun in Mexico City. Following a mass meeting petitions are being circulated for those who wish to protest.

The American hominy mills at Terre Haute, Ind., were destroyed in a spectacular fire. The loss is $100,000.

Four persons were burned to death at Pelham, N. Y.

George Butler, a structural ironworker of Buffalo, N. Y., was shot and killed at Ashtabula Harbor, O., in a fight with four men. The murder is believed to be a result of trouble between union and nonunion men.

Mary S. Anthony, sister and coworker of Susan B. Anthony, died in Rochester, N. Y.

Three trainmen were killed by the explosion of a locomotive boiler near Mt. Sterling, Ky.

The two little daughters of Adolph Cagason of Dike, Ia., were burned to death.

Fire in Detroit burned out Dillon's dry goods store and other business houses, the loss being $140,000.

John Dransfield, seven years old, was shot and killed in Philadelphia by John Neall, aged 14, becausa he threw a snowball.

H. H. Harvey, manager of the Hancock Buggy company, was shot twice by E. A. Murphy at Lynchburg, Va., after he had knocked Murphy down for calling him a vile name. Hervey will recover.

Sergeant James Lynch, who refused to obey orders to attend church service at Columbus army post, Columbus, O., was ordered stripped of his chevrons and transferred to Fort Thomas, Ky.

C. C. Lewis, editor of tha Normal, Ill., Advocate, was killed by a train at Bloomington.

Racing in Tennessee was killed by tha passage of the anti-pool selling bill.

About 12 persons were killed by a snowslide that overwhelmed three buildings in Monarch, Col.

Several men perished in a blizzard in South Dakota, a man was frozen to death in Leavenworth, Kan., and much stock was lost in tha storms in the northwest.

A legislativa committee in Missouri reported that farmers and shippers had been mulcted by the Kansas City Stock Yards company.

The Cincinnati congregation of Zion, founded by Dowie, voted to cut loose from the parent church in Zion City.

Norman MacDougall, a well-known real estate dealer of Winnipeg, Man., and his little daughter were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home.

United States District Court Judge Charles D. Parlange died suddenly at New Orleans of apoplexy.

Senator La Follette denied the announcement of the engagement of his daughter, Miss Fola La Follette.

Mrs. Frank Schneck and her two little children were murdered at Centropolis, Kan., and Schneck was arrested.

N. Dyment, a well known race horse owner and millionaire lumberman, died at Barrie, Ont.

Fred Hemmen, an old settler, admitted to the county jail at Chippewa Falls, Wis., on his own application, was found in his cell with his throat cut.

The Panama Construction company, incorporated to finance tha Panama contract, bid for by William J. Oliver, of Knoxville, Tenn., filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state of New York.

National Bank Examiner George A. Silsby has informed the comptroller of the currency that he has closed the First National bank of Scotland, S. D.

John J. H. Kelly, lata of the Fifth United States infantry, and a veteran of the Sitting Bull and Chief Joseph Indian wars, died while sitting in his chair at Springfield, Ill.

Miss Margaret Sheppard ended her life at her residence in Oakland, Cal., by inhaling gas fumes. Disappointment in love is said to have been the cause. She formerly lived in Detroit, Mich.

Capt. George Jackson Grammer, vice president in charge of freight traffic, New York Central lines, died in Chicago. He was 63 years old.

The federal supreme court upheld the injunction restraining Chicago from reducing the price of gas to 75 cents.

Twenty-two miners were killed by an explosion in a coal mine at Thomas, W. Va.

Just as he was stepping from the engine cab of the Cleveland flyer at the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad station, Pittsburg, after completing the fast run from Cleveland, Engineer S. H. Morrow dropped dead from heart disease.

A. G. Barker, assistant general passenger agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, whose headquarters were in Portland, Ore., died there of pneumonia.

Ulderic Hugron, of Waterbury, Conn., entered an apartment in New York where a wedding party was gathered and blew out his brains.

Lady Grenfell, daughtar of Lord Grey, viceroy of Canada, died at Ottawa, of typhoid fever.

Advices from Vladivostok say a number of men uniformed as sailors tried to blow up the steamers Gregory and Mercury with bombs in Vladivostok.

"Perry Martin," who secured a position as bellboy in tha Oaks hotel. Beaumont, Tex., has been discovered to be a woman of 25 years. She has disappeared.

Three volunteer firemen were killed and four seriously hurt while fighting a blaze at White Plains, N. Y. Seven persons were hurt in a tenement house blaze in Cherry street, New York city.

United States Senator John E. Dryden, of New Jersey, withdrew his name as a candidate for reelection because of poor health and "for the sake of his party and state."

The Hotel Trimmer at Ashland, Wis., burned and William Thombs was asphyxiated.

Chester Thompson, on trial for the murder of Judge George Meade Emery in Seattle, was found "not guilty by reason of insanity."

G. Sinclair Moulton, proprietor of the Manhattan Square hotel of New York, committed suicide because of sickness.

Ase Kenyon of Oneonta, N. Y., and Mrs. Marie Dedrick of Syracuse made a suicide pact and drank laudanum; tha woman died, but the man may recover.

The bark Charles Loring, lumber laden, was sunk by the Old Dominion steamer Seneca off Sea Girt, N. J., but the crew was rescued.

The body of Miss Frances Martin, 18 years old, was found in a room in the Forest building, Washington, Pa. Whether or not she was murdered has not been determined.

The woodworking plant of the Wilts-Veneer company at Plymouth, N. C., was destroyed by fire. The loss is $250,000, on which there is partial insurance.

The railroad commission at Austin, Tex., issued an order requiring the five railroads entering the city of Galveston to build a causeway across the Galveston bay.

Edward P. Hipple, a brother of the late F. A. Hipple, who ended his life after the wreck of the Real Estate Trust company, of which he was president, committed suicida at his homa in Philadelphia with a revolver.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

St. Paul, Minn., Fab. 1—The legislatura hald a rathar uneventful session today although mora than tha usual amount of time was consumed by both housa and senate. The senate davoted the hours till noon in discussing what congress should do on tha subject of ship subsidy, then awoke to the fact that it had bean wasting time on a subjact ovar which it had not the least control and continued in session without a break for luncheon till after two o'clock. Tha ship subsidy proposition was brought up by a resolution of Senator Ola O. Sageng, populist, danouncing tha great amounts of monay congress contemplates voting as subsidies for tha Pacific steamship lines of Spreckals, Harriman and Hill. Ha mada a langthy speech against tha congressional measura and asking the passage of a memorial to congress to lat that body know how Minnesota felt on the matter. Sanator Laybourne was the first to oppose the measure. Ha suggested the senate pay attention to tha 225 pending bills that had been introduced and let the Minnesota delegation in congress attend to tha needs of Minnesotans at Washington. Sanator Geo. P. Wilson former attorney general, said he would have to refuse to vote for a board resolution that denied the propriety of any ship subsidy, as they were necessary to a fair limit to establish our merchants marina which now amounts to little or nothing compared to other nations which have granted subsidies. On a vote just before noon, the Sageng resolution was given its death blow, 37 against to 22 in favor of it.

Tha sanate spent nearly anothar hour when in committee of the whole, debating the Coller bill for increases in salaries of judges. The bill was finally recommended for passaga with tha salaries of suprema court justices fixed at $7,000, district judges generally at $5,000, and in Hennepin and Ramsey counties, $1,000 for each district judge to be contributed by the respective counties.

Bills introduced in the senate today included a measure by Senator Hinton to prevent political candidates from making any pledges not made public to voters; by Senator A. L. Hanson establishing normal schools at Thief River Falls and Bemidji; by Glotzbach, compelling attendance of all deaf children at the state school for deaf, instead of leaving it optional as at present; by Wilson, to prohibit sale of goods by wholesalers with a requirement that only the line sold be handled by the retail dealer.

The house spent most of its time today introducing bills. Saventeen insurance measures put in an appearance, one after another. The author wera S. D. Peterson, Allen, Brady, Zelch, Saari, Adams, W. I. Nolan, Nimrocks, H. M. Hansen and Timberlake. These ware all measures already in the senate for insurance reforms suggested by Gov. J. A. Johnson and Insurance Commissioner T. D. O'Brien, and were referred to the insurance committee. Representative Case introduced a bill to prohibit the killing of elk, caribou and moose for five years. Representative Carl presented a measura prescribing uniform methods for handling grain, prohibiting irregularities, and providing penalties. A duplicate of the senate woman suffrage bill was introduced by Representative Higgins.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 5—The house held a short session last night, long enough to permit the presentation of over a dozen bill. E. W. Gates of Garden City wants Minneopa Park, near Mankato, enlarged 14 acres, and a bill he introduced appropriates $4,000 for this purpose. C. L. Sawyer of Minneapolis introduced a bill for summer sessions at normal schools, similar to a measure pending in the senate. Killing of prairie chickens and quail during 1907–1908 is prohibited by a measure by J. A. Gates of Kenyon. J. B. Murphy of Minneapolis presented a measura to make payment of wages at least twice a month by corporations compulsory. H. W. Libby of Winona introduced a bill which will find favor in tha country but not with residents of cities who are largely the auto owners. It permits any town to prohibit autos to pass over any designated road by placing a sign so stating. The violation of the order is made a misdemeanor.

The house committea on railroads held a meeting late yesterday on the Nolan (of Grand Meadow) reciprocal demurrage bill, and after a lengthy hearing and debate, recommended the bill for passage. There were 11 committee votes for the bill, one against, and six members were absent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 5—A distance tariff railroad bill, said to have been drawn by George S. Loftus, president of the Minnesota Shippers' association, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Canfield. The bill establishes a classification of ten classes of freight for lass than carload lots, and twelve classes for carload lots. Tha bill provides a distance tariff charging in five mila steps, the greater the distance, the less the rate. The rate in total shall not ba mora than 10½ cants per 100 pounds first-class freight up to 7½ miles, 11 cents 7½ to 12½ miles, and so on. Tha bill was referred to tha reilroed committea.

A proposed law to make state offices come under tha primary election law, and to fix the date of tha election the last Tuesday in June instead of in Saptembar, is the feature of a lengthy bill introduced by Senator Canfield.

The sanate today passed a bill introduced by Senator J. M. Hacknay. It provides for transfer of one acra of tha state agricultural farm at St. Anthony park to the fedaral government, on which "Uncla Sam" will erect a weather bureau building to ba haadquarters for tha northwest.

A new judicial district, to be known as the Twentieth, is created out of Kanabec, Pine, Chisago and Washington counties by a bill by Senator Sullivan.

Senator Frank Clague, speaker of the house two years ago, introduced a bill which calls upon all telegraph and express companies to reduce their Minnesota charges a flat thirty per cent.

The Higgins' bill for "woman suffrage" came near getting a death blow in the house today when the judiciary committea raported it back without any recommendation — almost equivolent to an adverse recommendation. Things looked bad for the future of "woman's rights" when the speaker suddenly discovered tha bill had been wrongly given to tha judiciary committee: that tha order had been for it to go to tha alactions committee and it had been switched around by mistake. It accordingly was turned over to the tender mercies of the elections committea, and George W. Higgins, its author breathes the easier for a whila longer.

No friend of Towser, but a trua friend to humanity, put in an appearance in a bill by J. R. Randall requiring all dogs be muzzled from May 1 to Oct. 1. C. L. Sawyer presented a bill for a registry tax on mortgages, one half of one per cent.

Resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Gen. Mark D. Flower, postmaster of St. Paul and member of the house two yaars ago, were presented by Ambrose Tighe of St. Paul and adopted. No session of the house will be held tomorrow in respect for his memory.

Tha house will considar tha Nolan reciprocal demurrage bill as a special order Feb. 14, and friends of the bill predict the housa will then pass it as a Valentine for the public.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6—The most important action of the legislature today was tha passaga by the senate after considerable debate of the Coller bill to increase judicial salaries. Senator Ola O. Sageng, the lone populist in the senate, desired to speak against the bill but tha chair ruled a bill is not debatable when on tha calendar of the day awaiting passage and that the senator only had the privilege of explaining his vote. The bill as passed by the senate provides the salaries of supreme court justices shall be $7,000, and judges of the district court $5,000. In Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties tha district judges are each to receive an additional $1,000 out of county funds.

Another important action of tha senate today, also along judicial lines, was the passage of a resolution by Senator Geo. P. Wilson of Minneapolis calling for a committee of three senators and fiva representatives to draft a bill redistricting the state for judicial purposes.

Two municipal ownership bills, ona by W. I. Nolan in the house, and the other by Sanator Mauly Fasseen in the senate, put in an appearance today. They are duplicates and copies of the famous Mueller law of Illinois to permit cities to issue bonds for purchase of public utilities.

The house held no session this morning and only a brief one this afternoon. Representative Spencer presented a bill to create the office of county weighmaster in aach county, as general official weigher and acting under the county commissioners. A bill by C. R. Miller would increase the railroad gross earnings tax 4 to 5 per cent and make roads liable to special assessments for local improvements. Senator Nelson introduced a bill to make elective the offices of the clerk of the municipal court, city clerk, city attorney, and city assessor in municipalities throughout the state.

Owatonna — William Radke was bound over to the Grand jury upon the charge of having robbed the Milwaukee station at Medford. Closely questioned Radke became enmeshed in his own story and finally admitted his guilt. All of the money was found, except 10 cents which had gone for a lunch at a restaurant.

St. Paul—Edward W. Johnson of Faribault was appointed a member of the board of trustees for the state institute for defectives, to succeed the late C. D. McKillup, also of Faribault.

Revenue Sales for January

St. Paul—The report of the internal revenue department of Minnesota for the month of January showa a decreasa in the revenua derived from the sales of stamps, compared with the sales of January, 1906. The total sales last month amounted to $228,831.66, whareas in the same month of 1906 the sales amounted to $23,488.20. Stamps for beer brought in the greater part of the revenue, $19,260. The tax on cigars was $3,408.29, that on snuff $1.50, and the sale of stamps for tobacco, $161.87.

Jumps on Moving Train

Dodge Center—John Daggett, living five miles west of here, was killed while attempting to board a moving freight train about half way between Dodge Center and Kasson. Daggett attempted to catch one of the cars as it went by, but losing his hold fell baneath the wheels, both legs being cut off. He died almost immediately afterwards.

St. Paul—The body of George Harris, janitor at 457 East Sixth street was found frozen in his room.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Appeals for Starving.

St. Paul—Governor John A. Johnson, both as governor and president of the Minnesota branch of the Red Cross Association, has issued an appeal to Minnesotans to aid the starving thousands in China. Contributions should be addressed to Kenneth Clark, treasurer, St. Paul. Governor Johnson's letter says in part:

"No one is ignorant of the distressing condition of the people of China. Millions are on the verge of starvation. To relieve distress immediate action is needful, if human suffering and human life are to be spared. The people of Minnesota have been abundantly blessed in material matters and out of their abundance should respond to the cry of suffering humanity.

"The Minnesota branch of the national Red Cross offers its services in receiving and forwarding contributions to the suffering millions of China. Will not the people of Minnesota respond quickly and generously to this appeal for aid?"

Owl Claws Boy.

Moorhead—A big white owl was responsible for the severe injury of a ten-year-old boy named Crume yesterday afternoon.

The boy was playing in the streets near his home, carrying the big bird on his arm. Suddenly it fastened its long sharp claws on his wrist, the talons entering nearly to the bone. The little fellow screamed with pain, but held tightly onto the other leg of the bird, fearing that it would grip him with the other claw.

Oscar Cederberg heard the boy's screams and hurried to his assistance, wringing the owl's neck. He then with great difficulty succeeded in loosening the claws of the dead bird from the boy's arm, the blood spurting from the wounds in a stream. The doctor says the boy will recover unless blood poisoning supervenes.

Crushed in a Lift.

Minneapolis—Valdeman Mortenson was almost instantly killed in the lift used to carry paper rolls from the basement of the Journal building to the pressroom. Mortenson was a wagon driver, and after finishing his work he was sitting around the basement when he proposed to one of the other boys that he ride up on the lift. He stepped onto the platform and his companion, starting the motor, ran up the steps to the pressroom. Before he reached the room he heard a scream and found Mortenson wedged in between the floor and the edge of the lift.

Clubs Abuse Hubby.

Winona—William Fischer of this city according to his wife's story, raised a rough house at his home, and after kicking his wife just to show his authority, he went to bed. His helpmate alleges that he has been abusing her for more than twenty years, but that kick settled the business, so after he was in bed she hit him over the head with a club, then called the police and had him arrested. He was put under bonds of $100 to keep the peace for six months. From appearances it will be about that time before his head is healed.

Former Professor Dead.

St. Paul—Rev. E. J. Thompson, for twenty years professor of mathematics and astronomy in the University of Minnesota, and for two terms superintendent of schools of Hennepin county, is dead at Albany, Ore., aged 72. His chair in Minnesota was held in the '60's and '70's. He began a Presbyterian ministerial career at Casselton, N. D., in 1881, and in 1884 went to Oregon, where since that time he has been a leading figure in the Presbyterian church. In 1886 and 1887 he acted as president of Albany College.

Heavy Death Roll.

Minneapolis—Death claimed 268 victims in Minneapolis in January. Of these 150 were males and 118 females. The total is the largest for a single month in years, except the total of 281 for last August. Pneumonia, with 36 deaths charged to it, led the list of causes. Tuberculosis was a close second with 32 deaths. Bright's disease claimed 23, heart disease 18, old age 15 and cancer and cerebral congestion and hemorrhage took 13 each. Accidents of various sorts cost 11 lives.

Tears House in Two.

Minneapolis—Charles Leo Sedblom's house, at 691 Polk street northeast, was torn in two by a Great Northern freight train. One-half of the house was smashed into and piled in an unrecognizable heap, while the other half was left intact and in just as good order as it was before the crash. At the time of the accident six people were in the house, but fortunately they were all in that part of it that escaped injury.

Find Man Badly Frozen.

Nashwauk—An unidentified Swede was picked up on the road between here and Keewatin in a badly frozen condition. His hands and arms were frozen as stiff as boards and another hour of exposure to the terrific storm and sub-zero temperature would have resulted in his death. It is thought that both his hands will have to be amputated.

News Notes.

Faribault— A young son of Louis Maguire, living in Kilkenny town, accidentally shot his sister with a shotgun, the charge entering the little girl's thigh. She was within a few feet of the gun and the wound is an ugly one, but probably will not prove fatal.

Two Harbors—Barney Heath, a woodsman, was so badly injured by a Duluth & Iron Range train at Hornby, a station 29 miles north of here, that he died shortly after reaching a hospital. He was about 35, and had relatives in Avoca, Mich.

Alexandria—Former State Senator G. B. Ward succeeds the late F. B. Van Hoesen as president of the First National Bank of this city. Mr. Ward was cashier of the bank for twenty-three and one-half years.

St. Paul—The government proposes to consolidate the weather bureaus of the Twin Cities and erect a building in St. Anthony Park.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER XI.—Continued.

She had been standing much like a statue in guarded restraint, but at his words and the touch of his hand she seemed to melt and flow into eager acquiescence, murmuring some hurried little words of thanks for her father, and stepping by his side with eyes down.

In words that were well chosen but somewhat hurried, he proceeded to instruct her in the three-fold character of the Godhead. The voice at first was not like his own, but as he went on it grew steadier. After she drew her hand gently out of his, which she presently did, it seemed to regain its normal and calmness.

He saw her to the door of the cabin on the outskirts of the settlement and there he spoke a few words of cheer to her ailing father.

Then he was off into the desert, pacing swiftly into the grim, sandy solitude beyond the farthest cabin light and the bark of the outmost watchdog. Feverishly he walked, and far, until at last, as if naught in himself could avail, he threw himself to the ground and prayed.

"Keep me good! Keep me to my vows! Help me till my own strength grows, for I am weak and wanting. Let me endure the pain until this wicked fire within me hath burned itself out. Keep me for her!"

Back where the houses were, in the shadow of one of them, was the flushed, full-breathing woman, hurt but dumb, wondering, in her bruised tenderness, why it must be so.

Still farther back, inside the stockade, where the gossiping group yet lingered, they were saying it was strange that Elder Rae waited so long to take him a wife or two.

CHAPTER XII.

A Fight for Life.

The stream of Saints to the Great Basin had become well-nigh continuous—Saints of all degrees of prosperity, from Parley Pratt, the Archer of Paradise, with his wealth of wives, wagons and cattle, to Barney Bigler, unblessed with wives or herds, who put his earthly goods on a wheelbarrow and to the everlasting glory of God trundled it from the Missouri river to the valley of the Great Salt Lake. Train after train set out for the new Zion with faith that God would drop manna before them.

One by one the trains worked down into the valley, the tired Saints making fresh their covenants by rebaptism as they came. In the waters of the River Jordan, Joel Rae made hundreds to be renewed in the Kingdom, swearing them to obey Brigham, the Lord's anointed, in all his orders, spiritual or temporal, and the priesthood or either of them, and all church authorities in like manner; to regard this obligation as superior to all laws of the United States and all earthly laws whatsoever; to cherish enmity against the government of the United States, that the blood of Joseph Smith and the Apostles slain in that generation might be avenged; and to keep the matter of this oath a profound secret then and forever. And from these waters of baptism the purified Saints went to their inheritances in Zion, took their humble places, and began to sweat and bleed in the upbuilding of the new Jerusalem.

From a high, tented wagon in one such train, creaking its rough way down Emigration canyon, with straining oxen and tired but eager people, there had leaped late one afternoon the girl whose eyes were to call to him so potently—incomparable eyes, large and deep, of a velvety grayness, under black brows splendidly bent. Nor had the eyes alone voiced that call to his starved senses. He had caught the free, fearless confidence in her leap over the wheel, and her graceful abandon as she stood there, finely erect and full-curved, her head with its Greek lines thrown well back, and her strong hands raised to readjust the dusky hair that tumbled about her head like a storm cloud.

Men from the train were all about, and others from the settlement, and these spoke to her, some in serious greeting, some with jesting words. She returned it all in good part without embarrassment—even the sally of the winking wag who called out: "Now, then, Mara Cavan! Here we are, and a girl like yourself ought to catch an Elder, at the very lowest."

She laughed with easy good nature, still fumbling in the dusk of blown hair at the back of her head, showing a full-lipped mouth, beautifully large, with strong-looking, white teeth. "I'll catch never a one myself, if you please, Nathan Tanner! I'll do no catching at all, now! I'm the one will have to be caught!"

Her voice was a contralto, with the little hint of roughness that made it warm and richly golden; that made it fall, indeed, upon the ears of the listening Elder like a cathedral chime calling him to forget all and worship—forget all but that he was five and twenty with the hot blood surging and crowding and crying out in his veins.

Now, having a little subdued the tossing storm cloud of hair, she stood with one hand upon her hip and the other shading her eyes, looking intently into the streets of the new settlement. And again there was bantering jest from the men about, and the ready, careless response from her, with gestures of an impishly reckless unconcern, of a full readiness to give and take in easy good fellowship. But then, in the very midst of a light response to one of the bantering men, her gray eyes met for the first time the very living look of the young Elder standing near. She was at once confused, breaking off her speech with an awkward laugh, and looking down. But, his eyes keeping steadily upon her, she, as if defiantly, returned his look for a fluttering second, trying to make her eyes survey him slowly from head to foot with her late cool carelessness; but she had to let them fall again, and he saw the color come under the clear skin.

He knew by these tokens that he possessed a power over this splendid woman that none of the other men could wield—she had lowered her eyes to no other but him—and all the man in him sang exultantly under the knowledge. He greeted her father, the little Seumas Cavan, of indomitable spirit, fresh, for all his march of a thousand miles, and he welcomed them both to Zion. Again and again while he talked to them he caught quick glances from the wonderful eyes—glances of interest, of inquiry—now of half-hearted defiance, now of wondering submission.

The succeeding months had been a time of struggle with him—a struggle to maintain his character of Elder after the Order of Melchisedek in the full gaze of those velvety gray eyes, and in the light of her reckless, full-lipped smile; to present to the temptress a shield of austere piety which her softest glances should not avail to melt. For something in her manner told him that she divined all his weakness; that, if she acknowledged his power over her, she recognized her own power over him, a power equal to and justly balancing the other. Even when he discoursed from the pulpit, his glance would fasten upon hers, as if there were but the one face before him instead of a thousand, and he knew that she mocked him in her heart; knew she divined there was that within him which strongly would have had her and himself far away—alone.

Nor was the girl's own mind all of a piece. For, if she flaunted herself before him, as if with an impish resolve to be his undoing, there were still times when he awed her by his words of fire, and by his high, determined stand in some circle to which she knew she could never mount. That night when he walked with her in the moonlight, she knew he had trembled on the edge of the gulf fixed so mysteriously between them. She had even felt herself leaning over to draw him down with her own warm arms; and then all at once he had strangely moved away, widening this mysterious gulf that always separated them, leaving her solitary, hurt, and wondering. She could not understand it. Life called through them so strongly. How could he breast the mighty rush? And why, why must it be so?

During the winter that now came upon them, it became even a greater wonder to her; for it was common suffering—a time of dark days which she felt they might have lightened for each other, and a time when she knew that more than ever she drew him.

For hardly had the feast of the Harvest Home gone by when food once more became scarce. The heaven-sent gulls had, after all, saved but half a crop. Drought and early frost had diminished this; and those who came in from the east came all too trustingly with empty meal sacks.

By the beginning of winter there were 5,000 people in the valley to be fed with miraculous loaves and fishes. Half of these were without decent shelter, dwelling under wagon covers or in flimsy tents, and forced much of the time to be without fuel; for wood had to be hauled through the snow from the distant canyons, and so was precious stuff. For three months the cutting winds came down from the north, and the pitiless winter snows raged about them. An inventory was early taken of the foodstuffs, and thereafter rations were issued alike to all, whether rich or poor. Otherwise many of the latter must have perished. It was a time of hard expedients, such as men are content to face only for the love of God. They ranged the hills and benches to dig sego and thistle roots, and in the last days of winter many took the rawhides from their roofs, boiling and eating them. When spring came, they watched hungrily for the first green vegetation, which they gathered and cooked. Truly it seemed they had stopped in a desert as cruel in its way as the human foes from whom they had fled.

It was now that the genius of their leader showed. He was no longer Brigham Young, the preacher, but a father in Israel to his starving children.

The efforts of Brigham to put heart into the people were ably seconded by Joel Rae. He was loved like Brigham, but not feared. He preached like Brigham submission to the divine will as interpreted by the priesthood, but he was more extravagant than Brigham in his promises of blessings in store for them. He never resorted to vagueness in his pictures of what the Lord was about to do for them. He was literal and circumstantial to a degree that made Brigham and the older men in authority sometimes writhe in public and chide him in private. They were appalled at the sweeping victories he promised the Saints over the hated Gentiles at an early day. They suggested, too, that the Lord might withhold an abundance from them for a few years until he had more thoroughly tried them. But their counsel seemed only to inflame him to fresh absurdities. In the very days of their greatest scarcity that winter, when almost every man was dressed in skins, and the daily fare was thistle roots, he declared to them at a Sunday service:

"A time of plenty is at hand—of great plenty. I cannot tell you how I know these things. I do not know how they come to me. I pray—and they come to life in my spirit; that is how I have found this fact; in less than a year states goods of all needed kinds will be sold here cheaper than they can be bought in eastern cities. You shall have an abundance at prices that will amaze you."

And the people thrilled to hear him, partaking of his faith, remembering the gulls that ate the crickets, and the rain and wind that came to save the pioneer train from fire. To the leaders such prophesying was merely reckless, inviting further chastisements from heaven, and calculated to cause a loss of faith in the priesthood.

And yet, wild as it was, they saw this latter prophecy fulfilled; for now, so soon after the birth of this new empire, while it suffered and grew weak and bade fair to perish in its cradle of faith, there was made for it a golden spoon of plenty.

She Had Lowered Her Eyes to No Other But Him.

Over across the mountains the year before, on the decayed granite bedrock of the tail race at the mill of one Sutter, a man had picked up a few particles of gold, the largest as big as grains of wheat. The news of the wonder had spread to the east, and now came frenzied hordes of gold seekers. The valley of the mountains where the Saints had hoped to hide was directly in their path, and there they stopped their richly laden trains to rest and to renew their supplies.

The harvest of '49 was bountiful in all the valley; and thus was the wild prophecy of Joel Rae made sober truth. Many of the gold seekers had loaded their wagons with merchandise for the mining camps; but in their haste to be at the golden hills, they now sold it at a sacrifice in order to lighten their loads. The movement across the Sierras became a wild race; clothing, provisions, tools and arms—things most needful to the half-clad, half-starved community on the shores of the lake—were bartered to them at less than half-price for fresh horses and light wagons.

The next year the gain to the Saints was even greater, as the tide of gold seekers rose. Early that summer they sold flour to the oncoming legions for a dollar a pound, taking their pay in the supplies they most needed on almost their own terms.

This passing of the gold seekers was not, however, a blessing without drawbacks. For the Saints had hoped to wax strong unobserved, unmolested, forgotten, in this mountain retreat. But now obscurity could no longer be their lot. The hated Gentiles had again to be reckoned with.

First, the United States had expanded on the west to include their territory—the fruit of the Mexican war—the poor bleak desert they were making to blossom. Next, the government at Washington had sent to construe and administer their laws men who were aliens from the Commonwealth of Israel. True, Millard Fillmore had appointed Brigham governor of the new territory—but there were chief justices and associate justices, secretaries, attorneys, marshals, Indian agents from the wicked and benighted East; men who frankly disbelieved that the voice of Brigham was as the voice of God, and who did not hesitate to let their heresy be known. A stream of these came and went—trouble-mongers who despised and insulted the Saints, and returned to Washington with calumnies on their lips. It was true that Brigham had continued, as was right, to be the only power in the territory; but the narrow-minded appointees of the federal government persisted in misconstruing this circumstance; refusing to look upon it as the just mark of Heaven's favor, and declaring it to be the arrogance of a mere civil usurper.

Under such provocation Joel Rae longed more than ever to be a Lion of the Lord, for those above him in the church endured too easily, he considered, the indignities that were put upon them by these evil-minded Gentile politicians. He would have rejected them forthwith, as he believed the Lord would have had them do,—nay, as he believed the Lord would sooner or later punish them for not doing. He would have thrust them into the desert, and called upon the Lord for strength to meet the storm that would doubtless be raised by such a course. He was impatient when the older men cautioned moderation and the petty wiles of diplomacy. Yet he was not altogether discouraged; for even they lost patience at times, and were almost as outspoken as he could have wished.

The spring of '56 found them again digging roots and resorting to all the old pitiful makeshifts of famine.

"This," declared Joel Rae, to the starving people, "is a judgment of Heaven upon us for permitting Gentile aggression. It is meant to clench into our minds the God's truth that we must stand by our faith with the arms of war if need be."

"Brother Rae is just a little mite soul-proud," Brigham thereupon confided to his counsellors, "and I wouldn't wonder if the Lord would be glad to see some of it taken out of him. Anyway, I've got a job for him that will just about do it."

Brigham sent for him the next day and did him the honor to entrust to him an important mission. He was to go back to the Missouri river and bring on one of the hand-cart parties that were to leave there that summer. The three years of famine had left the Saints in the valley poor, so that the Immigration fund was depleted. The oncoming Saints, therefore, who were not able to pay their own way, were this summer, instead of riding in ox-carts, to walk across the plains and mountains, and push their belongings before them in hand-carts. It had become Brigham's pet scheme, and the Lord had revealed to him that it would work out auspiciously. Joel prepared to obey, though it was not without aversion that he went again to the edge of the Gentile country.

He was full of bitterness while he was obliged to tarry on the banks of the Missouri. The hatred of those who had persecuted him and his people, bred into him from boyhood, flashed up in his heart with more fire than ever. Even when a late comer from Nauvoo told him that Prudence Corson had married Capt. Girnway of the Carthage Grays, two years after the exodus from Nauvoo, his first feeling was one of blazing anger against the mobocrats rather than regret for his lost love.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

GIFT FROM A QUEEN.

HISTORIC HEIRLOOM THAT IS HIGHLY PRIZED.

"Great Willoughby Chest" Presented by Elizabeth to Second Cousin Who Shared Her Captivity in the Tower of London.

Boston.—If the "great Willoughby chest," a priceless heirloom in the possession of Theodore Raymond of Springfield, Mass., could talk, what tales it might tell of the captivity of Princess Elizabeth, afterward the "Good Queen Bess" of England, in the Tower of England, a captivity shared by her devoted maid of honor, and second cousin once removed, Lady Margaret Willoughby, through whom this chest, undoubtedly a gift from Queen Elizabeth, passed to her descendants, the Raymonds of New England. And what joy it would bring to the Raymonds, the Lyndes, the Griswolds and other families of Massachusetts and Connecticut in establishing their direct descent from the beautiful Elizabeth Woodville, who became the wife of King Edward IV. These families trace their genealogy back to the kings of England with only one slight break.

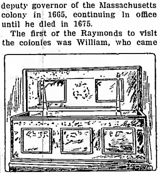
Other precious relics of Queen Elizabeth were handed down with the chest, including a tablecloth embroidered by the princess during her imprisonment in the tower, another gift to the faithful Lady Margaret.

The chest is a massive affair, seven feet in length, two feet seven inches in width and two feet seven inches high. It is made of a peculiar hard wood, originally very light in color, but darkened exceedingly by age. The quaint old carvings on the front and on the inside of the cover, the hand-wrought massive iron hinges and handles, the cumbersome lock and huge keys are eloquent testimony of its age. The carvings on the outside, which are nearly worn off, evidently represent horsemen riding through a forest. At either end of the three front panels is a gallant of the Elizabethan period, long-haired, plume-hatted and a mass of ruffs and laces from neck to knees. The carvings on the inner side of the lid represent two scenes, one of Sir Walter Raleigh spreading his cloak before Queen Elizabeth, the other of a gay pleasure party in boats among small islands, with a turreted castle in the background. Between the two scenes is a coat-of-arms. The shield has either a cross or lines to make four quarterings.

The tradition that this chest, with the tablecloth embroidered in the tower and other valuable gifts, was given by Queen Elizabeth to Lady Margaret Willoughby is so well authenticated as to seem beyond dispute. At any rate the tablecloth came down through the Willoughbys to the Raymonds with the chest, and the cloth, at least, was the gift of the queen to Lady Margaret, for English history is clear on this point.

The Raymonds, Lyndes and Griswolds of New England, numbering now several thousands trace their ancestry back to Col. William Willoughby, who was commissioner of the British navy from 1648 to 1651, when he died. His son, Francis Willoughby, came to New England in 1638, and returned to England in 1651. In 1652 he was appointed successor of his father as commissioner of the navy, and in 1658 was chosen member of parliament for Portsmouth. In 1662 he returned to New England, and became deputy governor of the Massachusetts colony in 1665, continuing in office until he died in 1675.

The first of the Raymonds to visit the colonies was William, who came over from Kent "with other stewards and 40 servants," for the "Company of Laconia," formed to trade and fish on the grant given to Capt. John Mason a London merchant, comprising part of what is now New Hampshire. He came to Little Harbor (now Portsmouth, N. H.), in 1630, and remained but a short time.



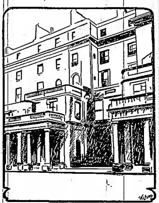
The Willoughby Chest.

The first real settler and head of one of the most prolific branches of the family in New England was Richard Raymond, who in 1636 received a grant of land on what is now Winter Island in Salem harbor. He is described in the records as a mariner and part owner of the ketch Hopewell of Salem. He afterward removed to Norwich, Conn., and in 1664 to Saybrook, where he was engaged in trade with the English and Dutch settlers on Manhattan.

The great chest, which had come into the Raymond family by marriage with the Willoughbys, was brought from Block Island to New London in 1704 by Mrs. Mercy Raymond, widow of Joshua, who was a grandson of Richard. It was then known both as the "great Willoughby chest" and as the "Elizabeth chest." From generation to generation it was handed down, and finally was bequeathed to Theodore Raymond of Springfield, the present owner, by his grandfather, Theodore Raymond of Norwich, Conn.

MARK HOME OF STEPHENSON.

Tablet Will Be Placed on Building Where Locomotive Inventor Lived.



Where Stephenson Lived.

London.—So rapidly is the London county council's historical department advancing with its work of searching out the authentic past residences of famous persons that within a short time hardly a building in the metropolis having interesting associations with celebrities, will not bear the familiar little round tablet.

Many Americans are likely to see the latest building to be marked; the house at 34 Gloucestetr square, Hyde Park, in which Robert Stephenson, the inventor of the locomotive, lived during one of the most active and important periods of his life, and in which he died in 1859 at the age of 56. Stephenson moved into this house in 1847, and in the ten years following his engineering projects took him nearly around the world. He built the great Victoria bridge over the St. Lawrence at Montreal; he constructed the Alexandria to Cairo railway, a number of big railway bridges in England, and the Royal Border Viaduct over the Tweed, and at the urgent request of the Norwegian government he supervised that stupendous piece of engineering which connects Christiania with Lake Miosen.

During most of these years Robert Stephenson was member of parliament for Whitby and a hard worker on various commissions and committees. The Gloucester square house, which contains many interesting relics of him, has now passed out of the hands of his descendants.

GETS A SMITHSONIAN POST.

Charles D. Walcott Elected Secretary of the Institution.

CHARLES D. WALCOTT.
(New Secretary of the Smithsonian Institute.)

Washington.—Charles D. Walcott, director of the geological survey, has been elected secretary of the Smithsonian institution by the board of regents. It is quite likely that Dr. Walcott would have been elected to the secretaryship of the Smithsonian institution some time ago had it not been for the desire of President Roosevelt that he should continue as director of the geological survey.

Dr. Walcott is a geologist and paleontologist of distinction and has won for himself a reputation among scientists not only of this country but also of Europe. The degree of LL. D. has been conferred on him by Hamilton college, the University of Chicago and Johns Hopkins university. He has been director of the geological survey since 1894 and secretary of the Carnegie institution since 1902. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and is the author of important scientific works. The salary of his new position is $7,000 a year, while that of the director of the geological survey is $6,000. Dr. Walcott is nearly 57 years old and long has been a resident of Washington.

In Chicago.

Mrs. Dearborn—Some people never do learn to say "no."

Mrs. Wabash—I know it. There's that woman next door—she's had six husbands!—Yonkers Statesman

Used by Millions

Calumet Baking Powder

Complies with the Pure Food Laws of every State.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly. Thursday evening. Entered at second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

TIME TO JUMP.

The newest scare is the prospect of war between this country and Japan. Some white country will have to give them a good thumping soon, and it may be this country.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

Sure thing! Japan has been making too great strides the past few years, and presents such a tempting opportunity today for the capitalist that this or some other trust-ridden nation will sooner or later call on its army to turn Japan over to the exploiters. The fact that a few thousand American soldiers might be sacrificed in such a war, and absolutely not one iota of good accrue to the common people, would cut no ice with the gang of leeches that has our own government at the throat and would jump at the chance to get a like hold on little Japan.

The law of Ohio under which a poor man, who opened an unlocked door of a porch and stole five pounds of corned beef for his own personal use, was sentenced to the penitentiary for life is so grossly severe as to seem incredible. Were it not that the court records of Greenvill substantiate it and find that a petition is even now being prepared for presentation to the governor for mitigation of the fearfully unjust sentence, one would be inclined to credit the story to some over-enterprising press correspondent. That such a sentence should be imposed in a state where a banker who robbed thousands of trusting people of hundreds of thousands of dollars, was sent to prison for only five years, where men who slay their fellow men and women receive light punishment, where those responsible for such terrible train wrecks as that of the Twentieth Century Limited near Cleveland were not even punished, is a severe shock to the sense of justice of the America. It is just such crass injustices as are to be found, not only in Ohio alone, but in practically all the states of the Union, such fearful libels on right and wrong, that have tended to make the people of America, more than other people in the civilized world, have lax respect for the laws that are supposed to govern but only too often, as in this instance, misgovern by their grimly ludicrous excessiveness.—Duluth Herald.

The Jar of Coughing

Hammer blows, steadily applied, break the hardest rock. Coughing, day after day, jars and tears the throat and lungs until the healthy tissues give way. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops the coughing, and heals the torn membranes.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. O. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Billousness, constipation retard recovery. Cure these with Ayer's Pills.

"WE YIELD NOTHING."

The railroads have hung their serape banners upon the outer walls; have covered their broad shoulders with chips; have united in solid phalanx, and their slogan is, "We yield nothing!" They cannot give two-cent passenger rates, not even for round trips, nor give transferable mileage books.

In fact, their trousers are now worn to a frazzle, their boots are run down at the heels, and their coats are out at the elbows. They have been brought to this condition through years of work on half rations for the people and in the labor of building up this great nation.

All the money they ever made was in watering their stocks, and now they must raise rates instead of lowering them, as the present earnings are not enough more than will pay dividends on the water already injected and on hand to warrant future aquatic fortunes. To lower rates would mean to make railroading merely a legitimate business with a reasonable return, and they have been used to the other way too long to ever consent to that.

The man who thought that the railroads of Minnesota would recognize public opinion and its justice was evidently foolish. There is but one way to treat them, and that is to do what is right and not waste precious time listening to their jugglery of figures through the mouths of lawyers who have sold themselves to their bidding.

The argument that the rate now, including excursions and specials, is only a trifle above two cents is a confession of the weakness of their argument that they cannot afford the reduction. There is no law and will be none compelling them to pack human beings like cattle into dirty old cars and haul them hundreds of miles at freight rates.

They can cut out the excursions and the state will be vastly better off physically, mentally and more especially morally. The people will then travel sanely and comfortably and have time to see and learn. They prefer this to being ground through the excursion sausage machine.

The railroads will yield nothing. Few are surprised or care. But the legislature must not forget to be equally unyielding. The people in overwhelming numbers demand the two-cent fair. They are not looking for compromises, and the members are pledged to carry out their wishes.—Duluth News-Tribune.

North Dakota towns are rejoicing over the arrival of the first train in from two to six weeks.

An English college has in one of its halls, in a frame, these wise words of Abraham Lincoln, well worth consideration in days when success, instead of character, is made the rule of life: "I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to the light that I have. I must stand with anybody that stands right, stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong."

The federal supreme court has decided that where a railroad has granted a rate of two and one-half cents a mile per hundred pounds of grain between points in the state of Mississippi to certain favored shippers, but has charged all others to cents a mile, the state railroad commission has a right to fix the former rate for all shippers. The court said that while a state may not compel a railroad company to do business at a loss, and while a railroad company may insist as against the power of the state upon the right to establish such rates as will afford compensation for services rendered, yet when it voluntarily grants lower rates for some shippers it cannot resist the power of the state to enforce the same rates for all. This decision from the highest tribunal in the land will doubtless greatly assist in putting an end to favoritism by railroads.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.—First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

On March 1st, 1907, the postal treaty between the United States and Canada governing second-class mail matter will expire and the Canadian government has announced that the pound rate on newspapers will be withdrawn. This will make it necessary for us to raise our subscription price to Canadian subscribers fifty cents additional, as a one-cent stamp will be required on each paper going to that country.

It is plain why drainage helps soil that is too wet, why does it help soil that is too dry? In the spring when the ground is too wet the plant cannot shoot its roots down into the water because the roots need air, so they spread out, rooting shallow, above the water line; when summer comes the water drops and the shallow roots have a hard time getting moisture. On the other hand if there is a drain in the land the water is brought down to the level of the drain and the plant sends its roots down deep instead of wide and shallow so that when the summer comes the deep roots can get out the moisture in the ground more rapidly than the shallow roots, that is why drained land offers more moisture in summer to plants than the undrained lands. You can readily see that the above is a correct explanation and worth considering.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the City Hall Thursday, February 7th, 1907, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Meeting called to order by president Borebers.

Roll called.

Aldermen all present.

Minutes of last regular meeting read and approved.

On motion unanimously carried the following bills were allowed:

Red Lake Falls Electric Light Co., for street lights for Dec. 1906 and January, 1907	$222 22
D H McCoullough, labor	2 00
Nap Delorme "	1 00
John Deforge, street work	19 80
Joseph Salley, labor	1 00
Julius Keubi, street work	10 50
Berthon & Armstrong, mdse.	5 00
Ben Puschinsky, acct for scraper	35 00

The bill of Jeff Porter of $3.40 for services rendered as appraiser in proceedings of the Schmidt's land case, was on motion laid on the table.

The application of F. Brouillet for correction and abatement of taxes on lots 1 and 2, block 21, in Champagne & Dow's addition, was on motion recommended.

The liquor application of J. Kersting Co., was on motion granted.

An ordinance granting the Standard Oil Co., permission to construct certain warehouses, tanks and other buildings in this city passed its first reading.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers, President.

Approved this 13th day of February A. D. 1907.

J. A. Duffy,
Mayor.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin,
City Clerk.

Piles of people have Piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve and get relief. Nothing else so good. Beware of imitations. See that the name is stamped on each box. Sold by all druggists.

Bray.

We are now enjoying a spell of unusually fine weather.

Mr. E. J. Larson drove to St. Hilaire last Friday.

Mr. C. P. Swanson transacted business at Wylie last Friday.

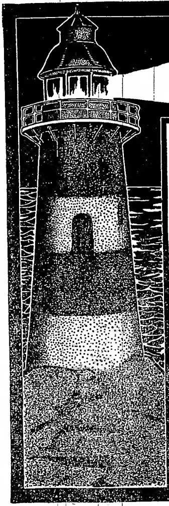
The weekly debate was held as usual in the school house Friday evening. The subject was: "Resolved, that the county seat should be moved from Red Lake Falls to Thief River Falls," but in spite of the efforts of the affirmative side to move it, the judges decided in favor of the negative side.

Mr. E. J. Akerlund drove to St. Hilaire Friday and returned accompanied by his sister, Hildor, who has been visiting there for a while.

Mr. Alfred Johnson made a trip to Wylie Friday.

Mr. O. Mosbeck of Polk Centre was Bray Friday.

A liquid cold relief with a laxative principle which drives out the cold through a copious action of the bowels, and a healing principle which lingers in the throat and stops the coughs—that is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Safe and sure in its action; pleasant to take; and conforms to National Pure Food and Drug law. Contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.



AVOID ALUM

AN UNSEEN DANGER IN FOOD

TO GUARD SHIPS against the unseen dangers at sea, the United States Government maintains lighthouses.

To guard your home against the unseen dangers of food products, the Government has enacted a pure food law. The law compels the manufacturers of baking powder to print the ingredients on the label of each can.

The Government has made the label your protection—so that you can avoid alum—read it carefully, if it does not say pure cream of tartar hand it back and

Say plainly—

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ROYAL is a pure, cream of tartar baking powder—a pure product of grapes—aids the digestion—adds to the healthfulness of food.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

When Making Fast the Flag Halyards

"Many a slender flagpole has been ruined," said a rigger, "by drawing the halyards down too snugly when making them fast after hauling down the flag. If this is done in dry weather and it comes on wet, the shrinking of the halyards thus drawn taut to start with may be enough to bend the pole, and if it should be left in that way long enough the pole would be permanently bent. Flag halyards when no flag is flying should be made fast with a little slack."

With a Home.

The great millionaire looked up impatiently.

"Well," he said, "what is it?"

"I desire, sir," the young man faltered, "to marry your daughter, provided"—

The other frowned.

"Provided what?"

"Just provided," murmured the youth.

Vocabularies.

The English language, according to a German statistician who has made a study of the comparative wealth of languages, heads the list with the enormous vocabulary of 260,000 words; German comes next, with 80,000 words; then Italian, with 75,000; French, 30,000; Turkish, 22,500, and Spanish, 20,000.

New Barber Shop

I have opened up for business the

Kaufer Barber Shop and Bath Parlors

and respectfully ask the public to give me a call. Will guarantee the best of work and courteous treatment. I will appreciate your trade

E. A. NELSON
THE NEW BARBER

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours
Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date
Give me a call.

SYRACUSE EASY
MADE BY DODGE & ZUILL PAT. SYRACUSE, N.Y.

The Syracuse "Easy" Washer

A Few Reasons Why You ... Should Have One ...

It saves the clothes.

It saves precious time.

It saves physical force.

It saves in cost—no new tubs or boards to buy.

It washes cleaner and rinses better.

It is adapted to both heavy and light clothes.

We Have Sold Hundreds of these machines since we have had the agency—another good reason why you should have one. We wouldn't have sold so many if they weren't right. Remember we put them out on trial and the price is only ....

$8.00

Hunt Hardware Co.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter presses, filing devices, etc. It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than any other. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

Chas. Morin of Wylie, was a caller here Monday.

P. O. Hagglund of St. Hilaire, was a caller here Tuesday.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rosch yesterday morning.

Z. Cadieux came over from Crook Crookston Monday to spend a week or so here.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

Miss Ida Bliven of Milton, North Dakota, is a guest at the home of her grandfather, Andrew Lemieux, in this city.

The Misses Page and Dubuque, of Crookston, and Miss Page of Gentilly, took in the M. B. A. dance here Monday evening.

Leo Spillane went up to Thief River Falls, Tuesday, and from there went to Detroit over the Soo, where he has a job in sight.

For Sale A "Jewett" Typewriter, just as good as new, which we will sell at a bargain. First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Garceau & Zaiser announces the arrival of their new spring dress goods, etc., in their advertising space in today's Gazette. Read what they offer.

Mrs. J. M. Makinson, of St. Paul, arrived Saturday for a visit of several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. O'Brien. Mrs. Makinson is Mrs. O'Brien's mother.

If the Gazette is a trifle shy on news this week, it is not because any loafing has been done around the shop. The list of delinquent taxes for Red Lake county has been set up in this office this week, and with other extra work has left the news gathering end slightly neglected.

Thief River News: Mrs Paul I. D. Ostby received a telegram Tuesday from Freeborn county announcing the death of her father, Ole O. Gavle, one of the pioneer and highly respected citizens of Southern Minnesota. Mrs. Ostby left Tuesday evening to attend the funeral.

Joseph Jerome came down from Battle River, Saturday evening, and spent Sunday at the home of Attorney C. E. Boughton in this city. Mr. Jerome is conducting a store at Battle River which adjoins the Red Lake agency, and enjoys a good business. His daughter, Miss Elsie, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Boughton for several weeks past returned home with him.

Miss Ethel Reed of Wadena, is a guest at the home of her uncle, J. B. Armstrong. The Gazette erred last week in stating that the young lady had undergone another operation at Crookston. It was thought that she might have to, but Dr. Dunlap decided it unnecessary and she returned here with her aunt to receive further treatment by Dr. Watson.

'Phone 7—Groceries--SPILLANES'

VALENTINES OF ALL KINDS AT FREUND'S.

Edison phonographs for sale from $10 up.—Anderson & Wander.

H. Langevin, the Crookston veterinary surgeon, spent Tuesday in the city on business.

Edward St. Yves of Terrebonne was here to take in the M. B. A. dance Monday evening.

Milk and Cream delivered to any part of the city every evening. Phone 65. Fred Westphal.

S. M. Sivertson went out on the road Tuesday for a brief trip in the interests of the Red Lake Falls Milling company.

The venerable Fred Krueger. who was quite seriously hurt last week, is reported as gaining very nicely at present, greatly to the satisfaction of the people of the city.

Chas. Johnson of Wylie, spent Monday in the city with his son, Clerk of Court Johnson. He had been at Crookston for a week's visit with friends and was on his way home.

C. L. Hansen. the popular St. Hilaire banker, spent Sunday here. The Gazette might add that this was not an unusual happening, either, as Harry Ives used to do the same thing.

A four-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Euclid Reopelle, of Gervais, died last Friday after a brief illness from diphtheria. No other cases are reported in that neighborhood, however, and it is not thought that the disease will spread.

The Big Store has a new ad in today's Gazette, showing the reader wherein he can save money by buying at home. There is much in this ad that should be carefully read by the people of this neighborhood, as it shows wherein the home stores are selling cheaper than the catalogue houses.

Fruend's orchestra furnished music for the big masquerade ball given by the St. Hilaire fire department last Friday evening. The dance was one of the biggest ever held in the country, and St. Hilaire's popular fire laddies sustained their reputation as immense entertainers. Those who attended from here were: Clement Brunelle, Harry Healy, Leland Healy, F. F. Fruend, the Misses Amelia Perget, Mollie Allard, Lillian Buse and Etta Garceau.

The editor of today has to get his nose down to the grindstone and keep it there sixteen to eighteen hours per day and 365 days in the year, or he falls by the wayside. There are men who quit work Saturday night and rest until Monday morning. They lay aside business cares at five or six o'clock every evening and do not resume them until seven or eight the next morning. Not so your editor. He has no elegant leisure. He knows no hours, no Sunday, no night. When he goes to a party, or to church, or on an alleged pleasure trip. it is all in the line of duty.—Ex.

See Salley for your coal supply.

J. R. Fortier spent Monday night with his parents at Crookston.

Mrs. Harry E. Ives of St. Hilaire, was a guest of her parents here several days this week.

Attorney W. A. Tautges, of Thief River Falls, was a business caller here over Sunday.

W. W. Emmrich, the Singer sewing machine hustler, was over from Crookston Tuesday.

W. W. Prichard, of the Frst National Bank of Thief River Falls, spent Tuesday night in the city.

Reuben Gervais, of North Yakima, Washington, arrived here last Friday for a month's visit with relatives and old-time friends.

John Feirs of Grand Forks, came over from that place Monday and spent a couple of days at the home of his uncle, J. P. Harren.

Dr. Spofford is at Grand View Hotel, Red Lake Falls, the 7th day of every month. Latest scientific methods in examining eyes and fitting glasses.

Arthur Mercier came down from Thief River Falls last evening, and spent the day here looking after some business matters. Mr. and Mrs. Mercier will leave Saturday for their home in Calgary.

Nice assortment—from 150 to 200—of the latest Edison gold-mounted phonograph records, always on hand. Latest issued; all good. Buy your phonograph records from us.—Anderson & Wander.

W. Zingg, adjuster for the Continental Insurance company, was a caller here yesterday to adjust the loss of the insurance companies on the Reichel building. Mr. Reichel's loss was adjusted satisfactory to all concerned.

The local lodge of M. B. A's. held a grand dance at their hall Monday evening last, and had a very enjoyable time. A large number of the members and their ladies were present and made merry until the wee sma' hours.

Monday was the 40th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Paul, and the occasion was celebrated by a pleasant party at their home that evening, a number of their friends coming in to surprise them. Games were played, and the evening was delightfully spent by all. Refreshments were served, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul were wished forty years more of happiness.

The K. of P. hall has been the scene of several pleasant dancing parties during the past week. Saturday evening the young people danced till the midnight gong sounded, Monday evening the "little tots," properly chaperoned, had a delightful party there. and then again Tuesday evening the young folks danced away a few pleasant hours. Yesterday marked the beginning of the Lenten season and social events will cease now for a period of forty days or so.

The fuel situation has been very materially changed in Red Lake Falls during the past week, and while it costs shekels to keep warm, nevertheless there is plenty of fuel for all—if they have the price. The fine weather of the past week has caused the farmers to bring in lots of wood and Coalman Sally has received a sufficent supply of coal to fill the orders he had on hand. Poplar wood has been selling at $4 and $4.25 here for the past week, but has been eagerly snapped up at that price. Hard coal is $10 the ton. However, if this section could have a continuance for the next few weeks of the weather of the week just past, the terrors of the fuel bills would rapidly diminish.

Plummer Pioneer: A freight train arrived here yesterday afternoon from the east on the Soo line and its arrival has relieved a decided shortage which was manifest in many lines among the business houses here. This is the first freight train that has delivered any freight to Plummer in over two weeks.....The contract for carrying the mail between here and Lillo was awarded on the 1st inst. and Ole Himly, the present contractor secured the job for the next four years at a substantial advance in price. Mr. Himly has been a good mail carrier and the people whom he serves on his route will be pleased to learn of his having secured the contract again.

The past week's weather, with the exception of a few hours yesterday, has been a decided relief from the long January cold spell, and the warmer days has brought a smile of satisfaction back to most of the weary countenances one would meet every day when the mercury was cutting didos at the bottom of the tube. Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday were beautiful days, and the warm sun made a noticeable impression on the snow. The warm spell resulted in an abundance of wood and hay coming to town to break what threatened to be a famine and also caused trade to pick up nicely after the lull. While the weather of yesterday and today resembles winter a little more, nevertheless it is away ahead of what we have had for the past seven or eight weeks and is certainly welcomed

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

VALENTINES AND MASKS AT SPILLANE'S.

J. J. Padden was a business caller at Crookston over Monday night.

Edison phonographs with fancy decorated concert horns, from $15 to $35.—Anderson & Wander.

Mrs. J. Carl, of Tilden, spent several days of this week with her mother, Mrs. James McAnulty, here.

Mrs. J. B. O'Brien and daughter, and Mrs. Makinson visited with friends at St. Hilaire Tuesday.

Tuesday was a legal holiday—Lincoln's birthday—and the schools, banks, postoffice, etc., were closed in due observance of the day.

Mrs. E. F. Marshall returned home Saturday after a pleasant visit with friends at the Twin Cities and other points in central Minnesota.

Carl Krueger came in from Antlers N. D., Monday, being called here by the serious condition of his father. Carl likes North Dakota quite well, but nevertheless felt at home once more when he landed in Red Lake Falls.

The local Grange had a very pleasant party at the M. B. A. hall last evening. A large crowd was present and cards were played. At eleven a bountiful lunch was served. The next meeting will be held on the evening of February 20.

Use a little KODOL after your meals and it will be found to afford a prompt and efficient relief. KODOL nearly approximates the digestive juices. It digests what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan. Sold here by all druggists.

Prison Mirror: I was reading just recently of a carpenter who stopped driving a nail when the noon whistle blew. It is needless to say that this man will remain only a roustabout board butcher with an ear ever open to the call of the dinner horn to the end of the chapter. A man who is interested in his work has mightly little use for a clock. Working by the clock, because you are compelled to work is the incarnation of slavery.

As will be seen by an announcement elsewhere, Harry B. Healy has identified himself with the Ed L. Healy Land company and will have active charge of the business this summer while Ed L. is away. Harry is one of Red Lake Falls' best young men and has had a good business training, so that he will make a first-class partner in the business. The Healy Land company will cut a big figure in the land movement in this county during the coming season.

All headaches go
When you grow wiser
And learn to use
An "Early Riser."

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, safe, sure pills.—All druggists.

Do You Want to Sell?

Just a word to say that the Ed L. Healy Land Co., is getting into shape to do a larger business than ever before, and as we want to get out our new lists, we would be glad to have any of you who want to sell call in our office and list your farm with us.

It will be necessary for me to be away from the office part of the time this summer, but Harry, my son, who has identified himself with the company will be here, so your wants will be attended to. —Ed L. Healy.

Don't Send Your Money Away for Groceries; You Can Do Better At Home

Below is an exact copy of an order to a St. Paul house through a local agent. We also give our prices on same or better goods. On original order no mention of quality of goods is made. We guarantee our goods to be of the highest quality:

	St. Paul Price	Our Price.
2 gals N. O. Molasses........	$ 1.00	$1.00
1 box Crackers..................	1.37	1.50
1 box Ginger......................	.25	.30
1 25-lb box Prunes..............	1.57	1.50
18 bars Mottled Soap..........	1.00	.65
5 lb. Head Rice..................	.45	.35
5 lb. Raisins, 3 crown.........	.55	.50
5 lb. Ring Apples................	.63	.63
100 lbs Granulated Sugar.....	4.90	5.50
Freight..............	.87
Draft at bank.....	.20	$11.93
	$12.79

In not a single instance have our prices been cut for this occasion. These are our regular, all-year 'round prices. The order in question can be seen at our store at any time. The party who sent for above goods says our molasses and crackers are superior to his.

Now, why send your money to people who do nothing for your town or county; pay no taxes here. We want YOUR trade, but if for some reason you will not give it to us, there are other stores here besides ours, and good stores at that. We are not "mad;" we only want to show you where we think we are in the right.

Special for This Week:

3 lb can Hominy for only..............	10c	Good Cheese, at....................	10c
Cocoanut, at..............................	19c	Macaroni, at..........................	8c
½ gal good Catsup at.................	39c	3 lb can of good Pears, per doz......	$1.50
Fine Corn per dozen cans...........	75c	5 lb can of Preserves for............	40c
Fancy Sorghum, per quart..........	20c	All kinds of Choice FISH

Good Crackers at $1.25 per box.

It Pays to Trade at

THE BIG STORE

The Great Quality Store.

Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

Morehead News: Two young ladies who are attending the normal school, tell a frightful tale of suffering and death from freezing in the northwestern part of North Dakota, which came to them from friends who were eye witnesses of the ghastly scenes. They state that a party of four young men had been living upon a claim north of Minot, and hearing that congress had passed a resolution granting ninety days leave of absence during the winter, they decided to pull out. They went to the house of a neighbor about four miles from their own shack, for the purpose of bidding the family goodby. No response being given to their knocks, they antered the house and found husband and wife and six children frozen to death. Hurrying on to their destination to inform the authorities, they stopped at another shack and there found the lone inhabitant—a strong man—frozen to death. They state that opening of spring will disclose a frightful loss of life out upon the northwest prairies, and the conditions really appear to be such as to make one shudder for the unfortunates who are caught without fuel or provisions.

.. NEW ..

Spring Fabrics

Our winter stock is gradually disappearing and its place is being taken to display the many new and attractive fabrics in dress good which are now arriving. The fabrics for the coming season are demanding considerable attention, for never before have we shown weaves and patterns so bewitchingly beautiful. You will find a decided advantage in making your selections early, for it will not only give you the entire line of dainty creations to select from, but will give you ample time to prepare them for Easter which comes unusually early this year ....

SPRING SUITINGS

PANAMA AND MOHAIR SUITINGS In the new tan and light brown shade, also red, green and grey from 60c a yard to 75c

HIGHER CLASS SUITINGS. In the new tan, checks and mixtures, suitable for street and party wear, pr yd $1 to $1.50

GINGHAMS

We have an extra fine assortment of LANCASTER and ZEPHYR GINGHAMS at 10c, 12½ and.................. 15c

A special discount of 25 per cent on all Skirts and Cloaks for one week.

Suesine Silk--the New Fabric

has just reached us, ask to see it.

THE BUSY STORE

Garceau & Zaiser

Keen Kutter

SIMMONS KEEN KUTTER ST. LOUIS MO

To the buyer of cutlery and tools the trade-mark "Keen Kutter" has a meaning that can only be appreciated after a thorough trial has been given. We are pleased to announce to the trade that we now have a complete line of

"Keen Kutter" Cutlery and Tools

and invite the keenest inspection of this handsome new stock.

We have also received some new . . .

"One Minute Washers"

the latest and easiest running washing machine made. If you are in the market for a washing machine don't fail to look at the "One-Minute Washer." Wash day will have no terrors for the housewife thereafter. The women are invited to come in and see one work. No trouble to show its workings.

The Hardware Man G. A. KANKEL Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Ideas for Three New and Seasonable Entertainments

An Umbrella Bazar.

This scheme is adaptable to an outdoor fete, or it is equally pretty to have all the booths at a winter festival built on the same plan, viz., an umbrella surrounded by a circular counter. The effect is lovely.

The Japanese table would have a huge paper umbrella and they come of enormous size, with a tiny parasol attached to each rib. Under this attendants in costume would serve tea and Japanese favors.

An umbrella covered with white cotton partially sprinkled with diamond dust and hung with glass icicles would be "Winter" for the sale of ice cream, or whatever the committees deemed best.

Turkey could be represented by an umbrella covered with turkey feathers, with a sale of dusters, or sandwiches and coffee. "China," "Summer" and "Autumn" are easy of representation and the whole effect will be worth the trouble of preparation. It will soon be Lent and this is an affair that would be an attraction for an Easter sale.

Valentine Post Cards.

To the hostess who wishes to give an impromptu entertainment on the 14th of February, the Valentine post card will prove a friend in need, for they may be used for the invitations as well as making charming place cards. Some of them look like miniatures in water colors. With an appropriate sentiment below they are stunning.

Write the name of the guest on the blank side and if a used one-cent stamp is placed where the stamp ought to be they will look as if "Cupid" had sent them in care of "Uncle Sam."

Some of the heart-shaped designs, Cupids, true lover's knots, etc., may be cut from postals and pasted on cards prepared by the hostess. The cost is far less than to order them hand-painted and if the work is carefully done the result is good. With a little forethought and skill the average hostess can achieve dainty and artistic place cards for her Valentine functions by watching for attractive postcards.

For Washington's Birthday.

At a Washington's birthday party for children between the ages of eight and 14, this amusement has been devised. Figures of George Washington, a number of generals, a drum, a boat, a flag, tent, picture of Mt. Vernon and a cannon have been cut out of white cardboard. Red, white and blue crayon are to be given each child with the request to decorate their designs. A half hour will be allowed.

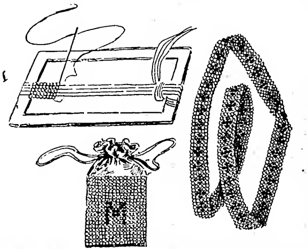
The table centerpiece is to be a small open boat, with miniature soldiers in it and a flag. It is to rest upon a round table mirror. The bonbons are to be of chocolate, moulded perfectly round and piled up like cannon balls on a flag-decorated box.

The sandwiches are to be cut star shaped and the snapping motto's are red, white and blue, with a tiny cannon attached with a trigger that really pulls.

The ice cream will be moulded in the form of a cherry tree thickly studded with candied cherries.

MADAME MERRI.

Directions for Making the Bead Chains So Much Worn



Taking one of the methods employed by our grandmothers in the manufacture of bead work, we will endeavor to see how it can be utilized in the making of a bead chain and pence-bag. As bead chains are so much worn, some of our readers may find a hint or two of use to them. The only tools necessary are some silk or filosel, an old picture or slate frame of convenient size, and a sewing-needle. Of course, a chain may be of any width; still, a very wide one would look clumsy, and a narrower one than that sketched here would not allow sufficient scope for design. First of all, bind four strings of silk upon the frame as in Fig. 1, then thread a needle with five beads and pass it beneath the threads, pressing them through them, a bead between each. Keep them in position with the left hand and pass the needle through the beads on the upper side. Take up five more beads and proceed in the same manner. To form the pattern, take up beads of other colors; for instance, taking mauve and gold tints, to form a diamond, begin the first row with 2 mauve, 1 gold, 2 mauve.

Second row: 1 mauve, 3 gold, 1 mauve.

Third row: 2 mauve, 1 gold, 1 mauve.

Other designs will suggest themselves to the ingenious worker with a little practice. When the threads on the frame are full, move them further down and keep on till the chain is complete.

For the pence-bag 19 threads should be used and only 18 beads, because when sewn together a thread at each end of the row would be more convenient than a bead, whereas a better finish is given to a chain if a bead is left at each end of the rows. In the illustration an initial occupies the center of the bag, but, of course, this might be substituted by a quite elaborate design if preferred. Having doubled the completed strip and sewn up the sides, line with silk, which should stand out at the top deep enough to form a frilled heading drawn up by a slide of ribbon.

Brief Items Concerning the Boudoir, Parlor and Kitchen

A bad-tempered woman is not beautiful.

Perfect repose of manner is simply conserving vitality.

White vaseline is excellent for keeping the lips soft and smooth.

Sleepless people should live in the sunshine as much as possible.

Flaxseed tonic will counteract the effect of dampness on the hair.

Powdered orris-root and prepared chalk combined is a good dentifrice.

Needless twisting and distorting the face is a potent cause of wrinkles.

Be sure that the bed linen is always perfectly dry before sleeping upon it.

Take good care of the teeth. Disease and contagion lurk in the human mouth.

Milk, taken hot or cold, is generally fattening, but it should always be sipped.

Cowslip root dried and reduced to a powder is an excellent remedy for insomnia.

Children should not be given solid food until they are one year old and then sparingly.

Sunshine should never be shut out of the nursery. Sleep at night will be more refreshing for the flood of sunshine let into the room during the day.

If troubled with pleurisy apply flannel cloths wrung out of hot water, to which a small quantity of mustard has been added. Change the cloth often.

Brooding over the calamity of being thin will not produce flesh. Settle down to work and pleasanter thoughts and before long you will surprise yourself.

Clear honey and sweet oil warmed together are good to take for loosening a cold. The amount of sweet oil should be proportioned according to the condition of the patient's stomach.

Strain strong sage tea, add a teaspoonful of alcohol to a pint of the tea, and apply it to the eyelashes with a soft brush once a day, to darken them and stimulate their growth.

Two ounces of boric acid crystals dropped in a glass quart jar and the jar filled with water, makes a saturated solution. It is useful in cases of burns and is an effectual antiseptic.

Nothing enhances a woman's face so much as a pair of beautiful eyes. Nature has not endowed the majority of girls with beautiful eyes, but Nature's work can be improved by careful management. Character and disposition figure most, of course, in the expression of the eyes, but the eyes can be improved by keeping them in a healthy condition and taking particular care of the brows and lashes.

The up-to-date woman will have her hat trimming on the right side instead of on the left. If she cares for flowers in winter millinery she is apt to choose roses or, perhaps, fuchsias. The latter are decidedly new. She will also be careful in the selection and adjustment of her veil, for it gives the finishing touch to her hat.

AT THE BARGAIN RUSH.

"Here, gimme that. I seen it first. Here, clerk, this woman—"

"Didn't, neither. I had my hand on them before she got there. You ain't no lady, or—"

"Neither are you. You can't come none of them tricks on me. I want you to understand that I saw these stockings first and—"

"Well, take 'em. They're big enough for an elephant, anyway. I'm too much of a lady to quarrel over such things."

"Do you mean to insinuate that I'm no lady? I'll tell my husband about you, that's what I'll do. Your face would cook cawfee."

"Yes, and you're a hussy. You ain't got no more manners than—"

"Ladies," said the dignified floorwalker, "the gymnasium and sparring ring is on the fifth floor. A gentlemanly attendant will assist with the gloves if you wish."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Gentle Hint.

Across the shimmering lake sped the merry skaters.

"Ah, the ring of steel," breathed the poetical young man. "What can compare with the beautiful ring of steel?"

The girl in the crimson cap laughed merrily.

"Lots of things," she whispered. "For instance, I much prefer the beautiful ring of gold."

And the next day the cards were out.—Chicago Daily News.

Unfathomable.

"I cannot be your wife," she replied, and added: "This is final."

He paced swiftly to and fro several times, then halted abruptly in front of her.

"Pray be candid with me," he said, not without the note of masculine impatience. "About how final?"

This was too much. She burst into tears.

"How do I know?" she sobbed.—Puck.

Sad Occasion.

"Yes," said the old man reminiscently, "when Saintlie died they wuz unyversal grief. Th' whole popylation turned out to his funeral, th' business houses wuz shet, an' every meetin'-house bell in th' town wuz a-ringin'. Yes, they wuz 20 bells a-ringin', all tolled."

But the next funeral in that town was not so large.—Judge.

A Conversational Demand.

"Why don't you try to make yourself agreeable?" asked the reproving friend.

"My dear," answered Miss Cayenne, "the desire to be agreeable is what has spoiled my disposition. You can't make yourself agreeable to some people without saying things about others."—Washington Star.

WHEN AIRSHIPS ARE IN VOGUE.

Mrs. Hardapple (dumbfounded)—For lands sakes! What does this mean?

City Niece—Nothing unusual, auntie, dear. You know you invited George and me to drop in some time.—Chicago Daily News.

The Significant "For."

"Your constituents must realize that you are working for them."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorgbum; "but a good many of them have gotten the idea that I am omitting the preposition."—Washington Star.

Misnamed.

"Is this your boasted Flatiron building?" asked the Philadelphian.

"It is," said the New Yorker. "What's the matter with it?"

"Why don't you use it to smooth the wrinkles out of your streets?"—Chicago Tribune.

Natural Conclusion.

"When did Henpeque get a divorce?"

"Why, he isn't divorced. What made you think so?"

"Well, he was talking about the unalloyed satisfaction, at his time of life, of being his own boss."—Judge.

Natural Enough.

Mr. Whiffle (reading)—The empress of Austria suffers from insomnia.

Mrs. Whiffle (meditatively)—Well, no wonder. I'm sure if I was an empress I'd be so proud of it I couldn't sleep a wink.—N. Y. Weekly.

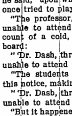
Different.

"But you told me she was a good dressmaker?"

"She is; she goes to church regularly; but she is by no means an expert dressmaker."—Houston Post.

AILING WOMEN.

Keep the Kidneys Well and the Kidneys Will Keep You Well.



Sick, suffering, languid women are learning the true cause of bad backs and how to cure them. Mrs. W. G. Davis, of Groesbeck, Texas, says: "Backaches hurt me so I could hardly stand. Spells of dizziness and sick headaches were frequent and the action of the kidneys was irregular. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills I passed several gravel stones. I got well and the trouble has not returned. My back is good and strong and my general health better."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

PROFESSOR HAD LAST LAUGH.

Final Erasure Neatly Turned Joke on Students.

President Hadley, of Yale, was talking about his student days. "I remember a stately and venerable professor," he said, "upon whom some sophomore once tried to play a trick.

"The professor, one morning, being unable to attend to his class on account of a cold, wrote on the blackboard:

"'Dr. Dash, through indisposition, is unable to attend to his classes to-day.'

"The students erased one letter in this notice, making it read:

"'Dr. Dash, through indisposition, is unable to attend to his lasses to-day.'

"But it happened a few minutes later that the professor returned for a box he had forgotten. Amid a roar of laughter he detected the change in his notice, and, approaching the blackboard calmly erased one letter in his turn.

"Now the notice read:

"'Dr. Dash, through indisposition, is unable to attend to his asses to-day.'"

Oats—Heads 2 Foot Long.

The John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., are bringing out a new oats this year with heads 2 foot long! That's a wonder. Their catalog tells!

Spetz—the greatest cereal hay food America ever saw! Catalog tells!

FREE

Our mammoth 148-page Seed and Tool Catalog is mailed free to all intending buyers, or send 6c in stamps and receive free samples of new Two Foot Long Oats and other cereals and big catalog free.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box W, La Crosse, Wis.

By Endless Chain.

"Speaking of the endless chain prayer that is going the rounds," said the woman with the cheerful voice, "I can't see what good that can do, unless, maybe, it might start some poor wretch on the road to glory, but I got an awfully nice silk petticoat through an endless chain once. The manufacturers sent letters asking for five names and a ten-cent piece. I sent five names and the ten-cent piece, not thinking much about it, just trying it, and it wasn't long before they sent me this lovely silk petticoat. It was the nicest sort of silk, too. As long as I wore it it didn't crock."

Caution.

Imitations have been placed upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are not only lacking in the best elements which have made Allcock's so efficient, but are often harmful in their effects. Remember that Allcock's are the original and only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy known—and when purchasing plasters the only safe way is to always insist upon having Allcock's.

New Canadian "Homesteaders."

According to the Canadian department of the interior the total number of new "homesteaders" in the Canadian northwest in the last fiscal year was 41,689; made up of 12,485 Americans, 12,370 Canadians, 5,897 English, 2,193 Austrians, 1,657 Scotch, 1,624 Germans and 543 Irish. The total number of immigrants from the United States during the first four months of the present fiscal year was 17,907, as compared with 12,664 in the same period of 1905 fiscal year.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS. PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

And people who stand up for their rights usually want to sit on the rights of others.

We Pay Top Price for Cream.

Cash every day. Write for prices and tags. Miller & Holmes, St. Paul, Minn.

A man will remember the kiss he failed to get long after the others are forgotten.

Panthers and Grizzly Bears.

Ship Furs Pelts McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn. Write for prices.

When a man makes a show of himself he's not always comedy.

Top Prices for Hides, Furs, Pelts.

Write for circular and catalogue No. 9, N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

Two heads are better than one—especially at kissing.

We Pay the Highest Price

for butter fat in cream. Write for price. Milton Dairy Co., St. Paul.

A cheerful lie is often better than the solemn truth.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES color Silk, Wool and Cotton at one boiling, fast, beautiful colors. 10c per package.

Don't be too sure of the man who boasts of being sure of himself.

Trappers' Supplies Sold Cheap.

Write for catalog and circular No. 9. N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

A reform champion's husband believes a reformation would be good.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

And by not getting married some men manage to live happily ever after.

We Want Your Cream.

Write to-day for tags and prices. North Star Creamery Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

There are more ways than one by which a woman can get even with a man. One way is to marry him, and another is not to.

Garfield Tea, an unusually practical household remedy; take it for constipation, to keep the liver normal, to purify the blood, to dispel colds, to cure rheumatism, to keep well!

Tannic Acid for the Skin.

One of the most annoying results of eye strain is the baggy condition under the eyes, which is very disfiguring. To restore the condition of the skin tannic acid is generally effectual, using 20 grains to an ounce of glycerine. It is applied to the puffiness with a soft camel's hair brush night and morning.

Universal Atmosphere.

The Swedish savant Ryberg has suggested that the discovery of the element metargon in the air strengthens the theory of the existence of a universal atmosphere extending between the planets and throughout the solar system. This, it is said, was already known to exist in the sun before its discovery, some eight or nine years ago—that is, in the immediate surroundings of the sun, in all comets and in meteorites—from which facts the Swedish scientist infers that it constitutes a common atmosphere for our system.

Couldn't Figure It Out.

The story is told of a lank, disconsolate looking farmer who one day during the progress of a political meeting in Cooper Institute stood on the steps with the air of one who has been surfeited with a feast of some sort.

"Do you know who's talking in there now?" demanded a stranger, briskly, pausing for a moment beside the disconsolate farmer, "or are you just going in?"

"No, sir, I've just come out," said the farmer, decidedly. "Mr. Evarts is talking in there."

"What about?" asked the stranger.

"Well, he didn't say," the farmer answered, passing a knotted band across his forehead.—Youth's Companion.

CHINESE HAD FIRST ZOO.

Institution of Menageries Was Due to Two Incentives.

The Chinese had the first zoo. Menageries are thought to owe their origin partly to the cult of sacred animals and partly to the ambition of rulers to possess specimens of rare and valuable creatures from foreign lands or savage beasts from their own. In the simplest forms zoological gardens were one of the earliest developments of culture, and were familiar to the Chinese, Indians, Greeks, Romans, and pre-Spanish Mexicans in ancient times. The oldest recorded menagerie is Chinese, dating from 1150 B. C. The den of lions kept by Darius, as described in the book of Daniel, is an example of one of those primitive menageries, while the cult of sacred white horses by the ancient Greeks and Romans and that of so-called white elephants in Burma and Siam are instances of a second type. A live giraffe was received at the menagerie of Schonbrunn as early as 1828.

NERVOUS HEADACHES

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Will Cure Most Cases and Should Interest Every Sufferer.

Nobody who has not endured the suffering caused by nervous headache can realize the awful agony of its victims. Worst of all, the ordinary treatment cannot be relied upon to cure nor even to give relief. Some doctors will say that if a person is subject to these headaches there is nothing that can be done to prevent their recurrence.

Nervous headaches, as well as neuralgia, are caused by lack of nutrition—the nerves are starved. The only way to feed the nerves is through the blood and it is in this way that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have accomplished so many remarkable cures.

Mrs. Addie Merrill, of 39 Union Street, Auburn, Me., says: "For years I suffered from nervous headaches, which would come on me every five or six weeks and continue for several days. The pain was so severe that I would be obliged to go to bed for three or four days each time. It was particularly intense over my right eye. I tried medicines but got no relief. I had no appetite and when the headache passed away I felt as if I had been sick for a month. My blood was thin and I was pale, weak and reduced in weight.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a paper and decided to try them. I first noticed that they began to give me an appetite and I commenced to gain in weight and color. My headaches stopped and have not returned and I have never felt so well as I do now."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

DEFIANCE STARCH easiest to work with and starches clothes nicest.

HURT, BRUISE OR SPRAIN

ST. JACOBS OIL

THE OLD-MONK-CURE RELIEVES FROM PAIN

Price 25c and 50c

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

A Positive CURE

CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm

Is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at Once.

It cleanses, soothes heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts., at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size 10 cts. by mail. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

HAY FEVER

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

CHEAP LANDS Unexcelled for general farming, stock, dairying, fruits, truck, etc.; convenient to the very best markets and transportation facilities. Write nearest office for lists and publications. M. V. Richards, Land and Industrial Agent, Southern Ry. and Mobile & Ohio R. R., Washington, D. C. C. B. Chase, West. Agt., 224 Chemical Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

DEFIANCE STARCH—16 ounces to the package—other starches only 12 ounces—same price and "DEFIANCE" IS SUPERIOR QUALITY.

Fertile Farming

LANDS

Cheap

Easy Terms

In the Best Section of the South

Unexcelled for General Farming, Stock Raising, Berries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Cantaloupes, Strawberries, Peaches, Apples, Grapes, etc., give handsome returns.

Cattle need but little winter feed.

HEALTHY CLIMATE.
GOOD WATER.
LONG GROWING SEASON.

Address G. A. PARK, Gen. Im. & Ind'l Agt.

Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

THE CANADIAN WEST IS THE BEST WEST

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The testimony of thousands during the past year is that the Canadian West is the best West. Year by year the agricultural returns have increased in volume and in value, and still the Canadian Government offers 160 acres FREE to every bona fide settler.

Some of the Advantages

The phenomenal increase in railway mileage—main lines and branches—has put almost every portion of the country within easy reach of churches, schools, markets, cheap fuel and every modern convenience.

The NINETY MILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP of this year means $60,000,000 to the farmers of Western Canada, apart from the results of other grains and cattle.

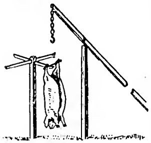
For advice and information address the SUPERINTENDENT OF IMMIGRATION, Ottawa, Canada, or any authorized Government Agent.

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. MacLachlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

HOG BUTCHERING DERRICK.

Device That Will Make the Task an Easy One.

A correspondent of Prairie Farmer sends a plan for butchering and hanging hogs. Set a pole in the ground nine feet and put a 14-foot pole on this with a swingle so as to turn, as illustrated in the accompanying cut. Another pole is set six feet from the first. Two wide wagon tires about four feet long are mortised in the top of the second post so as to afford support for hanging four good sized hogs. Friend Heater recommends this plan as a great convenience to a person desiring to butcher a few hogs with short help and limited butchering facilities.



Derrick For Killing Hogs.

CARE OF YOUNG PIGS.

It Should Begin Before They Are Born —Keep Sow Vigorous.

It is not best to wait until the pigs are farrowed to begin to care for them. The brood sow needs careful attention before this time, especially in the matter of feeding. I have always had success in feeding a well balanced ration before, as well as after, this time, says a writer in Farm and Home. I aim to keep the brood sow in good condition and never have had any trouble with feeds. After farrowing I increase the ration and as soon as the pigs are old enough encourage them to eat along with the sow. Milk, wheat middlings, oats and corn in proper proportions have always been my favorite feeds for pigs. When confined in pens I supply them with fresh water and green feed, charcoal, wood ashes and salt being fed at regular intervals. At six or eight weeks old I wean the pigs and feed them in the same manner, only oftener than before. I keep them in a warm, roomy place during the winter, and when spring comes they are in excellent condition.

FEEDING THE BEEF COW.

Ration Must Be Increased When She Is In Calf.

The ration necessary for a breeding cow that is carrying a calf must be enough to permit of the maintenance of her body as well as the growth of the calf. Cows of the beef type may be wintered without grain, providing they are given all the oat straw and corn stover that they well consume during the early part of the season.

They should be fed a little clover hay during the early spring months. This, however, is not the best method of feeding. Shocked corn or silage with a little clover hay is a good winter ration for cows. More gain in weight can be secured where silage is used than where dry fodder is fed.

The corn plant fed in the form of silage is more palatable than if fed in the form of shocked corn, which is probably the cause of its being a better ration for the beef cows. Silage supplemented with clover hay in small amounts is about the best feed for breeding animals that can be produced on most farms.

NOTES OF THE HOG LOT.

Select long, roomy sows, but not the slow maturing kind.

The man who feeds for market cares more for type than breed.

Barb wire fencing ruins many good hogs and is a poor excuse for a hog fence.

Every yard should have a good strong gate, carefully made, hung and fastened.

Brood sows should show quality, but not at the expense of bone, muscle and constitution.

A good rule to follow is to make large yards and not confine the pigs on too small an area.

Uniformity in a herd is one of the most essential points and its advantages are obvious.

All things considered, woven wire properly constructed makes the best and most satisfactory hog fence.

Many good sows are ruined by being hurt by horses and cattle, and should be kept by themselves during pregnancy.

Pigs of about the same age and size thrive best when confined in yards by themselves; they look better, feed better and sell better.

In building any farm fence it is a good plan to put ground wires down to moisture about every six posts to give stock protection from lightning.

The hog can make himself an intolable nuisance if not confined in proper bounds, and no man should attempt to raise hogs unless he has adequate yard and fencing.

THE WHITE PLAGUE

SYSTEMATIC WARFARE WAGED TO WIPE OUT CONSUMPTION.

Warning That Intemperance Increases the Liability to Contract Disease —Neglected Colds a Prolific Source.

Organized effort is now being made throughout the United Stated to fight consumption. A warning is given against intemperate habits, which increase the liability to consumption, while spitting in public places is deprecated, as the disease is frequently contracted from dried sputum.

Colds should not be neglected, as they leave the lungs in a peculiarly receptive condition for the tubercular germ. The following simple formula will break up a cold in twenty-four hours. A leading authority on lung trouble says that when prepared from pure ingredients, it will cure any cough that is curable.

Take half ounce Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure); two ounces glycerine and half pint good whisky. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost, and to avoid substitution should be purchased separately and mixed in your own home.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up in half-ounce vials for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, with the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), which are put out under various names, such as Concentrated Oil of Pine, Pino Balsam, etc. Never accept these as a substitute for the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine, as they will invariably produce nausea and never effect the desired result.

Thinks Little of Chinese Army.

Dr. Morrison, the well-known correspondent of the London Times at Peking, went to see the recent maneuvers of the modernized Chinese army in the neighborhood of Chang-te-fu. He describes them as a repetition of the performances of 1905—a set piece carefully prepared long beforehand by a number of Japanese advisers. The inefficiency of the officers is still conspicuous and the field training of the men inadequate, but the material is good. Dr. Morrison hints that without Japanese officers to direct affairs the contending armies would have been little better than a rabble.

State Prison Makes Money.

The Connecticut state prison for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1906, established a new record of revenues. Earnings from productive labor aggregated $57,411, while receipts from various other sources swelled the total income to $61,015. This showing, representing nearly 74 per cent. of the operating expenses of the institution, surpasses the income exhibit of any previous year, and enabled the prison management, despite the high cost of supplies, to limit to $22,861 its drafts upon the state treasury.

Where It Really Does Rain.

There is one man in San Francisco who is not bothered by the rain. He is F. S. Morris, of Portland, who is at the Imperial. Morris came in dripping with water yesterday afternoon, and somebody remarked: "Gracious, isn't this rain a fright?" "Naw, nothing much," said the man from Portland. "You just ought to live in my country. Why, at home," and the Oregonian swelled with pride, "in my country the rain falls so fast that the rivers frequently fill up two feet above their banks."—San Francisco Chronicle.

MAY BE COFFEE

That Causes all the Trouble.

When the house is afire, it's like a body when disease begins to show, it's no time to talk but time to act—delay is dangerous—remove the cause of the trouble at once.

"For a number of years," says a Kansas lady, "I felt sure that coffee was hurting me, and yet, I was so fond of it, I could not give it up. I paltered with my appetite and of course yielded to the temptation to drink more. At last I got so bad that I made up my mind I must either quit the use of coffee or die.

"Everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered severely almost all the time with palpitation of the heart. I frequently woke up in the night with the feeling that I was almost gone,—my heart seemed so smothered and weak in its action that I feared it would stop beating. My breath grew short and the least exertion set me to panting. I slept but little and suffered from rheumatism.

"Two years ago I stopped using the old kind of coffee and began to use Postum Food Coffee, and from the very first I began to improve. It worked a miracle! Now I can eat anything and digest it without trouble. I sleep like a baby, and my heart beats full, strong and easily. My breathing has become steady and normal, and my rheumatism has left me. I feel like another person, and it is all due to quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee, for I haven't used any medicine and none would have done any good as long as I kept drugging with coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a Reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. All grocers.

Spring Excursions to Milwaukee.

The Jobbers and Manufacturers' Association has arranged for three Merchants' Excursions to Milwaukee during February and March.

Any merchant in the Northwest is entitled to a rate of one and one-fifth fare for the round trip, not alone for himself and wife, but for anyone actively interested in his business.

You can buy tickets to Milwaukee as follows:

First Excursion, February 16th to 24th, and return home February 18th to March 6th.

Second Excursion, March 2d to 10th, and return home March 4th to 20th.

Third Excursion, March 16th to 24th, and return home March 18th to April 3d.

Purchase a ticket to Milwaukee only, at full fare and at the same time ask for a certificate (not a receipt) for fare paid. This certificate will entitle you to one-fifth fare to return home if validated at the Secretary's office, 45 University Building, at any time within the dates fixed.

His Practical Idea.

A benevolent old man who lived on his farm in Iowa never refused shelter to any who might ask it of him. His many friends remonstrated with him about this characteristic, knowing that many unscrupulous hoboes would avail themselves of the opportunity, and that there was great danger of the old man being robbed. To these remonstrances the old man replied that he believed in "practical Christianity."

"But," said one of his friends, "this seems very impractical. Suppose one of these men took it into his head to rob you one night?"

"My dear young friend," was the reply, "I bid all enter in the name of God, but I prove my belief in practical Christianity by locking up their pants during the night."

FEARFUL BURNING SORES.

Boy in Misery 12 Years—Eczema in Rough Scales, Itching and Inflamed—Cured by Cuticura.

"I wish to inform you that your wonderful Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. The longer the doctors treated him the worse it became. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed, and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. When I think of his suffering, it nearly breaks my heart. His screams could be heard downstairs. The suffering of my son made me full of misery. I had no ambition to work, to eat, nor could I sleep. One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up for a bad job. One evening I saw an article in the paper about the wonderful Cuticura and decided to give it a trial. I tell you that Cuticura Ointment is worth its weight in gold, and when I had used the first box of Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent, my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1905."

Ownership of National Banks.

The ownership of the national banks of the United States is not in the hands of the rich few, as is commonly supposed, because fully one-half of the banks have a capital of less than $100,000 each. Twelve per cent. have capitalizations of from $100,000 to $250,000, while only seven per cent. range between $250,000 and $1,000,000.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Be honest in your business relations. It pays to be honest.

FITS, St. Vitus Dance and all Nervous Diseases permanently cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ld., 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Even a busy man must take a day off sooner or later for the purpose of attending his own funeral.

For Prices on Poultry,

either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, St. Paul, Minn.

The best man at a wedding cannot always prove it.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Heart failure and cash failure often go together.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children

Bears The Signature Of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

THE VALUE OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of

The Well Informed of the World.

A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

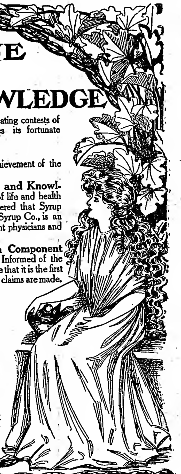
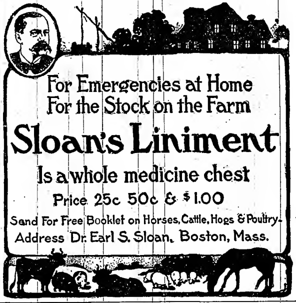
This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.



CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.,
U.S.A.
LOUISVILLE, KY. LONDON, ENGLAND. NEW YORK, N.Y.



For Emergencies at Home
For the Stock on the Farm
Sloan's Liniment
Is a whole medicine chest
Price 25c 50c & $1.00
Send For Free Booklet on Horses, Cattle, Hogs & Poultry.
Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass.

POULTRYMEN!

Do you want strong, healthy chicks? Then mix with your feed

SHERIDAN'S CONDITION POWDER

The original medicine to make hens lay. Causes perfect assimilation of food, keeps poultry healthy, and increases egg production in fall and winter when prices are high. One pack, 25c.; five, $1; two-lb. can, $1.20; six, $5.00. Express paid. At all dealers.

I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?

Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postcard to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. G, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free and it will be sent you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.

PARLOR ORGAN ECHOS A choice collection of instrumental and vocal music, for Organ or Piano. Book 1—21 pieces, 25c. Book 2—24 pieces, 25c. Book 3—26 pieces, 25c. To introduce these beautiful collections a copy of either book will be sent postpaid on receipt of 15 cents, stamps or coin. WM. A. POND & CO., 148 5th Ave., New York.

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

A. N. K.—G (1907—6) 2164.

MOTHERHOOD

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Note what Mrs. James Chester, of 427 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass Her advice is free.

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

NO MORE MUSTARD PLASTERS TO BLISTER.
THE SCIENTIFIC AND MODERN EXTERNAL COUNTER-IRRITANT.
CAPISICUM VASELINE
EXTRACT OF THE CAYENNE PEPPER PLANT

A QUICK, SURE, SAFE AND ALWAYS READY CURE FOR PAIN.—PRICE 15c.—IN COLLAPSIBLE TUBES—AT ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS, OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 15c. IN POSTAGE STAMPS. DON'T WAIT TILL THE PAIN COMES—KEEP A TUBE HANDY. A substitute for and superior to mustard or any other plaster, and will not blister the most delicate skin. The pain-allaying and curative qualities of the article are wonderful. It will stop the toothache at once, and relieve Headache and Sciatica. We recommend it as the best and safest external counter-irritant known, also as an external remedy for pains in the chest and stomach and all Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Gouty complaints. A trial will prove what we claim for it, and it will be found to be invaluable in the household and for children. Once used no family will be without it. Many people say "it is the best of all your preparations." Accept no preparation of vaseline unless the same carries our label, as otherwise it is not genuine. SEND YOUR ADDRESS AND WE WILL MAIL OUR VASELINE PAMPHLET WHICH WILL INTEREST YOU.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO.
17 STATE STREET, NEW YORK CITY

34 YEARS SELLING DIRECT

Our vehicles and harness have been sold direct from our factory to user for a third of a century. We ship for examination and approval and guarantee safe delivery. You are out nothing if not satisfied as to style, quality and price.

We Are The Largest Manufacturers In The World selling to the consumer exclusively. We make 200 styles of Vehicles, 65 styles of Harness. Send for large, free catalogue.

No. 758. Spindle Seat, Bike Gear, Driving Wagon with Kin. Guaranteed Rubber Tires. Price complete, $55.50.

No. 4. Single Strap Harness with Curved Breast Collar. Price complete, $11.53.

Elkhart Carriage & Harness Mfg. Co., Elkhart, Indiana.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Edward Hebert and Victoline Hebert, mortgagors, to First State of Brooks, mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1905, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of September, 1905, at 2 o'clock p m, in book 34 of mortgages, on page 359, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The west half of the north east quarter of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty (150) of range forty-two (42) and lots numbered five (5) and (6) in block numbered five (5) in the townsite of Brooks, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of March, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, Red Lake Falls, Minn., Feb. 13 A. D. 1907.

First State Bank of Brooks,
[Seal] Mortgagee.
I. C. Simons, Attorney. f14-m21

DR. N. M. WATSON
Physician and Surgeon
Graduate of McGill University, Montreal.
Office over First State Bank.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ALGUE, D. M. D.
DENTIST
Offices in Lallissandre Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.
At St. Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley
GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys at-Law
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 47 Collections attended to.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The Murray Cure
To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure

Mr. Murray's family, the widow, two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1319 Nicollet Ave. Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

Don't Grind
YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $3.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.
COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

RURAL WATER SUPPLY.

Its Sanitary Condition Not What It Ought to Be.

When such great sums of money are being expended by city governments that the inhabitants of towns may have a sanitary water supply it seems strange that the supply in rural towns should receive little or no attention. This latter population may seem relatively insignificant, but it comprises about 40,000,000 souls. This means that those 40,000,000 people are drinking the water most available without a thought of its sanitary condition.

These various sources of supply, whether wells, springs or small streams, are similarly unreliable for furnishing drinking water. The statistics of mortality in the country are very indefinite, but even these show that the rural population is not as free from illness as it should be. And though everywhere the rural death rate is lower than the urban death rate, yet the lowering in the country has not been as great as in the city. An examination of typhoid statistics shows that the death rate of other diseases is generally lower in the country than in the city, but the prevalence of typhoid is almost equal to if not greater in the rural districts than in the cities.

Several instances have been reported which show the rural typhoid rate to be ten times greater than the urban rate for the same district. To particularize, a certain district in central Pennsylvania proves this fact. It is made up of a rural population with 100 inhabitants to the square mile. It is a region of fine farms, wild mountains and woods, country residences and picnic groves. And in this valley there has been as much typhoid fever as in the city of Philadelphia.

Sad as this condition is, there seems to be no remedy for it. The sources of a city water supply are few and the city government easily controls the conditions affecting it. But what can be done when the sources of supply are numbered by the thousands? A mint of money and an army of chemists would not be sufficient to give the same care to the country supply that is given to that of the city.—New York Herald.

SNOWSLIDES OF ROCKIES.

Peril of Mountains Takes Its Toll of Life and Property.

Every year the life of a miner in the high mountain regions is menaced by the avalanche or snowslide, and every year brings its list of casualties and of hairbreadth escapes. The story of snowslides would fill a book and would be a thrilling, tragic and in some cases a gruesome one.

Men have ridden hundreds of feet on the back of a snowslide and have escaped unhurt. Others have been caught and buried so deep and in such uncertain spots that their bodies have not been discovered until the melting of the snow in the following spring.

Some have been caught as they were walking, but a few steps from the boarding house to the mine, or while emptying a car on the mine dump. Not infrequently men have found themselves temporarily imprisoned by the entrance of the mine being closed by a slide while they were at work and have had to dig their way out.

A Chinese cook at one of the Idaho mines stepped outside his kitchen door for a moment and was caught and buried with the slide 1,000 feet down the hillside and his body was not recovered till the following spring.

Such incidents denote the extreme suddenness, power and velocity of the slide. Little or no warning is given, a roar, a cloud of snow obscuring the sight of the real slide, and in a moment thousands of tons of snow, mingled with trees and debris, are shot down the gulch or the slope of a mountain as from the mouth of a cannon. In a few seconds all is over and the scenery of the little valley is completely changed.—Mines and Minerals.

What a Letter Will Do.

A proofreader, anent the importance of trifles, read from his notebook these absurd sentences, each made by the omission of a single letter:

"The conflict was dreadful and the enemy was repulsed with great laughter.

"When the president's wife entered the humble sitting room of the miner she was politely offered a hair.

"A man was yesterday arrested on the charge of having eaten a cabman for demanding more than his fare.

"An employee in the service of the government was accused of having stolen a small ox from the mail. The stolen property was found in his vest pocket."

Observation.

An observant man in all his intercourse with society and the world constantly and unperceived marks on every person and thing the figure expressive of its value and, therefore, on meeting that person or thing, knows instantly what kind and degree of attention to give it. This is to make something of experience.—John Foster.

Tamed Poetry.

"I wish to submit a lyric, sir," said the timid young man. "My friends say it's a beauty—really sings itself."

"Humph!" said the cold hearted editor. "We couldn't use a poem like that. We want one that, once printed, will remain perfectly quiet and not keep our readers awake by singing itself at all times."

The true strength of every human soul is to be dependent on as many nobler as it can discern and to be depended upon by as many inferior as it can reach.

The world which took but six days to make is like to take 6,000 to make out.—Browne.

THE APACHES.

This Tribe Holds the Record as Bad Indians.

Scarcely a tribe of our American Indians but what have engraved their record of crime and infamy high up on history's wall, yet above them all is the Apaches'.

From 1540 to 1853 New Spain and Mexico carried on a so called warfare with these people. The Apaches were vastly outnumbered by the Mexican soldiery, but what they lacked in numbers was more than made up in courage and craftiness. The Apache ever had a thorough contempt for the Mexican soldier, and in later years, when they were fighting with firearms as well as arrows, they would not waste cartridges on the Mexicans, but would kill them with arrows, spears and stones, saving their cartridges for other and more worthy foes.

When this southwest region became a part of the United States the Apaches were a serious problem with which we had to contend. Our government vacillated between a simpering peace policy and the other extreme, their extermination.

Their zone of wandering being intersected by the international boundary line further complicated matters. They would raid down into Mexico and then rush back with the plunder to our side of the line, out of reach of the pursuing soldiers. Next it would be a raid on the Arizona side and a flight into the wild mountains of Sonora. The Mexican government attempted to assist their miserable army by giving a scalp bounty, and for years they paid out their gold coin for Apache scalps. Scalp hunting became a recognized industry. The horror of this was that to the Mexican official all scalps looked alike, whether from the head of a hostile or a friendly Indian. The price was $100 for a man, $50 for a woman and $25 for a child. It is small wonder that the tribe sank deeper into savagery than ever when we stop to think that the men knew there was a price set on the scalps of their wives and children, and there was a horde of human fiends, white in color, but more savage than the savage himself, who were hunting them as they would a congar of the mountains.—E. S. Curtis in Scribner's.

QUICKER THAN LIGHTNING.

Action of the Human Body Outstrips Everything In Motion.

"As quick as lightning" is a phrase colloquially used to express the maximum of rapidity, but, according to a well known scientist, electricity itself is outstripped by that old fashioned machine, the human body, by which it appears powers can, so to speak, be generated in the brain, transmitted through the nerves and developed in the muscles in an infinitesimal fraction of a second.

It is stated that a pianist in playing a presto of Mendelssohn played 5,595 notes in four minutes and three seconds. The striking of each of these, it has been estimated, involved two movements of the finger and possibly more.

Again, the movements of the wrist, elbows and arms can scarcely be less than one movement for each note. As twenty-four notes were played each second and each involves three movements we would have seventy-two voluntary movements per second.

Again, the place, the force, the time and the duration of each of these movements were controlled. All these motor reactions were conditioned upon a knowledge of the position of each finger of each hand before it was moved, while moving it, as well as of the auditory effect to force and pitch, all of which involves equally rapid sensory transmissions.

If we add to this the work of the memory in placing the notes in their proper position as well as the fact that the performer at the same time participates in the emotion the selection describes and feels the strength and weaknesses of the performance, we arrive at a truly bewildering network of impulses coursing along at inconceivably rapid rates.

Such estimates show, too, that we are capable of doing many things at once. The mind is not a unit, but is composed of higher and lower centers, the available fund of attention being distributed among them.—Pearson's Weekly.

Legend and Reality.

Legend tells how Napoleon, while Moscow was in flames, found time to draw up a decree organizing the Theatre Francais. Alas, the story is not true. Napoleon was in Poland when he received the decree ready to be signed. He there signed it and sent it back to Paris, but in the margin wrote the following: "To be forwarded when the army will be at Moscow. It is his majesty's intention that the decree should be dated from that town."

Obedience.

Every duty, even the least duty, involves the whole principle of obedience. And little duties make the will dutiful—that is, supple and prompt to obey. Little obediences lead into great. The daily round of duty is full of probation and of discipline. It trains the will, heart and conscience.—Woman's Life.

A Biography In a Nutshell.

Born, welcomed, caressed, cried, fed, grew, amused, reared, studied, examined, graduated, in love, loved, engaged, married, quarreled, reconciled, suffered, deserted, taken ill, died, mourned, buried and forgotten.

Sure on One Point.

"Out late last night? What time did the clock say when you got in?"

"I don't remember what the clock said, but I will never forget what my wife said!"

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL.

ESTATE OF MARGARETTA WALTER

State of Minnesota, } ss
County of Red Lake }

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Margaretta Walter, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Andrew Walter, Phillip Walter, John Walter, Maggie Adler (nee Walter), Anna Skala (nee Walter), Mary Kaus (nee Walter) and all persons interested in the allowance and probate of the will of said decedent; The petition of Phillip Walter being duly filed in this court, representing that Margaretta Walter, then a resident of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, died on the 31st day of December, 1906, leaving a last will and testament which is presented to this court with said petition, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to Phillip Walter. Now therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1907, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Honorable N. W. Tarrant, Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 24th day of January, 1907.

[Seal] N. W. TARRANT, Judge.
F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Petitioner. j24f7

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventy and 99-100 ($70.99) Dollars, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Joseph Bousheu, administrator of the estate of John Bousheu, deceased, mortgagor, to M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of March, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 21 of Mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, to John Jaenike by written assignment dated the 9th day of April, 1904, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 14th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages on page 119.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said John Jaenike the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., by written assignment dated the 14th day of December, 1906, and recorded on the 19th day of December, 1906, at 6 o'clock p. m., in book 15 of mortgages page 345, and by reason of the default herein before mentioned the said Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, the assignee of said mortgagee, chooses to declare and hereby does declare the whole debt secured by the aforesaid mortgage due and payable making in all four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the southwest quarter of section fourteen (14), Township numbered one hundred fifty (150), North of Range forty-two (42), west of the 5th P. M. in the state of Minnesota, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the second day of March, 1907, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 15th, A. D., 1907.

Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee,
F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. j17-f28.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Rudolf Warberg and Katharina Warberg, his wife, mortgagors, to Ralph Rogers mortgagee, bearing date the 16th day of April 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1903, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., in book 29 of mortgages, on page 29

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Ralph Rogers mortgagee, to G. B. Ward by written assignment dated the 15th day of October 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 13th day of November 1906, at 1:00 o'clock P. M.; in book 32 of mortgages on page 391.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said G. B. Ward, the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, a corporation, by written assignment dated the 13th day of November, 1906, and recorded on the 22nd day of November, 1906, at 3:10 o'clock P. M., in book 15 mortgages page 339, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

North east quarter of section numbered twenty-eight (28), in township numbered one hundred fifty (150), north of range forty-one (41), west of the 5th P. M. in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 23rd day of March, 1907, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty and no-100 dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, February 6th, 1907.

Merchants State Bank of Red-Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
F. A. Grady, Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. f7-m21

BULLETIN
Great Northern Railway
Tell Your Friends About It.

You may have friends in the east, who would be glad to move to the west, if they knew what opportunities are here. Send us their names. we will be glad to send them a bulletin on Montana and North Dakota.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Rates, February 19, 1907.
Chinook, Mont., $21.80; Helena, Butte and Anaconda $34.50; Great Falls, $30.50; Shelby, $29.40; Paola, $35.35

One Way Settlers' Rates:
To Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Manitoba, Western Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta.
Tickets on sale March 5, 12, 19 and 26, April 2, 9, 16 23 and 30, 1907.

MAY WE HELP YOU PLAN YOUR TRIP?
Two trains daily. Standards and Tourist Sleepers.
THE ORIENTAL LIMITED. THE FAST MAIL.

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER
MAIN STREET, - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet Pure and Wholesome.
It's All The What
That's Fit To Eat..

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near our idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..
BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats
Fish and Game in Season.
Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.
TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains
Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY
Grand View Hotel
Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City
W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 21, 1907 No 21

FIREMEN'S TOURNAMENT ON JUNE 18, 19, 20, 21

WILL MEET TOMORROW

Red Lake County Teachers' Association To Have A Two Days Interesting Session.

The Red Lake County Teachers association will meet at Thief River Falls tomorrow and Saturday where a fine program of interest to the teachers and general public will be rendered.

The meeting coming as it does on Washington's birthday anniversary will be partly given over to patriotic numbers, and this with the other things prepared for those who attended will make a very attractive session.

One of the principal features of the meeting will be the answering and discussion of the questions written at the recent semi-annual state teachers' examinations. The questions in all the subjects will be answered and generally discussed by those in attendance, and it is thought that this feature alone will be one of the best for the teachers in the county that has ever been down on the various programs.

The people of Thief River Falls will assist in making the meeting instructive and enjoyable, and the association officers hope to see an extra ordinary large attendance.

The following is a general outline of the program:

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, FEB. 22

Discussion of state teachers' examination questions written upon Jan. 31st, Feb. 1st and 2nd, 1907.

FRIDAY EVENING.

Lecture on Alaska by Dr. Gamble. Music and entertainment will be furnished by the High School Mandolin club, and by the faculty and students of Thief River Falls schools.

SATURDAY, FEB. 23.

Discussion of examination questions continued.

All teachers are requested to bring exhibits of work done in their respective schools by pupils in all grades.

Prof. Hay has charge of the evening's entertainment and a good time is assured.

Farmer Loses Left Leg.

Ole Opgrand, a farmer, whose home is near Dorothy on the abandoned line between Crookston and Wylie, is lying in the hospital at Warren in a critical condition as the result of an accident last Tuesday morning. He had been to Crookston and was returning home on the train by way of south Euclid. In jumping from the train he fell between the wheels and had his left leg severed below the knee. The train crew placed him on the train again and took him to the hospital at Warren. He is about 50 years of age and is quite well known throughout the western part of Red Lake county.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

PENALTY WILL ATTACH.

Personal Property Taxes Must Be Paid Before March First.

All taxes were due January 1st last and all personal property taxes not paid before March 1st will have a 10 per cent penalty added. On April 1st all unpaid personal property taxes are turned over to the sheriff for collection.

On June 1st a penalty of 10 per cent is added to all real property taxes of which no part has been paid. Payment of not less than one half of the amount of real estate taxes on or before the last day of May extends the time for paying the balance without penalty till the last day of October. On November 1st a penalty of 10 per cent is added to all unpaid balance of real estate taxes of which not less than one half was paid prior to June 1st. Unpaid real estate taxes are delinquent on the first Monday in January and a penalty of 5 per cent is then added. Tax sales take place on the second Monday of May following and the amount of the sale draws interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum until redeemed. Lands not redeemed within three years after sale, become the property of the state or purchasers.

Washington's Birthday Party.

The members of the Study club will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Germo this evening, the affair being in the nature of a commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of him who was "first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen." The evening will be given over to a patriotic program and a delightful time is looked forward to.

"Dads" Will Meet.

The county board will meet at the office of Auditor O'Brien next Tuesday. Several important matters will come up for consideration at this time. Auditor O'Brien has the annual financial statement ready for inspection and approval by the board, and it will be ordered published as soon as possible. A number of school petitions are pending, a petition for the organization of a new town has been presented, and it is likely that the board will find plenty of work to keep them busy for a couple of days or more.

Gets His Prize Money.

Olaf Nelson, of River Falls township, last week received from D. D. Mayne, principal of the State Agricultural school, a check for $200, which he won as first prize for the best sample of wheat exhibited at the state seed grain fair held in Minneapolis in January. This is a neat sum of money and naturally the young man feels very good over receiving it.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

Red Lake Falls Will Entertain Northern Minnesota Firemen In Royal Style.

Executive Committee of Association Meets at Crookston To Set Dates and Decide on Other Matters—Entertained By Crookston Fire Department.

The 1907 tournament of the Northwestern Minnesota Firemen's Tournament association will be held at Red Lake Falls four days in June—the 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st.

This was decided on at the meeting of the executive committee of the association which was held at Crookston Monday evening of this week and which was attended by representatives from the several different valley towns holding membership in the association.

F. A. Grady, representing President M. A. Converse, and Secretary Fred Borchers went down from here that evening to attend the meeting, and they report that all the towns in the Valley will join hands this year to make the Red Lake Falls tournament the biggest and best ever held by the association.

The delegates to the executive committee meeting Monday evening were entertained by the Crookston fire department, and were shown a right royal good time.

A. A. Glenn acted as chairman of the meeting and after calling the delegates to order it was first decided that the dates for the tournament should be the 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st of June, four days. The program was not definitely decided on and but few minor changes were made in the races.

The banner for the association coupling contest was won for the third time consecutively last year by Bemidji and as a result the coveted trophy became the property of the Bemidji department which makes it necessary for a new banner to be provided this year. This will be furnished by Red Lake Falls this year, it being the custom for the city where the tournament is held to furnish the banners.

While the program of races and the prizes were talked over informally nothing definite will be done in that connection till later in the season. All the members of the committee were enthusiastic and look forward to some new records being made at the Red Lake Falls meet.

F. A. Grady, acting chairman of the executive committee, was called upon and he thanked the Crookston department for their welcome, for the entertainment provided and for the help which they promised. He told several interesting incidents which had happened at Red Lake Falls during his service as a fire-fighter, the most touching of which was the story of the death of the Martell family which happened over a year ago. He concluded by extending a hearty invitation to the Crookston department and Crookston citizens generally to attend the next tournament at Red Lake Falls.

The tournament this year should eclipse all former meets of the association in point of attendance. Red Lake Falls is almost exactly in the center of the territory embraced by the association and has a bunch of towns and country surrounding to draw from.

Further than this, the reputation of the "Falls" as the home of royal entertainers is wide-spread, and hundreds of valley people will take this opportunity of visiting "The Gem of the Valley" for the first time.

The local fire department will be ably assisted by the citizens in their tremendous task of perfecting all the details for this gathering, and while the amount of work will be enough to scare most towns, yet it is a safe predition that when the first visitor arrives here on the 18th of June next, he will find every tiny detail of arrangements completed.

The department already has committees at work, and auxillaries will be added as fast as needed so that the whole task of getting ready for the gathering will be carried out systematically and with a view to the comfort and enjoyment of the visitors.

Red Lake Falls is an ideal spot for a meeting of this kind, and an effort will be made to show every visitor the time of his life from the minute he arrives until the time he is obliged to depart.

It is the duty of every citizen to emblazon upon the minds of all strangers with whom they may come in contact from now henceforth, that June 18, 19, 20, 21 will be important dates in the 1907 calendar—and especially urge the entire community to be here in full force.

Red Lake Falls is in the limelight from this on. Pull together that she may acquit herself creditably.

Want New Town.

A petition signed by Joseph Johnson, et al., of Erie, has been filed with County Auditor O'Brien, praying that the unorganized township 153-39 be organized as a town, and the matter will come before the county commissioners at their meeting Tuesday of next week. Mr. Johnson wants the new town named Zenith, but several other names have also been suggested, some wanting Erie, others Leiland and still others, Equity. 153-39 is the center town of the three unorganized towns on the reservation and when the organization of this town is complete it will leave but two unorganized towns in the county. The commissioners will take up the matter next week, and the petition will without doubt be favorably acted upon.

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Got Thirty Days.

Chas. Klose, a Thief Riverite, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by the municipal court of the up-river town yesterday, and Deputy Sheriff Isaacson went up on the morning train to bring him down to hotel de Nelson. Klose has been in limbo on several different occasions, and this time he gets soaked a little harder than usual. It appears that every time Charley gets in too close contact with the tanglefoot bottle (which happens quite often) he gets an idea in his head that his family needs extermination, and he proceeds to try it to the best of his ability. It is thought that his thirty day sojourn behind the bars here will give him an opportunity to think matters over, and conclude to do better in the future.

Use a little KODOL after your meals and it will be found to afford a prompt and efficient relief. KODOL nearly approximates the digestive juices. It digests what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan. Sold here by all druggists.

FARMER GOES CRAZY.

James Nelson, of Lake Pleasant, Committed to Insane Hospital.

Word was brought to town Monday forenoon that James Nelson, living just west of the Paul Schoenauer farm in Lake Pleasant township, had become violently insane the night before.

Sheriff Nelson and Fred Zaiser drove out at once and brought the unfortunate fellow to town, where he was taken before Judge of Probate Tarrant and committed to the hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls.

Nelson was one of the most violently insane persons ever sent from this county, and it took a couple of husky men to care for him most of the time. He seemed to have a decided aversion to big men, and would constantly spit at every one who came within his reach. Joseph Belair accompanied accompanied Sheriff Nelson on the trip to Fergus, and the two had a decidedly hard time of it before they got the unfortunate patient safe in the hospital.

It seems that Nelson has brooded over his misfortunes a great deal of late, with the result that his mind finally gave way under the strain. He was a hard-working, honest farmer, but was another victim of the "system" and his mind was not strong enough to stand up under the long row of disappointments and hardships encountered.

Nelson has a wife and two children who are left without the protection of the father and husband, but it is generally understood that they are in fair circumstances and will not at least want for the necessities of life. It is hoped that the treatment at the hospital will greatly benfit the unfortunate fellow, and that he will soon be completely cured.

The case was one of the saddest in the history of the county.

Grand Masquerade Ball.

Plummer Pioneer: The local camp of the M. W. of A. has made arrangement to give a grand masquerade ball in the Reed's hall in Plummer on next Saturday evening, the 23rd inst. They will give some handsome prizes for the best costumed lady and gentleman and also for the most comically dressed couple. Freund's orchestra from Red Lake Falls has been engaged to furnish the music for the occasion. The dancing will begin at 9 o'clock sharp and unmasking will take place at midnight. A fine supper will be served at Hotel Scotland at midnight and every arrangement will be made for the comfort and convenience of those who attend. The price of tickets for the ball is $1.00. When the Woodmen do things you know they are done right so be sure to attend and bring your friends.

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

CONCERT WILL BE FINE

Excellent Entertainment In Store For Red Lake Falls People Tomorrow Evening.

Tomorrow (Friday) evening at the Metropolitan will occur the regular monthly concert of the Red Lake Falls Concert band, and with the assistance rendered the local organization by the famous Elks' Quartette of Crookston, the program will be one that will delight the people beyond expression.

The program prepared by the band is a varied one, and contains many delightful numbers. The beautiful selection, "Amorita," is on, and is one of the finest numbers ever rendered by the organization. The famous overture to "Poet and Peasant," is also on the program, and this is considered as one of the heaviest and best selections written for band.

Prof. Bruckman is down for a clarinet solo, the "Second Air Varie," considered one of the prettiest and most difficult solos for clarinet ever published. Herr Bruckman is an artist on the clarinet, and this feature of the program will be something out of the ordinary.

The local orchestra is down for a number—it will surely be good. Harry Healy will play the old favorite song, "Old Black Joe," with difficult variations as a trombone solo.

The Elks' Quartette will furnish two or more pleasing numbers, and those who have never had the opportunity of hearing this bunch of singers, should embrace this opportunity to turn out and hear them.

Altogether the concert will be one of especial merit, and every seat in the large hall should be filled by the people of Red Lake Falls, thereby showing appreciation of the efforts of the band to give choice entertainments.

The following is the program:

PART I.

March.................... Selected

Overture................ von Suppe

"Poet and Peasant."

Waltz..................... Bailey

"Auf Wiedersehn."

Clarinet Solo............ Thornton

"Second Air Varie."

E. H. Bruckman.

Song..................... Selected

Elks' Quartette.

PART II.

Overture ....

"Bridal Rose."

Band Orchestra.

Trombone Solo............ Bennett

Air and Variations.

H. B. Healy.

Song..................... Selected

Elks' Quartette.

Selection................ Czibulka

"Amorita."

March.................... Selected

Nice assortment—from 150 to 200—of the latest Edison gold-mounted phonograph records, always on hand. Latest issued: all good. Buy your phonograph records from us.—Anderson & Waader.

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to emply in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank

Red Lake Falls Minnesota

FIRST STATE BANK

OF

RED : LAKE : FALLS : MINNESOTA

OFFERS YOU

PROMPT SERVICE
LIBERAL TREATMENT
ABSOLUTE SAFETY

We Extend the Accommodations of a Strong and Well-Equipped Bank

OFFICERS

CHAS. N. BOURDON, President
FRANK E. HUNT, Vice-President
THEO. GARCEAU, Cashier
GEO. F. HENNINGS, Asst. Cash.

DIRECTORS

Theo. Garceau Frank E Hunt
Chas. N. Bourdon
W. A. Schreiter A. P. Toupin
N. M. Watson Geo. F. Hennings

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER XII.—Continued.

"They moved down to Jackson county, Missouri, too," concluded his informant, thus adding to the flame. They had gone to set up their home in the very Zion that the Gentiles with so much bloodshed had wrested from the Saints.

Even when the first anger cooled and he could face the thing calmly in all its deeper aspects, he was still very bitter. While he had stanchly kept himself for her, cherishing with a single heart all the old memories of her dearness, she had been a wife these seven years,—the wife, moreover, of a mob leader whose minions had put them out of their home, and then wantonly tossed his father like a dead branch into the waters. She had loved this uniformed murderer—his little Prue—perhaps borne him children, while he, Joel Rae, had been all too scrupulously true to her memory, fighting against even the pleasant look at a woman; fighting—only the One above could know with what desperate valor—against the warm-hearted girl with the gray eyes and the red lips, who laughed in her knowledge that she drew him—fighting her away for a sentimental figment, until she had married another.

Now when he might have let himself turn to her, his heart freed of the image of that yellow-haired girl so long cherished, this other was the wife of Elder Pixley—the fifth wife—and an unloving wife as he knew.

She had sought him before the marriage, and there had been some wholly frank and simple talk between them. It had ended by his advising her to marry Elder Pixley so that she might be saved into the Kingdom, and by her replying, with the old reckless laugh, a little dry and strained, and with the wonderful gray eyes full upon him,—"Oh, I'll marry him! Small difference to me what man of them I marry at all,—now!"

And while he, by a mighty effort, had held down his arms and let her turn away, the woman for whose memory he did it was the wife of an enemy, caring nothing for his fidelity, sure to feel not more than amused pity for him should she ever know of it. Surely, it had been a brave struggle—for nothing.

But again the saving thought came that he was being tried for a purpose, for some great work. And now it seemed that the time of it must be near. As to what it was there could be little question: it must be to free his people forever from Gentile aggression or interference. Everything pointed to that. He was to be entrusted with great powers, and be made a Lion of the Lord to lead them to their rightful glory.

CHAPTER XIII.

How the Saints Were Brought to Repentance.

He put his torch to the tinder of irreligion at the first Sunday meeting after his return. There were no premonitions, no warnings, no signs.

A few of the Elders had preceded him to rejoice at the escape of the last hand-cart party from death in the mountains; and Brigham, after giving the newcomers some practical hints about their shelter during the winter now upon them, had invited Elder Rae to address the congregation.

He arose and came uncertainly forward, apparently weak, able hardly to stand without leaning upon the desk in front of him; his face waxen and drawn, hollowed at the cheeks and temples, his long hands thin to transparency. Life was betrayed in him only by the eyes. These burned darkly, far back under his brows, and flashed fiercely, as his glance darted swiftly from side to side.

At first he spoke weakly and slowly, his opening words almost inaudible, so that the throng of people before him leaned forward in sympathetic intentness, and silence became absolute in the great hall except for the high quavering of his tones. But then came a miracle of reinvigoration. Little by little his voice swelled until it was full, sonorous, richly warm and compelling, the words pouring from him with a fluency that enchained. Little by little his leaning, drooping posture of weakness became one of towering strength, the head flung back, the gestures free and potent. Little by little his burning eyes seemed to send their flash and glow through all his body, so that he became a creature of life and fire.

They heard each word now, but still they leaned forward as when he spoke at first inaudibly—caught thrilled and breathless in his spell, even to the Elders, Priests, and Apostles sitting near him. Nor was his manner alone [illegible]. His words were new. He was calling them sinners and covenant-breakers, guilty of pride, covetousness, contention, lying, stealing, moral uncleanness—and launching upon them the curse of Israel's God unless they should repent.

Such was the opening gun in what became known as the "reformation." The conditions had been ripe for it, and in that very moment a fever of repentance spread through the 2,000 people who had cowered under his words. Alike with the people below, the leaders about him had been fired with his spirit, and when he sat down each of them arose in turn and echoed his words, denouncing the people for their sins and exhorting them to repentance.

After another hour of this excitement, priests and people became alike demoralized, and the meeting broke up in a confusion of terror.

As the doors of the tabernacle flew open, and the Saints pushed out of that stifling atmosphere of denunciation, a cry came to the lips of the dozen that first escaped:

"To the river—the waters of baptism!"

The words were being taken up by others until the cry had run back through the crowd to the leaders, still talking in excited groups about the pulpit. These comprehended when they heard it, and straightway a line of conscience-stricken Saints was headed toward the river:

There in the icy Jordan, on that chill December afternoon, when the snows lay thick on the ground, the leaders stood and buried the sinful ones anew in the cleansing waters. From the sinners themselves came cries of self-accusation; from the crowd on the banks came the strains of hymns to fortify them for the icy ordeal and the public confession.

He Put Out His Arms and Drew Her to Him.

There in the freezing current stood Joel Rae until long after the December sun had gone below the Oquirrh hills, performing his office of baptism, and reviving hope in those his words had smitten with fear.

His strength already depleted by the long march with the hand-cart party and by the exhausting strain of the day, he was early chilled by the water into which he plunged the repentant sinners. For the last hour that he stood in the stream, his whole body was numb; he had ceased to feel life in his feet, and his arms worked with a mechanical stiffness like the arms of some automaton over which his mind had control.

Not until night fell did the hymns cease and the crowd dwindle away. The air grew colder, and he began to feel pain again, the water cutting against his legs like a blade. Little groups were now hurrying off in the darkness, and the last Saint he had baptized was standing for the moment, chill and dripping, on the bank.

Seeing there was no one else to come, he staggered out of the stream where he had stood for three hours, finding his feet curiously clumsy and uncontrollable. Below him in the stream another Elder still waited to baptize a man and woman; but those who had been above him in the river were gone, and his own work was done.

He had been hearing footsteps behind him, creaking rapidly over the packed snow-path. He might have to ask for help to reach his home. Even as the steps came close, he felt himself swaying. He leaned over on the fence, but to his amazement that swayed, too, and threw him back. Then he felt himself falling toward the street; but the creaking steps ceased, now by his side, and he felt under him something soft but firm—something that did not sway as the fence had unaccountably done. With his balance thus regained, he discovered the thing that held him to be a woman's arm. A woman's face looked close into his, and then she spoke.

"You are so cold. I knew you would be. And I waited—I wanted to do for you—let me!"

At once there came back to him the vision of a white-faced woman in the crowd along the river bank, staring at him out of deep, gray eyes under heavy, black brows.

"Mara—Mara!"

"Yes, yes—you are so cold!"

"But you must not stand so close—see, I am wet—you will be chilled!"

"But you are already chilled; your clothes are freezing on you; and you were falling just now. Can you walk?"

"Yes—yes—my house is yonder."

"I know; it's far; it's beyond the square. You must come with me."

"But your house is still farther!"

She had started him now, with a firm grasp of his arm, walking beside him in the deep snow, and trying to keep him in the narrow path.

"No—I am staying here with Hubert Plimon's two babies, while the mother has gone to Provo where Hubert lies sick. See—the light there. Come with me—here's the gate—you shall be warmed."

Slowly and with many stumblings, leaning upon her strong arm, he made his way to the cabin door. She pushed it open before him and he felt the great warm breath of the room rush out upon him. Then he was inside, swaying again uncertainly upon his feet. In the hovering light that came from the fireplace he saw the bed in the far corner where the two small children were sleeping, saw Mara with her back to the door, facing him breathlessly, saw the heavy shadows all about; but he was conscious of hardly more than the vast heavenly warmth that rolled out from the fire and enfolded him and made him drunk.

Again he would have fallen, but she steadied him down on to a wide couch covered with buffalo robes, beside the big fireplace; and here he fell at once into a stupor. She drew out the couch so that it caught more of the heat, pulled off the water-soaked boots and the stiffened coat, wrapped him in a blanket which she warmed before the fire, and covered him still again with one of the buffalo robes.

She went then to bring food and to make a hot drink, which she strengthened with brandy poured from a little silver flask.

Presently she aroused him to drink the hot liquor, and then, after another blank of stupor, she aroused him again to eat. He could take but little of the food, but called for more of the drink, and felt the soul of it thrill along his frozen nerves until they awoke, sharpened, alert, and eager. He lay so, with closed eyes a little time, floating in an ecstasy that seemed to be half stupor and half of keenest sensibility. Then he opened his eyes. She was kneeling by the couch on which he lay. He felt her soft, quick breathing, and noted the unnatural shining of her eyes and lips where the firelight fell upon them. All at once he threw out his arms and drew her to him with such a shuddering rush of power that she cried aloud in quick alarm—but the cry was smothered under his kisses.

For ages the transport seemed to endure, the little world of his senses whirling madly through an illimitable space of sensuous light, his lips melting upon hers, his neck bending in the circle of pulsing warmth that her soft arms wove about it, his own arms crushing to his breast with frenzied fervor the whole yielding splendor of her womanhood. A moment so, then he fell back upon the couch, all his body quivering under the ecstasy from her parted lips, his triumphant senses rioting insolently through the gray, cold garden of his vows.

And then, as he lay so, there started with electric quickness, from some sudden coldness of recollection, the image of Prue. Sharp and vivid it shone from this chill of truth like a glittering star from the clean winter sky outside. Prue was before him with the tender blue of her eyes and the fleecy gold of her hair and her joy of a child—her little figure shrugging and nestling in his arms in happy faith—calling as she had called to him that morning—"Joel—Joel—Joel!"

He shivered in this flood of cold, relentless light, yet unflinchingly did he keep his face turned full upon the truth it revealed.

He sat up on the couch, looking about the little room curiously, as one recovering consciousness in strange surroundings. Then he began slowly to pull on the wet boots that she had placed near the fire.

When he stood up, put on his coat, and reached for his hat, she came to him, hesitating, timid.

"You are so cold! If you would only stay here—I am afraid you will be sick."

He answered very gently:

"It is better to go. I am strong again, now."

"I would—I would not be near you—and I am afraid for you to go out again in the cold."

He smiled a little. "Nothing can hurt me now—I am strong."

He opened the door, breathing his fill of the icy air that rushed in. He stepped outside, then turned to her. She stood in the doorway, the light from the room melting the darkness about them.

They looked long at each other. Then in a sudden impulse of gratitude, of generous feeling toward her, he put out his arm and drew her to him. She was cold, impassive. He bent over and lightly kissed her closed, unresponding lips. As he drew away, her hand caught his wrist for a second.

"I'm glad!" she said.

He tried to answer, but could only say, "Good night, Mara!"

Then he turned, drew the wide collar of his coat well up, and went down the narrow path through the snow. She stood, framed in the light of the doorway, leaning out to look after him until he was lost in the darkness.

As she stepped back and closed the door, a man, who had halted by a tree in front of the next house when the door first opened, walked on again.

It had been a great day, but, for one cause or another, it came near to being one of the last days of the man who had made it great.

Late the next afternoon, Joel Rae was found in his cabin by a messenger from Brigham. He had presumably lain there unattended since the night before, and now he was delirious and sick unto death; raving of the sins of the Saints, and of his great work of reformation. So tenderly sympathetic was his mind, said those who came to care for him, that in his delirium he ranked himself among the lowest of sinners in Zion, imploring them to take him out and bury him in the waters of baptism so that he might again be worthy to preach them the Word of God.

He was at once given every care, and for six weeks was not left alone night or day; the good mothers in Israel vying with each other in kindly offices for the sick Elder, and the men praying daily that he might not be taken so soon after his great work had begun.

The fifth wife of Elder Pixley came once to sit by his bedside, but when she heard him rave of some great sin that lay black upon his soul, beseeching forgiveness for it while the tears rained down his fevered face, she had professed that his suffering sickened her so she could not stay. Thereafter she had contented herself with inquiring at his door each day—until the day when they told her that the sickness was broken; that he was again rational and doubtless would soon be well. After that she went no more; which was not unnatural, for Elder Pixley was about to return from his three years' mission abroad, and there was much to do in the community-house in preparation for the master's coming.

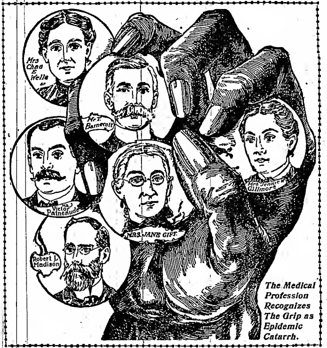
But the long sickness of the young Elder did not in any manner stay the great movement he had inaugurated. From that first Sunday the reformation spread until it had reached every corner of the new Zion. The leaders took up the accusing cry,—the Elders, Bishops, High Priests, and Counselors. Missionaries were appointed for the outlying settlements, and meetings were held daily in every center, with a general renewing of covenants.

Brigham, who had warmly seconded Joel Rae's opening discourse, was now, not unnaturally, the leader of the reformation, and in his preaching to the Saints while Joel Rae lay sick he committed no faults of vagueness. For profane swearing he rebuked his people: "You Elders in Israel will go to the canyons for wood, get a little brush-whipped, and then curse and swear—damn and curse your oxen and swear by Him who created you. You rip and curse as bad as any pirates ever did!"

For the sin of cattle-stealing he denounced them. A fence high enough to keep out cattle-thieves, he told them, must be high enough to keep out the Devil.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP—RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.



The Medical Profession Recognizes The Grip as Epidemic Catarrh.

EFFECTIVE MEDICINE FOR LA GRIPPE.

Robt. L. Madison, A. M., Principal of Cullowhee High School, Painter, N. C., writes: "Peruna is the most effective medicine that I have ever tried for la grippe. It also cured my wife of nasal catarrh. Her condition at one time was such that she could not at night breathe through her nostrils."

LA GRIPPE AND SYSTEMIC CATARRH.

Mrs. Jennie W. Gilmore, Box 44, White Oak, Ind. Ter., writes:

"Six years ago I had la grippe, followed by systemic catarrh. The only thing I used was Peruna and Manalin, and I have been in better health the last three years than for years before."

Mrs. Jane Gift, Athens, Ohio, writes: "Six years ago I had la grippe very bad. My husband bought me a bottle of Peruna. I was soon able to do my work."

SUFFERED TWELVE YEARS FROM AFTER EFFECTS OF LA GRIPPE.

Mr. Victor Patneaude, 328 Madison St., Topeka, Kan., writes:

"Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and I never really recovered my health until two years ago. I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again."

PNEUMONIA FOLLOWED LA GRIPPE.

Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes:

"Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well."

PE-RU-NA—A TONIC AFTER LA GRIPPE.

Mrs. Chas. E. Wells, Sr., Delaware, Ohio, writes: "After a severe attack of la grippe, I took Peruna and found it a very good tonic."

Wonder of Plant Memory.

Plant memory is a problem for the inquisitive botanist, says the Dundee Advertiser. In 1901 a plant allied to the squash and pumpkin was taken to New York from the desert of Sonora, in Mexico, and since then it has been kept—without watering—in a strange climate 3,600 miles from home. During the six weeks of rain in the desert the plant grows its leaves and flowers and perfects its seed. Then it dries up and leaves only a water-filled gourd, which a thick, hard shell seals against animals and evaporation. The transplanted specimen still remembers the rainy season of six weeks. It wakes, sends out rootlets, stems and leaves, and then dries up again until the following year.

Of Interest to Women.

Every woman naturally should be healthy and strong, but a great many women, unfortunately, are not, owing to the unnatural condition of the lives we lead. Headache, backache and a general tired condition are prevalent amongst the women of to-day, and to relieve these conditions women rush to the druggists for a bottle of some preparation supposed to be particularly for them, and containing—nobody knows what. If they would just get a box of Brandreth's Pills, and take them regularly every night for a time, all their trouble would disappear, as these pills regulate the organs of the feminine system. The same dose always has the same effect, no matter how long they are used.

Brandreth's pills have been in use for over a century, and are for sale everywhere, plain or sugar-coated.

Saved by a Song.

A boy was amusing himself by watching the birds that were flying around him. At length a beautiful bobolink perched on a rough bough of an apple tree near by.

The boy picked up a stone, and got ready to throw it at the bird. The bird's throat swelled, and forth came the song: "A-link, a-link, a-link, bobo-ling, bobolink, a-no-sweet, a-no-sweet, I know it, I know it, a-link, a-link; don't throw it, throw it, throw it!"

And the boy did not throw the stone, but dropped it on the ground.

"Why didn't you stone him, my boy? You might have killed him and carried him home."

The little fellow looked up and replied, "Couldn't 'cos he sang so."—Puck.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A Safety Clutch.

A father sent his son to a drug store the other day to buy some antiseptic tablets. He wrote as follows: "A small bottle of antiseptic tablets; no carbolic acid! no iodoform! possibly what the surgeons use when performing an operation to purify a bowl of water." The druggist wrote back: "Cannot sell what you want to a minor; the adult must call in person and sign the poison register."

Work and Pray.

When we pray for any virtue, we should cultivate the virtue as well as pray for it; the form of your prayer should be the rule of your life; every petition to God is a precept to man. Look not, therefore, upon your prayers as a method of good and salvation only, but as a perpetual motion of duty. By what we require of God we see what He requires of us.—Jeremy Taylor.

Some valuable farthings were sold at Sotheby's auction rooms (London) recently. A Charles II. pewter farthing sold for $50, and an Oliver Cromwell farthing in copper for $45.

STILL MORE PROOF

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Have Cured Even the Most Stubborn Cases of Rheumatism.

"When I was a boy of sixteen," says Mr. Otto H. Rose, a retired grocer, of 1226 Lexington Avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., "I met with a serious accident which injured the bone of my head over the right eye. I recovered from the accident to all appearances, but not many years after I began to have intense pains in the injured bone, which came on every year and would last from a few days to several weeks.

"I consulted the doctors who told me that I was suffering from neuralgia. The sight of my right eye was affected, so that at times I could scarcely see out of it, while both eyes watered constantly. During these attacks I was often dizzy from the terrible pains. The pains came on every morning and passed away in the afternoon. I never suffered from the pain at night.

"I tried without success to get relief until a friend told me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I had taken a few boxes I felt the pain growing less intense and in a much shorter time than I had hoped for I was entirely cured. I have recommended the pills to several persons, who have used them with good results.

"My wife uses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for nervous headaches and finds them the best medicine she has ever used as they give relief where all others fail."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

An instructive booklet, entitled "Nervous Disorders," will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Lots Each $50

Only $5 a Month

SAVAGE'S
FIRST ADDITION TO MINNEAPOLIS

Just south of the city limits, on PORTLAND AVENUE, the most beautiful residence street in the city. Lots three feet above grade, perfectly level and in a fine grove. The most delightful suburb around the city, BEAUTIFUL of the NORTHWEST. Invest now and get the benefit of our WINTER PRICES, as they will double before Spring, for we are going to build up this choice residence portion of the city.

EACH PURCHASE BY MAIL will be allotted in the order the remittance is received. You can depend upon equal treatment with anyone on the ground.

PRICE $50 PER LOT

Payable $5 down and $5 per month, until the full sum is paid.

TITLE GUARANTEED, and perfect abstract furnished on completion of payment. We refer you to Minnesota National Bank and Central Avenue Bank, of Minneapolis. Satisfaction guaranteed.

WRITE US TO-DAY.

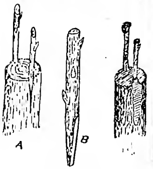
Make all checks, postoffice money orders, express orders payable to SAVAGE & COMPANY, Railway Building, - MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA.

HORTICULTURE

PRUNING—TOP-GRAFTING.

How Poor Grade of Fruit Trees Can Be Greatly Improved.

Upon the style of pruning in the nursery row depends largely the future shape of the tree. The present tendency is to head apples low and to open up the center of the trees as much as possible. Low heading brings the fruit nearer the ground, making it much more convenient to spray and harvest, while the open center admits sunlight, which gives color to the fruit and assists in controlling diseases. To prune for this shape, start the head about two feet from the ground, allowing four or five branches to grow, and prune so as to throw them away from the center rather than toward it, by cutting out most of the shoots which lead toward the center. The main feature of nursery pruning is to select the right branches. No two should be left to grow which are directly opposite. They make a weak top and are always liable to split down. A good rule says: "Leave the branch that joins the trunk, as the thumb does the hand and never let one of two which join like the fingers."



Top Grafting.

Top grafting is used to convert large trees bearing worthless fruit into desirable trees, says Farmers' Voice. The process is simple, but, like root grafting, requires experience for complete success. To top graft a tree saw off limbs where they are one inch or a little more in diameter. Carefully split the stock with a strong knife by driving it with a mallet. Then drive a wedge in the center to keep the cleft open with scions of the desired variety, which have been previously prepared, are inserted (A), the wedge is then removed and the wound and ends of the scions covered with grafting wax to keep out the air (C).

Scions used in top grafting (B) are about two inches long, having one or more buds and made wedge shaped at the lower end. In inserting the scion care must be taken that its cambium layer coincides with that of the stock or no growth will result. Several limbs should be left ungrafted the first year to insure a healthy growth of the tree. They may be grafted the next year. In three years all the old fruit bearing wood may be removed, leaving only that of the desired variety, and if care is taken a shapely tree will result. This style of grafting is often resorted to to improve the shape of the trees. It is done in early spring before the buds start.

MULCHING THE ORCHARD.

A Task Which Will Reap the Reward In More Fruit.

Trees need food in order to do their best, for a tree is simply a big plant and so needs more food than thousands of little plants. A tree that will produce 40 bushels of apples during a good apple year, and say an average of 25 bushels every year, is certainly taking more from the soil than it can return. Yet so many farmers persist not only in giving such a tree no food but in cutting and hauling away all the material that grows near it. No wonder the tree ceases to yield remunerative crops.

Let him give such trees a mulch of stable manure during the winter months. Scatter it thickly and in a circle reaching somewhat beyond the limbs. If the orchard is to be cultivated, Orange Judd Farmer suggests that it be plowed under the next spring. If not, let it lie as a mulch. At any rate, do not attempt to grow another crop in a large orchard unless it is to be left on the ground. A few years' fertilizing, with pruning and spraying, will render the old orchards the most remunerative lot on the farm. If the orchard is young and the ground rich the mulch would better be of straw or coarse manure, and applied more for protection and to hold moisture than for fertilizer.

Purple Raspberries.

Purple raspberries are intermediate in character between red raspberries and black raspberries. They are supposed to be hybrids between these two species. They show all gradations in habit between the two parent types, some being propagated by suckers, others by tips, and still others by either tips or suckers. The color of the fruit is usually a light or dark purple. Of the varieties described, says Farm Journal, only two, Columbian and Shaffer, at the present time appear to have any commercial value.

ONE DAY BEHIND SCHEDULE.

Boston Business Man Wanted to Take Time to Catch Up.

Several years ago, when the University of Chicago held its decennial celebration, John D. Rockefeller was its guest for several days. A bewildering succession of functions followed one another in such quick succession that each affair was from one to four hours late.

At the great banquet on the closing day, Mr. Rockefeller, in his after-dinner speech, told the following story:

"I have felt for the past 24 hours like the Boston business man who lived in the suburbs and came in to his office every day. One winter afternoon he took the train for his home, but a terrific snowstorm was raging, and about half way to his suburb the train was snowed in. All night the passengers were imprisoned, but early in the morning they managed to reach a near-by telegraph station, and the Boston man sent the following dispatch to his office:

"'Will not be in the office to-day. Have not got home yesterday yet.'"—Montreal Herald.

MIX THIS AT HOME.

Valuable Prescription Which Anyone Can Easily Prepare.

The following simple home-made mixture is said to readily relieve and overcome any form of Rheumatism by forcing the Kidneys to filter from the blood and system all the uric acid and poisonous waste matter, relieving at once such symptoms as backache, weak kidneys and bladder and blood diseases.

Try it, as it doesn't cost much to make, and is said to be absolutely harmless to the stomach.

Get the following harmless ingredients from any good pharmacy: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

This simple mixture is said to give prompt relief, and there are very few cases of Rheumatism and Kidney troubles it will fail to cure permanently.

These are all harmless, every-day drugs, and your druggist should keep them in the prescription department; if not, have him order them from the wholesale drug houses for you, rather than fail to use this, if you are afflicted.

A Precious Heritage.

Sweetness of temper is a precious heritage. It gives beauty to everything. It keeps its windows open towards the spice country, and fills the home with perpetual delight. The fortunate possessor of a sunny soul is God's evangel in a dark world. He is a living Gospel, which no one will ever repudiate, and the blessedness of which all men will appreciate. The body will grow old and the smooth brow will be furrowed, but a happy disposition is an aureole to the grey crown of age. Blessed is he whose life looks out upon the land of Beulah, and whose soul is responsive to the outlying vision."—Exchange.

Strenuous Treatment.

"Grandpa had the lumbago the other day."

"Indeed! What did they do for him!"

"Oh, they used the old-fashioned remedies. They soaked his feet in a tub and put ten home-made plasters and poultices on him. Then they dosed him with herb teas until he was red as a beet. After the lumbago was gone they put him in bed and sent for the doctor."

"Gracious, what did they need the doctor for?"

"Why, to cure him of the effects of the old-fashioned remedies."

Patriotic Colors.

"How is the baby, Mrs. A.?"

"Oh, I am dreadfully worried about him. You see, that careless nurse left him too near the steam radiator and he actually turned red."

"Gracious!"

"Then we rushed him out in the cool air and he turned white."

"You don't mean it?"

"Yes, and when we gave him his bath he turned blue."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry over him. He is just a genuine American baby. Hurrah for the 'Red, White and Blue.'"

GUIDES CHILDREN.

Experience and a Mother's Love Make Advice Valuable.

An Ills. mother writes about feeding children:

"If mothers would use Grape-Nuts more for their little ones, there would be less need for medicines and fewer doctor bills.

"If those suffering from indigestion and stomach troubles would live on Grape-Nuts, toast and good milk for a short period they would experience more than they otherwise would believe.

"Our children have all learned to know the benefit of Grape-Nuts as an appetizing, strengthening food. It is every evening, with few variations, like this: 'Mamma, let's have toast and Grape-Nuts for breakfast; or, let's have eggs and Grape-Nuts'—never forgetting the latter.

"One of our boys in school and 15 years of age repeatedly tells me his mind is so much brighter after having Grape-Nuts as a part if not all his breakfast." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

WORKS IN THE GARDEN.

Eighty-Seven Years Old, But Has a Sound Back.

Robert Scollan, 87 years old, of 55 Garden St., Seneca Falls, N. Y., a fine, sturdy old gentleman, who works in his own garden, gives thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills for his sound back and kidneys. Mrs. Goetchious, his daughter, says: "Father had a severe attack of kidney trouble and lumbago, which caused him much suffering. He began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was soon cured. We always keep them on hand. My husband was cured of bad pains in the back by taking only part of a box."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Used Him as Eraser.

The late Dr. Henry Martyn Field some years ago related at a Williams alumni dinner a rather amusing incident of his freshman days at college. Being only 12 years old when he entered he had not reached the point where the natural friction between the big boy and the small boy ceases and he was at particular feud with one of his fellows, a stalwart country youth fresh from the farm. One day young Field went early to the classroom and put upon the big blackboard a very exasperating caricature of his enemy, with his name beneath. When the aggrieved party saw what had been done he said not a word, but catching up his youthful tormentor, he used him as an eraser and after rubbing out the offensive picture quietly took his seat.

NO RELIEF FROM ECZEMA

For Over Two Years—Patent Medicines, Quack Cures, and Doctors Fail—Cuticura Succeeds.

"I was very badly afflicted with eczema for more than two years. The parts affected were my limbs below the knees. I tried all the physicians in the town and some in the surrounding towns, and I also tried all the patent remedies that I heard of, besides all the cures advised by old women and quacks, and found no relief whatever until I commenced using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. In the Cuticura Remedies I found immediate relief, and was soon sound and well. C. V. Beltz, Tippecanoe, Ind., Nov. 15, '05."

Henry Clay and Lew Wallace.

"Mr. Clay was of a personality once seen never to be forgotten. Tall, slender, graceful, he had besides the air majestic which kings affect, imagining it exclusive property.

"Throughout Mr. Clay's performance my eyes scarcely left his countenance, which, as he proceeded, sank from sight until, by the familiar optical illusions, nothing of it remained but the mouth, and that kept enlarging and widening until it seemed an elastic link holding the ears together. Indeed, at this late writing, my one distinct recollection of the man and his speech is the mouth and its capacity for infinite distension."—Autobiography of Lew Wallace.

A Big Bargain for 12 Cents Postpaid.

The year of 1906 was one of prodigal plenty on our seed farms. Never before did vegetable and farm seeds return such enormous yields.

Now we wish to gain 200,000 new customers this year and hence offer for 12c postpaid

1 pkg.	Garden City Beet	10c
1 "	Earliest Ripe Cabbage	10c
1 "	Earliest Emerald Cucumber	15c
1 "	La Crosse Market Lettuce	15c
1 "	13 Day Radish	10c
1 "	Blue Blood Tomato	15c
1 "	Juicy Turnip	10c
1000	kernels gloriously beautiful flower seeds	15c
	Total	$1.00

All for 12c postpaid in order to introduce our warranted seeds, and if you will send 16c we will add one package of Berliner Earliest Cauliflower, together with our mammoth plant, nursery stock, vegetable and farm seed and tool catalog. This catalog is mailed free to all intending purchasers. Write to-day.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box W, La Crosse, Wis.

Valuable Relics Unearthed.

Jerusalem papers report that on the opening of graves at Pergamos a number of rare relics were brought to light. In one grave lay a golden rosary. In two other tombs wreaths were found, representing artistically-made gold imitations of oak leaves. A wolf's head in gold was discovered, as well as various farming utensils, swords and other weapons. The antiquities were sent to the Museum of Constantinople.

It Cures While You Walk.

Allen's Foot-Ease is a certain cure for hot, sweating, callous, and swollen, aching feet. Sold by all druggists. Price 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Trial package FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Be courteous in business. Manners are as necessary to business as polish is to a parquet floor.

Panthers and Grizzly Bears.

Ship Furs Pelts McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn. Write for prices.

Graft often goes about disguised as a business opportunity.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

A tight man and a loose dog are equally dangerous.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

A lazy man is a dead loss to himself.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES color more goods, per package, than others, and the colors are brighter and faster.

While man wants but little here below, he never gets quite enough.

For Prices on Poultry,

either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, St. Paul, Minn.

Sometimes a woman's face overdoes it in the matter of telling her age.

We Pay the Highest Price

for butter fat in cream. Write for price. Milton Dairy Co., St. Paul.

Our idea of a selfish person is one who is unable to remember a favor.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

No one is so insignificant as to be sure his example can do not hurt.—Lord Clarendon.

We Pay Top Price for Cream.

Cash every day. Write for prices and tags. Miller & Holmes, St. Paul, Minn.

A man's idea of good luck is any old kind that leaves him a few dollars ahead of the other fellow's game.

For a time, take Nature's medicine, Garfield Tea; it cleanses the system, purifies the blood and insures a normal action of liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels. Made of Herbs.

A kind thought toward a fellow mortal has but little virtue in it if it be not transmuted into a generous deed.—Rev. J. L. Spalding.

How to Trap Wild Animals.

40-page trap book illustrated, picture 46 wild animals in natural colors, also barometer & calendar, also gun & trap catalog, also prices on raw furs. All sent post paid for 10c stamps or silver. FREE to those who ship to, or buy of us. Address Fur Dept., N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

A Man of High Principle.

Scotsman up for the week end (who has been asked by his friend to go to a music hall.)—Na, na, man! D'ye no ken I never visit a music hall on th' Saturday—for fear I should laugh in th' kirk on th' Sawbath?—London Opinion.

THREE EPOCHS IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

MRS. ELVA BARBER EDWARDS MRS. GEORGE WALTERS

There are three critical stages in a woman's life which leave their mark in her career. The first of these stages is womanhood, or the change from a care free girl to budding womanhood. The second is motherhood, and the third is Change of Life.

Perils surround each of these stages, and most of the misery that comes to women through ill health dates from one or another of these important crises.

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs has carried thousands of young girls over the critical period of puberty, has prepared mothers for childbirth, and in later years carried them safely through the change of life more successfully than any other remedy in the world. Thousands of testimonials from grateful persons, two of which are here published, substantiate this fact beyond contradiction.

Mrs. George Walters of Woodlawn, Ill. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell you of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me in preparing for childbirth. After suffering and losing my children a friend advised me to try your valuable medicine, and the result was that I had very little inconvenience, a quick recovery and as healthy a child as can be found anywhere. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a blessing to all expectant mothers."

Mrs. Elva Barber Edwards of Cathlamet, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I want to tell you how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carried me through the critical period of the Change of Life without any trouble whatever, also cured me of a very severe female weakness, I cannot say enough in praise of what your medicine has done for me."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Edwards it will do for other women in their condition. Every suffering woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and helpful.

During its long record of more than thirty years its long list of actual cures, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes Sick Women Well.

MASURY'S HOUSE PAINTS

WILL WITHSTAND THE RAVAGES OF TIME

THE perfection attained by Masury's House Paints during the sixty-five years they have been in use is due to the great care with which the ingredients are selected and proportioned.

The pigments employed are ground in Pure Linseed Oil by specially constructed machinery which assures uniformity in consistency and color.

They are superior in covering capacity, preservative qualities and durability of finish. These established points of excellence make them at once the safest and most economical paints to buy.

In determining this matter of suitable paints you must remember that it costs as much to cover your house with poor paint as it does to cover it with the best, and that inasmuch as Masury's House Paints defer repainting for the longest possible period, they are the proper paints to buy. Because by their great endurance the original cost is of slight moment. Manufactured by

John W. Masury & Son, New York and Chicago

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

A Positive CURE FOR CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm

Is quickly absorbed.
Gives Relief at Once.

It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts. at Druggists or by mail; Trial size 10 cts. by mail.

Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?

Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postcard to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. 6, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the

SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free

and it will be sent you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.

PARLOR ORGAN ECHOS A choice collection of instrumental and vocal music, for Organ or Piano. Book 1—21 pieces, 25c. Book 2—24 pieces, 25c. Book 3—26 pieces, 25c. To introduce these beautiful collections a copy of either book will be sent postpaid on receipt of 15 cents, stamps or coin. WM. A. POND & CO., 146 5th Ave., New York.

VIRGINIA FARMS and HOMES

FREE CATALOGUE of Splendid Bargains.
R. B. CHAFFIN & CO., Inc., RICHMOND, VA.

FROST

BITES

For winter irritations of the skin, eczemas, rashes, frost bites, chappings, chafings, itchings, redness and roughness, especially of face and hands, for lameness and soreness incidental to winter sports, for sanative, antiseptic cleansing, for baby rashes, itchings, and chafings, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery, Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, is priceless. Guaranteed absolutely pure, and may be used from the hour of birth.

Sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; India, B. K. Paul, Calcutta; China, Hong Kong Drug Co.; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; South Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, etc.; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. ☞ Post-free, Cuticura Booklet, 48 pages.

Fertile Farming

LANDS

Cheap
Easy Terms

In the Best Section of the South

Unexcelled for General Farming, Stock Raising, Berries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Cantaloupes, Strawberries, Peaches, Apples, Grapes, etc., give handsome returns.

Cattle need but little winter feed.

HEALTHY CLIMATE.
GOOD WATER.
LONG GROWING SEASON.

Address G. A. PARK, Gen. Im. & Ind'l Agt.

Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

NEW WHEAT LANDS IN THE CANADIAN WEST

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

5,000 additional miles of railway this year have opened up a largely increased territory to the progressive farmers of Western Canada and the Government of the Dominion continues to give ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY ACRES FREE to every settler.

THE COUNTRY HAS NO SUPERIOR

Coal, wood and water in abundance; churches and schools convenient; markets easy of access; taxes low; climate the best in the northern temperate zone. Law and order prevails everywhere.

For advice and information address the SUPERINTENDENT OF IMMIGRATION, Ottawa, Canada, or any authorized Canadian Government Agent.

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. Machlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

Croup

is the mother's nightly dread for her little ones. It may cause spasmodic contraction of the throat muscles, and strangle a child unless prompt relief is gotten. The relaxing power of our has saved more lives than any other remedy in cases of croup, when used as directed in the wrapper of each bottle. Our method is free to mothers. 25 cents, three times as much 50 cents. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

GREGORY'S SEEDS are the kind you can depend on. Catalogue FREE. J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, MARBLEHEAD, MASS.

CHEAP LANDS Unexcelled for general farming, stock, dairying, fruits, truck, etc.; convenient to the very best markets and transportation facilities. Write nearest office for lists and publications. M. V. Richards, Land and Industrial Agent, Southern Ry. and Mobile & Ohio R. R., Washington, D. C. C. S. Chase, West. Agt., 224 Chemical Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

A. N. K.—G (1907—7) 2165.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Unionville, Missouri.

$1,000.00

For Any Substance Injurious to Health Found in

Calumet Baking Powder

"Best By Test"

The Only High Grade Baking Powder Sold at a Moderate Price.

Complies with all STATE and NATIONAL Pure Food Laws.

All Grocers Are Authorized to Guarantee This

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

REDUCE THE NUMBER.

In speaking of reapportionment the Minneapolis Journal says: "Reapportionment talk is in the air since the selection of the house committee, which was chosen by the district delegations. There is a strong hostile sentiment toward a reapportionment that will cut the senators out of two years' service, but it seems to be taken for granted that some kind of a reapportionment scheme will be worked through the house, and put up to the senators for action.

All the northern Minnesota members want reapportionment, and they are beginning to figure the thing out. Several members are already busy with copies of the last census report, paper and pencils.

There is already a strong talk of reducing the membership in both houses. Up to this time every reapportionment has been an increase, leaving the southern counties about the same old membership, and increasing the representation of the north. A limit has been reached, and no one proposes any further increase. Both houses are large enough, and it is a question whether they are not too large. The average state senate is not over fifty. Both chambers are filled now with members' desks, but that is the smallest consideration. Every additional member is a great added expense to the state directly and indirectly.

So there are just two courses left open for a reapportionment bill, the readjustment of districts on the basis of the present membership, or a reduction in membership. In either case the southern districts would suffer, and naturally they are opposed to reapportionment, tho some of the southern members are ready to vote for it as a matter of justice. But if there is a reduction in membership, the northern districts will not gain to any extent, and the bill will merely cut off membership from the south. The friends of reapportionment are beginning to think there is a better chance for that sort of a bill than for one that takes members from the south and gives them to the north. The southern part of the state will be less inclined to fight the change if the north does not gain membership.

A scheme creating about fifty senatorial districts is likely to be worked out, with provision for a hundred house members. This would cut off thirteen senators and nineteen representatives, by consolidating districts in the southern part of the state.

Sam Fullerton is to remain with the state game and fish commisssion as superintendent of fisheries. Sam will now take particular delight in looking for poachers among his enemies.

The Great Northern has ordered for this year's delivery 150 locomotives; 4000 large capacity cars and 1000 of 400,000 capacity coal and ore cars. The Northern Pacific has ordered for this year's delivery 165 locomotives and 6,600 freight cars.

Here is a minister who appreciates the editor. At a recent editoral convention he offered the following tosst: "To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his liberally. To save him from dispair, send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."

Prof. J. L. Haecker, of the Minnesota College of Agriculture and Experiment Station is quoted in an exchange as follows: "The dairy industry in the northwest is still in its infancy and we confidently look for even more rapid growth in the future than it has made in the past. The time is not distant when Minnesota alone will derive an annual income from this one industry of $30,000,000. We will not only invade the eastern but foreign market. We can produce better and cheaper butter than Denmark or any other country, for they all must look to America and especially to the northwest, for their food stuffs, and when ever we can convince the western grain grower that it is to his advantage to convert his surplus feed into feed into butter, ship the more concentrated product, realize the greater income and at the same time improve the fertility of his farm the change will surely be made."

Piles of people have Piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve and get relief. Nothing else so good. Beware of Imitations. See that the name is stamped on each box Sold by all druggists.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.---First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Is It Your Own Hair?

Do you pin your hat to your own hair? Can't do it? Haven't enough hair? It must be you do not know Ayer's Hair Vigor! Here's an introduction! May the acquaintance result in a heavy growth of rich, thick, glossy hair! Use this splendid hair-food, stop your falling hair, and get rid of your dandruff.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Petit Jurors.

Following is the list of petit jurors drawn for the March term of district court in Red Lake county:

Ole O. Lee, Equality.
Franz Raid, Lambert.
J. F. Mathews, Louisville.
Louis Lonson, Thief River Falls city.
Joseph Normandin, Red Lake Falls city.
Leon Schultz, Polk Center.
Matt Erickson, Highlanding.
George Weiss, Black River.
O. L. Larson, Sanders.
J. L. Higgius, Thief River Falls city.
John Larson, Equality.
N. E. Beebe, Rocksbury.
Magnus Vinberg, Numedal.
Joseph Perrault, Red Lake Falls city.
C. L. Hansen, St. Hilaire.
Paul Cyr, Red Lake Falls city.
Christ Larson, Smiley.
John Wahlback, Black River.
Fred Leslie, Kratka.
John Larson, Garnes.
Anton Sundahl, Thief River Falls city.
Ole Omoth, Wyandotte.
Lars Lee, Norden.
L. J. Parbst, Norden.

Willie wailed and Winnie wheezed, while wintry winds whined weirdly. Willie wriggled while Winnie wheezed wretchedly. Wisdom whispers, winter winds work wheezes. Wherefore we write, "Use Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup." Nothing else so good. Sold by all druggists.

Bray.

Christian Johnson of Minneapolis, arrived here for a visit with his brother, Iver Johnson.

Messrs Albert and Arthur Anderson drove to Euclid Friday.

C. P. Johnson and Iver Johnson transacted business at St. Hilaire Wednesday.

The last debate of the season was held as usual in the school house Friday evening. The subject, "Resolved that the Indians have suffered more in America than the Negro," was ably handled on both sides. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

Emil Eckstrom of Black River was in Bray Friday.

Messrs A. O. and E. J. Akerlund marketed grain in Wylie Friday.

Among the Brayites who were in St. Hilaire Saturday were Chas. Englund, C. P. Swanson and Iverson.

Chas. Lindquist made a trip to St. Hilaire Friday.

Christ Person transacted business at Wylie Friday.

Emil Larson has been wearing a happy smile on his face during the last week. The cause of it is is the arrival of a baby boy in his family. All concerned are doing well.

A liquid cold relief with a laxative principle which drives out the cold through a copious action of the bowels, and a healing principle which lingers in the throat and stops the coughs—that is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Safe and sure in its action; pleasant to take; and conforms to National Pure Food and Drug law. Contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

ORDER FOR CREDITORS TO PRESENT CLAIMS WITHIN THREE MONTHS.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Margaretta Walter, Deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of Margaretta Walter deceased, late of the city of Red Lake Falls in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, being granted to Phillip Walter

It appearing on proper proof by affidavit of Philip Walter made and filed herein, as provided by law, that there are are no debts against the estate of said Margaretta Walter deceased.

It is ordered, that three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date on this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased, if any there be, are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said county, for examination and allowance, or be forever barred.

It is further Ordered, That Monday, the twentieth (20th) day of May 1907, at ten o'clock a. m., at a special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the Court House in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, be and the same is hereby appointed as the time and place when and where the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And It Is Further Ordered, That notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate, by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Fall, Minnesota, the 18th day of February A. D. 1907.

By the Court,
N. W. TARRANT,
Judge of Probate.
[Seal]
f21-m7

When the Children come home from School

They usually want something from the pantry

You remember the hunger you had—Home cooking counts for much in the child's health; do not imperil it with alum food by the use of poor baking powder.

Have a delicious, pure, home-made muffin, cake or biscuit ready when they come in. To be sure of the purity, you must use

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Royal makes a difference in your home—a difference in your health—a difference in your cooking.

ROYAL is absolutely Pure.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞ House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

Badger

Miss Anne Quesnell returned home last Saturday after a pleasant visit with relatives and friends at Lich Pitack and Mentor. She was accompanied home by a number of friends from that vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Brule of Gentilly, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Robillard over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Adelard Laurent spent a few days with relatives at Terrebonne this week.

Mr. Joseph Ducharme who has been confined to his house for the past four months, drove out to the M. Quesnell and D. Champeau homes last week. Mr. Ducharme reports himself as feeling good and hopes that the warm days of spring will make a new man of him.

A. Laurent made a flying trip to Red Lake Falls, Monday.

Who got valentines? All of us?

M. Quesnell and wife, accompanied by F. LaBissoniere, spent Sunday evening at the O. Robillard home. Mr. and Mrs. W. Montreuil also spent the evening at that place.

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours

Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date

Give me a call.

New Barber Shop

I have opened up for business the

Kaufer Barber Shop and Bath .. Parlors ..

and respectfully ask the public to give me a call. Will guarantee the best of work and courteous treatment. I will appreciate your trade

E. A. NELSON

THE NEW BARBER

The Syracuse "Easy" Washer

A Few Reasons Why You ... Should Have One ...

It saves the clothes.

It saves precious time.

It saves physical force.

It saves in cost—no new tubs or boards to buy.

It washes cleaner and rinses better.

It is adapted to both heavy and light clothes.

We Have Sold Hundreds of these machines since we have had the agency—another good reason why you should have one. We wouldn't have sold so many if they weren't right. Remember we put them out on trial and the price is only ....

$8.00

Hunt Hardware Co.

SYRACUSE EASY
MADE BY DODGE & ZUILL PAT. MAR. 13. 1900 SYRACUSE, N.Y.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter presses, filing devices, etc. It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than any other. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

Horace Corbeil was in from Brooks today.

W. A. Schreiter was a business caller at Thief River Falls yesterday.

Frank Compton, a prominent Equality farmer, spent yesterday in the city on business.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

Mrs. Matt Maher, of Crookston, spent a couple of days here this week visiting with her sisters.

Ed. Enright went over to Grand Forks last evening for a several days' business and pleasure sojourn.

Miss Mary Keifenheim returned home yesterday from a visit with her friend, Mrs. Matt Maher, at Crookston.

Ira C. Richardson and son, Glen, were over-night visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl M. Hansen Friday night.

Miss Delina Lussier returned to her home at Brooks last Friday, after having spent three months in Red Lake Falls sewing.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kankel went down to Fertile Monday evening and spent the night with Mr. Kankel's parents who reside there.

Oliver Caron, came over from Crookston yesterday to spend the day here looking after business matters and visiting with his many friends.

N. K. Moen, formerly in the mercantile business at Garnes, spent Saturday renewing old acquaintances in this city. Mr. Moen is now living at McIntosh.

Mrs. H. E. Ives spent Monday night at the home of her parents here, while Harry transacted business at Crookston. Harry stopped over Tuesday and spent the day here.

Mrs. O. T. Tandberg came down from Thief River Falls Saturday evening and spent Sunday with her husband here. Mr. Tandberg will move his family here within the next few weeks.

Martin Fredrickson, of Pekin, North Dakota, spent Monday in the city visiting with his old-time friend, C. E. Peterson. Mr. Fredrikson was on his way to Thief River Falls to spend a week with friends.

Saturday was one of the finest February days that any country ever enjoyed, and the warm sunshine of that day made the big snow banks look decidedly sick. In fact the weather of the past ten days has been exceptionally fine for this season of the year, and there are many that are advancing the theory that spring is with us. That the spring break-up should come this early in the Red River valley would be indeed surprising, but the present tendency seems to be one of continued surprises, and any old thing may be accepted without a question now-a-days. The people of this part of the state would surely welcome spring should it decide to abide with us from now on.

'Phone 7—Groceries—SPILLANES.

County Attorney Germo was a professional caller at Crookston Monday evening.

Gene Bray was over from Crookston and spent Friday with his many friends here.

The Big Store advertises a "ribbon sale" in their advertising space in today's Gazette.

The famous Elks' Quartette will be a feature of tomorrow's band concert. Town out and hear them.

The delinquent tax list for Red Lake county is published in supplement form in today's Gazette.

Mrs. P. E. Pirath went up to St. Hilaire yesterday for a several days visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Ives.

Mrs. Ed. Bray and Mrs. Oliver Belair went to St. Hilaire Tuesday to spend the day with their sister, Mrs. Nap Miller.

Dr. Spofford will miss his visits for March and April, to Red Lake Falls. Next visit May 7. At Grand View Hotel.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Roy died yesterday after a brief illness. The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church this morning.

George Dixon, connected with the postoffice department, has spent several days in the city. Mr. Dixon formerly lived here and is well known to many of our people.

Tomorrow (Friday) is the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and in commemoration thereof the banks, postoffice, stores and other business places will be closed.

The Metropolitan opera house should be filled to over-flowing tomorrow evening—as the band concert and singing by the Elks Quartette will be the best heard here in long years.

Ole N. Skomedahl came in from Garnes Monday evening, and spent the night here. Tuesday morning he went to Thief River Falls, where he had some business matters to look after.

County Treasurer Tandberg reports that the personal tax collections are coming in rapidly and the treasurer is kept very busy as a result. Friday of next week is the last day for the payment of the personal property taxes before the penalty attach.

The Crookston lodge of Elks entertained at a social session at their hall in that city last evening, and a large number of Elks and guests from over the entire valley turned out. A large number of prominent Elks from different parts of the state were present at the function, and the session was a highly enjoyable one to all who attended. Elk Tracey, of this city, piloted a party of local guests down last evening and watched them carefully to keep them from being "hooked." Those who accompanied Mr. Tracey were J. J. Padden, H. H. Zaiser, Geo. F. Hennings, P. F. Pouliot, and H. W. Anderson. They returned this morning and reported a delightful time.

.. NEW ..

Spring Fabrics

Our winter stock is gradually disappearing and its place is being taken to display the many new and attractive fabrics in dress goods which are now arriving. The fabrics for the coming season are demanding considerable attention, for never before have we shown weaves and patterns so bewitchingly beautiful. You will find a decided advantage in making your selections early, for it will not only give you the entire line of dainty creations to select from, but will give you ample time to prepare them for Easter which comes unusually early this year ....

SPRING SUITINGS

PANAMA AND MOHAIR SUITINGS In the new tan and light brown shade, also red, green and grey from 60c a yard to 75c

HIGHER CLASS SUITINGS, in the new tan, checks and mixtures, suitable for street and party wear, pr yd $1 to $1.50

GINGHAMS

We have an extra fine assortment of LANCASTER and ZEPHYR GINGHAMS at 10c, 12½ and.............15c

A special discount of 25 per cent on all Skirts and Cloaks for one week.

Suesine Silk--the New Fabric

has just reached us, ask to see it.

THE BUSY STORE

Garceau & Zaiser

See Salley for your coal supply.

Orhan Hamry was a business caller at St. Hilaire Saturday.

Sheriff Nelson visited with Thief River Falls friends Saturday.

Edison phonographs for sale from $10 up.—Anderson & Wander.

Jack Pahlen was in from Plummer and spent Sunday with his many friends here.

Ed L. Healy spent Tuesday at Crookston, looking after some business matters.

Carl Krueger expects to leave Saturday for Antlers, North Dakota, after a two weeks' sojourn here.

Services will be held in the Norwegian Lutheran church tomorrow evening at 7:30, the Rev. I. T. Aastad presiding.

Attorney A. A. Miller, of Crookston was a visitor here last Friday, looking after some business before the probate court.

Mrs. Fred Morin left Monday evening for her home at Crookston, after a pleasant visit with her relatives and many friends here.

Rev. Father Ambrose went to St. Hilaire Saturday morning and held services in the Catholic church at that place Sunday. No services were held at St. Mary's on Sunday.

G. A. Kankel tells the Gazette readers about his "Monarch" malleable steel ranges in his advertising space in today's paper. The "Monarch" is one of the best ranges made, and Mr. Kankel invites the public's inspection of his line.

Dan Linnihan returned home last Thursday morning from a three weeks' visit with his parents and old time friends at Waseca, and other points in that part of the state. Dan enjoyed a pleasant trip, but was glad to get back home once more.

E. S. Ellsworth, of the firm of Ellsworth & Jones, Iowa Falls, Iowa, died there last week after a brief illness. This firm owned lots of landsand done a big farm loan business throughout this part of the state, and Mr. Ellsworth was quite well known to many of our people.

Henry Bray was over from Crookston and spent Friday with his parents and many friends here. Henry left Sunday night for Calgary, Canada, where he has accepted a situation in a barber shop. He is a first-class young man and will without doubt make a success in Calgary.

Spectator: 4,500 pounds of cream was received yesterday at the St. Hilaire creamery. This is the largest amount of cream ever received here in one day in the winter season and shows conclusively that there will be a decided increase in the output the coming year. This will make over 1,500 pounds of butter which will sell for nearly five hundred dollars. Pretty good for one day is it not?

Leo Spillane, of this city, has purchased the Calloway Boomer, a lively newspaper published at Calloway, Becker county, and assumed management last week. Leo is a good boy and has had sufficient newspaper training to make a success of the venture. His many friends here will hope that he may succeed far beyond his most modest expectations.

J. C. Mathews and other veterans of the civil war in this neighborhood who are past the age of 60 years, have received notice of an increase in pension, and hereafter Mr. Mathews will receive $12 per month for honorable service rendered the government in the days of need. The increase is well placed, as there are none as deserving of consideration as the "boys of the old brigade."

Ole O. Vattendahl, a prominent Highlanding farmer, spent Sunday and Monday in this city. Mr. Vattendahl was interviewing the people here regarding the sale of shares in the Red Lake River Transportation company. This company was organized by a number of Higlanding farmers for the purpose of building a boat for freight and passenger traffic on the Red Lake river. They are now selling shares in the company, and expect to commence work early in the spring to get the boat in operation as soon as possible. Mr. Vattendahl was quite successful here, and disposed of a large number of shares.

Mrs. S. M. Sivertson and Mrs. E. F. Marshall went over to Grand Forks last evening to witness the production of "Madam Butterfly" which was presented them by the Savage English company. This production has been all the rage throughout the eastern cities during the present season, and the Savage company presents it in a highly creditable manner. Later: It seems that their good intentions to attend this production failed to carry out, as on arriving at Crookston they found that the Duluth train was something over an hour late, and they remained at Crookston instead of going on to the Forks. Naturally they were decidedly angry this morning when they were informed that the operatic performance at the Forks had been held until after the arrival of the Duluth train. They didn't really swear—but The Gazette will bet a nickle that they felt like it.

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

Sheriff Nelson was a professional caller at Plummer Tuesday.

Don't fail to make early seat reservations for tomorrow nights' band concert.

Frank E. Hunt is expected home next week from his two months' sojourn in the east.

The Royal Neighbors will hold their regular monthly meeting at their hall on Friday evening.

Edison phonographs with fancy decorated concert horns, from $15 to $35.—Anderson & Wander.

Theo. W. Zaiser went down to Crookston last evening on a brief business and pleasure mission.

Ex-county Commissioner Louis Falardeau, of Lambert, was calling on his many Red Lake Falls friends Tuesday.

Dr J. E. Argue will go down to St. Paul the first of next week, where he will attend a meeting of the state dental society.

For Sale—A "Jewett" Typewriter, just as good as new, which we will sell at a bargain. First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

C. L. Hansen, the popular St. Hilaire banker, came down last evening to attend to some business matters, and for a brief visit with friends.

Joseph Brohman, one of Lambert's foremost farmers, spent Tuesday in the city on business. Mr. Brohman is thinking of selling his farm and moving to Red Lake Falls to make his home.

Chas. Boughton, jr., has been quite sick for the past few days. It was feared that he was coming down with an attack of typhoid fever, but hopes are now entertained that the disease will be broken up.

The Commercial Club held an adjourned regular meeting at the city hall Thursday evening last, and a fair per cent. of the members turned out. Considerable important business was discussed, and the meeting was an enthusiastic one. Following the meeting the board of directors held an executive session, and took up a couple of matters pertaining to the city's welfare.

Plummer Pioneer: A. Alrick made a trip to Red Lake Falls on Thursday to bring out J. E. Buskirk. Mr. Buskirk will have charge of the lumber yard here for a while taking the place of Mr. Alrick who takes possession of the Granum store, stock and business on Monday....Ralph Green was in from Equality on Saturday last to attend the meeting of the Woodmen that night. He says that his new boy will be old enough to vote on the removal of the county seat before it happens.

Nothing will relieve Indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. KODOL is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. KODOL takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs, and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of KODOL are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. KODOL is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by all druggists.

There's the man who builds the railroads, and the man who builds the tanks; the man who builds a pipe line, to fill a system's tanks. There's the man who build's the breweries, and the man who build's a town; the man who build's a skyscraper, warranted not to tumble down. There's a man who build's up Broadway and the elevated lines; the builder of our mammoth trusts; the builder of combines. The man who builds the whalebacks, that ply our lakes and streams; the builder of our autos and our ocean submarines. There's the man who builds his business up by using printer's ink; and the builder of the theory that the ape's the missing link. But the greatest of all builders is the one you chance to know; who [illegible]ds the kitchen fire when it's thirty-five below.—Ex.

Ribbon Sale

100 pieces of mostly all silk ribbon from 2 to 5 inches wide, all colors plain and fancy, per yard, only........10c
These goods are easily worth 15 to 20c yd.

Embroidery Sale

20 pieces of Embroidery and Insertions to match, 1 to 3 inches wide, fine quality, pretty work, yard at 5c

25 pieces Embroidery and Insertion worth from 15 to 30c yard. Some of this was purchased at a bargain and some of it is our last season's stock, all broken pieces up to 30c yd were put in this assortment. Per yd, all for....................9c
The early buyers will get the cream.

500 pieces of Prints and Percales

just in: Calico is only calico, but there is a whole lot of difference in calicos just the same. Ours is the fast color kind. Then you want to see the pretty patterns we have. See the biggest stock we ever exhibited.

Remember we reign supreme in Dress Goods, Wash Goods and Laces and Embroideries.

Groceries

Labrador herring 7c, special herring 10c, 5 lb Monarch preserves, cherries, strawberries, etc., $1.00 jar, 8 bars good soap 25c, lute fisk 6c. 10 lb macaroni 70c, salmon trout 9c, finest maple syrup $1.35 gal, 100 bars soap $2.75, 25 lbs prunes $1.50, 1 box Barona soda crackers, $1.25.

It Pays to Trade at

THE BIG STORE

Red Lake Falls

Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

NOTICE.

All knowing themselves indebted to the undersigned by book account or otherwise, will confer a great favor by settling same at the earliest moment possible. —J. R. & R. Fortier.

Accounts can be seen at V. M. Higinbotham's office.

Do You Want to Sell?

Just a word to say that the Ed L. Healy Land Co., is getting into shape to do a larger business than ever before, and as we want to get out our new lists, we would be glad to have any of you who want to sell call in our office and list your farm with us.

It will be necessary for me to be away from the office part of the time this summer, but Harry, my son, who has identified himself with the company will be here, so your wants will be attended to. —Ed L. Healy.

Two Well-Improved Farms for Rent

The south half of sec. 21 and northwest quarter of sec. 28 in town of Black River. 175 acres timothy, good buildings.

The south half of section 33 in town of Terrebonne, 70 acres timothy, good buildings. Address

—Cruzen & Tysseling,
Wylie, Minn.

How Are Your Kidneys?
Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Pills cure all kidney ills. Sample free. Add. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or N. Y.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Too much publicity spoils a good deed.

Signing your name to a friend's note is a bad sign.

When riches come in at the window friends flock to the door.

He who has no faith in himself is destined to become a successful failure.

The brave and fearless man manages to get there early and thus avoids the rush.

A wise man doesn't attempt to pull himself out of trouble with a corkscrew.

If a man is unable to stand prosperity he should sit down and give his wife a chance.

The suspicious man keeps one eye on his neighbor, but the wise man keeps both eyes on himself.

Unless a man is willing to take chances he never takes anything else that happens to be lying around loose. —Chicago News.

Church Pillars.

The joke of the vicar of Withycombe, Devon, at the Easter vestry as to his laggard churchwarden being not a "pillar" but a "buttress" of the church because he supported it outside reminds one, says a correspondent, of another joke of the same kind delivered from a London pulpit by the Rev. John McNeill. John was minister of the "Scotch church," Regent square, at the time and in his own homely way was driving his points home with telling effect. He suddenly paused, after exhorting his congregation to be workers, and then, with a twinkle in his eye, said, "You know, I always think of church members being divided into two classes—pillars and caterpillars."—London Chronicle.

Pitcher's Castoria.

Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges . . .

We have just received several of the latest constructed Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges, in which are contained all the features which has made the steel range famous and the latest improvements that are known to the range manufacturers' art, which makes this range the "Monarch" of them all. These ranges are now on exhibition at our store, and we would be pleased to have every housewife in this vicinity call and look them over. The price of the Monarch Malleable Steel Range" is cheaper accordingly than other so called "steel ranges."

New Hardware Store G. A. KANKEL Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Dudley & Creglow, Publishers

RED LAKE FALLS. . MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

RESUME OF THAW TRIAL.

Stanford White, not satisfied with the wrongs he had heaped upon Evelyn Nesbit when she was a girl of 16, tried to win her away from Harry Thaw after her return from Europe, and even pursued her after her marriage, according to the testimony of the young wife of Harry K. Thaw at his trial. She also related an alleged plot of White and Attorney Hummel to blacken the character of Thaw.

Answering a hypothetical question covering every detail of the testimony up to this time in the Thaw trial, including Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's narration of her life history to the defendant, Dr. Charles G. Wagner, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Binghamton, N. Y., declared on the witness stand that, in his opinion, Harry K. Thaw did not know that the act was wrong when he shot and killed Stanford White. Mr. Jerome blocked the continuation of Mrs. Thaw's story, but the "Cafe Martin note" was introduced in evidence.

District Attorney Jerome accused Thaw's counsel, Mr. Delmas, of trying to mislead the jury by false statements and Mr. Delmas entered in the record a protest against Mr. Jerome's "misconduct." Dr. B. D. Evans, alienist, testified that he believed Thaw was suffering from "brain storm" when he killed White.

The wife of one of the Thaw case jurors was seized with pneumonia and there were fears that a mistrial might result. Dr. B. D. Evans concluded his testimony, telling of a peculiar depression on Thaw's head and of his strange pulse action.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

The senate passed the army appropriation bill carrying $81,600,000. The amendment which permitted the government to accept reduced rates on army supplies and permitted officers and enlisted men to accept reduced transportation, was defeated.

The president sent to the senate the new treaty with the Republic of Santo Domingo. The agreement is confined entirely to the matter of the collection of revenues.

President Roosevelt, through Secretary Root, proposed to Speaker Cannon and to the chairmen of the senate and house committees on immigration, and other Republican leaders in congress, that a clause be inserted in the immigration bill now pending in congress which will bar Japanese coolie labor from the United States. Mayor Schmitz' delegation favors such a provision.

If the amendment to the immigration bill, proposed by Secretary Root, excluding foreigners who use their passports to secure admission to the United States "to the detriment of labor conditions in this country" is accepted by the senate and house and the immigration bill is passed at this session of congress, the San Francisco board of education will rescind its order establishing the oriental schools unless the Japanese government agrees to a proposition for separate schools which will provide equal facilities for the Japanese children.

The senate passed the bill giving the government the right to appeal to the supreme court for a construction of the constitutionality of any law involved in a criminal suit.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Joy line steamer Larchmont, bound from Providence to New York with about 150 passengers and a crew of 50, was run into and sunk off Block Island, and all but 19 of those aboard perished. The survivors were nearly dead from exposure to the extreme cold. Many of the passengers froze to death in the small boats and one man committed suicide.

The known dead in the steamer Larchmont disaster are 138. Fishermen found many more ice-encased bodies. The living and dead were taken to Providence. Only one survivor, a lad, accused the captain and crew of cowardice.

The Platte river is flooded and part of the city of Fremont, Neb., is under water.

Hugh McMillan, brother of the late Senator McMillan of Michigan, is dead in Detroit.

Lyndhurst, the country home of John Wanamaker, at Jenkintown, near Philadelphia, was completely destroyed by fire, the loss approximating $1,500,000.

Burglars stole the valuable Byron Reed collection of coins from the Omaha public library building.

The schooner M. V. B. Chase, thought to have been lost on Diamond shoals, was reported at Wilmington, N. C., as anchored 15 miles west of Cape Fear Bar.

Negotiable securities of a value of $150,000 are missing from the vaults of the Savings Bank of New Britain, Conn., of which institution the treasurer, William F. Walker, mysteriously dropped out of sight in New York.

More than half a million dollars' worth of securities were taken from the vaults of the Savings bank of New Britain, Conn., by the missing treasurer, William F. Walker, according to a statement issued by the board of directors.

At the wedding of Carl Gifford and Lena Pence, at Russiaville, Ind., a charivari party exploded 32 pounds of dynamite near the house. The building was damaged and several guests fainted.

Fire in Cramp's shipyards at Philadelphia destroyed the patterns of a number of battleships, and several firemen were injured.

The body of Willard D. Berr of Lawrence county, Ill., an orchardist whose mind became unbalanced when his wife deserted him a month ago, was found on the banks of the Wabash river after a search of three weeks.

Prof. John A. Brashear of the Allegheny observatory announced a discovery of one of the greatest sun spots ever called to the attention of astronomers.

Pulajanes attacked and burned two towns in Occidental Negros, P. I., and killed six of the constabulary. Two American teachers, W. K. Batchelder and Walter J. Ise, are reported to be missing.

The federal grand jury at Cleveland, O., returned indictments against eight contracting companies and firms on the charge of violating the eight-hour labor law in connection with government work.

Fire at Crary, N. D., destroyed seven business houses, among them Boc's opera house, and several residences, causing a loss of $50,000.

Edna May, the America actress, is engaged to marry Oscar Lewisohn, son of Adolph Lewisohn, of New York.

Nine blocks of residences occupied by employes of the Cotton Belt shops, several storehouses, the Third Avenue hotel and the Riverside Methodist church at Pine Bluff, Ark., were destroyed by fire.

Three persons were killed and several others injured by an explosion of gas in Los Angeles.

Two men were killed and others injured when a locomotive boiler blew up on the Ontario & Western road at Luzon, N. Y.

Rodolphe Julian, the noted art teacher, is dead in Paris. He was 66 years old.

The St. Albert hotel, one of the oldest in Charleston, W. Va., was ruined by fire. The loss will be $60,000. J. H. Crouse, of Baltimore, a traveling salesman, leaped from a window and was fatally injured.

Judge William B. Teasdale, of the circuit court, died at his home in Kansas City, Mo., of cancer, aged 51 years.

The safe in the Citizens' bank at Yeddo, Ind., was blown open by five men and $1,200 was secured.

Policemen James Wright and James Barrett, of Middlesboro, Ky., shot and killed each other in a raid on an alleged gambling resort.

The Western Union Telegraph company announced an increase of ten per cent. in the wages of its operators at the principal offices.

An epidemic of meningitis has appeared among the cattle of Morgan county, Illinois.

Frank E. Grimes, ex-state treasurer of Kansas, who recently voluntarily paid the state $9,000 to covered an alleged shortage found under his administration, stopped a movement to have the legislature reimburse him.

Frank Wayland Higgins, former governor of New York, died at his home in Olean, N. Y.

M. Pobiednostseff, former procurator general of the holy synod, is seriously ill of influenza.

An official bank messenger, while on his way to a Moscow bank, was beset by ten armed men and robbed of $25,000.

The new battleship Vermont, built by the Fore River Shipbuilding company, was formally turned over to the government at the Charlestown navy yard.

President Stickney told a Minnesota legislative committee that he sold watered stock of the Chicago Great Western and intended to sell a lot more.

Warren Beckwith was granted a divorce at Mount Pleasant, Ia., from Jessie Lincoln Beckwith, a daughter of Robert T. Lincoln and a granddaughter of Abraham Lincoln.

The breaking of an ice gorge in the Loup river near Columbus, Neb., caused a flood in which a family of four drowned.

The last will of Count John A. Creighton of Omaha is missing.

A severe earthquake shock was felt at Alhama, province of Murcia, Spain.

The Kansas senate passed a pure food law already approved by tha house.

One man was killed and 40 persons had perilous escapes in a fire in tha financial district of Philadelphia. Several were injured.

Charles Tait, mayor of Kingston, Jamaica, died at the public hospital as a result of injuries sustained at the time of the earthquake.

Three men who blew open the safe in the post office at Erie, Kan., and escaped with $100 in stamps and money were captured at Thayer, Kan.

Grover Lockwood shot and killed Joseph Snyder and his wife Elizabeth in Buffalo, N. Y., and then killed himself.

American exports of iron and steel manufactures for 1906 aggregated $172,500,000, an increase of $30,000,000 over 1905.

Rejection of a proposal to reduce war expenditure caused the resignation of the Dutch cabinet.

Overseer Voliva, faced by a revolt in Pacific coast towns, dropped his project for a new Zion City in the northwest.

Col. John Kinnane, head of the dry goods house of Kinnane Bros. of Springfield, O., died in that city after a week's illness. He was 53 years old.

Standard Oil officials at New York announce a raise of one cent a gallon for kerosene, affecting the whole of New Jersey.

The illness of many miners at Bradville and Snydertown, near Latrobe, Pa., following a typhoid outbreak, threatens to close the mines.

Harold S. Ven Buren of New York, American consul at Nice, France, died at the latter place.

American sailors were clubbed by the Cuban police in a clash at Santiago. Troops stopped the affray.

Frank Tilton, for 33 years editor of the Green Bay (Wis.) Advocate, is dead.

Government policy in regard to the control of grazing land in the public domain and the interests of large and small cattlemen and the sheepmen, and the effect of protection of stockmen upon the homesteaders, were considered at a public hearing before the senate committee on agriculture.

President Bonilla of Honduras said he expected an invasion by the Nicaraguan army and was prepared to repel it.

President Alfred Walter of the Seaboard Air Line died at New York.

King Edward opened the second session of the second parliament of his reign.

A patient in the marine hospital at Cairo, Ill., has anaesthetic leprosy.

Shippers of Kansas City, St. Joseph and Omaha have filed complaints against the Rock Island railway in the matter of through rates to the Atlantic.

One person was killed and two others were overcome by smoke in a fire in the Waverly house, a family hotel in Charlestown, Mass.

An infernal machine was discovered in a chimney of the house occupied by Count Witte, the former Russian premier. The machine was timed to explode after the family had retired for the night.

Edward W. Reidnauer, a baker, and his four children were burned to death at Allentown, Pa., in a fire which destroyed their home.

John Wachter, a pioneer business man of the upper Mississippi valley, died at La Crosse, Wis., aged 73 years.

George A. Taylor, one of the first settlers of central Kansas died at Junction City, Kan., of heart failure, aged 70 years.

Rabies is epidemic among the sheep of western Wisconsin, according to a report of Dr. Henry Roome, representative of the United States department of agriculture.

The last water coming through the break in the Colorado river was shut off after a long and hard struggle by the Southern Pacific Railroad company.

Sentences ranging from 14 to 20 years were passed by Judge Goss against the Sawyer bank robbers at Minot, N. D.

Secretary Hitchcock appointed W. Scott Smith as superintendent of the Hot Springs reservation, Arkansas, to succeed Martin A. Esfele, resigned.

Fire broke out in the big Coliseum on Wabash avenue, Chicago, and did $40,000 damage before it was got under control.

Vice Admiral Topete, it is stated, will be made admiral of the Spanish navy in place of the late Admiral Beranger.

The deaths are announced at Cartagena, Spain, of Vice Admiral Sanchez Oeana and Rear Admiral Martinez Illescas.

John McClellan, a Dowieite teacher at Showers Corners, Ind., was injured in an attack by the schoolboys because of his religious belief.

Vice Admiral Hairi Pasha died suddenly and mysteriously in Constantinople a few hours after the revocation of his appointment by the sultan on a battleship commission.

Tha schoolship Saratoga was severely buffeted by a gale at sea and was forced back to tha Delaware in distress with the boys working hard at the pumps.

Packing plants in St. Louis and Chicago, as well as those in East St. Louis, may be seriously affected by a decision in the United States criminal court at St. Louis, barring rendering works from city limits.

Seven coal-laden barges and three empty barges were sunk in the Mississippi river at Memphis, involving a loss of $40.000.

The Japanese government ordered the evacuation of Manchuria, leaving behind only sufficient troops to guard the railway.

Miss Maud Slater, of Kansas City, killed Dr. E. H. Merwin, who she said had hypnotized and wronged her, and then committed suicide.

Sir William Howard Russell, editor of the Army and Navy Gazette, is dead. He was 86 years old. He was a famous war correspondent and served on the London Times at the battle of Bull Run.

Mrs. Mercedee Donovan of Memphis, Tenn., was killed on the street by a robber.

The supreme court at Topeka, Kan., has finally dismissed the cases against Chauncey Dewey and his cowboys for the killing of the Berry family.

State Senator Howard Robb of Arkansas died at Arkansas City.

Funeral services for Representative John R. Rixey, of Virginia, who died of consumption, were held in Washington.

John P. McManue, editor of the Pilot Rock (Ore.) Record, shot and killed a gambler named Robart Estes.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8—After being told that to pass a resolution today would be a slap at Senator Knute Nelson, the senate voted 33 in favor of the measure and 18 against it.

The resolution was the one introduced by Senator Canfield several days ago, and called up today for final action. It is a memorial to congress asking that the bill limiting the number of hours per day railroad employes may work, be reported out of committee to the floor of congress for a fair show. The bill aims to decrease the number of railway accidents by prohibiting overworking of men. Senator Canfield had explained, on introducing the resolution, that it was introduced by him on request of United States Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin. Senator Putnam secured the floor and strongly opposed tha resolution. "LaFollette came into this state last election for the special purpose of opposing and attacking Senator Nelson," he said. "I for one believe Senator Nelson stands for tha sentiment of the people of Minnesota. The passage of this resolution would be a direct slap at Senator Knute Nelson and I am opposed to it." On roll call several senators explained they were voting for the resolution because they believed in its subject matter, and they meant no reflection on Minnesota's senior United States senator.

The most important measure, perhaps, which has been introduced in the legislature this session was introduced in the senate today by J. M. Hackney of Hamline and in the house by S. O. Morse of Slayton. It provides for an exposition at the state fair grounds in 1908 to celebrate the 50th anniversarry of Minnesota's statehood, the exposition to be under the management of the directors of the State Agricultural society. The bill empowers them to erect necessary new buildings and acquire 80 acres more of land. The money is to be raised by sale of state certificates, similar to those issued for the state capitol, and the certificates to be paid off by the profits of the exposition and ensuing state fairs. For the exposition, the governor, attorney general and auditor are added to the state fair directors.

Under suspension of rules today, the Spooner bill first passed the house then went to the senate, and there was rushed thru without being referred to any committee and on recommendation of Senator G. P. Wilson former attorney general. This is the bill which appropriates $50,000 for the attorney general for a special contingent fund for engaging legal assistance to fight the injunction brought by the railroads of tha state against any reduction in rates, as has been ordered by tha state railroad commission. According to the bill, $25,000 becomes available as soon as tha bill is signed by tha governor, and $25,000 more Jan. 1 next.

The senate today also passed the Rines house bill, which prohibits the state auditor from the further issuance of any further mineral leases on state lands. Bills were introduced in both houses today for the regulation of automobiles. They provide that county commissioners may prohibit certain roads from being used by autos, that autos must slow down to 8 miles an hour at crossings and when passing any objects; and that on no road shall the speed exceed 14 miles an hour.

Lieut. Gov. A. O. Eberhart today announced the appointment of Senator Clague, of Red Wood, and H. H. Witherstine, of Rochester, as a special committee on the part of the senate to make an investigation of express rates in Minnesota. The house is to name a committee to act with these senators.

The joint committee for the investigation of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, the Duluth Board of Trades, and all combinations in restraint of trade, today organized by electing Senator Peterson of Owatonna chairman and Frank T. White of the house secretary.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 9—Interests at Thief River Falls and at Bemidji, both of which have had bills introduced in the legislature for normal schools, have reached a compromise and today had their special bills withdrawn by Senator A. L. Hansen, their author in the senate, and a new bill introduced which contains the terms of the compromise. That is, that a new normal school be established at some point on the Great Northern road between Duluth and East Grand Forks, to be determined by the state normal board. Tha bill carries no appropriation but provides that tha town getting the institution provide a five acre site for the building.

Senator Albert Schaller of Dakota county, introduced a bill unique in that it makes cumpulsary the teaching of physiology, hygiene and narcotics in the public schools from the third grade every year up through the high schools. Tha bill calls for special attention the study of alcohol and its effects on the human body. Teachers to be granted certificates, must pass examinations on these as well as the other usual subjects.

The event in the house today was the presentation of what is known in insurance circles as an "anti-compact" bill, that is, to prevent fire insurance companies combining in fixing and maintaining rates through boards of underwriters as is the present custom in tha state. The bill is introduced by W. H. Putnam of Red Wing.

As a "follow" bill to the one introduced yesterday calling for a big exposition at tha fair grounds in 1908, S. O. Morse of Slayton today introduced a bill to permit county commissioners to make special appropriations for county exhibits at such an exposition.

Tha joint committea of fifteen members of both houses, appointed to investigate all combinations in restraint of trade, late today met and divided into three sub-committees. One committee will look into the International Harvester trust. A second will investigate tha ways of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce and the Duluth board of trade a third will look into the methods of coal and lumber dealers in Minnesota.

Both houses of the legislatura adjourned today till next Wednesday morning. This is to permit the committees on state hospitals of both houses to make the regular biennial junket to some of the state institutions those to be visited this particular trip being the Rochester hospital and tha St. Peter hospital for insane. It was planned to take quite a party with the committees, but the Great Western line over which the junketers will return, refused to grant passes to the "additions", altho the Omaha road, over which tha voyagers start, was willing to ba "good."

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 13—By a vote of 65 to 46 the house today decided in favor of putting it up to the people at the polls, whether or not women shall ba allowed the unlimited right to vote. A majority of the committee on elections recommended the Higgins bill for a constitutional amendment to permit women to vote, for indefinite postponment. A minority report recommended the bill for passage. After considerable debate the house voted with the minority of tha committee.

The housa considered as a special order this afternoon the W. A. Nolan bill for reciprocal demurrage. Its author asked for immediate action on the bill. A number of addresses followed showing many favored the principle expressed in the bill but thought some of its provisions too drastic. A motion by Ambrose Tighe of St. Paul finally prevailed, calling for appointment by the speaker of a special committee of five to redraft the measure and report it back to the house in four legislative days.

J. P. Cummings today introduced a bill aimed at tha Standard Oil company. It prohibits any discrimination in prices in different sections of the state. W. H. Putnam presented a bill to establish a state training school for girls within three miles of the boys school at Red Wing. As there is already a bill pending which says such an institution shall be established at a town not having an institution of the state, the Putnam bill will re-open an old fight which waged in the session of two years ago.

Tha session of the senate today was unusually uneventful. A bill was introduced by Manly Fasseen establishing a college of education at the state university, appropriating $150,000 for a building, and $25,000 for maintenance for two years.

On motion of J. F. Calhoun, the senate passed a resolution memorializing congress to appropriate sufficient money for the proposed Alaska-Ynkon exposition at Seattle in 1909.

The Sundberg committee of the senate is holding same interesting sessions investigating railroads. Tha committea had A. B. Stickney president of the Great Western road, for a witness. He told them no road could ever be constructed with out watering stock.

Famous Old Bowling Green.

Bowling Green was the cradle of New York city. It was the center of New Amsterdam. Where the new custom house is stood the old Dutch fort. No. 1 Broadway was successively the home and headquarters of Lord Cornwallis, Lord Howe and Sir Henry Clinton, and Talleyrand lived there during his stay in this country. On the borders of the green were the homes of Benedict Arnold, General Gates and Robert Fulton.

Soulful Boston Messenger.

A short time ago a gentleman in Boston sent a small boy in his neighborhood to deliver a note to a young lady who lived a few blocks away. He gave tha boy a quarter to make him hurry. After a short time tha messenger came back, and, handing the money, said: "Miss Z—— says she will be glad to see you to-night, but she didn't want the quarter."—Judge.

Is Cremated in Jail

Virginia, Minn.—A Syrian or Arabian peddler, unknown, was burned to death in the village jail at McKinley. The man had been disorderly about the railroad depot, and the agent turned him over to the police who locked him in the city jail. During the night the building took fire and was consumed, and the next morning the man's headless and charred trunk was found in the ruins.

St. Paul—Prof. T. N. Hodgman has taken charge at the Macalester college.

Going Insane Over Deed.

Duluth, Minn.—Daniel Aho, aged twenty years, the youth who shot and killed his mother at Tivoli, Minn., on Sunday, Feb. 3, while intoxicated is believed to be going insane in consequence of his grief over his deed. Aho's lamentations are pitiful to witness. He says that if he does not die soon that the authorities do with him, as he could never be happy again. He had been drinking more than was good for him the day of the tragedy, and became involved in a quarrel with another young man near the Aho residence.

CANADA'S GOOD TIMES.

The Immigration During 1906 Was 216,000.

While it is well to heed every word of caution from the leaders in commerce and finance and to avoid all speculative ventures that lack a solid business foundation, it is clearly evident that there is no conspicuous weak spot in Canada's present era of prosperity. The Toronto Globe says: "The Dominion has in a commercial sense plenty of money, and our leading financial institutions are in a position to lend freely in the United States. The chief productive enterprises of Canada are not buoyed up by an era of dangerous speculation, but are following substantial business methods and finding safe and continuous markets for their goods. We are not bolstering up any industries by extensive export bonuses that must impoverish tha people as a whole, and ultimately lead to collapse through the failure of tha artificial aid. There is no extreme protection in Canada such as would create great fortunes for a few at the expense of the general public and lead to disruption and catastrophe. The prosperity of Canada has no artificial foundation being based on a healthy and substantial expansion of trade and industry, with a proportionate extension of productive settlement to new areas.

It is true that we are borrowing extensively for railway construction, but every line will bring new territory within the limits of profitable occupation, and will create prosperous settlements to bear the burdens and repay the outlay. We are not exhausting mineral resources, for it is quite reasonable to assume that, although mineral wealth is never permanent, ours will during the measurable future develop a far greater productive capacity than at present. Our timber wealth can be made continuous by a judicious policy. And agriculture, tha real foundation of our prosperity, is expanding with every new expenditure on railway construction. We are not in the flush of a railway mania that could bring its punishment through the useless duplication of lines. The gigantic railway enterprises that now stimulate every line of business in Canada will create a new Dominion, and thus render easy the heavy burdens of debt now freely assumed. Canada's era of prosperity has been unprecedented, but thera is no sign of weakness and no causa for lack of confidence. While our growth is normal and healthy, we need have no alarm at its rapidity." This article might hava gone on to relate the great growth that is taking placa in Central Canada, where thousands of Americans have made their homes during the past few years. The past calendar year has given to Canada by importation an addition of 216,000 to its population. Of this the United States contributed 63,781. Tha agents of tha Canadian government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere, say that this number will be largely increased during 1907.

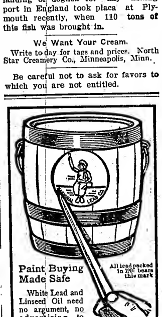
Immense Catch of Dogfish.

What is declared to ba a record landing of dogfish for any fishing port in England took placa at Plymouth recently, when 110 tons of this fish was brought in.

We Want Your Cream.

Write to-day for tags and prices. North Star Creamery Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Be careful not to ask for favors to which you are not entitled.



All lead packed in 1907 bears this mark

Paint Buying Made Safe

White Lead and Linseed Oil need no argument, no advertising to maintain themselves as the best and most economical paint yet known to man. The difficulty has been for the buyer to be always sure of the purity of the white lead and oil.

We have registered the trade mark of the Dutch Boy painter to be the final proof of quality, genuineness and purity to paint buyers everywhere. When this trade mark appears on the keg, you can be sure that the contents is Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

SEND FOR BOOK

"A Talk on Paint," gives valuable information on the paint subject. Free upon request.

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY

in whichever of the following cities is nearest you:

New York, Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia [John T. Lewis & Bros. Co.], Pittsburgh [National Lead & Oil Co.]

PATENTS Give Protection

FOR 17 YEARS, AT LITTLE COST

Send for free booklet. Milo B. Stevens & Co., 20 14th St. Washington, D. C. Branches at Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. Estab. 1864. No patent, no fee for our services.

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

Not Swamp Lands.

Duluth.—Claiming that the so-called swamp lands taken over by the state at the government land opening last fall are not swamp lands, twelve settlers have filed contests against the land in the local land office. About 1,760 acres are involved. The state authorities have been notified and will be given sixty days in which to give notice if they desire a hearing. The land opened last November is located near Beaver Bay, in what is known as township 57, range 9; township 58, range 9, and township 57, range 10. There was a considerable rush at the land office at the time of the opening.

Under the ruling on which the cases are brought up the settler going on the land previous to the survey shall be allowed to enter these lands in the United States land office, provided he shall do so in good faith and shall have maintained his residence there since, subject to the swamp land act. The notice of contest must be accompanied by an affidavit from two witnesses, stating that the lands are high and dry, not subject to periodical floods and that it is good agricultural land.

Cruisers probably will be sent out by the state to investigate the land in question and if they report that it is fit for agricultural purposes the cases probably will be allowed to go by default.

Not Legally Dead.

Winona.—An old murder mystery is recalled in the action begun in the probate court of this county to declare Charles Farnholz legally dead.

It was in May, 1899, that Mr. Farnholz left his home near Lewiston to visit for a couple of weeks with relatives near Fountain City. He left word with neighbors to look after his stock until he returned. Two or three months later the neighbors wondered why he had not returned and wrote to his relatives at Fountain City for information. They replied that they had not seen him and supposed that he was still at his farm. It was then recalled that some time after he had left his farm the nude body of a man, with the face cut off, had been found in a marsh near Fountain City.

The man evidently had been murdered and every means of his identification removed. The friends and relatives of Farnholz then believed that the murdered man was he and that he had been murdered across the river from Winona for the little money he had on his person. But the mystery was never cleared. As nothing since has been heard of him, his relatives now have made application to the probate court for the appointment of a guardian for his son, which action will have the effect of declaring the father legally dead.

Mad Dog.

Minneapolis.—A dog, supposedly mad, that was shot at the corner of Ninth avenue and Fifth street south by Patrolman J. P. McDonald, is the only dog ever chased by an automobile.

This particular canine started operations at the corner of Third street and Nicollet avenue. He snapped at several pedestrians and finally succeeded in biting a couple of women. The crowds on the streets at the time became panic stricken and Patrolman McDonald was summoned to kill the animal. He fired once and the bullet barely grazed the brute's head.

Suffering from this wound the dog ran down Nicollet avenue as fast as he could. The patrolman was quickly distanced. Seeing an automobile passing the officer asked the driver for a lift, and soon was speeding after the dog. Down Fifth street south the animal ran with the puffing buzz wagon in full pursuit, but it was not until ninth avenue was reached that the officer caught up. Patrolman McDonald jumped out at that place and with a single shot killed the fugitive.

Nearly Ready.

Washington—The navy department is informed by the Newport News Shipbuilding Company that the first class 16,000-ton battleship Minnesota is complete excepting a matter or ordnance equipment, and will be delivered to the government at the Norfolk navy yard on the 27th inst.

The Fore River Shipbuilding Company, Quincy, Mass., has arranged to deliver the battleship Vermont, a sister ship to the Minnesota, to the navy department at the navy yard, Boston, Monday next. The Vermont also lacks certain ordnance equipment. Her first commander will be Capt. W. P. Potter, at present chief of the bureau of navigation, navy department.

News Notes.

St. Paul—It is proposed to spend $1,000,000 on the state's semi-centennial exposition next year.

Mankato—Mrs. Harry Footner was badly burned while shaking down the ashes in a coal stove. The coffee pot on the stove overturned, the hot contents running over her head and shoulders.

Rochester—Four Rochester men have gone to Decorah, Iowa, in order to save a prisoner from a possible state's prison sentence. The Rochester men know nothing of the crime of which he is charged, in fact do not even know what the charge is, but they know that they have information which will absolutely clear him.

St. Paul—Andrew Jackson, 19 years old, was run down by a switch engine in the Omaha railway yards at Payne avenue and his right foot was severed. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital in the police ambulance, and last evening his leg was amputated six inches below the knee.

[illegible]—While cutting cordwood in the forest near here Edward Oakes was struck by a falling tree and his life was crushed out. He was about thirty years old and came to this country from Ireland a year ago.

St. Paul—The city saves $13,466.93 by doing a water board job itself instead of letting it by contract.

What Tax is Due?

St. Paul.—Unless the supreme court overrules the decision of Judge Hallam, the Duluth & Northern Minnesota and Minnesota & North Wisconsin railway companies will have to pay a 4 per cent gross earnings tax to the state of Minnesota for the taxes of 1905. It is claimed that there is due from the former road for this tax $3,906.66 and from the latter, $3,557.91.

Each of these roads had paid a tax on the basis of 2 per cent of the gross earnings for the year in question.

In 1873 the legislature passed an act providing that the St. Paul, Stillwater & Taylors Falls Railway company should pay a gross earnings tax of 1 per cent for the first three years, 2 per cent for the next seven and 3 per cent thereafter. The two roads above referred to come under the provisions of this act and were required to pay a tax of 1 per cent up to 1901 and 2 per cent up to and including 1908.

Street Car Earnings.

Minneapolis.—Gross earnings of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company for 1906 sowed an increase of 18.61 per cent and net earnings an increase of 14.37 per cent over the preceding year, according to the annual report of the company, just issued. The gross earnings were $5,644,988.34 and the net earnings were $3,107,379.62.

The passenger earnings of the company for the entire system, embracing the street railway properties of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Stillwater, with their interurban lines, were $5,592,079.24, which, figured into nickels, shows a total of 111,841,585 fares collected.

Fight With Wild Cat.

Bovey.—Dolo Grandeovitch, a Hungarian miner, was badly clawed in an encounter he had with a wild cat which attacked him in the woods near here.

Grandeovitch had gone to the woods to cut firewood, and when evening came started for home. As he walked along the trail he was suddenly pounced upon by a wildcat, which knocked him down and severely lacerated him about the body with its sharp claws.

Grandeovitch undoubtedly would been killed but for the timely arrival of other woodsmen, who chased the cat away.

Strike Iron on Farm.

St. Cloud.—Marcus J. Maurin and Sibert J. Peters of Cold Springs, this county, claim to have discovered iron ore in paying quantities on the old Neid farm three miles south of their village. They have secured a number of apparently rich specimens and will send them to an assayer to be tested. It is the general belief that iron exists in the hills south and west of Cold Springs and further explorations are being made.

Death to 261 Dogs.

Minneapolis.—Death at the muzzle of a policeman's revolver has come to 261 dogs in Minneapolis since Feb. 6, when the shooting began. This is the total made up by Police Superintendent Frank Corriston from the figures submitted to him by his precinct captains. This is an average of thirty-two dogs a day, and if the crop holds out, the 550 mark should be reached before the slaughter is over.

Rolling Mill Burns.

Vesta.—The Vesta roller mill burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at $15,000. The mill was built during the summer of 1904 and was owned by Charles A. Fleming. The fire originated in the engine room and was not discovered until the whole building was enveloped in flames.

Young Gets the Money.

St. Paul.—Gov. Johnson signed the bill recently passed by the legislature appropriating $50,000 for the use of the attorney general in conducting the litigation against the railroads.

News Notes.

Barnesville.—Walter Fofier, who came here recently to work as a machinist in the Great Northern shops, received word of the death of an uncle, James Chambers, a member of the English parliament, who left him $60,000. He started at once for London to claim the money.

St. Cloud, Minn.—Mary Frances Pollard, the 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pollard, of Mayhow Lake, was killed by sustaining a broken neck and then suffocating. Playing about a straw stack with her brother, the latter fell from the top of the stack and struck her.

St. Cloud—Because the concerns engaged in granite finishing find it impossible profitably to do the quarrying and polishing of the stone, a movement is on foot here for the organization of a company with a capital of $200,000 which will take entire charge of the quarrying of the stone.

Wadena.—Mrs. Joseph Maisner, the wife of a farmer living north of this city, met with a peculiar and serious accident. As she was passing through a shed at the rear of her house a scythe which had been hung there dropped from its fastenings and fell, striking Mrs. Meisner on the hand. The first two fingers of her right hand were severed and she propably will be permanently crippled, as some of the cords in the hands also were severed.

Springfield.—The eager desire of farmers to learn of the best methods of carrying on a farm was shown by the large attendance at the institute in the opera house, for although there was a genuine blizzard raging outside it seemed to have no effect upon the attendance. Nearly 300 farmers braved the storm in order to be present. The meeting was in charge of W. P. McConnell of Mankato, assisted by Andrew Elliot, of Galt, Ont.; R. A. Schultz of LeRoy, Minn., and O. M. Olson, of Montevideo, Minn.

Browns Valley.—An unknown Indian partly buried in snow has been found dead about three miles from this place.

For the Woman in Business

Explanation of Legal Terms and Other Matters Often Not Sufficiently Understood.

BY KATHERINE LOUISE SMITH.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Frequently a woman undertakes running a business. This may be keeping boarders, conducting a store or some other form of earning her living. Only too often she gets entangled in debt or is temporarily embarrassed, and what might seem to a man a slight business difficulty appears to her appalling.

Possibly for the first time in her life she is brought into contact with such legal terms as garnishee, judgment, homestead claim, etc. It is probable she will have to consult a lawyer to obtain advice, but she will be able to talk understandingly and to protect herself against any unjust claims if she knows the meaning of these terms. For instance, Mrs. A. is the main support of her family. She may clerk in a store, or keep boarders—at any rate what she earns goes to support herself and perhaps others. She falls behind and owes money, and her creditors garnishee her. If she is an ignorant woman she fears the very term, and justly, for it is an unpleasant situation at the best, but she should know the meaning of the term garnishee and if her creditors can take everything from her.

Broadly speaking, a garnishee action is an action where one can obtain money that is due to her through a third party or which is in the hands of a third person. Thus if a woman is clerking in a store and gets in debt her wages may be garnisheed. In other words, her employers may be asked to give a certain part of her wages to pay the debt. But, and here is where the debtor's protection comes in, a woman who is the main support of her family and whose wages are garnisheed has a right to a certain amount of her earnings, which are exempt from all claims of creditors. This amount is usually settled by the legislature of the different states, and the creditor can only hold, in his garnishee proceedings, to the amount of money which is due him above the amount of such exemption.

Sometimes a judgment is obtained against a woman who is in debt. A judgment is a decision given by a court between parties who do not agree, and when obtained is a lien on the real estate of a debtor. At other times an execution is issued by the court directing the sheriff or some other officer to collect a judgment out of the property of the debtor. Possibly an effort will be made to collect out of the household furniture. In this case, if a woman can prove she is using it in her living, she is entitled to a certain amount of the furniture, which her creditors cannot take. In some states the amount of furniture is fixed at $500 worth. She also is entitled to certain articles which are exempt, as the family Bible, family pictures, pew in church, burial lot, sewing machine, apparel to a fixed amount and typewriter. These vary in different states, but in general articles needed for support or considered as family heirlooms are exempt.

A woman's homestead or the house and ground that she owns and lives in is also exempt and cannot be taken from her by a creditor unless it goes for a mortgage. The homestead in some states is exempt up to a certain value and in others the whole property can be saved. In still others the exemption extends to a certain amount of ground. Usually where the homestead is located in a city, the exemption extends to one city lot and house and improvements, and where the homestead is in the country a certain number of acres with house and buildings are exempt. If a woman owns a farm the law usually exempts a certain amount of stock and machinery necessary to cultivate the same. These are facts regarding property that every woman ought to understand.

* * * * *

"I am a boarding house keeper. Certain parties have left without paying their board bill. Is there any way I can collect the money?"—A Poor Woman.

If you kept a hotel you could have a lien upon the baggage of a guest for his bill, but boarding house keepers have no such lien and are obliged to resort to the ordinary method of collecting, namely, bringing suit and obtaining judgment against the boarder. Of course, if the boarder works on a salary of wages, you can garnishee the same for the amount of the bill.

* * * * *

"If I am a stranger in a town and my funds give out, how can I draw on my home bank?"—A Woman Traveler.

Go to a bank with a friend to identify you. Write out a check payable to the bank or yourself and ask them to cash it, explaining that you have funds in a bank in your home town, and giving the name of the bank. If they ask your friend's endorsement, and you do not wish to be under such obligations, request the bank to wire your bank to ascertain if the check is good. This they will do at your expense, and will pay the check on receipt of a favorable answer from your bank officials. In case you do not know anyone to identify you, a bank will sometimes permit one to identify herself by letters, receipts, etc. For this reason it is well in traveling to carry receipts of any society or lodge to which one may belong.

* * * * *

"Can a bank refuse to receive a person as a depositor?"—A Timid Enquirer.

Generally speaking, banks will take plies. But there are banks that re- as a depositor any person who apquire a deposit of a certain sum in order to open an account. The officials of these banks claim that they do so because they handle the funds of wealthy men and it does not pay them to spend the time on small accounts. Other banks claim that they must require a certain sum because they pay the officials out of the earnings and the amount made on small deposits is very little. In direct contradiction to this, the savings bank will take any sum, no matter how small.

* * * * *

"I have been asked to take a post dated check. What is this form of check?"—A Widow.

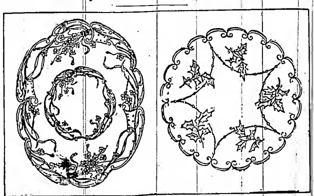
Sometimes men give checks dated ahead, requesting the party to whom they give the check to hold it until the day it is dated. As a rule this is because at the time the check is given the maker has not sufficient funds in the bank and expects to deposit them before the date of the check. Banks do not like this method, and usually are quick in detecting the person who makes a practice of this. Of course, such a check cannot be certified, as there are no funds in the bank to meet it until the day on which the check is dated.

* * * * *

"I have a poor note which I fear will have to be protested. Who pays the protest fees in such a case?"—A Perplexed Milliner.

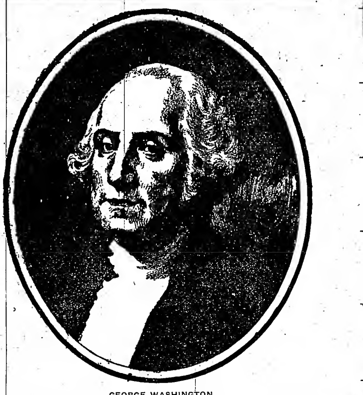
In case a note is protested, the protest fees are advanced by the person who desires the note protested or the holder of the note. If you ask the bank to protest they will charge it to your account. Banks usually have a notary in connection with their institution who does the protesting. When the note is paid these protest fees are added to the amount of the note and must be paid by the maker. In the end you will get back your whole note and expenses.

Centerpiece and Tray Cloth



The edge of the doilies should be worked in white, using the buttonhole stitch. The leaves are worked with the satin slant stitch. Use the dark green for the leaves, using the darker shades at the base of the leaf. The veins are worked with a very dark green. The stems are outlined with a very dark green. The flowers are worked solid with the shades of purple. In some of the flowers the petals are shaded lighter on the edge and darker toward the center. In others the shading may be reversed. As the flowers are in bunches it will be necessary to vary the shading of the flowers in the same bunch. The center of the flowers is a French knot.

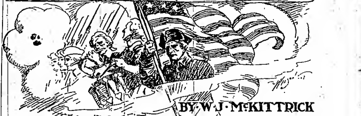
Work the edge of the centerpiece in the buttonhole stitch, using the white filo silk. The little scrolls at the end of each scallop are outlined or worked with the chain stitch. The holly berries are raised with white knitting cotton, then worked over with red, in the satin slant stitch. The leaves are worked solid in the kinsington stitch with the green shades. Generally they are made light at the tip of the leaf, shading darker towards the center and base of the leaf. The veins are outlined in brown. The stems are worked solid in the slanting satin stitch, in the darkest shades of green. The center should be outlined in a green shade and the berries raised and worked in the satin slant stitch.



GEORGE WASHINGTON.

First in War, First in Peace and First In the Hearts of His Countrymen.

THE SPIRIT OF '76



BY W. J. McKITTRICK

IN our near approach to the anniversary of Washington's birthday it behooves us all to be very grateful to God and the revolutionary fathers for the nation which they gave to us.

Away with the man who does not love his country.

It has its faults.

It is no better than the best man who lives in it, and the best man who lives in it is separated by a long distance from the angels of heaven. The writings and orations that would put us beyond criticism explode against some very hard facts and let out upon the air a great deal of silliness. Our politics are not so absolutely pure that a seraph's wing could graze them without contamination. Our ideals of greatness and glory are closer to the ground than they ought to be.

Our reverence for the sacredness of law that should be as firmly fixed, in our national conscience as Pike's Peak is firmly fixed in the soil of Colorado, is not beyond the cavil and complaint of those who study the foundations of our institutions.

But of one thing we are persuaded, and that is that the virtues of our country over-balance its faults.

There are more angels than devils among us.

The devils are making the most noise, but the angels are doing the most work. The man who believes that righteousness is losing its grip upon this nation is a woefully mistaken man. I heard a speaker the other day who proclaimed that we are failing from bad to worse and from worse to worst.

We do not believe him.

We believe that we are rising from good to better, and from better to best.

One of the chief roots of our patriotism is gratitude, the realization of an immense debt to those who battled about the cradle of our national existence and won our freedom and independence at the points of their swords.

Here we are because the men of '76 put us here.

Here we stay because the spirit of '76 has kept us here.

Stormy Atlantic, mild Pacific, sleeping lakes, waving forests, tree-crowded mountains, gold mine and silver mine, storms out of whose tempest-driven hearts have fluttered the white-feathered birds of peace, fiery baptisms through whose flames have crept forth the evangels, gave everlasting covenant. When we think of these things, when we stand upon the mount of vision, and the splendor of our country breaks upon our eyes, when the song of the reapers comes up to us, when we hear the hum of industry thrilling along the ground, when we see the gleaming rivers curving and winding like silver threads through vast gardens, what account of ourselves shall we give to ourselves if we take not the cup of praise and thanksgiving in our hands and pour it out to the heroes whose patience, faith and courage ushered in the dawn of our splendid prosperity?

They were fighting for the future, for the country that was coming. So are we fighting for the future—for the country that is coming. As we look into the faces of our little children we cannot feel that for us the battle is ended. We have won a country for ourselves. But we must win a country for them.

And love of country and love of children run together with the ambition to win a better country for them. Home and patriotism are linked together. The children will help to make the nation. But the nation will help to make those children.

That little dimpled cheek will not allow you to take off your uniform for a single day.

You must build his home. You must fight for his inheritance. You must put your life into the moving and marching forces of righteousness that are trying to win victories for him.

The next generation will live in the country which this generation is making for it. And each one of us is helping to make it. All of us are nation-builders. Every time we cast a ballot for an unclean office-seeker we are committing an outrage upon the future.

Patriotism can never be selfish. It can never be bound up and roped round in its own pleasures and comforts.

It can never stand still, looking backwards.

It can never content itself with making a noise.

In Washington's farewell address we see the prayers of a great soul embracing a nation's posterity. The pen that wrote the emancipation proclamation was tracing on the paper a heart's desire for a long procession of centuries.

And out of this love of country and this guardianship of our children will come the patriotism of service.

The Roman soldier cried out "It is beautiful to die for one's country." Our country does not want anybody to die for it now, but it does want all the multitudes of its people to live for it, to do their big best or their little best to serve its highest and noblest intents, and pass it along to the future cleansed, purified, sweet to the heart and sound to the core.

WASHINGTON.

Soldier and statesman, rarest unison;
High-poised example of great duties done
Simply as breathing, a world's honors worn
As life's indifferent gifts to all men born;
Dumb for himself, unless it were to God,
But for his barefoot soldiers eloquent,
Tramping the snow to coral where they trod,
Held by his awe in hollow-eyed content;
Modest, yet firm as Nature's self; unblamed
Save by the men his nobler temper shamed;
Not honored then or now because he woosd
The popular voice, but that he still withstood;
Broad-minded, higher-souled, there is but one
Who was all this, and ours, and all men's,—Washington.

—James Russell Lowell.

Washington's Wealth.

Whether Washington can be put into the envied category of millionaires no one can assert positively. According to the late Paul Leicester Ford whose work, "The True George Washington," has received wide recognition, "the father of his country" was worth $530,000. This fortune did not include his wife's property, but nevertheless it made him one of the wealthiest Americans of his time. Her part of the Custis property equaled "15,500 acres of land, a good part of it adjoining the city of Williamsburg.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Edward Hebert and Victoline Hebert, mortgagors, to First State Bank of Brooks, mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1905, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of September, 190[illegible] at 2 o'clock p. m., in book 31 of [illegible] and no action [illegible] has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The west half of the north east quarter of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty (150) of range forty-two (42) and lots numbered five (5) and (6) in block numbered [illegible] in the townsite of Brooks, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of March, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law: subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Red Lake Falls, Minn., Feb. [illegible], A. D. 1907.

First State Bank of Brooks,
Mortgagee.

[illegible] Simons, Attorney. f14-m21

Dr. [illegible] WATSON
Physician and Surgeon
Graduate of McGill University, Montreal. Office over First State Bank.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Dr. J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Office in Kruse Block, over A. L. Belchert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ALGUE, D. M. D.
DENTIST
Office in LaBissoniere Block. Office hours, 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.
At St. Hilaire [illegible] and 4th of every month.

[illegible] Germo, Co. Atty. Fred L. Farley
GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys at-Law
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 4. Collections attended to.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure.

Mr Murray's family, the widow two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1319 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

Don't Grind
YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.
COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

A QUEER POKER GAME

IT WAS PLAYED BY TWO STOCKMEN IN A DENVER HOTEL.

The Turn That Came When the Fortunes of Both Men Were Piled on the Table—A Side Bet and a Card That Was Not Shown to the Board.

The old St. James hotel in Denver was one of the landmarks of the city for over a quarter of a century, and many famous sporting men were among its guests. Numerous stories are told of the "stiff" poker games that used to be played there in the late eighties and early nineties of the last century.

A game was played one night between two stockmen, a banker and a mining man. The story goes that the mining man and the banker played until they were "all in," leaving the two stockmen to battle it out. It came up to the "consolation" jack pot, and those who had lingered to see the finish were not disappointed when they expected something spectacular to take place. The stakes were running high, the ante being $500, with no betting limit. One of the stockmen opened for $2,500 and was promptly raised before the draw. Then there followed a series of raises and counter raises until the pot contained $11,600 before cards were drawn.

"Gi' me that one," blandly announced the man who had "seen" the lost raise. The dealer slipped one card across the table, laid the deck down, relighted his neglected cigar and said unconcernedly, "I'll play these."

Then the betting commenced in earnest. The player had opened, and he led off with $2,500 as a "feeler." The dealer raised a like amount, and the other fellow followed suit. It was plain that one or the other of the men was going to lose his fortune. Checks were written, torn up and made out for larger amounts, and finally mortgage papers on real estate and cattle were passed into the pot. Finally one man said to the other:

"Say, Henry, I'm going to stay with you until everything I've got, right down to the clothes on my back, is represented on the table. Now, I'm in doubt as to some of my property holdings, so I'll make you a proposition. Give me until tonight (it was then 4 a. m.) to find out just where I stand and we'll play the hand out. Meantime let us seal up my hand in one envelope, yours in another and the deadwood in still another. We'll leave the three envelopes in the office safe, to be delivered to both of us together."

The other player agreed, and envelopes and sealing wax were sent for. The hands and remaining cards in the deck were duly sealed and deposited as per arrangement.

Meantime friends of the two players endeavored to get the men together on some sort of compromise proposition, knowing full well that neither could afford to bank his entire fortune on a poker hand, leaving his family destitute, but both men were obdurate and would listen to no proposition to split the pot. An interested and expectant group gathered in the lobby about 8 o'clock in the evening, among them being the man who had opened the pot. They talked together in a friendly manner, speculating upon what would happen when the man who went to look up his assets returned. While they were talking he walked in.

"Well, Henry, I'm ready to resume our little argument," he announced in a matter of fact tone. Then the crowd repaired to the room where the game had been played. The man announced that he had $33,000 to "play back." Securities and certified checks representing this amount were piled on the table. Then, and not until then, did either of the men show signs of nervousness. The opener had drawn a check for $33,000 and started to tear it out of the book when the other man said in a slow, deliberate voice:

"Looks a little strong for either of us, doesn't it, Henry?"

"Well," rejoined the other man, toying with the check, "what would you consider a fair proposition at this stage of the game?"

"It's not gambling, I know," said the other, "but if you want to split the pot and"—

"She's split," calmly announced the man who had opened for $2,500. The currency, gold, checks, mortgage papers and securities were equally divided. Not a word was spoken. Silently the man who opened took up the envelopes, tore them open and laid the two hands on the table, faces downward.

"Bet you a cigar I had you beat," he bantered.

"You're called," said the other, turning over four cards, jacks and sixes. The opener also turned over four cards. They were jacks and sixes.

"I'll bet you," said the dealer, "a thousand dollars that I've still got you beat."

The other man peeped at a corner of his buried card, toyed a moment with a stack of currency and shoved $1,000 to the center. Then, without waiting for the man he had called to show his hole card, he turned up a four spot. The dealer looked at it, smiled, touched the bell and put his hand in the deck. He never told what the other card was.—Denver Times.

Lights of London.

A farmer who visited London for the first time was walking along Oxford street, filling his pipe, when a matchboy came up to him with the usual "Lights, sir?" The farmer took a box from the boy, extracted a match, lit his pipe and handed the box back to the astonished lad, passing on with the remark, "Lor, what a wunnerful place Lunnon is, to be sure!"

SUBTERRANEAN RIVERS.

Yucatan's Only Streams Flow Beneath Coral Rock.

There are no streams in Yucatan which flow above the ground, but the whole peninsula is one vast table of coral rock and beneath it are immense sheets of fresh water, with regular though ill defined tides and currents. Along the coasts these subterranean waters are quite near the surface, but in the interior, where the calcareous layer is of great thickness, the waters are low down. At intervals they break into caverns formed by earthquakes by pressure of their own force or by the infiltration of surface water into the natural grottoes of the coral rock and wherever the water can be reached, whether through artificial pits or by the operations of nature, the place is called a cenote. There are a great many of them scattered all over Yucatan, and those near Merida are utilized as public bathhouses, affording most refreshing resorts.

Centuries ago the Indians marked the courses of the subterranean rivers by heaps of stones and always built their cities close by the water caves, as their ruins show, and it is interesting to note to this day all the civilized centers of Yucatan have arisen around these natural reservoirs. There are many forms of cenotes. When the water flows at a slight depth and the calcareous layer has been only partially eaten away there follows an irregular sinking, which forms a cave, opening from side to side, but when the crust is thicker and the underground stream has a regular course the soil is generally corroded in a circular space and the vault thus formed, lacking support, falls in, making an immense open well. Often the crust is so deep that the soft parts only crumble down, leaving a small aperture toward the top, fashioning a real grotto, with stalactites and stalagmites galore. Again, it happens that the crust is exceedingly thick, when a colossal subterranean passage, like a tunnel, is formed. In short, all the variations which an undisturbed stream may produce in a friable soil by the silent work of ages may be here witnessed. The cenote of which I write is a natural cavern nearly fifty feet deep, broken down at one side, thus forming a gigantic arch. Within it appears every form of stalagmite and stalactite, and its roof is perforated with holes, in which are thousands of birds' and hornets' nests. At the bottom of it, reached by a flight of stone steps from the charming garden above, is an extensive sheet of clear, fresh water, containing a multitude of tiny fish (Pescado cenote) similar to those found in the Mammoth cave of Kentucky, only these are not eyeless. The overhanging roots of trees fringe its broken arch, affording shelter to innumerable lizards and iguanas, which dart along the ledges like embodied sunbeams, while above them countless swallows circle in masses so dense that the whirring of their wings produces a deafening noise, echoed from below in hollow reverberations.

The Italian Baby.

No infant receives a warmer welcome to the world or is more happily born than the Italian baby. No infant is the object of more caresses or is more fondly admired. Indeed, no matter how poor the mother and father may be, no matter how large the family, they have very merry times when another son or daughter comes to them. The neighbors are invited in, a feast is prepared, a gallon or two of cheap wine is procured, and the merriment sometimes lasts several days. The Italian considers there are only three great events in the life of man—namely, his birth, marriage and death. These three events never pass without a gorgeous and elaborate celebration. In this simple way they strive to carry out the tender life lesson: "When you were born you wept while those around you smiled. So live that when you die you alone may smile and those around you weep." And so they laugh and drink wine and sing, for they believe it will have an effect upon the life of the quivering form soon to take its place among them.—London Standard.

Machinery of Memory.

The machinery of memory was thus interestingly described by an authority on the brain: "The act of remembering something," he said, "involves a distinct change in the brain substance. The thing to be remembered is recorded by a little nerve cell. The first time the cell does its work an impression is made upon it. But that impression is apt to wear off unless the action of the cell is repeated, and the oftener this is the case the more fixed becomes the impression, or 'cell memory,' as it is called. Suppose that the work of this particular cell is to enable you to recognize a certain smell. If the impression is made but once, the cell may fail to retain it, but if it is repeated several times a lasting impression will be made, and you will recognize the particular odor when you meet with it again."

Southern Wit.

In the early days of the civil war, says Mrs. D. G. Wright in "A Southern Girl In '61," many northern senators were especially violent in their denunciations of the seceding states, occasionally much to the amusement of their listeners.

On one occasion a western senator ended a speech by declaring that were certain threatened events to occur he would "leave this country and join some other nation. Even the Comanches he would prefer to this government in such a case."

Senator Wigfall of Texas rose in answer and stated in a tone of grave remonstrance that he trusted the senator would consider well before he took such a step, "for the Comanches had already suffered too much from contact with the whites."

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventy and 99-100 ($70.99) Dollars, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Joseph Boushea, administrator of the estate of John Boushea, deceased, mortgagor, to M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of March, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 21 of Mortgages, on page 228.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, to John Jaenike by written assignment dated the 9th day of April, 1904, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 14th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages on page 119.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said John Jaenike the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., by written assignment dated the 14th day of December, 1906, and recorded on the 19th day of December, 1906, at 6 o'clock p. m., in book 15 of mortgages page 345, and by reason of the default herein before mentioned the said Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, the assignee of said mortgagee, chooses to declare and hereby does declare the whole debt secured by the aforesaid mortgage due and payable making in all four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the south-west quarter of section fourteen (14), Township numbered one hundred fifty (150), North of Range forty-two (42), west of the 5th P. M. in the state of Minnesota, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the second day of March, 1907, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 15th, A. D., 1907.

Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee,

F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. j17-f28

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Rudolf Warberg and Katharina Warberg, his wife, mortgagors, to Ralph Rogers mortgagee, bearing date the 16th day of April 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1903, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., in book 29 of mortgages, on page 29

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Ralph Rogers mortgagee, to G. B. Ward by written assignment dated the 15th day of October 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 13th day of November 1906, at 1:00 o'clock P. M.; in book 32 of mortgages on page 391.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said G. B. Ward, the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, a corporation, by written assignment dated the 13th day of November, 1906, and recorded on the 22nd day of November, 1906, at 3:10 o'clock P. M., in book 15 mortgages page 339, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

North east quarter of section numbered twenty-eight (28), in township numbered one hundred fifty (150), north of range forty-one (41), west of the 5th P. M. in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 23rd day of March, 1907, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty and no-100 dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, February 6th, 1907.

Merchants State Bank of
Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

F. A. Grady, Attorney for
Assignee of Mortgagee, f7-m21
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

5,000 Rifles
SEND NO MONEY
FREE
TO BOYS
Just send us your name and address so that we may tell you how to get this fine rifle Absolutely FREE.
YOU CAN HAVE ONE
As we are going to give away 5,000 of them. We mean it, every word, and this is an honest, straightforward offer, made by an upright business firm who always do exactly as they agree. All we ask is that you do a few minutes work for us. It is so very easy that you will be surprised. This Handsome Rifle is not a toy air rifle, but is a genuine steel, blue barrel, hunting rifle, that is strong, accurate and safe and carries a 22 calibre long or short cartridge. If you want a fine little hunting rifle, just write and ask us for particulars. They are free and you will surely say it's the best offer you ever saw or heard of.
BE SURE and WRITE AT ONCE before the 5,000 rifles are all gone, as the boys are taking them fast.
Address
Peoples Popular Monthly,
567 Arcade Building,
DES MOINES, IOWA.

BULLETIN
Great Northern Railway
Tell Your Friends About It.
You may have friends in the east, who would be glad to move to the west, if they knew what opportunities are here. Send us their names, we will be glad to send them a bulletin on Montana and North Dakota.
One Way Colonists Rates: Mch. 1 to April 30, 1907.
To Chinook, Havre, Great Falls, Shelby, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Kalispell and Whitefish, Mont, $20.00. Good for stop-over west of Minot.
One Way Settlers' Rates:
To Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Manitoba, Western Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta.
Tickets on sale March 5, 12, 19 and 26, April 2, 9, 16 23 and 30, 1907.
MAY WE HELP YOU PLAN YOUR TRIP?
Two trains daily. Standards and Tourist Sleepers.
THE ORIENTAL LIMITED. THE FAST MAIL.
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

Old Reliable Harness Shop
Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as
HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.
We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather. the best leather made.
L. A. KAUFER
MAIN STREET, - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet Pure and Wholesome.
It's All The What
That's Fit To Eat..
That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.
Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near our idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.
RED LAKE FALLS
MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..
BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats
Fish and Game in Season.
Highest Price Paid for Furs and Hides.
TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains
Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY
Grand View Hotel
Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City
W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 28, 1907 No 22

T. R. F. BACKSLIDES--TAXPAYER PAYS FREIGHT

LIVERY HORSE KILLED

Exciting Runaway Yesterday Afternoon Results in Death of Valuable Horse.

"Ned," one of the oldest and best livery horses in the northwest—owned by Zaiser Bros. of this city—was instantly killed yesterday afternoon, by crushing his skull against the front of the Paradis brick block after having indulged in an exciting runaway.

Two of the barn boys hitched up Ned and his mate to a cutter yesterday for a drive about town, and as the team felt pretty good in the bracing air they were very hard to hold. When near Paul's hotel they took it into their heads to run and despite the efforts of the driver they came tearing up Third street until they reached the corner of Main, when they made a quick turn which threw the sleigh up against a 'phone pole. The jar broke the cutter pole and the team, entirely loose, tore down main street at break-neck speed. When about in front of the Big Store the outside horse had crowded Ned close to the curb and he apparently struck the slippery walk and crashed head first against the brick work at the north corner of the Paradis block, the blow crushing his skull and killing him almost instantly. Had he struck a few inches higher he would have gone directly through the plate glass front, instead of stopping so short.

Ned was one of Zaiser Bros.' best horses, and the loss comes quite heavy on them. He had been in the service a long time, but was apparently good for several ordinary horses when he met his untimely fate.

Attended Important Meeting.

Dr. J. E. Argue left Monday evening for St. Paul, where he went to attend the meeting of the G. V. Black Dental Club, composed of the prominent dentists of the several northwestern states. The doctor was down on the program by special invitation for a table clinic on his access mercury expresser, an invention of great importance to the dental fraternity that has recently been patented by Dr. Argue. The meeting was held Tuesday and yesterday, and is one of the most important dental gatherings ever held in the northwest. Something like five or six hundred members of the profession attend these gatherings and much good to the fraternity naturally results. The doctor's invention has attracted considerable attention among the dentists, and that he was invited to give a clinic regarding it at this important meeting was gratifying to his many friends here. This invention will shortly be placed on the market, and there is absolutely no question but what it will net handsome profits to Mr. Argue.

Up-River Municipality Demonstrates Love For The Dear People By Making Them "Dig" For Costs In Thier County Seat Scrap.

Could old Diogenes with his lantern and antiquated search for an "honest man" come now upon us, and be without desire on his part cast down in Thief River Falls; could he—but he can't—make a long continued search through the divers streets and alleyways of the inflated burg further north; could he—but he wont—search through the thousand and one railroad yards, the innumerable department stores, the many normal schools and the countless other industries that our "bigger" sister farther up creek boasts of—could he do all these things and keep his lantern burning he would be forced far more hastily than he was wont to do in ancient times, to turn wearily back upon his journey and declare with renewed emphasis that there he could not if he would find the "honest man."

Thief River Falls has long shouted and spread abroad the tidings how Red Lake Falls had an axe several yards long up their sleeves for the taxpaying public; that the only reason Thief River Falls had forced the county seat fight upon the voters of Red Lake county was to relieve them from the merciless preying upon by the Red Lake Falls "grafters;" how they were anxious and willing to defend the defenseless taxpayer in his efforts to keep alive after being picked by Red Lake Falls. They have shouted from the house tops, long and loud, of this and many more wrongs they had found at Red Lake Falls.

But let us see. Some two years ago Thief River Falls—through a $16,000 fat county seat "committee" (God save the mark) foisted upon Red Lake county people a county seat fight. Notwithstanding the fact that for eight or nine years Red Lake Falls had been the seat of government of the commonwealth, notwithstanding the well-known and long ago proven fact that Red Lake county had made rapid progress and was practically at the stage where her taxpayers were paying considerably less taxes than the neighboring counties; notwithstanding that there had never been a murmer of dissatisfaction expressed against Red Lake Falls as the county seat—notwithstanding, again, all this and more, this salary-fat committee took it into their circle-topped pates to secure this long felt want for the only town within the kingdom of the Lord—Thief River Falls.

They forced the fight. They were the aggressors. At every turn they were met and were vanquished. Every new move threw additional costs upon the county—and, of course, the taxpayers. Despite their oft expressed profound love for the "people" they kept constantly at it, each time losing their point, but each time hollering how Red Lake Falls was "soaking" the taxpayer.

The long drawn out fight finally resolved itself down to a point wherein it was to go to the supreme court of the Minnesota commonwealth for final decision. Embittered by continued failures to achieve their desires, and enthused with the proverb that lightning does not always strike in the same place, they were anxious, aye! crazy, to have the case tried in the highest state tribunal.

They were profuse in their protestations of love for the taxpayer, they were anxious that vindication be theirs. They promised anything. With a flow of words equal only to those of a Clay, with a manner like that of a real benefactor, they promised, even re-iterated time and again that should this final suit go against them they would gladly pay the costs—and anything else asked. They could not lose—so they argued.

The case was submitted and argued. The court's decision was withheld for a brief period, and then came the announcement that thief River Falls had LOST—that the highest court within the state's confines had decided that they were WRONG and that Red Lake Falls was right.

The court's decision was submitted to them—the total of the costs was figured up and likewise submitted, good and sufficient time was given them to make good their promise to pay—that the taxpayers would not suffer. All this was done, and more. They were urged to make their promise good that the people might for all time believe that Thief River was solicitous of their interests. They were shown that it might look bad should they refuse to ante up, their friends urged them to make good—but all to no avail. Thief River had LOST. Thief River WOULD NOT pay their honest obligations.

Many stories are spoiled in the lengthy telling. Many good intentions are changed by circumstances—but in the face of it all the bare fact stands out still Thief River Would Not Pay.

At the meeting of the board this week the auditor was instructed to draw a warrant for the costs in the judgment—something about $200—and in the end the taxpayer pays the freight.

Let us hope for the protection of what little honor they have left, that Thief River Falls has decided to abandon this long drawn out fight. They have by theiractions cost each individual taxpayer a neat sum, at the same time professing profound love for all mankind—they are good on paper, 'tis greatness they have, but they WONT pay their promised obligations.

The sequel is plain. 'Tis they that have long since exclaimed: "Get thee behind me, Satan."

DEATH COMES SOON

James Nelson, of Lake Pleasant, Lives Only A Few Days at Insane Hospital.

A telegram was received here Tuesday morning from the authorities at the Fergus Falls insane hospital, announcing that James Nelson, who was committed from this city last week, had died the night previous, after an illness covering the period of his incarceration. While Nelson appeared strong when he left here last week, nevertheless he was a very sick man and doubt existed in the minds of many that he would ever recover his reason or his health. He failed very rapidly at the hospital, and despite all that medical aid could do, his life ebbed rapidly away, death coming Monday to relieve him of his terrible suffering.

Mrs. Nelson was notified at once and left with her children last evening for Fergus Falls, from which place she accompanied the remains to Russel, Lyon county, their old home, where interment will be made.

She will return here later to straighten up her affairs, but will eventually return to Lyon county to reside.

Since Nelson's misfortune there have been numerous stories circulated to the effect that he was imposed upon, cheated, etc., but from the best sources it is learned that there is absolutely no truth in these statements. Nelson had his farm nearly clear of debt, and was not bothered in the least by the owner, as his contract did not come due until next fall. It is true that he had hard luck for a couple of years with crop-raising, but no more so than many others in the valley. He was a man of peculiar temperment and every little trouble worried him greatly, his mind finally giving way under continued worrying. Many a man has been "up against it" harder than Nelson and has pulled through, but a sickness not realized undoubtedly did much to cause Mr. Nelson's mind to give way. The widow is left with two small children, but when she settles up her business will be left in fairly comfortable circumstances. She and the fatherless little ones have the sincere sympathy of all in their bereavement.

Plans Easter Entertainment.

The Orpheus Quartette, Red Lake Falls' elite musical organization, are arranging to give a grand Easter concert and ball—on the order of the one they gave last year. They are already at work arranging for the event, and will prepare a specially delightful program. The concert will be followed by a dance and as it will probably be the first of the season after the Lenten period, the Orpheus boys will be accorded a good patronage and the people will be royally entertained. Additional information regarding this event will be given later.

NEW TOWN ORGANIZED:

Township 153-39 Will Hereafter Be Known As "Star."

The petition of Joseph Johnson et al., of township 153-39, for organization as a town, came before the commissioners at their meeting Tuesday, and was acted upon favorably. The new town will be known as "Star" and the first town meeting for the election of officers, etc., will be held at the Johnson place sometime in March, on a date to be set by Auditor O'Brien.

The new town has many progressive citizens, and after the organization is completed will make rapid strides. There are only two unorganized towns left on the reservation, and they will probably come in for organization during the coming year.

See. Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Farmers Get Many Good Pointers at St. Hilaire Last Saturday.

The big farmers' meeting held at St. Hilaire last Friday was one of the most successful gatherings of its kind ever held in this section of the state, and the attendance was greater than even the most enthusiastic worker had hoped for. Farmers were there from every part of the county, and the program was full of meat for all.

The principal address by Prof. A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the state experimental farm at Grand Rapids, Minn., was attentively received by the meeting. Mr. McGuire is a forcible speaker and handled his subject in an able manner.

Another speaker who was well received was C. O. Carlson, of Erskine. Mr. Carlson is one of the most successful farmers in northern Minnesota.

The Crookston Male Quartette made a decided hit and were encored until they had to announce that they had sang all the songs they had prepared.

All the speeches on the program were listened to attentively and it was evident that the farmers present were there for instruction.

To Buttermaker Geo. L. Austin of the St. Hilaire creamery is due much of the credit for making the meeting a success.

Adrian Murphy Dies.

A telegram was received here Tuesday from Calgary, Canada, hearing the sad intelligence that Adrian, the two-year old son of Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, had died that day from an attack of diphtheria. No particulars were conveyed as to whether or not any of the other members of the family were ill. Adrian was an exceptionally bright and pretty baby, and the news of his sudden death will be received with profound sorrow by the Red Lake Falls people, who have known the Murphy family so long.

HELD A GOOD MEETING

County Teachers Association Has Another Interesting Session.

The Red Lake County Teachers Association held another excellent meeting at Thief River Falls last Friday and Saturday, which proved to be very beneficial to the teachers of the county.

The attendance was not particularly heavy, but nevertheless a goodly number were present and the meeting was replete with interest from beginning to end.

The day sessions were devoted to the questions asked at the recent state examinations, and this was one of the best featurs the association has ever presented. The questions of all the different subjects were carefully gone over and discussed, and it was a fine schooling for those who are interested in this work.

Friday evening Dr. F. H. Gamble of Thief River Falls delivered a lecture on his personal experiences in Alaska. The doctor spent several years in the "land of golden promise" a few years ago, and his talk was especially interesting. He had and exhibited many curios from that part of the world, and told a delightful story of conditions as they exist in the far north.

A choice musical and literary program was rendered during the session.

The next meeting of the association will be held at St. Hilaire, at a date to be announced later. The arrangements are in the hands of the program committee, and it is announced that a spelling contest for teachers will be one of the features of the next meeting.

Red Lake county surely has a live teachers association, and their programs of the past couple of years have been of much benefit to the teachers of the county and correspondingly to the schools.

TO HOLD REVIVALS.

Evangelist John S. Hamilton Will Be Here Next Month.

A two weeks' series of meetings in charge of Evangelist John S. Hamilton, of Ohio, will be held at the Presbyterian church in this city commencing Tuesday, March 12.

Mr. Hamilton is now at Blackduck where he is conducting a series of meetings, and will come here from there, and will preach his first sermon on the evening of the 12th. Mr. Hamilton will be accompanied by a soloist who will have charge of the singing, and the meetings will no doubt be highly interesting.

NOTICE.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars Inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to emply in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank
Red Lake Falls Minnesota

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED : LAKE : FALLS : MINNESOTA

OFFERS YOU

PROMPT SERVICE
LIBERAL TREATMENT
ABSOLUTE SAFETY

We Extend the Accommodations of a Strong and Well-Equipped Bank

OFFICERS
CHAS. N. BOURDON, President
FRANK E. HUNT, Vice-President
THEO. GAROEAU, Cashier
GEO. F. HENNINGS, Asst. Cash.

DIRECTORS
Theo. Garceau Frank E Hunt
Chas. N. Bourdon
W. A. Schreiter A. P. Toupin
N. M. Watson Geo. F. Hennings

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Dudley & Creglow, Publishers

RED LAKE FALLS. . MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

RESUME OF THAW TRIAL.

Mr. Jerome cross-examined Mrs. Evelyn Thaw all day, asking especially about her poses for photographs, her earlier men acquaintances and the letters she received from Stanford White. She admitted that in 1902 she received $1,350 from White.

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw entered upon the ordeal of her cross-examination, and before District Attorney Jerome had had the witness in charge for half an hour he had secured from the court a ruling which opens the way for bringing into the trial of Harry K. Thaw all manner of evidence which may tend to discredit the defendant's wife. This will be introduced to disprove the truth of the story she told Thaw. Mr. Jerome brought out that in 1902 some one gave Mrs. Thaw $25 a week, and that she wrote to White from Boulogne after Thaw had proposed to her.

Dr. Britton D. Evans testified that Harry Thaw said to him in the Tombs last August that he didn't want to slay White, but that the killing was an act of Providence. Thaw's will and codicil were put in evidence. In the latter provision was made for several alleged victims of White.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

Reed Smoot, Mormon apostle, won his long fight before the senate of the United States. By a vote of 28 to 42 the senate refused to adopt the resolution declaring that Mr. Smoot is not entitled to occupy a seat in that body as a senator from the state of Utah.

A heated controversy which at one time seemed to threaten a personal encounter between Mr. Macon of Arkansas and Mr. Fitzgerald of New York, occurred on the floor of the house when the house had under consideration the post office appropriation bill.

Following the adoption by the house of the immigration bill, the basis of the agreement to settle the Japanese-San Francisco school affair was announced as follows: Japanese children are to be admitted to the white schools of San Francisco under certain restrictions; skilled and unskilled laborers coming from Japan are to be barred from the mainland of the United States, and American laborers, skilled and unskilled, are to be excluded from Japan.

A bill drawn by the general staff, providing for the raising of a volunteer army during actual or threatened war was introduced in congress.

The naval appropriation bill, carrying in round numbers $96,000,000, passed the house. An effort made by Mr. Burton of Ohio to reduce the number of battleships authorized in the bill was defeated.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Harry Pratt Judson, who has been acting head of the University of Chicago for over a year since the death of President William Rainey Harper, was elected to the presidency by a unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

It was reported in St. Petersburg that another massacre of Jews was going on at Odessa. Foreign consuls at Odessa have protested against the outrages.

The French cruiser Kleber rammed and sank the American fruit steamer Hugoma in the Mississippi river, and seven of the Hugoma's crew were drowned.

Rev. G. L. Tufts of Portland, Ore., representing the Pacific Coast Reform bureau, was arrested by the sergeant-at-arms of the Idaho house for lobbying.

E. E. Styner, late general manager of the Mexican Central railroad, died in Mexico City from wounds inflicted by himself.

None of the Peabody educational fund, established by George Peabody, of London, in 1867 and amounting to between $2,300,000 and $2,400,000 will be distributed among the educational institutions of the southern states before November.

The supply wareshouse of the Arizona Copper company at Clifton, Ariz., caught fire from spontaneous combustion and the contents valued at $100,000, were heavily damaged.

Fifteen thousand persons made an anticlerical demonstration in Rome and troops protected the Vatican.

A mass meeting of 1,000 Irishmen in New York adopted resolutions warning the American people that Ambassador James Bryce is coming to this country especially to effect an alliance of England with America, which has for its immediate object war with Germany.

One person was killed and five were injured in a fire which did damage amounting to $50,000 to the plant and stock of the Friend paper mills at West Carrollton, O.

Tremendous gales, accompanied by snow, hail and thunder storms swept over the whole of northern Europe and were especially severe in the British Isles.

The administration ticket of the Mutual Life Insurance company was elected by a majority approximately of 130,000 in the recent policyholders' election.

After weeping over the grave of his sweetheart, Estella Costello, Joliet, Fred Foster committed suicide with poison.

The Rhode Island senate passed a bill empowering the women of Rhode Island to vote at presidential elections.

Gov. Hughes of New York recommended to the senate the removal of Otto Kelsey, state superintendent of insurance.

The Kansas house passed the maximum freight rate bill.

Dr. J. C. Shedd of Colorado college was blinded probably for life as a result of experimenting with Finsen rays.

Martin J. Wade of Iowa City was made Democratic national committeeman for Iowa.

The foreign consuls at Odessa protested that the lives of their fellow subjects were endangered by the anti-semitic disturbances there.

Ferreira, the leader of the raid from German Southwest Africa in November last, and four of his followers were sentenced to death.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, is to wed Miss Kate LaMontagne, daughter of the late August LaMontagne, also of New York. No date has yet been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Thomas Bagot, of Anderson, Ind., lost her life in a fire that destroyed the home of her sister at Red Key, Ind.

Letters received at Sidney, N. S., from the Grand bank indicate that the schooners Mollie M. and Tubal Cain have been lost, with 12 men composing their crews.

Trichinosis has appeared in New York, eight cases being under treatment at the Bellevue hospital. Physicians fear an epidemic.

Judge Finkelnburg of the federal district court at St. Louis will resign on account of ill health. He is 69 years old.

Beall & Steele's wholesale drug house at Steubenville, O., was totally destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $100,000.

Viroqua, Wis., was alarmed by 25 cases of smallpox.

The fact that a spreading rail caused the wreck of the White Plains express on the New York Central railroad last Saturday night, in which 21 persons were killed, was developed at the coroner's inquest.

Japanese in Hawaii cabled to President Roosevelt a protest against their exclusion from the mainland. The Japanese cruising squadron arrived at Honolulu.

The army of Honduras was defeated by the Nicaraguan forces in a battle lasting several hours.

The founding of a trust fund of $250,000, the income to be devoted to the cause of young women of the United States, was announced by J. G. Schmidlapp, president of the Union Trust company of Cincinnati.

State Representative Barker of Macon county, Mo., has smallpox.

Congressman J. E. Reyburn, Republican, was elected mayor of Philadelphia.

The California legislature killed the proposed constitutional amendment extending to women the right to vote at all elections.

Private cable dispatches were received in New York confirming the killing of Gen. Antonio Paredes, the Venezuelan rebel leader.

Mrs. John Grimshaw and her infant son were burned to death near Royal Oak, Mich.

The federal grand jury at New York indicted the Great Northern railway for paying rebates.

Senator Bailey testified in his own behalf before the legislative investigating committee and explained the Gibbs ranch deal as a plain business transaction.

The Ann Arbor Railway company appeared in the United States court at Toledo, O., and paid the fine of $15,000 imposed by Judge Tayler for violation of the interstate commerce laws in granting rebates to the Toledo Ice and Coal company.

Henry Valentine, a well-known colored politician and member of the Republican county central committee, at Springfield, O., was shot and killed by his wife after a quarrel.

Assistant Paymaster W. E. Sypher has been dismissed from the navy on account of technical embezzlement. He was unable to account for $1,300 of funds intrusted to him.

Josiah Ross, president of the Ross Manufacturing company of Buffalo, N. Y., committed suicide because of ill health.

Emperor William opened the new reichstag with great pomp.

The people of Nicaragua demand reparation from the government of Honduras for the invasion of their territory by Honduran troops and have offered financial aid for a conflict.

The list of survivors of the steamer Larchmont was reduced to 17 by the death of James Vaan, a colored steward. Officials of the Joy line declared the charges of cowardice against the captain and crew were false.

Mexico's magnificent new post office, the finest public building ever erected in the republic, and undoubtedly the finest post office building in America, was dedicated.

Gen. W. L. Cabell, commander of the trans-Mississippi department, United Confederate Veterans, was placed under a bond of $5,000 in connection with the Honduras lottery matter.

More than a hundred miners, mostly Japanese, were killed in a disaster at Las Esperanzas, Mexico.

The plant of the Alpena (Mich.) Portland Cement company was burned, the loss being $400,000.

The Mississippi railroad commission ordered the railroads of the state to adopt a two-cent passenger rate on the interchangeable mileage basis.

C. N. Anderson of Atlanta, Ga., was fined $1,000 for bucket-shopping.

Charles Barnard, the well-known boat builder, died at Madison, Wis., at the age of 85.

W. A. Henry, for 27 years dean of the University of Wisconsin college of Agriculture, resigned because of poor health and a desire to devote himself to literary work.

Mrs. Bertha Bauduy, well-known in St. Louis, committed suicide in New York because of the death of a dear friend.

The Wisconsin state railway commission handed down a decision in the two-cent railroad fare question, ordering that the railways in the state give a flat two and one-half cent passenger fare.

The will of Count John A. Creighton contained several large bequests to educational and benevolent institutions.

A. L. Brannon, a saloonkeeper at Malden, Mo., shot and killed Attorney D. R. Cox and Dr. J. W. Beall, and was shot and killed himself a few hours later while being removed from the jail to Kennett for safe-keeping.

A Houston, Texas, jewelry company was robbed of between $50,000 and $60,000 worth of loose diamonds.

Two men were killed, two fatally injured and several others hurt as a result of an explosion of a boiler at a sawmill plant at State Line, Ark.

Maj. C. W. Pierce, of Lincoln, one of the framers of the Nebraska constitution and a pioneer lawmaker, died suddenly at Hastings, Florida, where he had gone for his health.

Chalmers Vestal, president of the Caney Fork Lumber & Tie company, and one of the best known lumbermen of the upper Cumberland region, fatally shot himself at Baxter, Tenn., by accident.

An appeal to the governor of North Dakota and to the interstate commerce commission was sent by the business men of Kathryn, N. D., for action looking toward resumption of freight traffic.

The New York police heard that William F. Walker, the missing treasurer of the New Britain, Conn., savings bank, lost more than $350,000 of the bank's funds to wire-tappers.

E. H. Harriman, the railway magnate, was subpoenaed to appear before the interstate commerce commission in New York Monday, February 25.

Six seamen lost their lives when the Philadelphia & Reading Coal company's barges, Girard and Alaska, went ashore and broke up off Highland Light, Mass.

Many persons were made homeless by a flood of the Missouri river near Vermilion, S. D.

Nineteen persons were frozen to death at various places in East and West Prussia.

Secretary of War Taft accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address at the University of Minnesota June 13.

Count Van Bylandt, the well-known sportsman of The Hague, was killed during races on the famous toboggan course at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Ethel Levy, actress, obtained a divorce from George Cohan, actor and playwright.

Fire at the Pullman plant, Chicago, destroyed 400,000 feet of valuable tropical woods.

Several persons were badly burned and a number were otherwise injured in a tenement house fire at Avenue B and Clinton street, New York.

Five men were killed at Hazelpatch, Ky., by the explosion of 100 sticks of dynamite, which they were thawing around a fire.

Nora Turner of Harrisburg, Ill., shot Robert Kennedy at Marion because he wouldn't marry her, and then shot herself.

The next northwestern triennial saengerfest was set for July 23-26, 1908, at La Crosse, Wis.

The Raddis Lumber and Veneer company's plant at Marshfield, Wis., burned, the loss being $75,000.

The British steamer Heliopolis collided with the British steamer Orlanda, near Cardiff, Wales. Orlanda sank and 14 persons including her captain, were drowned.

A fire in Allegheny destroyed five business buildings and three dwelling houses, causing an estimated loss of $200,000. A number of firemen had narrow escapes.

Eri Baker Hulbert, dean of the University of Chicago Divinity school and head of the department of church history, died of gall stones, complicated by pneumonia.

John Hilbert, Ralph Schertner and Lauren Nye, boys, broke through the ice and were drowned in Rock river, at Dixon, Ill.

The special committee appointed by the directory of the Pennsylvania railway to investigate the charges of graft and favoritism against the officers and employes, reported that the charges were unfounded except that 15 men had accepted gifts of interests in corporations.

A violent outbreak of anti-British feeling has occurred at Lahore, India, following the conviction of the proprietor and editor of a native newspaper who were accused of stirring up hatred against England.

Charles W. Morse bought the New York and Porto Rico Steamship line.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 18—A thorough investigation of the financial affairs of the state university at Minneapolis is asked in a resolution which has been presented for consideration of the house by R. L. Mork of Bricelyn. It calls for appointment of a committee of five, two senators and three representatives, which committee shall be authorized to continue its work after the present legislative session and report to the secretary of state on or before Nov. 1, 1908. The resolution appropriates $250 for expenses.

Several bills of importance were introduced at the brief session of the house held yesterday afternoon and that of the senate held last evening. Burdette Thayer of Spring Valley, and Speaker L. H. Johnson both presented measures creating a 4 per cent gross earnings tax on sleeping car companies. C. W. Glotfelter of Waterville presented a bill to prevent further spread of disease among cattle by prohibiting the transportation of any livestock affected with infectious disease. Swan Nelson of Minneapolis is author of a bill to increase the gross earnings tax of 4 per cent on all express companies. At present the law levies a tax of 6 per cent, but it only applies to net receipts after the express companies have paid the railroads for cars and transportation. In the senate, E. J. Elwell of Minneapolis introduced a bill to levy a tax of three tenths of one mill throughout the state for three years for the purchase of additional lands for the state university, and authorizes the regents to issue certificates of indebtedness at once which may be paid off as the tax is collected. Senator A. S. Campbell of Austin provides for replenishing the road and bridge fund in counties of $1,000,000 to $15,000,000 taxable valuation, where such fund has been used up, by levying a county tax of not to exceed 1½ mills. Senator A. S. Nelson of Lanesboro presented a measure requiring that milk and cream be judged for purity by a system of exact weights, and that the standard pipette for measurement of milk shall have a capacity of 17.6 cubic centimeters. Senator E. S. Durment of St. Paul asks for mercy for drunkards in a bill providing that for first and second offenses the court may suspend execution of sentence during good behavior of the party convicted. Senator J. M. Hackney of Hamline, a prohibition district where blind pigs have been an annoyance for years, introduced a bill providing that any resident of the county alone may make a formal complaint for an action in court against an alleged blind pig.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 19—Can the state of Minnesota afford to appropriate $10,000 for the purchase of a silver service for the new battleship Minnesota? This question was debated for an hour in the senate this morning, the subject coming up when the bill of Senator J. F. Calhoun of Minneapolis to purchase the silver service, was considered in committee of the whole. Ole O. Sageng of Otter Tail objected to the whole proposition. Ole is the lone populist in the legislature and has been objecting a great deal of late to important republican measures. He though the appropriation a waste of money. If Minnesota must give a silver service, in his opinion, residents of the state who are in the habit of using silver service every day should chip in and buy the stuff for the battleship; it should not be shoved on the poor taxpayers of the state.

Senator Calhoun objected. "If the legislature and people of this state have grown so parsimonious," he said, "that their patriotism is all down in the cellar, then don't vote for this bill. But I don't think they have." The bill was finally referred to the finance committee to take action on placing the money needed on the general appropriation bill.

But one bill of much importance put in an appearance in the senate. It was by Senator Dar Hall, and provides for the establishment of a state hospital for criminal insane, to be located by the state board of control either at the state prison or in connection with some state asylum. The measure carries an appropriation of $50,000.

This afternoon the Senate railroad commission gave the railroad men a final hearing on pending legislation affecting the roads, then held an executive session after which the Peterson anti-pass bill, prohibiting passes, and the Peterson two cent railroad bill were reported out for passage.

In the house today, the W. A. Nolan reciprocal demurrage bill, materially amended, was reported out by the special committee of file having it in hand, and made a special order for consideration of the house Wednesday afternoon. One of the amendments provides that half of the penalty demanded of roads for failure to supply cars demanded, shall be paid to the state instead of all of it to the shipper who suffers. The penalty is changed to comply with a special schedule according to the number of cars ordered by one party and the length of time that party is made to wait.

George W. Rodenburg of St. Paul today introduced a bill providing for a constitutional amendment to exempt from taxation bonds of counties school districts, towns and cities.

The house adopted a resolution by W. L. Case of Cloquet calling for an investigation by a special committee of the feasibility of adopting a plan of indeterminate sentences for punishment of crime in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 20—The house today passed the reciprocal demurrage bill, by W. A. Nolan of Grand Meadow, by a vote of 113 to 1. The one lone man to vote against it was Thomas Brady of St. Paul, who comes from the district in which the head offices of the various railroads are located. There were one or two minor amendments adopted. Though a large number of changes were suggested by Ambrose Tighe of St. Paul, the house was not in a mood to make them. Several lawyers among the members doubted if the bill in its present form is constitutional, but the house passed this question up to the senate. The most important change in the bill compared to its original form is that half the demurrage which the railroads have to pay in default of supplying cars, goes into the treasury of the town where the cars are demanded, and but half to would-be shipper who suffers. The bill was considered as a special order today, and when it came to a vote everybody voted for it in view of the general demand that has gone up from the public for the measure.

Another important action today on the subject of railroad legislation, was the reporting into the senate by its railroad committee of two bills by Senator Peterson of Owatonna. One calls for prohibition of all passes, and the other makes two cents per mile the maximum charge which may be made for carrying passengers in Minnesota. The committee recommended both bills to pass. On the reading of the report, the senate burst into applause. Senator Peterson requested that both bills be made a special order for the following afternoon. Considerable debate followed, the discussion showing that two senate committees are going on junketing trips tomorrow. It was finally decided for this reason, to hold the special order over until next Tuesday afternoon. Both the Peterson bills seem sure to pass.

The senate listened to an eloquent address today by Senator J. M. Hackney of Hamline who took opportunity to explain his bill for a semi-centennial exposition in 1908, the state's anniversary of admission into the Union. The bill was reported in for passage by the state fair committee. Senator Hackney explained that tho the bill asks for $1,000,000 for the exposition, not one cent is really to be appropriated. The plan is to raise the entire sum by selling certificates of indebtedness, which are to be paid off by proceeds of the exposition, and future state fairs. He further stated that the bill calls for $850,000 to be invested in permanent improvements, new main building, new grand-stand, new sewer and lighting system, etc., which improvements will have to be made very soon anyway for future state fairs, whether or not the exposition is held.

Senator Moonan of Waseca introduced an important bill today. It calls for nomination of state officers candidates for the United States senate by each party at a primary election to be held seven weeks prior to the general election. The candidates thus nominated for the senate shall be referred to the legislature which must elect the United States senator from this field offered. The bill also demands that a voter at the primary election must announce his party affiliation for the next general election as well as the last one, to the primary election judges; otherwise, the judges are simply to register his name and refuse to permit him to vote at the primary. The aim is to confine the primary election to party lines. The bill went to the committee to elections.

Fire at State Park.

Mankato—The residence and store of J. B. Hodge, the Omaha railway agent and superintendent of the new state park at Minneopa, burned to the ground there, entailing a loss of nearly $3,000. He carried $1,900 insurance. Mr. Hodge and his family barely escaped with their lives, and were unable to save even their clothing.

Hogs Attack Farmer.

Mankato—William Woodburn, an Independence farmer, aged 71 years, was attacked and probably fatally injured by a vicious hog, but his faithful collie dog saved him from being killed outright. Woodburn was alone on the farm at the time, but his cries of pain and fright brought the dog to his rescue. The collie fought off the hog and killed it, and then stood guard over his master for two hours, when human help arrived.

Car Breaks in Two

Farihault—An expensives mash-up occurred at the coal docks of the Chicago Great Western railway in Kenyon while a freight train crew were putting up coal cars on the trestle. One car was shoved over the bumper and broke in two, the forward part of the car falling to the ground, while the other part remained on the trestle. Several other cars were also derailed upon the trestle. A wrecking crew soon cleared the track. No one was injured.

First Aid Outfit

St. Paul—The state labor department is sending out one thousand outfits for mills, workshops and other factories throughout the state to be used for giving "first aid to the injured." Each case sent out contains an anatomical chart, bandages absorbent cotton, olive oil and limewater, bichloride of mercury tablets, ammonia and adhesive plaster. It also contains the Red Cross rules for aiding victims of accidents. The will be a great protection for the workers of the state.

MUSCULAR AILMENTS

The Old-Monk-Cure will straighten out a contracted muscle in a jiffy.

ST. JACOBS OIL

Don't play possum with pain, but 'tends strictly to business.

Price 25c and 50c

The End of an Intention.

"What a pretty little gown that is you have on!" they exclaimed. "So soft and fine. Such delicate, lovely silk. All you'll have to do will be to take the yoke out of it to make it an evening gown."

"I like it," she said, complacently. "This is the way I happened to buy it: I went into a department store to buy a sturdy, thick, heavy woolen gown for mountain climbing—it was in the fall—and they showed me this, which was marked down for that day, so I bought it. What are you laughing at?"

PROVE EVERY CLAIM

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a Specific For Anaemia and a Safe Family Medicine.

When the body becomes run down, either as a result of overwork, worry or a severe illness, an examination of the blood would show it to be weak and watery. This condition is called anaemic, which is the medical term for "bloodless." The common symptoms are paleness of the lips, gums and cheeks, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, dull eyes and loss of appetite.

Mr. Louis L. Clark, a painter, of 19 Lincoln Place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Last May I was obliged to undergo an operation for appendicitis and while the operation in itself was successful, I did not recover my strength and health. I was confined to my bed for over a month and was under the doctor's care. When I was able to get up my legs were so weak and unsteady that I could only walk with a cane with difficulty.

"I was getting no better and could not think of going back to work. I was discouraged, when a neighbor told me that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured her and advised me to try them. I began taking them about the middle of June and soon felt so much better that I kept on and was cured.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured rheumatism, chlorosis, after-effects of the grip and fevers, and, as the health of the nerves depends upon the purity of the blood, they are invaluable in neuralgia, nervous debility, sleeplessness, dizziness and even locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Fertile Farming

LANDS

Cheap
Easy Terms

In the Best Section of the South

Unexcelled for General Farming, Stock Raising, Berries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Cantaloupes, Strawberries, Peaches, Apples, Grapes, etc., give handsome returns.

Cattle need but little winter feed.

HEALTHY CLIMATE.
GOOD WATER.
LONG GROWING SEASON.

Address G. A. PARK, Gen. Im. & Ind'l Agt.

Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

CHEAP LANDS Unexcelled for general farming, stock, dairying, fruits, truck, etc.; convenient to the very best markets and transportation facilities. Write nearest office for lists and publications. M. V. Richards, Land and Industrial Agent Southern Ry. and Mobile & Ohio R. R., Washington, D. C. C. S. Chase, West. Agt., 624 Chemical Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER XIII.—Continued.

Sometimes his grievance would have a personal basis, as when he told them: "I have gone to work and made roads to the canyon for wood; and I have cut wood down and piled it up, and then I have not got it. I wonder if any of you can say as much about the wood I have left there. I could tell stories of Elders that found and took my wood that should make professional thieves blush. And again I have proof to show that Bishops have taken thousands of pounds of wheat in tithing which they have never reported to the general tithing-office,—proof that they stole the wheat to let their friends speculate upon."

Under this very pointed denunciation many of the flock complained bitterly. But Brigham only increased the flow of his wrath upon them. "You need," said he, "to have it rain pitchforks, tines downward, from this pulpit, Sunday after Sunday."

Still, there were rebellious Saints to object, and, as Brigham drew the lines of his wrath tighter, these became more prominent in the community. When they voiced their discontent, they angered the priesthood. But when they indicated their purpose to leave the valley, as many soon did, they gave alarm. An exodus must be prevented at any cost, and so the priesthood let it be known that migration from the valley would be considered as nothing less than apostasy. In Brigham's own words: "The moment a person decides to leave this people, he is cut off from every object that is desirable in time or eternity. Every possession and object of affection will be taken from those who forsake the truth and their identity will eventually cease."

But, as the reform wave swept on, it became apparent that these words had been considered merely figurative by many who were about to seek homes outside the valley. From every side news came privately that this family or that was preparing to leave.

And so it came about that the first Sunday Joel Rae was able to walk to the tabernacle, still weak and wasted and trembling, he heard a sermon from Brigham which made him question his own soul in an agony of terror. For, on this day, was boldly preached, for the first time in Zion, something which had never before been more than whispered among the highest elect,—the doctrine of blood-atonement—of human sacrifice.

Under his discourse Joel Rae sat terrified, with a bloodless face, cowering as he had made others to cower six weeks before. The words seemed to carry his own preaching to its rightful conclusion; but now how changed was his world!—a whirling, sickening chaos of sin and remorse.

As he listened to Brigham's words, picturing the blood of the sinner smoking on the ground, his thoughts fled back to that night,—that night of wondrous light and warmth, the last he could remember before the great blank came.

Now the voice of Brigham came to him again: "'And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission!"

Then the service ended, and he saw Bishop Wright pushing toward him through the crowd.

"Well, well, Brother Rae—you do look peaked, for sure! But you'll pick up fast enough, and just in time, too. Lord! what won't Brother Brigham do when the Holy Ghost gets a strangle-holt on him? Now, then," he added, in a lower tone, "If I ain't mistaken, there's going to be some work for the Sons of Dan!"

CHAPTER XIV.

How the Souls of Apostates Were Saved.

The Wild Ram of the Mountains had spoken to-day; there was work at hand for the Sons of Dan. When his Witness at last came to Joel Rae, he tried vainly to recall the working of his mind at this time; to remember where he had made the great turn—where he had faced about. For, once, he knew, he had been headed the way he wished to go, a long, plain road, reaching straight toward the point whither all the aspirations of his soul urged him.

And then, all in a day or in a night, though he had seen never a turn in the road, though he had gone a true and straight course, suddenly he had looked up to find he was headed the opposite way. After facing his goal so long, he was now going from it—and never a turn! It was the wretched paradox of a dream.

The day after Brigham's sermon on blood-atonement, there had been a meeting in the Historian's office, presided over by Brigham. And here for the first time Joel Rae found he was no longer looked upon as one too radical. Somewhat dazedly, too, he realized at this close range the severely practical aspects of much that he had taught in theory. It was strange, almost unnerving, to behold his own teachings naked of their pulpit rhetoric: to find his long-cherished ideals materialized by literal-minded, practical men.

He heard again the oath he had sworn, back on the river-flat: "I will assist in executing all the decrees of the First President, Patriarch, or President of the Twelve, and I will cause all who speak evil of the Presidency or Heads of the Church to die the death of dissenters or apostates——" And then he had heard the business of the meeting discussed. Decisions were reached swiftly, and orders given in words that were few and plain. Even had these orders been repugnant to him, they were not to be questioned; they came from an infallible priesthood, obedience to which was the first essential to his soul's salvation; and they came again from the head of an organization to which he was bound by every oath he had been taught to hold sacred. But, while they left him dazed, disconcerted, and puzzled, he was by no means certain that they were repugnant. They were but the legitimate extension of his teachings since childhood, and of his own preaching.

In custody at Kayesville, 25 miles north of Salt Lake City, were six men who had been arrested by church authority while on their way east from California. They were suspected of being Federal spies. The night following the meeting which Joel Rae had attended, these prisoners were attacked while they slept. Two were killed at once; two more after a brief struggle; and the remaining two the following day, after they had been pursued through the night. The capable Bishop Wright declared in confidence to Joel Rae that it reminded him of old days at Nauvoo.

The same week was saved Rosmas Anderson, who had incurred rejection from Israel and eternal wrath by his misbehavior. Becoming submissive to the decree of the Church, when it was made known to him by certain men who came in the night, it was believed that his atonement would suffice to place him once more in the household of faith. He had asked but half a day to prepare for the solemn ceremony. His wife, regretful but firm in the faith, had provided clean garments for her sinful husband, and the appointed executioners dug his grave. They went for him at midnight. By the side of the grave they had let him kneel and pray. His throat had then been cut by a deft hand, and he was held so that his blood ran into the grave, thus consummating the sacrifice to the God of Israel. The widow, obeying instructions, announced that her husband had gone to California.

Then the soul of William Parrish, at Springville, was saved to eternal glory; also the soul of his son, Beason. For both of these sinful ones were on the verge of apostasy; had plotted, indeed, and made secret preparations to leave the valley, all of which were discovered by church emissaries, fortunately for the eternal welfare of the two most concerned. Yet a few years later, when the hated Gentiles had gained some shadow of authority in the new Zion, their minions were especially bitter as to this feat of mercy, seeking, indeed, to indict the performers of it.

As to various persons who met death while leaving the valley, opinion was divided on the question of their ultimate salvation. For it was announced concerning these, as their bodies were discovered from time to time, that the Indians had killed them.

It was now that Joel Rae became conscious that he was facing directly away from the glory he had so long sought and suffered for. Though as yet no blood for Israel had been shed in his actual presence, he had attended the meetings of the Sons of Dan, and was kept aware of their operations. It seemed to him in after years that his faculties had at this time been in trance.

He was seized at length with an impulse to be away from it all. As the days went by with their tragedies, he became half wild with restlessness and a strange fear of himself. In spite of his lifelong training, he knew there was wrong in the air. He could not question the decrees of the priesthood, but this much became clear to him,—that only one thing could carry with it more possibilities of evil than this course of the Church toward dissenters—and that was to doubt that Brigham Young's voice was as the voice of God. Not yet could he bring himself to this. But the unreasoning desire to be away became so strong that he knew he must yield to it.

Turning this in his mind one day he met a brother Elder, a man full of zeal who had lately returned from a mission abroad. There had been, he said, a great outpouring of the spirit in Wales.

"And what a glorious day has dawned here," he continued. "Thank God, there is a way to save the souls of the blind! That reminds me—have you heard of the saving work Brother Pixley was obliged to do?"

"Brother Pixley?—no." He heard his own voice tremble, in spite of his effort at self-control. The other became more confidential, stepping closer and speaking low.

"Of course, it ain't to be talked of freely, but you have a right to know, for was it not your own preaching that led to this glorious reformation? You see, Brother Pixley came back with me, after doing great works abroad. Naturally, he came full of love for his wives. But he had been here only a few days when he became convinced that one of them had forgotten him; something in her manner made him suspect it, for she was a woman of singularly open, almost recklessly open, nature. Then a good neighbor came and told him that one night, while on his way for the doctor, he had seen this woman take leave of her lover—had seen the man, whom he could not recognize, embrace her at parting. He taxed her with this, and she at once confessed, though protesting that she had not sinned, save in spirit. You can imagine his grief, Brother Rae, for he had loved the woman. Well, after taking counsel from Brigham, he talked the matter over with her very calmly, telling her that unless her blood smoked upon the ground, she would be cast aside in eternity. She really had spiritual aspirations, it seems, for she consented to meet the ordeal. Then, of course, it was necessary to learn from her the name of the man—and when all was ready for the sacrifice, Brother Pixley commanded her to make it known."

"Which Wife Did You Say—"

"Tell me which of Brother Pixley's wives it was." He could feel the little cool beads of sweat upon his forehead.

"The fifth, did I not say? But to his amazement and chagrin, she refused to give him the name of the man, and he had no way of learning it otherwise, since there was no one he could suspect. He pointed out to her that not even her blood could save her should she die shielding him. But she declared that he was a good man, and that rather than bring disgrace upon him she would die—would even lose her soul; that in truth she did not care to live, since she loved him so that living away from him was worse than death. I have said she was a woman of a large nature, somewhat reckless and generous, and her mistaken notion of loyalty led her to persist in spite of all the threats and entreaties of her distressed husband. She even smiled when she told him that she would rather die than live away from this unknown man, smiled in a way that must have enraged him—since he had never won that kind of love from her for himself—for then he let her meet the sacrifice without further talk. He drew her on to his knee, kissed her for the last time, then held her head back—and the thing was done. How sad it is that she did not make a full confession. Then, by her willing sacrifice, she would have gone direct to the circle of the Gods and Goddesses; but now, dying as she did, her soul must be lost——"

"Which wife did you say——"

"The fifth—she that was Mara Cavan—but, dear me, Brother Rae! you should not be out so soon! Why, man, you're weak as a cat! Come, I'll walk with you as far as your house, and you must lie abed again until you are stronger. I can understand how you wished to be up as soon as possible; how proud you must feel that your preaching has led to this glorious awakening and made it possible to save the souls of many sinful ones—but you must be careful not to overtax yourself."

Four days later, a white-faced young Elder applied to Brigham for permission to go to the settlements on the south. He professed to be sick, to have suffered a relapse owing to incautious exposure so soon after his long illness. He seemed, indeed, not only to be weak, but to be much distressed and torn in his mind.

Brigham was gracious enough to accord the desired permission, adding that the young Elder could preach the revived gospel and rebaptize on his way south, thus combining work with recreation. He was also good enough to volunteer some advice.

"What ails you mostly, Brother Joel, is your single state. What you need is wives. You've been here ten years now, and it's high time. You're given to brooding over things that are other people's to brood on, and then, you're naturally soul-proud. Now, a few wives will humble you and make you more reasonable, like the rest of us. I don't want to be too downright with you, like I am with some of the others, because I've always had a special kind of feeling for you, and so I've let you go on. But you think it over, and talk to me about it when you come back. It's high time you was building up your thrones and dominions in the Kingdom."

He started south the next day, riding down between the two mountain ranges that bordered the valley, stopping at each settlement, breathing more freely, resting more easily, as each day took him farther away. Yet, when he closed his eyes, there, like an echo, was the vision of a woman's face with shining eyes and lips,—a vision that after a few seconds was washed away by a great wave of blood.

But after a few days, certain bits of news caught up with him that happily drove this thing from his sight for a time by stirring within him all his old dread of Gentile persecution.

First he heard that Parley Pratt, the Archer of Paradise and one of the Twelve Apostles, had been foully murdered back in Arkansas while seeking to carry to their mother the children of his ninth wife. The father of these children, so his informant reported, had waylaid and shot him.

Then came rumors of a large wagon-train going south through Utah on its way to California. Reports said it was composed chiefly of Missourians, some of whom were said to be boasting that they had helped to expel the Saints from Jackson county in that state. Also in this train were reported to be several men from Arkansas who had been implicated in the assassination of Apostle Pratt.

But news of the crowning infamy reached him the following day,—news that had put out all thought of his great sin and his bloody secret, news of a thing so monstrous that he was unable to give it credence until it had been confirmed by other comers from the north. President Buchanan, inspired by tales that had reached him of various deeds growing out of the reformation, and by the treatment which various Federal officers were said to have received, had decided that rebellion existed in the Territory of Utah. He had appointed a successor to Brigham Young as governor, so the report ran, and ordered an army to march to Salt Lake City for the alleged purpose of installing the new executive.

Three days later all doubt of the truth of this story was banished. Word then came that Brigham was about to declare martial law, and that he had promised that Buchanan's army should never enter the valley.

Now his heart beat high again, with something of the old swift fervor. The Gentile yoke was at last to be thrown off. War would come, and the Lord would surely hold them safe while they melted away the Gentile hosts.

He reached the settlement of Parowan that night, and when they told him there that the wagon-train coming south—their ancient enemies who had plundered and butchered them in Jackson county—was to be cut off before it left the basin, it seemed but right to him, the just vengeance of Heaven upon their one-time despoilers, and a fitting first act in the war drama that was now to be played.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Modest, But—

"Bjenks isn't a bit conceited, is he?"

"Not a particle, although he admits that any man with his abilities doubtless would be."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

Fangs Are Not Drawn.

St. Paul—"Sam" Fullerton is not a dead one yet, and certain dealers in contraband game who held a banquet recently in St. Paul to rejoice over the game protector's downfall find that their jubilation was premature. Mr. Fullerton is no longer executive agent but he has been retained by the game and fish commission with the title of "superintendent of fisheries," He will have charge of the St. Paul and Glenwood fish hatcheries, will superintend the taking of fish eggs and fry, and will assist in the executive department when needed. This means that during the duck and chicken season Fullerton will be just as perniciously active as ever.

The new commission organized as follows: O. J. Johnson of Glenwood, was elected president; J. H. Grill of Sherburne, vice-president; Robert H. Hanna of Fergus Falls, secretary, and Carlos Avery of Hutchinson, executive agent. The commission settled the disputed claim of Tanner Brothers for fish ponds at the Glenwood hatchery on the basis of $1,300.

Taxes.

St. Paul—The abstract of tax lists of all counties of Minnesota, just issued by State Auditor Iverson, shows that the average rate of taxation in Minnesota has fallen from 26.20 mills in 1905, to 25.60 mills in 1906.

The total amount of taxes paid by the people of Minnesota for all purposes, state, county, city, village and school districts, amounts to $23,472,577.06, an increase of over $1,100,000 over the previous year.

The rate of taxation in Hennepin county is 25.33 mills, slightly below the average in the state. Hennepin's total taxes amount to $5,253,264.75, nearly one-fourth of all taxes paid in the state.

The total value of all property in Minnesota for taxation purposes is $917,017,413, compared to $853,033,535 in 1905. Of the total amount personal property constitutes $163,432,357.

City and village taxes show a substantial increase throughout. The taxes for state revenue purposes have decreased from $1,538,801 in 1905 to $1,421,387 in 1906.

Cooley to Be Delegate.

St. Paul—George W. Cooley, secretary of the state highway commission, has been invited to attend the fourth annual convention of the American Roadmakers' Association, which will be held at Pittsburg for three days, beginning March 12. Mr. Cooley will be the delegate from Minnesota. Possibly Gustave Scholle of the state highway commission will also attend. There will be representatives at the convention from all parts of the Union and addresses will be made by expert road builders from various parts of the country.

Poultry Men Ballot.

Mankato—At the annual meeting of the Central Minnesota Poultry Association, it was decided to hold the next annual poultry show in this city on Jan. 4 to 10, 1908. The report of the secretary showed the recent show to have been a success in every way. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: H. W. Perry, president; Charles E. Kleth, first vice-president; Mrs. Ed. McGrath of St. Peter, second vice-president; E. C. Willard, treasurer; J. W. Kollman, secretary; C. E. Kleth, superintendent.

Totes Dog to St. Paul.

Moorhead—A man who claims to be traveling from Havre, Mont., to St. Paul, was picked up and brought to this city by a Great Northern section crew. The man, who says his name is Hawley, was found about two miles southeast of Moorhead. He was walking along the tracks and carried a dead dog over his shoulder. He wanted to sell the carcass for $200, but insisted that he must keep the skin, which he had to take to St. Paul. He is being held pending an inquiry as to his sanity.

Fire at Kasota.

Mankato—Kasota was visited by one of the worst fires in its history. Babcock & Buell's three two-story brick store buildings burned to the ground with their entire contents. They were occupied by M. A. Ostrander who conducted a general merchandise store in one, a dry goods store in the second and a hardware store in the third. The loss on the buildings is about $12,000, only one-third covered by insurance, and the loss to the stock is $20,000, one-half covered by insurance.

Is Given 35 Years.

Minneapolis—Thirty-five years of imprisonment at the state penitentiary is the penalty imposed by Judge Simpson upon John Wilson, recently convicted in the Hennepin county court of the crime of highway robbery. The reason for the heavy sentence lies in the fact that Wilson has been convicted of similar crimes three times before.

News Notes.

Mankato—The public school at Cleveland is closed for two weeks on account of an epidemic of measles.

Milaca—John Hanks, an Indian, was found dead in the road near Page. Coroner Bacon decided that the man had been frozen to death. Several bottles of whisky were found on the body, and it is supposed that the Indian had become intoxicated and lay down in the road to sleep and was frozen to death.

Cannon Falls—Joseph Timmeras was run over by a train at Stanton, a station about eight miles west of here. He was on his way home from Wisconsin to visit his father, who is in poor health. He had stepped off the train and was about to start for home when he was struck.

Fierce Drive.

McIntosh.—Driving thirty miles through deep snow, the journey occupying three days, with a sick child in her arms for the entire distance, Mrs. Albert Oefstos aptly illustrated the pluck and hardihood of Minnesota women. Mrs. Oefstos lives on a claim near Lillo, and this winter her husband has been working in the woods, leaving his wife and child alone. Two weeks ago the little one was taken violently ill with croup, and then came a fight for its life. The mother treated the little one with such home remedies as she had, but finding that the disease did not yield, she determined to bring it here to a doctor. She harnessed a horse to a cutter and wrapping herself and the little one as warmly as possible and taking along a supply of cooked food, started on the thirty-mile drive. So deep was the snow that not more than ten miles a day could be accomplished. The nights were spent with friendly settlers, and with the first break of dawn the anxious mother again started on her quest for relief for the child. The journey ended and the mother felt well repaid for her hardships by the recovery of the child.

Wound Likely to Kill.

Browns Valley.—Ole Aspesletten was shot here with a 32 calibre revolver in the hands of Peter Branden, a well-known farmer, living over the line in Roberts county, South Dakota. The shooting is supposed to have been accidental, although Branden is being held to see if the result proves fatal. Aspesletten is still alive, but the doctors say his chances for recovery are small. Four ragged holes in his intestines mark the path of the bullet. He is 24 years old and came from Norway a year ago. The men had been fishing and indulged in alcohol. Careless handling of a loaded revolver is given as the cause of the affair, although there is rumor of a previous quarrel.

Log Kills "Top-Loader."

Tower—Axel Anderson, a woodsman, 23 years old, while engaged in "top-loading" at a lumber camp near here, was instantly killed. While the logs were being hoisted to the top of the load, one of them broke loose and dropped back. Anderson was struck on the head and was instantly killed.

Fire at State Park.

Mankato—The residence and store of J. B. Hodge, the Omaha railway agent and superintendent of the new state park at Minneopa, burned to the ground there, entailing a loss of nearly $3,000. He carried $1,900 insurance. Mr. Hodge and his family barely escaped with their lives, and were unable to save even their clothing.

Jasper's Mill Burned.

Pipestone—A destructive fire visited Jasper, the flour mill at that place being entirely consumed. The manager and all employed were at supper, and the origin of the fire is a mystery. The total loss is estimated at from $10,000 to $12,000, which is only partly covered by insurance. Flour, feed and wheat were destroyed.

News Notes.

Vernon Center.—Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Barnes celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. About eighty of their old neighbors and friends assembled from Vernon Center, Lake Crystal and vicinity.

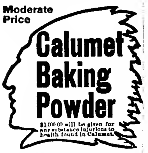
Mankato.—While Raymond Doyle and William Engel, of Plum Valley, were on their way home from Minnesota Lake the king bolt on the wagon broke, throwing both men out. Engel was not much injured, but Doyle was badly hurt and was carried back to Minnesota Lake. It was found that his jaw was broken and it was necessary to remove six of his teeth.

Newton.—The 11-year-old daughter of John Blush, of Bluffton, sustained a serious laceration of her hand by the explosion of a dynamite cap. The little girl was alone in the house, and out of curiosity picked up a dynamite cap which her father had made for using in some blasting that he intended to do. While she was examining it the cap exploded, tearing a hole through her hand.

Faribault.—Wolves in this county are more numerous than in former years and many are being shot. It is reported that a hunter shot a large timber wolf inside of the city limits the other day. A woman living on the outskirts of the city a few evenings ago heard a disturbance in her hen house, and upon investigation she found a wolf trying to get at her poultry. She attempted to chase the beast away, but it showed fight. When she returned with help, the animal had disappeared.

Mankato.—Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Barnes, well known residents of Vernon Center, celebrated the fiftieth birthday anniversary of their wedding a day or so ago. Eighty of their old friends and neighbors from Vernon Center, Lake Crystal and vicinity assembled to do them honor, and a bountiful luncheon was served. The old couple were presented with several handsome gifts. A biography of the couple was read by E. W. Washburn. The celebration was planned and took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Barnes.

Minneapolis.—H. W. Lauderdale, of Minneapolis, Fred R. Johnson, of New Richmond, K. J. Knutson, of Mankato, and William S. Ervin are the four freshmen chosen to enter the annual inter-class oratorical contest in the university chapel March 6. The sophomores who won places are Dagny Knutson, of St. Cloud, Z. L. Potter and M. Lowenthal, of Minneapolis, and S. H. Peterson, of Minneota. The eight were picked from a field of nineteen contestants. Professors M. L. Sanford and E. E. McDermott and D. W. Sprague, N. Whitney and T. Cahill were the judges. Three prizes are offered in the final contest, $25, $15 and $10.



Moderate Price

Calumet Baking Powder

$1000.00 will be given for any substance injurious to health found in Calumet.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening. Entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

DAIRY AND TRUCK FARMS.

Northern Minnesota lands, expert and authorities who have made personal investigations declare, should be in great demand right now for dairy farms, while all the tracts within five or ten miles of the cities and towns should be held at goodly prices for truck gardens. That these are not present conditions is due to the fault of some one in not setting these advantages before Eastern homeseekers versed in the art of dairying and raising garden produce.

Experts agree that the lands of Northern Minnesota afford infinitely better opportunities for preminm dairy farms than do those of Denmark and Sweden. It is declared that the finest, richest, most succulent clover of any in the world can be produced on the ground that has been mulched for centuries and centuries by the forest trees. Such clover will, beyond all manner of doubt, produce the best of milk and cream and the butter products, by experience and care, can be made to rank even above the world-renowed butter of Denmark

As for the truck farming industry in the vicinity of the cities and towns, Northern Minnesota will certainly produce everything that Southern Canada, Northern Vermont and New Hampshire and Central Maine will. There is almost undisputable evidence from limited experience, as well as from the nature of the soil, that the yields of such truck farms will; in the hands of skilled garden workers, far surpass even the famous yields of Maine and Ontario. The steady growth of the cities of this section and the present high cost of importing "garden sass" from other states assures ready and steady markets for all vegetables at good profits.

Of course, the heavily timbered nature of most of the land will necessitate considerable work in clearing, but an expert farmer and dairyman would welcome an encircling belt of timber as the best of wind and storm breaks and as affording shelter for cattle in summer and whenever the inclemency of the season does not necessitate confinement in barns. The experiences of those who have so far made eminent successes of dairy places in this region prove these claims.

To the objection that there are few roads through Northern Minnesota and the rail communication is the poorest, it may safely be answered that roads will be constructed and electric or steam lines will follow quickly on the demand for service. That has been the repeated experience everywhere else and there is no reason tor thinking that it will fail in this section. That all of Northern Minnesota, except, of course, the forest reserve, will be a string of dairy and truck farms before many years is a safe speculation.—Duluth Herald.

A Doctor's Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is not a simple cough syrup. It is a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. It cures hard cases, severe and desperate cases, chronic cases of asthma, pleurisy, bronchitis, consumption. Ask your doctor about this.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

You will hasten recovery by taking one of Ayer's Pills at bedtime.

After having been snowbound for nearly two months North Dakota has just succeeded in raising her head high enough above a snow drift to proclaim, like Mark Twain in response to inquiries concerning rumors of his death,—"reports greatly exaggerated."

The state fair association wants $1,500,000 for a semi-centennial celebration; St. Paul wants $2,000,000 for state capital approaches, or in other words to improve St. Paul; the state "U" could use a million to boost faculty salaries, while the common people keep right on digging up annually and wonder why their representatives never get any of those big "wads" for the benefit of the taxpayer.

The railroads protest that the present agitation, if continued, will demoralize the business of the transportation companies and is likely to precipitate a panic in financial circles. The railroads have held control of the reins of transportation so long that they look upon the traffic world as theirs by right of conquest, and if they think it will carry their point they will be only too willing to loose a few millions in demoralizing traffic conditions and tightening the money market until the people in people in sheer desperation will be willing to yield the bone of contention. Let us hope there will be no yielding on the part of the people.

Elmer E. Adams, member of the legislature from Fergus Falls has introduced a bill in the house appropriating $1,500,000 for a "Semi Centenial Bridge Fund" to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the admission of the State of Minnesota into the Union. Various schemes have been proposed for celebrating the coming anniversary, the principal one being the holding of a six weeks exposition at the state fair grounds for which a strong lobby is at work to have the legislature appropriate $1,000,000. The Memorial which Mr. Adams proposes is certainly the most practical and it is one which will appeal to the people of every county in the state for everywhere there is need of permanent bridges, and the townships are unable to build them unaided. The bill provides for issuing certificates of indebtedness by the state for $1,500,000 bearing 4 per cent interest and these are to be paid off at the rate of $100,000 a year. This is the plan on which the $4,000,000 capitol was built and the one on which it is proposed to raise $1,000,000 for the "expanded" state fair and the $1,500,000 for the capitol approaches. The bill divides the $1,500,000 among the counties of the state according to their size and needs and is to be used in building iron, stone or concrete bridges, and on each bridge there is to be a tablet of iron which shall read "Erected in 1908 in Commemoration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Admission of Minnesota into the Union." The money when paid to the counties will be apportioned by the county boards, which will determine what proportion of the cost of the bridge shall be provided by the township or village and what proportion shall be paid out of the Semi-Centennial fund. Under the provisions of the bill Red Lake county would receive $10,000.

Piles of people have Piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve and get relief. Nothing else so good. Beware of Imitations. See that the name is stamped on each box. Sold by all druggists.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.—First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

A TWO DAYS SESSION

County Commissioners Meet And Spend a Couple of Days Locking After Accumulated Business.

The county board met at the Auditor's office Tuesday morning, and spent the afternoon and evening going over and taking care of a big bunch of accumulated county business.

The financial statement of Red Lake county for the year 1906, as submitted by Auditor O'Brien, was approved and ordered published.

Several pending school matters were taken up and disposed of. The petition of H. B. Blaekey for a new district in Silverton township was granted. The petion of Frank Savage et al., for a new district was rejected, inasmuch as it embraced territory in three districts already organized.

The petition of Joseph Johnson et al., for a new district in town of Star, and the petition of Stalla Ptacek, for a new district in town of Silverton were read and hearing set for next meeting.

Erick J. Lowe petitioned to be set off from district 51 to district 30; Stephen Jacobson petitions to be set off from district 51 to district 30; Anfin Torkelson petitions to be sent off from district 51 to district 221 and Ole J. Valsviek asks to be sent off from district 51 to 221. Hearing on these petitions will be heard at the next meeting of the board.

The surety bond of E. G. Buse as official abstracter of Red Lake county was approved.

H. A. Homme of Grilhrok postoffice, Polk county, was granted an auctioner's licence.

The town of Terrebonne was granted the sum of $200 to aid in repairing bridge oves Clearwater.

Jacob Thill applied for licence to sell liquors at Wylie, which will be decided at the next meeting.

The sum of $50 was given to A. D. Brown to build road in new town of Star.

The sum of $350 was appropriated to aid in repairing a road in the city of Thief River Falls.

A typewriter was purchased for the Judge of Probate's office.

The sum of $150 or as much thereof as required was given the County Treasurer for clerk hire.

A big bunch of bills were allowed and the board adjourned sinedie.

MANY TEACHERS PASS

County Superintendent Receives Returns On Recent Examinations.

County Superintendent of Schools McAnulty has received his returns from the recent state teachers' examinations held in this county, and considering the number of actual teachers who wrote the examinations the returns are highly satisfactory.

The following is a list of those who passed, and the grade of certificate they secured:

Florence Columbus, Terrebonne, first; Bertha L. Lafreniere, Red Lake Falls, first; Marie A. Burgess, Thief River Falls, con first; Irene A. Caldwell, Thief River Falls, second; Anna J. Fallman, St. Hilaire, second; Wm. J. Harlow, Red Lake Falls, second; Mayme M. Linnihan, Red Lake Falls, second; Caroline Nettleland, St. Hilaire, second; Frank M. Shanahan, Thief River Falls, second; Marius Rollaud, St. Hilaire, second; Bridgetta Connaughty, Red Lake Falls, con. second; Winifred M. Henry, Kratka, con. second; Morah E. Anderson, St. Hilaire, con. second; Clara Berg, Red Lake Falls, con. second; Pauline A. Boe, Thief River Falls, con. second; Bertha M. Dougherty, Red Lake Falls, con. second; Anna B. Johnson, Thief River Falls, con. second; Ella Krueger, Red Lake Falls, con. second; Dora Rasmussen, Thief River Falls, con. second; Julia Tohan, Red Lake Falls, con. second; Alyee Mae Wichterman, Red Lake Falls, con. second; Minnie A. Brown, Thief Rivrr Falls, limited second; Margaret McAndress, St. Hilaire, lim. second; Edwin J. Dahl, St. Hilaire, lim. second; Esther N. Johnson, St. Hilaire, lim. second; Ole Lund, St. Hilaire, lim. second.

In explanation Mr. McAnulty desires to call the attention of the school boards and others to the fac that this list is only of those who passed at the recent examinations. A great many of the teachers of the county, already holding sufficient state papers, did not participate in the exams. A first grade state certificate is good for five years, a second grade for two years, a conditional second grade for one year, a limited second grade issued to applicants without experience one year, after five months continuous teaching this can be exchanged for a complete second. Practically all of the conditioned certificates this year are for Civics, a study that will not be required in second grade work until the August examinations, so that this showing is highly satisfactory. The superintendent wishes it understood plainly, and desires the co-operation of all school officers, that no one holding a permit be given a school until after all the teachers with state papers have been engaged.

The schools of the county were never in better shape, and Mr. McAnulty is working hard to make 1907 the most successful school year in the county's history.

People Should Be Careful.

A patron of the Red Lake Falls postoffice was called upon to pay $10 as a penalty fer enclosing a letter in a package of Flodora tags and mailing as fourthclass matter. Under instructions the postmaster at St. Louis examined package finding letter reported facts to the department and collection was made.

Postal Laws and Regulations.

Any person who shall knowingly conceal or inclose any matter of a higher class in that of a lower class, and deposit or cause the same to be deposited for conveyance by mail, at a less rate than would be charged for both such higher and lower class matter, shall, for every such offense, be liable to a penalty of $10.00.

A liquid cold relief with a laxative principle which drives out the cold through a copious action of the bowels, and a healing principle which lingers in the throat and stops the coughs—that is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Safe and sure in its action; pleasant to take; and conforms to National Pure Food and Drug law. Contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

Nice assortment—from 150 to 200—of the latest Edison gold-mounted phonograph records, always on hand. Latest issued; all good. Buy your phonograph records from us.—Anderson & Wander.

A schedule has been prepared by the state highway commission for the distribution of the state road and bridge fund, amounting to $60,000, among the several counties of the state. The division is based on the property valuation and the number of miles of road in each county. The big counties of Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis are given the three per cent limit allowed by law, $1,800 each, and the bulk of the fund is distributed among the rich and populous counties of the southern and central part of the state, while the sparsely settled counties of northern Minnesota receive pittances ranging from three hundred to five or six hundred dollars. In other words the counties that need state aid most in the construction of highways receive the least. There will be another meeting of the commission before the final distribution and an effort will be made to have justice done the northern counties.

Pitcher's Castoria.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Made from Pure Grape Cream of Tartar

The only excuse for buying anything but a Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Baking Powder is to save a few cents in price.

¶ROYAL costs you a few cents more per can than Alum or Phosphate of Lime powders, but it is worth far more than the difference to keep your biscuits, cakes and pastry free from the injurious effects of these cheapening substitutes.

¶Continued use of Alum means permanent injury to health.

Avoid Alum Ailments—Say plainly
ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours

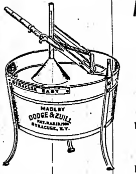
Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date

Give me a call.

The Syracuse "Easy" Washer



SYRACUSE EASY
MADE BY DODGE & ZUILL PAT. MAR. 13, 1900 SYRACUSE, N.Y.

A Few Reasons Why You ... Should Have One ...

It saves the clothes.

It saves precious time.

It saves physical force.

It saves in cost—no new tubs or boards to buy.

It washes cleaner and rinses better.

It is adapted to both heavy and light clothes.

We Have Sold Hundreds of these machines since we have had the agency—another good reason why you should have one. We wouldn't have sold so many if they weren't right. Remember we put them out on trial and the price is only ....

$8.00

Hunt Hardware Co.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter presses, filing devices, It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than any other. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

P. A. Eckstrom was here from Black River on business Tuesday.

Hank Draper was down from Thief River Falls several days this week.

Nels Nelson, a Plummer business man, was a business caller here Tuesday.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

Before you buy a new hat come in and look at the new Lanphers at the Busy Store.

Rev. I. T. Aastad was here from Thief Falls last Friday evening and held services at the Norwegian Lutheran church.

Carl Krueger departed last evening for Antler, North Dakota, after a visit of three weeks with his parents and many friends here.

P. E. Pirath has been out on the road some during the past two weeks in the interests of the American LaFrance Fire Engine company, for which he is northwestern agent.

The venerable Fred Krueger is again able to be about town, after a three weeks' lay-up as a result of a fall wherein he fractured three ribs. His injuries have healed nicely and Mr. Krueger will shortly be as well as of yore.

On last Saturday afternoon the Fosston Woolen mills passed into the hands of the F. A. Patrick Co., wholesale dry goods dealers of Duluth. The new owners have purchased all the merchandise and raw material and leased the machinery for a long term of years and will continue to run the mill in its present location.

The members of the Elks quartette were delightfully entertained at the J. L. Tracy home while in the city last Friday evening. Mrs. Tracy and Miss Ida Miller were hostesses of the occasion and prepared a very elaborate spread for the singers. The table was decorated with the Elks' colors, and the party was a very enjoyable one.

Joe McCaffery arrived here Tuesday evening and is spending several days with his many Red Lake Falls friends. Joe is now empolyed by a large land firm at Winnipeg and is on his way to the southern part of the state, where he will spend the next month at advertising work for his firm. He will also travel through Illinois and Iowa for the same purpose. Joe has been making a big success of his work at the "Peg." and his many friends here are pleased to learn of his prosperity.

$50,000.00 to loan on farms at lowest rate of interest. Call at the First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

When in the City
stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

'Phone 7—Groceries--SPILLANES.

The Big Store has a new ad in today's paper.

Sheriff Nelson was a visitor at Thief River Tuesday.

Wanted—To buy 20 cords of green poplar wood. Apply at the Big Store.

Halvor Locken, of Thief Fiver Falls was an over-night visitor here last Friday.

County Treasurer Tandberg spent last Friday visiting with his family at Thief River Falls.

We still have a number of pieces of 10 and 12½ Val. Laces for 4 cents per yard. Gareeau & Zaiser.

Roadmaster E. J. Regan went up to Thief River Falls yesterday, where he had some business that needed his attention.

Dr. Spofford will miss his visits for March and April, to Red Lake Falls. Next visit May 7. At Grand View Hotel.

Editor Chas. W. Latta and Chief of Police Joseph Morisette were in from Plummer yesterday looking after some business matters

Peter Walker, of Marshall, arrived yesterday for a visit with his brothers in this neighborhood, and to look after his real estate holdings.

J. J. Schoenauer, son of Paul Schoenauer, of Lake Pleasant, is at present employed as bookkeeper for a big concern at Armington, Montana.

Sam E. Hunt was in over Sunday to look after his business interests here. Sam likes his work on the road better with each succeeding day, and makes a very popular "knight of the grip."

Sheriff L. A. Nelson went up to Thief River Falls last Friday and the following day had the remainder of his household goods brought down here. Mr. Nelson has leased the Wm. Zaiser place on Bottineau avenue and is moving there this week.

A. Van der Wall, B. O. Wilkinson, Mort McKnight and Emery Dion, prominent Poplar River farmers, spent Tuesday in the city looking after some business matters. The Gazette was favored with a call from the gentleman.

F. C. Page, formerly cashier of the Citizens State Bank of McIntosh, was killed in an electric train wreck at New York last week. Mr. Page was well known to many of the older residents in this vicinity and was popular with those he came in contact with. He left McIntosh about eight or nine years ago and went east.

Conrad Lajambe came over from over from Blackduck Tuesday and spent a couple of days here looking after some business matters and visiting with his family. Mr. Lajambe has been logging near Blackduck this winter, and says that the winter has been a hard one for the lumbermen. He expects to be home some time next month to remain until the spring is well opened up.

Miss Ellda Peterson has reopened her dressmaking parlors in the front rooms of the Scheldrup block, and is prepared to meet her former patrons. Miss Peterson's establishment was badly damaged in the Reichel fire, and for a time she was undecided whether or not to reopen them. However, the former patrons of Miss Peterson were insistent that she reengage in business with the result that she has fitted up her new rooms in elegant shape and is again prepared for the public's patronage.

Macaroni seed wheat for sale.—L. C. Simons.

See Salley for your coal supply.

H. H. Zaiser was a Grand Forks visitor yesterday.

Edison phonographs for sale from $10 up.—Anderson & Wander.

Mrs. J. B. O'Brien visited at St. Hilaire between trains Monday.

J. R. Fortler was a business visitor at Crookston over Monday night.

Rev. Father Fayolle went down to Crookston Monday evening for an over-night visit with friends.

Register of Deeds Quist and Clerk of Court Johnson attended the farmers meeting at St. Hilaire last Friday.

Sheriff L. A. Nelson left last evening for Minneapolis where he will spend a few days visiting with relatives and attending to some business matters.

Miss Marion Annand came down from Thief River Falls Friday evening to attend the band concert, and remained as a guest at the Rev. H. W. Knox home until Monday morning.

All headaches go
When you grow wiser
And learn to use
An "Early Riser."

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, safe, sure pills.—All druggists.

Court Commissioner S. T. Johnson was down from Thief River Falls over Wednesday. Mr. Johnson did not have his anti-injunction plank along with him, but even then he failed to stumble onto one of those injunctions.

"Star Brand Shoes Are Better." They are made of the genuine Chromo calf skin, the kind that will stand spring wear, and in order to introduce them we are giving a special discount of 25 per cent on each pair. Get 'em at the Busy Store. G. & Z.

Chas. Boughton, jr., who has been dangerously ill for the past week, is reported as greatly improved at the present writing, much to the gratification of the people of the city. He is practically out of danger and on the high road to complete recovery.

Gentleman or lady to travel for Mercantile House of large capital. Territory at home or abroad to suit. If desirable the home may be used as headquarters. Weekly salary of $1,000 per year and expenses. Address, Jos. A. Alexander, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Nightwatchman Arther Lizee was called to St. Paul last Saturday by a message announcing the death of his brother, Roch J. Lizee, who died suddenly from heart failure at his home there last Thursday evening. Mr. Lizee remained over Monday and attended the funeral. Deceased was well known to many of the older residents of this county, having settled here in 1879, locating at what is now Terrebonne. Mr. Lizee being the chiefer mover in the organization of that town. He lived in this section until about fifteen years ago, when he moved to St. Paul, where he has since lived. He leaves a wife and five children—three girls and two boys, besides several brothers and sisters to mourn him

The members of the Study Club were elegantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas Germo last Thursday evening, Mesdames L. C. Simons, H. W. Knox and Thomas Germo doing the honors. The party was a commemoration of Washington's birthday anniversary, and the Germo home was elaborately decorated with American flags, bunting, etc. The rooms were lighted with candles and candellabras, and many beautiful geraniums were used in the decorations. A guessing match on contemporaneous history and a cherry tree contest furnished the diversion, Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain and Miss Laura Willson each receiving a crown of laurel for highest honors. An elaborate lunch was served, and the evening was most thoroughly enjoyed by the club members. Miss Marion Annand, of Thief River, was a guest.

Plummer Pioneer: Olaf Tande was here yesterday on his way home to Garnes from St. Hilaire with a fine three-weeks-old bull calf which he purchased from Chas. Gustafson. The calf is from a pure bred Guernsey sire and a choice grade Holstein dam which will make a choice dairy sire if he lives for two or three years more. Mr. Tande deserves credit for the efforts he is continually making to improve dairying conditions in this part of the country.....John Mahla was yesterday from his home west of town for the first time in six weeks. His home has been quarantined on account of the illness of one of his children with scarlet fever but on Tuesday last the physician in attendance pronounced all danger past and removed the quarantine. Mr. Mahla says he is glad it is over and that he will be pleased to see his friends call at his home again as of old....J. E. Buskirk went to Red Lake Falls on Tuesday in response to a letter received that morning announcing the illness of his oldest son with pneumonia. On Wednesday evening the little fellow was so much improved that Mr. Buskirk returned here to resume the management of the local lumber yard.

Large amount of money to loan on farms.—Simons & Co.

Salley sells coal. Phone 79.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

T. Akre, of Thief River Falls, was an over night visitor here Monday.

Edison phonographs with fancy decorated concert horns, from $15 to $35.—Anderson & Wander.

Wm. Schaper and Ildage Baril, two successful south end farmers, attended the farmers meeting at St. Hilaire last Friday. They report a highly profitable gathering.

Grand Rapids Independent: Mrs. Cliff Orm, of Lambert, arrived here Saturday last, on her way to Coleraine where Mr. Orm is employed with the Coleraine Lumber company. Mr. Orm met her here on Sunday, they being the guests while here of the Independent family.

Dave Paradis, one of Poplar River's foremost hustlers, was a caller here Monday. Dave reported that early last week a son was born to them—being their thirteenth child—eleven of whom are living at present. Mr. Paradis scoffed at the idea that it was hard to support a family of this size, and seemed of the opinion that most of the hardships in this life were imaginary ones. Mr. Paradis has a fine farm in Poplar River and has prospered very nicely during the past few years.

Nothing will relieve Indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. KODOL is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. KODOL takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs, and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of KODOL are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. KODOL is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by all druggists.

The "men folks" of the Presbyterian congregation are to prove their superiorty as culinary artists at a big supper to be given at the Presbyterian church on April 3rd. At a meeting at the church last evening this much, at least, was decided, and from now on should you, perchance, come upon some friend on the street with his apron still intact, and his countenance dough bespattered, put it down that he is larnin.' It was resolved that the male fraternity must do all the cooking for the occasion, and all of those present went away with a solemn resolution secretly made to out-Herod Herod in the culinary art—or kill off those who will partake of the spread in the attempt. Several committies were appointed to arrange the details and from this on there will be much doing. A musical program will be provided, to sooth, perchance, the wounded feelings of the unfortunates after the spread. The Gazette through lack of space and time refrains from further harrowing details just now, but will try and rush to the defense of the unfortunate brothers—or the public—at a later date.

Two Well Improved Farms for Rent

The south half of sec. 21 and northwest quarter of sec. 28 in town of Black River. 175 acres timothy, good buildings.

The south half of section 33 in town of Terrebonne, 70 acres timothy, good buildings. Address,

—Cruzen & Tysseling,
Wylie, Minn.

NOTICE.

All knowing themselves indebted to the undersigned by book account or otherwise, will confer a great favor by settling same at the earliest moment possible. —J. R. & R. Fortier.

Accounts can be seen at V. M. Higinbotham's office.

How Are Your Kidneys?
Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Pills cure all kidney ills. Sample free. Add. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or N. Y.

We are busy opening up new

Spring Woolen Dress Goods

Spring Wash Goods

Spring Gordon Hats

Kuppenheimer Fine Suits and Cravenettes

Ready Made Shirts

Wilson Men's Fine Shirts

A more complete assortment of spring goods was never exhibited in this city.

Our 10c Ribbon Sale and 5c and 9c Embryidery Sale still going on. Don't miss these bargains—they are worth looking after.

It Pays to Trade at

THE BIG STORE

Red Lake Falls

Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the City Hall, February 21st, 1907, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Meeting called to order by president Borchers.

Roll called.

Aldermen all present.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

On motion unanimously carried the following bills were allowed:

Joseph Sally, for coal	$18 95
Fred Borchers, for committee work	6 00
Simon Paul, for committee work	6 00
Julius Keibl, for street work	16 50
John Deforge, for street work	19 80
L L Smith, for wiring fire alarm system	5 00
John Drier, for labor as watchman	2 00
A L Roy, for drayage, bill of $1.50 allowed at	1 00
Red Lake Falls Fire Department, services in four fires from Oct. 20, 1906 to Feb. 6, 1907, amount credited	149 00

Bids of the Gazette and Courier for city printing was on motion laid on the table until the next regular meeting.

The report of the examining committee was received, approved and ordered placed on file.

Aldermen Borchers, Crompe and Hennemuth were appointed a committee, duly authorized, to purchase fire hose, etc., for the fire department.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers, President.

Approved this 27th day of February A. D. 1907.

J. A. Duffy,
Mayor.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin,
City Clerk.

Willie wailed and Winnie wheezed, while wintry winds whined weirdly. Willie wriggled while Winnie wheezed wretchedly. Wisdom whispers, winter winds work wheezes. Wherefore we write, "Use Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup." Nothing else so good. Sold by all druggists.

Subscribe for the Gazette

Concert Was Good.

One of the largest crowds of the season turned out last Friday evening to listen to the regular monthly concert by the Red Lake Falls band, and that none were in the least disappointed with what they heard was evidenced by the favorable remarks heard regarding it the following day. The band was on its mettle for the occasion, and rendered every number in a very delightful manner showing a marked improvement over their work of a a month ago. The specialties were all immense and each one was encored to the echo. Prof. Bruckman's clairnet solo, "Second Air Varie" was the first of the special features, and was rendered in a particularly pleasing manner. Mr. Bruckman is by far the finest performer on a clarinet that the people of this city have ever heard, and his work was given liberal appreciation. The Elks male quartette, of Crookston, composed of Messrs. Joe Wessel, Chas. Hitchcock, W. B. Krouse and M. Tontan, was down on the progran for two numbers, and each time they were obliged to respond to three or four enthusiastic encores. This quartette has become famous throughout the valley during the past few years, and come up in every respect to the expectations of our people. Their voices are splendidly harmonized, and their quartette work is as good or better than is generally heard in the bigger cities. The local orchestra rendered a pretty selection and responded to an encore. Harry B. Healy played "Old Black Joe" as a trombone solo. The variations on this theme are extremely difficult, but Mr. Healy rendered them with an artistic finish that was pleasing to the audience. The whole entertainment was of a high class order, and placed the band in high favor with the people for their efforts towards furnishing good entertainment.

Harry Mitchell's EDITORIAL.

My Spring goods have arrived, and a prettier bunch of fabrics you never clapped eyes on. I want you to write me for samples, for I know when you see them and read the prices I have put on them, you will let me make your Spring Suit.

Tell me the kind of clothes you are thinking of getting, and no matter where you live I'll guarantee to give you a perfect fit. For $15.00, $20.00 and $25.00 I'll make you a better suit than your local tailor would make you for twice those prices.

Write today and by return mail I'll send you samples and self-measurement blanks. Don't be afraid to ask questions, and please remember that I absolutely guarantee perfect fit and satisfaction or return your money; and I pay all express charges, so your clothes cost you no more than if you got them right here in Minneapolis.

Yours truly,
HARRY MITCHELL,
310 Nicollet Ave., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

SUIT OR OVERCOAT
MADE TO ORDER
$15, $20 or $25.

Better than any other Tailor's $30, $35 and $40.

Perfect fit guaranteed no matter where you live.

Samples sent Free of Charge.

Write for Samples today.

Harry Mitchell,
MINNEAPOLIS' FINEST TAILOR.
310 Nicollet Ave.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges . . .

We have just received several of the latest constructed Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges, in which are contained all the features which has made the steel range famous, and the latest improvements that are known to the range manufacturers' art, which makes this range the "Monarch" of them all. These ranges are now on exhibition at our store, and we would be pleased to have every housewife in this vicinity call and look them over. The price of the Monarch Malleable Steel Range" is cheaper accordingly than other so called "steel ranges."

New Hardware Store G. A. KANKEL Red Lake Falls, Minn.

WOULD SHUT SCHOOLS

MINNESOTA IRON RANGES EXCITED OVER LAW.

FEAR THE TONNACE TAX

Towns and School Districts on the Ranges Protest Against Proposed Law That Would Destroy the School System.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 12.—Threatened by legislation which would be totally destructive of the public school system of the iron ranges of Minnesota, the people of the mining country in St. Louis and Itasca counties have combined to make their appeal to the legislature and the state at large. The excited state of public feeling here is not comprehensible to the people of the state generally, for in urban and rural communities questions affecting taxation have not the vital interest for people of every condition that [illegible] topic has here. Confronted by the proposition now before the legislature that a tonnage tax be imposed on iron ore the people of the ranges are aroused [illegible] by the operation of such a tax [illegible] practically the entire source of revenue for the maintenance of the public schools would be removed from the local assessment rolls.

There is no difference of opinion on the ranges regarding this tax proposition and its effect. The range towns have been wrought to the pitch of holding mass meetings, not perfunctory affairs attended by a few taxpayers, but gatherings in which hundreds of people take part and speeches and resolutions setting forth the sentiments of the participants are indulged. There is a good deal of bitterness shown in some of the speeches, but most of them deplore the ignorance of conditions [illegible] which is responsible for the proposed taxation. The protest that has taken form in these meetings comes altogether from the people. The mining companies have no material interest in the proposed law, for it makes no difference to them whether they pay their taxes to the county or to the state. They are but incidentally interested in the matter by reason of the fact that the maintenance of the public schools contributes to the betterment of living conditions and promotes the progress in intelligence of the mining population. It is everywhere observed that the resolutions passed do not complain about the evident desire of [illegible] of the legislature to secure a larger state revenue from the iron mining industry, but they do object to a change in the manner of collecting the tax. The contention is made that if a tonnage tax is imposed it will necessarily carry with it the exemption of the mines from the realty assessment, and thus take away from St. Louis county 95 per cent of the assessed valuation outside of the city of Duluth.

The towns on the ranges do not represent any very considerable assessed valuation, while some of the school districts have an enormous assessed value. Here at Hibbing is a case in point. In the school district here the mines are down on the assessment roll for nearly $47,000,000, while the total assessment, including the village of Hibbing, is but $500,000 more. The schools are centered at the town here and the school population is out of all proportion to the taxable value of the property, with the mines excepted.

Same Conditions Everywhere.

The situation at Hibbing fairly typifies that on the ranges generally. At Eveleth $58,000 is raised annually for school purposes. Taking the mines out of the assessment, the property left subject to taxation would yield $540 annually for school purposes. At Ely, on the Vermilion range, the oldest mining community in the iron district, and where property values outside of the mines might be expected to have attained a maximum of value, [illegible] per cent of the assessment is represented by the mines. At Virginia 86 per cent of the assessed valuation is in the mines; at Chisholm 96 per cent. One-third of the entire assessed valuation of Itasca county—which is not generally regarded as a great iron county—is in the mines, and there is one school district in that county where there is an $85,000 house, and only 6 per cent of the assessed valuation is outside of the mines.

With these conditions, it is not to be wondered at that the people on the ranges are protesting and making preparation to assail the legislature by means of delegations and appeal to the fairmindedness of the people of the state to help them to avert the impending calamity. There is everywhere the feeling that the enactment of such a measure as the proposed tonnage tax would not be possible if the conditions were understood of the people at large. There is no attempt at tax dodging, no disposition to say that the state is not entitled to the revenue it wants from the mines; everybody is willing to subscribe to the proposition that the assessment on the mines might be increased and a larger revenue had for state purposes. The valuation of the mines in St. Louis county was raised to [illegible] last year, and the mining companies would interpose no serious objection to a further raise. The people would not lift a hand to prevent such an increase as the authorities might propose. But there is a profound feeling of indignation here over the possibility of the legislature passing a law that will be destructive of these communities—for the range communities must fall if the schools are closed, and the schools must close if the revenue from the mines is taken by the state. There is no wealth on the ranges except that in the mines; there is no hope of agricultural development, and there is a laboring population that is held in check and is fast being brought to the point of assimilation by the education of the children. To stop the work of education would throw this vast body of ignorant foreigners back to the state in which they lived in Austria, Hungary, Italy and other countries of central Europe. That would inevitably bring about a condition of anarchy.

The people interested in the schools, the district officials and superintendents, have undertaken the enlightenment of the people of the rest of the state as to conditions here. These men represent the best citizenship on the ranges. They have created a remarkably efficient and modern system of schools. They have builded largely and well, and the schools are of the best modern type. Now confronted by the probability that their schools may be destroyed they have gone actively to work to show the people of Minnesota that the proposed legislation would be as perniciously tyrannical as any ever framed for the destruction of a people. Their appeal will be to the people through the press, supplementing the efforts of the committees that have been appointed to labor with the legislature directly.

Charles E. Young who was widely known in southern and western Minnesota in educational work before coming to the range, is superintendent of the Hibbing schools. He has sent out an appeal and protest to the press of the state in which he says:

Hibbing's Protest.

"Apart from Duluth we have on the iron ranges of this county four high school towns, which employ 158 teachers and enroll over 5,000 pupils; also eight graded school towns employing 68 teachers and enrolling over 2,500 pupils; also 58 rural districts. In size and conditions this district of Hibbing is a fair sample of the high school districts. We contain a territory of 270 square miles, maintaining two brick and six frame schools with 41 instructors and enrolling this year 1,350 pupils. The school buildings erected during the past ten years cost $100,000 and of this $65,000 are still due to the State of Minnesota on building loans.

"The children in the schools represent over twenty nations, are in a great majority of foreign birth and the enrollment has been growing at the rate of 35 per cent per annum. Within the district practically all of the assessable property is in the mines, except in the village of Hibbing where there is some value in the form of frame buildings and personal property. The town has no other industry than mining; the timber has all been removed from the adjacent land and to-day more than 92 per cent of the taxes are paid on the mines. If all of the mining property should be exempt from the school taxes, as under the proposed law, the schools of the Hibbing district will have to be closed next year. Under the conditions that will follow the proposed law the district will be left burdened with a bonded debt to meet which will require all the available school revenue. If the board levies the maximum rate of school tax we will receive too little to pay the state claims for interest and payment on the principal of the debt due the state funds.

"It is the educational and not the political question that is alarming this region. To turn loose upon the streets of these mining towns the children of nearly 100,000 people, mostly foreigners, who have more than the average eagerness for an American education, is an act that is fraught with future disgrace and peril for the entire State of Minnesota."

At the first of a series of meetings to be held here to give expression to the feeling of the people and take such steps as may be necessary to preserve the schools, 200 people were present and committees to meet the junketing committee from the legislature, to draw resolutions, to solicit funds for carrying on the work to go to St. Paul were appointed. The delegation that will go to St. Paul from St. Louis county will include five prominent citizens of Hibbing. At the meeting $553 were collected in small sums and this has been increased to nearly $800.

Chisholm Is Wrought Up.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb.—A defense fund of $550 has been raised to pay the expenses of a committee to go to St. Paul and protest to the legislature against the passage of the proposed tonnage tax which would destroy the schools of Chisholm. The excitement that was caused by the discussion at the mass meeting on the tax question is somewhat abated by the belief that the legislature will not exercise its power to confiscate the revenues of this school district by imposing a tonnage tax when it is informed of what the local conditions are. School Superintendent Minch is preparing a statement of the conditions which will show how utterly this district is dependent on the mines for the maintenance of the schools. W. G. Shane, village recorder says:

"We have nothing to tax but the mines. The population is almost wholly foreign. If we lose the revenues from the mines bankruptcy is sure and anarchy will follow the closing of the schools. Life would be impossible here without the schools. We will send a strong delegation to St. Paul and will make such a showing to the legislature as must avert this impending evil."

The assessed valuation of Chisholm, including the mines in the village is $4,101,100. Without the mines there would be a valuation of about 3 per cent of this sum.

Means Death to Ely.

Ely, Minn., Feb.—Following the appointment of a committee to go to St. Paul to protest against a return to the tonnage tax system of securing revenue for the state from the mines, School Superintendent C. L. Newberry has sent out an appeal to the state. Mr. Newberry says:

"Any attempt to withdraw iron properties from taxation by ordinary methods, or any attempt to divert monies raised by taxation on iron properties for the support of schools and local government, cannot be regarded as other than sounding the death-knell of our public schools and public improvements in the great mining region of Northern Minnesota.

"In withdrawing the iron mines from local taxation, or the taxes on iron properties from local use, eight-ninths of Ely's taxable property is withdrawn. The assessed valuation in the city is now $3,252,129. The assessed value outside of the iron properties is $421,747. On this last named sum would fall the burden of a tax sufficient to educate 1,000 children. As the amount needed to run the Ely schools last year was $45,000, a school tax of 11 per cent would be imposed. As the property could not possibly stand this tax the schools must close if a tonnage tax is imposed, and we are deprived of the revenue from the mines under the method of direct taxation. It would be necessary to impose a tax of over 200 mills for all purposes if the mines were taken out of the assessment roll, and such a tax would be confiscatory. Never before in the history of Minnesota has a more alarming question arisen. The proposed law will devastate our mining towns. The measure will starve and dwarf our schools and public service; it will necessitate the immediate closing of the schools in all the range towns."

Eveleth Joins the Protest.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. .—The alarm expressed by the leading men of Eveleth at the mass meeting held to take steps to prevent the enactment of a tonnage tax law is subsiding in the knowledge that effective action is being taken to put the case of the range towns fairly before the people of Minnesota. The various committees appointed by the meeting have organized and practically every business man is a committee of one to send out letters to friends throughout the state asking that information as to effect of a tonnage tax be spread. The Eveleth Business Men's association is sending out literature showing the local conditions and the certain and pernicious effect of such a change in the method of collecting taxes as is proposed.

"It would be just as fair," says Mayor Jessmore, "to pass a law imposing a tax upon the production of the fields of Southern Minnesota and take the revenue for state purposes as to impose this tonnage tax and take from the communities here, in which the wealth is in the mines, the sources of their revenue. It is a matter of life or death with these mining communities."

The school board is getting actively into the work of spreading information as to the actual conditions here, inspired by the knowledge that its present revenue of $58,000 for school purposes would be reduced under a tonnage law to about $540. Mayor Jessmore will head the delegation to St. Paul.

Itasca County Would Be Hard Hit.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. .—Following the expression of feeling indulged in at the mass meeting held here Monday night to protest against the passage of the tonnage tax law Hattie F. Booth, county superintendent of schools, has sent out a statement of school conditions which shows that the proposed law would destroy the schools in this county in the districts where they are most needed. Says Mrs. Booth:

"The mining property stands for one-third of the assessed valuation of the county. In Districts No. 2 and No. 9 there is practically no revenue except from the mines. In District No. 2 there is an assessed valuation of $2,828,431, of which 94 per cent is in the mines. The state has loaned the district $100,000 to carry on the school work, and the removal of the mines from the assessment roll would close up the schools and bankrupt the district. In Districts 2 and 9 mining is the only occupation of the people, and if the bill becomes a law we will have to close the schools. The effect of this would be the raising of a class of children who would become criminals and the state would have to support them in institutions."

Itasca county is interested in the tonnage tax as a business proposition to a greater extent than St. Louis county. The mines here are just being developed at a high cost, much of the ore requiring special treatment. It is assumed that under a tonnage tax no new mines would be opened and the operating companies would not prosecute the development of low grade properties for many years, not until the ones which are less expensive in the mining had been removed from the other ranges.

Itasca county will send a big delegation to St. Paul to fight the passage of the tonnage tax law.

TOLD WHAT IT WAS.

"Now, sir, I hope we shall have no difficulty in getting you to speak up," said the barrister, in a very loud, commanding voice.

"I hope not, sir," shouted the witness, at the top of his lungs.

"How dare you speak to me in that way?" cried the lawyer.

"Because I can't speak no louder, sir," said the ostler.

"Have you been drinking?"

"Yes, sir."

"I should infer so from your conduct. What have you been drinking?"

"Coffee," hoarsely vociferated the knight of the stable.

"Something stronger than coffee, sir, you've been drinking! Don't look at me like that, sir!" furiously. "Look at the jury, sir! Did you have something in your coffee, sir?"

"Yes, sir."

"What was it?"

"Sugar."

"This man is no fool, my lord—he is worse!" stormed the counsel.

"Now, sir"—turning to the witness—"look at me. What beside sugar did you take in your coffee this morning?"

The ostler collected his forces, drew a deep breath, and, in a voice that could have been heard half a mile away, bellowed out:

"A spune! A spune, an' nothing else!"

Out of the Long Ago.

Ponce de Leon, in search of the fountain of youth, paused at a clearing in the woods and examined the ground, and gave a low cry of joy.

"At last, at last. The gods have been good. Here are relics of a picnic. The fountain of youth shall be mine."

Following the trail of corks, he arrived at the brewery.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Sure Enough.

Parson Bagster (dogmatically)—Dar ain't no use uh-'spostulatin' and pollyfoxin' 'bout dese yuh flyin'-machines! Dey won't work, and dey isn't ever gwine to, needer!—de Lawd never intended de air to be circumambulated.

Brother Snike—Yassah, but lemme ax yo': How you' spect we's uh-gwine t' git to heaven—go 'round?—Puck.

A Peculiarity.

"Do you still believe in the faith cure?"

"Yes," answered the tolerant man; "but there's this peculiarity about it. It always appears to be good for something that somebody else has and you haven't."—Washington Star.

A Fitting Punishment.

Mrs. Hoyle—Did you read about the poor man who was crushed into a shapeless mass?

Mrs. Doyle—Yes; and it was good enough for him. He was a leader in the crusade against corsets.—Judge.

What It Is Coming To.

"My cook never lets me set foot in the kitchen. Does yours?"

"Oh, yes; I always do the cooking when she wants to go out, but she just puts out what I need, and locks up the rest."—Baltimore American.

The World's Way.

"Smile," they told him; 'wear a smile—
The world despises men who frown.
Put off your sad and sober look
And then no power may keep you down."

He gladly took them at their word,
Because he had the wish to win,
He smiled, and presently they talked
About his "idiotic grin."
—Judge.

PROMOTION, INDEED.

Youth (bursting in excitedly)—Permotion, dad, permotion!

Father—How's that?

Youth—Well, you know I was cast to take the part of the hind legs of the donkey at the pantomime.

Father—Yes.

Youth—Well, now I takes the front legs.

His Reason.

"Why are you putting your watch in your shoe?"

"This is a dangerous neighborhood and I am doing it to save time."—Houston Post.

Jack and the Kitty.

Mrs. Knicker—Kindness has a wonderful effect on animals.

Mrs. Bocker—I suppose that is why Jack is always trying to sweeten the kitty.—Judge.

His Balance at the Bank.

"He lost his balance out at the race track to-day."

"Did he fall down?"

"No, the horse he was betting on fell down."—Houston Post.

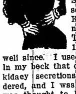
Provided.

"Don't you dote on a hotel dinner?"

"Yes, if it is a good table d'hote."—Baltimore American.

DON'T DESPAIR.

Read the Experiences of a Minnesota Woman and Take Heart.



If your back aches, and you feel sick, languid, weak and miserable day after day—don't worry. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of women in the same condition. Mrs. A. Helman of Stillwater, Minn., says: "But for Doan's Kidney Pills I would not be living now. They cured me in 1899 and I've been well since. I used to have such pain in my back that once I fainted. The kidney secretions were much disordered, and I was so far gone that I was thought to be at death's door. Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me I feel as if I had been pulled back from the tomb."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

ONE WAY OUT OF DIFFICULTY.

Match Twins with Twins, Was the Fond Mother's Idea.

A little woman entered a drug store and asked the proprietor if he had "another picture."

"What kind of a picture do you mean?" the druggist asked.

"One like this," said the woman, holding up an attractive advertising print.

"I may have one or two of them left," the proprietor said, "but I haven't many of them."

The woman said she only wanted one, and her tone indicated that she was anxious for that one. She explained that the one she had with her had been given to one of her children. Another child, she stated, was sick, and was crying for a picture such as his brother had.

"That's a bad way to bring up your children," ventured a woman customer in the store. "Do you try to give a child everything he cries for just because his brother is more fortunate?"

"But," said the mother of the children, "you don't know. The children are twins and what one has the other wants."

"Suppose," objected the moralist, "when your children get older, they fall in love with the same girl, what will they do?"

But the mother was ready. She promptly replied:

"Find twins and fall in love with them."

BABY TORTURED BY ITCHING.

Rash Covered Face and Feet—Would Cry Until Tired Out—Speedy Cure by Cuticura.

"My baby was about nine months old when she had rash on her face and feet. Her feet seemed to irritate her most, especially nights. They would cause her to be broken in her rest, and sometimes she would cry until she was tired out. I had always used Cuticura Soap myself, and had heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvement was noticeable in a few hours, and before I had used one box of the Cuticura Ointment her feet were well and have never troubled her since. I also used it to remove what is known as "cradle cap" from her head, and it worked like a charm, as it cleansed and healed the scalp at the same time. Now I keep Cuticura Ointment on hand in case of any little rash or insect bites, as it takes out the inflammation at once. Perhaps this may be the means of helping other suffering babies. Mrs. Hattie Currier, Thomaston, Me., June 9, 1906."

Highly Eulogistic.

The story is told of a bookkeeper in Little Rock, Ark., who was called upon to write a eulogy of his deceased employer.

After much reflection the employe did so in a fashion that seemed to him to meet every requirement. His effort ended with this remarkable estimate:

"Mr. Blank's keen perception and indomitable will led him into the grocery and feed business, and subsequently induced him to embark in the coal business."—Harper's Magazine.

1847—1907.

60 years ago Allcock's Plasters were first introduced to the public. They are to-day the world's standard plasters.

This invention has been one of the greatest blessings imaginable and affords the quickest, cheapest and best means ever discovered for healing and relief of certain ailments.

Allcock's are the original and genuine porous plasters and are sold by Druggists all over the world.

Rudyard Kipling, who dislikes the winter climate in England, will hereafter blot out the chilly months from his calendar by a visit to South Africa, where he has a beautiful house near Cape Town, given him by Cecil Rhodes.

FITS, St. Vitus Dance and all Nervous Diseases permanently cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ld., 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Often do the spirits of great events stride on before the events, and in to-day already walks to-morrow.—Coleridge.

We Want Your Cream.
Write to-day for tags and prices. North Star Creamery Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

We Pay the Highest Price
for butter fat in cream. Write for price. Milton Dairy Co., St. Paul.

Decision of character will often give to an unfair mind command over a superior.—W. Wirt.

Panthers and Grizzly Bears.
Ship Furs Pelts McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn. Write for prices.

Clothes do not make the man, but they have the first crack at making impressions of the man.

We Pay Top Price for Cream.
Cash every day. Write for prices and tags. Miller & Holmes, St. Paul, Minn.

To be a great man it is necessary to turn to account all opportunities.—Rochefoucauld.

For Prices on Poultry,
either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, St. Paul, Minn.

American Hens Did Well.

The last census year—1900—showed the production of eggs in the United States to be 1,293,662,433 dozen.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

In Eagle Eyes.

"Where's the bahbah?" asked the soft young chap from the east.

"I'm the berber, sonny," drawled the big man in the wide hat and red shirt.

"And do you know how to clip hahh?"

"I should say so. Just stand about ten paces, and if I can't clip off every lock in 12 shots, I'll set up the licker."—Chicago Daily News.

Two Rules for Good Carriage.

If you are walking along the street and wake up to the fact that you are carrying yourself poorly take the mental attitude of standing straight, as well as the physical one. Look at the men you meet and imagine that each of them owes you a dollar. Put even a suggestion of arrogance into your position. Hold your head well back; look people squarely in the face. This will not only give the impression to others that you possess the power you want, but it will actually tend to bring that power. Keep the neck against the collar.—World's Work.

HOME-MADE CATARRH CURE.

Sufferers Should Make This Up and Try It Anyway.

Any one can mix right at home the best remedy of its kind known. The name "Cyclone" is given to the following prescription, it is supposed, because of its promptness in driving from the blood and system every vestige of catarrhal poison, relieving this foul and dread disease, no matter where located. To prepare the mixture: Get from any good pharmacy one half-ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This is a harmless, inexpensive mixture, which has a peculiar action upon the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys, assisting them to filter and strain from the blood and system all catarrhal poisons, which, if not eradicated, are absorbed by the mucous membrane, and an open sore or catarrh is the result.

Prepare some and try it, as it is the prescription of an eminent catarrh specialist of national reputation.

The "Thunderer."

Judge Rentoul's reference on the bench to the Times as the "Thunderer" reminds us how remarkably this nickname has persisted. The Morning Post is no longer "Jeames;" the Standard has not been "Mrs. Gamp" since the decease of the Morning Herald—the "Mrs. Harris" to whom it would allude as an independent authority, and the two represented the same proprietor. But the Times is still the "Thunderer." It owes that name to Captain Edward Sterling, who is said to have begun a Times article with the words: "We thundered forth the other day an article on the subject of social and political reform."—London Chronicle.

SOME NEW FRENCH KNIGHTS.

Queen of Holland Has Agreed to Recognize Vatican Titles.

Among the lucrative sources of revenue of the pope before the separation of church and state in France was the toll or tax on titles of nobility and decorations. Since the rupture the French government no longer recognizes the ennobling titles and decorations of the holy father. To have the right to wear the Vatican ribbon, or to be called count, it was necessary to obtain a confirmation of title. This gave much perplexity to the candidates.

The question has just been settled, Queen Wilhelmina has consented to validate such titles and distinctions. The result has been an amusing pilgrimage to The Hague—and also in an increase in the price of these pontifical favors.

In the last few weeks the French Knights of the Golden Spur, of the Holy Sepulcher, of Christ, of Gregory the Great, of Pius IX. have greatly increased.

The revelations regarding fraudulent paint materials which have been made by the Agricultural Experiment Station of Fargo, N. D., and published by Prof. E. F. Ladd, state commissioner, have occasioned almost as much of a sensation as the exposure of adulteration in food products did when the latter first began to appear. It has been shown that kegs marked "Pure White Lead" often contain other substances such as chalk, barytes, silica, etc., and that oil supposed to be linseed often contains petroleum adulterants, to say nothing of water in large proportions. Sometimes, so-called "White Leads" contain not an iota of genuine White Lead.

The farmer is a large user of paint. No one is more interested than he is, that the label should enable him to get what he supposes he is paying for. There should be a law in every state requiring that all paint packages be labeled exactly according to their contents. That would enable every paint-buyer to buy intelligently.

Almost Too Methodical.

"You may talk about prompt and careful bookkeeping all you want to," said a Boston man, "but a case came under my observation a Sunday or two ago which I think is without parallel. I was attending a service at the Mount Vernon church. When the contribution box was passed the worshiper sitting next to me put in a coin, and immediately took from his pocket a notebook and a pencil and made a memorandum of the amount which I could not help seeing without turning my head around, as it was done right under my eye. His cash account will foot up all right."

A Positive CURE CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm
Is quickly absorbed.
Gives Relief at Once.

It cleanses, soothes heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50cts., at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size 10 cts. by mail.
Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

HAY FEVER

WHY NOT GO SOUTH?

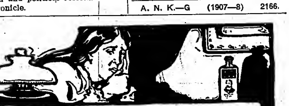
Where work can be carried on the entire year, where the lands are fertile and productive and where you will not have to battle against the elements of a frozen country. You should send a postcard to J. W. WHITE, Gen. Ind. Agent, Seaboard Air Line, Dept. 6, Portsmouth, Va., for a copy of the SEABOARD MAGAZINE sent free and it will be sent you together with other handsomely illustrated literature descriptive of the south and its wonderful resources and opportunities for northern farmers desiring to locate in a country blessed with a delightful climate. Special low rates to homeseekers and prospectors.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

SEED THAT'S PURE All our seed is tested and warranted to be reliable. Write for new Catalogue FREE.
J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, MARBLEHEAD, MASS.

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

A. N. K.—G (1907—8) 2166.

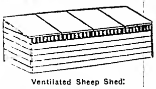


Don't Suffer
all night long from toothache neuralgia or rheumatism
Sloan's Liniment
kills the pain—quiets the nerves and induces sleep
At all dealers. Price 25c 50c & $1.00
Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass. U.S.A.

WINTER QUARTERS FOR SHEEP.

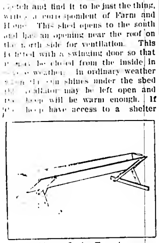
A Suggestion for Buildings Which Can Be Used Next Year.

Sheep should have the opportunity to run out in a lot or small pasture on very bright days if the snow is not too deep. Even though there are cold winds, if the sheep are kept dry and allowed to go and come from a wind break at will, they will not get too cold, but they must be kept out of rain and wet snow storms.



Ventilated Sheep Shed.

I use a shed such as is shown in the sketch and find it to be just the thing, writes a correspondent of Farm and Home. This shed opens to the south and has an opening near the roof on the north side for ventilation. This is fitted with a swinging door so that it may be closed from the inside in severe weather. In ordinary weather when the sun shines under the shed the ventilator may be left open and the sheep will be warm enough. If the sheep have access to a shelter from storms, they will nearly always go to it when there is a rain.



Sheep Grain Trough.

A form of grain trough for sheep which I have used with great satisfaction is shown in the sketch. This is light and easily moved, and not overturned by the sheep. The trough is made of two six-inch boards tigbtly nailed together with a frame of strips two inches square. In pleasant weather, these are put out into the yards where the sheep may be encouraged to stay in the sun. In bad weather, I place them under the sheds and find it a great convenience to have them easily movable in this way.

AS TO APPEARANCES.

It Is the Horse That Looks Well That Sells at a Profit.

"That horse brought a fine price," said a gentleman in the presence of a blind man, of a certain animal just sold.

"Yes—he was fat," observed the blind man. He knew.

"Things that look well, sell well," is an old saying. If a man with a clean, thrifty lot of cows advertises to sell them, he may expect bids. If they are dirty and present an unthrifty appearance, he need hardly expect bids, or, if they are offered, they will be distressingly low.

Making or allowing things to look ill can not be profitable from any standpoint. Cattle can not be vigorous if cared for in a slip-shod manner. The dairyman with rusty and milk-spattered cans, and a puddle of milk on the floor of his wagon drawing swarms of flies, ought to keep well out of the sight of his patrons if they have any regard for tidiness.

Disorder assuredly means waste. It costs much to keep things in "apple-pie order?" So it does—but not so much as letting them go the other way.

HOGS AND SHEEP.

Tar paper will go a long way toward making the pig pens more habitable.

This is a good time to put the fenders up around the farrowing pen.

Bright oat straw makes a good bed, but it needs to be changed just as often as any other kind.

Did you know that musty straw thrown in on top of foul bedding is apt to promote mange or other skin diseases?

Pigs enjoy sweet and wholesome food moro than sour stuff, notwithstanding the fact that most people think to the contrary.

Keep the sheep yards well littered.

Raise sheep, never mind what the other fellow is doing.

This is the season when every sheep man wishes he owned his own root cutter.

Ewes that are in-lamb should not be crowded for room, with food or aoy other way.

Breed Up Your Flock.

If your flock is of the kind known as crossbred, or mongrels, why not select the best of the females and purchase a strong, vigorous, pure-bred male to mate with them. It will increase the market value of next year's flock 25 per cent.

A Farm Combination.

Combination is the thing for farmers nowadays and the best combination of which we know, says Farm Journal, is the one that takes in the farmer and his wife and their boys and girls; this makes a trust which is hard to bent.

PINE TREE BREAD.

KAMSCHATKANS USE THE INNER BARK OF PINE TREES.

Macerate It in Water and Bake Good, Wholesome Bread—The Pine Keeps the Blood Pure and The Body Healthy.

In Knmschatka the people live in enrth-covered pits. Mr. Kennan compares the souod of their language to that of water running out of n narrow-mouth jug. Tbeir bread is made from tho lnoer bark of the Pios Tree, macerated in water and baked without flour. They are a hordy race, the Pins keeping ths blood puro and ths varlous organs of tho body in n healthy condition. Coosumption is unknown among them.

A noted specialist in throat nnd lung trouhle, who cstablished n camp for consumptives in tho Pine Woods of Maine, and whoso remarkable cures thero hnvo nttracted great attention from the medical world, says that one-half ounce of the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine, mixed with two ounces of Glycerine and one-half pint of good Whisky and used in teaspoonful doses, will heal and strengthen the lungs, hreak up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients can be secured from any prescription druggist nt small cost.

Inquiry at tho prescription department of a leading local druggist elicited the information that the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing. Each vlal is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) guaranteed under tho Food and Drug nct, June 30, 1906. Prepared only hy the Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O. —plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitntions of Virgin Oil of Pine (Purc), which are being put out under various names, such as Concentrated Oil of Pinc, Pine Balsam, etc. Never accept these ns a substitute for the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine, as they will invariahly produce nausea and never effect the desired results.

EARLY NORTHWEST VOYAGES.

Soma Account of ths Arctic Tripa That Have Been Made.

Beginning with tho American discoveries of John Cabot in 1497, the search for tho northwest passage was for many years the object of rival expeditions from Denmark, England, France and Portugal, says A. W. Greely, in the Century. It was Frobisher, however, who in 1576-78 first gave a distinct national character to the quest. John Davis of Davis' strait, followed in three voyages, 1585-88, and then, in 1612, came the illustrious and hapless Henry Hudson, whoss motto was that sxplorers should "achieve whnt they had undertaken or elss give reasons wherefore it will not be."

Tbo search for ths Atlantio side closed for two centuries with the voyage of a great seaman, Willinm Baffin, who, in a tiny boat of 55 tons, with a miscrablo equipment, but an undaunted heart, attained, in 1616, the highest north in tho western hemisphere, 77 dcgrees 45 minutes N., and discovered three radiating sounds, Jones, Smith and Lancaster, the lnst being the eastern entrance to the long-sought passage.

Treasures of Methodism.

The Derbyshire (Eng.) Wesleyans havo hecoms possessed of some almost priceless Methodist treasures, including tho minutes of the first Wesleynn conference, from which the original prsachers' books were derived; n copy of a letter given hy John Wesley to John Bennett, with founder's note and signature attached, being dated 1752; and also original letters written by Mrs. John Wesley, Mrs. Charles Wesley, Mrs. George Whitefield, and John Bennett's diary from 1748 to 1752. These valuahle documents have had their home in the Peak district for moro thnn 150 years.

DREADED TO EAT.

A Quaker Couple's Experience.

How many persons drend to eat their meals, although actually hungry nearly nll the time!

Nature never intended this should be so, for we are given a thing called nppetito that should guide us as to what the system needs at any time nnd can digest.

But we get in n hurry, swnllow our food very much as we shovel coal into the furnace, nnd our senso of appetite becomes unnatural and perverted. Then we eat the wrong kind of food or eat too much, nnd there you are—indigestion and its nccompanying miseries.

A Phila. lady said, tho other day:

"My husband and I have been sick and nervous for 15 or 20 years from drioking coffee—feverish, indigestion, totally unfit, a good part of the time, for work or pleasure. We actually dreaded to eat our meals.

"We tried doctors and patent medicines that counted up into hundreds of dollars, with little if any benefit.

"Accidentally, a small package of Postum came into my hands. I made some according to directions, with surprising results. We both liked it and have not used any coffee since.

"The dull feeling after meals has left us and we feel better every way. We are so well satisfied with Postum that we recommend it to our friends who have been made sick and nervous and miserable by coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Spring Excursions to Milwaukee.

The Jobbers and Manufactnrers' Association bas arranged for thres Merebsnts' Excnrslons to Milwsnkea during Februery and Maroh.

Any merchant in ths Northwest is entitled to a rats of ona snd ooe-fifth fsre for ths ronnd trip, not slons for himself snd wife, but for anyons actively interested in his hnsiness.

Yon can hny tickets to Milwaukea as follows:

First Excursion, Fehrnary 16tb to 24th, snd return home February 18th to March 6th.

Secood Excnrsion, Msrch 2d to 10th, aod retnrn homs March 4th to 20th.

Third Excursion, March 16th to 24th, and return home March 18th to April 8d.

Purchase a ticket to Milwaukes only, at full fers and at ths same time ask for a certificate (not a receipt) for fare pald. This certificate will eotitis yon to one-fifth fare to retnrn homs if validated at ths Secretary's office, 45 University Bnilding, at any tims within ths dates fixed.

Fire Record for Last Year.

Ths fact that when a servant hecomes msster a cruel foe is snddenly developed is attested hy ths dreadful havoc and loss of life occasioned by fire in the United States within the 12 months covered hy a summing up of these losses for 1906. This record shows that nearly 7,000 lives were lost and more than $500,000,000 worth of property was destroyed by fire during that period. In no other country in the world is the fire loss, in bulk or pro rata, anywhere near our own. Lnst year, owing to the devastating fire that followed the earthquake in San Francisco, this loss was in great excess of the average, but the average for soms years past has been $200,000,000 a year.

Clover & Grass Seeds.

Everyhody loves lots and lots of Clover Grasses for hogs, cows, sheep and swine.

We are known as the largest growers of Grasses, Clovers, Oats, Barley, Corn, Potatoes and Farm Seeds in America. Operate over 5,000 acres.

FREE

Our mammoth 148-page catalog is mailed free to all intending huyers; or send

8c IN STAMPS

and receive sample of "perfect halance ration grass seed," together with Fodder Plants, Clover, etc., etc., and hig Plant and Seed Catalog free.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box W, La Crosse, Wis.

Lord Iveagh has one of the most curious hobbies in the world. It is the collection of old silver potato rings, which are large silver sockets in the form of rings, into which the wooden bowl used for potatoes used to bs fitted. They are much prized by bric-a-brac hunters.

How to Trap Wild Animals.

40-page trap book illustrated, picture 46 wild animals in natural colors, also barometer & calendar, also gun & trap catalog, also prices on raw furs. All sent post paid for 10c stamps or silver. FREE to those who ship to, or buy of us. Address Fur Dept., N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

Laudable Ambition.

Myrtle—Why is Helen to marry Mr. Muchwed? He has already had thres wives.

Jack—I don't know. I suppose she's marrying him to reform him.

Take Garfield Tea, the mild Herb laxative, to purify the blood, eradicate disease, and maintain Good Health.

The soubrette has the laugh on the comedian who gets none.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Experience teaches us how to make other kinds of mistakes.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Some men blams their wives every tims it rains.

Money refunded for each package of PUTNAM FADELESS DYES if unsatisfactory. Ask your druggiet.

A young man always sneers at the love affairs of a widower.

Garfield Tea insures a normal action of the liver, overcomes constipation, and keeps the blood pure. Drink hefore retiring.

Prickly thistles have their uses without doubt, hut that doesn't justify you in becoming one.

ONLY ONE "BROMO QUININE"
That is LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine. Similarly named remedies sometimes deceive. The first and original Cold Tablet is a WHITE PACKAGE with black and red lettering, and bears the signature of E. W. GROVE. 25c.

Transvaal's Gold Yield.

In ths Transvaal the averags yield of gold is half an ounce to the ton. The expenses are, roughly, $6.25 a ton of ore.

It Cures While You Walk.

Allen's Foot-Ease is a certain cure for hot, sweating, callous, and swollen, aching feet. Sold by all druggists. Price 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Trial package FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Photographs Sent by Wire.

Prof. Korn, of the Munich university, has greatly improved his apparatus for transmitting photographs over telegraph wires. He has succeeded in sending photographs and sketches six or seven inches square in this manner from Munich to Nuremberg, a distance of 100 miles, in from 10 to 15 minutes.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Is acknowledged to be the most successful remedy in the country for those painful ailments peculiar to women.

For more than 30 years it has been curing Female Complaints, such as Inflammation, and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, and consequent Spinal Weakness, Backache, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

Records show that it has cured more cases of Female Ills than any other one remedy known.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage of development. Dragging Sensations causing pain, weight, and headache are relieved and permanently cured by its use.

It corrects Irregularities or Painful Functions, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility; also, Dizziness, Faintness Extreme Lassitude, "Don't care and want to be left alone" feeling, Irritability, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Flatulency, Melancholia or the "Blues." These are sure indications of female weakness or some organic derangement.

For Kidney Complaints of either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a most excellent remedy.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Her advice is free and always helpful.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

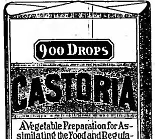
appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the appoval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

Louisville, Ky.
San Francisco, Cal.
U. S. A.
London, England.
New York, N. Y.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

NO MORE MUSTARD PLASTERS TO BLISTER.
THE SCIENTIFIC AND MODERN EXTERNAL COUNTER-IRRITANT.
CAPISICUM VASELINE
EXTRACT OF THE CAYENNE PEPPER PLANT

A QUICK, SURE, SAFE AND ALWAYS READY CURE FOR PAIN.—PRICE 15c.—IN COLLAPSIBLE TUBES—AT ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS, OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 15c. IN POSTAGE STAMPS. DON'T WAIT TILL THE PAIN COMES—KEEP A TUBE HANDY.

A substitute for and superior to mustard or any other plaster, and will not blister the most delicate skin. The pain-allaying and curative qualities of the article are wonderful. It will stop the toothache at once, and relieve Headache and Sciatica. We recommend it as the best and safest external counter-irritant known, also as an external remedy for pains in the chest and stomach and all Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Gouty complaints. A trial will prove what we claim for it, and it will be found to be invaluable in the household and for children. Once used no family will be without it. Many people say "it is the best of all your preparations." Accept no preparation of vaseline unless the same carries our label, as otherwise it is not genuine. SEND YOUR ADDRESS AND WE WILL MAIL OUR VASELINE PAMPHLET WHICH WILL INTEREST YOU.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO.
17 STATE STREET, NEW YORK CITY

FARMS THAT GROW "NO. 1 HARD" WHEAT

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

(Sixty-three Pounds to the Bushel) Are situated in the Canadian West where Homesteads of 160 acres can be obtained free by every settler willing and able to comply with the Homestead Regulations. During the present year a large portion of

New Wheat Growing Territory

HAS BEEN MADE ACCESSIBLE TO MARKETS BY THE RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION that has been pushed forward so vigorously by the three great railway companies.

For literature and particulars address SUPERINTENDENT OF IMMIGRATION, Ottawa, Canada, or the following authorized Canadian Government Agent:

CHAS. PILLING, Clifford Blk., Grand Forks, N. Dak.; J. M. Machlan, Box 116, Watertown, S. Dakota; E. T. Holmes, 325 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

Mention this paper.

EGGS at 50 cts. a dozen pay.

Why not get them in fall and winter when prices are highest by using SHERIDAN'S CONDITION POWDER the scientifically prepared poultry tonic? First in the market and in use forty years to make hens lay. Helps poultry to get full benefit of all kinds of food, makes chicks grow rapidly and keeps them healthy. One pack, 25c; five, $1; two-lb. can, $1.20; six, $5.00. Express paid. At all dealers. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

PARLOR ORGAN ECHOS A choice collection of instrumental and vocal music for Organ or Piano. Book 1—21 pieces, 25c. Book 2—24 pieces, 25c. Book 3—26 pieces, 25c. To introduce these beautiful collections a copy of either book will be sent on receipt of 15 cents, stamps or coin. WM. A. POND & CO., 148 5th Ave., New York.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Edward Hebert and Victoline Hebert, mortgagors, to First State Bank of Brooks, mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1905, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of September, 1905, at 2 o'clock p. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 379, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The west half of the north east quarter of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty (150) of range forty-two (42) and lots numbered five (5) and (6) in block numbered five (5) in the townsite of Brooks, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of March, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, Red Lake Falls, Minn., Feb. 13, A. D. 1907.

First State Bank of Brooks,
Mortgagee

L. C. Simons, Attorney. f14-m21

DR. N. M. WATSON

Physician and Surgeon

Graduate of McGill University, Montreal
Office over First State Bank.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. L. C. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ALGUE, D. M. D.

DENTIST

Office in LaFleur Block   Office hours 9 to 12 a. m.; 2 to 5 p. m.

At St. Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Theo. S. Germo, Co. Atty.   Fred L. Farley

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys at-Law

Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 6. Collections attended to.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure

Mr. Murray's family, the widow, two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1419 Nicollet Ave. Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

Don't Grind
YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.
COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

What Advertising Will Do.

(Specially Exemplified in the Case of Harry Mitchell, Minneapolis' Famous Tailor.)

It would be difficult to find a better exemplification of what good and persistent advertising will do for a man with the goods back of him than the case of Harry Mitchell, Minneapolis' popular tailor.

You will notice we said "with the goods back of him," for there is probably no tailor in the Twin Cities that carries a quarter of the stock that Harry Mitchell does, and the fabrics being purchased from the foremost mills of America and Europe, the quality is absolutely assured.

Five years ago Mr. Mitchell was conducting a tailor shop on the second floor of a building in Chicago, making a specialty of the finer class of work. He has been in this business for seven years.

One day he woke up to the fact that Minneapolis was a pretty good kind of a town, and as the western fever grew upon him, he decided to pull up stakes and move his belongings here.

He started out in Minneapolis in a small way—growing, growing, till today he is one of the largest tailors in the United States.

His success is due entirely to the fact that he is scrupulously honest—always giving a little more rather than a little less in all his transactions.

He conducts his business on a strictly cash basis, and no matter who the customer may be—banker or laborer—the goods must be paid for when delivered. This has been a very potent factor in the building up of his business, for there are no bad accounts standing out, no collector's fees to pay, and no "dead beats" to write off on the wrong side of the ledger

His store is located at 310 Nicollet avenue, is absolutely up-to-date in every respect, and the arrangement for exhibiting the enormous stock is commented on by every one who enters. The fitting or trying on room is furnished in a most luxurious manner, every detail being carefully studied out for the comfort of the customer.

Mr. Mitchell's work rooms, where two hundred and forty people are employed, are located at Hennepin and Fourth street. There are no better, more commodious, more sanitary tailoring quarters in the world than those provided by Harry Mitchell for his employees. Everything runs like clock-work, and it would indeed be hard to find a more contented, happier bunch than work there.

Mr. Mitchell has always been an advocate of paying a man good wages, and probably no tailor in the country employes such high-priced cutters as he does. He believes in getting the best that money can buy. He has absolutely no use for a man unless he's a pastmaster at his business, and that is one reason why Harry Mitchell has no fear in putting on his shingle "Satisfaction or No Pay."

His customers include some of the best dressers in Minneapolis, but it makes no difference to Mr. Mitchell whether the customer is a banker, a railroad president or a $15-a-week clerk, they all get the same painstaking attention.

That Harry Mitchell has absolutely become famous for his made-to-order $15, $20 and $25 suits and overcoats is an established fact—not only in Minneapolis alone but in all the surrounding states. His mail order business has grown so rapidly in the past two years that it became imperative for him to enlarge his quarters. He prides himself on his perfected self-measurement system, and says it makes no difference where a man may live, he can fit him just as well as if he took his measure himself.

As previously said, Mr. Mitchell is a staunch believer in publicity. He says you can't catch fish without bait, and he doesn't see how the public is going to know what you've got to give them unless you tell them.—Minneapolis Journal.

Bray.

Halvor Hanson transacted business at St. Hilaire Friday.

Peter Limblom drove to Wylie Saturday.

Messrs. C. P. Swanson, Oscar Swanson and Elmer Burkee drove to Thief River Falls Friday, the two latter attended the meeting of the teacher's association at that place.

Albert Johnson was at Wylie Tuesday.

Christian Johnson who has been visiting his brother, Iver, returned to Minneapolis the first of the week.

The "valentine season" is now over but the valentines were not as plentiful this year as they used to be. May be they are going out of fashion.

Chas. Englund transacted business at St. Hilaire Tuesday.

Get What You Ask For!

When you ask for Cascarets Candy Cathartic be sure you get them. Genuine tablets stamped C. C. C. Never sold in bulk. A substitutor is always a cheat and a fraud. Beware! All druggists, 10c.

Badger

Mrs. Jos. Champeau, and the Misses Annie and Aurore Ducharme, Alice and Anna Quesnell and Emma St. Yves pleasantly spent the day with Mesdames Dolphis and Adelard Champeau Tuesday.

Charlie Gervais made a brief call at J. Ducharme's Monday. He was driving to Lambert on a business mission.

Homer Laurent was a guest of Miss Alice Quesnell Sunday evening.

Mrs. L. St. Ives has been laid up all last week with a serious attack of la grippe but is now well.

Adelard Laurent and wife were guests at the O. Robillard home Sunday evening.

Miss Josephine Vaudrin of northern Badger is at present enjoying a pleasant visit with relatives and friends at Dorothy.

George, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Lachance was seriously sick a few days of last week and it was thought for some time that recovery was beyond all hopes but reports now are that the little fellow is rapidly gaining.

Mrs. M. Quesnell and son, Joseph, made a flying trip to the Falls Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker entertained a number of friends at their home Sunday.

Damasse LaChance and son, Pete, drove out to Gully and its aroundabouts, Monday, where they will get a few loads of choice lumber for a barn which they expect to erect in the spring

Use a little KODOL after your meals and it will be found to afford a prompt and efficient relief. KODOL nearly approximates the digestive juices. It digests what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan. Sold here by all druggists.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
The Kind You Have Always Bought

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed, and delivered by L. A. Dautremont and Laura E. Dautremont, his wife, mortgagors, to Phil A. Kaufer, mortgagee, which mortgage bears date the 9th day of September, 1903, was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, and State of Minnesota on 12th day of September, 1903, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., in book 21 of mortgages on page 168, by the terms of which mortgage the following described premises were described in, mortgaged and conveyed to said mortgagee, to wit: Lots nine (9), ten (10), and the north ten (10) feet of lot eleven (11), in block seven (7) in Champagne and Dow's addition to Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, according to the corrected plat thereof, being in Red Lake county, Minnesota, and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 9th day of September in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note; by failure to pay the $1000 falling due on the 9th day of September, 1904 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said real estate for the year 1905, and whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay said note or any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said realestate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable:

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon to the date hereof the sum of one thousand one hundred eighteen dollars, ($1118.00.)

And Whereas, because of said defaults and each of them the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action at law or in equity having been instituted to cover said mortgage indebtedness.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises above described which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Red Lake at the west front door of the court house in city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, on Saturday, the 13th day of April, 1907, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said indebtedness, the attorney's fees of $25.00 and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year thereafter, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 26, 1907.

—Phil A. Kaufer,
Mortgagee.

Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls. f28-a4

ORDER FOR CREDITORS TO PRESENT CLAIMS WITHIN THREE MONTHS.

State of Minnesota, } ss
County of Red Lake. }

In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Margaretta Walter, Deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of Margaretta Walter deceased, late of the city of Red Lake Falls in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, being granted to Phillip Walter

It appearing on proper proof by affidavit of Phillip Walter made and filed herein, as provided by law, that there are are no debts against the estate of said Margaretta Walter deceased.

It is ordered, that three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date on this order, in which all persons having claims on demands against the said deceased, if any there be, are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said county, for examination and allowance, or be forever barred.

It is further Ordered, That Monday, the twentieth (20th) day of May 1907, at ten o'clock a. m., at a special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the Court House in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, be and the same is hereby appointed as the time and place when and where the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And It Is Further Ordered, That notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate, by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Fall, Minnesota, the 18th day of February A. D. 1907.

By the Court,
[Seal] N. W. TARRANT,
f21-m7 Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventy and 99-100 ($70.99) Dollars, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Joseph Boushea, administrator of the estate of John Boushea, deceased, mortgagor, to M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of March, 1904, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 21 of Mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said M. O. Sortedahl, mortgagee, to John Jaenike by written assignment dated the 9th day of April, 1904, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 14th day of April, 1904, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 15 of mortgages on page 119.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said John Jaenike the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., by written assignment dated the 14th day of December, 1906, and recorded on the 19th day of December, 1906, at 6 o'clock p. m., in book 15 of mortgages page 345, and by reason of the default herein before mentioned the said Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls, the assignee of said mortgagee, chooses to declare and hereby does declare the whole debt secured by the aforsaid mortgage due and payable making in all four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The east half of the south-west quarter of section fourteen (14), Township numbered one hundred fifty (150), North of Range forty-two (42), west of the 5th P. M. in the state of Minnesota, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the second day of March, 1907, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of four hundred twenty and 99-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 15th, A. D., 1907.

Merchant's State Bank of Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee,

F. A. Grady,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota. j17-f28

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Rudolf Warberg and Katharina Warberg, his wife, mortgagors, to Ralph Rogers mortgagee, bearing date the 16th day of April 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1903, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., in book 29 of mortgages, on page 29

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Ralph Rogers mortgagee, to G. B. Ward by written assignment dated the 15th day of October 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 13th day of November 1906, at 1:00 o'clock P. M.; in book 32 of mortgages on page 391.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said G. B. Ward, the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, a corporation, by written asignment dated the 13th day of November, 1906, and recorded on the 22nd day of November, 1906, at 3:10 o'clock P. M., in book 15 mortgages page 339, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore; Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

North east quarter of section numbered twenty-eight (28), in township numbered one hundred fifty (150), north of range forty-one (41), west of the 5th P. M. in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city or Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 23rd day of March, 1907, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty and no-100 dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, February 6th, 1907.

Merchants State Bank of
Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

F. A. Grady, Attorney for
Assignee of Mortgagee, f7-m21
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

BULLETIN
Great Northern Railway
Tell Your Friends About It.

You may have friends in the east, who would be gald to move to the west, if they knew what opportunities are here. Send us their names, we will be glad to send them a bulletin on Montana and North Dakota.

One Way Colonists Rates: Mch. 1 to April 30, 1907. To Chinook, Havre, Great Falls, Shelby, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Kalispell and Whitefish, Mont, $20.00. Good for stop-over west of Minot.

One Way Settlers' Rates:
To Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Manitoba, Western Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Tickets on sale March 5, 12, 19 and 26, April 2, 9, 16 23 and 30, 1907.

MAY WE HELP YOU PLAN YOUR TRIP?
Two trains daily. Standards and Tourist Sleepers.
THE ORIENTAL LIMITED. THE FAST MAIL.

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER
MAIN STREET, - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet Pure and Wholesome.

It's All The What

That's Fit To Eat..

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near oor idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS
MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..
BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats

Fish and Game in Season.

Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.

TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

Electric Lighted Throughout   Free 'Bus Meets all Trains
Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY

Grand View Hotel
Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City

W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, MARCH 7, 1907. No 23

TO MAKE NEW CITIZENS

Judge Watts Gives Notice of Special Court Term To Be Held Here In July.

Clerk of Court Johnson is in receipt of a communication from His Honor, Judge William Watts, announcing that he will hold a special term of the District Court in Red Lake county on July 9th, for the purpose of issuing final citizenship papers to anyone that may desire them.

The new law regarding the issuance of final papers is a peculiar one and differs entirely from the old law.

Under the provisions of the new law all who desire to take out final papers must appear before the Clerk of the District Court at least ninety days before the final papers can be issued, then and there to make affidavit before the clerk and file a petition that he has complied with the law, etc. Two witnesses must accompany the affidavit.

The Judge has set the final term far enough ahead, in order that all who desire their final papers may appear before the clerk the required ninety days previous.

As the law is very strict regarding the citizenship papers at the time final proof on homestead land is made, the people of Red Lake county's new eleven towns should arrange to comply with the law and take advantage of this special term of court.

Badger

Francois LaBissoniere and daughter, Mrs. M. Quesnell, made a brief call at the county seat Monday.

Messrs. Damasse Lachance and Ovila Robillard and wives spent Sunday at the M. Ducharme home at Perrault station.

A few friends spent Saturday evening at the D. Champeau home and all report a pleasant time.

Miss Dorla Robillard was ill a few days of last week with a severe cold but has now greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Gagnon entertained a number of friends at their home Sunday evening.

Merchant and Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere of Red Lake Falls were guests at the M. Quesnell home Sunday afternoon and evening.

Harvey St. Ives returned home last week from Kellher where he had been working for the past two months, Harvey says there's no place like Badger.

J. Prudhomme and wife of Geatilly passed thru Badger Sunday and made a short call at J. Ducharme's while passing by.

Chas. Moller called at the home of J. Ducharme Sunday and spent the evening most pleasantly.

Miss Delia Pigeon of Poplar River was a guest of friends and relatives here a few days of last week.

Get What You Ask For!

When you ask for Cascarets Candy Cathartic be sure you get them. Genuine tablets stamped C. C. C. Never sold in bulk. A substitutor is always a cheat and a fraud. Beware! All druggists, 10c.

TIRED OF LIFE.

Alfred Foelsch Living Near Greenbush Commits Suicide.

Word was brought to Greenbush last week that Alfred Foelsch, a homesteader residing near that town in Roseau county, had killed himself. Word was sent to the coronor, who deputized T. E. Thompson of Greenbush to investigate the case. Upon arriving at the shanty he found the dead man lying on the floor in a pool of blood with a bullet hole in his head and a rifle lying across his body. Everything about the place was well fitted out for winter and was kept in good order. There was no question about the act being one of self-destruction. Foelsch was a German. Relatives in Chicago were notified, and they later gave instructions to have the body buried at Greenbush, where it had been taken, pending instructions.

The Same in Red Lake County.

It will be a sad day indeed for the people of Waseca county if they ever lose their co-operative creameries. There is no other branch of farming in this section that pays so much on the capital invested as the stock raising and its products. Every farmer can keep at least a few cows, a bunch of swine, some calves, poultry, etc. Butter commands a very high price, live, fat hogs bring six cents per pound up, poultry per pound is high, eggs command high prices, and all of these are so easily produced in southern Minnesota that every farmer can get rich if he will. In order to get the full benefits of his labor, however, the farmer must have a market free from the control of trusts and combines. As we are informed, a trust has been formed to get entire control of the dairy products of the West. At present the co-operative creameries are able to get an open market and are receiving high prices for their butter, but if the combine can break down the co-operative creameries, or most of them, its managers will very soon have control of the markets of the world, and the price of butter will be fixed, not by supply and demand, but by the managers of the combine. It seems strange indeed that any farmer should for a moment think of selling his cream to a speculator at any price, however high, for it is a fact beyond dispute that as soon as the farmer's creameries are broken down, then the price of cream will go down; the farmer will be robbed, and the speculators will secure millions of dollars from the hard labor of the farming communities. Let not the farmers of Waseca county play the fool by selling their cream to outside dealers and speculators. Patronize your home creameries wholly.—Waseca Herald.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to emply in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank

Red Lake Falls Minnesota

Thief River Hands Farmers A Lemon.

(From the Reservation Sunbeam.)

Ole O. Vattendahl was canvassing in Thief River and Red Lake Falls last week to get shares for the farmers boat. The people of Red Lake Falls gave $80. The people of Thief River Falls gave—0. Accept thanks. (Published by request of many voters and boat builders.)

A BIG FAKE ATTEMPTED

Thief River Papers Would Make A Mountain Out of Mole Hill.

"By a vote of three to two the Board of County Commissioners in session this week at Red Lake Falls employed Attorneys Chas. Boughton and F. A. Grady to fight the Red Lake Falls end in the county seat scrap. No limit was placed upon their salary and it is but fair to presume that the county will pay well for the services rendered Red Lake Falls.

The motion was railroaded thru Tuesday night shortly before midnight and just previous to the adjournment of the board.

The resolution appeared quite innocent on its face and it is generally believed that at least one member of the board voted in the affirmative without fully realizing the extent to which the county might become involved. Be that as it may a clever graft has been saddled upon the taxpayers of the county at large to relieve the residents of the county seat town."

The above is from last week's Thief River Press, and is laughable in the extreme to those who have seen the official minutes of the board of county commissioners.

The Gazette will not attempt a lengthy refutation of the charges herein made, but will simply say that the OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE BOARD will be published within a week, and asks every reader to read this resolution and see for themselves where the above article, dictated to the Press by a rank Thief River partisan, is entirely wrong and misleading.

The official proceedings show that the board re-convened at seven o'clock on the evening of February 26, after a day session, and immediately thereafter a resolution was presented and carried, in exact words as follows:

"Whereas it has been made to appear to this Board that judgment in the case of State of Minnesota Ex Rel William Erb, Relator, and Alex A. Sweans and Charles M. Evenson, Intervenor, against Ole J. Johnson, P. A. Ekstrom, Wm. C. L. Demana, Louis E. Falardeau and Daniel Shaw, as County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, in the State of Minnesota, Respondants, was erroneously entered on the 18th day of May, A. D. 1906, in favor of the relator and intervenors and against the Respondants, as such Board of County Commissioners of said County;

Be It Resolved, By the Board of County Commissioners of said Red Lake county, Minnesota, that F. A. Grady and Charles E. Boughton, attorneys at law, are hereby retained and authorized by said Board of County Commissioners, to take any step or steps, proceedings or action in their judgment deemed best to have said judgment above mentioned, vacated, and set aside, and interpose an answer in said case."

Commissioners voting aye, are Wm. C. L. Demana, Joseph Pigeon and Charles A. Lindquist.

Commissioners nay, are Daniel Shaw and Ed. A. Auhol.

This is the sum and substance of the whole thing and the readers may draw their own conclusions. It was not by any means a "midnight steal," as the Press would have you believe, but a resolution presented and carried in behalf of the people of the county.

At the time of the hearing on the mandamus proceedings, an answer was interposed by a tool in the hands of the Thief Riverites that was an injustice to the people as a whole, and the board now asks that this case be re-opened and a just and fair answer interposed.

The county is not hiring any lawyers to fight Red Lake Falls' side of the case nor will it have to, as our side appears pretty well "fought" itself just at present.

The Press could have used this space in telling its readers why Thief River Falls refused to pay the costs in the recent case in the supreme court, after they had promised time and again to do so. This would have made good reading- but of course the Press couldn't make any explanation. The Thief River policy is to pull the wool over the eyes of the people, but until the have better grounds than this they can make more friends by "making a noise like a post."

REVIVAL MEETINGS SOON.

Rev. Hamilton Will Hold Meetings For Two Weeks.

The revival meetings at the Presbyterian church will commence on Tuesday, the 26th inst., instead of on the 12th. Owing to a mix-up in correspondence, the date was erroneously announced last week. The meetings will begin on March 26th and continue for two weeks. The officers of the Presbyterian church would request that the usual social functions of the week following Easter be deferred one week so as not to conflict with the revival services, which will be held every night during Mr. Hamilton's stay in Red Lake Falls.

Mr. Hamilton is a very earnest and talented pulpit orator and has spoken to crowded houses in every city he has visited. The meetings now being held in Blackduck have very successful in every way. Remember the date, March 26th, and plan to attend every night.

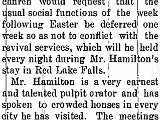
H. W. KNOX.

Meet On The 19th.

The board of county commissioners will hold their next meeting on March 19. There are several school matters, a liquor license application and some other important county business up for consideration at this time, and the dads will likely be in session a couple of days.

"In 1897 I had a stomach disease. Some physicians said Dyspepsia, some Consumption. One said I would not live until spring. For four years I existed on boiled milk, soda biscuits, and doctors' prescriptions. I could not digest anything I ate; then I picked up one of your Almanacs and it happened to be my life saver. I bought a fifty-cent bottle of KODOL and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. In two months I went back to my work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. May you live long and prosper."—C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., 1905. The above is only a sample of the great good that is daily done everywhere by Kodol For Dyspepsia. It is sold here by all dealers.

Subscribe for the Gazette



MAKE MONEY by sending your HIDES FURS ETC. to us - We pay high prices & sell guns, traps etc. cheap N. W. HIDE & FUR CO. 200 1st St. N. Minneapolis Minn. WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS

CONTRACT WILL BE LET.

Auditor O'Brien Will Hold Sale of Jobs for Ditch No. 28.

County Auditor O'Brien will hold the sale of the ditching jobs for county ditch No. 28 at his office in the court house next Monday, March 11th.

This ditch lies wholly within Red Lake Falls township, and is known as the Duffy ditch. It will be about four miles long, and will empty into the Red Lake river north of the city.

It is estimated that there are 22,401 yards of dirt to be excavated but a greater part of it will be comparatively easy work.

It is quite likely that several bidders will be on hand, as there is considerable activity in ditch matters hereabouts at present.

CAN'T VOTE ON LICENSE.

City Council Has Right to Grant Licenses or Refuse Them.

Thief River News: A petition asking that a special election be called for the purpose of voting upon the license question was circulated last week. It is said that the petition had the backing of certain saloon keepers who wanted to force the city council to reduce the saloon license lower than $1,000 and if they failed to do this would unite with the temperance people of the city and vote out the saloons.

The petition will not be presented to the city council, however, for the reason that under our city charter the question of license cannot be voted upon. The members of the city council have the arb[illegible]ry right as to whether or not liquor licenses shall or shall not be granted, and they also have the power to fix the license fee.

While the saloon keepers claim that they cannot make any money when forced to pay a license of $1,000, the fact remains that there are now sixteen saloons in the city and there would be more were it not for the fact that the council has limited the number to sixteen.

School Apportionment.

The state auditor's office is sending out to county officers the checks for the school apportionment for the first quarter. The per capita at this settlement will be $1.60, and Red Red Lake county's share will $6,139.20, for 3,837 pupils. Auditor O'Brien has not yet received the warrant for Red Lake's share, but it will be along in a few days, when it will be apportioned among the different districts.

Auction Sale.

An auction sale of the live stock and machinery of the late James Nelson, of Lake Pleasant township, will be held at the farm in section 25. Lake Pleasant, Tuesday of next week, March 14. A large list of stock and machinery will be offered for sale. The bills will give full particulars. Joseph Belair will be the auctioneer.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

REGULAR COURT TERM

Judge Watts Will Preside at Spring Session of Red Lake County District Court.

The regular term of the District Court for Red Lake county will convene on Monday the 25th inst., with Judge William Watts on the bench.

So far but few cases are listed, and present indications are that the term will be a short one.

So far a grand jury has not been empaneled for this session and it is not announced whether or not there will be one drawn. There are no crimininal cases pending and unless something develops between now and court time it is highly probable that a grand jury will not be required.

The civil calender for this term is also very light and unless there is all kinds of trouble stirred up during the next few weeks the Judge and jury will not find much to do.

Good Horse Sense.

Farmers' institutes bring out some good things. In addressing one of them recently a farmer said: "As a rule a farmer knows no firmer friend than the country press. The home paper is distinctly the farmers own paper, supported directly or indirectly by the farmers who compose the backbone of the printer's subscription list and largely for what the merchant advertises. Now brother, let us not forget our friends. Let us see that our subscription is paid before the first of January and a year in advance. Another thing, the merchants who advertise are the ones who make it possible for us to get a good local paper, and the men of firms who are too penurious to advertise and help support, the local press have no right to the farmers' patronage. I propose hereafter to go to a good live advertiser instead of those who propose to take all and give nothing in return.".

TOWNSHIP ELECTIONS

Next Tuesday, March 12th, Is Election Day In Townships and Villages.

Tuesday of next week, March 12. will be election day in the townships and villages of the county, and the usual election talk is rife.

With the exception of the cities of Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls every organized town in the county will hold their annual elections at this time. The villages of St. Hilaire and Plummer will also elect new officers, and it is said that at the latter place there will be some extremely lively "diddings."

It is said that in some of the towns, also, there will be a scrap for control of affairs, but it is highly probable that nothing serious will develop.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED : LAKE : FALLS : MINNESOTA

OFFERS YOU

PROMPT SERVICE
LIBERAL TREATMENT
ABSOLUTE SAFETY

We Extend the Accommodations of a Strong and Well-Equipped Bank

OFFICERS
CHAS. N. BOURDON, President
FRANK E. HUNT, Vice-President
THEO. GARCEAU, Cashier
GEO. F. HENNINGS, Asst. Cash.

DIRECTORS
Theo. Garceau Frank E. Hunt
Chas. N. Bourdon
W. A. Schreiter A. P. Toupin
N. M. Watson Geo. F. Hennings

Red Lake Falls Gazette.
Dudley & Creglow, Publishers
RED LAKE FALLS. . MINN.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME TOLD IN CONDENSED FORM.

LATE FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Interesting Items of News Gathered from All Parts of the Globe and Outlined in the Briefest Manner Possible.

RESUME OF THAW TRIAL.

District Attorney Jerome cross-examined Dr. B. D. Evans in the Thaw trial, his questions indicating that he would ask for a commission in lunacy to pass on Thaw's present mental state. It was believed Howard Nesbit would be called to prove his sister a liar.

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was finally excused as a witness in the trial of her husband. Mr. Jerome ended his long cross-examination and her re-direct and re-cross-examinations were brief. Attempts to have Abraham Hummel tell of the affidavit Mrs. Thaw is said to have signed accusing her husband of abusing her were blocked by Attorney Delmas.

Reports that District Attorney Jerome would ask for the appointment of a lunacy commission to examine Harry K. Thaw and that Mrs. William Thaw, his mother, had given her consent to that course, worried the defendant in the murder trial.

Mrs. Evelyn Thaw had a comparatively easy day on the witness stand and made two gains for her husband's case. She said Thaw would not let her spend any of White's money when they were abroad together, and that the cablegrams to White from London were not about her, but about a man who had insulted her mother. Mr. Jerome announced that his cross-examination was nearly over.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

The senate agreed to the conference report on the river and harbor bill, in which the appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi below Cairo was cut from $650,000 to $250,000.

The senate passed the expatriation bill establishing the status of American women who marry foreigners.

The house condemned the doings of the interior department's special agents and limited their power by restricting the use of the $25,000 appropriation for their salaries.

Senator Elkins filed in the senate his minority report on the railroad rate law, it being a comprehensive history of the economic development of American railroads.

The house adopted an amendment to the sundry civil bill providing that no bar or canteen where intoxicating liquor is sold shall be maintained in the old soldiers' homes.

Ship subsidy secured a marked impetus in the house, which just before adjournment adopted a rule that will probably insure the passage by the house of the Littauer substitute for the senate bill and result before the final adjournment in positive legislation.

The house began a two days' debate on the ship subsidy bill, and the senate passed the Aldrich currency bill.

MISCELLANEOUS.

According to George W. Fitzgerald, the Chicago subtreasury teller from whose cage $173,000 was stolen, the money was taken by a business man well known locally, and not by any of the government employes.

Col. Hains and Benjamin Harrod are to retire from the Panama canal commission.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger resigned and it was given out that his successor would be Representative T. J. McCleary, of Minnesota.

Two clerks in the Hamilton National bank of Chicago were arrested for the embezzlement of $10,000.

Two officials of the Lost Bullion Spanish Mine company were arrested in Denver, Col., for fraud.

Senator Bailey was exonerated by the Texas house and bitterly excoriated his accusers.

Mme. Robineau, said to have been the oldest person in Paris, is dead. She was born in 1800 and had been ill but twice in her life.

James W. Conner, president of the New Louisiana Jockey club and prominent in St. Louis cotton and stock exchange circles for years, died following an operation for intestinal trouble.

Victor H. Dolliver, brother of Senator Dolliver, of Iowa, was found dead in bed at Fort Dodge, Ia.

All but four of the street cars in Warren, Pa., were destroyed by fire.

Thousands of opponents of municipal ownership made a great demonstration in London.

The Warsaw (Russia) post office was robbed by a band of terrorists, who killed the postmaster, two clerks and two soldiers.

Mrs. Sarah Walters, her daughter Florence, and Albert Miller, the young woman's fiance, were asphyxiated by escaping gas in Chicago.

E. H. Harriman told the interstate commerce commission that Stuyvesant Fish was deposed from the presidency of the Illinois Central because he used the company's funds to further his own interests.

E. H. Harriman was before the interstate commerce commission all day, partly explaining and trying to justify the financial transactions of himself and others in connection with the Chicago & Alton railway deal.

Charles W. Hillord, controller of the Alton road, told the interstate commerce commission the company's treasury was empty when the road was turned over to the Rock Island.

Baron Charles V. Beodetti of Florence, Italy, and Miss Jeanette Locke, a grand opera singer of Lexington, Ky., were married in New York.

During a heavy fog an accommodation train on the Wabash railroad and a freight train came into collision near Mexico, Mo., resulting in the death of the passenger engineer and injury to 20 others.

The plant of the old Vincennes Distilling company at Vincennes, Ind., was partly destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

T. M. Taylor, professor of chemistry in the Carnegie schools of Pittsburg, committed suicide while under nervous collapse.

The municipality of St. Petersburg decided to open 18 meat markets where the poor may buy meat at cost.

Six rurales were murdered in their sleep by Enrique Chaves, the notorious Mexican bandit.

Six detectives and a special officer of the St. Louis force were accused of protecting thieves.

The body of Deputy Game Warden Earl Eldridge of McHenry county, Illinois, was found in the woods with a bullet wound through the heart.

The Des Moines, Iowa, street railway was declared in a court decision to have a perpetual franchise.

The district court of Minnesota decided the electric trolley lines of the state had no right of eminent domain.

Mrs. Alexander Henderson of Pawtucket, R. I., was killed in her candy store by a robber.

A census bureau bulletin showed that tuberculosis was the most fatal disease in America, with pneumonia second.

The senate of Kansas passed a bill providing for two-cent fares, carrying the proviso that railroads must sell 500-mile books. The house passed a two-cent flat rate bill.

The Indiana house of representatives passed a bill appropriating $5,000 for a statue of Gen. Lew Wallace to be placed in Statuary Hall at Washington.

John F. Stevens resigned as chief engineer of the Panama canal and the president named Maj. G. W. Goethals as chairman and engineer-in-chief, and appointed on the commission Maj. Du B. Gaillard and Maj. W. L. Sibert. Senator Blackburn also is to be made a commissioner and the plan of having the work done by contract has been abandoned for the present.

Principal Sarah Maxwell and 16 children perished in a fire in the Hochelaga school in Montreal.

Nearly 20 persons were hurt, many seriously, at Knoxville, Ia., when a floor in the home of C. K. Davis, collapsed during the wedding of his daughter.

On recommendation of the state board of health, in view of the smallpox epidemic, Mayor Wallau of Jefferson City, Mo., issued a proclamation closing all places of public amusement.

The secret report of Gen. Smirnoff on the surrender of Port Arthur denounced Gen. Stoessel as incompetent and a traitor and coward.

Three persons were killed and many injured in the wreck of a Grand Trunk train at Guelph, Ont.

John E. Wilkie, chief of the secret service, started for Chicago to help find the man who stole $173,000 from the subtreasury.

Two trainmen were killed and many persons injured in a collision on the Intercolonial railroad.

Out of 215 American candidates for the Rhodes scholarships at the University of Oxford 138 passed.

J. Henley Smith, a veteran newspaper man, died at his home in Atlanta, Ga., aged 78. In 1869, with Alexander H. Stephens, he established the Atlanta Sun.

An agreement to build passenger and freight terminals at Kansas City at an estimated cost to the railways of $50,000,000 has been reached. The passenger station is to cost $2,000,000.

It is feared that the schooner Hilda, coal laden, is lost between Philadelphia and Savannah, Ga. She carried a crew of eight, including the captain.

King Menelik of Abyssinia is sending to President Roosevelt an autograph letter conferring a royal order upon him.

Archbishop Nuttall announced that the British parliament will arrange a loan of $5,000,000 to rebuild part of Kingston.

Gov. Hanly, of Indiana, signed the two-cent railway fare act.

One woman was killed and much property destroyed by a fire in Los Angeles, Cal.

Alexander Green, veteran of several wars, died at Piqua, O., aged 100 years.

Three Indians were burned to death in a tepee on the outskirts of Winnipeg, and two others were badly burned, during a drunken carousal.

Five women passengers were seriously cut and bruised when the Philadelphia express on the Pennsylvania railroad ran into an open switch at Pittsburg. One coach was telescoped and two derailed.

Another violent earthquake shock occurred at Kingston, Jamaica, but no one was killed.

M. Schiff, a prominent Paris jeweler, lost gems valued at $200,000 while standing in the post office.

Benjamin C. Wright confessed to the Denver police that he poisoned his wife and daughter.

The battleship Connecticut sailed from Guantanamo for the north with 36 cases of typhoid on board.

E. M. Fuller, a grocer of Augusta, Ga., mistook a policeman for a burglar and killed him.

The chief of police and chief of detectives of Salt Lake City were arrested for conspiracy to fleece travelers.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw was elected president of the Carnegie Trust company of New York.

Attorney General Hays, of Kentucky, took steps to have the Southern Pacific Railway company pay $6,000,000 into the state treasury for taxes.

President Roosevelt will address the students of the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing May 31.

The reported theft of $173,000 from the Chicago subtreasury was surrounded with mystery. The officials believed they knew the culprits.

The Texas senate indorsed United States Senator Bailey and discharged its investigating committee without a report.

Prof. E. B. Lovell, of Columbia university, testified before the coroner's inquest that the New York Central train wrecked at Harlem was running too fast and was too heavy.

The Missouri house passed an amended low fare bill and the senate concurred.

The Kansas legislature must prolong its session in order to complete its work.

The steam yacht Nada was in distress off the Jersey coast, with a broken shaft.

Hickory Inn, at Hickory, N. C., one of the largest hotels in the western part of the state, was destroyed by fire. Guests were forced to jump from second and third-story windows, and five were badly injured.

Col. J. E. Ewing, publisher of the Financier, of New York, died suddenly two hours after he was stricken by apoplexy while in the New York Life Insurance building, Chicago.

During a family quarrel in St. Louis Gilbert Ashley, 15 years old, shot and killed his uncle, Edward Murphy.

Frank J. Hearne, president of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, died at Denver.

Mrs. Belle Jones and Mrs. W. C. Moore, of Lexington, Ky., claim they are descendants of Baron Springer, of Sweden, and heirs to an $80,000,000 estate in Delaware, including the site of the city of Wilmington.

Ambassador Bryce was presented to President Roosevelt by Secretary Root.

Eleven persons were rescued from the wrecked steamer Berlin, the life savers being helped personally by the prince consort of the Netherlands. Two women and a child could not be taken off.

The three last survivors of the wreck of the steamer Berlin at the Hook of Holland were rescued by the gallant life-savers. Fifteen were saved out of 143 aboard the vessel.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich, the poet, who underwent an operation in Boston, had a serious relapse.

The plant of the Acker Process company at Niagara Falls, N. Y., was burned, the loss being $800,000. H. S. Fairchild was killed.

Nicaraguans captured the Honduran fortified town of San Marcos de Colon.

Antonio Villereal, the alleged Mexican revolutionist, escaped just after he had been turned over to the immigration authorities at El Paso, Tex., for deportation.

The Georgia Southern & Florida passenger train for Jacksonville, Fla., was wrecked about 45 miles south of Macon, Ga. The engineer was killed. No passengers injured.

Guy Taunce of Waterbury, Conn., a lad of six years, found his grandfather's pipe six weeks ago and took to smoking it. The boy died of tobacco poison.

Prof. Matteucci of the Vesuvius observatory denies that he prophesied the possible destruction of the world by a comet.

One man was probably fatally burned and many windows were broken by an explosion of gas in the basement of the Bittner building, Sandusky, O.

Archibald Clavering Gunther, author, publisher and playwright, died suddenly in New York.

Property in the downtown district of Pittsburg, valued at $350,000, was destroyed by fire.

The supreme court of the United States decided the case of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railroad vs. the railroad commission of Texas involving state freight rates, favorably to the state.

John W. Lormor, an Iowa pioneer, the owner of 60 farms and rated as a millionaire, died.

The Pennsylvania's 18-hour train west bound was derailed near Johnstown, Pa., and three cars were buried into a shallow river. Many passengers were hurt but none killed.

Patrick C. Sheehan, a lawyer of Conneautville, Pa., was stricken with apoplexy while carrying a lighted lamp, and was burned to death.

President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, cabled that President Bonilla, of Honduras, was to blame for the war and that Nicaragua had won four victories.

President Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Longworth and Miss Ethel Roosevelt returned to Washington after spending two days in Boston and Groton with the president's sons.

James R. McClure, secretary and treasurer of many of the subsidiary companies of the Pennsylvania railroad, was stricken with apoplexy and died while attending services in church in Philadelphia.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25—A burlesque on the exposition bill made its appearance at the short session of the house this afternoon. The bill is by Elmer Adams of Fergus Falls, and calls for the issuance of $1,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness to be sold and the proceeds distributed among the various counties for a semi-centennial memorial. On each bridge so erected is to be placed a tablet reading, "Erected in 1908 in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the admission of Minnesota to the Union." Friends of the exposition idea are especially annoyed by the Adams measure, and claim that not only is the whole proposition to serious for such a burlesque, but that the open session of the legislature is not the place for the presentation of practical jokes. Rumor says that Frank Eddy had a good deal to do with the Adams bill.

H. W. Libby of Winona introduced a bill establishing the bureau of "Labor Industry and Commerce." The department of labor, as already established, is enlarged and salaries generally increased. The bill provides for an assistant to the head of the department, three deputies, six factory inspectors, and five assistant inspectors.

W. L. Case of Cloquet is author of a bill which requires chaffeurs to stop after an accident and secure the name and address of such party as may have been run down and injured, and provides punishment as a misdemeanor for violation of the act.

The tax committee reported with recommendations for passage several important bills. One was the Burdette-Thayer measure making a graded tax of from one to three per cent on inheritances. Another was the bill of C. B. Miller of Duluth, providing for submitting to a vote of the people a proposition to increase the gross earnings taxes of the railroads to five per cent.

E. S. Durment of St. Paul presented a bill in the senate this evening authorizing the fire marshall of the state to appoint a deputy at $1,000 a year who shall be a detective and aid in ferreting out "fire-bugs." The chief justice of the supreme court and the president of the board of regents are reinstated as members of the board of investment of state funds by a bill introduced by Senator A. D. Stephens of Crookston.

At every session of both houses of the legislature now, there are being presented petitions from all over the state asking for passage of the county local option liquor bill. This bill is being pushed hard by the prohibitionists in the house and in the capitol corridors and retiring rooms there are always several men busy lobbying in the interests of the measure. The liquor interests are fighting it, and beneath the surface of things there is a great battle waging for and against the proposition.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25—Action by the senate late today assures the people of Minnesota a two cent per mile railroad fare from now on. The senate passed the Peterson 2-cent measure by a vote of 57 to 6, and as the house declared itself the other day, the passage of the bill by each body formally endorsing the measures of the other, is simply a matter of a few days. There is also no question but what the governor will sign the measure. Not only did the senate today pass a 2-cent fare bill, but at the same time passed the Peterson anti-pass bill, 62 senators voting in its favor and not one against.

The two bills were a special order during the afternoon. The importance of the measures and the promise of a wordy combat, attracted a large number of people, the galleries being full and the wall aisles in the senate chamber being occupied by onlookers.

Senator Hardy, democrat, of St. Paul, opened the 2-cent fare bill ball with an amendment to make the rate 2½ cents. This amendment gave a test vote. The amendment failed, 51 to 10. Senator George P. Wilson made a lengthy speech against the bill. He said he supposed such attitude would place him in some odium with a certain class of people, but that he believed it right to stand by his convictions and sense of justice, and that in his opinion the two cent fare is two low a rate to be reasonable for some of the roads in Minnesota. He reminded the senate that if it can be proved to be confiscatory for a single road, it is unconstitutional for all the roads. Senator Laybourn wanted an amendment to exempt from application of the bill the Duluth Belt Line, which he explained is but two miles in length a climbs a 200 foot hill. This company cannot even do a profitable business on a three cent rate. Senator Laybourn was voted down. The bills both want to vote shortly after this and were passed amid much enthusiasm.

One of the most interesting events of the day in the senate was the report of the finance committee recommending for indefinite postponement the J. M. Hackney bill for a semi-centennial exposition at the fair grounds in 1908 and providing for use of the state's credit to raise $1,000,000 to be paid back from future fair profits. The committee further recommended, however, the bill be advanced to general orders where it will be considered by committee of the whole. Friends of the measure claim to have 40 out of the 63 votes in the senate pledged for the bill.

Senator S. F. Alderman today introduced another girls training school bill. He would have the legislature get out of its squabble on this subject by establishing the institution at his home town, Brainerd. The bill appropriates $100,000.

Senator Henry McColl of St. Paul introduced an anti-suicide bill which provides for very limited sale of carbolic acid, only on order of physicians and no one prescription to be filled twice.

The house today killed the county board of education bill. The bill had been drafted and introduced by the house committee on education. W. L. Case of Cloquet introduced a bill aiming to do away with temptation in part for murder, providing that no person who unlawfully causes the death of another shall be permitted to inherit any of the property of the one murdered. G. W. Knox of Aitkin introduced a bill placing all scales on railroad tracks and right of way, under jurisdiction of the state railroad and warehouse commission. W. H. Wescott of West St. Paul, introduced a bill prohibiting "hay" to be used in cigarettes and providing that all cigarettes sold in Minnesota must be of pure tobacco.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 27—These are days when committees are springing into importance in the legislature and doing more interesting work, sometimes, than is accomplished through the routine grind of the sessions. The special committee which is investigating ore lands and taxation has hurried a lot of officers of the law to Duluth armed with subpoenas for men prominent in mining operations in northern Minnesota. The committee recently returned from a junket over the range, on which trip they were feted and banqueted. Now that they have had their fun, the committeemen are going to settle down to real business and make a thorough investigation. Rumor goes that the committee is after evidence to show that the $70,000,000 at which St. Louis county mines are assessed, is not a drop in the bucket compared with their real value.

The so-called Knutson committee, which is investigating the J. J. Hill ore land deal, has demanded that Louis W. Hill, son of the magnate, produce all the books and records of the Superior company which holds the lands at present for the Great Northern stockholders. There is an opinion around that the records will not be produced.

An interesting bill which put in an appearance today in the senate, was by Senator J. T. Ellwell of Minneapolis. It is a bill to appropriate $12,500 the next fiscal year and $25,000 the following year for maintenance of a new clinical hospital to be built and established at the state university by donation and free of expense to the state. Walter J. Trask of Los Angeles gives $114,000 for the building as a memorial to Dr. Adolphus F. Elliott and Mary H. Elliott, his wife. The institution will be known as the Elliott Memorial hospital. In addition, the alumni of the university have raised a fund of $50,000 for the purchase of a site for the building.

Senator Seward is author of a bill to appropriate $1,500 from Farmers' Institute funds, for experiments in destroying weeds, breeding cattle, raising poultry, etc., on the Coteau farm in Lyon county under direction of O. C. Gregg, who for so many years has been so prominent in Farmers' Institute work.

The house committee on taxes this afternoon decided to recommend for passage important tax measures. One is the bill for a registry tax on mortgages, which it is estimated will bring $140,000 into the state treasury annually from Hennepin county alone. The other is the Tighe bill for a stamp tax on sale in grain produce exchanges. The house committee on judiciary has decided the Elmer E. Adams bill to abolish private banks, is unconstitutional.

Fined for Child's Act.

St. Peter—Fred Rabins, residing at Winthrop, was placed under arrest by a government mail inspector, charged with abusing fourth-class mail privileges, and was fined $100. A little daughter of Mr. Robins mailed a package some time ago, and when it was opened it was found to contain a message. The inspector held that parents were responsible for the acts of their children, and a heavy fine was imposed.

Mankato—The Watonwan County Anti-Horse Thief Association held its annual meeting at the court house at St. James and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: E. A. Gibbs, president; P. H. Grogan, vice-president; J. W. Somers, secretary; George Hnrhits, treasurer; George Forsyth, captain of riders.

Loses All Fingers.

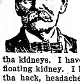
Bovey—Francis Kelly was so badly frozen that all his fingers had to be amputated. The young man was driving a team from Coleraine when the sleigh was overturned in a snowdrift and the horses ran away. The young man attempted to follow them, but night coming on, he lost his way and wandered about for hours. When he finally reached a house he was almost overcome by exposure to the cold and his hands so badly frozen that it was necessary to take off his fingers to save his life.

Carleton Wins

Northfield—In the eighth annual Ware oratorical contest held here between Carleton and St. Olaf colleges, Carleton was awarded both first and second honors. First prize was won by E. W. Cross, who spoke on the subject, "Lawlessness and Public Responsibility." John Monroe won second place with an oration entitled, "The Race Question Simplified." J. A. Holvik, of St. Olaf was awarded third place, speaking on the subject, "A Plea For An Unpopular Issue."

HARDSHIPS OF ARMY LIFE.

Left Thousands of Veterans with Kidney Troubles.



The experience of David W. Martin, a retired merchant of Bolivar, Mo., is just like thousands of others. Mr. Martin says: "I think I have had kidney disease ever since the war. During an engagement my horse fell on me, straining my back and injuring the kidneys. I have been told I had a floating kidney. I had intense pain in the back, headaches and dizzy spells and the action of the bladder was very irregular. About three years ago I tried Doan's Kidney Pills, and found such great relief that I continued, and inside a comparatively short time was entirely rid of kidney trouble."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Motor Voice.

The tennis elbow, the bicycle foot, the clergyman's sore throat and all manner of disabilities that come from modern conveniences are familiar to us. The motor-omnibus voice was discovered by a young woman who was riding outside a motor-omnibus, and trying (as is her habit) to talk. And the horrible truth suddenly flashed on her mind, and from her lips. . . . "I c-c-can't keep-pip-pip my voice sut-tut-till."—The Reader.

Oats—Heads 2 Foot Long.

The John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., are bringing out a new oats this year with heads 2 foot long! That's a wonder. Their catalog tells!

Spetz—the greatest cereal hay food America ever saw! Catalog tells!

FREE

Our mammoth 148-page Seed and Tool Catalog is mailed free to all intending buyers, or send 6c in stamps and receive free samples of new Two Foot Long Oats and other cereals and big catalog free.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box W, La Crosse, Wis.

Demand for Cocoanut Meat.

For the year ending June 30, 1906, the exports of copra (dried cocoanut meat) from the Philippine islands amounted to 145,851,913 pounds, of which France took 88,336,350 pounds, or about 61 per cent. The next most important buyers were Spain and Germany.

Take advantage of Nature's splendid offering, Garfield Tea, the laxative that is pure, mild and potent. It is made wholly of Herbs. For constipation, biliousness, liver and kidney diseases. It purifies the blood. Guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drugs Law.

SOME POINTS ABOUT NEEDLES.

The Evolved Product of Centuries of Invention.

The point of a needle is a very important part of that useful little instrument, and there are many points about needles calculated to interest the general public. The daily consumption of needles all over the world is something like 3,000,000, while every year the women of the United States break, lose and use some 300,000,000 of those tiny tools. Few people while threading a needle have ever given a thought to the various processes through which the wire must pass before it comes out a needle. Yet the manufacture of needles includes some 21 different processes from cutting the wire and threading the double needles by the eyes to separating the two needles on the one length of wire, beading, hardening in oil, cleaning out the sides of the eye, point-setting, and final polishing. For wrapping purple paper is used, since it prevents rusting. There are many sorts of needles, for surgeons', cooks', glovemakers', weavers', sailmakers', broommakers', milliners' and dressmakers' use. The needle is the evolved product of centuries of invention. In its primitive form it was made of bone, ivory, or wood. Point by point its manufacture has improved, until this little but not insignificant instrument is now one of the highly-finished products of twentieth century machinery and skill.—Zion's Herald.

A FRIEND'S TIP.

70-Year-Old Man Not too Old to Accept a Food Pointer.

"For the last 20 years," writes a Maine man, "I've been troubled with Dyspepsia and liver complaint, and have tried about every known remedy without much in the way of results until I took up the food question.

"A friend recommended Grape-Nuts food, after I had taken all sorts of medicines with only occasional, temporary relief.

"This was about nine months ago, and I began the Grape-Nuts for breakfast with cream and a little sugar. Since then I have had the food for at least one meal a day, usually for breakfast.

"Words fail to express the benefit I received from the use of Grape-Nuts. My stomach is almost entirely free from pain and my liver complaint is about cured, I have gained flesh, sleep well can eat nearly any kind of food except greasy, starchy things and am strong and healthy at the age of 70 years.

"If I can be the means of helping any poor mortal who has been troubled with dyspepsia as I have been, I am willing to answer any letter enclosing stamp." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

Express Rates Reduced.

St. Paul—The following schedule of express rates was submitted by the railway commission and accepted by the express companies:

Distances.	Per 100 lbs.
1 to 15	$0.40
30 and over 15	.40
45 and over 30	.45
60 and over 45	.50
75 and over 60	.55
90 and over 75	.60
105 and over 90	.65
120 and over 105	.75
135 and over 120	.85
150 and over 135	.90
165 and over 150	.95
180 and over 165	1.00
195 and over 180	1.10
220 and over 195	1.20
250 and over 220	1.25
280 and over 250	1.30
310 and over 280	1.40
340 and over 310	1.50
370 and over 340	1.60
400 and over 370	1.70

Some of the cuts are very material. For instance, the old rate of from 50 to 75 cents per 100 weight for a 35-mile haul has been reduced to a flat rate of 45 cents, while the charges for short shipments, less than 35 miles have been cut from a 40 to 60-cent basis to the flat rate of 45 cents. The old rate of from 50 to 75 cents per hundred weight on 50-mile hauls has been knocked down to a flat rate of 50 cents, while 55-mile hauls are reduced from 70 to 90 cents rates to a flat charge of 50 cents. On express weighing less than 100 pounds the reductions average 25 per cent.

Hereafter a distance rate will be good only for 15 miles. For instance, the charge of 40 cents per hundred weight for a distance of 15 miles and under 30 cannot be extended so as to carry 40 or 50 miles as has been the custom in the past when it was considered advantageous. This clause will make discrimination impossible, as the charges must be made on a mileage basis.

Beast Mangles Steers.

Mankato—A mountain lion, panther or other ferocious wild animal made its presence known near this city by attacking a three-year-old steer on the farm of Columbus Ballard. It leaped upon the back of the steer and tore it badly and nearly killed it.

Mr. Ballard was in the barn milking at the time, but his attention was attracted by the stampeding of the herd in the pasture and their wild bellowing. The house dog, ordinarily courageous, slunk to the house panic-stricken.

Mr. Ballard got a lantern and with a hired man investigated and found the steer nearly dead and the rest of the cattle so excited that it took two hours to calm them. A tour of the wooded portion of the pasture revealed large footprints in the snow, made by some strange animal.

Rabies Spreading.

St. Paul—Rabies is spreading in Minnesota, despite Dr. S. H. Ward, executive officer of the state livestock sanitary board. The board has found many outbreaks of the disease among cattle and other livestock, and Dr. Ward says that frequently it is possible to trace the flight of a mad dog across a whole county by the cases of rabies which afterwards spring up along his trail.

"We have had reports of outbreaks of rabies since the first of the year" said Dr. Ward, "in Hennepin, in Ramsey, Winona, Carver, Wright, McLeod, Crow Wing and Sibley counties. The cases have all started from mad dogs the animals later affected being cows, hogs, horses, and at Winona a number of sheep."

Monument to Col. Colvill.

St. Paul—The Sons of Veterans held a meeting and appointed a committee, consisting of Colfax Grant of Minneapolis as chairman, E. F. Heller of Duluth, C. E. Casler, W. J. Hiland, Grant Van Sant, George T. Drake and A. L. Janes of St. Paul, to co-operate with the citizens of Cannon Falls to secure monuments in memory of Col. Colvill of the First Minnesota regiment. One monument is to be erected over his grave at Cannon Falls and the other is to be in the capitol.

Fined for Child's Act.

St. Peter—Fred Rabins, residing at Winthrop, was placed under arrest by a government mail inspector, charged with abusing fourth-class mail privileges and was fined $100. A little daughter of Mr. Robins mailed a package some time ago, and when it was opened it was found to contain a message. The inspector held that parents were responsible for the acts of their children and a heavy fine was imposed.

News Notes.

Minneapolis—Mrs. Flora Buffermeyer was severely burned as a result of an accident at her home, 31 Elm street, and only prompt action on the part of her mother saved her from more serious injury.

Faribault—Last summer while a circus was exhibiting at Red Wing a wild boar escaped from its cage and disappeared. A reward of $200 was offered for the recapture. The animal has been found dead on Knute Rank's farm, near Nerstrand, a few miles east of here. The animal evidently starved to death.

Mankato—When Mrs. August Magin, who conducts an intelligence office, returned home after a half-hour's shopping tour, she was astonished to find that someone had entered her apartments and left a tiny infant upon her bed.

Owatonna—Another complaint was filed against Braham and Torgerson, the saloonkeepers who were recently convicted of operating a gambling house at their place of business.

St. Cloud—C. H. Miles of Bemidji is considering the proposition of creating a vaudeville theater here to form one of a chain of such theaters which he is organizing.

St. Paul.—The St. Paul road paid $90,798.32 into the state treasury, it being the last payment on their 1906 gross earnings tax.

Mankato.—A machine, drawn by three horses, that will husk standing corn at the rate of ten acres a day has just been perfected and patented by G. L. Narchow, formerly of Wisconsin.

Hastings.—At the meeting of the city council the contract for the construction of waterworks and sewers in Hastings was let to William Tunny, of Joliet, Ill., at $33,694. There were six competitors.

Minneapolis—Edward O'Neil, a lumberjack staying at the Wisconsin house on Bridge Square, was held up and robbed in an alley near Hennepin avenue and First street after the saloons had closed at midnight.

Washington.—Ella M. Greene was appointed postmaster at Gladiela, Cass county, vice S. E. Smith, resigned, and Thomas Barker at Saint Mathias, Crow Wing county, Minn., vice E. J. Reid, resigned.

Mankato—Miss Odessa White, who resides with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Jones, at Cordova, was kicked by a horse that she was leading to water, and her right jawbone was broken in two places.

Rochester—The three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagoner was smothered to death in bed. At midnight the infant received attention from its parents and when they awoke this morning they found it dead.

Duluth.—Carrying approximately 2,500,000 passengers at an average cost to the city of one-fifth of a cent apiece, the Duluth aerial bridge, the only one of its kind on the continent, has just completed its first year of operation.

Mankato.—Reports from several sections are to the effect that a larger number of prairie chickens are to be found in the corn fields now than for several years. It is supposed that the deep snow in the Dakotas caused them to migrate to this section for feed.

Faribault.—The city administration is determined to keep the "lid" on in Faribault. John Shultz, a leading saloon man, was fined $25 and costs for keeping open on Sunday. Three arrests for keeping open on Sunday and after closing hours have been made within a short time.

Faribault.—Ned H. Hamblin, aged ten years, and George Wagner, aged twelve years, both living in Northfield, were sentenced to the reform school at Red Wing, by Judge Thomas S. Buckham, of the district court. The boys broke into a store at Northfield, and stole a number of revolvers, knives and other goods.

Mankato.—Fire destroyed the only hotel in Sacred Heart owned by a Thompson of Dawson and conducted by Mrs. Walstad. It also destroyed Joseph Dieter's saloon, and the office of the Wisconsin Grain Company. The total loss on buildings and fixtures is about $10,000 partly insured. Mrs. Walstad carried no insurance.

Mendota.—The elevator owned by J. E. Bathker & Son was destroyed at noon yesterday. A bucket brigade was formed by the citizens and heroic efforts made to check the fire. The flames, fanned by the wind, swept over the building, which burned to the ground in less than an hour. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Faribault.—The biennial reports of the Minnesota state schools for the deaf, blind and feeble minded have been issued. The report for the school for the deaf shows that the total receipts from the shoe shop, cabinet shop, printing office, sewing room and other sources, were $3,640.65. The products of the farm amounted to $3,209.27.

Eveleth.—Hibbing socialists have started an aggressive campaign for the avowed purpose of taking over the village government at the municipal election next week. Teofilo Petrella, candidate for president, jokingly says that if they win they will move into the village hall and that there will be no difference between the village government and socialism.

Duluth.—The Duluth, Missobe & Northern Railway Company has awarded a contract to the Barnett & Record Company for the construction of a coal dock on their property immediately east of Ore Dock No. 1, at West Duluth. The dock will have a capacity of 300,000 tons of coal and will be patterned somewhat after the type of the M. A. Hanna dock at Superior.

St. Paul.—The state game and fish commission has issued a bulletin calling attention to the closed season, March and April, for Minnesota fish. Bass are protected from March 1 to May 29; pike, muskalonge, crapples, perch, sunfish, sturgeon, catfish and any other variety except pickerel, suckers, redhorse, carp and bullheads, from March 1 to May 1, and all trout, except from Sept. 1 to April 15.

St. Paul.—Frank Penas, sixteen years of age, living at 376 Colborne street, was found unconscious on the railroad tracks, at the foot of James street with his right arm crushed to a pulp as far as the shoulder, his left hand mangled and several scalp wounds. He was taken to the city hospital by the police, where the boy's right arm was amputated near the shoulder and his left hand was severed at the wrist.

Duluth.—Joseph Gauthier, a well-known citizen of West Duluth, believes that he has made a rich strike of gold upon his homestead on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. Samples of the ore brought here by Mr. Gauthier are said to have assayed $105 in gold and silver to the ton.

Minneapolis—Paul Anderson, 1808 Seventeenth avenue south, was seriously injured by falling a distance of about 50 feet off the main building at the state university, where he was employed as a laborer.

Austin.—The South Central Minnesota Teachers' Association will convene in Austin March 14, 15 and 16.

THE BUSINESS WOMAN AND HER ACCOUNT AT THE BANK

Proper Way to Indorse a Check—Collecting Money from Out-of-Town Debtors—Drafts, Bank Drafts and Bills of Exchange.

BY KATHERINE LOUISE SMITH.

Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.

Depositing money and writing checks is a small part of the business it is desirable to understand in dealing with a bank. There is, for instance, a right and a wrong way to indorse a check, and if a woman learns correctly at first, she will always adopt that method, and save confusion and mistakes.

To indorse a check is to sign one's name on the back, and by so doing a party makes herself liable for the check. The signature should always appear exactly as it is on the face. If the name on the face of the paper is spelled wrong, the indorser should write the name twice, first as it appears on the face, and then immediately below that, her name as it is usually spelled. For instance, I am paid a check made out to Dorothty E. Raymond or order. My banking business is done under the name of Dorothy Ellen Raymond. I sign both names on the back; first the name in which the check is made out and second the name that I am accustomed to use.

Any teller will say that one of the annoyances of banking is the higgletypigglety way in which indorsements are made. If he can pick up a check indorsed in the correct manner, he is saved handling it many times, instead of once. For this reason, among others, it is desirable to know exactly where to indorse a check. The proper way is to sign the name cross wise on the back of the check, near the top. Not lengthtwise, or wrong side up. The indorsement should be written an inch or so from the top, and the correct end to indorse is easily ascertained by holding one end of the check in each hand, and as it is turned over, moving the right end toward the body. This leaves the end to be indorsed in the left hand. It is the method used by all bankers and is very simple to learn. Practicing this, once or twice, will show exactly how it is done, and the habit of turning the check aright will become mechanical.

If other indorsements are to appear on the back of the check, they are written in order, below the name of the first indorser, and often a check is indorsed many times. When it is desirable to make out a check payable to some particular person by indorsing, the person who owns the check writes the words "Pay to the order of ——" on the back, and signs her name underneath. Take the case of Mary R. Evans who holds a check made out to her. She wishes to transfer this check to Elizabeth A. Robbins. So she writes on the back "Pay to the order of Elizabeth A. Robbins," and signs underneath Mary R. Evans. When Elizabeth A. Robbins draws this check she also signs her name.

The holder of a check must present it for payment within a reasonable time, for otherwise the delay is at the peril of the holder. The reason for this is readily understood when one reflects that a man may have money in the bank at the time he gives his check, and none a week or month after. Sometimes drawers of checks request that a check should not be presented for payment until a given time. This, of course, is an understanding between the receiver and giver of the check.

As a rule, if a check is drawn in the same place as the payee receives it, it should be presented for payment during banking hours on the day on which it is recorded or on the following day, for if the bank fails the loss is on the payee of the check. If the bank is not in the same place where the payee receives the check, it should be forwarded by mail either by the payee or through her bank, immediately on its receipt. As an illustration, I receive a check from Thomas R. Brown, of Phoenix, Ariz., made out on his bank. I at once send it to that bank for collection, or, better still, I take it to the bank in which I do business, and they collect it for me and credit it to me on their books. Sometimes a person receives a check and prefers not to have the money. At the same time she has no bank account on which to deposit it. She can, in this case, take the check to the bank and receive a "certificate of deposit," which she can draw at any time.

* * * * *

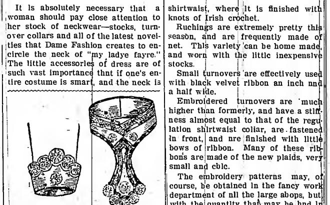
Of course, a bank is supposed to know the signature of its depositor, and if it pays money on a forged check, no matter what the circumstances, if the depositor is free of blame, all loss must be borne by the bank, for it assumes this risk in undertaking the care of funds intrusted to its charge. For this reason, care is usually taken to ascertain that the party presenting a check is the one entitled to receive payment. As a rule, persons who pay bills by means of checks are established depositors in a bank, but some banks will allow a person to deposit the required amount, and to take a certificate of deposit and indorse it over to the party it is desired to pay. This is, of course, an accommodation on the part of the bank, and it is such a nuisance that many banks require a permanent deposit of at least $100, for a certain length of time, before they will act as a clearing house.

When a woman desires to use her check to pay a note at some other bank or in some large deal, she may find it necessary to get it certified. She asks the cashier of her bank where her funds are deposited to do so, and he writes across the face of the check the words "Certified" or "Good when properly indorsed." This shows the payee that the check is beyond question a good one, and that her bank will retain enough funds to meet it. In reality, such a transaction makes the bank the debtor, and it assumes the debt, simply because immediately on the issuance of a certified check, the amount is withdrawn from the depositor's account and held in trust by the bank. A bank is always willing to certify a check if it holds enough of the depositor's funds to meet it. Of course, if the depositor does not use the certified check, she should deposit again, that she may be credited with the amount.

This may sound like a formidable transaction, but it is in reality a simple one, as the following will show: Mary A. Stanford decides to buy a piece of real estate for $1,000. She has this amount in her bank, and the agent of the property wishes a certified check. She goes to the bank and asks that her check for that amount be certified. The bank does so, and at once withdraws that amount from her credit, and stands ready to pay the check itself when presented. This may occur. Or Mary A. Stanford may change her mind. In this case she of course wants her $1,000, which the bank holds, credited to her account, and so deposits thet certified check, which she holds, to her credit.

Neckwear a Most Important Part of Feminine Costume

It is absolutely necessary that a woman should pay close attention to her stock of neckwear—stocks, turnover collars and all of the latest novelties that Dame Fashion creates to encircle the neck of "my ladye fayre." The little accessories of dress are of such vast importance that if one's entire costume is smart, and the neck is neglected, or half-way cared for, the entire costume is pronounced a failure.



A pretty stock is fashioned of tiny folds of crepe de chine reaching high up on the neck, and it is tied after the manner of a four-in-hand in front, reaching to about the middle of the shirtwaist, where it is finished with knots of Irish crochet.

Ruchings are extremely pretty this season, and are frequently made of net. This variety can be home made, and worn with the little inexpensive stocks.

Small turnovers are effectively used with black velvet ribbon an inch and a half wide.

Embroidered turnovers are much higher than formerly, and have a stiffness almost equal to that of the regulation shirtwaist collar, are fastened in front, and are finished with little bows of ribbon. Many of these ribbons are made of the new plaids, very small and chic.

The embroidery patterns may, of course, be obtained in the fancy work department of all the large shops, but with the quantity that may be had in the shops at such small cost, it would seem almost a waste of valuable time to embroider one's own neckwear, and yet it is a known fact that there are times when a woman can do nothing but embroider.

The designs of embroidery seen in many of the turnovers and stocks are very heavy, and the turnover cuffs are made to match.

QUEEN'S COAT OF ARMS

ROYAL GRANT RECENTLY MADE BY KING EDWARD.

Insignia Not Hereditary as Generally Supposed—Ruler of England is Supreme on Matters of Armorial Ensigns.

London.—To those who look with scorn upon a modern grant of arms, no less than to those who are unaware that the royal arms are not hereditary, and that each member of the royal family is supposed to receive a warrant personal to himself or herself, it will come as a startling shock to learn that her majesty, Queen Alexandra, has recently received a grant of arms. To be more exactly precise, the king has issued a warrant "to give and assign unto our dearly beloved consort," whom his majesty styles "A Lady of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter" . . . "Arms, Crown and Supporters."

Coat of Arms of Queen Alexandra.

The law which governs the royal arms in this country bears little if any relation to the law controling the armorial ensigns of subjects, and, though more rigid in its rules, it nevertheless closely follows upon the old customs and rules conformed to by the Bourbons when France was royalist.

The cardinal rules lying at the base of royal heraldry are first that the king can do anything in such matters by merely declaring his pleasure by means of a formal royal warrant, and second, that the royal arms as such are not personal and are not hereditary, but are the emblems of the undying sovereignty of the realm.

The sovereign can at any moment declare by warrant what the royal arms shall be for the future, and though this is usually done immediately upon ascending the throne, and a subsequent change but seldom occurs, such changes do happen. There were no less than three changes in the reigns of George III., George IV., and William IV. Each contented himself with the final version of King George III., but a change was made by Queen Victoria.

The tenet that the royal arms belong only and exclusively to the sovereign dates back to the reign of Edward I., if not beyond. All the other members of the royal family bear the royal arms "differenced" by marks of distinction. How this differencing was effected in early times is not known, though what was the particular difference employed in each case there are plenty of records to show. In modern times, at any rate since the Stuart dynasty, it has been done by means of royal warrants under the sign manual and privy seal of the sovereign. Anciently the difference marks were two—either a "bordure" or a "label." For a long time past the label has been exclusively used. The label, which is now always white, is a straight bar across the top of the shield, from which hang three (or sometimes five) points. These points are perfectly plain for the heir apparent, but for all other members of the royal family they are charged with different objects, of which a multitudinous variety have been called into use.

These labels are placed upon the shield and upon each of the supporters, and in the case of princes upon the crest also; princesses, of course, have no crest.

Not only are such warrants issued for those who by blood descent are members of our royal family, but sometimes also for those who only enter the royal family by alliance. Such a warrant was issued by Queen Victoria for the late prince consort, and the royal arms of this country differenced by a label quartered with the arms of Saxony were what was assigned to him in the warrant. All of his descendants except the king retain the arms of Saxony upon their shield, but bear the coat upon an inescutcheon. As above stated, King Edward VII. has now issued a warrant for Queen Alexandra, and this warrant recites that her majesty "shall use and bear within the Garter our royal arms impaling the royal arms of Denmark surmounted by our crown." The supporters assigned to the queen in the warrant are "Dexter, a lion guardant or, crowned proper," and "Sinister, a savage wreathed about the temples and loins with oak, and supporting in the exterior hand a club all proper." This latter is one of the Danish supporters. The king also permits the queen to use his crown. This crown, by the way, is a fiction. It has no real existence, and the warrant will not affect the crown her majesty wears, which is a small one, entirely of diamonds. The crown the queen wore at the coronation was of another pattern.

GIRL MAY PLAN WARSHIP.

Boston Maid Graduates with Honor as Naval Architect.

Boston.—There is one girl who may look the part of a secretary for some home for stray cats, but who is building battleships. She is Miss Lydia Gould Weld, of a famous and wealthy old New England family. She is employed by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Construction company.

When just budding into womanhood Miss Weld concluded to be of some use in the world. A little story is told concerning Miss Weld and Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, sometimes termed "a temporal vice regent of the Prince of Peace." Miss Weld had announced her intention of learning to build battleships. Mrs. Mead was horrified.

MISS LYDIA GOULD WELD.
(Building Battleships is Hobby of This Boston Girl.)

"My dear Miss Weld," declaimed Mrs. Mead, "one battle ship costs as much as an entire university. One is educational and the other is totally destructive. I am astounded."

"My dear Mrs. Mead," responded the girl, "your mathematics are correct, but I question your logic. Frequently there are occasions in the onward march of civilization when one good battleship, properly handled, is worth more to God and humanity than 40 average universities."

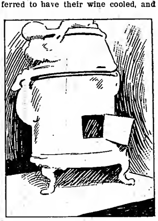
President Orcutt of the big Newport News company is proud of his fair employe, and says that he hopes his company will get the contract for the "Skeered-o'-Nothin'." If he does, Miss Weld, a frail, gently-bred New England girl, will have the proud distinction of making all the working plans for the greatest, most powerful, fastest and most terrible upholder of peace the world ever has known.

RELIC OF OLD ROMAN DAYS.

Ingenious Urn for Heating Water Found in Ruins of Pompeii.

New York.—There has recently been added to the Naples Museum a splendid collection of objects of antiquity dug up from the ruins of Pompeii. The one here produced is an excellent example. Archaeology has been able to piece together an almost entire picture of the uses of these beautifully designed urns. In Roman times wine was always mixed with water.

The host would ask his friends how they would like to have it. Some preferred to have their wine cooled, and snow or snow water was put into the wine. Here is where we have the advantage over a Roman in our modern refrigerating methods, which enable us to have ice at all seasons without regard to the product of the winter. But a custom among the Romans, which nowadays seems strange to us, was the admixture of hot water with the wine.



Dug from Ruins of Pompeii.

Special vessels were adopted for heating or keeping the water hot, and they were very often of very beautiful and elaborate design. There are many and very ingenious varieties of these urns, each one possessing a space for the hot water, a tube or other receptacle for hot coals, and a tap. Besides their chief use of heating water for mixing with wine they would be used also for cooking ovens. Great numbers have been dug up in Pompeii and Herculaneum, where in the days of their prime they must have formed beautiful table ornaments. It is not probable that the artistic impulse will lead to the reproduction of these beautiful ancient models.

Recommended by leading physicians and chemists

FIVE REASONS WHY

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

has obtained the confidence of the public.

1. It complies with the Pure Food Laws of all states.
2. It is the only high-grade Powder sold at a moderate price.
3. It is not made by a Baking Powder Trust.
4. Food prepared with it is free from Rochelle Salts or Alum.
5. It is the strongest Baking Powder on the market.

$1,000.00 given for any substance injurious to health found in Calumet

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect. Therefore, Calumet leaves no Rochelle Salts or Alum in the food. It is chemically correct.

All Grocers are Authorized to Guarantee this.

Calumet Baking Powder costs little. Costs a little more than the cheap, injurious powders now on the market, but is a big saving over the trust powders.

Try Calumet

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly Thursday evening, entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

STAY BY THE CREAMERY.

Within the next few weeks the local creamery will be started up with a competent butter maker in charge, and as announced some time back, it is the intention of those interested in the concern to keep the plant in operation the year around.

The run of last season was a very satisfactory one to the officers and stockholders, and the patrons were at all times paid the top prices for their butter fat.

In face of the success made last year, it was not then a fraction of what can be accomplished the coming year if the farmers tributary to Red Lake Falls will pull together for the general good of the community. The local creamery has been unfortunate, inasmuch as petty troubles among those who should be its best patrons have at all times retarded its progress.

Neighborhood disputes, no matter who has the right side, should not be allowed to enter into a business transaction. If the Red Lake Falls creamery can be made to pay the patron as much as the best creameries pay, and can then be run on a profit basis to the stockholders, there is no reason whatsoever for any farmer within a radius of reasonable distance sending his cream away.

Supposing that factional differences and disputes were allowed to enter into all transactions, it would not be long until the best community would cease to exist. Co-operation has ever been the secret of success among the farmers, and we do not need to go many miles from home to see its results either.

The big cold storage houses are today banded together to kill off the small creameries, and when they have accomplished their purpose the farmer who has been shipping his cream to them and away from the local factory will find that he is hopelessly at the mercy of a gigantic trust, that will steal his product while he is helpless to prevent it.

When such a condition exists,—and it surely will if the farmers persist in shipping their cream away—they can blame no one but themselves for their nearsightedness.

Back to the original story—the local creamery is ready to start on a season of unprecedented success, or one of part success and part failure. Isn't it a better picture to look at, the one where the Red Lake Falls creamery is pointed to with pride as one of the leading institutions of its kind in the great "bread and butter state"—or would you, Mr. Farmer, who will have the deciding—rather have it said that you let your local plant die for lack of support, and thereby put your head into the very jaws of the cold storage trust.

Minnesota has swung into line on the 2-cent a mile railroad fare.

The mongrel purp wags his tail and looks pleasant. The bill providing for the shooting of all stray dogs has been defeated.

There will be just two styles of hats for Easter this year—those you can afford and those you can't. Most women will be wearing the latter.

The annual town meetings are to be held this year on Tuesday, March 12th, this date being the second Tuesday in March, the time set by law for holding such elections.

Hereafter no applause will be allowed in the senate of the Minnesota state legislature. It is hinted that there were so few of the members who were able to command applause that jealousy against the few who were so awarded, prompted its suppression.

We are to have lower express rates. At a conference held last week between representatives of all the express companies doing business in the state and a committee appointed by the legislature the express companies agreed to make reductions ranging from 10 to 50 per cent and averaging 25 per cent.

Rumors have been afloat in Washington for several days that a panic, engineered in Wall street, was about to sweep over the country. The report is said to mean a coupe on the part of Wall street to precipitate a condition of business unrest to affect the future political fortunes of the head of the administration. It is claimed that there is no fear of Roosevelt himself seeking preferment, but it is the wish to minimize his influence at the next national convention of his party.

The safest way is to live and try to live right. If you slip a cog bab bit your boxes and try it again. You are only a human being, and the Good Being realizes that your gearing won't always match just right. Take up the slack and go ahead, remembering that the other fellow isn't any better than you are, even if he doesn't get caught, and that he is just about as good. Human nature averages very nearly alike among the fifty-seven varieties and nationalities which we are liable to rub up against during our sojourn on this old planet.

There are all kinds of stories afloat about the Soo building west from Duluth the coming season, but none of the proposed lines seem to have any inclination of winding up in the neighborhood of Thief River Falls, notwithstanding the fact that that town has given the public to understand that they had inside information that no railroad could possibly be built across the northern part of the state without getting tangled up with some surburb of Thief River Falls. It must be that Minnesota is bigger than the upriver town figured on.

LUMBER SITUATION.

The lumber situation is indeed becoming serious. An inspection of lumber quotations of today compared with twelve years ago reveals the fact that the retail price of most grades has tripled during that time. The question naturally arises, what are we to do for building material? While brick is expensive it is becoming more generally used than formerly in building homes. Freight from the Pacific coast on lumber is now fifty cents a hundred. This means that on every thousand feet of lumber brought from the coast country we must pay a freight of from $12 to $15, and yet the lumber barons have so arranged their price schedules as to be able to sell the products of both their mills here and on the coast in the same territory. An old lumber dealer in expressing his opinion as to the outcome, stated that his solution of the problem was that brick, concrete and iron must extensively take the place of lumber wherever it is possible to use it as a substitute. It is also his conviction that the cottonwood, poplar and willow groves that are now growing on tens of thousands of our northwestern farms will be sawed up into lumber, in fact, said he, "One half of the timber that we are now sawing is no larger than that we find in a large percentage of the artificial groves that are now in use as wind-breaks." If this be true it will be only a question of a short time when the groves on many of our northwestern farms will have an increasing timber value in them.

THE EXTENT OF THE DAIRY DISTRICT.

One only needs to travel across the length and breadth of the United States to be thoroughly impressed with the very limited dairy territory of this continent, says the Advance Farmer. Most everywhere we go we find that the average man rebels at milking cows. We only get about one-half way down across Iowa and Illinois until we find almost a total absence of the creamery. There seems to be only a narrow strip of territory from here to the Atlantic coast in which people can be persuaded to keep cows. During the past season the writer met an old farmer on the train in western Canada who was shipping milk to Winnipeg for which he was receiving in the flush of the season $1.50 a hundred pounds. Even he was becoming discouraged on account of the difficulty he was having in obtaining competent milkers. The other day while on the streets of a town in southern Texas we were very forcibly impressed by the method in which milk is delivered in that section of the country. The milkman stops his vehicle on the street in front of the customer's house. Instead of taking the milk to the customer, he remains in his wagon while the customer hustles out into the street for his daily allowance, and if he does not hustle lively he goes without. Even though they obtain six cents a quart in this country of perpetual summer the supply is so limited and the demand so great that the milkmen put on an air of, "take it if you want to and if you don't take it in a hurry you will leave it alone."

Legend and Reality.

Legend tells how Napoleon, while Moscow was in flames, found time to draw up a decree organizing the Theatre Francais. Alas, the story is not true. Napoleon was in Poland when he received the decree ready to be signed. He there signed it and sent it back to Paris, but in the margin wrote the following: "To be forwarded when the army will be at Moscow. It is his majesty's intention that the decree should be dated from that town."

What Advertising Will Do.

(Specially Exemplified in the Case of Harry Mitchell, Minneapolis' Famous Tailor.)

It would be difficult to find a better exemplification of what good and persistent advertising will do for a man with the goods back of him than the case of Harry Mitchell, Minneapolis' popular tailor.

You will notice we said "with the goods back of him," for there is probably no tailor in the Twin Cities that carries a quarter of the stock that Harry Mitchell does, and the fabrics being purchased from the foremost mills of America and Europe, the quality is absolutely assured.

Five years ago Mr. Mitchell was conducting a tailor shop on the second floor of a building in Chicago, making a specialty of the finer class of work. He has been in this business for seven years.

One day he woke up to the fact that Minneapolis was a pretty good kind of a town, and as the western fever grew upon him, he decided to pull up stakes and move his belongings here.

He started out in Minneapolis in a small way—growing, growing, till today he is one of the largest tailors in the United States.

His success is due entirely to the fact that he is scrupulously honest—always giving a little more rather than a little less in all his transactions.

He conducts his business on a strictly cash basis, and no matter who the customer may be—banker or laborer—the goods must be paid for when delivered. This has been a very potent factor in the building up of his business, for there are no bad accounts standing out, no collector's fees to pay, and no "deadbeats" to write off on the wrong side of the ledger.

His store is located at 310 Nicollet avenue, is absolutely up-to-date in every respect, and the arrangement for exhibiting the enormous stock is commented on by every one who enters. The fitting or trying-on room is furnished in a most luxurious manner, every detail being carefully studied out for the comfort of the customer.

Mr. Mitchell's work rooms, where two hundred and forty people are employed, are located at Hennepin and Fourth street. There are no better, more commodious, more sanitary tailoring quarters in the world than those provided by Harry Mitchell for his employees. Everything runs like clock-work, and it would indeed be hard to find a more contented, happier bunch than work there.

Mr. Mitchell has always been an advocate of paying a man good wages, and probably no tailor in the country employes such high-priced cutters as he does. He believes in getting the best that money can buy. He has absolutely no use for a man unless he's a pastmaster at his business, and that is one reason why Harry Mitchell has no fear in putting on his shingle "Satisfaction or No Pay."

His customers include some of the best dressers in Minneapolis, but it makes no difference to Mr. Mitchell whether the customer is a banker, a railroad president or a $15-a-week clerk, they all get the same painstaking attention.

That Harry Mitchell has absolutely become famous for his made-to-order $15, $20 and $25 suits and overcoats is an established fact—not only in Minneapolis alone but in all the surrounding states. His mail order business has grown so rapidly in the past two years that it became imperative for him to enlarge his quarters. He prides himself on his perfected self-measurement system, and says it makes no difference where a man may live, he can fit him just as well as if he took his measure himself.

As previously said, Mr. Mitchell is a staunch believer in publicity. He says you can't catch fish without bait, and he doesn't see how the public is going to know what you've got to give them unless you tell them.—Minneapolis Journal.

Observation.

An observant man in all his intercourse with society and the world constantly and unperceived marks on every person and thing the figure expressive of its value and, therefore, on meeting that person or thing, knows instantly what kind and degree of attention to give it. This is to make something of experience.—John Foster.

Tamed Poetry.

"I wish to submit a lyric, sir," said the timid young man. "My friends say it's a beauty—really sings itself."

"Hmmph!" said the cold hearted editor. "We couldn't use a poem like that. We want one that, once printed, will remain perfectly quiet and not keep our readers awake by singing itself at all times."

The true strength of every human soul is to be dependent on as many nobler as it can discern and to be depended upon by as many inferior as it can reach.

The world which took but six days to make is like to take 6,000 to make out.—Browne.

Pale, Thin, Nervous?

Then your blood must be in a very bad condition. You certainly know what to take, then take it—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you doubt, then consult your doctor. We know what he will say about this grand old family medicine.

This is the first question your doctor would ask: "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to recovery. Keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Makes the finest, lightest, best flavored biscuit, hot-breads, cake and pastry. Renders the food more digestible and wholesome.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

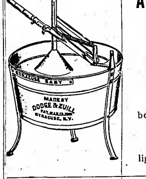
Meals and Lunches at All Hours

Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date

Give me a call.



SYRACUSE EASY
MADE BY DODGE & ZUILL PAT. MAR.15.1898 SYRACUSE, N.Y.

The Syracuse "Easy" Washer

A Few Reasons Why You Should Have One

It saves the clothes.

It saves precious time.

It saves physical force.

It saves in cost—no new tubs or boards to buy.

It washes cleaner and rinses better.

It is adapted to both heavy and light clothes.

We Have Sold Hundreds of these machines since we have had the agency—another good reason why you should have one. We wouldn't have sold so many if they weren't right. Remember we put them out on trial and the price is only ....

$8.00

Hunt Hardware Co.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter presses, filing devices, ... It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than anyother. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.
Fargo, N. Dakota

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

Julius Pleth was in from Plummer Monday.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

Joseph Paradis visited with friends in Louisville township yesterday.

For Sale Cheap—Small driving team or will trade for single driver.—Frank E. Hunt.

Mike McCarthy, the general agent of the Gund Brewing company, was a caller here Monday.

K. M. Hanson and Sheriff Nelson went to Thief River Falls today on a brief business mission.

Rev. Father Adolph of Thief River Falls was an over-night visitor with Father Ambrose Monday.

Mrs. M. James arrived here Monday from St. Paul for a visit of several weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Koch, jr.

Attorney Charles E. Boughton left Tuesday evening for the Twin Cities and Duluth, where he will spend several days attending to some professional business.

Mrs. E. P. Marshall has issued invitations for a party at her home Saturday afternoon from three to five. It is a foregone conclusion that the participants will be royally entertained.

Little globules of sunshine that drive the clouds away. DeWitt's Little Early Risers will scatter the gloom of sick-headache and biliousness. They do not gripe or sicken. Recommended and sold here by all druggists.

Wanted: Gentleman or lady to travel for mercantile house of large capital. If desirable the home may be used as headquarters. Weekly salary of $1,092.00 per year and expenses. Address Armstrong Alexander, 125 Plymouth Place, Chicago, Ill.

The winds of March have no terror to the user of DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve. It quickly heals chapped and cracked skin. Good too, for boils and burns, and undoubtedly the best relief for Piles. Sold here by all druggists.

An exchange intimates that the very best curfew ordinance is that one adopted in the family, where the old man acts as mayor, city council, night watch and calaboose keeper, where fine and punishment go together and hickory gad may be used occasionally and fines are not suspended, but promptly executed: where they don't bother so much about passing a lot of ordinances as they do in enforcing those already on the records.

The local band organization will shortly boast of a complete saxaphone quartette. Ernest Toupin has purchased the soprano saxaphone from Leland Healy and Mr. Healy has ordered an alto saxophone, which will be here within a few days. Several others are interested, and it is thought that within the next few months both a tenor and baritone will be added to the saxophone section. Few country bands can boast of a complete saxophone quartette, but there is nothing too fast for the Red Lake Falls band, and they will have everything needed to sustain their reputation as the best amateur band organization in the state. If you are not already a subscriber to the support of this excellent musical aggregation, don't you think you would like to be? It is worthy of your support, and gives returns on the investment by furnishing high class concerts the year round.

Harry Mitchell's
EDITORIAL.

If you were sure that I could make you a Spring Suit for $15.00, $20.00 or $25.00 that will be the equal of what you'd get at your local tailors for $30.00, $35.00 and $40.00, you'd send your order in double quick time.

Well, that is exactly what I can do. No matter where you live, I can fit you and give you as good satisfaction as if I look your measure right here in Minneapolis.

Write me today and tell me about the kind of clothes you are thinking of getting. By return mail I'll send the handsomest lot of spring patterns you ever clapped eyes on, also self-measurement blanks. Don't be afraid to ask questions, and please remember that I absolutely guarantee perfect fit and satisfaction or refund your money. I pay all express charges, so your clothes cost you no more than if you got them right here in Minneapolis.

Do you think I would make you a proposition like this unless I was certain I could do what I say.

Yours truly,

HARRY MITCHELL,

310 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Large amount of money to loan on farms.—Simons & Co.

Mrs. Matt Maher of Crookston visited relatives here Tuesday.

Roy Wilford visited with Crookston friends Saturday and Sunday.

Before you buy a new hat come in and look at the new Lanphers at the Busy Store.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

The Big Store announces the arrival of many spring goods this week. Particulars will found in the ad on this page.

Dr. Spofford will miss his visits for March and April, to Red Lake Falls. Next visit May 7. At Grand View Hotel.

Mrs. Celais Roy has been quite sick at her home here this week. Her husband is in the woods at present, but has been sent for.

Mrs. Chas. Cyr, Misses Emma and Jane Cote and brother, Albert, visited with their parents in Terrebonne, from Thursday last until Sunday.

Hank Draper of Thief River Falls spent several days here the last week loading the old boilers formerly used in the sawmill owned by the Meehans. The boilers are being shipped to Minneapolis where they have been sold to a scrap iron concern.

KODOL digests what you eat and quickly overcomes Indigestion, which is a forerunner of Dyspepsia. It is made in strict conformity to the National Pure Food and Drugs Law and is sold on a guarantee relief plan. Sold by all druggists.

The Gazette is shy on local news this week. The chief reason is that there has been decidedly little doing in the news line and another reason is that the force has been kept very busy getting the annual financial statement of the county in type.

Albert Odett, formerly in business at Crookston, but now located at Marshalltown, Iowa, passed through here yesterday with a party of land seekers bound for Roseau county. Mr. Odett is prospering in his Iowa home.

Mrs. M. Matthies was called to Moorhead last evening by a message announcing the serious illness of her daughter, Doretta. The young lady has not enjoyed good health for some years past, but went to the Moorhead normal last fall with the hopes that her strength would permit her to get through. She had not felt well during the winter, however, and this week was taken quite seriously ill, her mother being summoned to care for her. Miss Dollie's many Red Lake Falls friends will hope that her illness will be of short duration.

Joseph Benoit, the twelve year-old son of J. Carder Benoit, died Tuesday evening after a brief illness with typhoid fever. The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church this morning and was largely attended. It is stated that several others of the Benoit family are ill with the disease, but are getting along fairly well. The family is a very large one, and the sickness and death comes very hard on them. The young boy that died was the oldest son. The family has the sincere sympathy of all.

Although March is with us in full blast there is as yet no apparent relief from the winter God, and while the thermometer does not linger in such outlandish way down regions any more, nevertheless the days are cold and the blanket of snow remains intact. The old adage tells us of March—"in like a lion, out like a lamb" and vice versa—and as no lambishness was evident last Friday, we may have just cause to hope for a let up between now and the first of April. The present winter has been one that will long be remembered by the people of this section. but if it brings forth a bounteous harvest as an after effect, all will be foregiven.

Frank E. Hunt arrived home last Friday from his two months visit with relatives and friends at Providence, Rhode Island, and intermediate points. Mr. Hunt was accompanied home by his sister, Mrs. M. E. Lawton, who will spend a year, at least, at the Hunt home here. Mr. Hunt enjoyed a very pleasant outing among the scenes of his boyhood days, and visited at many of the leading eastern cities while there. The winter there was a delightful one, and up until a few days before Mr. Hunt left they had had but very little winter weather. The day he started for home the thermometer registered 11 degrees below zero, which was very cold for that part of the country. Mr. Hunt feels fine after his season of rest and returned home prepared to get into the business harness again with his old time vigor.

$50,000.00 to loan on farms at lowest rate of interest. Call at the First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

'Phone 7—Groceries—SPILLANES.

Mrs. Con Kehoe visited over Sunday with her son at Middle River.

Charley McAnulty visited with friends at Fertile several days of last week.

Attorney Perl W. Mabey spent Tuesday night in the city looking after some legal business.

We still have a number of pieces of 10 and 12½ Val. Laces for 4 cents per yard. Garceau & Zaiser.

Sheriff Nelson returned home Saturday from a visit of several days with friends at the Twin Cities.

"Star Brand Shoes Are Better." They are made of the genuine Chromo calf skin, the kind that will stand spring wear, and in order to introduce them we are giving a special discount of 25 per cent on each pair. Get 'em at the Busy Store. G. & Z.

Gentleman or lady to travel for Mercantile House of large capital. Territory at home or abroad to suit. If desirable the home may be used as headquarters. Weekly salary of $1,000 per year and expenses. Address, Jos. A. Alexander, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

George Jarman, formerly chief deputy sheriff, has been appointed night watchman at Thief River Falls to succeed Dennis LaSarge. George will make a first-rate police officer, and the evil-doer had better think twice before taking any chances under George's eagle eye.

To remove a cough you must get at the cold which causes the cough. There is nothing so good for this as Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. The liquid cold relief that is most quickly effective, that stills and quiets the cough and drives out the cold. Sold by all druggists.

The annual financial statement of Red Lake county is in type in the Gazette office, and will appear in next week's Gazette. The statement covers three pages this year and is a complete story of the receipts, disbursements and all business done by Red Lake county during 1906.

There was a large attendance at the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening to join in a praise service. The orchestra assisted in making the musical program very attractive, and Mrs. Marshall sang a solo. The sermon was on "Repentence." It is planned to have special music at the Sunday evening service for the next few weeks.

Julius Pleth, the Plummer land man, has announced that he will not open his St. Paul office for several months, on account of the fact that business matters will not permit him to leave as soon as he intended to. The people of the county would be exceptionally pleased if the genial Pleth would announce his intention to remain here "forever and a day."

Eddie Meyer, who lives on the Cress farm in Lake Pleasant, four and a half miles south of Red Lake Falls, will hold an auction sale of live stock and farm machinery on Tuesday, March 19, sale to commence at 11 o'clock sharp. Mr. Meyer has a large list of live stock and farm implements listed and the sale will no doubt be a big one. Joseph Belair will officiate as auctioneer. See bills for particulars and list of articles.

Louis Parnnteau, the popular Terrebonne cheese maker, was a caller here the first of the week. In conversation with a Gazette representative Mr. Paranteau stated that he and his brother would start up their Terrebonne factory early in April. They have also leased the Mentor creamery fur the coming season and will operate that plant too. The Paranteau brothers are successful butter and cheese men, and deserve the excellent success they are meeting with.

Dr. J. E. Argue returned home Friday from St. Paul where he spent last week in attendance at the session of the N. V. Black Dental Club. The meeting was a very successful one this year. between five and six hundred prominent dentists from the northwestern states being in attend- Dr. Argue gave a table clinic on his access mercury expresser before the meeting, and as usual acquitted himself creditably. A big banquet was one of the most enjoyable features of the session.

J. T. Curry of Northrup, Martin county, arrived here yesterday to spend several days looking after business interests. Mr. Curry owns a half section of land in Black River township, and will spend a few days with his tenant getting things in shape for the spring work. Mr. Curry is one of the oldest settlers of that part of the state, and is at present engaged in the cattle business at Northrup. He is a firm believer in Red Lake county soil, however, and says that many people from his neighborhood are coming up here the coming season. The Gazette was favored with a pleasant call from Mr. Curry while he was in the city.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.---First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Macaroni seed wheat for sale.—L. C. Simons.

Don't forget about the men's supper at the Presbyterian church.

Joseph Belair attended the Sauve auction sale near Crookston yesterday.

John Kehoe came down from Middle River Monday and spent the night here with his parents.

L. P. Berthon returned home last Friday from a several days business sojourn at Blackduck.

If you attend the men's supper at the Presbyterian church you will have just cause to long remember it.

Barber E. A. Nelson will go to Crookston Sunday where he will meet his wife and babe who will return here with him to make their future home. Mr. Nelson is very well pleased with Red Lake Falls as a place of abode and will become a permanent fixture. He will occupy the Mrs. Doe cottage on west second street.

You should be very careful of your bowels when you have a cold. Nearly all other cough syrups are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup moves the bowels—contains NO opiates. Conforms to National Pure Food and Drugs Law. Bears the endorsement of mothers everywhere. Children like its pleasant taste. Sold by all druggists.

The firemen held their regular monthly meeting last Saturday evening. Many matters of importance to the city were discussed, and the coming tournament came in for much talk among the members. The department will be very active from now on during the summer, as there is much work ahead of the boys before the tournament is carried out to a successful conclusion.

Sam Nelson, of Russel, arrived here this week to spend a week or so looking after and closing up the affairs of his brother, James Nelson, who died at the Fergus Falls hospital last week. Mr. Nelson will sell the stock and machinery at auction next week, and will clean up the business of his brother as fast as possible. The widow will not return here but will remain with her parents near Russel.

John Meissner, of Rugby, North Dakota, spent a few days here early in the week. Mr. Meissner owns a couple of fine farms in this neighborhood, and was here to look after his interests. He says that the past winter was a terrible one in North Dakota, and that many people in that neighborhood are figuring on settling on the Minnesota side of the valley during the coming year.

Anton I. Anderson, of Prince Albert, Canada, and Miss Edith Prichard, daughter of W. W. Prichard of Thief River Falls, were married at the bride's home in that city last evening. Mr. Anderson formerly lived at Thief River Falls, and is present in the lumber business at Prince Albert. Miss Prichard is one of Thief River's finest young ladies, and the young couple start down life's pathway with the best wishes of a host of friends.

J. G. Prior, who has conducted the Markham hotel at St. Hilaire for the past year; closed up the house last week. Lack of business is assigned as the cause. At one time the Markham was considered by far the best hotel property of the county. When the trains were running from Crookston to this city via St. Hilaire the transient trade at that place was a gold mine fur the Markham. Now that this arrangement has been changed and the fact that the saw mill at St. Hilaire has ceased operations, there is apparently not business enough at the saintly city to warrant the running of so large a house as the Markham.

Use a little KODOL after your meals and it will be found to afford a prompt and efficient relief. KODOL nearly approximates the digestive juices. It digests what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan. Sold here by all druggists.

In a few days we will open up a fine new line of

Palmer Spring Coats

. . and Skirts . .

THE PALMER goods are almost too well known to need any praising, The Palmer garments have led the parade in this city for the last ten years. The skirts are certainly the finest fitting skirts ever exhibited in the city.

Spring Jackets $8.00 to $15.00
Skirts - - $3.50 to $ 11.00

Call on us for your spring suit. Kuppenheimer suits and cravenettes arriving daily. The finest fitting suits ever shown in the city. If we can't fit you we will take your measure for a suit and guarantee a fit.

It Pays to Trade at

THE BIG STORE

Red Lake Falls

Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

ORDER FOR CREDITORS TO PRESENT CLAIMS WITHIN THREE MONTHS.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss

In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Margaretta Walter, Deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of Margaretta Walter deceased, late of the city of Red Lake Falls in the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, being granted to Phillip Walter

It appearing on proper proof by affidavit of Phillip Walter made and filed herein, as provided by law, that there are are no debts against the estate of said Margaretta Walter deceased.

It is ordered, that three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date on this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased, if any there be, are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said county, for examination and allowance, or be forever barred.

It is further Ordered, That Monday, the twentieth (20th) day of May 1907, at ten o'clock a. m., at a special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the Court House in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, be and the same is hereby appointed as the time and place when and where the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And It Is Further Ordered, That notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate, by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Fall, Minnesota, the 18th day of February A. D. 1907.

By the Court,
[Seal] N. W. TARRANT,
f21-m7 Judge of Probate.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

MAKE MONEY

by sending your HIDES, FURS etc. to us. We pay highest prices & sell guns, traps etc. cheap.

N.W. HIDE & FUR CO.

200-1st St. No. Minneapolis, Minn.

WRITE FOR CATALOG & PRICE LISTS

SNOWSLIDES OF ROCKIES.

Peril of Mountains Takes Its Toll of Life and Property.

Every year the life of a miner in the high mountain regions is menaced by the avalanche or snowslide, and every year brings its list of casualties and of hairbreadth escapes. The story of snowslides would fill a book and would be a thrilling, tragic and in some cases a gruesome one.

Men have ridden hundreds of feet on the back of a snowslide and have escaped unhurt. Others have been caught and buried so deep and in such uncertain spots that their bodies have not been discovered until the melting of the snow in the following spring.

Some have been caught as they were walking, but a few steps from the boarding house to the mine, or while emptying a car on the mine dump. Not infrequently men have found themselves temporarily imprisoned by the entrance of the mine being closed by a slide while they were at work and have had to dig their way out.

A Chinese cook at one of the Idaho mines stepped outside his kitchen door for a moment and was caught and hurled with the slide 1,000 feet down the hillside and his body was not recovered till the following spring.

Such incidents denote the extreme suddenness, power and velocity of the slide. Little or no warning is given, a roar, a cloud of snow obscuring the sight of the real slide, and in a moment thousands of tons of snow, mingled with trees and debris, are shot down the gulch or the slope of a mountain as from the mouth of a cannon. In a few seconds all is over and the scenery of the little valley is completely changed.—Mines and Minerals.

What a Letter Will Do.

A proofreader, anent the importance of trifles, read from his notebook these absurd sentences, each made by the omission of a single letter:

"The conflict was dreadful and the enemy was repulsed with great laughter.

"When the president's wife entered the humble sitting room of the miner she was politely offered a hair.

"A man was yesterday arrested on the charge of having eaten a cabman for demanding more than his fare.

"An employee in the service of the government was accused of having stolen a small ox from the mail. The stolen property was found in his vest pocket."

Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges . . .

We have just received several of the latest constructed Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges, in which are contained all the features which has made the steel range famous and the latest improvements that are known to the range manufacturers' art. which makes this range the "Monarch" of them all. These ranges are now on exhibition at our store, and we would be pleased to have every housewife in this vicinity call and look them over. The price of the Monarch Malleable Steel Range" is cheaper accordingly than other so called "steel ranges."

New Hardwara Store G. A. KANKEL Red Lake Falls, Minn.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER XV.

The Order from Headquarters.

He left Parowan the next morning to preach at one of the little settlements to the east. He was gone three days. When he came back they told him that the train of Missourians had passed through Parowan and on to the south. He attended a military council held that evening in the meeting-house. Three days of reflection, while it had not cooled the anger he felt toward these members of the mob that had so brutally wronged his people, had slightly cooled his ardor for aggressive warfare.

The following Tuesday he continued south to Cedar City, the most populous of the southern settlements. Here he learned of the campaign's progress. Brigham's courier had preceded the train on its way south, bearing written orders to the faithful to hold no dealings with its people; to sell them neither forage for their stock nor food for themselves. They had, it was reported, been much distressed as a result of this order, and their stock was greatly weakened. At Cedar City, it being feared that they might for want of supplies be forced to halt permanently so near the settlement that it would be inconvenient to destroy them, they were permitted to buy 50 bushels of wheat and to have it and some corn the Indians had sold to them ground at the mill of Major Lee.

As Joel's informant, the fiery Bishop Klingensmith, remarked, this was not so generous as it seemed, since, while it would serve to decoy them on their way toward San Bernardino, they would never get out of the valley with it. The train had started on, but the animals were so weak that three days had been required to reach Iron creek, 20 miles beyond, and two more days to reach Mountain Meadows, 15 miles further south.

Here at daybreak the morning before, Klingensmith told him, a band of Piede Indians, under Lee's direction, had attacked the train, killing and wounding a number of the men. It had been hoped, explained Klingensmith, that the train would be destroyed at once by the Indians, thus avoiding any call upon the militia; but the emigrants had behaved with such effectiveness that the Indians were unable to complete the task. They had corralled their wagons, dug a rifle-pit in the center, and returned the fire, killing one Indian and wounding two of the chiefs. The siege was being continued.

Late on the following day, Wednesday, while they were anxiously waiting for news, a messenger from Lee came with a call for reinforcements. The Indians, although there were 300 of them, had been unable to prevail over the little entrenched band of Gentiles. Ten minutes after the messenger's arrival, the militia, which had been waiting under arms, set out for the scene in wagons. From Cedar City went every able-bodied man but two.

Joel Rae was with them, wondering why he went. He wanted not to go. He preferred that news of the approaching victory should be brought to him; yet invisible hands had forced him, even while it seemed that frenzied voices—voices without sound—warned him back.

The ride was long, but not long enough for his mind to clear. It was still clouded with doubts and questionings and fears when they at last saw the flaring of many fires with figures loitering or moving busily about them. As they came nearer, a strange, rhythmic throbbing crept to his ears; nearer still, he resolved it into the slow, regular beatings of a flat-toned drum. The measure, deliberate, incessant, changeless,—the same tones, the same intervals,—worked upon his strained nerves, at first soothingly and then as a pleasant stimulant.

The wagons now pulled up near the largest camp fire, and the arrivals were greeted by a dozen or so of the Saints, who, with Major Lee, had been directing and helping the Indians in their assaults upon the enemy. Several of these had disguised themselves as Indians for the better deception of the besieged.

At fires near by the Indians were broiling beef cut from animals they had slaughtered belonging to the wagon-train. Still others were cutting the hides into strips to be made into lariats. As far down as the line could be seen, there were dusky figures darting in and out of the firelight.

A council was at once called of the Presidents, Bishops, Elders, High Priests, and the officers of the militia who were present. Bishop Klingensmith bared his massive head in the firelight and opened the council with prayer, invoking the aid of God to guide them aright. Then Major Higbee, presiding as chairman, announced the orders under which they were assembled and under which the train had been attacked.

"It is ordered from headquarters that this party must be used up, except such as are too young to tell tales. We got to do it. They been acting terrible mean ever since we wouldn't sell them anything. If we let them go on now, they been making their brag that they'll raise a force in California and come back and wipe us out—and Johnston's army already marching on us from the east. Are we going to submit again to what we got in Missouri and in Illinois? No! Everybody is agreed about that. Now the Indians have failed to do it like we thought they would, so we got to finish it up, that's all."

Joel Rae spoke for the first time.

"You say except such as are too young to tell tales, Brother Higbee; what does that mean?"

"Why, all but the very smallest children, of course."

"Are there children here?"

Lee answered:

"Oh, a fair sprinkling—about what you'd look for in a train of a hundred and thirty people. The boys got two of the kids yesterday; the fools had dressed them up in white dresses and sent them out for a bucket of water. You can see their bodies lying over there this side of the spring."

"And there are women?" he asked, feeling a great sickness coming upon him.

"Plenty of them," answered Klingensmith, "some mighty fine women, too; i could see one yesterday, a monstrous fine figure and hair shiny like a crow's wing, and a litle one, powerful pretty, and one kind of between the two—it's a shame we can't keep some of them, but orders is orders!"

"These women must be killed, too?"

"That's the orders from headquarters, Brother Rae."

"From the military headquarters at Parowan, or from the spiritual headquarters at Salt Lake?"

"Better not inquire how far back that order started, Brother Rae—not of me, anyway.

"But women and children——"

"The great Elohim has spoken from the heavens, Brother Rae—that's enough for me. I can't put my human standards against the revealed will of God."

"But women and children——" He repeated the words as if he sought to comprehend them. He seemed like a man with defective sight who has come suddenly against a wall that he had thought far off. Higbee now addressed him.

"Brother Rae, in religion you have to eat the bran along with the flour. Did you suppose we were going to milk the Gentiles and not ever shed any blood?"

"But innocent blood——"

"There ain't a drop of innocent blood in the whole damned train. And what are you, to be questioning this way about orders from on high? I've heard you preach many a time about the sin of such doings as thet. You preach in the pulpit about stubborn clay in the hande of the potter having to be put through the mill again, and now that you're out bere in the field, seems to me you get limber like a tallowed rag when an order comes along."

"Defenseless women and little children——" He was still trying to regain his lost equilibrium.

He walked about the fires or lingered by the groups in consultation until the first signs of dawn. Then he climbed the low, rocky hill to tha east and peered over the top, tha drumbeats still pulsing through him, still coercing him. As the light grew, he could make out the details of the scene below. He was looking down into a narrow valley running north and south, formed by two ranges of rugged, rocky hills 500 yards or so apart. To the north this valley widened; to the south it narrowed until it became a mere gap leading out into the desert.

Directly below him, half-way between the ranges of hills, was a circle of covered wagons wheel to wheel. In the center of this a pit had been dug, and here the besieged were finding such protection as they could from the rifle-fire that came down from the hills on either side. Even now he could see Indians lying in watch for any who might attempt to escape. The camp had been attacked on Monday morning after the wagons had moved a hundred yards away from the spring. It was now Friday. For four days, therefore, with only what water they could bring by dashes to the spring under fire, they had held their own in the pit.

When it grew still lighter he descried, out on his left near the spring, two spots of white close together, and remembered Lee's tale the night before of the two little girls sent for water.

At that instant, the chanting and the beat of the drum stopped, and in the silence a flood of light seemed to shine in upon his mind, showing him in something of its true aspect the thing they were about to do. Not clearly did he see it, for he was still torn and dazed—and not in its real proportions, moreover; for he saw it against the background of his teaching from the cradle; the murder of their Prophet, the persecution of the Saints, the outrages put upon his own family, the murder of his father, and the death of his mother; the coming of an army upon them now to repeat these persecutions; the reported offenses of this particular lot of Gentiles. And then, too, he saw it against his own flawless faith in the authority of the priesthood, his implicit belief that whatsoever they ordered was to be obeyed as the literal command of God, his unshaken conviction that to disobey the priesthood was to commit the unforgivable sin of blasphemy against the Holy Ghost.

He Listened to the Drumbeats Coming from Below.

The plan of assault was now again rehearsed, and its details communicated to their Indian allies. By ten o'clock all was ready.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Meadow Shambles.

They chose William Bateman to go forward with a flag of truce. He was short and plump, with a full, round, ingenuous face. He was chosen, so said Klingensmith, for his plausible ways. He could look right at you when he said anything; and the moment needed a man of this talent. He was to enter the camp and say to the people that the Mormons had come to save them; that on giving up their arms they would be safely conducted to Cedar City, there to await a proper time for continuing their journey.

From the hill to the west of the besieged camp they watched the plausible Bateman with his flag of truce meet one of the emigrants who came out, also with a white flag, and saw them stand talking a little time. Bateman then came back around the end of the hill that separated the two camps. His proposal had been gratefully accepted. The besieged emigrants were in desperate straits; their dead were unburied in the narrow enclosure, and they were suffering greatly for want of water.

Major Higbee, in command of the militia, now directed Lee to enter the camp and see that the plan was carried out. With him went two men with wagons. Lee was to have them load their weapons into one wagon, to separate the adults from the children and wounded, who were to be put into the other, and then march the party out.

As Lee approached the corral its occupants swarmed out to meet him,—gaunt men, unkempt women and children, with the look of hunted animals in their eyes. Some of the men cheered feebly; some were silent and plainly distrustful. But the women laughed and wept for joy as they crowded about their deliverer; and wide-eyed children stared at him in a friendly way, understanding but little of it all except that the newcomer was a desirable person.

It took Lee but a little time to overcome the hesitation of the few suspicious ones. The plan he proposed was too plainly their only way of escape from a terrible death. Their animals had been shot down or run off so that they could neither advance nor retreat. Their ammunition was almost gone, so that they could not give battle. And, lastly, their provisions were low, with no chance to replenish them; for on the south was the most to be dreaded of all American deserts, while on the north they had for some reason unknown to themselves been unable to buy of the abundance through which they passed.

Arrangements for the departure were quickly completed under Lee's supervision. In one wagon were piled the guns and pistols of the emigrants, together with half a dozen men who had been wounded in the four days' fighting. In the other wagon a score of the smaller children were placed, some with tear-stained faces, some crying, and some gravely apprehensive. At Lee's command the two wagons moved forward. After these the women followed, marching singly or in pairs; some with little bundles of their most precious belongings; some carrying babes too young to be sent ahead in the wagon. A few had kept even their older children to walk beside them, fearing some evil—they knew not what.

One such, a young woman near the last of the line, was leading by the hand a little girl of three or four, while on her left there marched a sturdy, pink-faced boy of seven or eight, whose almost white hair and eyebrows gave him a look of fright which his demeanor belied. The women, looking anxiously back over her shoulder to the line of men, spoke warningly to the boy as the line moved slowly forward.

"Take her other hand, and stay close. I'm afraid something will happen—that man who came is not an honest man. I tried to tell them, but they wouldn't believe me. Keep her hand in yours, and if anything does happen, run right back there and try to find her father. Remember now, just as if she were your own little sister."

The boy answered stoutly, with shrewd glances about for possible danger.

"Of course I'll stay by her. I wouldn't run away. If I'd only had a gun," he continued, in tones of regretful enthusiasm, "I know I could have shot some of those Indians—but these, what do you call them?—Mormons,—they'll keep the Indians away now."

"But remember—don't leave my child, for I'm afraid—something warns me."

Farther back the others had now fallen in, so that the whole company was in motion. The two wagons were in the lead; then came the women; and, some distance back of these, trailed the line of men.

When the latter reached the place where the column of militia stood drawn up in line by the roadside, they swung their hats and cheered their deliverers; again and again the cheers rang in tones that were full of gratitude. As they passed on, an armed Mormon stepped to the side of each man and walked with him, thus convincing the last doubter of their sincerity in wishing to guard them from any unexpected attack by the Indians.

In such fashion marched the long, loosely extended line until the rear had gone some two hundred yards away from the circle of wagons. At the head, the two wagons containing the children and wounded had now fallen out of sight over a gentle rise to the north. The women also were well ahead, passing at that moment through a lane of low cedars that grew close to the road on either side. The men were now stepping briskly, sure at last of the honesty of their rescuers.

Then, while all promised fair, a call came from the head of the line of men,—a clear, high call of command that rang to the very rear of the column:

"Israel, do your duty!"

Before the faces of the marching men had even shown surprise or questioning, each Mormon had turned and shot the man who walked beside him. The same instant brought piercing screams from tha column of women ahead; for tha signal had been given while they were in the lane of cedars where the Indian allies of the Saints had been ambushed. Shots and screams echoed and re-echoed across the narrow valley, and clouds of smoke, pearl gray in the morning sun, floated near the ground.

The plan of attack had been well laid for quick success. Most of the men had fallen at the first volley, either killed or wounded. Here and there along the all but prostrate line would be seen a struggling pair, or one of the emigrants running toward cover under a fire that always brought him low before he reached it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Russian Professional Mourners.

It pays to be a professional mourner in St. Petersburg. There are agencies in that city which employ great numbers of vagrants and tramps for the purpose. These agencies supply suitable clothing and pocket handkerchiefs—everything, in fact, except boots, which the tramp must show on his feet or he will not be hired. When there is a more or less important funeral the tramps gather at tha Nikolski market, and are selected by an employe of the agency. The wages for the occasion, with tips, generally equal about 75 cents.

GOOD PRESCRIPTION

SIMPLE MIXTURE THAT IS SAID TO BREAK A COLD QUICKLY.

Ingredients Can be Easily Purchased at Little Cost From Any Good Prescription Druggist and Mixed at Home.

A noted authority on lung trouble advises that as soon as a cold is contracted the following simple treatment should be given. The ingredients can be purchased from any prescription druggist at small cost and easily prepared in your own home. It is said to be so effective that it will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable.

Take a half ounce Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), two ounces of Glycerine, and eight ounces of good Whisky. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

Be sure that the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is in the original half-ounce vials, which are put up expressly for druggists to dispense. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, with the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure); guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act, June 30, 1906. Prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon. Only the adulterated oils are sold in bulk; these create nausea and never effect the desired results.

Use for Hot Potatoes.

Dr. Herbert Claiborne of New York, something of an inventive genius and noted for good looks as well as for medical skill, suffers from cold hands in winter. And nothing will warm his fingers except hot water, a hot fire or a hot potato. He can be seen almost any frosty morning marching along at five miles an hour with a hot potato in each overcoat pocket and his hands grasping the tubers. He has two big potatoes piping hot wrapped in silk handkerchiefs for this purpose. "They will keep your hands warm for hours unless you happen to sit on 'em," he says. "They are great for a football match or when you go sleigh riding."

VERY BAD FORM OF ECZEMA.

Suffered Three Years—Physicians Did No Good—Perfectly Well After Using Cuticura Remedies.

"I take great pleasure in informing you that I was a sufferer of eczema in a very bad form for the past three years. I consulted and treated with a number of physicians in Chicago, but to no avail. I commenced using the Cuticura Remedies, consisting of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, three months ago, and to-day I am prefectly well, the disease having left me entirely. I cannot recommend the Cuticura Remedies too highly to any one suffering with the disease that I have had. Mrs. Florence E. Atwood, 18 Crilly Place, Chicago, Ill., October 2, 1905. Witness: L. S. Berger."

Disease Puzzles Doctors.

A mysterious disease is troubling the Dutch medical profession. It has broken out in the district of Ouddorp, not far from Utrecht, and Prof. Spronck, of Utrecht, after all the best efforts he can devise, has had to confess himself perplexed. The disease is a contagious affection of the heart, and the patients invariably develop high fever. There have been more than 100 cases. Prof. Spronck has made a careful analysis of blood taken from patients, but has utterly failed to find a cause or an origin for the epidemic.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

California's Prune Crop.

California's prune crop in 1906, was 186,000,000 pounds, against 62,500,000 pounds in 1905. This has only been exceeded once in 17 years. The largest was in 1902, when the crop was 197,000,000.

How to Trap Wild Animals.

40-page trap book illustrated, pictures 46 wild animals in natural colors, also barometer & calendar, also gun & trap catalog, also prices on raw furs. All sent post paid for 10c stamps or silver. FREE to those who ship to, or buy of us. Address Fur Dept., N. W. Hide & Fur Co., Minneapolis.

Be severe when the fault demands it, but don't owe the man a grudge.

We Want Your Cream.

Write to-day for tags and prices. North Star Creamery Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Sixty-four balloons were sent out of Paris during the siege of 1870-71.

Ship Your Cream to Us.

Largest creamery in the northwest. Hilton Dairy Co., St. Paul, Minn.

An elevator sometimes enables a man to rise to the occasion.

We Pay Top Price for Cream.

Cash every day. Write for prices and tags. Miller & Holmes, St. Paul, Minn.

There are 26 brigadier generals in the United States army.

For Prices on Poultry,

either live or dressed, write R. E. Cobb, St. Paul, Minn.

Knockers get big audiences, but no gate receipts.

Destruction of Fleas.

The Agricultural Research institute of Bengal has concluded a series of scientific experiments to determine the best method of destroying fleas, the investigation having special reference to checking the ravages of the plague.

The formula, recommended is the free use of crude oil emulsion—80 per cent. of crude petroleum mixed with 20 per cent. of whale oil soap. This combination makes a jelly which mixes freely with water, and is generally used at three per cent. solution, while at 16 per cent. it destroys all fleas with perfect certainty. It is applied to floors and walls with a sprayer.

It is said that an animal washed with it will be entirely relieved of the pests.

THIS IS WORTH SAVING.

Valuable Advice and Recipe by Well-Known Authority.

The following simple home-made mixture is said to relieve any form of Rheumatism or backache, also cleanse and strengthen the Kidneys and Bladder, overcoming all urinary disorders, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime.

A well-known authority states that these ingredients are mainly of vegetable extraction, and harmless to use, and can be obtained at small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. Those who think they have kidney trouble or suffer with lame back or weak bladder or Rheumatism, should give this prescription a trial, as no harm can possibly follow its use, and it is said to do wonders for some people.

Germany's Beet Sugar.

The production of beet sugar in the German empire in 1906 is estimated by the International Sugar Statistical association to be 2,157,200 metric tons (2,204.6 pounds each), against 2,394,445 metric tons in 1905, a loss of nearly ten per cent. Austria-Hungary's beet sugar crop is 11 per cent. short.

It Cures While You Walk.

Allen's Foot-Ease is a certain cure for hot, sweating, callous, and swollen, aching feet. Sold by all druggists. Price 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Trial package FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

One of the times to get busy is when you are discouraged and think there is no use trying any more.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Some men make a specialty of posing as horrible examples.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

You can have a mighty hot time on a cool million.

Pure White Lead is the Natural Paint Pigment

Numerous compounds are being offered to take the place of white lead as a paint, but no real substitute for it has yet been found. Pure White Lead has a peculiar property of amalgamating with the wood upon which it is used—added to this it has an elasticity which permits the paint to follow the natural expansion and contraction of the wood. Pure White Lead (with its full natural tenacity and elasticity, unimpaired by adulterants), alone fulfills all the requirements of the ideal paint. Every keg which bears the Dutch Boy trade mark is positively guaranteed to be absolutely Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

All lead packed in 1907 bears this mark.

SEND FOR BOOK

"A Talk on Paint" gives valuable information on the paint subject. Sent free upon request.

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY

in whichever of the following cities is nearest you:

New York, Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia (John T. Lewis & Bros. Co.) Pittsburgh (National Lead & Oil Co.)

What Shall I Do for this strained muscle?

RUB ON BRISKLY

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment

It was originated 96 years ago to remove inflammation and take the soreness out of strains and bruises. 25c., three times as much 50c. All dealers.

I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

NO PATENT NO FEE FOR OUR SERVICES

Send for booklet. MILO B. STEVENS & CO., 900 14th St., Washington, D. C. Branches at Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. Estab. 1864.

PROTECT YOUR IDEAS

U. S. DISPENSATORY

Describes the Principal Ingredients Contained in Pe-ru-na.

Are we claiming too much for Peruna when we claim it to be an effective remedy for chronic catarrh? Have we abundant proof that Peruna is in reality such a catarrh remedy? Let us see what the United States Dispensatory says of the principal ingredients of Peruna.

Take, for instance, the ingredient hydrastis canadensis, or golden seal. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of depraved mucous membranes, chronic rhinitis (nasal catarrh), atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach), chronic intestinal catarrh, catarrhal jaundice, (catarrh of the liver) and in diseased mucous membranes of the pelvic organs. It is also recommended for the treatment of various forms of diseases peculiar to women.

Another ingredient of Peruna, corydalis formosa, is classed in the United States Dispensatory as a tonic. So also is cubebs classed as a stomachic and as a tonic for the mucous membranes.

Cedron seeds is another ingredient of Peruna, an excellent drug that has been very largely overlooked by the medical profession for the past fifty years. The seeds are to be found in very few drug stores. The United States Dispensatory says of the action of cedron that it is used as a bitter tonic and in the treatment of dysentery, and in intermittent diseases as a substitute for quinine.

Oil of copaiba, another ingredient of Peruna, is classed by the United States Dispensatory as a mild stimulant and diuretic. It acts on the stomach and intestinal tract. It acts as a stimulant on the genito-urinary membranes. Useful in chronic cystitis, chronic dysentery and diarrhea, and some chronic diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Send to us for a free book of testimonials of what the people think of Peruna as a catarrh remedy. The best evidence is the testimony of those who have tried it.

ONLY HIS JUST DESERTS.

Editor Had Good Reason for Publishing Name of Contributor.

For six months or more the druggist's assistant had occupied his leisure moments by writing verses for the village paper, in the "poets' corner" of which publication they appeared anonymously every Thursday. On opening his copy of the Weekly Bugle one morning, and turning first, as was his regular habit, to that particular corner, he was surprised and gratified beyond measure to see his name in full appended to his latest poetical outbreak.

He hastened to call at the office of the Bugle.

"Mr. Stires," he said to the editor, "I want to thank you for signing my name to my poem in this week's paper. It encourages a fellow when he gets proper credit for his work."

"Oh, that's all right, Johnson," responded the editor. "We thought it was about time to place the responsibility for that poetry where it belonged."—Youth's Companion.

Receives Carnegie Pension.

Judge C. C. Cole, of Des Moines, Ia. for many years dean of the Drake University law school there has received a Carnegie pension of $1,280 a year. He was graduated from the Harvard law school.

In His Father's Footsteps.

Allan Sankey, son of the famous singing revivalist, is following his father's footsteps as a composer, and some of his hymns are popular in New England revival meetings.

AWFUL NEURALGIA

Pain Turned This Woman's Hair White but She Was Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Do not seek relief from suffering simply, but free your system from the disease which is the cause of your suffering. That is the message which a former victim of neuralgia sends to those who are still in its grasp. Hot applications, powders that deaden the senses and others that reduce the heart action may cause temporary relief but the pain is sure to return with greater intensity.

Mrs. Evelyn Creusere, who has a beautiful home at 811 Boulevard West, Detroit, Mich., suffered for years with neuralgia until she tried this tonic treatment. She says: "My trouble began about six years ago and I did not rest as I should have, but kept up about my many duties. After a time I became so weak I could not do any work at all. I had severe backaches and such dreadful headaches in the back part and top of my head. My eyes were easily tired and at times I saw black spots before them. I consulted several doctors but without the slightest benefit. The pains were so intense that my hair turned white.

"I lost continually in weight and strength and was almost in despair when a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I tried them according to directions and soon began to feel relief. At the end of three months I had gained ten pounds in weight and had no more trouble with my nerves. I have been in perfect health ever since and can heartily commend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

FARM BULLETIN BOARD.

How to Make One and the Uses to Which It May Be Put.

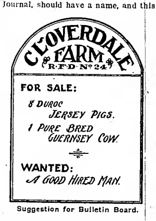
Some of our most progressive and practical farmers advertise regularly in the leading agricultural papers, and it pays them so well that not one of them thinks of farming without advertising. But there is more or less advertising, of certain kinds, that farmers cannot afford to place in an agricultural paper, and which would not pay in results because of its very nature. This is what the farm bulletin board is for.

The sketch illustrates the first board we made. It can be made very easily and quickly and at little expense. If wide boards are used, get good material and have it dressed on both sides and jointed. If matched stuff is used see that it is comparatively free from knots.

Cut the boards to run across the bulletin board horizontally, as this works better when writing on the board with a crayon. A good size for such a bulletin board is about three feet wide by five feet high. Use three wide cleats on the back. Fasten these with 1½-inch screws. This is better than to use nails, as it leaves a smoother surface for writing.

To make a good job, bind the ends or edges all around with narrow strips, using a wider one on top for weather protection. The writing surface can be covered with liquid slating, but black paint will do very well. I put three coats on mine and it lasted for several years.

Every progressive farm, says Farm Journal, should have a name, and this name should be painted in large white letters, in an attractive style, across the top of the board. The owner's name and post office address should be immediately underneath. If the farm is on a rural mail delivery route, record that fact and the number thereof.



Suggestion for Bulletin Board.

Set the mail box on the same post, or nearby, and keep the whole outfit in first-class order, as in a measure it "officiates" as a sort of "show case" in front of the farm. Then keep the whole farm so that it will compare favorably with the show case, and you may acquire the reputation of being a model farmer. Quite likely. Try it and see.

Why should not we farmers advertise our business the same as other business men do in the various commercial lines? We nearly always have something to sell, and there is often something wanted.

UTILIZING STRAW.

How the Farmers of West and Northwest Could Save Waste.

The waste of straw in the west and northwest is simply appalling, declares Prof. Thomas Shaw. Even in localities where farmers will tell you that the land is low in vegetable matter, they will go on burning straw from year to year. Incredible as it may seem, the glare from burning straw stacks may be seen every fall from some part of the area covered by the corporations of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

In this area of straw burning, the straw is of the best for feeding. It is brighter and less injured by dews and rain than in the east, north and south. When cut at the proper stage of ripening, its value is very considerable for food. Live stock will eat with considerable relish even wheat straw thus harvested, when well stacked. Stock will eat oat straw more readily than overripe hay, and this applies to horses, colts, yard cattle and sheep.

Much of the straw is too ripe before it is cut. This is inevitable where very large areas are grown, but will be quite practicable where the farming is mixed. The greatest loss, however, comes in the stacking. It is rare to see a stack. Where threshing is done one sees simply straw heaps made by the use of a blower.

With the aid of one extra man to guide the blower and one on the stack, the stacks could be built so as to turn rain. The stock, especially cattle and horses, could go to these stacks, usually made in the field, and help themselves, and a large part of the winter's food could thus be secured. The manure made could then be scattered over the farm. The western man who burns straw, reasons that it is easier to burn it than to draw the residue and scatter it over the land.

MANURE SPREADER.

Development of this Almost Indispensable Machine.

When the manure spreader made its appearance about 30 years ago it was made in the style of a cart with two wheels, made to hitch to the rear of a wagon. This was a crude construction, and sufficed for the small eastern farmer, but as the spreader came into use more it was found advisable to put a set of trucks under the front end of the machine and to make a complete wagon out of it and to make a movable bottom, and from the way this style of machine was made I am under the impression that it was not intended that the front wheels should bear much of the load as they were set too far forward, throwing practically all of the load on the rear wheels. This construction was not followed out in farm wagons, nor was this construction found satisfactory in manure spreaders.

The machines were first made very light, the 50-bushel machines weighing about 1,500 pounds, and they were satisfactory in handling light barnyard manure, but when the western farmer took up the manure spreader proposition he found that these light machines were wanting, they were not of sufficient strength, and the result is that the weight of the machines has been increased. At first thought this might indicate that they would pull harder, but every farmer knows that a heavy load will pull easier in a heavy wagon than it will on a light wagon, and the same holds good of the manure spreader.

There is probably no machine made that is put under a greater strain than a spreader, as it has the hard lumps of manure to break to pieces before spreading them. The light machines would soon give way, would get out of shape and cause friction and binding. The result is that the machines at the present time are made heavier and stronger than they were.

The first thing to take into consideration in buying any machine, says Otto E. Henry, in the Indiana Farmer, is the strength of construction and this holds good in the manure spreader more than any other farm implement. There were many things that the manufacturers in the early days had to contend with which they could not foresee. The wheels must be heavy enough to carry the load, on a wagon. The rear wheels of the manure spreader must be heavy enough to carry the load and drive the machinery, that is, the apron and cylinder. It is estimated that one-third of the strength of the wheels is used for the traction and the other two-thirds for carrying the load. The up-to-date manufacturers of manure spreaders are now using much heavier wheels than they were, and heavier parts all the way through. The front axles are set back under the load so that the load is practically equally balanced, thus bringing the horses close to the load. The front and rear wheels track so that when spreading over plowed ground or over meadows you make two tracks instead of four as the original style of machines did.

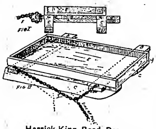
There is no question but that it is better to put a few more dollars into a well-constructed manure spreader or any other farm implement than to buy the cheapest thing that can be had.

KING DRAG IMPROVED.

How an Ohioan Has Elaborated on the Split Log Road-Making Machine.

The King split log drag is familiar to all farmers and has been used in all parts of the country to the great improvement of the country roads.

An Ohio man—A. H. Herrick—thinks he has constructed a machine along the lines of the King drag which is an improvement. The illustration of this device is from the Ohio Farmer. Mr. Herrick says of it: "For all road smoothing and grading, except heavy turnpike jobs at first described, we use a King drag made of 2x8 plank 6 feet long and 30 inches apart (c, c, Figs. 1 and 2). Cross-pieces or beams are 4 feet long (B, B, Figs. 1 and 2), projecting 6 inches in front to take clevices for draft chain and 12 inches back to take braces for back scraper (B, B, Figs. 1 and 2). Front scraper braces extend back on beams 12 inches and reach nearly to bottom of scraper, and may be of iron or wood (A, D, Fig. 1, show wooden braces—iron ones not shown). Iron plates (not shown in Fig. 2) are used to protect the scrapers' cutting edges. A shallow box or platform (E, Figs. 1 and 2) is nailed onto beams for driver to stand in and to carry such tools as are needed, such as pick and bar, to loosen stones, and a shovel to fill large ruts. All stones are also thrown into the box and carried to a convenient place. The object of having one end of scrapers rounded off (C, C, Fig. 2) is so that we can hitch to this end and haul it more easily to and from the work where we have to go any distance. Figs. 1 and 2 explain the other points."



Herrick-King Road Drag.

Be sure that the calves are comfortable and steadily growing every day; there is no profit in runts.

Dresses, Cloaks, Ribbons, Suits, etc., can be made to look like new with PUTNAM FADELESS DYES. No muss.

Some men make it their business to interfere with the business of others.

Panthers and Grizzly Bears.

Ship Furs Pelts McMillan Fur & Wool Co., Minneapolis, Minn. Write for prices.

Many a man sows wild oats at his leisure that his children must reap in haste.

ONLY ONE "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine. Similarly named remedies sometimes deceive. The first and original Cold Tablet is a WHITE PACKAGE with black and red lettering, and bears the signature of E. W. GROVE. 25c.

One of the most pitiable things in the world is a man whose chief enjoyment is in listening to stories that he can't tell to his children.

Stimulate the Blood.

Brandreth's Pills are the great blood purifier. They are a laxative and blood tonic, they act equally on the bowels, kidneys and skin, thus cleansing the system by the natural outlet of the body. They stimulate the blood so to enable nature to throw off all morbid humors and cure all troubles arising from an impure state of the blood. One or two taken every night will prove an invaluable remedy.

Each pill contains one grain of solid extract of sarsaparilla, which, with other valuable vegetable products, make it a blood purifier unexcelled.

Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century, and are for sale everywhere, plain or sugar-coated.

Products from Pine.

In 1905 the pine distilling establishments in the United States numbered 15; the wood distilled amounted to 16,969 cords, valued at $42,805, and the output was as follows: 362,500 gallons of tar, 434,780 gallons of oil, 238,180 gallons of turpentine and 300,106 bushels of charcoal.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

A Positive CURE FOR CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm

Is quickly absorbed.
Gives Relief at Once.

It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts. at Druggists or by mail; Trial size 10 cts. by mail.
Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

LOTS $50.00 EACH. $5 DOWN $5 PER MONTH.

SAVAGE'S FIRST ADDITION to Minneapolis, Hennepin Co., Minnesota. Being south of the city limits, on Portland Ave., which is one of the most beautiful residence streets in MINNEAPOLIS. You can depend upon equal treatment with anyone on the ground. Terms of sale fifty dollars ($50) per lot, payment five dollars down, five dollars per month. TITLE GUARANTEED. Deed and Abstract furnished soon as payment is completed. We refer you to the Minnesota National Bank or Central Avenue Bank. Satisfaction guaranteed. A postal will bring full information. Make all checks P. O. or Express Money orders payable to SAVAGE & CO., 305, 310, 315 Railway Bldg., Third St. & Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Our catalogue contains a choice collection of seed, with clear directions for cultivating each variety. FREE

J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Marblehead, Mass.

AILING WOMEN

How Many Perfectly Well Women Do You Know?

MISS GRACE E. MILLER

MRS. W. S. FORD

"I am not feeling very well," "I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly." "My back aches as though it would break."

How often do you hear these significant expressions from woman friends. More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and there is a cause.

More than thirty years ago Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass. discovered the source of nearly all the suffering endured by her sex. "Woman's Ills," these two words are full of more misery to women than any other two words that can be found in the English language. Sudden fainting, depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere, backaches, headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness, bearing-down sensations, displacements and irregularities are the bane of woman's existence.

The same woman who discovered the cause of all this misery also discovered a remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs holds the record for a greater number of absolute cures of female ills than any other one remedy the world has ever known and it is the greatest blessing which ever came into the lives of suffering women.

Don't try to endure, but cure the cause of all your suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. The following letters prove this:

Mrs. W. S. Ford of 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, suppression, terrible dragging sensations and extreme nervousness. I had given up all hope of ever being well again when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended. It cured my weakness and made me well and strong."

Miss Grace E. Miller, of 1213 Michigan St., Buffalo, N. Y. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a very bad condition of health generally; irritable, cross, backache and suffered from a feminine weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, cured me after all other medicines had failed."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ford and Miss Miller it will do for other women in like condition. Every suffering woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

MASURY'S HOUSE PAINTS

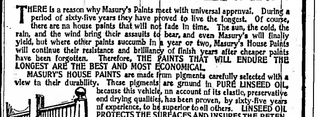
THE STANDARD FOR OVER 50 YEARS

NEVER FAIL TO GIVE SATISFACTION

THERE is a reason why Masury's Paints meet with universal approval. During a period of sixty-five years they have proved to live the longest. Of course, there are no house paints that will not fade in time. The sun, the cold, the rain, and the wind bring their assaults to bear, and even Masury's will finally yield, but where other paints succumb in a year or two, Masury's House Paints will continue their resistance and brilliancy of finish years after cheaper paints have been forgotten. Therefore, THE PAINTS THAT WILL ENDURE THE LONGEST ARE THE BEST AND MOST ECONOMICAL.

MASURY'S HOUSE PAINTS are made from pigments carefully selected with a view to their durability. These pigments are ground in PURE LINSEED OIL, because this vehicle, on account of its elastic, preservative and drying qualities, has been proven, by sixty-five years of experience, to be superior to all others. LINSEED OIL PROTECTS THE SURFACES AND INSURES THE RETENTION OF THE COLOR for the longest possible period. Insist upon a PURE LINSEED OIL PAINT. Your best guarantee is that every package bears the name of

John W. Masury & Son, New York and Chicago



34 YEARS SELLING DIRECT

Our vehicles and harness have been sold direct from our factory to user for a third of a century. We ship for examination and approval and guarantee safe delivery. You are out nothing if not satisfied as to style, quality and price.

We are the Largest Manufacturers in the World.

selling to the consumer exclusively. We make 200 styles of Vehicles, 65 styles of Harness. Send for large, free catalogue.

Elkhart Carriage & Harness Mfg. Co.
Elkhart, Indiana

No. 756. Bike Wagon with Fine Wing Dash, Automobile Seat and ⅞ in. Guaranteed Rubber Tires. Price complete, $58.50.

No. 690. Combination Buggy and Driving Wagon. Price complete, with extra seat, $53.50.

COMING OF THE STORK

SUGGESTS

Cuticura SOAP

For Baby's First Bath and Subsequent Baths.

Because of its delicate, emollient, sanative, antiseptic properties derived from Cuticura, united with the purest of saponaceous ingredients and most refreshing of flower odours, Cuticura Soap is all that the fondest of fond mothers desires for cleansing, preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children. Guaranteed absolutely pure and may be used from the hour of birth.

Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, U. S. A., Sole Props. ☞Post-free, Cuticura Book.

Fertile Farming

LANDS

Cheap
Easy Terms

In the Best Section of the South

Unexcelled for General Farming, Stock Raising, Berries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Cantaloupes, Strawberries, Peaches, Apples, Grapes, etc., give handsome returns.

Cattle need but little winter feed.

HEALTHY CLIMATE.
GOOD WATER.
LONG GROWING SEASON.

Address G. A. PARK, Gen. Im. & Ind'l Agt.

Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

Canadian Government Free Farms

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Over 200,000 American farmers who have settled in Canada during the past few years testify to the fact that Canada is, beyond question, the greatest farming land in the world.

OVER NINETY MILLION BUSHELS

of wheat from the harvest of 1906 means good money to the farmers of Western Canada when the world has to be fed. Cattle Raising, Dairying and Mixed Farming are also profitable callings. Coal, wood and water in abundance; churches and schools convenient; markets easy of access. Taxes low.

For advice and information address the Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or any authorized Canadian Government Agent. C. J. BROUGHTON, Room 430 Quincy Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; W. H. ROGERS, third floor, Traction Terminal Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.; or T. O. CURRIE, Room 12 B, Callahan Block, Milwaukee, Wis.

FREE To convince any woman that Paxtine Antiseptic will improve her health and do all we claim for it. We will send her absolutely free a large trial box of Paxtine with book of instructions and genuine testimonials. Send your name and address on a postal card.

PAXTINE cleanses and heals mucous membrane affections, such as nasal catarrh, pelvic catarrh and inflammation caused by feminine ills; sore eyes, sore throat and mouth, by direct local treatment. Its curative power over these troubles is extraordinary and gives immediate relief. Thousands of women are using and recommending it every day. 50 cents at druggists or by mail. Remember, however, IT COSTS YOU NOTHING TO TRY IT. THE R. PAXTON CO., Boston, Mass.

PARLOR ORGAN ECHOS A choice collection of instrumental and vocal music, for Organ or Piano. Book 1—21 pieces, 25c. Book 2—24 pieces, 25c. Book 3—26 pieces, 25c. To introduce these beautiful collections a copy of either book will be sent postpaid on receipt of 15 cents, stamps or coin. WM. A. POND & CO., 148 5th Ave., New York.

CHEAP LANDS Unexcelled for general farming, stock, dairying, fruits, trucks, etc.; convenient to the very best markets and transportation facilities. Write nearest office for lists and publications. M. V. Richards, Land and Industrial Agent, Southern Ry. and Mobile & Ohio R. R., Washington, D. C. C. S. Chase, Wast. Agt., 624 Chemical Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

PATENTS Watson E. Coleman, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C. Advice free. Terms low. Highest ref.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Edward Hebert and Victoline Hebert, mortgagors, to First State Bank of Brooks, mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1905, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota on the 11th day of September, 1905, at 2 o'clock p. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 559, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The west half of the north east quarter of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty (150) of range forty-two (42) and lots numbered five (5) and (6) in block numbered five (5) in the townsite of Brooks, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of March, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, Red Lake Falls, Minn., Feb. 13, A. D. 1907.

First State Bank of Brooks,
Mortgagee.

[illegible], Attorney. f14-m21

D[illegible]

Physician and Surgeon

[illegible] University, Montreal.
[illegible] over First State Bank.

[illegible] FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Office in [illegible] Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. [illegible], D. M. D.

DENTIST

Office [illegible] Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.

At St. Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys at-Law

Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 67. Collections attended to.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure.

Mr Murray's family, the widow, two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1319 Nicollet Ave, Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

Don't Grind
YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guarantee salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.
COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

EVENTS OF A WEEK THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

C. M. Cushman, aged eighty, the oldest bookseller in Minneapolis, is dead.

Mathias Gans, one of the most popular of the old settlers of Stearns county, is dead.

C. A. Almquist, an old resident of Red Wing, is dead as the result of injuries received in a runaway.

The largest live stock amphitheater in the world is in course of construction at the state fair grounds.

A. J. Smith will retire as superintendent of the St. Paul schools at the end of the present school year.

The first eight months of the operation of the Somerville inheritance tax has yielded $58,181.13 for the state.

More than $60,000 has been contributed to the Minneapolis fund for the relief of the earthquake sufferers of California.

A box of 150 cherries from California was sold at retail in St. Paul for the benefit of the California sufferers and brought $650.

The Minneapolis Gas Light company will make a voluntary reduction in the price of metered gas on Oct. 1, 1906, from $1.10 per thousand feet to $1.

The faculty of the University of Minnesota has voted to retain Dr. H. L. Williams as coach of the football squad for one year at a salary of $3,000.

The president has sent to the senate the nomination of John Peterson to be collector of customs for the district of Minnesota. Peterson is the present incumbent.

One of the transient lodgers at the Economy hotel in Minneapolis, who was registered as "J. W. Hill, Escanaba, Mich.," committed suicide in his room by taking carbolic acid.

A. L. Cole of Walker, representative from the Fifty-second district in the legislative sessions of 1903 and 1905, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Senator George W. Somerville of Sleepy Eye has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. There are now seven avowed candidates for the nomination.

Peter Shatka, a police officer of the city of Eveleth, has been bound over to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of robbing a prisoner. A similar case against Tony Azzo, also a police officer, was dismissed.

The state championship of the Minnesota high school debating league was won by the team of the Humboldt high school of St. Paul in the final contest of the season against the Central high school of Minneapolis.

Charles A. Bohall, a Stearns county pioneer and Civil war veteran, is dead at Sauk Center. Mr. Bohall was born in Jefferson county, N. Y., seventy-three years ago. He removed to Sauk Center when a mere lad and has resided there ever since.

The state drainage board has appropriated $25,000 for ditches in the northern part of the state. All the land to be drained by these ditches is state land and approximately 40,000 acres will be benefitted. The work will be completed this summer.

The payment of nearly $500,000 by the state and counties during the last thirty years for the slaughter of wolves does not seem to have any appreciable effect on the supply and the number of wolves paid for this year would seem to indicate that, if anything, the number is increasing.

Governor Johnson has decided to issue a proclamation submitting to the voters of Itasca county at the next general election the petition calling for a division of Itasca county into two counties, one to be known as Koochiching and the other portion to retain the name of Itasca.

After crossing half the continent to escape the terrors of earthquake shocks in California Albert Scharz, formerly a resident of Minneapolis, is dead at the home of his sister at St. Paul. It is believed that the excitement of the earthquake shock and the hurried journey East hastened his death.

It is believed that the murderers of Charles O. Bailer, the keeper of the Falls hotel at Minneapolis, who was killed in his barroom on the evening of Dec. 23, are now under arrest in Iowa and are serving sentences of fifteen years for a job committed at Des Moines Feb. 6 similar to that in which Bailer was killed.

The Chicago Great Western Railway company has appealed to the district court from an order of the state railroad and warehouse commission allowing a reduction of $2.25 a carload for wood shipped from St. Paul to South St. Paul. The decision was made upon the objection of Thuet Bros. to a charge of $5 a car for such transportation.

John Stewart, a cattle buyer of North Dakota, has been found murdered in the brush twenty miles south of Roseau. Robbery was the motive. He was last seen Dec. 23, when he started to walk from Wannaska to Thief River Falls. It is supposed the crime was committed by an employe of Stewart, who disappeared the same date.

The state supreme court has upheld the action of Mayor D. P. Jones of Minneapolis, who refused to sign a contract with the Patterson Street Lighting company. The opinion, written by Chief Justice Start, states that the council of the city of Minneapolis by motion awarded a contract for lighting the city without submitting the latter to the mayor for his approval.

A QUEER POKER GAME

IT WAS PLAYED BY TWO STOCKMEN IN A DENVER HOTEL.

The Turn That Came When the Fortunes of Both Men Were Piled on the Table—A Side Bet and a Card That Was Not Shown to the Board.

The old St. James hotel in Denver was one of the landmarks of the city for over a quarter of a century, and many famous sporting men were among its guests. Numerous stories are told of the "stiff" poker games that used to be played there in the late eighties and early nineties of the last century.

A game was played one night between two stockmen, a banker and a mining man. The story goes that the mining man and the banker played until they were "all in," leaving the two stockmen to battle it out. It came up to the "consolation" jack pot, and those who had lingered to see the finish were not disappointed when they expected something spectacular to take place. The stakes were running high, the ante being $500, with no betting limit. One of the stockmen opened for $2,500 and was promptly raised before the draw. Then there followed a series of raises and counter raises until the pot contained $11,600 before cards were drawn.

"Gi' me that one," blandly announced the man who had "seen" the last raise. The dealer slipped one card across the table, laid the deck down, relighted his neglected cigar and said unconcernedly, "I'll play these."

Then the betting commenced in earnest. The player had opened, and he led off with $2,500 as a "feeler." The dealer raised a like amount, and the other fellow followed suit. It was plain that one or the other of the men was going to lose his fortune. Checks were written, torn up and made out for larger amounts, and finally mortgage papers on real estate and cattle were passed into the pot. Finally one man said to the other:

"Say, Henry, I'm going to stay with you until everything I've got, right down to the clothes on my back, is represented on the table. Now, I'm in doubt as to some of my property holdings, so I'll make you a proposition. Give me until tonight (it was then 4 p. m.) to find out just where I stand and we'll play the hand out. Meantime let us seal up my hand in one envelope, yours in another and the deadwood in still another. We'll leave the three envelopes in the office safe, to be delivered to both of us together."

The other player agreed, and envelopes and sealing wax were sent for. The hands and remaining cards in the deck were duly sealed and deposited as per arrangement.

Meantime friends of the two players endeavored to get the men together on some sort of compromise proposition, knowing full well that neither could afford to bank his entire fortune on a poker hand, leaving his family destitute, but both men were obdurate and would listen to no proposition to split the pot. An interested and expectant group gathered in the lobby about 8 o'clock in the evening, among them being the man who had opened the pot. They talked together in a friendly manner, speculating upon what would happen when the man who went to look up his assets returned. While they were talking he walked in.

"Well, Henry, I'm ready to resume our little argument," he announced in a matter of fact tone. Then the crowd repaired to the room where the game had been played. The man announced that he had $33,000 to "play back." Securities and certified checks representing this amount were piled on the table. Then, and not until then, did either of the men show signs of nervousness. The opener had drawn a check for $33,000 and started to tear it out of the book when the other man said in a slow, deliberate voice:

"Looks a little strong for either of us, doesn't it, Henry?"

"Well," rejoined the other man, toying with the check, "what would you consider a fair proposition at this stage of the game?"

"It's not gambling, I know," said the other, "but if you want to split the pot and"—

"She's split," calmly announced the man who had opened for $2,500. The currency, gold, checks, mortgage papers and securities were equally divided. Not a word was spoken. Silently the man who opened took up the envelopes, tore them open and laid the two hands on the table, faces downward.

"Bet you a cigar I had you beat," he bantered.

"You're called," said the other, turning over four cards, jacks and sixes. The opener also turned over four cards. They were jacks and sixes.

"I'll bet you," said the dealer, "a thousand dollars that I've still got you beat."

The other man peeped at a corner of his buried card, toyed a moment with a stack of currency and shoved $1,000 to the center. Then, without waiting for the man he had called to show his hole card, he turned up a four spot. The dealer looked at it, smiled, touched the bell and put his hand in the deck. He never told what the other card was.—Denver Times.

Lights of London.

A farmer who visited London for the first time was walking along Oxford street, filling his pipe, when a match-boy came up to him with the usual "Lights, sir?" The farmer took a box from the boy, extracted a match, lit his pipe and handed the box back to the astonished lad, passing on with the remark, "Lor, what a wunnerful place Lunnon is, to be sure!"

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed, and delivered by L. A. Dautremont and Laura E. Dautremont, his wife, mortgagors, to Phil A. Kaufer, mortgagee, which mortgage bears date the 9th day of September, 1903, was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake, and State of Minnesota on 12th day of September, 1903, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., in book 21 of mortgages on page 168, by the terms of which mortgage the following described premises were described in, mortgaged and conveyed to said mortgagee, to-wit: Lots nine (9), ten (10), and the north ten (10) feet of lot eleven (11), in block seven (7) in Champagne and Dow's addition to Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, according to the corrected plat thereof, being in Red Lake county, Minnesota, and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 9th day of September in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note; by failure to pay the $1000 falling due on the 9th day of September, 1904 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said real estate for the year 1905, and whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay said note or any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said real estate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable;

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon to the date hereof the sum of one thousand one hundred eighteen dollars, ($1118.00.)

And Whereas, because of said defaults and each of them the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action at law or in equity having been instituted to cover said mortgage indebtedness.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises above described which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Red Lake at the west front door of the court house in city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, on Saturday, the 13th day of April, 1907, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said indebtedness, the attorney's fees of $25.00 and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year thereafter, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 26, 1907.

—Phil A. Kaufer,
Mortgagee.

Chas. E. Boughton,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Red Lake Falls. f28-a4

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Rudolf Warberg and Katharina Warberg, his wife, mortgagors, to Ralph Rogers mortgagee, bearing date the 16th day of April 1903, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1903, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., in book 29 of mortgages, on page 29

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Ralph Rogers morgagee, to G. B. Ward by written assignment dated the 15th day of October 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 13th day of November 1906, at 1:00 o'clock P. M.; in book 32 of mortgages on page 391.

Which said mortgage, together with said debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said G. B. Ward, the assignee and holder thereof, to Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, a corporation, by written asignment dated the 13th day of November, 1906, and recorded on the 22nd day of November, 1906, at 3:10 o'clock P. M., in book 15 mortgages page 339, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

North east quarter of section numbered twenty-eight (28), in township numbered one hundred fifty (150), north of range forty-one (41), west of the 5th P. M. in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 23rd day of March, 1907, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of seven hundred one and 98-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty and no-100 dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, February 6th, 1907.

Merchants State Bank of
Red Lake Falls,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

F. A. Grady, Attorney for
Assignee of Mortgagee, f7-m21
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

SHIP YOUR GRAIN. We are the only firm in this city dealing exclusively with the farmer. All Millers know that our cars are of one grade and not elevator mixed, which explains why our service is more satisfactory than any other concern. Submit us samples for grades, etc. COOPER COMMISSION CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

BULLETIN
Great Northern Railway

Tell Your Friends About It.

You may have friends in the east, who would be glad to move to the west, if they knew what opportunities are here. Send us their names, we will be glad to send them a bulletin on Montana and North Dakota.

One Way Colonists Rates: Mch. 1 to April 30, 1907. To Chinook, Havre, Great Falls, Shelby, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Kalispell and Whitefish, Mont., $20.00. Good for stop-over west of Minot.

One Way Settlers' Rates:
To Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Manitoba, Western Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Tickets on sale March 5, 12, 19 and 26, April 2, 9, 16 23 and 30, 1907.

MAY WE HELP YOU PLAN YOUR TRIP?
Two trains daily. Standards and Tourist Sleepers.
THE ORIENTAL LIMITED. THE FAST MAIL.

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

Old Reliable Harness Shop

Carries constantly on hand a complete stock of everything pertaining to the business such as

HARNESS,
SADDLERY, HORSE CLOTHING,
WHIPS, ETC.

We make a specialty of hand-made work, and use California oak-tanned leather, the best leather made.

L. A. KAUFER
MAIN STREET, - - - - - - OPPOSITE BRICK BLOCK.

Mascot "A Pure Flour." Sweet Pure and Wholesome.
It's All The What
That's Fit To Eat..

That's why "MASCOT" flour is so hard to beat.

Don't take our word for it, but try a sample order and be convinced that it is the best flour on the market today. We have been testing flour for years and have never found a brand that come so near our idea of the best. The quality is always uniform and it is equally good for bread, pastry and cake. Try it and see.

RED LAKE FALLS MILLING CO.

.. The Falls Meat Market ..
BLAKE & GROSHONG, Props.
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats
Fish and Game in Season.
Highest Prics Paid foa Furs and Hides.
TELEPHONE 19. RED LAKE FALLS

Electric Lighted Throughout Free 'Bus Meets all Trains
Sample Room in Connection
LEADING BAR OF THE CITY
Grand View Hotel
Most Up-to-date Hotel in the City
W. H. KRUEGER, Prop.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 24. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, MARCH 14, 1907 No 24

LAND SALES THIS YEAR

State Auditor Iverson Announces Dates When Sales Will Be Held.

State Auditor Iverson has issued a schedule of the dates and number of acres of school and other state lands in Minnesota for the coming year. A total of 311,000 acres will be offered in the 18 sales to be held. It will be noted in the table below that Red Lake has but 5000 acres and Polk and Marshall but 3000 each, which goes to show that bidding on the lands in these three counties has been more active in the past, and a larger percentage sold.

These lands will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price must be paid at the time of the sale. The balance may run for 40 years at 4 per cent annual interest if desired. The title to all state land is perfect. A valuable illustrated book on Minnesota lands can be secured by addressing Samuel G. Iverson, State Auditor, St. Paul, Minn. The dates and places of sales are as follows:

	Acres offered
Tuesday, June 11 Grand Rapids Itasca county 10 a. m.	35000
Wednesday, June 12, Duluth St. Louis Co. 10 a. m.	35000
Thursday, June 13, Carlton Carlton Co., 10 a. m.	21000
Friday, June 14, Aitken, Aitken Co. 10 a. m.	35000
Saturday, June 15, Brainerd Crow Wing Co., 10 a. m.	21000
Monday, June 17, Bagley, Clearwater Co. 1 p. m.	15000
Tuesday, June 18, Bemidji, Beltrami Co., 1:30 p. m.	20000
Wednesday, June 19, Walker Cass Co., 10 a. m.	20000
Thursday, June 20, Park Rapids, Hubbard Co. 10 a. m.	17000
Friday, June 21, Wadena, Wadena Co., 2 p. m.	15000
Saturday, June 22, Long Prairie, Todd Co., 1 p. m.	8600
Monday, June 24, Hallock, Kittson Co., 1 p. m.	25000
Tuesday, June 25, Warren, Marshall Co. 1 p. m.	3000
Wednesday, June 26, Crookston, Polk Co., 10 a. m.	3000
Friday, June 28, Roseau, Roseau Co., 10 a. m.	30000
Monday, July, 1, Red Lake Falls, Red Lake Co., 1 p. m.	5000
Tuesday, July 2, Detroit, Becker county, 10 a. m.	23000
Wednesday, July 3, Pine City Pine Co., 1 p. m.	10000

Buys Brooks Store.

Frank E. Hunt has purchased the hardware stock and fixtures of the Wilber store at Brooks and will conduct the same from now on. Mr. Hunt will place a competent man in charge of the Brooks store, and will also give it his personal supervision. The Brooks people are to be congratulated upon securing a man of Mr. Hunt's recognized business qualities as their hardware man, and they will always be sure of good treatment at his hands.

How Are Your Kidneys?

[illegible]

GRAND JURY DRAWN

No Criminal Cases On The Calenar But Maybe Some Can Be Found.

A grand jury has been drawn for the March term of the District Court for Red Lake county, for what particular purpose no one seems to know.

At present there are no criminal matters on tap that require the attention of a grand jury, and whether or not there is a sensation or two two be sprung when they get together is a matter for speculation.

No hint has been given as to what will come before this most august body, but there appears to be a general opinion that there is something ready to be sprung. Evil doers, if there are any within the confines of the county, will do well to take the hint and hunt up the tall timber, lest the grand jurymen be given an opportunity to get a turn at them.

The county attorney's office is mum regarding the object of drawing a grand jury, so all the anxious ones can do is to wait and see what will develop. The list of those who will serve on the jury is published elsewhere in today's paper.

Election Returns.

Tuesday was election day in the townships and villages of the county, and the following are the results so far reported:

Lambert.

Supervisor—Moise Neil.
Clerk—Max Perras.
Treasurer—Louis Farlardeau.
Assessor—Max Perras.
Justices of the Peace—Joseph Leblanc, Peter Roerig.
Constables—Alvila Berniere, Antoine Lambert.
Road Overseers—District No. 1, Peter Roerig; district No. 2, John Platz; district No. 3, John Plante; district No. 4, Joseph Begeron.

Poplar River.

Supervisor—Wm. Hebert.
Clerk—A. Laniel.
Treasurer—Cyrille Lussier.
Assessor—J. B. Hebert.
Constables—B. O. Wilkinson, Chas. Wilbert.
Road Overseers—District No. 1, Peter Champagne; district No. 2, Joseph Mareile; district No. 3, B. O. Wilkinson; district No. 4, E. H. Davies.

Red Lake Falls.

Supervisor—Matt Waldorf.
Clerk—M. Ducharme.
Treasurer—Wm. Scharper.
Assessor—M. Ducharme.
Justice of the Peace—Sam Luxemburger.
Constable—Joseph Ducharme.
Road Overseers—District No. 1, P. Demaris; district No. 2, M. Waldorf; district No. 3, T. Arel; district No. 4, Sam Luxemburger; district No. 5, Joseph Delorme; district No. 6, M. Pinsineault.

Black River.

Supervisor—John Powers.
Clerk—Felix Anderson.
Treasurer—Albert Anderson.
Assessor—Axel Jacobson.
Constable—Chas. Ford.
Justice—Jonn Walbeck.

Wanted—30 cords of green poplar cord wood to be delivered at the Red Lake Falls creamery. For further particulars inquire of G. F. Hennings, Secretary. tf

Safety and Convenience

"Safety" is the password in transferring money—"convenience" is also of equal importance.

You have both safety and convenience in money matters when you pay by check.

A checking account is the simplest method for everyone—for you—to emply in financial affairs, because you have a complete record of every transaction.

We welcome small accounts.

All accounts—large and small—receive the same careful attention.

Merchants State Bank

Red Lake Falls Minnesota

ACCIDENT OR SUICIDE

Reservation Farmer Gets The Top of His Head Blown Off Tuesday.

Coroner Joseph Belair and County Attorney Gerino were called to Thief River Falls Tuesday, in response to a message announcing that a reservation farmer had been killed while coming to Thief River the day previous.

The circumstances of the affair are peculiar, inasmuch as it is not known whether the unfortunate fellow was killed by accident or died by his own hand.

His name was Lars Brenden and he lived with his family on section 10, Kratka township, where he had a good farm. Brenden had not been well during the winter and was suffering from an attack of nervous prostration, which kept him feeling bad all the time. For four or five nights prior to Monday he had not been able to sleep at night and decided to go to Thief River on Monday to consult a physician. He wanted his wife to go along with him, as he stated that he was afraid to go alone, but as she had no place to leave her three children, the oldest of which is five and the youngest two, she could not go.

Brenden then took his wife and children to the home of a neighbor named Larson, where he was going to leave them while he was gone. Larson was also going to Thief River that morning and took his team and a load of grain. Brenden drove his own team with a light sleigh, but insisted on Larson taking the lead. He took along a double barrelled shot gun to hunt wolves with, so he said. On the way to Thief River a couple of reservation fellows joined Larson and rode a ways with him. Larson suggested that they go back and ride with Brenden who had a light load. It is thought that Brenden heard them as he slowed up his horses and dropped several rods behind the Larson rig, and then a shot was heard and the occupants of the Larson rig turned in time to see Brenden's hat fly in the air and his team start to run. They stopped the team and found the unfortunate fellow laying against the seat with his head nearly blown off his body.

The remains were hurried to Thief River Falls, and the coroner summoned, but as the circumstances were so plain than it was either an accident or suicide, no coroner's jury was empaneled.

Brenden came here from Becker county, and his farm in Kratka was considered one of the best on the reservation. He was in very fair circumstances, having quite a lot of good stock and being nearly free from debt.

The theory is advanced that his sickness unbalanced his mind and that he took his own life, while again it is claimed that in re-arranging the gun in the sleigh it was accidently disharged, the charge striking Brenden and killing him instantly.

The truth of course will never be known, but the case is a sad one nevertheless. Brenden leaves a wife and three small children to mourn the loss of a kind husband and good father.

Marriage Licenses.

Clerk of Court Johnson has issued marriage licenses to the following couples since the last issue: Carl N. Wedmer, of Middle River to Pauline Gilbert, of Thief River Falls; Ben Bjorge to Anna P. Berg, both of Thief River Falls; Antoine Laurent, of Terrebonne, to Anna Sedig, of Red Lake Falls.

KODOL digests what you eat and quickly overcomes Indigestion, which is a forerunner of Dyspepsia. It is made in strict conformity to the National Pure Food and Drugs Law and is sold on a guarantee relief plan. Sold by all druggists.

$50,000.00 to loan on farms at lowest rate of interest. Call at the First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

LETS DITCH CONTRACT

John Flanagan of St. Paul, Gets Contract For Excavating on Ditch No. 28.

County Auditor O'Brien held the sale of ditch jobs on county ditch No. 28, at his office in the court house Monday, and several bids for the work were submitted.

John Flanagan, a St. Paul contractor, was the successful bidder, his bid being the lowest submitted. There were six bids submitted as follows:

John Flanagan, 9.95 cents per cubic yard; Fred Zaiser 11.05 cents; X Sauve, 11 cents; John Rosegual, 11.66 cents; Louis Paranteau, 11.75 cents; Dan Linnihan, 11 cents. The contract calls for the completion of the ditch by September 15, and Mr. Flanagan will commence the work as soon as the snow is off the ground.

Ditch No. 28 is known as the Duffy ditch, and will be wholly within Red Lake Falls township. It will be about four miles long, running in a south and southwest direction, emptying into Red Lake river. The estimated amount of excavating to be done is 22,401 yards, and most of it will be very easy work.

The ditch is expected to do a great amount of good to lands in that part of the township.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY.

The High School Students Will Act Next Month:

The Senior Class of the High School will give a class play entitled "Sweet Girl Graduates," at the Metropolitan opera house on the evening of Friday, April 12.

The class this year is said to contain several apt pupils in the Thespian art, and as a first-class play has been selected to demonstrate their talents, the people can rest assured that something good is in store for them.

Died at Grand Rapids

News was received here last week of the death of Fred Schoenecker, an old man who had made his home with Euclide Roepelle in Gervais for a number of years past. Mr. Schoenecker died at a hospital in Grand Rapids from an attack of paralysis, and as he had no relatives in this country his remains were interred at that place. Schoenecker was a Belgian, and had lived with Mr. Reopelle for several years. He was of a very industrious disposition and last fall went over to the big woods to put in the winter. He was stricken with paralysis and died in the Grand Rapids hospital after a brief illness. As far as known Schoenecker had no relatives in this country, but has a daughter residing in Belgium, who will be communicated with if she can be located. He left considerable money and property which will revert to her if she can be found.

Bridge Is Protected.

The piling on the new Lonisville bridge is protected from damage by the ice this spring, by heavy plank put in last week by Fred Zaiser, of this city, who was given the contract by the commissioners. Heavy plank falsework was built around the bridge piling at both ends to protect the structure from damage by the ice that will go sailing down stream within the next few weeks.

Three of the commissioners were out to the bridge last week to determine what sort of protection should be made, and decided that the planking would be the best, with the result that Mr. Zaiser was given the contract for the work. The new bridge is a fine one, and the county dads do not propose to take any chances on its being damaged by the high water and ice this spring.

Little globules of sunshine that drive the clouds away. DeWitt's Little Early Risers will scatter the gloom of sick-headache and biliousness. They do not gripe or sicken. Recommended and sold here by all druggists.

RED LAKE GETS $1,000

State Commission Divides Fund of $54,600 Among Eighty-Three Counties.

The state highway commission last week announced the allotments to the counties of the state of the $54,600 provided by the legislature for state roads in Minnesota. The good roads cause has been furthered to this extent and the commission has worked for some time, consulting with the attorney general as to the most equitable means of distributing the apportionments.

By the decision of the commission the maximum amount is $1,600 while the minimum is $300. The law provides that on or before the first Monday in December this year the county auditor of each county shall certify to the highway commission that a road has been designated and twice the amount appropriated by the state has been expended by that county for such a state road. The various counties can then draw on the state treasury for the amount which has just been apportioned by the commission.

In the division four counties, Hennepin, Ramesy, St. Louis and Beltrami get the maximum sum $1,600, Aitkin, Carlton and Itasca will get $1,500, Polk is in the $1,200 class as is Mille Lacs, Morrison, Roseau and Marshall, six counties get $800, twenty-eight get $760 and the rest, twenty-seven, get the minimum $300. In the latter class are Becker, Clay, Otter Tail and Mahnomen. Red Lake and Kittson each get $1,000. Norman will draw $700.

A BIG EASTER CONCERT

Osphens Quartette And Orchestra Will Give A Fine Entertainment.

The Orphens Quartette, the swell musical organization of northern Minnesota, is arranging to give one of the finest musical entertainments ever given here on Easter Monday and to this end are hard at work on the program for the occassion.

The quartette will be assisted by the full band orchestra in several numbers, and the entire program will be one of real merit and enjoyment to the public. Following the concert a social dance will be given music for which will be provided by the orchestra, and the people of this neighborhood should make advance preparations to attend.

To Elect Officers.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon, March 20th, in the church parlors at 2:30 p. m. A full attendance is desired as it is the annual meeting for the election of officers for the ensuing year. All the ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to be present.

Best confectionery in the city at Freund's

MARCH BAND CONCERT

Local Organization Will Appear In Public Recital Next Thursday Evening.

The regular monthly concert by the local band organization will occur at the Metropolitan opera house Thursday evening of next week, and the band will have a program of music ready that will make it worth the while of the people to attend.

On the program this month will be several numbers that should prove excellent drawing cards, and the arrangement of the entire entertainment will be found satisfactory to all.

The heavy overture, "Morning, Noon and Night," will be the band's feature number in the first part, and the brilliant parts of this famous composition are being nicely rounded out for capable rendition.

The special numbers will be a vocal solo by Mrs. E. F. Marshall, a pretty cornet fantasy by Clement Brunelle, an overture by the full band orchestra and a clarinet solo "LaSonnambula" by Director Emil H. Bruckman, with piano accompaniment by a talented young pianist of the city.

The other band numbers are good, and it behooves the public to keep the date well in mind and be on hand.

The following is the program:

PART I.

March, "Colonial Guard." F. Mahl
Overture, "Morning, Noon and Night" Suppe
Cornet Solo, "Brilliant Star." Durand
Clem Brunelle.
Waltz, "Sourire d'Avril" M. Depret
Vocal Solo Selected
Mrs. E. F. Marshall

PART II.

Overture, "Mazeppa." F. Mahl
Band Orchestra.
Mazurka, "LaCzarina." Ganne
Clarinet Solo, "LaSonnambula."
E. H. Bruckman.
Miss Inga Hamry, Accompanist.
Selection, "Daughter of the Regiment" Donizetti
"Lorley Pharaphrase" Neswadba
March, "High and Lofty," G. E. Holmes

Grand Jury List.

A list of Grand Jurors drawn for the March term of the District Court, which convenes on the 25th inst:

Alfred Olson	Bray
John Beaudro.	Red Lake Falls-City
Ed. Whaley	St. Hilaire
Adolph Zutz	Louisville
E. J. Akerlund	Bray
John Banner	Silverton
John Sorenson	Thief River Falls
Sam Person	Polk Center
Rusell Vance	Louisville
John Luxemberger	Lake Pleasant
Napoleon Pouliot,	R L F-City
Noah Wolf	R L F-City
Henry Rondolf	Rocksbury
Ellof Gravelie	Norden
John O. Vaslie	Numedal
Gustaf Johnson	Sanders
Joe Helm, jr.	R L F-City
John Westerland	Gervais
Peter Johnson	River Falls
Halvor Olson	Numedal
Jule Lizee	Terrebonne
Karl Hundredmark,	Red Lake Falls
Carl Sorenson	Garnes

See Salley for your hard and soft coal. Large stock on hand and delivery made promptly.

FIRST STATE BANK

OF

RED : LAKE : FALLS : MINNESOTA

OFFERS YOU

PROMPT SERVICE
LIBERAL TREATMENT
ABSOLUTE SAFETY

We Extend the Accommodations of a Strong and Well-Equipped Bank

OFFICERS
CHAS. N. BOURDON, President
FRANK E. HUNT, Vice-President
THEO. GARCEAU, Cashier
GEO. F. HENNINGS, Asst. Cash.

DIRECTORS
Theo. Garceau Frank E Hunt
Chas. N. Bourdon
W. A. Schreiter A. P. Toupin
N. M. Watson Geo. F. Hennings

Financial Statement

OF

RED LAKE COUNTY, MINN.

For the Fiscal Year Ending December, 31, 1906.

OFFICE OF COUNTY AUDITOR,
RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA,
Red Lake Falls, Minn., January 2, 1907.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA.

GENTLEMEN:—I submit to you herewith, a statement of the financial condition of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the close of the fiscal year December 31, 1906, showing the receipts and expenditures for the year, the cash balance in the different funds and the total amount of cash in the County Treasury together with a statement of the finances of the County at the end of the year, including all debts and liabilities and the assets and other means of discharging the same.

Respectfully submitted,

SEAL.

John B. O'Brien

County Auditor.

TRIAL BALANCE.

Auditor's General Ledger at the close of business December 30, 1905

	Dr	Cr
[illegible] Treasurer	$ 31958 56
[illegible]		$ 784 70
[illegible] Penalties		11056 55
[illegible] School Fund		837 25
[illegible] Revenue Fund		523 38
Poor Fund		350 01
[illegible] Road and Bridge Fund		500 18
[illegible] Interest Fund		2317 06
[illegible] Ditch Fund		8279 86
[illegible] Redemption Fund		269 56
[illegible] Funds		2946 87
[illegible] Village Fund		3421 93
[illegible] Fund		5 76
[illegible] School Fund	1 81
[illegible] Fund		392 16
[illegible] Interest Fund		175 26
[illegible] Fund		112 99
[illegible] Fund	10 15
Total	$ 31970 52	$ 31970 52

RECEIPTS OF RED LAKE COUNTY.

During the fiscal year ending December 31, 1906.

Balance in treasury January 2 1906	$ 31958 56
[illegible] tax collections	114305 72
[illegible] tax collections	11021 12
Interest, penalties and costs	1285 98
[illegible] liens paid	5000 79
Private redemptions	5559 01
Collections prin. and int. on state lands	7808 68
State Auditor wolf bounties refunded	1124 50
school apportionment	14752 03
state aid to schools	3847 00
Hunters licenses	130 50
Interest on deposits county funds	1351 62
[illegible] licenses	10 00
Rent	55 00
Fees probate court refunded	18 05
Jury fees	36 00
Fees district court	81 00
Insurance premium refunded	47 50
Liquor licenses	1500 00
Reward for capturing horse thief	200 00
[illegible]	846 51
Warrants outstanding December 31, 1906	4088 16
Total	$ 208123 13

DISBURSEMENTS OF RED LAKE COUNTY.

During the fiscal year ending December 31, 1906.

Warrants drawn on County Revenue Fund	$ 20228 65
" " " Poor Fund	201 42
" " " Road and Bridge Fund	7180 00
" " " Bond and Int. Fund	2156 99
" " " Private Redemp. Fund	5616 67
" " " General Ditch Fund	22333 76
" " " Incidental Fund	360 39
" " " School District Fund	60715 70
" " " Town, City and vil Fund	38180 96
" " " Court house & jail fund	157 00
" " " Spl bond and int. fund	534 98
Refunding Warrants	119 98
Principal and interest on state lands	7483 43
State revenue and school tax	9307 83
Hunters License	130 50
Warrants outstanding January 2, 1906	784 70
Balance cash in treasury December 31, 1906	32330 62
Total	$ 208123 13

TRIAL BALANCE.

Auditor's Ledger at close of business December 31, 1906.

	Dr	Cr
County Treasurer	$ 32330 62
Warrants Account		$ 4088 16
[illegible]		5157 26
[illegible] School Fund		1261 14
[illegible] Funds		293 10
[illegible]		443 51
[illegible] Fund	1845 56
[illegible] Fund		4046 17
[illegible] fund		212 90
[illegible] funds		8795 99
[illegible] funds		4811 11
[illegible]		85 37
[illegible] school fund	1 70
[illegible] interest fund		324 82
[illegible] fund		361 42
[illegible] interest fund		3370 68
[illegible] fund		946 07
[illegible]	12 85
Total	$ 34190 73	$ 34190 73

Receipts and Disbursements By Funds:

County Revenue Fund.

RECEIPTS:

Balance in treasury January 2, 1906	$ [illegible]
Taxes and penalties	[illegible]
Interest on deposits county funds	[illegible]
Auctioneers licenses	10 00
Rent	55 00
Wolf bounties refunded	[illegible]
Fees probate court refunded	19 05
Jury fees	36 00
Insurance premium refunded	47 50
Reward for capturing horse thief	200 00
Total	$ [illegible]

DISBURSEMENTS:

Warrants issued	$ [illegible]
Transferred to incidental fund	[illegible]
Transferred to county road and bridge fund	[illegible]
Refunding warrants	[illegible]
Balance on hand	[illegible]
Total	$ [illegible]

Warrants Issued.

County Officers' Salaries.

COUNTY AUDITOR.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8891	James E Ford	$ 100 00
9007	"	100 00
9202	"	100 00
9020	"	100 00
9173	"	100 00
9566	"	100 00
9720	"	100 00
9842	"	100 00
9969	"	100 00
9982	"	100 00
10012	"	100 00
Total		$1100 00

COUNTY TREASURER

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8891	K M Hausen	$ 100 00
9008	"	100 00
9203	"	100 00
9330	"	100 00
9471	"	100 00
9567	"	100 00
9730	"	100 00
9843	"	100 00
9967	"	100 00
9983	"	100 00
10013	"	100 00
[illegible]		100 00
Total		$1200 00

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8894	H T McAnulty	87 50
9011	"	87 50
9206	"	87 50
9333	"	87 50
9477	"	87 50
9570	"	87 50
9650	"	50 00
9733	"	87 60
9790	"	50 00
9846	"	87 50
9900	"	87 50
9967	"	87 50
10041	"	87 50
10294	"	100 00
Total		$ 1162 50

JUDGE OF PROBATE.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8892	N W Tarrant	97 91
9009	"	97 91
9204	"	97 91
9331	"	97 91
9475	"	97 92
9568	"	97 92
9731	"	97 92
9844	"	97 92
9898	"	97 92
9961	"	97 92
10044	"	97 92
Total		$1077 08

COUNTY ATTORNEY.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8803	Thomas Germo	100 00
8893	"	100 00
9010	"	100 00
9205	"	100 00
9332	"	100 00
9476	"	100 00
9569	"	100 00
9732	"	100 00
9845	"	100 00
9899	"	100 00
9965	"	100 00
10045	"	100 00
Total		$1200 00

CLERKS IN COUNTY AUDITOR'S OFFICE.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8782	Adam Zeh	$ 24 00
8788	S L Lewis	24 00
8895	A A Latendresse	50 00
9012	"	50 00
9207	"	55 00
9334	"	55 00
9178	"	55 00
9571	"	55 00
9734	"	55 00
9794	Adam Zeh	15 00
9847	A A Latendresse	55 00
9878	S L Lewis	9 00
9901	A A Latendresse	55 00
9966	"	55 00
10046	"	55 00
10114	S L Lewis	15 00
10325	"	15 00
10317	"	16 00
10360	"	15 00
Total		$725 00

CLERKS IN COUNTY TREASURER'S OFFICE.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9018	Clara Marchand	$ 5 00
9198	"	15 00
9350	Joseph Perrault	8 00
9502	Carl Schusser	4 38
9528	E E Fletcher	10 00
9563	"	40 00
9647	Doretta Mathies	4 50
9728	E E Fletcher	4 00
9795	Clara Marchand	10 00
9952	"	16 50
10116	"	6 00
10374½	S L Lewis	14 00
Total		$137 38

COURT REPORTERS.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8897	Chas M Lohn	$ 23 25
8898	WO Braggans	23 25
9014	Chas M Lohn	23 25
9015	WO Braggans	23 25
9209	Chas M Lohn	23 25
9210	WO Braggans	23 25
9383	Chas M Lohn	23 25
9384	WO Braggans	23 25
9180	Chas M Lohn	20 45
9481	WO Braggans	20 45
9573	Chas M Lohn	20 45
9574	WO Braggans	20 45
9736	Chas M Lohn	20 45
9737	WO Braggans	20 45
9849	Chas M Lohn	20 45
9850	WO Braggans	20 45
9902	Chas M Lohn	20 45
9904	WO Braggans	20 45
9969	Chas M Lohn	20 45
9976	WO Braggans	20 45
10049	Chas M Lohn	20 45
10050	WO Braggans	20 45
Total		$ 472 30

JANITOR.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8896	J O Gjerberg	$ 50 00
9013	"	50 00
9208	"	50 00
9335	"	50 00
0479	"	50 00
9572	"	50 00
9735	"	50 00
9848	"	50 00
9902	"	50 00
9968	"	50 00
10048	"	50 00
Total		$550 00

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PER DIEM AND MILEAGE.

FIRST DISTRICT.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8826	P A Ekstrom	14 80
8874	James Sutor	3 00
8927	P A Ekstrom	9 00
9107	"	16 80
9230	"	8 33
9346	"	8 33
9452	"	11 00
9590	"	8 23
9605	"	8 33
9706	"	3 00
9768	"	8 33
9870	"	8 33
9984	"	16 66
10015	"	8 33
Total		$ 132 57

SECOND DISTRICT.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8871	Wm C L Demann	$17 80
8928	"	11 40
9118	"	10 40
9228	"	8 33
9343	"	8 33
9464	"	8 33
9606	"	8 33
9687	"	23 10
8707	"	1 40
9719	"	8 33
9792	"	8 33
9817	"	6 00
9893	"	8 33
9971	"	8 33
10028	"	8 33
10316	"	1 60
Total		$ 146 67

THIRD DISTRICT.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8872	O J Johnson	$15 00
8929	"	13 00
9233	"	8 33
9352	"	8 33
9453	"	3 00
9465	"	8 33
9607	"	8 33
9708	"	3 00
9818	"	5 00
9868	"	8 33
9985	"	16 66
Total		$ 97 31

FOURTH DISTRICT.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8827	Daniel Shaw	$10 00
8930	"	20 00
9065	"	7 00
9234	"	8 33
9353	"	8 33
9454	"	4 00
9466	"	8 33
9605	"	8 33

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PER DIEM AND MILEAGE—FOURTH DISTRICT.—Continued.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9709	Daniel Shaw	4 00
8720	"	8 33
9827	"	7 20
9871	"	8 33
9986	"	16 66
10026	"	8 33
10284	"	5 00
10358	"	8 33
Total		$ 140 50

FIFTH DISTRICT.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8873	Louis Farlardeau	10 80
9103	"	10 80
9235	"	8 33
9354	"	8 33
9467	"	8 33
9609	"	8 33
9710	"	4 80
9869	"	8 33
9987	"	16 66
Total		$90 71

COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9752	Wm C L Demann	$13 40
9753	P A Ekstrom	11 80
9755	O J Johnson	15 00
9756	Daniel Shaw	16 00
9757	Louis Falardeau	16 80
Total		$73 00

BOARD OF AUDIT.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9064	Daniel Shaw	24 00
9066	James E Ford	27 00
9067	Joseph Perrault	27 00
9436	"	6 00
9437	James E Ford, co. auditor	6 00
9138	Daniel Shaw, chair. co. board	6 00
Total		$96 00

District Court Expenses.

GRAND JURORS.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9160	John Allstad	$ 9 20
9161	Denals Conelly	13 40
9162	Ildage Baril	9 60
9163	D Collins	11 40
9164	K Killund	11 40
9165	Gilbert Hoover	13 60
9166	P O Sorlont	14 40
9167	W J McCrum	13 00
9168	M Bakken	13 40
9169	Peter Swanson	10 40
9170	Max Perras	13 00
9171	Joseph Remick	9 20
9172	Andrew Anderson	14 80
9173	O M Evenson	13 00
9174	Rudolph Warberg	14 00
9175	Ed Miller	15 00
9176	G C Gulrud	17 60
9177	Henry Busse	10 40
9178	Ole G Lee	18 20
9179	Frank Laplante	10 20
9180	Morse Guerard	12 60
9181	Wm Holberg	9 20
Total		$277 00

PETIT JURORS.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9132	Charles Latta	$ 4 80
9139	Caster Christenson	4 40
9143	G O Kankel	4 00
9145	Frank Bosh	2 20
9188	Dan Gerlach	2 00
9227	John Naplin	19 60
9231	Wm Marleau	6 00
9237	Geo J Willer	6 00
9238	W J Kelly	20 00
9239	Ole J Hegg	25 00
9240	Felix Anderson	22 40
9241	Richard Mellu	23 40
9242	Axel Kron	23 80
9243	A A Odegaard	23 20
9244	P Engelstad	23 00
9245	Peter Wold	27 80
9246	G Shirra	24 00
9247	Henry Arndt	27 80
9252	A A Momerak	23 00
9253	Ovide Moreau	19 00
9254	J B Demarais	17 20
9255	Omer Delorme	26 00
9256	Jos Tschirhart	17 20
9257	A J St Mars	17 20
9258	Charles Ford	17 00
9259	Joseph Normandin	17 20
9260	John Drier	21 00
9261	Louis Perrault	24 60
9262	Eli Lasha	1 80
9263	Frank Bourque	26 40
9265	Evangelist Quesnelle	23 00
9288	Frank Glass	19 40
9292	Jas Brady	8 20
9308	George Marchildon	6 00
9924	John Platz	10 20
9927	W E Wood	11 40
9929	Emil Just	2 00
9930	J O Nauman	6 60
9931	John Rothstien	11 00
9932	Ed Moran	6 20
9933	Joseph Schmitz	7 40
9934	Aug Swenson	10 60
9935	J L Cossette	10 20
9936	Joseph Lefeovre	12 40
9937	S V Barcley	11 60
9938	E J Overland	12 40
9939	Ole O Nesja	15 80
9940	W J LaBreo	11 50
9941	V M Higinbotham	6 20
9942	George Jarman	12 00
9948	Robert Bourdoa	6 20
Total		$ 750 60

WITNESS FEES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9134	Axel Sandgreen	4 40
9135	E O Erickson	4 40
9136	Christ Amundson	4 40
9137	M M Johnson	4 40
9138	W J Kelly	4 40
9140	Chas Gilbertson	3 64
9142	W H Fuller	4 40
9144	Oscar Hicks	38 00
9146	Moses Ducharme	1 72
9148	Emil Just	1 94
9152	N A Nelson	2 26
9153	Gust Konikson	2 20
9154	Lena Rewertz	1 96
9155	John Kivel	4 40
9156	Mrs Caroline Evenson	3 40
9157	Mrs Anna Borry	3 40
9158	Mrs E E Bjerk	3 40
9221	Norman Hanson	4 12
9222	C H Carlson	4 12
9224	Ole Kuntson	4 12
9229	Axel Sandgren	4 40
9248	N M Johnson	5 40
9249	John Collins	5 40
9250	Oscar Hicks	38 00
9251	George Jarman	1 12
9297	Daniel Linnihan	1 12
9517	A P Toupin	1 12
Total		$161 58

ATTORNEY'S FEES IN STATE CASES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9264	F A Grady	$10 00
Total		$10 00

CLERK'S FEES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8832	Joseph Perrault	$50 05
9012	"	73 40
9073	"	15 15
9285	"	30 00
9432	"	127 80
9433	"	8 90
9434	"	1 05
9435	"	206.40
9694	"	40 20
10007	"	9 00
10305	"	18 00
Total		$589 85

DEPUTY CLERK'S FEES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9266	Adam Zeh	$36 00
9061	S L Lewis	12 00
Total		$ 48 00

SHERIFF'S FEES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8844	Dan Linnihan	$61 35
8815	"	16 40
9058	"	6 40
9060	Louis Gonyea	4 00
10284½	Dan Linnihan	200 00
9420	"	15 00

SHERIFF'S FEES—CONTINUED.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9424	Dan Linnihan	8 00
9425	"	118 32
9426	"	120 32
9697	"	102 82
9803	"	13 80
9804	"	128 00
9805	"	52 50
9806	"	1 00
10311	"	50 70
Total		$901 61

DEPUTY SHERIFF'S FEES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8843	John Ilson	$ 8 50
8862	Adam Zeh	11 45
8863	George Jarman	204 22
9014	"	22 95
9059	S A Swanson	3 20
9061	Geo Jarman	35 13
9424	Gust Braggren	37 00
9127	George Jarman	80 30
9428	"	71 09
9698	Fred Zalser	7 90
9699	Joseph M Putnode	7 90
9700	Joseph Belair	6 40
9702	Arther Lizee	12 50
9703	George Jarman	11 00
9704	A S Wilson	1 50
9705	S A Swanson	4 30
9754	Joseph Belair	1 50
9767	Arthur Lizee	3 00
9815	George Jarman	67 18
9912	"	8 34
10312	"	54 95
10313	Louis Gonyea	1 20
Total		$661 61

COURT DEPUTYS.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9187	Peter K Olson	$13 50
9269	Fred Zalser	33 00
9270	John Kivel	36 00
9101	Adam Zeh	3 00
9946	Fred Zalser	12 00
Total		$97 50

JAILERS' SALARIES

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8781	Dan Linnihan	$ 31 00
8900	"	31 00
9029	"	28 00
9201	"	31 00
9351	"	10 00
9420	William McIntosh	22 00
9582	Dan Linnihan	18 00
9991	"	27 00
Total		$198 00

BOARDING PRISONERS.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8816	Daniel Linnihan	$102 03
8847	Polk County, Minn	12 78
9056	"	62 48
9057	Daniel Linnihan	72 39
9421	Polk County, Minn	61 77
9422	Daniel Linnihan	66 16
9423	"	14 75
9626	"	10 26
Total		$403 22

Probate Court Expenses.

MEDICAL EXAMINERS' FEES—INSANITY CASES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8589	Dr N M Watson	$ 7 65
8796	George Tupper	7 65
8830	I Lemieux	15 25
9328	F H Gamble	7 65
9361	Henry Grandy	7 65
9533	N M Watson	15 30
9535	I Lemieux	7 65
9539	J E Carman	7 65
9889	I Lemieux	5 15
9890	N M Watson	5 15
9913	J C Wilkinson	5 15
9914	N M Watson	5 15
Total		$ 97 05

WITNESS FEES—INSANITY CASES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8802	Christ Anderson	$ 3 40
9651	First State Bank of Red Lake Falls	3 16
Total		$ 6 56

MISCELLANEOUS FEES—INSANITY CASES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	For what purpose	Amount
8801	George Jarman	expense in taking Jno Norman to state hospital at Fergus Falls	$32 48
9627	Dan Linnihan	expense in taking E Premo to state hospital Fergus Falls	28 70
9628	Joseph Belair	expense in taking E Premo to state hospital Fergus Falls	22 41
9634	D Linnihan	fees and mileage for taking Jos Vanous before the court	3 75
9888	Geo Brunelle	fees and expense conveying Mrs Gibeau to hospital for insane	49 28
9995	Arthur Lizee	expense attending court and bringing Mrs Gibeau before court	2 00
Total			$ 138 71

Municipal Court Costs

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9455	J M Bishop, municipal judge	$70 73
9978	J M Bishep, municipal judge	37 59
Total		$114 32

Justice Court Expenses

WITNESS FEES

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8850	S L Lewis	$10 55
8851	A P Toupin	21 15
10306	S A Swanson	3 20
Total		$34 90

Coroner's Inquest

CORONER'S FEES

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8866	Joseph Belair	$47 65
9431	"	35 95
10290	"	12 90
Total		$96 50

WITNESS FEES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9852	Mike Madden	$ 2 00
9853	Ed Miller	1 20
9854	H C Juhr	2 20
9855	A C Mayfield	1 24
9856	Louis Buso	2 00
9857	Val Yeager	2 00
9858	L T Borgh	1 40
9859	Isaac Dahlen	1 12
9860	John Kjonickson	1 12
9861	Carl Eggen	1 12
9862	Edward Peterson	1 12
9863	Joseph Falardeau	1 12
9864	Mrs Pierre Paquin	1 12
9865	Agnes Falardeau	1 12
Total		$19 88

Light.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8834	R L F Elec Light Co	$49 05
9075	"	16 90
9106	"	41 75
9692	"	26 00
10298	"	52 25
Total		$185 95

Fuel.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8833	Jacob O Valdal	$32 50
9068	Swan Akenson	165 00
Total		$197 50

Reporting Births and Deaths

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8976	P A Ekstrom	$2 00
8977	E J Akorlnud	75
8978	Albert Bakkou	1 00
8979	A J Hemstad	3 25
8980	Lewis Sall	3 50
8981	Olof Tande	4 00
8982	Alex Patnode	1 25
8983	A J Hemstad	75
8984	F J Madden	25
8985	R M Johnson	2 25
8986	A D Berry	2 25
8987	M Ducharme	3 75
8988	Louis Doucet	6 25
8989	E J Overlund	2 00
8990	G J Nordhagen	3 25
8991	H E Albue	1 00
8992	Olof Larson	25
8993	Ole T Romsos	1 00
8994	Arthur Laniel	2 75
8995	Peter Hansel	75
8996	F O Leppert	25
8997	A S Andersen	2 50
8998	P Engelstad	2 25
8999	Ildage Baril	4 50
9000	J C Wilkinson	15 00
9001	N K Anderson	2 50
9002	Wm J Potts	2 25
9003	A F Blomburgh	11 50
9004	Lars Backe	35 25
9005	J L Cossette	7 75
9006	Christ Morslug	5 00
Total		$131 00

Printing and Advertising.

No. of warrant	To Whom Issued	Amount
8861	Carl M Borgen	$11 30
8918	Red Lake Falls Gazette	3 30
9102	Carr & Clark	2 25
9113	St Hilaire Spectator	290 90
9672	Chas W Latta	4 35
9797	S W Bagley	18 50
9798	St Hilaire Spectator	34 10
9799	"	146 25
9800	A F Lattimore	2 00
10154	St Hilaire Spectator	286 70
9417	"	585 75
10146	Red Lake Falls Gazette	65 30
Total		$1450 70

Blank Books, Blanks, Stationery and Supplies.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8825	A L Reichert	$14 85
8818	W A Schreiter	1 25
8852	Pioneer Press Co	70 13
8853	Northwest'n Sch Sply Co	4 30
8854	Miller-Davis Ptg Co	124 70
8855	Carl M Borgen	13 75
8856	Red Lake Courier	20 00
8857	"	6 50
8858	Elliott Fisher company	6 50
8859	Free Press Printing Co	32 20
8915	Pioneer Press Co	1 40
8916	Miller-Davis Ptg Co	24 00
8917	Red Lake Falls Gazette	26 50
8922	James E Ford	1 37
8923	K M Hansen	3 55
9063	N W Tarrant	25
9092	Geo D Barnard & Co	25 30
9093	McGill Warner Co	5 70
9094	Free Press Ptg Co	20 00
9095	Pioneer Press Co	33 30
9096	Miller Davis Ptg Co	1 87
9098	C F Greenwood	9 00
9099	John E King	28 00
9100	W A Schreiter	7 50
9101	Carl M Borgen	13 50
9111	Red Lake Falls Gazette	11 75
9112	Red Lake Falls Gazette	4 00
9409	Pioneer Press Co	15 35
9410	Eli S Warner, surveyor general	112 00
9411	P E Hanson, Sec. of State	17 50
9412	Miller Davis Ptg Co	75 40
9413	Free Press Ptg Co	21 98
9414	McGill Warner Co	6 00
9415	John E King	15 75
9416	Red Lake Falls Gazette	38 50
9456	Red Lake Courier	9 15
9671	Red Lake Falls Gazette	13 00
9673	W M Welch Co	7 20
9674	Walter S Booth & Son	50
9675	BrownTreacy & Spy Co	7 80
9676	Red Lake Falls Gazette	38 00
9677	Review Publishing Co	20 00
9678	Miller Davis Ptg Co	69 61
9679	George D Barnard & Co	24 74
9680	Free Press Ptg Co	118 75
9681	McGill Warner Co	64 50
9682	Red Lake Courier	30 85
9683	Pioneer Press Co	37 00
9807	Northw'n School SplyCo	8 25
9808	The Pioneer Press Co	10 50
9809	Miller Davis Ptg Co	40 07
9810	Review Publishing Co	1 00
9811	Red Lake Falls Gazette	21 40
9812	George D Barnard & Co	74 46
10145	The Red Lake Courier	90 90
10147	George D Barnard & Co	37 16
10148	Pioneer Press Co	102 60
10149	Free Press Printing Co	99 55
10150	Miller Davis PrintingCo	16 10
10151	A L Reichert	9 15
10153	Typewriter Exchange	12 25
Total		$1807 81

Election Expenses.

RECEIVING PRIMARY ELECTION SUPPLIES

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10163	J L Cossette Town of Terrebonne	$ 3 20
10164	Olof Taude Town of Garnes	1 40
10165	Lewis Sall Town of Equality	2 20
10166	Halvor Johnson Town of Numedal	1 80
10167	Jay Payne Town of Clover Leaf	1 80
10168	A Laniel Town of Poplar River	1 10
10169	Tobias Stene Town of Smiley	2 40
10170	Ernest J Akerlund Town of Bray	1 00
10171	Nels K Anderson Town of Sanders	3 00
10172	Lars Lee Town of Norden	2 80
10173	A J Hemstad Town of Emardville	3 00
10174	P Engelstad Town of Rocksbury	2 15
10175	K O Gigstad Village of St Hilaire	1 20
10176	A D Berry Town of Louisville	2 60
10177	Joseph Johnson Town 153, Rge 39	1 40
10178	Max Perras Town of Lambert	1 60
10179	A P Toupin City of Red Lake Falls	2 40
10180	C W Johnson Town of Black River	3 00
10181	A S Anderson Town of River Falls	2 20
10182	Ildaige Baril Town of Red Lake Falls	1 60
10183	E J Overlund Town of North	1 50
10184	O E Naplin Town of Polk Centre	4 00
10185	Sam Lovnas Town of Mayfield	1 60
10186	Alex Patnode Town of Gervais	2 00
Total		$50 95

MAKING PRIMARY ELECTION RETURNS

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10187	David Haugen town of Wyandotte	$ 2 78
10188	Swan Walhaug town of Garnes	1 84
10189	Peder J Bugge town of Numedal	1 63
10190	A O Watsend town of Equality	1 81
10191	Wm Hebert town of Popular River	1 10
10192	Joseph A Duchamp town of Clover Leaf	2 80
10193	L G Browning 1st ward of T R Falls	1 44
10194	Ellef Gravlio town of Norden	2 40
10195	H B Blackey town of Silverton	2 40
10196	Frank Schirrick town of Polk Center	2 80
10197	Ed Enright town of Black River	2 40

MAKING PRIMARY ELECTION RETURNS
(Continued)

No of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10198	Louis Lonson 3rd ward R L Falls	$ 1 20
10199	Frank Mousley 2nd ward T R Falls	1 20
10200	Alcide Perrusse town of Terrebonne	3 20
10201	Nels Knutson town of North	1 20
10202	John A Rorestein village of St Hilaire	4 00
10203	Mathias Waldorf town of Lake Pleas	2 00
10204	Charles Sleger town Gervais	1 80
10205	A L Reichert 3rd ward T R Falls	1 20
10206	Jacob Frolland town Emardville	3 80
10207	John S Johnson town Kratka	1 00
10208	Joseph Johnson town 153 range 39	1 60
10209	C P Swanson town Bray	2 96
10210	Charles Gustafson town Rocksbury	2 00
10211	Eus Normandeau 2nd ward R L Falls	1 20
10212	R O Gorden town Mayfield	2 30
10213	Philip Gibeau town Lambert	1 10
10214	Herman Ortloff town Sanders	3 00
10215	A S Anderson town River Falls	2 20
10216	Daniel Patterson village St Hilaire	1 20
	Total	$51 56

JUDGES OF PRIMARY ELECTION

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10273	Olof O Omlid	$ 7 25
10274	Joseph Johnson	7 25
10275	Hans Fjeld	7 25
	Total	$21 75

COUNTY CANVASSING BOARD PRIMARY ELECTION

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10276	Lars Backe	$13 00
10277	L M Hoff	11 40
10278	S A Swanson	9 20
10283	Daniel Shaw	13 00
	Total	$46 60

RECEIVING GENERAL ELECTION SUPPLIES

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10217	O J Johnson Village of Plummer	$ 1 20
10218	E J Overland Town of North	1 60
10219	Alex Patnode Town of Gervais	2 00
10220	Olof Tande Town of Garnes	1 40
10221	Max Perras Town of Lambert	1 60
10222	A D Berry Town of Louisville	2 60
10223	A J Hemstad Town of Emardville	3 20
10224	W A Swanson Town of Deer Park	2 36
10225	A Lanfel Town of Poplar River	1 10
10226	Tobias Stene Town of Smiley	2 40
10227	Lewis Sall Town of Equality	2 20
10228	Ernest J Akerlund Town of Bray	1 00
10229	J L Cossette Town of Terrebonne	3 20
10230	C E Naplin Town of Poplar River	4 00
10231	Henry Hanson Town of Silverton	2 00
10232	A S Anderson Town of River Falls	2 20
10233	P Engelstad Town of Rocksbury	2 00
10234	C W Johnson Town of Black River	3 00
10235	G J Nordhagen Town of Norden	2 40
10236	Sam Lovaas Town of Mayfield	1 00
10237	Joseph Johnson Town 153, Rge 39	1 40
10238	Jay Payne Town of Clover Leaf	2 20
10239	Nels K Anderson Town of Sanders	3 00
	Total	$49 66

MAKING GENERAL ELECTION RETURNS

No of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10240	David Haugen town Wyandotte	$ 2 72
10241	Nels Knutson town North	1 45
10242	N A Nelson town River Falls	2 44
10243	C O Lindberg town Deer Park	1 13
10244	C M Wilson 3rd ward T R Falls	1 20
10245	Herman Hortloff town Sanders	3 00
10246	Sam Walhaug town Garnes	1 52
10247	Philip Gibeau town Lambert	1 10
10248	A S Wilson Vil St Hilaire	1 45
10249	A D Berry town Louisville	2 60
10250	Wm Hebert town Poplar River	1 10
10251	Sever Maaren town Mayfield	2 22
10252	P E Bergh town Silverton	2 64
10253	John Frolland town Emardville	3 60
10254	Ernest J Akerlund town Bray	4 00
10255	Chas Sleger town Gervais	1 80
10256	Mathias Waldorf town Lake Pleasant	2 00
10257	A L Reichert 3rd ward R L Falls	1 20
10258	Alfred Rieo town Goodridge	2 00
10259	L O Browning 1st ward T R Falls	1 20
10260	H W Lee 2nd ward T R Falls	1 20
10261	A Drager town Polk Center	2 80
10262	Joseph Johnson town 153 rge 39	1 75
10263	J P Harren 2nd ward R L Falls	1 10
10264	Ed Enright town Black River	2 40
10265	Louis Paranteau town Terrebonne	3 20
10266	Hdalge Baril town Red Lake Falls	1 20
10267	Peder J Buggs town Numedal	4 00
10268	O N Olson town Smiley	3 40
10269	Ellef Oravlie town Norden	2 40
10270	Charley Gustafson town Rocksbury	2 00
10271	A O Watsend town Equality	3 00
10272	Erick Iverson vill of Plummer	4 00
	Total	$72 82

COUNTY CANVASSING BOARD GENERAL ELECTION.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10279	James E Ford	$ 9 20
10280	Chas W Latta	11 80
10281	S A Swanson	9 20
10282	Daniel Shaw	13 00
	Total	$43 20

MEMBERS OF LEGISLATIVE CANVASSING BOARD.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10285	S A Swanson	$ 8 20
10286	Daniel Shaw	10 00
10288	Chas W Latta	8 80
10287	James E Ford	6 20
	Total	$ 31 20

PRINTING BALLOTS.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
10168	Red Lake Falls Gazette	$332 00
	Total	$33

Fire Wardens.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
9024	S G Iverson, state auditor	5 25
9304	" "	1 13
9601	" "	1 00
10365	" "	1 00
	Total	$ 8 38

Telephone Service.

LONG DISTANCE.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	Amount
8868	Thomas Gormo	$10 83
8869	Daniel Linnihan	6 16
9062	"	5 80
9461	Thos Germo	3 35
10156	"	7 20
10157	James E Ford	2 82
10162	N W Tarrant	70
10295	W A Schreiter	8 10
	Total	$ 44 90

RENT OF TELEPHONE.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8885	Red Lake Falls Tel Ex	$21 00
9110	" "	16 04
9102	" "	10 35
10296	" "	30 00
	Total	$ 71 35

Wolf Bounties.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	Amount
8787	Henry Cyr	$15 00
8790	Math Thompson	7 50
8792	Frank Bush	7 50
8793	Joe Ford	15 00
8797	Philip Demerais	7 60
8800	Henry Runnestrand	7 50
8808	Delos Douglas	22 50
8809	Ole Anderson	7 50
8810	Tosten Elefson	7 50
8811	Harry Hallas	15 00
8812	Richard Oothier	7 50
8814	Edward Lessard	7 50
8816	Alfred Flatum	7 50
8821	Chas Rustad	22 50
8822	John G Hagen	7 50
8875	John L Evenmo	15 00
8878	Henry Lemieux	7 50
8883	Harry Hallas	7 50
8901	Gust Konikson	22 50
8902	Lars Runnestrand	7 50
8903	John O Johnson	15 00
8905	Ole S Brolland	7 50
8906	Lewis Sattre	7 50
8910	Calaxte Robedout	7 50
8911	Jas H Cyr	7 50
8912	Ole Mathison	7 50
8913	A B George	7 50
8931	Carl Olson	7 50
8932	Henry Lemieux	7 50
8933	Edward Hylnad	7 50
8934	Archie Whaley	7 50
8935	Christ Rustad	7 50
8936	Henry Cyr	7 50
8915	Alcene Juneau	7 50
8916	F Gjerberg	15 00
8947	Casper Falk	15 00
8948	Mauratz Brink	7 50
8949	Harry Hallas	7 50
8950	Targe Lofthus	7 50
8951	Gunder Hagen	7 50
8952	William Rose	7 50
8954	Andreas Hoverstad	7 50
8955	George Mamey	15 00
8956	John Evenmo	7 50
8957	Henry Starken	7 50
8959	Henry Cyr	15 00
8962	Christ Weine	7 50
8963	Olof Kolsloe	7 50
8969	Gunder Skaar	7 50
8970	Lauris Skaar	7 50
8971	Magnus Soderberg	7 50
8974	Henry Runnestrand	7 50
8975	Ad Anderson	7 50
9016	Oscar Johnson	7 50
9017	Christ Winsen	7 50
9026	Gust Konikson	30 00
9032	Clara Mannel	7 50
9035	Alcime Juneau	7 50
9037	Ernest Janke	15 00
9038	Henry Lemieux	7 50
9039	Anton Jacobson	7 50
9040	A J Anderson	7 50
9041	Torje Lofthus	7 50
9054	Andreas Hoverstad	7 50
9121	B C Haga	7 50
9123	Ole S Brelland	7 50
9129	Lawarence Madden	7 50
9141	Harry Hallas	7 50
9182	F Gjerberg	7 50
9184	Bohunil Hruby	7 50
9189	Christ Storken	7 50
9200	Charles Nelson	7 50
9215	John A Markusen	7 50
9236	Ole Peterson	45 00
9277	Carl J Anderson	7 50
9340	Mike Connaughty	5 00
9311	Joseph Noel	9 00
9342	Frank Kodla	5 00
9369	Peter Thume	7 50
9371	Joe Starken	3 00
9376	"	2 00
9462	Alfred Carpenter	6 00
9493	Hummer Herjusson	2 00
9510	C O Linberg	7 50
9518	Wilfred Beaudry	7 50
9626	Ole H Rolsland	7 50
9975	Charles Anderson	7 50
10023	Simon Opsahl	7 50
10024	Chas A Nason	7 50
10027	Omer Haule	7 50
10031	Oscar Johnson	7 50
10036	Henry Gerlach	7 50
10053	Jesse Luxemburger	15 00
10063	Artel Audette	7 50
10324	Andreas Hoverstad	7 50
10326	John G Hagen	7 50
10331	Henry Runnestrand	15 00
10337	Gjermund Kleven	7 50
10352	Emil Ostma	7 50
10359	Mike Madden	7 50
10363	George Coe	7 50
10364	Henry Cyr	7 50
10366	Herman H Halverson	7 50
10367	Lonis Sall	7 50
10368	John O Johnson	7 50
	Total	$962 00

Miscellaneous Items.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	For what purpose	Amount
8828	Nick Helm	painting jail and offices	$50 00
8829	Anderson & Wander	window shades	19 75
8830	Garceau & Zaiser	clothing for prisoners	8 60
8831	W A Reichel	photos of prisoners	4 50
8836	James Brady	carpenter work	12 05
8837	Franz F Freund	painting and paperhanging	6 50
8838	Frank E Hunt	hardware and supplies	53 83
8840	Inga Brynildson	stenographer work	1 00
8841	Napoleon Delage	meals for insane patient	1 50
8842	L A Kaufer	oncmeled covering for desk	9 20
8849	W A Schreiter	medicine for prisoners	2 10
8864	Tho Robertson Lumber co	lumber for repairing sidewalk	45
8865	O'Brien Bros	hardware for court house	2 75
8919	Frank St Martin	carpenter work	19 75
8920	Joseph Salley	moving safes and hauling cordwood	20 00
8964	Elick Johnson	rap spec dog tax	5 88
9047	Albert Normandeau	express charges	1 13
9069	Lucien Phillion	scrubbing county jail	3 50
9070	Adam Zeh	insurance premium	55 00
9071	V M Higinbotham	insurance premium	13 75
9074	James Brady	repairs on court house	1 00
9076	Frank Jeffers	list of decrees ond foreclosures	11 00
9077	Ben Puschinsky	repairing jail and furniture	4 72
9078	Town of Black River	exp in contaginus disease cases	6 70
9079	W A Schreiter	medicine for prisoners	2 40
9080	John Drier	nursing prisoners	8 00
9081	Wm Belair	nursing prisoners	2 00
9082	J O Wilkinson	medical attendance on prisoners	10 00
9083	George Tupper	medical attendance on pauper	65 00
9084	Lena Moland	board and nursing pauper	28 00
9085	Inga Boen	board and nursing pauper	5 60
9086	Torrison Bros	coffin box and undertakers' fees for pauper	41 50
9097	A L Reichert	medicine for prisoners	7 40
9403	Town of Gervais	½ exp in con disease cases	6 00
9404	Town of Polk Center	½ ex	20
9405	City of Thief River Falls	½ exp in con disease cases	193 22
9407	F A Grady	premium for insurance on county jail	5 64
9408	Adam Jeh	premium for ins on furniture and fixturs	91 50
9430	Frank Jeffers	rec town trs bond and making list of mortgages	32 90
9439	Chas Moller	asst supt of schools	9 00
9440	John B O'Brien	asst supt of schools	9 00
9441	S A Swanson	justice fees state vs John Doe and Wm Frenzke	4 70
9442	A L Roy	hauling wood to county jail	2 00
9443	Mory Phillion	washing bed clothing and cleaning co jail	16 50
9444	James Brady	inspecting construction of Louisville bridge	27 60
9445	Joseph Lachance	carpenter work at court house	50
9446	Nick Helm	calcimining, plastering and painting co jail	34 00
9447	B Puschinsky	repairing windows and making key for county jail	3 50
9448	Thief River Falls Lbr Co	lumber for co house and repairs	4 93
9468	Albert Lizee	express	45
9653	K M Hansen	postage for co treas	30 19
9654	Joseph Perrault	postage and exp for clk court	7 95
9684	Frank St Martin	carpenter work at co house	1 50
9685	Peter Fevre	carpenter wk at court house	1 00
9686	James Brady	carpenter wk at court house	1 20
9688	James Brady	services inspecting Louisville bridge	21 00
9689	Adam Zeh	ins prem	15 90
9690	Arthur P Tuupin	insurence uremium	36 00
9691	J R Fortier	supplies for co jail	30
9693	Peter C Wold	assessing district No 5	45 00
9695	Town of Torrebonne	exp con disease cases	7 50
9651	V M Higinbotham	insurance premium on court house	27 50
9758	James E Ford	postage co Auditors office	3 15
9777	L M Hoag, sec R L Co. Agr Society	app Thief River Falls fair	200 00
9801	John Drier	keeping J Vaneus in charge	16 00
9802	Joseph Belair	keeping J Vanous in custody	5 25
9813	John B O'Brien	conducting teachers examinetions	9 00
9814	Wm Zaiser	livery for Com Demann	2 00
9816	John A Duffy	mileage inspecting the Louisville bridge	15 00
9840	James K Doe	exp of Hendrickson, school for the blind	37 42
9841	A C Rogers	exp Frank Hendrick and J W Leppert	87 72
9867	Patrick Normandeau	exp charges	45
9917	Albert Lizee	exp charges	2 48
9925	"	"	3 80
10152	Midland Chemical Co	5 gal anti-germine spray	12 50
10158	James E Ford	postage stamps and express	52 27
10159	H T McAnulty	postage stamps and express	9 35
10160	K M Hansen	postage stms and express	31 18
10161	Frank Jeffers	postage and express	32 55
10289	C C Jackson & Co	ballot boxes and locks for unorganized voting precincts	5 50
10297	C Martin	cleaning chimneys on court house	1 50
10299	Dan Guerin	livery for co road and bridge com	2 50
10300	Frank Jeffers	transcribing records and recording town treasurers bonds	8 35
10303	J C Carroll	inspecting the Louisville bridge	26 00
10304	J H Hay	asst supt schools	9 00
10307	K Runnestrand	janitor teachers training school	30 00
10292	Z Bray	services and exp state vs Holdman and Benjamin	10 00
10293	W H Krueger	board of non resident pauper	3 75
10309	The Robertson Lumber Co	lumber to repair court house	1 52
10341	N W Tarrant	postage for judge of probate	3 00
	Total		$1742 51

County Poor Fund.

RECEIPTS.

Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1906	$350 01
Tax collections	295 37
Total	$645 38

DISBURSEMENTS

Warrants issued	$201 42
Refunding orders	42
Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1907	443 54
Total	$645 38

Warrants Issued.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8924	A Linvik	$78 00
9718	"	77 57
10301	F J Stebbins	5 35
10302	Torrison Bros	40 50
	Total	$201 42

County Road and Bridge Fund.

RECEIPTS

Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1906	$ 500 19
Tax collections	4836 09
Debit Balance, Jan. 2, 1907	1845 56
Total	$7181 83

DISBURSEMENTS

Warrants issued	$7180 00
Refunding orders	1 83
Total	$7181 83

Warrants Issued.

COUNTY ROAD AND BRIDGE FUND.

WARRANTS ISSUED,—Continued.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8865	Joseph Marcotte, treasurer town Louisville	$ 100 00
9339	Edward E Havik, treasurer town Equality	100 00
9378	Cyrille Lussier, treasurer Poplar River	200 00
9381	Chas P Quist, treasurer town Silverton	200 00
9469	Lonis Fnlardeau, treasurer Lambert	100 00
9472	P E Smidesang, treasurer Polk Center	75 00
9511	L O Cadieux, treasuror Terrebonne	250 00
9525	Hans Jacobson, treasurer Clover Leaf	100 00
9539	Albert Anderson, treasurer Black River	100 00
9586	Aug Soderberg, treasurer North	100 00
9591	Edward E Havik, treasurer Equality	100 00
9619	Albert Arntz treasurer town Red Lake Falls	100 00
9738	First State Bank of Red Lake Falls	2000 00
9747	Hennepin Bridge Co	1000 00
9748	" "	1000 00
9749	" "	830 00
9750	E A Anbol, treasurer town Rocksbury	150 00
9895	O L Larson, treasurer town Sanders	100 00
9906	Oscar G Skreland, treas- [illegible]	200 00
9915	Cyrille Lussier, treasurer Poplar River	200 00
9976	A E Anderson, treasurer town Bray	100 00
10121	Elias Joringdal, treasurer town Numedal	75 00
	Total	$7180 00

County Bond and Interest Fund.

RECEIPTS

Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1906	$2317 00
Tax collections	3213 00
Total	$5530 06

DISBURSEMENTS:

Warrants issued	$2150 99
Refunding orders	2 39
Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1907	3376 68
Total	$5530 00

Warrants Issued.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8794	Merchants State Bank of Red Loke Falls	$ 5 73
8876	John Paulson	01
8944	Theo LoBissonlere	15
9374	First State Bank of Red Lake Falls	630 00
9531	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	300 00
9560	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	100 00
9593	First State Bank of Red Lake Falls	400 00
9594	State of Minnesota	120 00
9742	First State Bank of Red Lake Falls	240 00
9743	Thomas Thibodeau	20
10357	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	300 00
	Total	$2156 99

Incidental Fund.

RECEIPTS

Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1906	$ 5 76
Transferred from Co. Revenue Fund	440 00
Total	$445 76

DISBURSEMENTS

Worrants issued	$360 39
Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1907	85 37
Total	$445 76

Warrants Issued.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8783	K M Hansen	$ 7 89
8813	H T McAnulty	0 00
8823	N W Tarrant	2 00
8867	Frank Jeffers	16 90
8870	Jomes E Ford	21 20
8907	"	8 02
8939	K M Hansen	7 42
8953	N W Tarrant	2 05
8972	Joseph Sally	3 65
9021	N W Tarrant	3 00
9022	Joseph Perrault	9 70
9027	H T McAnulty	8 90
9034	N W Tarrant	75
9036	A L Roy	60
9089	K M Hansen	28 28
9090	Jemes E Ford	9 35
9091	Frank Jeffers	17 50
9293	N W Tarrant	3 00
9315	James E Ford	3 15
9338	Joseph Sally	6 29
9397	Frank Jeffers	21 40
9398	James E Ford	27 20
9399	K M Hansen	32 67
9340	H T McAnulty	6 33
9485	N W Tarrant	2 50
9496	Frank Jeffers	11 25
9577	H T McAnulty	6 85
9599	Joseph Sally	7 13
9617	K M Hansen	5 00
9641	N H Tarrent	3 00
9744	K M Hansen	5 00
9784	H T McAnully	8 00
9785	Joseph Perrault	10 00
9793	Frank Jeffers	11 00
9851	K M Hansen	5 00
9874	N W Tarrant	3 00
9881	Joseph Sally	5 84
9982	N W Tarrant	2 00
10111	Joseph Salley	1 82
10369	Jomes E Ford	15 00
10371	Joseph Perrault	5 00
9513	Albert Lizeo	25
	Totol	$360 39

Redemption Fund.

RECEIPTS:

Credit bolonce, Jan 2, 1906	$ 260 56
Redemptions	5559 01
Total	$5819 57

DISBURSEMENTS

Warrants issued	$5616 67
Credit balance Jan 2, 1907	202 90
Total	$5819 57

Warrants Issued.

REDEMPTION FUND.

WARRANTS ISSUED—Continued.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8784	John A Duffy	$72 06
8795	W W Prichard	12 52
8798	O Vandertuuk	33 68
8799	W W Prichard	8 43
8804	Peter Kiene	29 86
8805	O Vandertuuk	15 00
8807	"	28 07
8815	F H Welcome	16 91
8820	J A Duffy	89 80
8824	F H Welcome	1 53
8877	"	204 33
8886	"	141 52
8909	G Vandertuuk	17 50
8937	James Egan	72 83
8938	Wm M Erb	39 04
8940	W W Prichard	105 83
8941	F H Welcome	31 94
8960	W W Prichard	3 00
8961	John A Duffy	14 42
8966	O Vandertuuk	14 74
8967	F H Welcome	46 74
8968	John A Duffy	80 38
8973	G Vandertuuk	20 64
9019	W W Prichard	25 13
9023	W W Prichard	32 94
9030	F H Wellcome	32 44
9333	John A Duffy	28 84
9050	Chas O Wright	231 62
9053	W W Prichard	22 80
9150	"	26 63
9193	"	9 17
9232	J A Duffy	18 19
9278	Martina Lee	18 35
9279	John A Duffy	10 15
9281	F H Wellcome	57 11
9299	"	225 03
9303	W W Prichard	47 10
9325	"	18 85
9345	"	42 76
9347	"	12 13
9359	"	8 26
9362	J A Duffy	8 26
9366	F H Wellcome	28 60
9372	W W Prichard	9 15
9375	"	12 81
9460	"	14 37
9463	Duffy & Gaass	15 74
9470	J A Duffy	29 39
9471	W W Prichard	3 39
9482	E M Perrault	10 84
9483	Wheeler-Misner Ln Co	15 84
9487	G Vandertuuk	24 35
9488	F H Welcome	27 13
9491	"	813 18
9492	A P Toupin	28 28
9495	W W Prichard	51 70
9499	John A Duffy	28 29
9503	Geo W Wishard	60 79
9504	F H Wellcome	140 48
9507	P B Gaass	42 93
9508	F H Wellcome	79 0
9512	W W Prichard	20 14
9516	John Duffy	25 57
9518	"	21 85
9521	F H Wellcome	77 94
9534	"	169 47
9538	John A Duffy	31 58
9565	C Vandertuuk	8 55
9587	John A Duffy	33 42
9600	G Vandertuuk	18 95
9618	E M Perroult	45 79
9614	W W Prichard	41 08
9625	G Vandertuuk	17 58
9630	F H Wellcome	63 40
9640	J A Duffy	33 00
9642	F H Wellcome	108 10
9648	"	139 77
9725	J A Duffy	1 39
9745	"	35 20
9771	"	29 74
9791	F H Wellcome	42 56
9796	G Vandertuuk	40 71
9873	F H Wellcome	90 17
9875	W W Prichard	9 74
9877	Perl W Mahey	9 82
9883	W W Prichard	43 63
9885	Wheeler Misner Ln Co	21 80
9886	W W Prichard	15 26
9891	F H Wellcome	50 14
9905	W W Prichard	40 81
9909	E M Perrault	7 95
9911	W W Prichard	22 86
9921	A P Toupin	13 68
9922	L G Simons	5 19
9923	F H Wellcome	78 94
9928	P B Gaass	63 24
9944	G Vandertuuk	12 09
9949	A P Toupin	33 60
9950	W W Prichard	25 70
9972	F H Wellcome	61 64
9973	W W Prichard	30 03
9974	Anna Sleff	20 13
9979	F H Wellcome	115 12
9981	G Vandertuuk	17 58
9990	F H Wellcome	154 71
9994	John A Duffy	1 20
9997	F H Wellcome	140 33
10012	Hiram Brown	11 53
10019	F H Wellcome	26 72
10084	P B Gaass	21 42
10109	F H Wellcome	91 37
10110	"	35 32
10127	C Vandertuuk	23 71
10334	"	75 85
10335	F H Wellcome	33 96
10339	John A Duffy	62 28
10340	"	18 25
10349	E M Perrault	21 31
10355	John A Duffy	29 56
10372	Miller & Foote	17 15
10373	G Vandertuuk	40 12
10374	F H Wellcome	62 11
10361	John A Duffy	2 87
10362	"	42 20
	Totol	$5616 67

General Ditch Fund.

RECEIPTS.

Credit Balance, Jan. 2, 1906	$ 8279 86
Tax collections	18103 35
Total	$28383 21

DISBURSEMENTS.

Warrants issued	$22333 76
Refunding order	3 28
Credit balance, Jan. 2, 1907	4046 17
Total	$26383 21

Warrants Issued.

EXCAVATING.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
9553	E A Moran	$82 11
9585	John G Anderson	84 55
9645	E A Moran	288 44
9646	"	186 20
9772	X Sauve	170 34
9780	John G Anderson	48 19
9781	E A Moran	240 19
9782	"	129 00
9783	"	126 44
9879	John C Anderson	210 76
9880	E A Moran	121 88
9884	"	183 82
9892	John G Anderson	288 13
9894	X Sauve	772 74
9918	Theodore Halvorson	689 45
9919	John G Anderson	163 75
9951	E A Moran	130 51
9954	"	651 72
9955	"	363 12
9956	X Sauve	918 84
9977	Theodore Holvorson	536 59
9092	John G Anderson	1651 89
9993	X Sauve	1350 24
9998	Theodore Halvorson	1444 37
10008	E A Moran	1364 05
10021	John O Anderson	821 10
10022	Theodore Halvorson	216 08
10025	Gjernes and Hawkinson	648 35
10058	E A Moran	364 32
10323	John C Anderson	40 43
	Totol	$14333 00

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PER DIEM AND MILEAGE

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
9104	O J Johnson	$ 6 00
9105	Daniel Shaw	7 00
9106	P A Ekstrom	5 60
9109	Wm O L Demann	4 40
9449	P A Ekstrom	5 60
9450	O J Johnson	6 00
9451	Daniel Shaw	7 00
9711	P A Ekstrom	6 00
9712	Wm O L Demann	4 40
9713	O J Johnson	6 00
9714	"	6 00
9715	Daniel Shaw	7 00
9716	"	7 00
9717	Louis Falardeau	7 80
9721	Wm C L Demann	4 40
9819	P A Ekstrom	6 00
9820	Wm O L Demann	4 40
9821	O J Johnson	13 50
9822	Daniel Shaw	7 00
9823	Louis Falardeau	7 80
9828	Daniel Shaw	4 40
10314	P A Ekstrom	8 00
10315	O J Johnson	18 50
10317	Daniel Shaw	28 00
10318	"	9 80
10319	Wm O L Demann	51 00
10320	Louis Falardeau	7 80
10321	Wm C L Demann	4 40
10322	Daniel Shaw	7 00
	Total	$265 80

ENGINEERS FEES AND EXPENSES

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8925	James K Wood	$ 19 10
9391	Geo A Ralph	5 00
9392	James K Wood	138 80
9656	"	22 00
9657	"	47 00
9658	"	85 55
9765	"	28 20
9766	"	18 85
9837	"	76 75
10128	"	366 00
10129	George A Ralph	20 00
	Total	$835 25

INTEREST ON BONDS AND WARRANTS

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
9025	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	$2145 00
9327	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	450 00
9494	J A Duffy	10 24
9506	Theo Garceau, cashier	13 31
9529	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	165 00
9530	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	178 75
9866	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	360 00
9878	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	2145 00
10356	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	178 75
	Total	$5646 05

PRINTING AND PUBLISHING

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8860	Carl M Borgen	$ 2 75
9113	St Hilaire Spectator	11 80
9418	"	20 30
9419	"	2 50
9624	"	43 50
9325	"	4 75
10130	"	2 25
10155	"	37 70
	Total	$125 35

GENERAL DITCH FUND—Con.

VIEWERS FEES AND EXPENSES.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
9382	Ingwald Hushy	$42 50
9383	Otto Zaiser	30 25
9384	Gilbert Haovi	33 60
9759	Joseph Belair	16 00
9760	James Evenson	24 00
9781	P K Olson	10 00
9834	Joseph Belair	4 00
9835	P K Olson	4 00
9836	Carl Johnson	14 85
9837	Fred Zaiser	11 25
9838	Robt K Lee	15 35
10139	Fred Zaiser	11 25
10140	O W Brink	11 85
10141	Peter K Olson	8 00
10142	Carl Johnson	5 50
10143	R A Lee	7 40
	Total	$255 30

MISCELLANEOUS EXPENSES.

No. of warrant	To whom issued	For what purpose	Amount
8926	Benjamin Iverson	chain man ditch no. 24	$ 6 00
9087	James E Ford	auditor's fees ditch no. 25	25 00
9088	Thief R F Lbr Co.	stakes for ditch no. 24	70
9385	Dan Linnihan	posting notices ditch no. 25	28 60
9386	P A Ekstrom	rodman ditch no. 25	18 20
9387	M Miller	axman ditch no. 25	12 79
9388	H Peterson	chainman ditch no. 25	10 50
9389	Alfred Dahlstrom	chain man ditch no. 25	3 00
9390	J A Anderson	chainman ditch no. 25	1 50
9393	Joseph Morisette	livery for engineer ditch no 24	2 50
9394	Zaiser Bros.	livery for viewers ditch no. 25	12 00
9395	James E Ford	auditor's fees ditch no. 25	25 00
9396	W H Kruger	board for engineer and viewers ditch no. 25	17 75
9655	F L Wood	assistant engineer co. ditch no. 25	23 10
9659	Zaiser Bros.	livery for eng. on ditch no. 22, 23 and 24	12 00
9660	C E Ekstrom	rodman & board of engineer on ditch no. 25	25 25
9651	Daniel Patterson	livery for engineer co. ditch no. 25	2 50
9662	Newbury & Bulman	livery for engineer co. ditch no. 26	10 50
9653	F L Wood	rodman co. ditch no. 22, 23 and 24	7 05
9664	F L Wood	rodman co. ditch no. 25	4 00
9665	Wm M Erb	rodman co. ditch no. 22, 23 and 24	4 00
9666	Lyndon Wood	rodman co. ditch no. 22, 23 & 24	8 00
9667	C E Ekstrom	rodman co ditch no. 25	8 00
9668	D. Linnihan	posting notices and serving notices on viewers co. ditch no. 20	19 00
9669	James E Ford	co. aud. fees co. ditch no. 22, 23 and 24	137 64
9670	Otto Zaiser	viewer co. ditch no. 25	3 00
9701	Arthur Lizee	posting notices of bearing on ditch no. 27	8 00
9762	Zaiser Bros.	livery for engineer on county ditches no. 22, 23 end 25	22 00
9763	Zaiser Bros.	livery for viewers ou co. ditch no. 26	10 50
9764	F L Wood	assistant engineer co. ditch no. 23 and 24	22 00
9826	E E Fletcher	services as stenographer, co. ditch no. 26	1 00
9829	Andrew Ydstie	board & livery for eng. co. ditch no. 22 and 24	7 00
9830	Charley Moren	service as chainman co. ditch no. 27	14 00
9831	Zaiser Bros.	livery hire for viewer co. ditch no. 27	10 50
9332	Zaiser Bros.	livery hire for engineer co. ditch no. 22, 23, 25 and 27	30 00
9833	F L Wood	services as rodman co. ditch no. 27	13 05
9983	John Larson	refundment on Garnes no. 1	6 74
10131	James E Ford	co. aud's. fees in county ditch proceeding	112 00
10132	Harry B Healy	typewriter spec. on county ditches no. 27 and 28	2 00
10133	W H Kruger	board for engineer	13 50
10134	Zaiser Bros.	livery for engineer	31 00
10135	Zaiser Bros.	livery for engineer	33 50
10136	Daniel Patterson	livery for engineer	15 00
10137	Sundohl Bros.	livery for engineer	2 50
10138	Newbery & Bulman	livery for engineer	10 50
10144	Wm Linnihan	rodman on county ditch no. 28	4 00
10291	Vil. of St. Hileire	lumber for repairing bridge across Sonders B River ditch no. 1	27 47
10308	Thief R Falls Lbr Co.	loth and stokes for co. ditches	3 60
10310	Dan Linnihan	serving and posting notices on county ditches	39 00
	Total		$872 35

Special Bond and Interest Fund.

RECEIPTS.

Credit balance, Jan 2, 1906	$ 175 26
Tax collections	724 22
Total	$ 899 48

DISBURSEMENTS

Warrants issued	$ 534 93
Refunding orders	13
Credit balance Jan 2, 1907	364 42
Total	$ 899 48

Warrants Issued.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
9133	Treas Polk county, Minn.	$ 149 93
9741	W L Vannet, Treas Polk Co.	385 00
	Total	$ 534 93

Court House and Jail Fund.

RECEIPTS.

Credit balance Jan. 2. 1906	$112 99
Tax collections	990 74
Total	$1103 73

DISBURSEMENTS

Warrants Issued	$137 00
Refunding orders	66
Credit balance Jan. 2, 1907	946 07
Total	$1103 73

Warrants Issued.

No. of warrant	In whose favor drawn	Amount
8921	Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls	$46 00
8965	M O Sortedahl	116 00
	Total	$157 00

Always the Same

Calumet Baking Powder

The only high grade Baking Powder sold at a moderate price.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By DUDLEY & CREGLOW.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, entered as second-class matter in the post office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

BRAY.

Chas. Lanquist transacted business at St. Hilaire Friday.

Sam Peterson of Polk Center was in Bray last Sunday.

F. S. Akerlund was at Thief River Falls Saturday.

Chas. Englund made a trip to Wylie Tuesday.

The town board met at the town clerk's office to fix up the town business before election.

C. P. Swanson drove out to town of River Falls, Saturday, where he met with the directors of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co., to adjust the loss of C. A. Hull of that place, whose residence with contents was burned to the ground last week.

Albert Johnson drove to St. Hilaire Monday.

Among the Brayites who were in St. Hilaire last Saturday were Ernest Akerlund, Elmer Burke, C. P. Swanson, Mike Ault and Joe Davidson.

DOROTHY.

Mrs. J. F. Mathews was in the city visiting with Jns. Hance, Sunday.

Fred Mathews, the 17-year-old son of J. F. Mathews, had the misfortune to bust one of the barrels of J. F's. valuable gun last week, while on a rabbit hunt with a friend.

Chas. Pagain of Argyle, is visiting with Peter Boutain at Dorothy for a couple of weeks.

Fred Mathews and Peter Boutain left Wednesday morning for a trip to Argyle by team to get Mr. Boutain's farm machinery with which to work J. F. Mathew's farm the coming summer.

All kinds of feed for sale at the Dorothy elevator, such as corn, mixed feed, oats and barley. Mascot Flour also—the best bread making flour in the northwest. J. F. Mathews, local agent.

Mrs. Paul Mathews is again on the sick list. Doctor says lung fever is the trouble.

Township election for the town of Louisville was held at the Granger hall Tuesday, March 12th.

Legend and Reality.

Legend tells how Napoleon, while Moscow was in flames, found time to draw up a decree organizing the Theatre Francais. Alas, the story is not true. Napoleon was in Poland when he received the decree ready to be signed. He there signed it and sent it back to Paris, but in the margin wrote the following: "To be forwarded when the army will be at Moscow. It is his majesty's intention that the decree should be dated from that town."

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Ask Your Own Doctor

If he tells you to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for your severe cough or bronchial trouble, then take it. If he has anything better, then take that. We have great confidence in this medicine. So will you, when you once know it.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. O. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of

Ayer's
SARSAPARILLA.
PILLS.
HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

[illegible]
Ayer's Pills at bedtime, just one.

Men's Supper Committies.

The following committies have been appointed to arrange for and serve the supper to be given by the men at the Presbyterian Church Parlors, the first part of April, 1907, date to be announced later:

Soliciting Committee—S. M. Siverlson, H. H. Zaiser, J. L. Farley, C. N. Bourdon, E. W. Chamberlain, E. L. Healy, P. B. Gaass, Dr. Wilkinson, H. Hennemuth.

Advertising Committee—Thomas Gormo, Harry Healy, L. C. Simons, Dr. N. M. Watson, Sam Hunt.

Kitchen Committee—E. W. Chamberlain, Arthur Zaiser, A. Cairns.

Serving Committee—E. L. Healy, Dr. Argue, M. O. Sortedahl.

Table Committee and Head Waiters—J. B. Armstrong, Thomas Germo, Geo. Hennings, P. O. Floan.

Assistant Waiters—H. W. Anderson, E. Bose, W. E. Erickson, Olaf Floan, Herbert Findelsen, Verne Healy, Charlie Bourdon.

Cashier—L. C. Simons.

Dish Washing Committee—C. N. Bordon, chairman. Volunteers for assistants.

Reception Committee—F. A. Hunt, Dr. N. M. Watson, Rev. H. W. Knox.

Music Committee—Lee Healy, J. L. Tracy, Prof. Bruckman.

Decoration Committe—Lee Healy, C. W. Johnson, E. Bose.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the City Hall, March 7th, 1907, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Meeting called to order by president Borchers.

Roll called.

Aldermen all present.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

On motion unanimously carried the following bills were allowed:

Julius Kiehl, for street work..	$10 50
John Deforge, same	13 20
Red Lake Courier, bids for printing....................	73

It was moved and carried that the painters living in town and vicinity be notified to file their bids with the city clerk on or before March 21st. 1907, at 6 o'clock p. m., for painting the city hall and all wood work therein. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

President Borchers was appointed a committee to purchase rubber coats and caps for the firemen.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers, President.

Approved this 13th day of March A. D. 1907.
J. A. Duffy, Mayor.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin,
City Clerk.

Before you buy a new hat come in and look at the new Lanphers at the Busy Store.

Use a little KODOL after your meals and it will be found to afford a prompt and efficient relief. KODOL nearly approximates the digestive juices. It digests what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan. Sold here by all druggists.

"Star Brand Shoes Are Better." They are made of the genuine Chromo calf skin, the kind that will stand spring wear, and in order to introduce them we are giving a special discount of 25 per cent on each pair. Get 'em at the Busy Store. G. & Z.

RURAL WATER SUPPLY.

Its Sanitary Condition Not What It Ought to Be.

When such great sums of money are being expended by city governments that the inhabitants of towns may have a sanitary water supply it seems strange that the supply in rural towns should receive little or no attention. The latter population may seem relatively insignificant, but it comprises about 40,000,000 souls. This means that those 40,000,000 people are drinking the water most available without a thought of its sanitary condition.

These various sources of supply, whether wells, springs or small streams, are similarly unreliable for furnishing drinking water. The statistics of mortality in the country are very indefinite, but even these show that the rural population is not as free from illness as it should be. And though everywhere the rural death rate is lower than the urban death rate, yet the lowering in the country has not been as great as in the city. An examination of typhoid statistics shows that the death rate of other diseases is generally lower in the country than in the city, but the prevalence of typhoid is almost equal to if not greater in the rural districts than in the cities.

Several instances have been reported which show the rural typhoid rate to be ten times greater than the urban rate for the same district. To particularize, a certain district in central Pennsylvania proves this fact. It is made up of a rural population with 100 inhabitants to the square mile. It is a region of fine farms, wild mountains and woods, country residences and picnic groves. And in this valley there has been as much typhoid fever as in the city of Philadelphia.

Sad as this condition is, there seems to be no remedy for it. The sources of a city water supply are few and the city government easily controls the conditions affecting it. But what can be done when the sources of supply are numbered by the thousands? A mint of money and an army of chemists would not be sufficient to give the same care to the country supply that is given to that of the city.—New York Herald.

"In 1897 I had a stomach disease. Some physicians said Dyspepsia, some Consumption. One said I would not live until spring. For four years I existed on boiled milk, soda biscuits, and doctors' prescriptions. I could not digest anything I ate; then I picked up one of your Almanacs and it happened to be my life saver. I bought a fifty-cent bottle of KODOL and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. In two months I went back to my work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. May you live long and prosper,"—C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., 1905. The above is only a sample of the great good that is daily done everywhere by Kodol For Dyspepsia. It is sold here by all dealers.

Observation.

An observant man in all his intercourse with society and the world constantly and unperceived marks on every person and thing the figure expressive of its value and, therefore, on meeting that person or thing, knows instantly what kind and degree of attention to give it. This is to make something of experience.—John Foster.

Tamed Poetry.

"I wish to submit a lyric, sir," said the timid young man. "My friends say it's a beauty—really sings itself."

"Humph!" said the cold hearted editor. "We couldn't use a poem like that. We want one that, once printed, will remain perfectly quiet and not keep our readers awake by singing itself at all times."

The true strength of every human soul is to be dependent on as many nobler as it can discern and to be depended upon by as many inferior as it can reach.

The world which took but six days to make is like to take 6,000 to make out.—Browne.

DR. N. M. WATSON
Physician and Surgeon
Graduate of McGill University, Montreal.
Office over First State Bank.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DR. J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Office in Kaus Block, over A. L. Reichert's Drug Store. Night calls from residence.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.
DENTIST
Offices in LaBissoniere Block. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m.
At St. Hilaire 3rd and 4th of every month.

Thomas Germo, Co. Att'y. Fred L. Farley
GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys at-Law
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls. Telephone No. 47 Collections attended to.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The Murray Cure

To be Incorporated and Enlarged by Mr. Murray's Family.

The announcement of the sudden death of Edwin Murray, founder of the Murray Cure at Minneapolis, Fargo and Seattle, was a shock to many thousands of people who knew of the good work of the Murray Cure

Mr. Murray's family, the widow two grown sons and a daughter, will continue to conduct the Institute at Minneapolis. One of the sons has begun the study of medicine to fit himself as a drink cure specialist. In the meantime the house physicians and corps of attendants and employes will remain the same.

For over seven years the Murray Cure has demonstrated that the drink habit can be cured. If you have a friend that needs the Murray treatment, send him at once to the Murray Cure Institute. If the drink habit has a hold on you that you cannot break without help, remember we can help you.

Call or write, Murray Cure Institute 1319 Nicollet Ave. Minneapolis, or 321 So. 13th St., Fargo, N. D.

Don't Grind
YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Edward Hebert and Victoline Hebert, mortgagors, to First State Bank of Brooks, mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1905, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of September, 1905, at 2 o'clock p. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 359, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The west half of the north east quarter of section fourteen (14), in township one hundred fifty (150) of range forty-two (42) and lots numbered five (5) and (6) in block numbered five (5) in the townsite of Brooks, in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county at the west front door of the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 30th day of March, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four hundred fifty-six and 78-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, Red Lake Falls, Minn., Feb. 13, A. D. 1907.

First State Bank of Brooks,
Mortgagee.

L. C. Simons, Attorney. f14-m21

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR LIQUOR LICENSE.

State of Minnesota,
County of Red Lake } ss
City of Red Lake Falls

Notice is hereby given, that application has been made in writing to the city council of said city of Red Lake Falls and filed in my office, praying for License to Sell Intoxicating Liquors for the term commencing on March 25th, 1907, and terminating on March 24, 1908, by the following person, and at the following place as stated in said application, respectively, to-wit:

WM. H. KRUEGER,

In that certain frame building situate on lot 14 of block 7 in Champagne and Dows' Addition to Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

Said application will be heard and determined by said city council of the city of Red Lake Falls at the city hall in the city of Red Lake Falls in Red Lake county, and state of Minnesota, on Thursday the 21st day of March, A. D. 1907, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Witness my hand and seal of the city of Red Lake Falls this 11th day of March, A. D. 1907.

[Seal] A. P. Toupin,
m14 City Clerk.

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage or Lease Land.

Estate of Berget Vettleson, Decedent.

State of Minnesota,
County of Red Lake. } ss

In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Berget Vettleson, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Halvor Vettleson, Hulda Maria Vettleson, William Vettleson, Mabel Theolinna Vettleson, Louie Vettleson, Thea Helena Vettleson, Laura Elvira Vettleson, Helena Bertina Vettleson and Joseph Vettleson and all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent: The petition of Thomas Germo as representative of the above named decedent, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and all interested therein that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to him granted to sell the same:

Now Therefore, you and each of you are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the court house, in the city of Red Lake Falls, county of Red Lake, state of Minnesota, on the 10th day of April 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 11th day of March, 1907.

N. W. Tarrant,
(Court Seal) Judge of Probate Court.
Germo & Farley,
Attorneys for Petitioner. m14-m28

Last Mountain Valley Lands

We own thousands of acres of Choice Selected Land in this district, which is right in the heart of the Great Wheat Plains of Saskatchewan. The richness of the soil in this district is shown in the reports to the Government which give an average of 26¼ bushels of wheat to the acre for 1906. The great development of this part of Western Canada has brought about the competition of 3 railways. Ample timber for fuel and fencing. Send 15c for beautiful, new souvenir book, entitled "The Lake and the Land of the Last Mountain Valley." Also 20th Century Atlas of Canada sent with souvenir book. Write to-day. Maps, descriptive matter, etc., on request.

WM. PEARSON CO. LTD.
Northern Bank Building, Winnipeg, Canada.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

DISTINCTIVELY A CREAM OF TARTAR BAKING POWDER

It does not contain an atom of phosphatic acid (which is the product of bones digested in sulphuric acid) or of alum (which is one-third sulphuric acid), unhealthful substances adopted for other baking powders because of their cheapness.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Mar. 7, 1907.

Notice is hereby given that Richmond Dsotel of Terrabonne, Minn., has filed notice of his intention to make final five year proof in support of his claim, viz:

Homestead entry No. 22931, made March 21, 1902, for the SE¼NE¼ Section 21, Township 150 N., Range 43 W., and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minnesota, on April 17, 1907.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, the land, viz:

Hermidas Sauva, Arthur Archembault, Joseph St. Martin and Louis Teroup, all of Tarrebonne, Minn.

R. J. MONTAGUE, Register.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON JUDICIAL DITCH NO. 5.

State of Minnesota,
County of Polk. } ss

District Court,
Fourteenth Judicial District.

Notice of hearing in the matter of Judicial Ditch Number Five (5), Polk and Red Lake Counties.

Notice is hereby given that a hearing will be had at the Village Hall in the Village of Erskine, Polk county, Minnesota, on Saturday the 23rd day of March, 1907, at eleven o'clock A. M. of that day upon the remonstrance made in this matter against the draining or lowering of Badger Lake, it being claimed that some of the persons who signed the remonstrance were not legally qualified to sign such remonstrance, and some of those who signed it having asked that their names be withdrawn from such remonstrance, and the court having ordered that a hearing on said matter be had at said time and place.

Dated March 9th, 1907.

W. A. Lanctot,
Clerk of the District Court,
Polk County, Minnesota.

When in the City stop at

PAUL'S HOTEL

Sample Room In Connection

Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. Free 'Bus to all Trains.

☞House is heated by furnace throughout, and everything kept up in first-class shape.

Give Us A Call.

SIMON PAUL, Proprietor.

Star Restaurant

MRS. M. R. HALL, Prop.

Building formerly occupied by O'Brien Bros.' Hardware.

Meals and Lunches at All Hours

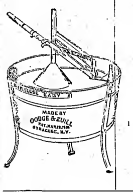
Board by the Day or Week

Complete stock of Confectionery, Nuts, etc. Fresh new line.

Everything New and Up-to-Date

Give me a call.

The Syracuse "Easy" Washer



A Few Reasons Why You Should Have One

It saves the clothes.

It saves precious time.

It saves physical force.

It saves in cost—no new tubs or boards to buy.

It washes cleaner and rinses better.

It is adapted to both heavy and light clothes.

We Have Sold Hundreds of these machines since we have had the agency—another good reason why you should have one. We wouldn't have sold so many if they weren't right. Remember we put them out on trial and the price is only ....

$8.00

Hunt Hardware Co.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Attend the great business training school of the Northwest. Seated with roll-top desks, has fifty typewriters, adding machines, neostyles, mimeographs, letter [illegible] It is in closer touch with business men and can help you more than anyother. It placed 221 pupils in business positions last year, will locate over 300 this year. It uses the personal method of instruction, advancing each pupil upon his own ability. Send for large new catalogue, showing pictures of building, magnificent equipment, etc.

F. L. WATKINS, Pres.

The Local Field---

Go to the Merchants State Bank for Farm loans. Rate 7 percent.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

Bemidji is to have a wholesale grocery house.

CANDY—If it comes from SPILLANE'S it must be good.

Phil Zeh was down from Thief River Falls over Monday night.

August Morin spent Sunday at the home of his son, Fred, in Crookston.

A. R. Fuller, of Crookston, transacted business in the city Friday last.

The Busy Store has a shoe talk that will interest you in their ad in today's paper.

The Royal Neighbors will hold their regular meeting at the Woodman hall Friday evening.

M. O. Sortedahl spent Saturday at St. Hilaire, looking after some important business affairs.

Mrs. C. C. Jackson, of Thief River Falls, was an over-Sunday guest at the home of her friend, Mrs. E. F. Marshall.

Miss Kate Martin came over from Crookston Monday to spend the week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere.

Nels Benoit went over to Grand Forks Monday evening to spend a few days looking after business affairs and visiting with friends.

Mrs. M. Hamry and daughter, Miss Effie, were guests of Thief River Falls friends a couple of days this week, arriving home last evening.

Miss Mamie Regan, who has been teaching for a couple of weeks at Argyle, as a substitute for Miss McGuire, of Crookston, returned home Friday.

K. M. Hansen returned Saturday evening from a couple of days' business visit at Thief River Falls. Mr. Hansen expects to move his family to Thief River within a short time.

Merchant Theo. LaBissoniere left Monday evening for a several days' business and pleasure trip. He will visit Crookston, Mentor, Grand Forks and other Valley points while away.

The members of the M. B. A. lodge held a progressive cinch party at their hall Monday evening, and had a very enjoyable time. The head prizes were won by Samuel Gibeau and Miss Katherine Grey, while Noel Delorme and Miss Alyce Boyd carried off the lesser honors. A good sized crowd was in attendance, and all enjoyed themselves immensely.

Carl E. Peterson left Monday evening for Towner, North Dakota, where he will take the foremanship of the News and Stockman, a leading publication of that part of the state. Pete is figuring on establishing a paper at Pekin, a new North Dakota town, during the coming spring, and his friends here look to see him hold down the editorial chair with becoming grace and dignity.

Deputy Dairy Inspector Joel G. Winkjer spent Monday in the city attending to some business connected with his official capacity. Mr. Winkjer, in conversation with a Gazette representative, stated that the outlook is excellent for great activity in dairy matters throughout the Valley this spring, and he expects to see a new record established in the way of dairy and creamery results. Mr. Winkjer is also secretary of the Valley Dairymen's association, and is busy getting the farmers interested in prize cow contest inaugurated by that organization.

Large amount of money to loan on farms.—Simons & Co.

Joseph Belair was a Plummer visitor Monday.

Wm. Phillion and family moved into the Dennis Cyr house the first of the week.

The Woodmen enjoyed a smoke social and whist party after their lodge work last Wednesday evening.

Ed. Brouillet came up from Dugdale and spent a few hours attending to business matters here last Friday.

Mrs. Chas. N. Bourdon spent a couple of days with Crookston relatives last week, returning home Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Bisson, living across the Clearwater, welcomed the arrival of a pair of twins last Thursday morning.

Hank Draper returned to Thief River Falls Monday, after having finished loading the old Meehan saw mill boilers for shipment to a St. Paul junk shop.

The members of the J. Carder Benoit family who have been suffering from attacks of typhoid fever are reported on the road to recovery and out of danger.

The evangelistic meetings arranged to be held at the Presbyterian church will begin on the evening of March 26 and continue for two weeks. A more extended notice will be given next week.

Dr. F. F. Fletcher came over from Grand Forks and spent Sunday with his parents and friends here. The Doctor reports himself as having enjoyed an excellent business at the Forks during the winter.

Barber Ed A. Nelson drove down to Crookston Sunday afternoon to meet his wife and babe, who arrived there that evening from Brandon. They returned here Monday and have gone to housekeeping in Mrs. Doe's house.

Charles Dougherty spent a few days at Crookston last week where his injured ankle was given attention by a surgeon. The injury does not progress as rapidly as Charley would like to have it, and he is obliged to use crutches constantly.

Pierre Colombe, jr. will hold an auction sale at his farm on the southwest quarter of section 14, Louisville, on Monday, March 25, sale to commence at 11 o'clock a. m. A big list of live stock and farm machinery is offered for sale and the posters can be referred to for particulars. A free lunch will be served at noon. Joseph Belair will officiate as auctioneer.

You should be very careful of your bowels when you have a cold. Nearly all other cough syrups are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup moves the bowels—contains NO opiates. Conforms to National Pure Food and Drugs Law. Bears the endorsement of mothers everywhere. Children like its pleasant taste. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. Phillias Roy was taken to St. Vincent's hospital at Crookston last Friday evening, and Saturday an operation was performed upon her person for relief from the complications that have caused her dangerous illness for the past ten days. The operation was a very delicate and dangerous one, but Mrs. Roy rallied quite well from its effects and is reported as gaining nicely at present. Mr. Roy has been with her at Crookston all week, and will bring her home as soon as she is able to be moved.

Harry Mitchell's
EDITORIAL.

I want to make your Spring Suit. My Spring fabrics are now in, and I want to show you that for $15.00, $20.00 or $25.00 I'll make you a better suit than your local tailor would charge you $30.00, $35.00 and $40.00 for.

I have the largest tailoring establishment in the world, and I've got my Mail Order Department down fine so that no matter where you live I can fit you and give as good satisfaction as if I took your measure myself.

Write me today and tell me about the kind of clothes you are thinking of getting, and by return mail I'll send you samples of the swellest Spring fabrics you ever clapped your eyes on; also self-measurement blanks. Don't be afraid to ask questions, and kindly remember that I absolutely guarantee perfect fit and satisfaction or refund your dough. I pay all express charges, so your clothes cost you no more than the city chaps do.

Let me demonstrate to you what I can do. It won't cost you a cent if I don't please you.

Yours truly,

HARRY MITCHELL,
310 Nicollet Ave., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

There Should BE NO CONFUSION
IN THE MINDS OF ANY ONE ABOUT THE GOODS I SELL FOR $15, $20 AND $25.

All goods known to the trade as Scotch Goods—hundreds of patterns to select from—the kind the other tailors ask $30.00 for, I make up to your measure for ---- $15

Thousands of patterns of Imported Goods from Europe's most noted factories—the kind you've been paying $35 for, I make up to your measure for ---------- $20

The highest grade of imported fabrics—the kind other tailors want $40.00 and $45.00 for—hundreds of beautiful patterns to choose from. These I make up to your measure for----- $25

These are the very cream of the highest priced imported goods—the kind the E-Z marks pay $60.00 to $70.00 for. I will make you up a suit from these goods for-------------- $30 AND $35

Write for Samples Today,

HARRY MITCHELL,
310 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

'Phone 7—Groceries—SPILLANES.

H. Stivers and son, of Dugdale, were visitors here last Friday.

Don't forget about the men's supper at the Presbyterian church.

Z. Bregier and family have returned from Argyle, and will again make their home here.

The finest line of candies and confectionery in the city can always be found at Freund's.

Hon. Marcus Johnson came up from St. Paul yesterday to spend a couple of days looking after his business interests here.

John J. Padden went down to St. Paul Saturday evening and remained until Tuesday, a guest of his parents and many friends.

Frank Shaurette returned to his home at Merrill, Wisconsin, Monday evening, after a three weeks' visit with his uncle, Joseph Fournier, in Terrebonne township.

Attorney Chas. E. Boughton arrived home Saturday evening on the belated Northern Pacific train, after having spent several days attending to legal business at the Twin cities and Duluth.

The Misses Nora Smith, Inga Iverson and Clara Olson, teachers in the St. Hilaire public schools, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John B. O'Brien, of this city, last Friday evening, returning to St. Hilaire Saturday.

H. Robbins, of Barnesville, an oldtime friend and companion of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bourdon, of this city, has been spending a week at the Bourdon home here. Mr. Robbins had not seen Mr. and Mrs. Bourdon for several years, and his visit is being enjoyed immensely.

Word has reached here of the arrival of a fine new son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. O'Brien, of Devils Lake, North Dakota, born to them last week. The many Red Lake Falls friends of the happy parents will join with The Gazette in extending congratulations.

Mrs. M. James left Tuesday evening for her home at St. Paul, after a visit of a week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Koch, jr. Her little grandson, Master Alton Koch, accompanied her home to St. Paul, where he will remain a few weeks' with Mrs. James' family.

Superintendent E. W. Chamberlain of the city schools, will go down to Crookston this evening to attend the initial meeting of the "Schoolmasters Club," a society recently formed among the superintendents of the various public schools of the valley. Professor Chamberlain is president of the Club, has arranged a fine program of matters of interest to the school workers. The meeting will be held in the high school building at Crookston tomorrow and Saturday, and a fine time is looked forward to by the valley educators.

This part of Red Lake county has gained two new settlers this week, who arrived with their families, stock and machinery this week to make this section of the Red Rivey Valley their future homes. They are Dan Boyd and August Nelson, and they come from Batavia, Illinois. Mr. Boyd has purchased the old Morinville farm in Terrebonne and Mr. Nelson will occupy the Lacoursiere farm in Lake Pleasant. Both gentlemen come recommended as excellent farmers, and the Gazette takes pleasure in welcoming them to the best county of the greatest state of them all.

The plant of the Red Lake Falls Milling company has not been running nights for the past week or so on account of the low stage of water in the Red Lake river. All the power that is developed at night has been needed to keep the electric light plant running, and as a result the mill has had to keep still. However, old Sol has got back into working territory in good shape again, and it is hoped that his warm rays will make a decided change in the appearance of this part of the country within a very short time now. It is a sure thing that there will be no cry of low water after the spring break-up starts in earnest.

W. C. Andrew, travelling salesman for the Wright, Barrett & Stillwell Paper company, of St. Paul, was killed in a wreck of the Great Northern flyer near Ojata, North Dakota, last Friday evening. H. B. Lanager, a Crookston travelling man, was also killed, and several other passengers were badly hurt. "Dad" Andrew, as he was called by those who knew him, was one of the oldest salesmen on the road and was very well known to many of our business people. He has visited this city nearly every month for a number of years past, and was a universal favorite with the trade. He was past sixty-five years of age and was making his last road trip when he met his terrible death, as he had arranged to quit travelling and go to work in the house at St. Paul, and was on his way to that city when the wreck occurred. Mr. Andrew's home was at Minneapolis, where he has several grown children, and the remains were shipped there for interment.

Macaroni seed wheat for sale.—L. C. Simons.

Miss Mary Lamb visited with friends at St. Hilaire Saturday.

Rev. H. W. Knox visited with friends at Thief River Falls Monday and Tuesday.

S. M. Sivertson was a business caller at Thief River Falls between trains Tuesday.

Claus Rasmussen, a prominent Thief River business man, spent last night at the home of Sheriff Nelson in this city.

Sheriff Nelson has been out in the country most of the week summoning the members of the grand jury for the March term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere entertained a party of friends at dinner at their home Sunday evening. A pleasant time is reported.

Dr. Spofford will miss his visits for March and April, to Red Lake Falls. Next visit May 7. At Grand View Hotel.

No school was held in the Lafayette building Monday morning, on account of the heating plant being temporarily out of commission. It was put in working order in time for the afternoon session, however,

Dr. H. W. Smith, the Crookston specialist, was a caller here yesterday in consultation with Dr. Wilkinson regarding the illness of M. Lagassy. The old gentleman has not been getting along as well as was hoped for, and is very low again.

Fred Delorme arrived arrived home last Friday from Washington state, where he has been since last November visiting with relatives and friends. He spent the winter looking over the principal points of interest throughout the west, and enjoyed a very pleasant outing.

Sunday is St. Patrick's Day "in the mornin'" and green ribbons and other emblems suggestive of the day will be in evidence. Mother Earth is not expected to don her mantel of green in time to celebrate the occasion with the sons of Erin's Isle, but we all wish she would, nevertheless.

Antoine Laurent, of Terrebonne, and Miss Anna Sedig, of this city, were married at Thief River Falls last Thursday by Rev. Flesher. The couple will make their home in Terrebonne and will have the best wishes of a large number of friends for a life of happiness and contentment.

Mrs. Rufus Poirier and family arrived here Tuesday from Rolla, North Dakota, and will again make Red Lake Falls their home. Rufus has charge of a lumber yard at Rolla, and the family has lived there during the winter. However, the cost of living is very high out there now, and Mrs. Poirier and the children will remain here for a while.

J. R. Smith, travelling auditor for the Great Northern, spent Tuesday in the city checking up Agent Tracy's accounts. He found everything in apple pie order, and made the comment to a Gazette representative that there are few stations on the Great Northern system that are looked after as well and kept up as good as is Agent Tracy's.

Adelard Delorme returned home last week from a visit of five weeks at points in eastern Canada. On the 9th of February Mr. Delorme was married to a Miss Fehina Delorme, a prominent young lady from near Montreal. The young couple are at present staying at the Delorme home south of town and will set up housekeeping later in the spring.

Emil Hennings came down from Warroad Tuesday evening and will spend several days with his brothers and many friends here. Emil is in the jewelry and watchmaking business at Warroad and is enjoying a fine trade. Attorney James Taylor accompanied him on the trip down but went on through to Crookston where he had some legal matters to look after. He returned here this morning and will spend a couple of days with Red Lake Falls friends.

.. An ..
Invitation

Every woman who has difficulty in accurately fitting her feet; every woman who's shoes cause her feet to burn or to be otherwise uncomfortable; every woman who appreciates or desires shoes that are absolutely the last word of fashion, and every woman in the least disposed to practice economy is invited to inspect our assortment and be convinced that Queen Quality Shoes offer the solution of all the foot troubles.

Queen Quality Boots, $3, $3.50, $4

Queen Quality Oxfords - $2.50, $3

Let us show you our new styles while the assortment is at its best. Not the slightest obligation to buy.

The Busy Store
Garceau & Zaiser.

We make farm loans at the lowest possible rate of interest. Funds on hand at all times.---First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

To remove a cough you must get at the cold which causes the cough. There is nothing so good for this as Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. The liquid cold relief that is most quickly effective, that stills and quiets the cough and drives out the cold. Sold by all druggists.

P. and J. Meehan, well known here, have been sued in the United States court, district of Milwaukee, for about $18.000 for the illegal cutting of some 3,000,000 feet of timber on government land. The Thief River Falls Lumber company is also involved as it is claimed that the logs were sawed at their mill. The case will come up for trial this spring.

Editor and Mrs. Harry E. Ives, of St. Hilaire, rejoice in the arrival of a handsome new girl baby at their home, born last Wednesday night. The mother and child are doing very nicely, and while the Gazette hasn't seen friend Harry, they do say that he is wearing his overcoat for a vest these days. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ives will join with The Gazette in wishing for the young Miss Ives a life of usefulness and contentment.

Plummer Pioneer: The Minneapolis Journal this morning contains the announcement that Mrs. Short has been appointed as postmistress at Lillo to succeed Miss Ida M. Lillo, who resigned. We understand that Mrs. Short has purchased Miss Lillo's general store and will enlarge it considerably. We extend congratulations to Mrs. Short and wish her every success in her new undertaking.

Plummer Pioneer: The people of the northwest corner of Mayfield township had a special school meeting last Saturday to vote on the question of where they would build their new schoolhouse. The site selected was on the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 7. The school board expects to have the necessary building in shape to open up a term of school by the first of June.

Subscribe for the Gazette

A Delightful Party.

About thirty ladies assembled at the home of Mrs. E. F. Marshall last Saturday afternoon, as bidden guests to what proved to be a delightfully pleasant gathering.

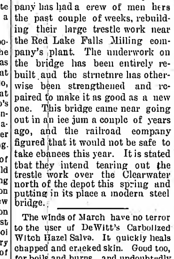
The home was elegantly decorated throughout, the white and green color effects being used with excellent taste. Several features were included in the entertainment of the afternoon. Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain read a selection from Whittier's "Snowbound," and Mrs. Germo rendered several piano numbers. A contest labelled an "Ice Cream Festival" furnished much amusement. A list of queries was submitted on neat program cards, which had to be answered with words ending in "ice" or something like it, and the contest proved highly interesting and amusing. Elaborate refreshments were served. The Misses Elene Hanson and Etta Gareeau assisted the hostess.

Bridge Rebuilt.

The Great Northern railway company has had a crew of men here the past couple of weeks, rebuilding their large trestle work near the Red Lake Falls Milling company's plant. The underwork on the bridge has been entirely rebuilt and the structure has otherwise been strengthened and repaired to make it as good as a new one. This bridge came near going out in an ice jam a couple of years ago, and the railroad company figured that it would not be safe to take chances this year. It is stated that they intend tearing out the trestle work over the Clearwater north of the depot this spring and putting in its place a modern steel bridge.

The winds of March have no terror to the user of DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve. It quickly heals chapped and cracked skin. Good too, for boils and burns, and undoubtedly the best relief for Piles. Sold here by all druggists.

Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges . . .



We have just received several of the latest constructed Monarch Malleable Steel Ranges, in which are contained all the features which has made the steel range famous and the latest improvements that are known to the range manufacturers' art, which makes this range the "Monarch" of them all. These ranges are now on exhibition at our store, and we would be pleased to have every housewife in this vicinity call and look them over. The price of the Monarch Malleable Steel Range" is cheaper accordingly than other so called "steel ranges."

New Hardware Store G. A. KANKEL Red Lake Falls, Minn.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST

BY HARRY LEON WILSON AUTHOR OF THE SPENDERS

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHAPTER XVI—Continued.

On the women, too, the quick attack had been almost instantly successful. The first great volume of mad shrieks had quickly died low as if the victims were being smothered; and now could be heard only the single scream of some woman caught in flight,—short, despairing screams, and others that seemed to be cut short—strangled at their height.

Joel Rae found himself on the line after the first volley, drawn by some dread power he could not resist. Yet one look had been enough. He shut his eyes to the writhing forms, the jets of flame spitting through the fog of smoke, and turned to flee.

Then in an instant—how it had come about he never knew—he was struggling with a man who shouted his name and cursed him,—a dark man with blood streaming from a wound in his throat. He defended himself easily, feeling his assailant's strength already waning. Time after time the man called him by name and cursed him, now in low tones, as they swayed. Then the Saint whose allotted victim this man had been, having reloaded his pistol, ran up, held it close to his head, fired, and ran back to the line.

He felt the man's grasp of his shoulders relax, and his body grow suddenly limp, as if boneless. He let it down to the ground, looking at last full upon the face. At first glance it told him nothing. Then a faint sense of its familiarity pushed up through many old memories. Sometime, somewhere, he had known the face.

The dying man opened his eyes wide, not seeing, but convulsively, and then he felt himself enlightened by something in their dark color,—something in the line of the brow under the black hair;—a face was brought back to him, the handsome face of the jaunty militia captain at Nauvoo, the man who had helped expel his people, who had patronized them with his airs of protector,—the man who had—

It did not come to him until that instant—this man was Girnway. In the flash of awful comprehension he dropped, a sickened and nerveless heap, beside the dead man, turning his head on the ground, and feeling for any sign of life at his heart.

Forward there, where the yells of the Indians had all but replaced the screams of frantic women—butchered already perhaps, subjected to he knew not what infamy at the hands of savage or Saint—was the yellow-haired, pink-faced girl he had loved and kept so long imaged in his heart; yet she might have escaped, she might still live—she might even not have been in the party.

He sprang up and found himself facing a white-haired boy, who held a little crying girl by a tight grasp of her arm, and who eyed him aggressively.

"What did you hurt Prudence's father for? He was a good man. Did you shoot him?"

He seized the boy roughly by the shoulder.

"Prudence — Prudence — where is she?"

"Here."

